The tax on autos is applicable to all imported into or manufactured in Canada and at present unsold.

Hon. A. K. Maclean, Acting Minister of Finance, in the presence of a crowded chamber and galleries, presented the annual budget statement in the Commons yesterday. In opening he said it was but fit and proper that he should give expression to the profound and sincere regret of Parliament that Sir Thomas White, Minister of Finance, was unable to deliver the annual budget by reason of an enforced and lengthy absence from official duties. Regardless of party distinctions, he said, and the inevitable differences, of opinion that must prevail regarding the financial affairs of the country, members of the House would heartily concur in the observations that the highly important duties attaching to the Department of Finance, more particularly during the war period, had been discharged by Sir Thomas with distinction and with conspicuous ability.

Mr. Maclean was confident that the House would join with him in expressing gratification that Sir Thomas had so far recovered his health that he proposed at an early date to return to Canada to resume his official duties after disposing of some public business now engaging his attention in the United States.

Revenue and Expenditure.

Revenue for year just closed is $250,000,000, exceeding that of preceding year by $26,000,000 and that of first year of the war by $125,000,000.

Customs yield for year, $146,000,000.

Excise yield, $27,000,000.

Other taxations yield $25,000,000, including business profits war tax of $21,267,285.

C. N. R. and G. T. P. expenditures totalled $25,000,000 and $7,500,000 respectively.

Capital outlay, $30,000,000.

Total outlay for all purposes, apart from war, during past year, $200,000,000.

Balance to apply to war expenditures, $50,000,000.

Some enormous figures were dealt with by the Minister. The revenue for the fiscal year ending March 31 last was $256,000,000 or $25,000,000 more than the preceding year and $125,000,000 more than the first year of the war.

Expenditure for the fiscal year just closed, apart from war expenditure was $173,000,000. There will be further capital outlays of $30,000,000, leaving about $55,000,000 to be applied to war expenditure.

In the present fiscal year, it is estimated, interest and pensions will increase by $25,000,000.

War expenditure in 1917-18 totalled $235,000,000, of which $167,000,000 was expended in Canada and $178,000,000 overseas. The total war outlay up to March 31 last was about $578,000,000.

Canada's Debt a Billion.

The net debt of Canada, which stood at $336,000,000 before the war, has now passed the billion mark, and with the accounts for the past fiscal year it will approximate $1,200,000,000. The Minister indicated the exchange situation as one of the great problems facing the country today.

"I hope," he said, "that very shortly we shall be in a position to announce the successful conclusion of negotiations which have in view the end of relieving our people of the burden of the present high rate of exchange."

Uproar in Senate On Franchise Bill

Votes For Women Warmly Debated by Senators Cloran and McMeans

OTTAWA, April 30.—The Senate took up the Government's measure to extend the franchise to women, Sir James Lougheed leading off for the bill in a brief introductory address.

Senator Boyer opposed the bill. He believed that the ballot would bring degradation from the high plane upon which women were placed today. Senator Power opposed the bill on the ground that it constituted an interference with provincial right, and moved an amendment to the effect that the matter of preparation of voters' lists be left to the provinces.

Senator Cloran said the legislation proposed by the Government was not calculated to advance the interests of either woman or the nation. Incidentally, he remarked that in the last election women with "no more capacity than children to vote intelligently" were led to vote for Union Government by promise of furloughs for their soldier husbands and relatives, and of increased separation allowances.

This accusation brought a shaky rejoinder from Senator McMeans, who declared that Senator Cloran had offered gratuitous insult "to the noble women who had given their all to the Empire in this mighty struggle."

Senator Cloran, jumping to his feet, indignantly declared that Senator McMeans' charge was untrue.

Senator McMeans—"It is true."

Senator Cloran: "It is not true."

There were shouts of "Order, order," and for a moment the Chamber was in tumult.

Order restored, Senator McMeans said that Senator Cloran's name would "go down through history in infamy" for his opposition to the sending of reinforcements to the front.

Senator Cloran—"I sent my son, and all of my blood are in the trenches."

Proceedings, Senator McMeans said that Senator Cloran's reference to the women of Canada was an "infamous lie."

Another uproar followed, Senator Cloran rising to a point of order and vainly trying to make himself heard amidst shouts of "Sit down" and "Order, order."

Finally, making himself heard, Senator Cloran said that Senator McMeans had better "withdraw or take what was coming to him." This drew from Senator McMeans the retort that if Senator Cloran was ready as he (McMeans) was to take what was coming to him they could both be easily satisfied.

Senator McMeans added that what he had wished to emphasize was that what Senator Cloran had said was untrue.

Senator Cloran observed that this expression was more parliamentary, and the matter was over.

Senator Poirier did not favor women getting the franchise.

Senator Dandurand favored the franchise for women because he believed them just as qualified to vote as men.

Will Not Exempt Young Farmers

Men For Army Greatest Need, Says Rowell at Bowmanville —City Youths First

BOWMANVILLE, April 30.—"You have pressed this Government in order to prosecute this war and see that Canada does her duty, and we are going to carry out our mandate. We are going to throw Canada's power into the struggle to help preserve our homes and liberty and secure a just and lasting peace."

Speaking to a large audience, chiefly made up of farmers, Hon. N. W. Rowell, president of the Privy Council, made it evident that the Government is determined to go ahead with its man-power proposals, no matter what opposition may develop. Mr. Rowell came to the meeting from a conference with representative farmers from all parts of Durham, every man of the gathering strongly opposed to the wiping out of exemptions to young farmers. The Minister promised to fix the views of the meeting before the Prime Minister, but he made no promises, and in his address later he declared with emphasis that important as food production is today, it is not so important as man-power. The farmers' sons must join the colors. No other interpretation could be placed upon Mr. Rowell's statements. The only concession the farming community is to receive apparently is that young fellows of 20, 21 and 22 in the class will be called first. Hon. Mr. Rowell expressed the belief that the young farmers subject to the call would not be ordered to report until seeding is over.

Reserves Would Dwindle

At Passchendaele a month's victorious fighting cost us 25,000 men. If within the next few weeks our men should be engaged as the British troops have, then I must tell you, it is my duty to tell you, our available battle reserves will not last until the first of July, taking all the infantry available in Great Britain and Canada for reinforcements. With that Great German drive imperiling our whole position with the enormous additional casualties, we had to do one of two things; to let our ranks go unreinforced, our divisions be depleted, or to seriously modify the provisions of the Act in order to secure the necessary reinforcements. Accept one responsibility, and what would you do? Desert gallant men who have stood for three years between us and the Hun, or modify the provisions of the Act so that we may keep our pledge to those men and say, "We will send you reinforcements and back you up."

Hon. Mr. Rowell admitted the tremendous importance of the food question, but said the confidential knowledge the Government had of the situation he had no hesitation in saying that this year the man-power on the western front was more important than food production, important as that was. Place yourselves in our position, he continued, knowing how serious the situation is, and understand

Compulsory Farming Is Suggested

In a letter to the Toronto Mail and Empire Thomas Wickett, of Hemlock, suggests an Army Agricultural Corps. His letter is as follows:

Sir,—It has been observed with interest that the Government has appointed Hon. C. Dunning to aid and look after the increase of agriculture products throughout the Dominion. While that is a marked step in advance of what has hitherto obtained, and the time not come for the authorities to take more compulsory methods to ensure the increase of production in this lamentable starving time?

I would it not be wise to put this department—Agricultural production—under the Minister of Militia and Defence—and raise throughout the length and breadth of the land Army Agricultural Corps for the express purpose of cultivating vacant and unoccupied lands, together with the gathering of harvests therefrom, besides aiding farmers in various ways already engaged in greater production to meet the demands of the times?

The day of appeal and half-way measures has passed. The Government must be empowered in fact the same manner for greater food production, as it has been legalized to act for military purposes—in brief—compulsory farming.

(a) This would entail a strong man of thorough organizing abilities, at head of the Military Agricultural Department, accustomed to handling large numbers of men in various capacities, extending over great distances, similar to a large railway contractor, having skilled supervisor-farmers for such districts.

(b) The expropriating during the war at least of all vacant agricultural lands adjacent to railways and waterways by the Government for productive purposes, convenient transportation being kept in view. Elevators might well be taken hold of to assist in such large transportation problems.

(c) The Government would supply all seed, implements (agricultural) and horses necessary, etc., besides the care of the men employed throughout the country under said supervisors.

Surely if the Government can look after railways, it could find ways and means for taking hold and carrying on successful agricultural production commensurate with the pressing needs of the Entente nations.

The people are behind the Government. It is a time to do, and do with all the acumen and force at the command. The Empire calls. The nation stands for liberty and justice and call for our greatest and best efforts now.

Again, it should not be lost sight of that such an undertaking might aid tremendously in putting many on the land permanently who would scarcely entertain the idea in normal times. It would be a schooling in farming, and an opportunity to try themselves for the task—a new life.

Better by far let the Government take hold of this greater production, putting men under intelligent supervisor-farmers, cultivating the soil in a practical manner—and be men in meantime, learning much about the nature of soil, seed, and how to sow and reap, and when experience sections of land by large contractors. Unquestionably the gain to our agricultural country would be indeed.

Here is an opportunity for the Government to organize and carry out a sane and powerful policy for the good of the Empire and our allies, besides being much indeed to benefit our own country for time to come.

Men too old for active service, besides many returned soldiers, could be made producers for many years to come, if rightly supervised, controlled and instructed by those in authority.

This is only secondary to the defence of our country and Empire. Let the Government act with all the foresight it is capable of Production is needed. The men can be enlisted. The money can be obtained. Of seed and implements etc., there need be no lack.

Again, it is stated, the day of appeal has gone by. Let the authorities act and act without delay.

Yours, etc.,
THOS. WICKETT.

OVER THE HILLS OF HOME.

By Lilian Leveridge, 64 Pages. McClelland, Goodchild & Stewart, Toronto, publishers.

The title poem of this collection, "Over the Hills of Home," was written by Miss Leveridge as a tribute to her brother, Sergt. Frank E. Leveridge, who died in France after being wounded in action. Miss Leveridge evidently taught school in the Leaside ward county. The tender sympathy and compelling pathos of these verses are attested to by the many letters received by the author—letters from mothers and fathers who have been bereaved, from soldiers in the trenches and from people in all English speaking lands. "The touch of the thing got into my throat when I read it," declared Sir Gilbert Parker, and that, we believe, will be the verdict of every reader. The longest poem in the collection is "Sidney Carton," in which the author enters into the spirit of the scenes of heroism described by Dickens in the "Tale of Two Cities." There is melody in the "Song of the Wood Thrush," joy of living in "Life's Philosophy," and a lofty, patriotic ideal in "The Way of the British." Among the rare comes bang in the poem, "Over the Hills of Home," with its sweet, sad, haunting refrain:

Laddie, little laddie, come with me,
over the hills,
Where blooms the white May lilies,
and the dogwood and daffodils;
For the Spirit of Spring is calling to our spirits that love the hills,
Over the hills of home; laddie, over the hills of home.

Laddie, soldier laddie, a call comes over the sea,
A call to the best and bravest in the land of liberty.
To shatter the despot's power, to lift up the weak that fall—

Laddie! Laddie! Laddie! "Somewhere in France" you sleep,
Somewhere 'neath allen flowers and
allen winds that weep,
You were wounded in battle, noble your life laid down.
You whom death were faithful, laddie—
yours is the victor's crown.

Laddie, beloved laddie! How soon should we cease to weep,
Were a glance through the golden gateway, whose keys the angels keep;
Yet love our love that is deathless, can follow you where you roam,
Over the hills of God, laddie, the beautiful hills of Home.

One cannot help but think this "Beautiful Hills of Home" is another name for that sweet bit of Prince Edward County, the beautiful Oak Hills a never-ceasing panorama of inspiration.

MARCH TO VICTORY

Courage is a matter of the blood. Without good red blood a man has a weak heart and poor nerves.

In the spring is the best time to take stock of one's condition. If the blood is thin and watery, face pale or pimply, generally weak, tired and lagging, one should take a spring tonic. One that will do the spring housecleaning, an old-fashioned herbal remedy that was used by everybody nearly 50 years ago is still safe and sane because it contains no alcohol or narcotics. It is made up of Blood root, Golden Seal root, Oregon Grape root, Queen's root, Stone root, Black Cherry bark—extracted with glycerine and made into liquid or tablets. This tonic was first put out by Dr. Pierce in ready-to-use form and since then has been sold by millions both as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. If druggists do not keep this in tablet form, send 50 cents for a vial to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., or branch in Bridgeburg, Ont.

CHUBBS, Bridge, Sask., "I have used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for a number of years and am pleased to recommend it as a blood purifier. I know it has no equal, as I used it for my boys. My neighbors and friends were surprised with the results in fact, I do not think he would be alive today had it not been for the Medical Discovery. I also keep it on hand for coughs as it differs so from other cough medicines. Sometimes a cough requires a syrup as it is good for the stomach. Only wish I had known about Dr. Pierce's medicines sooner."—Mrs. Percy Wood.

Defective Torpedo Saved the Vessel

Proof That British Hospital Ship Was Hit by Projectile—Deflected From Side

LONDON, May 1.—The Admiralty announces that if is now considered to be proved conclusively that the British hospital ship Guildford Castle, was attacked by a German submarine in Bristol Channel on the afternoon of March 12. The vessel was struck by a torpedo and subsequently had a very narrow escape from being sunk.

At the time of the attack at 5.35 o'clock in the afternoon the Guildford Castle, which was carrying 438 wounded soldiers, was flying a Red Cross flag on the largest side. Her navigating lights were also showing and the distinctive marks denoting the character of the ship were properly illuminated. No effort can be put forward by the enemy that these distinctive marks were in any way hidden by climatic conditions, for the weather at the time was clear with a visibility of about five miles, and the ship, steaming well out of the water, could be plainly distinguished as a British Red Cross hospital vessel.

The official enquiry into the circumstances of the attack shows that two torpedoes were fired at the Guildford Castle. The track of the first was seen by the captain, fourth officer, and several members of the crewal midship that it passed close to the ship's stern from port to starboard.

The fourth officer observed the wake of the torpedo for a distance of three cable lengths, six hundred yards. A minute afterwards a second torpedo was fired and struck the ship a heavy sharp blow on the port side abreast the mainmast, causing her to vibrate considerably fore and aft. Happily the torpedo did not explode. The discipline on board the ship was excellent. There was no panic and the patients were placed in the boats very quickly. On arriving in port the vessel was docked and an examination of her hull was made. Taken in conjunction with the fact that the ship was on a steady course at the time, the description of the force of the blow is held to prove beyond doubt that the Guildford Castle was struck by a torpedo which did not explode. The torpedo apparently rebounded after first striking the ship's side, and returning, bumped along the ship's side until it was finally struck by our fifth hydrophone. One of the propeller blades was found to be marked and slightly bent. A detailed examination of the hull of the Guildford Castle shows they were not made by the vessel's striking a submarine colliding with the ship.

Aching Head, Pains in Back

Heart Action Was Weak and Nerves Greatly Exhausted—Now in Extra Good Health.

Tweed, Ont, May 1—This is a cheering letter from Mrs. Wagar, because it describes the condition in which many women find themselves and tells how cure was effected.

Once the food cure was resorted to the system was gradually and certainly built up and reconstructed. The old sympathetic disappeared, because the reason for their existence had been removed. It is well worth while to give Dr. Chase's Nerve Food a trial when such results are obtained."

Mrs. Chas. Wagar, Tweed, Ont., writes: "My system was in a run-down condition, my head ached and I was very nervous. I had frequent headaches pains through my back and my nerves used to twitch. I took weak spells, was short of breath and my heart action seemed weak. I was very poorly health generally. I went to a doctor and he advised me to take a rest, and gave me medicine, but it did no help me. My husband got me some of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food one day, and felt better at once, and got relief that I took many boxes—I cannot tell just how many, but enough to build up my system and rid me of the pain entirely. I gradually began to get stronger, until I could get around and do my own housework. I am not bothered now with sick headaches, and am enjoying extra health. I would recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to all suffering from nervousness or run-down system."

Isaacs' Head Was Taken For Evidence

BRANTFORD, May 1.—Major Gordon J. Smith, Superintendent of the Six Nations Reserve, this morning announced that he had been instructed by the Indian Department at Ottawa to prosecute Alfred Isaacs, a member of the Six Nations.

Alfred Isaacs died in the Brantford General Hospital April 1, from injuries alleged to have been inflicted by his half-brother, George Duncan of this city, during a fight in the latter's home on Sunday, March 31. Duncan was arrested and charged with murder, the charge being later reduced to manslaughter. He is now out on $4,000 bail. Shortly after the body of Isaacs was interred at Sour Springs Cemetery it was reported that the remains had been disinterred. This was found to be correct, and a few days afterwards the authorities admitted that the head had been severed from the body and retained by the authorities to be used as evidence in the trial of Duncan.

No Rationing of Consumers Yet

OTTAWA, May 1.—The new regulations for the control of flour, in regard to sugar and flour step short as yet of any actual rationing of consumers. The provision that no householder living within two miles of the nearest flour may have on hand more than fifteen days' supply of sugar or flour is to be interpreted, according to officials of the board, as meaning not more than normal or actual requirements. It is the view of the board that normal requirements are in case of any prosecution for infringement of the regulations. Magistrates are expected to use simple common sense in pronouncing judgment. No per capita allowance is applied.

Under the anti-hoarding provisions of the order in Council giving the Food Board power to make regulations governing the holding of food supplies by individuals or companies, it is stated that the Magistrates before whom prosecutions are entered are to be judges as to questions of fact. Consequently in determining whether or not any householder has in stock more than fifteen days' supply the Magistrate will in any circumstances be expected to do—namely, consider whether or not the supply is a reasonable one considering all the circumstances.

At present, considering the supplies of sugar and flour available in Canada for this year, and ocean transportation limitations, the Food Board does not consider it necessary to arbitrarily limit individual consumption beyond what has already been done by the hotel, restaurant and boarding house regulations. The main object of the new regulations is to guard against waste through limiting household supplies to reasonable amounts, and encouraging thrifty and providential buying spoiling from long storage.

Five Non-Sinkable Ships Ordered

NEW YORK, May 1.—The French Government has contracted with the Foundation Company, which is building wooden ships for the Emergency Fleet Corporation to turn out for it five cargo "unsinkable ships," of 4,200 tons deadweight. The contract was awarded through the Department of Supply and Company of France, for which Joseph Boero of this city is American agent. It was Mr. Boero who made the known yesterday that the ships are to go into the French marine.

The hull of these ships is to consist of two parralell cylindrical shells joined throughout their length by a series of heavily-braced diaphrams. Each cylindrical shell is divided, not only in watertight compartments by transverse bulkheads, but also is isolated vertically from the adjoining shell and from the sealed space between the two. The latter space, which has a watertight bottom and deck, is not used for cargo, but is provided solely for reserve buoyancy.

Day For Allies Will Come Soon

New York, May 1.—Major M. H. Chaballe, M. C., of a Canadian battalion, who has seen service at Mont Kemmel before the Germans began their present drive, asserted upon arriving at an Atlantic port, that the loss to the allies was by no means fatal.

"I know for a certainty that a great reserve force is waiting to admister a surprise to the Huns they will not relish," he said. "I do not know when this surprise will come, but it will come."

"Even if the Germans take Amiens, which is their chief objective they will not cripple the allied armies, as they believe, Amiens is an important terminus on the Amiens Paris road, but the British and French have been preparing for all possibilities and lines supplementing that road which can be used if Amiens is lost."

Major Chaballe fought in the battle of the Somme and at Vimy Ridge. He has been decorated with the British Military Cross, the French Croix de Guerre and the British Military Medal. He is a Belgian.

EXCELLENTLY PUT.

In the course of a very excellent editorial under the caption, "The Body and the Soul," the London Advertiser says: "The ideal is the thing for which the soul strives. All of beauty, all of poetic fancy, all of good impulse and kindness, come from the soul. The body is merely the rented home of a wonderful tenant. . . . Beware of the poison you may throw into the cup of youth's ideals, youth's wonderful vision and youth's desires to serve. Cynicism and disbelief and cruelty are the drugs that subtly kill the soul. Hope and faith and encouragement are the good waters that make the soul a benison to all the earth. Drink deeply of them and give freely to them that thirst."

THE FIGHTING MOTHER OF FREE INSTITUTIONS.

We accept Britain's participation in the war as a matter of course and talk glibly of the far-flung battle line, but how many stop to analyze just what Britain has undertaken in this war, without touching on the way Old England has risen to the task of financing a world's war in billions where formerly millions spent in powder and ball were considered frightful.

The Toronto News sums up briefly and vividly Great Britain's participation in the war in the following article, which shows the amazing power and resources of the British Empire, an Empire which if it had not been raised upon a sure and certain foundation of justice and honor to all nations, big and little, would have perished miserably long ago, as have the robber nations which preyed on the weak and tried to trick the strong:

Britain's Part in the War.

In this gravest crisis of the war it is well to emphasize the immense services which Great Britain has rendered, is rendering and will continue to render to the Allied cause.

As an English writer has said, she is heavily engaged on many fronts and in each sphere she is lavishly giving her blood. On the western front a British army of millions is facing the German avalanche, side by side with the French. On the two Turkish fronts Britain is bearing the entire burden of the war. On the Indian frontier she has to be always on guard. In East Africa she is defeating the last remnants of the German colonial forces.

Her navy of 450,000 men is maintaining a sleepless watch on the High Sea Fleet. "Her Merchant Service of 200,000 men, unshaken by cruel submarine losses and perils, remains almost entirely responsible for the transport of food, men, and munitions to the Allied nations and the fighting fronts." The Mother Country is still the fighting mother of free institutions. Her spirit is still superb and she will prove equal to any further sacrifices necessary for the achievement of victory.

WHAT'S THE MATTER?

"What is the matter with the churches?" is a question which frequently bobs up in the public press these days. "Is anything the matter with the churches?" can also be reasonably asked. Some time ago a number of newspapers asked for opinions from readers as to why men did not go to church. The answers were many and varied and as fact as present recollection goes the information gathered was not particularly helpful from a standpoint of inducing men to go to church more regularly.

Rev. Billy Sunday, the baseball evangelist, who certainly has a wonderful talent for stirring up religious thought, permanently or transiently as the case may be, says the composite church needs "pep," of which the Reverend Billy certainly has a sufficiency. The success of the Billy Sunday services does not rely altogether on Billy's supply of "pep," however, but on the highly efficient business organization behind him, with a staff of seventeen salaried officials which arranges the minutest details of the meetings, beginning months in advance on the advertising end.

Newspaper advertising is now being advocated as the necessary ginger to speed up church attendance and draw attention from worldly things to things spiritual. In this connection a fund of one million dollars is being raised in the United States to advertise religion and religious services in the daily newspapers in an effort to wake up the nation. Coupled with this to ensure success a general reorganization of church methods to meet present day situations with attractive services which will appeal to those who are at present non-church goers would seem to be in order.

In one down-town church in Toronto, marooned in a Sunday desert of business places by the relentless up-town march of a growing city, instead of an empty church there is standing-room only at Sunday services, people going nearly an hour ahead of time to secure seats. This seeming miracle is the result of a so-called popular preacher, a splendid musical organization, and judicious advertising. The preacher speaks on present day topics of national and world importance and the immense audience he attracts is surely an evidence that his religious diet pleases the people.

Old-timers will say that sugar-coated religion is of no benefit for the world that is to come, but against this is the contention of modernists that the immediate concern should be for this world, and if a better standard of living can be induced by a departure from old-time church methods it will have a beneficent effect on the preparation for the world to come.

If there is nothing the matter with the churches and the trouble is all with the people, newspaper advertising will serve to remind non-church goers of their duties, and larger attendance at the means of grace will result, with benefit to both people and churches.

If innovations can safely be introduced to make the church services more attractive, so much the better, for this will lend a stronger pull to the advertising. Extremes are not necessary, and a steady diet of Billy Sunday methods would probably produce religious indigestion and eventually prove disastrous, but there are many who think that the services could be made more attractive and interesting by minor innovations such as more sermons on popular topics, sacred song services and less classical music which so few understand and appreciate.

The churches are a great power for good in the land, and if their field of service can be widened in any manner the general result will be beneficial.

The Kaiser went up Kemmel Hill to see how his armies were progressing toward Calais. He was able to see his "invincible hosts" being thrown back in disastrous defeat by the Allies and huge mounds of quiet grey-clad figures thickly dotting the landscape all along the lines of allied defences. He could see, if he wasn't so blind with his own colossal vanity, the unconquerable spirit of the Allies which neither Hun treachery nor Hun arms can break.

Tobacco and tea are to take another slant upward under the influence of war taxation and it is a safe bet that for every cent of new taxation levied the consumer will pay two cents on his purchases. Every time you lose somebody doubles up. Tobacco is now just about twice the price in Canada as in the United States on account of the heavy duties. How would it do to pick out something else to tax besides tobacco for a while—at least until the United States price catches up with ours? Non-tobacco users who are against the habit should find solace in the fact that the smoker and chewer pays heavily in taxes for the privilege, and these taxes the tobacco abstainer escapes.

We infer, not that the allied army is in danger, for England and France alone have 17,000,000 more population than Germany, but that America, France and Great Britain are trying to get enough men at the front to overwhelm the Germans and follow up the victory and hasten the end of the war.

No other way is offered to peace except over the grave of Prussian militarism. The war, as it is the greatest in the mobilization of men, is the purest in human history. It is not for national rights, although these are involved, but for the future of the world.

VIMY RIDGE
(April 9, 1917.)

I.—The Victory.

It was twelve months ago. The April sun
Was not yet risen from his cloud-girt bed;
And many a sentry stood with nodding head,
Thinking another long night's watch was done;
When suddenly from every deep redoubt
Broke forth a savage, raucous roar and spurt
The shrieking shell, and over all there spread
Confusion and destruction, sparing none,
It was twelve months ago. The April stars
Withheld their radiance from that stricken field,
Whereon no insatiate, gory hand of Mars
Had gleaned so swift, so plentiful a yield,
So might it seem that on the Vimy Ridge
Brute lust of Empire reaped its heritage. . . .

II—The Victors.

Away such thoughts! O God, it cannot be!
Did Justice perish here when Mercy fled?
Is Reason buried with th' unrounded dead
On this unhallowed ground, where all we see
Today proclaims it one vast cemetery!
Who, then, were they who charged, and fought, and bled,
Triumphed or found a last, a stony bed
On Vimy's slopes? Far o'er the western sea
Their gallcons came, for they had heard the call
Of duty; they had heard the distant cry
Of martyred Belgium in her agony.
They fought that Freedom's banners might not fall,
Nor She be crushed from out the hearts of all
Mankind, beneath the yoke of Tyranny.

At the same time they clear the air of Hun machines—thus "putting out the eyes" of the enemy batteries.

OUR WEEKLY SERMON

By Rev. A. M. Hubly.

THE CHRIST OF THE BIBLE.

Luke xxiv:27.

"Things concerning Himself." No doubt Jesus paid diligent heed to the study of the scripture when a child, in youth, and as He grew to manhood.

In doing so, He found Himself in them everywhere. He knew that the son of the woman which should bruise the serpent's head, and should have his heel bruised, was none other than Himself. He knew that the brazen serpent lifted up for the healing of the bitten Israelites was a type of Himself lifted up for the healing of a sin-smitten world.

He knew that He was the anti-type of the Paschal Lamb, and that all the slain sin offerings pointed to Him as the lamb slain from the foundation of the world. He knew that the prophets enlarged upon the writings of Moses concerning Him, that the minds of all men might become more enlightened regarding His mission in the world.

He saw Himself as the sorrowing, rejected, bruised, smitten and crucified Saviour of men, portrayed by Isaiah. He knew that the true, good and faithful shepherd described by Jeremiah, and the son of man by Ezekiel, and the glorious king by Daniel were all different phases of his character, mission and office.

He saw Himself as the suffering servant of Jehovah, but also the spiritanointed preacher to proclaim the accepted year of the Lord.

Then, He must have seen, quite conspicuous through the divine volume, Himself as the promised mediator and great High Priest, as in a panoramic picture moving along the line of history, in one or other of the offices to which the promised Saviour was destined.

In Joseph he was the dispenser of blessings to the needy and the inspired interpreter of truth, and world-reaching problems.

In Moses He was the lawgiver leader and commander.

In Joshua He was the conqueror.

He was the spiritual guide and preacher in Samuel, and in David the combatant; and in Solomon the triumphant King surrounded with wealth and glory surpassing that of all other nations and kingdoms of the world.

From these truths, which like pearls lie on the very surface of those sacred pages, I want to point out a few lessons worthy of the attention of the simply and superficial evangelical Bible worshipper as well as of the irreverent rationalist.

First of all,it would emphasize the fact that the only true student of the Bible is he who discovers the Christ as its theme, its essence, and inspiration. The Book will not have fulfilled its mission of profitable ministry to the most earnest student until he has discovered the Christ of its pages, as the priceless pearl in the field. The scriptures make interesting study for all seekers after knowledge, for in them may be discovered theological systems, ethical codes, civil and ecclesiastical politics, science and philosophy, but unless we can say with Philipp "We have found Him, of whom Moses in the law and the prophets did write, Jesus of Nazareth," our studies of the Bible have been a failure. "We have but found the shell, but not the kernel—the casket, but not the jewel."

Second lesson for all alike is that the only believer in the inspired revelation is he who believes in the Christ of the Bible. There is a great possibility of being very zealous in the profession of faith in the inspiration of the Bible, in the truth of its miracles, its doctrines, precepts and promises, and yet, by life and character, and attitude toward the things which Christ taught, even commanded, show perfect indifference to Him as His Saviour to be, and by an un-Christian spirit witness to the world that the Christ of the Bible is not worthy of confidence. We may think that we believe the Bible, and yet, have never heard its voice of inspiration.

Like the Jews, to whom were given the Old Testament scriptures, as the very oracles of Jehovah, this very Bible may be our judge unto condemnation.

Christ said unto those Jews, who thought that they were the divinely appointed custodians of revealed truth: "The Father Himself, which hath sent me, hath borne witness of me. Ye neither heard His voice at any time, nor seen His shape. And ye have not His word abiding in you: for whom He hath sent, him ye believe not." Thus we learn that he who believes not in the Christ, whatever else may believe in connecting Bible truth, he is an infidel and the consequence of remaining in such a condition of life is too horrible to contemplate. Jesus said unto those Jews which believed not in Him: "Ye shall die in your sins: for if ye believe not that I am, ye shall die in your sins."

The third thing that impresses itself upon us as a lesson worthy of our attention is, that the only true, preacher of the Bible is he who preaches the Christ.

Theology is not Christ, any more than physiology is life; it is only something about the world's great Redeemer, which may be either true or false. A great many very good people make the sad mistake of adopting a system of pulpit discoursing as will please infidel crowds. There are dual motives in all human action, and in both preaching and hearing that which is preached.

One set inclines toward selfish ease, pride of position, confidence in the flesh, and presumption of self-importance, and God's mercifulness, and so an indulgence in what is most pleasing to flesh and sense.

The other set impels to self-exaltation and to pray:

Lord, teach me to know myself; then, Lord, teach me to know Thee and do Thy will. The motive by which both preacher and hearer should be prompted places in the foreground complete moral wholeness, perfect spiritual manhood, the largest and fullest life of sacrificial service, its goal the peace and blessedness of a life well spent, for precept and example for the good of the largest number.

To preach Christ is to exhort, admonish, and encourage the foolhive in men, as seen in Jesus, pointing them to the sacrifice of Himself at Jerusalem, in contrast with the old selfishness of our fallen nature which found vent in Simon Peter—"Be it far from thee, Lord."

Let us believe the Christ and learn from Him that the very suppression of shirking duty, or refusing to suffer for the sake of righteousness and truth, is satanic, even as it was in Simon Peter. Let us learn from Christ where to find the pure, and well refined gold of sacrificial service.

A savage will make sacrifice for his own family, a clan-man for his clan, a fisherman for his tribe; a patriot for his companions in crime; a patriot will sacrifice his all for his country; but only he believes in the Christ of the Bible will, consistent with such belief, sacrifice for his enemies. And so to preacher and hearer alike is given needed instruction. To one—"preach Christ"; and to the other—"Take heed how thou hearest." The Christian ministry is not to soothe men's conscience, but to convince of "sin, of righteousness and of judgment", and to proclaim the necessity of repentence toward God, and faith in the one and only Saviour and Redeemer—the Christ of the Bible, who died for man's sin, and rose again for his justification.

Starving men need bread, not to be tasted in chemistry.

Perishing men need Christ, and speculative theories regarding Him. He who was the greatest of all preachers, save the Son of God Himself, pointed his race to Jesus of Nazareth, saying "Behold the Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world."

We, who would be true believers in and followers of the Christ of the Bible, have still reason to give heed to the apostolic injunction "Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the traditions of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ." The world can endure church-going to hear logic, philosophy, anecdote, riddles, orations, music; but only the very enemies of God will even enjoy attending His house just in proportion as it favorably to His purpose, competes with grand opera or stage oratory.

"Only the pure in heart shall see God." Such will also rejoice in the plain, common gospel, that holds up the Christ of the Bible, in the house of the Lord.

Refuses to Believe Quebec Apathetic

MONTREAL, Que., May 1.—Mr. Samuel Gompers, the veteran president of the American Federation of Labor, delivered an interesting address before the Canadian Club here yesterday to an audience of over 1,000 members of the club.

There was no particularly new thought in Mr. Gompers' address, but the eloquence and earnestness with which he presented his plea for solidarity throughout the United States and Canada, and his stirring cry for freedom and democracy thrilled his audience, especially when he declared that labor was ready to prove talk until militarism was crushed.

He briefly touched upon the situation in this province, where it had been reported to him that part of the population was indifferent to the result of the war. This he refused to believe, declaring that if any people understood the principles for which we were fighting they could not doubt as to which side they would fight on.

FRENCH BUILD AND LAUNCH HUGE SHIP

PARIS, May 1.—The largest freighter in the French mercantile marine service was launched at Dunkirk, and is now safe in a French port remote from the fighting zone. It is 450 feet long and is of 19,000 tons displacement.

The Germans, aware of the location of the shipyard, tried in every way to interfere with the work and destroy the yard and ship. Long-range guns bombarded the vicinity, air-raiding shipyard with Gothas, but were beaten off. The enemy then moved mine fields along the course which they knew the freighter would travel but the mines were picked up the next day. The Ministry of Marine considered the launching, which was expected only in the middle of may, was advanced three weeks.

On the night preceding the launch the Germans tried to bombard the shipyard with Gothas, but were beaten off. The enemy then moved mine fields along the course which they knew the freighter would travel but the mines were picked up the next day. The Ministry of Marine consid-

Dry Farming And Irrigation

(1) Planting Wheat to feed the Allies.
(2) Alberta Crop on an Irrigated Farm.
(3) An Irrigation Canal in Alberta.

THERE is an opinion on the part of the public in the mind that dry farming and irrigation are two methods of agriculture directly opposed to each other. Nothing could well be further from the truth. Dry farming and irrigation are methods of agriculture very closely allied to each other. Both are practised in countries where precipitation is less than the growing crop requires; both are designed to overcome low precipitation by providing moisture where it is required and when it is required, by means at the command of the farmer and of the tiller of the soil.

It is only natural that of these two methods dry farming should be better known and more widely adopted in a country such as Western Canada. "This country has been settled for the most part by farmers who have had no experience in irrigation farming, but were more or less familiar with the principles of dry farming. There is also to be considered the fact that dry farming may be practised in districts where, but irrigation is dependent upon supplies of water being available and certain engineering works being carried out, without which it is impossible. These works involve a large investment of capital and it is therefore, natural that irrigated areas should be comparatively small in proportion to areas devoted to dry farming.

It is not the purpose of this article to discuss in detail the advantages of one method of farming as compared with the other. Each has its advantages and each doubtless has its disadvantages which may vary with local conditions. For example, it has been stated, dry farming is not dependent upon engineering or water supplies, or topographical conditions. Its principles can readily be understood and practised by any one familiar with the general business of agriculture. It does not involve the capital outlay necessary in connection with irrigation projects. On the other hand dry farming necessitates a thorough knowledge and cultivation of large areas of land, as a certain percentage of the land is running as high as fifty per cent. in the dry districts, must be left fallow each year in order to store up the necessary moisture to produce the next year's crop. Dry farming, too, is only a partial remedy for low precipitation; if the precipitation is too low not even the methods of the most advanced farmer can be depended on to bring forth a crop.

In order to practise irrigation farming it is necessary that engineering works, frequently of very expensive nature, should be installed, and this is possible only where the topography of the country lends itself to such an enterprise. It is also necessary that nature should provide to an ample supply of water available when through these engineering works. Where the foregoing conditions exist, however, very good returns are given in favor of irrigation farming, and it may be said that probably nowhere are they found under more favorable circumstances than in Southern Alberta.

The irrigation farmer requires less land than his neighbor who follows dry farming, because he is not obliged to allow any of it to remain fallow, and while he may pay more per acre for ots farm his total investment is very much less. He has the advantage of absolute insurance against drouth. He could raise much larger crops of grasses, vegetables and fodders than is possible under any other system of farming, and he can raise some crops which are not practicable without irrigation. Such a crop for example is alfalfa. As it grows deep roots it is enabled to get on dry land its natural home is in the irrigation districts. It is the greatest of all irrigation crops producing in the United States, and is rapidly becoming one of the most important of Alberta's crops. The following table shows the alfalfa acreage and production in the various provinces of Canada:

Province	Acres	Tons
Prince Edward Island	None	None
Nova Scotia	30	90
New Brunswick	None	None
Quebec	2,318	4,636
Ontario	82,500	247,500
Manitoba	4,400	9,900
Saskatchewan	9,500	15,200
Alberta	21,256	51,400
B. Columbia	5,450	10,900

The preeminent position occupied by Alberta among the Western Provinces in this respect is due entirely to the irrigation enterprises which have been carried out in that province. It should be stated also that the alfalfa production of Saskatchewan and British Columbia is also due mainly to the irrigation enterprises undertaken in those provinces. Alfalfa may be said to be the most valuable crop that can be produced on a farm; it has a food value equal to its own weight of bran. It has been demonstrated that an acre of alfalfa will produce 291 pounds of pork as compared with 365 pounds from an acre of corn. It has also been demonstrated that with milk at $2.00 per hundred pounds thought an acre of alfalfa for milk production is $13.67 compared with $16.12 for an acre of timothy. In addition to its great feeding value alfalfa has the advantage that instead of impoverishing the land it makes the land richer; it calls for comparatively little labor, being grown only once in several years; it requires no binder twine or threshing, and the farmer can either cut it or can consume the cattle crop on the premises by pasturing it.

There is little doubt that the large area in Southern Alberta which has been brought under irrigation by the Canadian Pacific Railway will become one of the greatest livestock centers in Canada as a result. The fodder crops rendered possible through irrigation. At the same time the non-irrigated areas will continue to be worked on the dry farming principle and instead of dry farming and irrigation being in opposition to each other they will be found—as they now are found—practised by the same farmer on the same farm, the irrigation farming below the ditch and the dry farming on the higher land. Success may be reached by irrigation.—E. J. C. S.

MARY PICKFORD AND JUNE CAPRICE

"Stella Maris" is at Griffin's tonight with Mary Pickford. Stella Maris was an orphan, tremendously rich, living with her aunt and uncle Sir Blount and Lady Eleaner in a hideous castle by the sea. She was afflicted with a mysterious disease which paralyzed her from childhood and her room was always kept lighted day and night. The twinkling lights seen from far off on the ocean led John Riva, a distant relative, to name her Stella Maris—star of the sea—and by this name she was known for the rest of her life. Mary Pickford plays two roles in Stella Maris, one adolescent and plain, and the other as Unity Blake, smooth and unlovely, but capricious with it a tremendous amount of pep then. In several scenes as Unity Blake, Mary Pickford causes the feminine audience to reach for its handkerchiefs and enjoy a good cry.

"The Sunshine Maid," June Caprice, also appears on the same program in "Unknown 274". Sounds mysterious, doesn't it? A good Essanay story, and "Black Eyes," an amusing Ealem Sis Hopkins comedy, will also be presented.

MAE MARSH IN "THE BELOVED TRAITOR"

Totally different is the Mae Marsh of "The Beloved Traitor" from the Mae Marsh of "Fields of Honor" or "The Cinderella Man." Both these favorite characterizations disclosed an irresistibly appealing Mae Marsh, but not the girl who finds herself in the midst of a powerful situation as in "The Beloved Traitor" which will be exhibited at the Palace Theatre tomorrow to Saturday, with a matinee daily and who becomes an intensely dramatic figure in the solution of the problem which confronts her.

JULES OF THE STRONG HEART

The ring of the woodman's axe, the hissing of the great logs as they down the gigantic slopes, the grinding of harnessing by which these logs are crested into lumber, these sounds will ring in the ears of the audience at Griffin's tomorrow to Saturday, matinee Saturday at 2:15, in viewing Ewing Eelan's latest picture, "Jules of the Strong Heart."

The Red chapter of Vitagraph's western serial "Vengeance and the Woman", and the Griffin Screen Telegram will be review of current news items will also be presented.

MOTHER OF EMPRESS EXILED FROM AUSTRIA

PARIS, May 1.—The Princess Marie Antoinette, mother of Empress Zita, has been ordered to leave Austria with in 24 hours and not re-enter that country until the termination of the war, according to a despatch from Geneva. Empress Zita has been blamed by the pro-German party in her husband's Empire as being responsible for Emperor Charles' now famous letter to Prince Sixtus of Bourbon, his brother-in-law, in which he made overtures for peace to France. Anti-Teutonic tendencies have been attributed to the Empress because of her Bourbon descent.

LARGE INCREASE IN INLAND REVENUE.

OTTAWA, May 1.—War taxes collected by the Inland Revenue Department during March amounted to $1129.

The total revenue of the department for the month was $2,009,015, last year the total was $2,920,749. The increase was doubtless due to the large amount of liquor taken out of bond because of the coming into effect on April 1 of the war time prohibition measure. Collections on spirituous liquors alone for the month amounted to $1,836,287. It is anticipated that there will be a heavy falling off in these collections commencing with the present month.

TURKS TAKE KARS FORTRESS AND 300 RUSSIAN GUNS

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 1.—The official communication issued Saturday says:

"We have occupied the fortress of Kars and captured 300 guns."

Kars was a strongly fortified town and of great strategic importance to Russia. It lies on an elevation of 5,000 feet and is connected by railway with Tiflis. It several times has been the scene of notable battles between the Russians and the Turks. It was captured by the Russians in 1828, in 1855 and again in 1877, and in 1878 was ceded to Russia.

Germans Interned Overpower Guard

AMSTERDAM, May 1.—The report current last week that Germany had sent an ultimatum to Holland led to a revolt among German internees in the Vaseveld Camp, according to a despatch from Haltum, Holland, to the Het Volk. The guards are said to have been overpowered by 1,000 Germans, who fled in all directions. Civilian pants were notified immediately, and mounted police searched the countryside. Many Germans succeeded in passing through the lines, and are now on the way back to Germany, but the police rounded up the majority of them in groups of 25 or 30.

WELL PLAY LACROSSE.

The National Game Has Suffered Greatly in the War.

It has frequently been commented upon in this country that the old identity national games have languished and almost died in the hour of the nation's trial. Canadian cricket has scarcely been played for over two years; lacrosse in only seen in a few places, and the rink is mostly played by burly hockey devotees out. Nourish as it did before 1914. The advisability of discontinuing the playing of the national game of Canada until the end of the war, was discussed at considerable length at the annual meeting of the Ontario Amateur Lacrosse Association, held recently. The delegates were of the opinion that the association should "carry on" for the benefit of the small boys who are learning to play the game, and they also thought that it would be a pity to discourage the other teams that might be in a position to play. It was pointed out that lacrosse players had never been backward in doing their duty for the country, and they responded quickly to the call in such large numbers the lacrosse was the first Canadian game to feel the effects of the war. It was one of the sports which became almost non-existent very quickly on account of the absence at the war of the men who played the game. Other games were being played, and in members of the association felt that it would be a mistake to cease entirely for a season to keep organized in these active.

The discussion was started by Mr James Stevenson, of Toronto, who brought in a motion suggesting that the association decide to discontinue lacrosse for a year. When men were wanted in the early days of the war the lacrosse players responded. Now the call was for the production of more food, and as the national game was played during the summer he thought it would be advisable to stop lacrosse, in order that it might not interfere with the work of greater production.

Mr. Elias Rose opposed the suggestion. "One thing is certain," he said "the lacrosse players have never failed in their duty to their country." He objected to the splendid showing of international games, and added: "I believe you will find more real slackers in the bodies of men enforcing game of soccer than among lacrosse players." It seemed to be a reflection on the national game to suggest that it was necessary to close up its work in order to force anybody connected with it to do his duty. The figures showed that lacrosse had done more than any other form of sport in proportion to the size of the association in fulfilling its patriotic duty. Mr. Ed. Hinds, of Orillia, agreed with the views of Mr. Rose, and suggested that those men who wanted to play lacrosse in the time that the rink was for necessary recreation should not be deprived of the opportunity. Mr. Len Smith, Toronto, pointed to the number of lacrosse teams that had automatically ceased to exist as a proof that lacrosse players could be relied upon to do their duty. Mr. Frank Dixon, St. Catharines, referred to the difficulty of reviving a defunct organization, and thought that nothing should be carried on, even though the association was very small. Mr. Blaney Medcalfe, Orangeville, said that the games of lacrosse that would be played this summer were not likely to interfere with the work of production, and the recreation which could be settled before the harvest is ready. The opposed anything that would be a setback to the game. People did not realize the work who controlled the associations playing the national game of the United States for providing its followers with recreation. In view of the discussion that had taken place, it was decided to withdraw the motions and let the matter drop.

The Allied Soldier.

In the Red Cross Magazine, Pte. Percy Hemingway, of Kingston Gallagher, author and lecturer pays a fine tribute to the allied soldiery as follows:

"It is a matter of wonder—world wonder—that the allied soldier who has created red murder done by Attila, who has seen the mutilated bodies of men, women and child, dead, yet secures as tenderly the wounded enemy as he does his own rade in the ranks. It is not of uncommon occurrence to see a British officer who has won life to bring to the helpless, though still breathing Turks, of a fallen foe—what is the more proof positive is found that the wounded of the fighting line is kept a surface disinterestedly. It is the present mission of the allied soldier of to-day, for modern warfare, the man—the combatant—is not of everyday affairs—who is fighting for an ideal, a principle, and that is it, as the little Cockney soldier would put it all of "air-right."

What higher praise can man have? Our Anglo-Saxon forebears of very remote devoid of vulgistic terms. We have not words in which to express admiration of our fellowmen enough leave it to feelings, and thoughts and instinctive actions. We are an inarticulate race. But how we feel! How we honor the man who is "all right."

A Sure Way to End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has proved to remove dandruff at last, sure, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, first get about four ounces of ordinary common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gent ly with the finger tips.

By morning most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely eradicate and entirely destroy every single skin and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and dilgiist of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

Hudson Bay in History

THERE is a ring of unconventional irony in the question now being formulated between the nations interested: Is Russia to be interned by an ocean open free as the day to all? Per centuries the bravest of brave mariners have sought to penetrate the bergs and floes which jealously guard the portals of these mighty Canadian waters, only to be beaten back without securing a glimpse of their silent wastes.

The romance of this cold and forbidden spot on the threshold of the Arctic regions antedates, by many decades, the coming of the "Governors and Adventurers of England" who have filled the annals of the past with tales of heroic story under the more modern appellation of the Hudson Bay Co. On Rupert's ouslet map in the "Plotions," 1648, there is recorded a legend which shows that men had already penetrated the strait at the northeast entrance. "Here the surging sea commences," says the curious chronicle, "where ships' compasses lose their properties." Rupert had confidently left with Captain Gillam on his second voyage in 1498, and penetrating what is now termed Hudson Strait. Thereby hangs a tale which has been altogether lost in reliable teller. That doughty sea rover, John Cabot, set sail in 1497 with five ships, and with everything provided for the complete equipment of a new country. But he had not gone many days before one of his ships returned to England with the report that the fleet had been forced, by severe storms, to seek for land somewhere off Ireland. From this point begins the decided difference of opinion among the contemporary recorders. By some it is stated that Cabot and his entire crews were lost, but that the discoveries must be attributed to his son, Sebastian Cabot, who returned to England to be conclusive that John returned to Ireland in the autumn of the same year, that he had sailed direct to Newfoundland, and, after exploring the east and west shores, he had sailed "far south along the American coast. It is often claimed that Cabot had actually discovered the bay in 1517, but this must be set down to Henry Hudson in lieu of more definite information.

However, the maps published about 1540 began to show the bay in definite way, an ocean north of the Straits of Anian. Michael Lok's map in Hakluyt's "Divers Voyages," of 1582, however was more accurate. Captain Jong lained reach of sea extending to the south-west, that he was forced to wait many yrs the heroic Frobisher, in 1610, boldly worked his way into the bay and sealed the sea of conjecture and myth for all time. He sailed his ship as far as the southern-most opening, known as James Bay, where, as usual, he was forced to winter frozen in, and where he was compelled to remain from 1610 to August. June he set sail for home, but a mutiny broke out among his crew, and he not only took command but put him and seven companions in a boat, he abandoned men, adrift in a boat and to the mercy of the waves. The murderer of the navigator of the great waterway to the west, whose name, indeed, written larger on the map of the world than any other than any other.

The story of discovery does not rise again on the bay until more than half a century later, and it is to the Hudson Bay Co. that the vast overland route that one must now turn. Charles II., one of the Stuarts's colony on the St. Lawrence had not yet begun to realize the profits of their trading expeditions. The fact that the Hudson Bay Co. existed that it is not surprising' g to find that the Charter of the Hudson Bay Co. granted to go overland to the bay in the year 1670. Prince Rupert and other English king had granted the monopoly of trade to the Hudson Bay Company) and it was the report, brought back by Radisson, that established the English trading posts on the bay that suggested to the French the overland route to the north. There was long and bitter struggle between the French and English for the fur trade. Those were the days when men's lives were cheap and when the prospect of fabulous wealth from the fur trade led to the settlement of Canada, what Cabot and Hudson had failed to do, the French explorers managed to do, and the Indies. It lay, according to the latter, on the other side of the vast bay. And so, one day in a year of grace 1682, there set out a party of New France sent an expedition overland from Montreal and captured the Hudson Bay posts. This was the most brilliant of the contests was waged during the period of the Canadian Nelson, liberville by name, who, in the course of his career upon a British armed ships, sank one, captured another, and fought a duel to fight within the space of four hours.

The bay is now entering upon a period of peaceful development. The ships of the Hudson Bay Co. are associated with these huge wastes of water, and the establishment of the prosaic deeds of commercial enterprises. The silent water, though still the haunt of the Eskimo, the American Indian, and the Eskimo, are being opened up as a highway route to Europe for the shipment of wheat. There are no rocks and reefs confronting the bay with the exception of the Belcher, and none of the agricultural possibilities of the land along the coasts will be put to the test by the farmer settler.

A Mother's Endorsement

"With the children Nujol has done wonders"

Mothers! Assure the lasting, robust health of your children—health founded on regular bowel habits—by relieving their constipation with Nujol, the safe, effective remedy recommended in the following letters:—

Dixondale, Va., Jan. 1, 1917.

NUJOL LABORATORIES,
STANDARD OIL CO. (New Jersey),
BAYONNE, N. J.

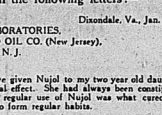

Dear Sirs:—

I have given Nujol to my two year old daughter with very beneficial effect. She had always been constipated, and I think the regular use of Nujol was what cured her and caused her to form regular habits.

Very sincerely,
SELINA L. (MRS. N. S.) HOPKINS.

Now read this extract from a mother in Winslow, Arizona:

"With the children Nujol has done wonderf. A dose or two when they begin to fret results in their being as bright and happy as possible the day following."

EVERY mother knows how insidiously constipation saps vitality. The moment your children's bowels fail to act, their bodies become easy prey to numerous ailments. By all means keep their bowels and your own—naturally regular by the use of Nujol—the pure, safe, drugless remedy which cannot harm the sensitive child, and which therefore is now used instead of harmful pills and physics. Remember that repeated dosing with strong laxative drugs dangerously weakens the natural bowel-vitality.

Nujol relieves gently and thoroughly, without stimulation, griping or injurious reaction. Nujol is palatable, harmless and efficient.

MAY KEEP ENGAGEMENT RING

Jersey City Judge Rules in Favor of Girl Who Returned Sparkler.

Return of Sparkler.

There can be no Indies given on the Jersey side of the Hudson, so ruled a Judge in Jersey City, writes a New York correspondent. As a result of the decision a young swain is out a $150 diamond ring, which he wanted for the fair maiden to whom he gave it him.

The [illegible] were engaged, and, according to custom, he placed the sparkler in question on her left hand. They then separated, and when they reassembled at his testimony, preferred the tango, jazz and turkey trot sitting on a settee discussing their future. Therefore he broke off the engagement and demanded the ring, which was refused.

The Judge was called upon to decide whether an engagement ring was a gift outright or merely a gift contingent upon the fulfillment of a promise to wed. He found them entitled to the title "Solomon Judgment," split the difference, as far as the ring was in judge and the young woman are concerned.

He Didn't Know.

In a murder trial at one of the assizes recently examined. Most of them had a notion of the meaning of "premeditation," a hypothetical question of 20,000 words, which it required two hours to read, was asked of Doctor Blank, a famous expert on insanity. The learned doctor answered the question in three words: "I don't know." A frank answer, but rather unsatisfactory to counsel.

"PASSING THE BUCK."

Good Canadians Must Do Their Duty at Citizens.

Unless citizens are assuming their individual responsibilities to the full in connection with the war and all war work, they are literally and absolutely passing the buck." This is a western expression that means sliding out of your responsibility and passing it on to somebody else; it is another way of saying "Let George do it."

Passing the buck" in connection with the vital needs of national service for winning the war—enlisting, buying, economizing, or working at any essential work—is sliding out from the duties of real citizenship and complacently seeing others do their duty instead. Such a state of mind breeds inertia. It brings down a lack of appreciation of the gravity of war conditions and of the ability to take the initiative. Action of the Canadian national spirit, which is in this war with all its resources of men, money and materials for the finish.

In times of peace it was considered clever to be adept at "passing the buck," and in the vernacular interpretation of the phrase, the citizen shirked his own duty and left it to work for him. To-day, however, that kind of thing is a crime—at least half, in heroic, though horrible, effect to its results, and deserves condemnation. In such a crisis the individual must be prepared to accept responsibility to shoulder his responsibility in full. He must be a real, live, virile citizen. He must do his full duty, and he must help his neighbors to do theirs. And it is with these in mind that the following, pertinent, though plain, words are written.

The duty of the citizen is clear. He must not "pass the buck" nor shirk his responsibilities in any way. All he has to do is to obey the police wherever he sees an infraction of the laws, and to help them do so. And it is with these in mind that the following, pertinent, though plain, words are written.

After taking 1000 ZUTOO TABLETS Says they are Harmless

Mr. Jos. Thibeault, of Cookshire, says "Zutoo Tablets must have cured 1000 of my friends, for I have taken 1000 tablets. After trying every remedy within reach I tried Zutoo and all I can say for ZUTOO, which I have taken ever since.

"I find Zutoo tablets a harmless and efficient cure for all kinds of headaches, and at 25 cents per box—at all dealers.

but the honest citizen will not use it. And the dishonest citizen must be prevented from doing it.

Again the rigid enforcement of the selling laws and the boarding of all waste orders passed by the National Food Board is a work of paramount national importance. It is a matter of pride for the honest, self-denying citizen to see self-seeking others hold himself under discipline. It saves, it is necessary, to obey the spirit as well as the letter of these orders. If a right will be infringed, by all we ask, we will obey, and it is his duty in order to preserve his own liberties. Therefore, the rights of all citizens, is evident that other citizens, persons less thoughtful, shall obey.

The duty of the citizen is clear. He must not "pass the buck" nor shirk his responsibilities in any way. All he has to do is to obey the police wherever he sees an infraction of the laws, and to help them do so. And it is with these in mind that the following, pertinent, though plain, words are written.

QUEBEC'S LAST WET YEAR BEGINS TO-DAY

MONTREAL, May 1—The curtain rose today on the last year as liquor licenses in the Province of Quebec. Legislation passed at the last session of the legislature, having provided for total prohibition on May 1, 1919. While a year's grace was given to the hotel-keepers in which to dispose of their stocks, there are not many "wet" spots in the Province of Quebec to-day. Nearly the whole city went "dry" today by virtue of the decision of the people almost a year ago under the Canada Temperance Act. Of the other cities in the Province there are only Sherbrooke Ste. Hyacinthe Asbestos, Granby and St. John's, which continue in the "wet" column, Hull also going "dry" this day.

HULL NOW DRY

OTTAWA, May 1—John Barleycorn was given his knock-out in the city of Hull, Que., across the Ottawa River this evening, at 9 o'clock last night, and thus the third largest city in the Province of Quebec is "dry." By an overwhelming majority of 1,000 upon the residents of the city voted to eliminate intoxicating liquors after April 30, 1918, with the refusal of Sir Lomer Gouin to renew the licenses of the Golf and country Clubs in the neighborhood of the Hull, the Capital City of Canada will be the midst of a "dry" area, the counties of Ottawa and Wright in Quebec also being under local option.

Able-Seaman Sam Hodkinson Was "Discharged by Death"

Gallant Sailor Whose Service Record Was Always Marked "Superior" Gives His Life For King and Country—Parents Live In Belleville

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hodkinson of 68 Alexander Street, and their daughter, Mrs. Sanger, mourn the death of their son Sam, who was killed in action on His Majesty's ship, Invincible on the 27th of August, 1917. On his parchment record of services, contained in a silver frame, there is entered by the Admiralty, who sent the papers to Colonel W. N. Ponton of this city, the final entry "Discharged by death."

The gallant sailor was twice wounded and had fought all six campaigns are attached. He had the full number of three good conduct badges, and before he died was recommended for special and gratuity. Readers will realize the wonderful experience that the deceased sailor had in the service of his country from boyhood to manhood in all ports of the globe when they learn that he served successively on the following ships of war—Ganges, Bonaventure, Minotaur, Pembroke, Furious, Hermes, London, Egmont, Cyclops, Vulcan and Invincible, and on three of these vessels since and his certificates of good conduct and ability all excellent and marked "Superior" are signed by the captain commanding the vessel and not of the navy.

It was while engaged as escort to a prize crew and in defending a bark that A. B. Hodkinson lost his life at the hands of his comrades, another victim of the submarine. The husband of his sister, Mrs. Singer, has been overseas for some time and is one of the expert night railway operators in France with the regiment of skilled railway men. The family, who came from England about twelve years ago to Belleville, are all and last proud. They have the sympathy of their fellow citizens and Belleville has added another name to its Honor Roll.

Railway Shopmen Have Grievances

MONTREAL, May 1—A conference of a most momentous nature, involving the 30,000 men of the shop trades of all the railways in Canada, and affecting directly the national life of the Dominion, opened yesterday in Montreal, when the executive of the Railway Em Division of the federation of railway shop mechanics, and a number of delegates from the larger points of National Reference.

The delegates came to Montreal with a mandate to present to the railway officials all the shops of the railways demanding an adjustment and increase of the minimum wage and a new schedule of working hours adopted for the Canada, a nine hour day, and a time and a half overtime basis, and one and a half for the sixth day.

Some time ago a Federation was formed on each railway of Canada, taking in every trade in the railway, and their grievances were formulated by the sub-executive of Canada, which acts as executive for all the federations of the railways of Canada, and which exists in all matters in dispute for the skilled labor on all the railways of Canada. The Canadian Pacific railway has about here 1, 2 and 3, which are located in different parts of the United States. The Canadian Pacific has No. 4, and has its headquarters in Winnipeg.

The Big Question.

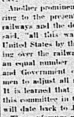

The big question to be discussed is the minimum wage, the men demanding a standard rate for all Canada. At present wages in the different districts in the minimum wage between the East and West, the latter being the higher. The men claim that their remunerations will demand an increase based on the minimum of the West, and the manager on the East to the same terms. They will also ask for a nine hour day, and a time and a half for the working around between the railway companies, and the same terms for the sixth day, towards one in a thirty-day one.

If the conference should be a failure the men's representatives of the railway companies refusing to make a satisfactory arrangement with the representatives of the men it would be quite one of the delegation "means a strike on every railway of Canada, the tying up of work in all the shops, and the tieing of transportation for

THE JOY OF MOTHERHOOD

Came to this Woman after Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Restore Her Health

Ebensburg, Wash.—"After I was married I was not well for a long time and a good deal of the time I was not able to go about. Finally I was to have a child and during one day my husband came back from town with a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and wanted me to try it. It brought relief from my troubles. I improved in health so I could do my housework; we now have a little one, all of which I owe to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. O. S. Johnston, R. No. 3, Ebensburg, Wash.

There are women everywhere who long for children in their homes yet are denied this happiness on account of some functional disorder which in most cases would readily yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Such women should not give up hope until they have given this wonderful medicine a trial, and for special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of 40 years experience is at your service.

LADDIE IS COMING OVER THE HILLS

A Toronto paper yesterday stated that Miss Lillian Leveridge, authoress of "Over the Hills of Home" not other beautiful poems, had received a card from her brother, Corp. Frank E. Leveridge, stating that he was a prisoner in Germany. Corp. Leveridge was reported as having died of wounds in France and his death was the inspiration for his sister to write "Over the Hills of Home." "Everyone who has read and thrilled to the lilting cadence of this beautiful poem will rejoice with the gifted authoress over her brother who was dead is alive again." And on return "over the hills of God, laddie, the beautiful hills of Home."

Miss Leveridge is a native of Harrying Place, near Belleville, and taught school in this vicinity.

GREATER PRODUCTIONS.

Dominion Will Give $2800,000 to Aid the Provinces.

The acreage in Western Canada this year will be the largest ever cultivated, and every province in the Dominion is planning to greatly increase the production of food, according to official reports to the Government. The Prime Minister recently gave Parliament an idea of what has already been accomplished with a view to providing foodstuffs for the Allies. He said the services of Mr. J. W. Robertson had been secured to represent the Food Board in the five eastern provinces. He had been in consultation with the Provincial Departments of Agriculture. Hon. Charles Dunning had personally taken charge of the work in the western provinces. The work of these gentlemen might be summarized as follows:

Ontario aims to secure organization, down to county and municipal committees, particularly to assist in labor supplies and distribution, and to bring home directly to the individual farmer the need of the greatest possible effort. Quebec aims to secure similar organization, and produce enough wheat to feed herself, and to greatly increase meat animals. Nova Scotia and New Brunswick have the same objective; also, in each of these provinces the effort will be to produce enough coarse grains to keep their own requirements for animal feed.

Alberta is divided into sixteen districts, and efforts are being made to insure supplies of seed, to find out what help is necessary; to secure tenants for unoccupied land, to urge delayed plowing before June, for the breaking of new areas o' their holdings for the 1919 crop. A Provincial Labor Bureau had been established, and the work is being attended generally by public meetings. In Saskatchewan more than one hundred meetings have been arranged, and steps have been taken to secure all available labor from towns and cities for the farms. Manitoba's plans are generically the same as those of Saskatchewan. British Columbia seems no export yet, except in a general way, but everyone is alive to the needs and is doing forth as an effort as possible.

The report stated that the acreage in Western Canada this year would be the largest ever planted, and as much land as possible is to be broken during the present year.

Sir Robert announced that, with the approval of the Cabinet Council, financial assistance had been promised to the various provinces as follows: Ontario, $60,000; Quebec, $60,000; Nova Scotia, $20,000; New Brunswick, $20,000; Prince Edward Island, $5,000; Manitoba, $25,000; British Columbia, $15,000; Saskatchewan, $25,000, and Alberta, $25,000.

In Berachel Island, [illegible] is fenced a cattle farm in which [illegible] continuously for eight weeks in summer, the Eskimo had a sundance, not always clothed in the garments of propriety. They had as fun that when the sun came back its movements were directly as an invisible power, but they had no tangible conception of a God. They had no belief in a future life, either or reward or punishment. Sunday they are religious; truthful, kind to their children and to the aged. They are ambitious to learn, they are practical, extremely industrious, sanitary in their habits, well clothed and well housed. Insanity is unknown, but consumption is very common.

They whale in summer and trap in winter. They are clever in trading, good workers on land, water and ice, and take especial care of their household effects. Tools broken are neatly repaired. When at Herschel Island or Fort McPherson they eat the white man's food with great relish. In summer they eat their fish and blubber raw and in winter frozen. They like food cooked, but it is a matter of indifference to them. They will hunger for white man's food, eat a hearty meal of it, and then go out and eat blubber and raw fish as dessert. The contents of a deer's stomach is considered a delicacy.

The Eskimos have no fear of death; if told that death is approaching they will respond with a complacent smile. They are even more stoical than the Mongolian. Trouble does not affect them at all. They are a very happy people. Their natures are childlike, and they do not continue in the same frame of mind for two minutes at a time. They are good-natured and humorous and very imaginative. Their emotions are sudden and short-lived — uproariously happy one moment and almost crying the next. Their faces are now wreathed in smiles, now a picture of woe.

Fighting the Seals.

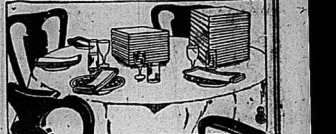

In an effort to protect the salmon run and probably enhance the pack, the British Columbia authorities, it is reported, have taken up with the Pacific coast, to be making war on the hair seals which are regarded as eating immense quantities of salmon at the mouth of the Fraser river. A Vancouver report states that, after observing the haunts of the seals on the Fraser sandheads, one of these shoals was recently raided, high explosives and charges of metal being placed in cans below the surface of the sand, which the next high tide smoothed over. At low tide the seals returned to their place in the sun and were not disturbed. The next day nearly 700 seals gathered on the sands, and the explosive was touched off, sending them from which never to the seal ground. The explosive killed over 300 seals, and the animals into small fragments. Other blasts will be set off, for this is the big sockeye salmon year and protection of the run is vital.

Chinese Peanuts.

One Chinese province annually exports more than 150,000 tons of peanuts, all because an American missionary several years ago gave a native convert a quart of California seed.

Hundred Thousand Tons of Sugar For Preserves

OTTAWA, May 2.—The following statement was made by the Food Board when asked whether sugar would be available for sugar preserving:

"Regulations have been put into force which are expected to effect a saving in Canada's sugar consumption of about one hundred thousand tons. These restrictions are absolutely necessary if we are to have the sugar with which to preserve our fruit crop during the summer period.

"There is sugar in Cuba but the ships to carry it are required elsewhere. We have been using more sugar than necessary. While the restrictions are imposed primarily in order to prepare for the requirements of the preserving season, a curtailment of sugar consumption will involve little hardship but will be conducive to individual health and will help to reduce our expenditures abroad, thus helping to finance the war."

MONTREAL DEALERS RAISE TEA.

MONTREAL, May 2.—The effect of the new tax on tea here was seen today when this commodity was advanced ten cents a pound for all grades in most stores. Auto dealers announce that the tax on car sales will undoubtedly help Canadian-made motors and probably force a number of United States concerns to establish plants here.

New War Taxes Now in Effect Retroactive on Tea and Autos

OTTAWA, May 2.—A great variety of questions are being asked with respect to the scope of certain of the taxes to be imposed under the Government's budget proposals, the time at which those taxes become effective and the manner in which they will be levied and collected. Such of the new taxes as are imposed by means of changes in the customs tariff become operative today. These include the new duty of ten cents a pound on tea, the increase in the duties of customs and excise upon tobacco, cigars and cigarettes, the new customs duty of 40 per cent. on so-called "temperance-beers" which are beginning to come into Canada in considerable quantities, and the duty on cinematograph films.

In the case of the new stamp duties on matches and playing cards, manufacturers and importers are required from yesterday to affix the necessary stamps denoting that the tax has been paid, but retailers and other dealers will be allowed until July 1st to get rid of the stocks of those commodities which they have on hand.

The date upon which the increased taxation upon parlor-car seats and sleeping-car berths will become operative will be fixed after the passage of the amendment to the special War Revenue Act of 1915, introduced by Hon. A. K. Maclean at the close of the budget statement.

The excise tax to be levied on automobiles, gramophones; gramophone records, mechanical piano and organ players and records therefor and jewelry will be effective as from April 30th, 1918, and the tax of 10 per cent. will be computed in the case of the imported article upon the valuation for customs entry plus the amount of duty paid and in the case of the article of domestic manufacture upon the manufacturer's selling price.

WHERE TAXATION IS RETROACTIVE.

Only in the case of automobiles, jewelry and tea is the new taxation made retroactive. That is to say, only automobiles, jewelry and tea which were imported before April 30th, and which still remain unsold "to bona fide users," will be subject to taxation.

Jewelry stocks of value less than $1,000, and stocks of tea of less than 1,000 pounds, will not be taxable under the retroactive provision of the taxation measure.

HUN WAR MACHINE HAS NOT RECOVERED FROM DISASTROUS DEFEAT OF MONDAY

STILL NURSING WOUNDS

BRITISH AND FRENCH ASSUME OFFENSIVE AND KEEP THE HUNS ON THE HOP — GERMANS BRING UP HEAVY ARTILLERY — FRENCH TROOPS MADE SEVERAL SUCCESSFUL RAIDS LAST NIGHT AND DEFEATED GERMAN ATTACK — BIG GUNS ARE ROARING ALL ALONG THE BATTLE FRONT — AMERICAN SOLDIERS PROVED THEIR METTLE AND DEFEATED ENEMY ATTACK IN GALLANT STYLE.

Special Despatches to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, May 2.—German artillery became active this morning in Villers—Bretonneux sector on the Amiens front and in the neighborhood of Merris on the Flanders front, it is announced officially.

HUN ATTACK FAILED.

PARIS, May 2.—A German attack last night on the Thennes sector failed, the French War Office announced this afternoon. French troops made raids on Lemonchel and west of Coucy le Chateau.

ALLIED OFFENSIVE

LONDON, May 2.—Having been defeated with heavy losses in every one of the fighting around Ypres, the Germans have attempted no further onslaughts. Since Monday what activity there has been in this region was carried out by the British and French, both of whom have materially bettered their positions—the French near Loere and the British at Meteren, where the Australians raided an enemy post. On both sectors ground was captured and prisoners were taken.

BIG GUNS ARE ROARING

The game in the offensive, however, apparently is not to be taken as meaning the end of the German attempts to crack the allied line. All along the front the big guns are roaring and duels of all calibres are plowing the terrain and the areas far behind them, and fresh German reserves, to take the places of the scores of men killed, wounded or made prisoner, are being hurried to the front.

KAISER'S CRAZY SPEECH

Indeed, advices from the British front in Flanders are to the effect that another furious drive by von Arnim is an immediate prospect. Emperor William has been at the front delivering flamboyant speeches to the troops in an endeavor to spur them on to victory.

VICTORY FOR U. S. TROOPS

With the French Army in France, May 2.—A heavy German attack launched against the Americans in the vicinity of Villers-Bretonneux was repulsed with heavy loses for the enemy. The German preliminary bombardment lasted two hours, and then the infantry rushed forward, only to be thrown back, leaving large numbers of dead on the ground in front of the American lines.

The German bombardment opened at 5 o'clock in the afternoon and was directed especially against the Americans, who were supported on the north and south by the French. The fire was intense, and at the end of two hours the German commander sent forward three battalions of infantry. There was hand-to-hand fighting all along the line, as a result of which the enemy was thrust back, the dead and wounded lying on the ground in all directions. Five prisoners remained in American hands. The struggle, which lasted a considerable time, was extremely violent, and the Americans displayed marked bravery throughout.

This was the first occasion in which the Americans were engaged in the big battle which has been raging since March 21, and their French comrades are full of praise for the manner in which they conducted themselves under the trying circumstances, especially in view of the fact that they are fighting at one of the most difficult points on the battle front. The American losses were rather severe.

Speaking of real estate in cities, a front foot is often worth more than a back yard.

BEAMSVILLE, Ont., May 2.—As the result of an aeroplane accident at the Royal Air Force camp here this morning when two machines collided in the air, Cadet J. F. Ronson, of Orkney, Scotland, and Cadet R. W. R. Litchfield of Victoria, B.C., were both killed.

Locomotive Boiler Blows Up Injuring G. T. R. Enginemen

An accident occurred this morning on the Grand Trunk Railway near Kingston, as a result of which two Belleville citizens were severely injured. By the explosion of the boiler of a locomotive Mr. J. G. Skelcher, engineer, residing on Chatham Street in this city, and Mr. Chambers, fireman, whose home is on George Street, were severely scalded. The injured men were taken to Kingston hospital for treatment.

Canadian Press, Limited.

KINGSTON, May 2.—Three employees of the G. T. R., Bertram, Skelcher and Chambers, all of Belleville, were badly, but not fatally, scalded this morning when their engine burst about a mile east of Gananoque Junction. The crew had just finished filling the engine with water at the junction and had gone about a mile east when the accident took place. Ten cars were piled up on the track and traffic was held up for some time. The men were brought to the hospital here.

Sixty-Six Drowned In Sea Collision

AN ATLANTIC PORT, May 2.—Sixty-six persons lost their lives when the steamship City of Athens, bound from New York for Savannah, was rammed and sunk by a French cruiser off the Delaware coast at 1 o'clock this morning. The missing include ten men and two women who were passengers, seven out of twenty-four United States marines who were on board, fourteen out of twenty French sailors and thirty-three members of the crew.

Drowned at Post

Both ships were carrying running lights because of the heavy fog which hung over the sea. J. Doherty, the steamship City of Athens' wireless operator, was able to send out only one "S.O.S." call after the warship's bow plunged into the City of Athens' side near the bow. There was no response to the appeal for all and the vessel sank so quickly Doherty had no opportunity to repeat the call. He is believed to have been drowned at his post.

Many heroic deeds were recounted by the survivors. One of the heroes of the sea tragedy was Harry A. Kelley of New York, an oiler, who swam to an overturned life boat and dragged up on the bottom of it four men who were struggling in the sea. He held them there until they were taken off by a boat from the French cruiser.

Kaiser Opposed the Western Offensive

German Feeling of Failure to Reach Objectives Lessens Leader's Powers

NEW YORK, May 2.—According to information received from Paris, and which Spanish official circles returned from Germany, the Kaiser was opposed to the present German drive on the west front.

"The Kaiser did not approve the present offensive," said the Spaniard. "But Hindenburg, Ludendorff and the Crown Prince said it would turn the tide, although the losses would be enormous.

"The offensive had three objectives: first, the capture of Amiens, second, the destruction of Paris, and, third, the separation of the French and British armies, with the capture of Calais. All this was to be accomplished before May Day.

"The German feeling at the failure thus far, together with the enormous losses, is making the Kaiser stronger and lessening the power of Hindenburg, Ludendorff and the Crown Prince.

"If the German offensive is unsuccessful by May 15, it means the return to power of Von Buelow and the launching of a new peace offensive, which may be acceptable to both sides."

The Spanish statesman is believed to be sympathetic toward Germany.

Allies Can Hold Germans Until Americans Arrive

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, May 2.—(Via Reuter's)—The Daily Mail says the fact that Amiens and Ypres are still untaken after six weeks of unprecedented enemy effort proves the ability of the Allies to hold the Germans until the American army, whose advent the enemy dreads, can play its part.

Kemmel Hill May Become a Death Trap For Enemy

British Headquarters in France, May 1.—(Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—Activity on the battlefront during the past 24 hours has been confined to artillery operations. The Franco-British batteries have consistently shelled Mont Kemmel. Unless the enemy can push beyond this isolated stronghold, the tragic lesson of Machin may be repeated and the hill-top become practically a death-trap. The advantage of Kemmel to the enemy is a tactical one. He is now committed to trying to push on and capture the whole chain of hills to Mont Chats.

Heavy artillery firing continued at various parts of the battleline during the night, and there were the usual outpost actions. The back areas between Ypres and Hazebrouck were heavily shelled by the Germans. An enemy attempt yesterday afternoon to cut the barbed wire at Wieltje was dispersed by artillery fire.

Huns Will Try Again.

By William Philip Simms.—

With the British Armies in Flanders, May 1.—The Germans doubtless will try again to turn the rest of hills south west of Ypres, but Monday's jolt compelled a shift of the enemy divisions, which will require hours, and perhaps days, of preparation.

Babies in The Trenches

When the British retook Neuve Eglise they found two babies in the German trenches. The Germans apparently discovered the babes in the village and took them to the comparative safety of the trenches. The British were unable to hold the shell-disfigured position, and the babies were taken with them when the Tommies fell back. They are now doing well in a hospital, where they are the pets of the nurses.

Found Baby Unharmed

In a part of the Flanders line two British infantry observers discovered a child which had been separated from its parents. They placed the infant between them in a hay-loft, their bodies keeping it warm. From here they watched he Germans' movements.

Shrapnel burst above the barn, killing both men. The baby was found sound asleep between the two corpses. It is now in a British hospital, sound and healthy.

Gain in Mesopotamia Capture 2,000 Turks

British Pursue Retreating Turks as Far as the Tank River

LONDON, May 2.—British troops in Mesopotamia, carrying on the pursuit of the retreating Turkish force, have advanced as far as the Tank River, it is officially announced this afternoon. Twelve additional field guns were captured on April 29. The total of prisoners has reached 1,800.

Largest Budget in History Passed British Commons

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, May 2.—The budget for nearly fifteen billion dollars, introduced in the House of Commons recently, and the largest in history, passed easily through the House. The total taxation involved in the budget is four and a quarter billion dollars, but the House passed all the necessary resolutions after a brief discussion. The new sugar duty was approved by 141 to 56 and the majority of other increases in taxation were agreed to with little debate.

U-Boats are Losing Their Effectiveness

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Showing that the U-boats are losing their effectiveness against allied shipping, further reductions in marine insurance rates will be announced soon by the war risk insurance bureau.

William A. Delaney, director of the bureau, told the House Inter-State and Foreign Commerce Commission today the profits of the war risk plan have piled up to $17,000,000 despite several reductions in rates. The marine rate was first placed at 6% per cent., but the next reduction will send it down to less than three per cent., Delaney said.

"The U-boats are simply not getting the ships," he said. "For this the wonderful convoy system perfected by the Navy Department with its constantly increasing destroyer force, deserves great credit."

Delaney appeared before the committee to advocate extending the benefits of war risk insurance to the shipping of friendly neutrals. This is necessary, he said, because the American underwriters are unable to obtain the capital necessary to finance the plan.

Music and Drama

MAR MARSH IN

"THE BELOVED TRAITOR"

Equally as great as a dramatic actress as she is in lighter roles, this is what everyone says today of Mae Marsh. Flashes of a dozen stage idols are seen in this slim girl of the screen. In "The Beloved Traitor", which is being screened at the Palace tonight to Saturday, matinee daily, Goldwyn presents the "Whim girl of a thousand faces" in a role absolutely different from any she has yet essayed in this drama of the seacoast and the city, the action shifting from the fishing banks to the studios of New York's Bohemian art circles. Through it all the simple-heartedness the eternal womanliness of the heroine shine forth to guide her erring lover away from the shoals of deception.

The closing chapter of "The Mystery Ship" Universal's great adventure serial, and a good, comedy will also be exhibited.

SHAMELESS SPY STEM

OF GERMANY EXPOSED

Patriotism will run rampant at Griffin's tonight to Saturday, where the secret service German spy system are exposed in "The Spy", a six part photoplay in which Dustin Farnum portrays the stellar role. In this special photoplay bankers and brokers who are on suspects are in the employ of the Imperial Government. Lawyers and physicians are daily receiving instructions from the Wilhelmstrasm. School teachers and others intrusted with the task of guiding public thought and morals number many representatives of the Kaiser's system. Even the waiters and bellboys in hotels contain members of German secret police. Grocers, druggists and cheese jets watch every movement made by their customers and report suspicious incidents to Berlin.

As Jules Lemaire, a laughing, singing, high spirited and whole-souled trapper from the great forests of the Canadian wilds, George Behan in his latest picture, "Jules of the Strong Heart", which is also being shown on the same program has found a role that is absolutely suited to his talents and one in which he finds opportunity for the exercise of all the faculties of character delineation.

The 2nd chapter of "Vengeance and the Woman", Vitagraph's western serial, and the Griffin Screen Telegram with its list of current news events Will also be screened.

Military Notes

GO DIRECT TO HOMES

The new system to be used in handling returned men was inaugurated last week and found to be a decided improvement over the former methods. It has been the custom to bring all the returning soldiers for this district to Kingston, where their papers were examined and they were then given passes to their homes. On Saturday an officer from headquarters went to Montreal and examined the papers of the returning men. On the way up the men were left at their homes, thus allowing them to go direct to their homes, instead of having to report to headquarters. The new system worked out well and is better for the men returning.

Canadian Pensions Highest in World

OTTAWA, May 2.—Pensions being paid by the Canadian Government are substantially higher than those awarded in other countries, according to evidence submitted this morning to the special committee of the House on pensions, by Kenneth Archibald, legal adviser to the Board of Pension Commissioners.

According to his figures the rates for total disability in the allied countries are as follows: Canada, $(60); Great Britain, $350; Australia, $375; New Zealand, $505; France, $240; United States, $360; Italy, $243.

Mr. Archibald declared that the board is constantly in touch with Pension Boards in other countries, and no pension legislation is introduced without the knowledge of the Canadian board.

Col. C. W. Barton, Chief Medical Officer of the board, gave evidence regarding the manner in which a man's disability is determined.

"Suppose a man, without suppressing the truth as to his condition, is passed as fit, although suffering from trouble of some kind at the time of enlistment, should the State assume that the man was fit?" asked W. F. Nickle, Kingston.

Col. Benton admitted that such a principle was a good one, but the procedure was not followed by the Pension Commissioners. He stated that it had been the custom for men to be taken in the army on a period of probations. During that time, if trouble is found, the man is discharged without a pension.

Conscription in Ireland Put Off For the Present

LONDON, May 2.—An order-in-Council has been issued further postponing the operation of the Ireland Service Act, or conscription, as respects Ireland beyond May 1, to which it had been postponed previously.

Some of the morning newspapers says the postponement is due to the Government's wish to introduce a Home Rule bill and to see what measure of success it gets before proceeding to enforce conscription in Ireland, which, it is said in some quarters, is not likely to be attempted in the next few weeks.

Opinion in the lobbies of Parliament is that a Home Rule bill will be presented in the House next week, but the difficulties of drafting have not been overcome entirely.

IRISH HIERARCHY CONDEMNED

The Catholic Union of Great Britain, an influential organization whose membership includes men titled persons and other prominent Catholics, has sent to Cardinal Gasparri, the Papal Secretary of State, for submission to Pope Benedict, a series of resolutions passed by "regretting the action of the Catholic hierarchy in Ireland in opposing conscription, thereby apparently supporting organized resistance to law."

The resolutions express the opinion that the Irish might to share in the defence of the Empire and of the liberties of mankind from the grave peril to which they are exposed through a conflict forced on the world "by a cruel and unscrupulous enemy." There are serious misgivings, it is added, on the interference of ecclesiastical authorities in purely temporal and political questions.

HUNS SEIZE CHURCH BELLS AND ORGAN PIPES

NEW YORK, May 2.—The German governor of Belgium has issued a decree calling for a list of all bells weighing over 20 pounds, as well as all organ pipes, in Belgium, and it is intended to take them away to be manufactured into guns, according to a statement issued here by Senator Henri Lafontaine, president of the executive committee of the Society for Relief to Belgian Children.

"We are advised," added Senator Lafontaine, "that the Germans are constantly bringing up picked troops for a continuous attack on the Belgian soldiers. It is most important that we do everything possible to keep up they may be able to withstand the onslaught of a force which is overwhelming in number."

MEXICAN CONSUL SENT TO MONTREAL

MONTREAL, May 2.—Fernando Iz Sanguen has been appointed Consul for Mexico in Montreal, and this step is associated with the general movement for a rehabilitation of conditions in that long-disturbed country. The position has been vacant for some time, and Mr. Sanguen believes that the filling of the post indicates a desire to get down to more stable business conditions and the resumption of trade relations between Canada and Mexico, at one time of considerable prosperity, with a direct line of steamships in operation between the two countries.

Modern Motor Fire Engine To Fight Fire in Trenton

TRENTON, May 2—A motor fire engine, 100 horsepower, carrying 1,200 feet of fire hose and a forty gallon chemical tank with complete assortment of ladders and minor fighting tools will be added to the Trenton Fire Department equipment if the ratepayers approve of the by-law sanctioning the outlay which will be voted on next Monday. After careful consideration of the best means of giving Trenton fire protection of the most modern and effective kind the Town Council decided that the purchase of a motor fire engine would be the most economical expenditure that could be made to give the maximum of fire protection for the minimum of expenditure. The motor fire engine with its chemical auxiliary is a combination of fire fighting qualities which a half full of old-time apparatus can not equal. Seventy-five per cent. of all fires today are extinguished with chemical apparatus and a great saving made in consequence from damage by water. The motor engine has also a pumping capacity of 750 Imperial gallons per minute from open water or wells which makes it very suitable for service in the outlying districts where hydrants are few.

Forty motor fire engines of the type selected by Trenton Council are in service in Canadian cities and towns and have given excellent satisfaction under the most severe tests of weather including heavy snow covered roads. In a recent fire in Peterboro' the Lindsay motor fire engine was taken to Peterboro' over the roads a distance of twenty-three miles.

The Ontario Fire Marshall Mr. H. P. Heaton has endorsed the proposed purchase, the following letter to the Mayor of Trenton:

Toronto Ont. April 30 1918.

W. H. Ireland Mayor,
Trenton, Ont.,

Dear Sir:—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your favor of the 26th, and it affords me pleasure to express the satisfaction of this office that you are arranging for much needed fire protection for your town. No more successful equipment can be purchased than the American LaFrance Triple Combination Chemical and Hose Cart, and I unhesitatingly recommend that your Council complete the purchase of this exceedingly valuable fire protection equipment. You will find its greatest efficiency to be in promptness with which it will reach the scene of a fire and catch it at its inception, and that I believe to be the ideal requirement of any fire apparatus.

Yours very truly,
H. P. HEATON, Fire Marshall.

Austrian Army As Spectators
Vienna Military Critics Say Offensive at Present is Impossible

PARIS, May 2.—Since the beginning of the German offensive there has been much talk here of an Austrian offensive against Italy. Austrian military critics, however, say such an offensive at the present moment is almost impossible. Great Austrian troop concentrations have taken place in the rear Austrian lines, however, and it is expected here that an offensive will soon be launched.

Washington Police Arrest Woman Spy

Madame Marie de Victorica, Active German Agent, Gathered in Net

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 2.—Madame Marie K. De Victorica, believed by officers of the Department of Justice to be one of the most active of Germany's agents in this country for the last three months, was arrested at a fashionable Long Island hotel and brought to this city as a dangerous enemy alien.

Madame De Victorica was in a highly nervous condition and was sent to the prison ward at Bellevue Hospital. Miss Margaret Sullivan, her maid, was held as a material witness.

Madame De Victorica, who also has been known as Madame De Vuoiere, is said to have come to the United States through Norway, on January 21, 1917, as a passenger on the steamship Bergensfjord.

She told Captain Roger B. Hull, who questioned her, that she was born in Buenos Aires. Her father, she said, was at one time a captain in the German army, but had been naturalized as a citizen of the Argentine Republic.

Madame De Victorica, who is 33 years of age, is a handsome woman of the German type. She always is fashionably gowned and wears considerable jewelry.

WORKED AMONG IRISH

She is reported to have been the chief aide to a lieutenant commander of the German Navy who reached here in December, 1916, and who has been working among Sinn Fein sympathizers, trying to get them to enlist in the British Navy in order to plant bombs on warships.

The German naval officer disappeared a few days ago, when he discovered that agents of the Department of Justice were trailing him. The bombs he wanted placed on British warships are supposed to have been similar to those for which Frank von Rintelen and his associates were convicted for placing on merchant ships.

Enlisting the support of Irish radical newspapers is believed to have been one of her objects in this country.

Madame De Victorica, who stopped at various fashionable hotels in this city, is said to have been acquainted with Madame Charlotte Elizabeth Nix, who is awaiting deportation because of her alleged pro-German activities.

Wedding Bells

HUBBS—WRIGHT

At the Parish Church in Radlett, Hertfordshire, the marriage took place on Saturday of Grace Margaret Mary, only daughter of the late John W. Wright, M.D., of Picton, and of Mrs. Wright, to Willet Kenneth Hubbs, Lieutenant in the R.N.V.R., son of Mr. Alfred Hubbs, also of Picton. The marriage took place from the country home of the bride's cousins, Capt. Saylor of the Medical Supplies Headquarters, Pembroke Square, London, and Mrs. Saylor, and the groom's brother and brother officer, Mr. Walter Hubbs, now stationed at Torquay, was groomsman. The Vicar of Radlett, the Rev. J. Ducaine, officiated; and a number of cousins of the bride and groom, including Mr. Chamberlain Carter, who is also in the service, were among the congregation. The bride wore a wedding gown of white silk and Carrickmacross lace, and after the wedding breakfast at Mrs. Saylor's she changed for her travelling dress of navy blue cloth, with sand facings and hats with the ground of a honeymoon at Torquay. The cable announcing the wedding, said that the weather had been perfect, as it was with the two Canadians, for the bride, when she crossed the ocean to be married a few weeks ago, had a fair weather and a quick voyage.

$40,000,000 Credit Arranged For Canada

OTTAWA, May 2.—It is officially announced that Sir Robert Borden and Sir Thomas White, during Sir Robert's recent visit to New York, succeeded in arranging a necessary credit in Canada for the British Government to purchase the entire exportable surplus of Canada's cheese production for the present year. The amount of the credit will be forty million dollars. The arrangement will mean a certain market for Canadian produced cheese at market prices already fixed.

Sir Thomas will proceed from New York to Washington this week to take up further questions of international finance with the United States Government.

Huns Cut Down Babies' Rations

PERIS, May 2.—When the Germans seem to have touched the deepest depth of ignominy they always show themselves capable of sinking lower. An order emanated in the Lorraine district by the German Governor-General, Reubert, concerns infants. One of these posters has just been seen, showing Paris Gun France.

It notifies the inhabitants of the villages of Schaffen and Weiskirchen that as a punishment for the theft by unknown persons of a certain quantity of firewood, the sugar ration of children will be reduced in future. Says the ignoble Governor: "Invalids and aged will receive 35 grammes (one ounce) a week and infants the new "munitions") only 100 grammes (3½ ounces.)

Army Chaplains Win Military Cross

LONDON, May 2.—Four Canadian Chaplains received the Military Cross for tending the wounded under fire: Reverend Thomas Colwell, of Kincardine, Ontario, "during the hottest part of an action moved over the battlefield succouring the wounded and dressing wounds leading search parties by night and by day not resting till the man was brought in." Rev. William Henry Davis, of Edmonton, while fighting progressed organized parties in searching in No Man's Land under heavy shell fire in full view of the enemy. Reverend Thomas McCarthy carried the wounded on two occasions, under intense shell and machine gun fire, his courage and gallantry being an inspiration to all. Reverend Thomas Hudson Stewart, of Hamilton, assisted in bringing in wounded all day under a heavy fire and led stretcher bearers in No Man's Land. Undoubtedly his courage and determination saved many lives.

CARRIED A TARANTULA IN POCKET AS A PET

WINDSOR, May 2.—A large tarantula ran about deliriously in the cell block at police headquarters while nervous occupants of cells called loudly for help. The centipede escaped from the pocket of a banana man, who was carrying it about as a pet. Officer Brampton killed the pet.

"Worth It's Weight in Gold," She Says

"I Never Saw Such a Change as Tanlac Made in My Daughter," Says Mrs. Smithson

"I believe every bottle of Tanlac is worth its weight in gold," said Mrs. Ellen Smithson, who resides at 222 Parliament Street, Toronto, recently. "My daughter has suffered from stomach trouble off and on all her life," continued Mrs. Smithson, "but during the past seven months her condition became so serious, that I almost lost hopes of her ever getting well. She suffered terribly from indigestion, complained of a dull heavy feeling in the pit of her stomach and sometimes she would almost double over with pain. She was too weak to do her housework, and I would have to get in and help her out every day. The least little work or exertion of any kind, would completely exhaust her, and she hardly had any color at all. Her nerves were in such a shattered condition, that she was very irritable, and easily upset, and would get up in the morning complaining of feeling all tired out. She also suffered terribly with headaches, which at times were very severe. She actually afraid she would go out of her mind.

"Now this is just the condition she was in before she began taking Tanlac, and I had worried over her until I was almost sick myself. She was in such bad health that my neighbors were constantly asking me about her, and always had to give them a discouraging answer. But now when they ask how she's getting along, I tell them, fine, for I have never in all my life seen such a wonderful change in anybody. She now has the color of health in her cheeks, and she looks better and stronger than I have ever seen her in years. She hasn't had a touch of indigestion or pain in her stomach since she began taking Tanlac, has increased until she can do all her housework, never complains of being tired, and is always bright and cheerful. We are all overjoyed over her, as last summer life and health, and as there are so many people needing just such a medicine as Tanlac I feel it my duty to tell everybody about it. I certainly do believe Tanlac is the best medicine in the world, and will take pleasure in telling anybody who cares to call on me just what I think about it."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store, in Trenton by J. H. Hickey, in Deseronto by W. J. Malley, in Stirling by J. S. Morton, in Frankford by W. H. Lattimer, in Madoc by J. Will Gowsa, in Marysville by T. J. McAlpine, in Ormsby by Jos. Campbell and in Thomasburg by J. H. Blakely.

THE SECRETS OF THE GERMAN EMPIRE — SEE "THE SPY."

No Exemptions City Dwellers First

OTTAWA, May 1.—General Mewburn, in a statement in the House yesterday said that the city young men would be called out first and the young men on the farms would not be called to the colors until after seeding is over. He stated firmly that there would be no exemptions.

General Mewburn said that there is a decided change of opinion in the Province of Quebec. The colleges were encouraging their students to do their duty. Laval and McGill had both contributed their quota to the Tank Battalion. Young men formerly exempted were now coming forward. Every effort would be made to promote better feeling between English and French Canada.

Up to 29th April, 39,208 men had reported for service under the Military service Act. From these, must be deducted 2,062 who had gone second to the Royal Flying Corps. There were 7,666 men in Class One who had failed to report and who were not apprehended. They were deserters and every means was being taken to secure them.

NOT CALLING UP CLASS

Under the recent Orders-in-Council only one ground of exemption is recognized. That was the case of a man who had relatives deceased or disabled at the front. In the case an only remaining son with brothers at the front, he could be given leave of absence. Men in medical categories lower than category A were not being called up for the present.

In the cancellation of exemptions, it was hoped to secure, 35,000 men on a conservative estimate.

General Mewburn paid a tribute to the young men in McGill, Laval and St. Mary's Colleges, Quebec, who he said were assisting in much larger numbers than in the past. The speeches from McGill and Laval university to the Tank Battalion, he said, was complete. A splendid spirit was being displayed by the young men of these colleges and the Minister infor-

EMBALM YOUR FOOD.

And now there is a clamor for dehydration plants, or some such new fandangle, which puts food into the embalmed class along with the ancient mummies of Egypt. We have suffered from the fiendish cunning of the cold storage plant, which prevents food from flooding the market at low prices and leads itself to the principle of "It's better to let food spoil than spoil a fat price." Instead of dehydration or any other additional farnation outrage on human food, it should be a crime to allow food to get stale in cold storage plants or to be embalmed by profiteers and faddists while prices are so high; and it should be a crime, punishable by death, to hoard food for high prices so long that it becomes rotten. Canadians have stood just about enough from the food profiteers, and the resignation of the one government official, Mr. O'Connor, who was not afraid to call a spade a spade, is not at all reassuring, no matter what is given as the cause of that resignation. As between Crothers and O'Connor, our choice is O'Connor.

MURPHY'S MUD NOT WELCOME.

Charlie Murphy was so proud of his speech attacking Hon. N. W. Rowell behind the latter's back that he is sending out large quantities of printed copies of the speech and abusing his privileges as member of Parliament to escape paying postage. Few favored with this scurrilous document will care to read it, and will feel like the editor of the Perth Expositor who expresses himself as follows:

> Just why the Expositor should be favored with a copy of a speech delivered by Hon. Charles Murphy and reprinted from Hansard, attacking the Hon. Newton Rowell in the House of Commons on Tuesday, March 19th—just why we should receive a copy of this rubbish is more than we are able to figure out, at the present moment. A copy came to this office notwithstanding, under the franking privilege of the member for Russell. If our memory serves us right in recalling the Billingsgate Murphy indulged in, the new censor law of Parliament should have been in operation long before Charlie Murphy began his abusive tirade, because things do not just suit him.

GOOD-BYE BROADWAY, HELLO FRANCE!

"Dollar Diplomacy" in the United States has been succeeded by a great heart-warming patriotism which insists upon America going the full distance in this war and pouring in all her treasure in men, moneys and enthusiasm to kill the Kaiser's mad ambitions. As might be expected, the stage people have the war fever strong, and when George M. Cohan called together the members of the profession in New York City the other day fifteen hundred theatrians crowded into the Palace Theatre. George M. asked for volunteers to go to the firing line to entertain the boys in khaki and every actor and actress present wanted to go. Among the headliners who have volunteered for entertaining service behind the firing line are the following:

> John Drew, Elsie Janis, Otis Skinner, Billie Burke, Walter Jones, Donald Brian, Louise Dresser, Ruth Chatterton, Edith Wynne Matthison, Charles Ross Kennedy, Jane Cowl, Joseph Cawthorne, Frank Craven, James T. Powers, Frances Starr, Willie Collier, Julia Marlowe, Maude Adams, Walter Damrosch, Lillian Russell and Amelia Bingham.

In and About the City

CIVIC COMMITTEES

A regular fortnightly meeting of the various Civic Committees will be held this evening. Amongst other matters to be considered will be the resignation of Mr. J. E. Walmsley as a member of the Court of Revision.

PATRIOTIC TEA

At the tea given Easter Monday by the "Canada's War Contingency Association" at Hotel Quinte the cash proceeds were $209.01. This amount was entirely from silver collection and home-cooking table.

SALE OF A SCHOONER.

The Schooner New Dominion which was owned by Capt Farrington of this city, and which was damaged by fire some time ago, has been sold and yesterday towed away from here by the barge W. J. Carter. We are informed that the schooner will be converted into a barge to be used on the lake route.

STRUCK BY A STONE.

Mrs. Dontator, who resides in Sidney township, just west of the city limits reports to the police that last evening whilst she was riding in an auto on West Moira street she was struck by a stone thrown by a boy. The police ascertained the name of the lad who threw the missile and it will in all probability have to appear in court to answer for his action. Mrs. Dontator fortunately was not seriously hurt.

SUCCESSFUL CONCERT.

The Boy Scout Concert held in the school house, Point Anne, Friday was a splendid success. Miss flowerman's clever pupils delighted the large audience. During the evening Mr. Roy MacDonald, lady Scout Master, read a letter from Mr. T. H. Thompson, a member for East Hastings who is in Ottawa, attending his parliamentary duties. Mr. Thompson enclosed $5.00 for the benefit of the Boy Scout Society. The Rev. Anderson, acted as chairman in a very acceptable manner.

VEGETABLE GARDENING

If you are cultivating a vegetable garden, either at home or on a vacant lot, it would be an evidence of wisdom to send to the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, for Circular No. 14, entitled, "Vegetable Gardening at Home and on Vacant Lots," and prepared by the Dominion Horticulturist. This circular, which can be had free of all cost, supplies all information of a practical nature on every vegetable that it is desirable to cultivate for domestic consumption. It gives advice on the preparation of the soil, and on planning and arranging the garden, quotes examples of success achieved in 1917, supplies a list of the best varieties of vegetables for different districts, and describes how the growing plants can be protected from disease and insect ravages.

WOMEN'S CANADIAN CLUB

The fifth annual meeting of the Women's Canadian Club was held on Tuesday evening, April 30th, in the High School Assembly Room. The minutes of the last annual meeting were read and approved. The president, Mrs. Mercoll gave a short address and called for the various reports. These showed a most successful year, the membership having increased to 241. Twelve lectures were given during the year which were most interesting and well attended. A donation of $18.00 was made to Captain Julia Henshaw for the French Hospitals and to the Colonel McCall Memorial Fund. A vote of thanks was moved to the retiring president, Mrs. McColl for her very active interest in the club, to Mrs. Sprague for her services as pianist; to the city press for their very full reports of the different meetings, and to the school board for the privilege of meeting in the High School. The members of the club beg to convey to Mrs. McIlquham their sincere regret that through illness she has been prevented from being present with them. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—Hon. President, Mrs. McColl; President, Mrs. S. D. Lazier; Vice-President, Mrs. Stork; Secretary, Mrs. Tennant; Assistant-Secretary, Mrs. George Gorman; Treasurer, Mrs. Moffatt; Executive, Mrs. Bell, Mrs. Wills, Mrs. Mikel, Miss Bell, Mrs. Anderson, Miss Madeline Pralick.

DROUGHT IN QUEBEC

Closed Bars and Empty Shelves in Licensed Groceries.

QUEBEC, May 2.—Quebec woke up yesterday to the spectacle of closed bars, of empty shelves in heretofore licensed groceries. This is brought about by the referendum held here in October last, on the prohibition question, when the large majority of votes decided to close down the bar under the Scott Act.

According to the Scott Act, twenty licenses have been granted, thirteen to retail trade in small doses, under a doctor's prescription, and the balance for wholesale.

A PRACTICAL JOKE.

Sir Sam Hughes Had Veterans Discharged as Punishment.

Sir Sam Hughes was mentioned as an alien by a member of the Dominion Police at the investigation in connection several weeks ago, and held up for several minutes by an insistent demand that he produce his registration card, Sir Sam carried the argument, and the policeman, the height of the commissioner of the department of the arcade, before the hapless plainclothesman realized that he had made the victim of an ill-conceived practical joke. As a result of the incident Constable W. Cook, who was in charge of the station squad sent there to detect aliens and round up aliens, was summarily dismissed from the service to satisfy the wrathy knight, and Constable Kerr, who was the one to arrest Sir Sam, is under reprimand. Cook is a first contingent man and had good actual service in defence of his country.

It is said it was suggested to Kerr that the one method open of the Minister of Militia resembled an alien and should be challenged as a suspect. Kerr acted on the hint in his capture, and as Sir Sam stepped into the reticule of his line and demanded that he produce proof that there was no foundation for his family record, Sir Sam, shocked beyond speech for a moment at news of the signal failure to recognize him, quickly recovered his poise, and with a power of speech seldom heard in the public service, literally blew a rebuke at the policeman and declared that he would carry the matter to the highest authorities. By the time the pair had reached the front steps of the building of the true nature of the situation dawned upon the policeman, and he made profuse apologies as Sir Sam stepped into a car and drove off.

Inspector Thomas Finnamn, who went to Ottawa with the 155th Battalion, immediately discharged Constable Cook from the service through an order served by Inspector Taylor at the Union Station for "negligence in the performance of his duties." At the Dominion Police headquarters it was declared that the "joke" was inspired by somebody outside of the service and an expression of regret that a member of the service had fallen into such an error was made.

A Tragedy In France.

The scene was laid in one of the canteens in France operated by the American Red Cross for the refreshment of the soldiers. Forbes Watson was sitting there quietly when suddenly "a man with a beard and fiesty cut features jumped up from the other in a fery speech, telling how he remembered him as standard bearer at Verdun last winter, how he had endured when the bombs were dropping too thickly he refused to go out after the wounded. 'Sir' he said, 'I refused to die of his wounds. He is a coward, and my friend dieu because of it.' He turned the standard bearer eternally.

The accused man that same night on went to the girl who had done most to restore order, apologized to her for having made a scene, and gave her a shell as tokens of his sincere apology. The scene in fact had shattered her nerves as well as his. It left us all gasping for breath. For months there existed a feeling that whenever these two men met it would recur, and that some day it would be used except in the one immortal way."

Will Help Uncle Sam.

Dave Brown, former amateur 125-pound champion of Canada, of Canada, is making quite a name for himself as a sergeant in the 155th Battalion. It may not be generally known that Dave was a soldier and fought for our ally, and last week was promoted to petty officer. Dave was always a fighter under the limit, Petty Officer Brown won the lightweight boxing championship of the Naval Training Station at Newport, R. I., where he is stationed.

After several easy victories in the preliminary bouts Brown met Willie Colona, a brit-class boxer, in the final, the bought last Wednesday at points at the end of six rounds. This was the first defeat sustained by Colona. In only one round did the latter have the edge. Every one was won by Brown, and the other one was about even. Colona at that ten pound heavier than Brown.

Sayings Before the War.

"Whenever you are out of gasoline, Hank, come over and help yourself out of the tank in my garage."

"Thanks, Jerry, I'll drop over some more of the roast beef."

"Come over and get a couple of dozen nice fresh eggs from my place."

"How many lumps of sugar or four?"

"Some more butter, mister?"

"Light or dark meat? Take a little of both."

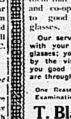

"You haven't eaten half enough, Mr. Jones."

"My wife never likes to see anybody leave our table hungry."

"Your meal was not enough? You had better take tea."

Some 200 wholesale orders in fruit and vegetables are now operating under licensing from the Canada Food Board. Inspectors of the fruit branch of the Department of Agriculture have been seeking out delinquents and also dealers who are carrying on business operations not covered by their licenses, but for which additional licenses are required. Persons doing a wholesale fruit and vegetable business without a license are liable to a heavy fine.

Annual Meeting Of Belleville Board of Trade

Lt.-Col. Marsh Elected President—Matters Appertaining to the City's Welfare Referred to the Executive Council —New Attended Meeting—To Meet Once a Month

The annual meeting of the Belleville Board of Trade for the election of officers and the transaction of general business was held last evening in the Council Chamber and was fairly well attended. Two matters of local interest namely the establishment of a ship building industry here if possible and the Mackintosh Rubber Company industry were spoken to and referred to the Executive Council to deal with. Lt.-Col. Marsh was elected President of the Board for the ensuing year.

Those in attendance were Messrs H. F. Ketcheson, President; Col. Ponton, Secretary; C. J. Bowell, O. H. Scott, J. Elliott, F. J. Wims, W. A. Woodley, L. W. Yeomans, Walter Allford, J. Reuben, Wm. Mackintosh, W. B. Riggs, C. G. Moffatt, E. T. Cherry, C. B. Beautiebury, Col. L. W. Marsh, Col. S. S. Lazier, D. R. Wators, R. Zufelt, and T. J. Blackburn, J. O. Herity.

Col. Ponton, Secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting also a resume of the business transacted by the Council of the Board of Trade at several meetings held. The Secretary stated that on July 1905 the Board of Trade was organized in Belleville. Not one of the members were alive at present, the last original member to pass away being Sir Mackenzie Bowell.

On motion the minutes were confirmed.

A number of communications were read including one detailing the present position of the Mackintosh Rubber Company.

Ship Building

Mr. C. B. Beautiebury spoke in regard to the necessity there was for the establishment of ship building yards, and especially for the building of steel ships. There was without doubt a great opening for such ship building. Our bay appeal to the speaker as an essential place to construct such ships. We have abundant cement sand near by and also two cement plants near the city. This was a matter the Board might consider.

On motion the matter was referred to the Executive of the Board to investigate and report upon.

The Rubber Company

Mr. W. Mackintosh addressed the Board relative to the Mackintosh Rubber Company. Rubber goods were an article of necessity and the demand for manufactured goods was not by any means lost. There is no such a thing as experimenting in rubber goods. There had been money invested in the present plant and it was compulsory to force the company into liquidation, if they confined to be could produce the goods and produce them at a profit. The demand to-day for rubber goods was such that hundreds of what is required cannot be manufactured. Belleville was an ideal place for such a factory. The plant which he visited not as soon as the plant is complete. The speaker desired the Board to interest itself in the endeavor to get the City Council to grant by way of a loan $35,500 The city in the matter would in every way be protected.

Mr. H. F. Ketcheson suggested that the matter be referred to the Executive to act promptly in the matter. A motion to that effect prevailed.

Mr. Ketcheson stated that at Arnprior, Ohio, rubber plants had been established with small capital and had developed into large concerns.

Mr. Mackintosh stated that the first year should see 30 employed in the plant and 200 the second year. His aim was to start right and increase the production as fast as it was possible and advisable.

Vote of Thanks

Col. Ponton referred to his visit to the Chamber of Commerce at Rochester and the cordiality which he received as the representative of the Belleville Board of Trade.

Col. S. S. Lazier moved, seconded by Mr. F. J. Wims that a resolution be prepared by the Secretary to the Rochester Chamber of Commerce for the hospitality extended to the secretary of the Belleville Board of Trade—Carried.

Election of Officers

Mr. H. F. Ketcheson in referring to the Board of Trade and the election of officers said he would do all he could as a private member for the Board. There had been some criticisms as to the apathy of the Board of Trade in the past, and he (the speaker) had no apologies to offer as the war had interfered with the holding of meetings.

Ex-Ald. Woodley spoke in support of delaying the election until the next meeting.

Mr. J. Elliott said that while there had not been any meeting of the Board of late the Executive of the Board had been busy and no man was more energetic in the discharge of his duties than Mr. H. F. Ketcheson, who had been President for two years. The Belleville Board of Trade was to be thought more of outside the city than it does in the city. This is especially so at the Associated Boards of Trade of this Province, and no man is more thought of than our Secretary, Col. Ponton. The Board of Trade should be supported by the citizens of Belleville. Let us stand loyally behind the officers and assist to make the Board a success. He desired that Col. Marsh be President for the year.

Mr. F. J. Wims seconded the motion of Col. Marsh.

Col. Ponton referred to the fact that the officers of the Board had to be elected by ballot.

Messrs O. H. Scott and F. S. Deacon were nominated for the Presidency. The election resulted in Col. Marsh being chosen as President.

The other officers selected were as follows:

Vice Pres.—F. S. Deacon.
Hon. Vice Pres—J. W. Johnson, M. P. P.
Treasurer—John Elliott.
Secretary.—Col. Ponton.
Executive Council—Messrs C. M. Bezzo, W. H. Bleasdell, C. Springer, O. H. Scott, W. B. Riggs, C. J. Bowell, J. O. Herity, T. Dickhens, J. E. Walmsley, A. J. Hughes and H. F. Ketcheson.
Auditors—Messrs McFayden and J. G. Moffatt.

Members Thanked

Mr. H. F. Ketcheson, retiring President thanked the members of the honor they had conferred upon him when they elected him President. He had during the past three years done all it was possible to do to promote the interests of the city of Belleville and its Board of Trade. He desired to see the city prosper in every way. The population is increasing and if we had more homes they would be occupied. We must furnish homes if we desire to be a prosperous city. If we have the accommodation we will have more factories established here.

Col. Marsh, President-elect thanked the members for the honor conferred upon him. He would do the best he could to promote the interest of the Board.

Col. Lazier said he felt that the Board had rendered valuable service during the past three years through the Executive Council. He had no doubt that the Board would go ahead again.

Col. Ponton paid a tribute to the retiring President, Mr. H. F. Ketcheson, who had been untiring in his efforts to promote the interests of the city in every way.

The Board concurred in the action of the Executive in regard to the Bay Bridge matter.

Resolutions of thanks were passed to Messrs Wood and Beautiebury as scrutineers and to W. A. Woodley for duties rendered in connection with the Board.

Retiring President Thanked

Mr. J. Elliott stated that the retiring President, Mr. Ketcheson, had given much time and energy to the Board. His car was ever ready to take members to and from the city on side meetings and he and Mr. Ketcheson had attended and addressed many meetings. The cordiality which at present existed between the city and County was largely due to Mr. Ketcheson's tact and ability. He moved a hearty vote of thanks to the retiring President for services rendered.

Mr. W. A. Woodley seconded the motion and Col. Ponton supplemented it with some appropriate remarks.

The motion was unanimously adopted.

Mr. Ketcheson in reply thanked the members for the motion and the kind words expressed. He had done all he could while fulfilling the duties of President of the Board. He had made every effort to promote a feeling of good fellowship between the city and County. All matters are now dealt with in an amicable manner between the municipalities. The County is willing and generous in all undertakings in which the city and the county were jointly interested. He was pleased with the concord that existed between the city and the county. The interests of the city and the Board of Trade were in good hands in the persons of the President Col. Marsh.

The Board adjourned after it being understood that meetings would be held monthly.

ALLIED ARMIES WORKING IN PERFECT UNISON AND WEARING ENEMY DOWN

FRENCH TROOPS CAPTURE HILL 82

ENEMY ATTACK ON AMIENS FRONT DEFEATED BY BRITISH TROOPS LAST NIGHT — ACTIVE ARTILLERY FIGHTING ON NORTHERN FRONT FROM GIVENCHY TO YPRES — ALLIED LINE READY FOR ANY THRUST HUNS MAY ATTEMPT — FOCH'S RESERVES SAID TO BE GREATER THAN THOSE OF THE ENEMY — AMERICAN SOLDIERS ARRIVING IN FRANCE IN LARGE NUMBERS—GERMAN TOWN BOMBED BY BRITISH AIRMEN.

Special Despatches to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, May 3.—In the neighborhood of Villers-Bretonneux on the front before Amiens, the British gained the advantage in local fighting during the night, the war office announces. On the northern front there was active artillery fighting, especially near Givenchy, the forest of Denieppe, before Lorce and south of Ypres.

FRENCH TROOPS CAPTURE HILL 82.

PARIS, May 3.—The French made an attack late yesterday on the Hill 82 and a wood on the Avre River nearby, the war office announces. French troops have also gained ground near Villers-Bretonneux on the Amiens front.

NEW YORK, May 3.—The Associated Press in its war summary this afternoon says: While the new German stroke on either the northern or southern battlefront is still delayed, the French have taken the initiative in the latter field and delivered a telling blow southeast of Aujeux. Attacking on a front of more than a mile between Hailles and Castel, General Petain's troops yesterday evening drove the Germans from Hill 82, which attains a height of some 250 feet, overlooking the Avre river, and captured a wood to the east and southeast immediately bordering on the Avre. The ground thus gained is probably more valuable than that of any other area along the entire Somme line. It was at Hailles that the Germans effected their greatest westward penetration in their Amiens drive and at Hill 82 they were within less than three miles of the important Paris-Amiens railway.

French Army Headquarters, May 3.—Under the German blows the allied armies seem to be welded together as never before. There is now no point of junction at which the Germans can thrust. The process of welding together the two armies is complete, but it will not stop there. Franco-British divisions will be merged about on a solidly-united front at the wish of our high command as freely as German divisions.

Against the enemy's territorial gains must be set the fact that he had to throw 140 divisions into battle in five weeks. A considerable number of these have been twice engaged and some thrice. Adding these respites together there is a total of 126 engagements of divisions, equivalent to a mass of two and one-half million men whom the enemy has already put into battle. As a German division is never withdrawn until it has sustained severe losses, on an average of 2,500, it is reasonable to reckon the enemy's loss since the beginning of the battle at less than 250,000.

The Germans began the offensive with a reserve of 650,000 in depots in France and at home. Behind these there is only the 1919-20 class, consisting of youths, half of whom are under 18. The enemy's genuine fighting reserve is thus half exhausted before he has covered anything like half the distance to his goal. His reckless employment of divisions has left him with a total of 58 out of 206 in France which have not yet been engaged. Of these 12 are Landsturm divisions which cannot be used for the purpose of an offensive. The Germans thus can have little hope that the remaining 60 divisions can accomplish what the first 140 failed to achieve.

Already the German staff is most anxiously realising that their reserves of fresh troops are not greater than those under General Foch.

We have been profiting by the full pause in the American Army in France, May 3.—America's khaki tide now flows into France at a volume not heretofore approximated. The United States is literally "dumping an army into France," to use the words Premier Lloyd George recently used in the House of Commons.

Bombed a German Town.

London, May 3.—The report on aerial operations says:

"One ton of bombs were dropped at Thionville. Several bursts were observed on the barracks, railway station and sidings. A fire broke out in the Carkahutte works."

Thionville is the French name for Diedenhofen, a fortified town of German Lorraine, on the Moselle River, 17 miles north of Metz. It has been mentioned several times by allied aviators.

Soo Power Plant Damaged by Fire

Business Generally Demoralized —Cause of Blaze Unknown —Loss $150,000

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., May 3.—Business was generally demoralized yesterday as the result of a fire which broke out in the old power plant of the Great Lakes Power Company, about 4 o'clock in the morning, causing damages estimated at about $150,000. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it is thought to have started under the floor of the lunch room from defective wiring. All that is left of the building now is a mass of twisted girders and charred timbers. In addition a large quantity of valuable electrical supplies, belonging to the Spanish River Pulp & Paper Co., which was stored in the building, has been destroyed.

The city's pumping station is also located in the same building, and the electric pump owned by the city was put out of commission, but through the steam pumps were left in operation, so that the city's water supply was safe.

Street car service in the city was completely cut off and the electric lighting service.

The big mills of the Spanish River Pulp & Paper Co. had to shut down, and the newspaper offices were unable to get out their regular issue, The Northern Foundry, which is engaged in the manufacture of munitions, was also unable to carry on its work, and it is possible that the city's supply of power will be limited for some time to come.

CIGARETTES HIGHER STILL

MONTREAL, May 3—By a decision of the Imperial Tobacco Company Virginia cigarettes, which were raised a week ago from ten to thirteen cents per package of ten were advanced to twenty cents this morning as a consequence of the additional duties proposed in the Budget. Fifteen-cent cigarettes are raised to twenty-five cents. The imported varieties have soared beyond all record.

THREE RIVERS, Que., May 3.—A disastrous fire broke out this morning on Bonaventure Street and is still burning. Bold Bandits Rob Toronto Bank In Daylight

TORONTO, May 3—The taller and woman lodger-keeper in the Union Bank on the corner of Church and Wellesley streets were held up yesterday afternoon by two men carrying revolvers, and taken to the vault of $1,300 which were lying in the teller's cage were taken. It is said that a bundle of bills to the sum of $8,000 was overlooked by the robbers.

The staff of the bank was at that time out to lunch through some of them being out at lunch. The street is a quiet one at that time, and the men made their escape on foot. Walking into the bank they advanced to the cage, holding revolvers. One of the men threw pepper at the lodger-keeper. She, however, closed her eyes and did not suffer much from it. The bandits then came to the teller's cage, hit that official on the head with his revolver, rendering him unconscious, and caught the money as he could hold. They both then made off.

The police were notified and are looking for the bandits. One is described as about 30 years of age, tall pale, thin faced, clean shaven dark clothes, and wearing a cap. The other is thought to be about the same age, 6 feet tall, full face, fresh complexion, and carefully dressed. He also wore a cap and wearing a cap.

Body of Drowned Lad Found in Rushes

On Tuesday morning, April 2nd, while playing hide-and-seek with some companions on the bank of the River Moira off Coleman street, Wilfrid Lennon, aged 13 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Lennon, residing at 270 Coleman street, slipped off the embankment and was drowned.

The water at the point where the lad fell is very very rapid and rough and the body was carried down stream under the ice. At the time efforts were made to recover the body but without success. Recently many have been searching in various parts of the bay and this morning the body was recovered by Mr. Horace Spaan, who resides at 45 Dundas St. Mr. Spaan was engaged in trowling in the vicinity of the marsh south of the Wilson Manufacturing establishment on Waler street and in the vicinity of cut near the bay bridge, when he discovered the body amongst some rushes. He secured it and towed it to Robin's boat house. The police were notified of the recovery of the body, which was subsequently taken in charge by Tickell & Son and taken to their morgue to be prepared for burial. The body was badly decomposed, having been in the water over four weeks.

The victim of the unfortunate affair was the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Lennor and was born in this city. For some time he was a pupil at Queen Victoria School on Pine Street, but since the family removed to West Belleville, he had been in attendance at the Albert Ray School, being in Mr. Frederick's room. He was a member of St. Christ Church Sunday School. Wilfrid was a clever boy and was a general favorite with his companions.

Wilfrid was a member of the Juvenile Sons of England Lodge and was also a member of Christ Church choir.

Sank Hun Sub On First Voyage

An Atlantic Port, May 3.—A British freight steamer, fresh from the yards of her builders, celebrated her maiden trans-Atlantic voyage by running down and sinking a German submarine off the Irish coast, her crew reported upon their arrival. The freighter was equipped with the latest anti-submarine devices, which proved very effective.

The submarine came to the surface suddenly a short distance of the ship's bow, and was caught by the British helmsman's quick work almost before the U-boat commander could puzzle out through the steamer's remarkable camouflage whether she was going or coming.

Members of the crew who were on deck, described the ripping sound made as the submarine was torn apart, and told of the quantities of oil which make the spot where the U-boat went down.

A formal report of the incident was made to the British Consul at the port of arrival to be forwarded to the British Admiralty in London, where official recording all hands will be determined.

War Garden Bulletin

PRACTICAL DAILY GUIDE FOR VACANT LOT AND BACKYARD GARDENERS ENLISTED IN GREATER PRODUCTION CAMPAIGN.

Issued by the Canada Food Board in collaboration with experts on the staff of the Dominion Experimental Farm.

PLANNING THE GARDEN

In planning the 1918 garden the first thing to take into consideration is the fact that it is a war-time garden and that the vegetables which must receive primary attention are those which are going to be genuine substitutes for wheat. The logical substitute is the potato. Therefore, every one should grow potatoes this year. They repay themselves over and over again. Count on giving them the major part of the garden.

Small plants like beets, onions, lettuce, carrots, radishes, and parsnips should be put in one general group. In another general group put larger plants like corn, tomatoes and potatoes. Spreading vines, like the melons and cucumbers, which need wider spacing, should be put in a third general group. In the arrangement of the varieties of vegetables which are to be planted due care should be given to providing the greatest exposure to the sun for those crops which need it most. Plants which must ripen their fruits, such as tomatoes and eggplant, require the greatest amount of sunshine, while lettuce, spinach and other leaf crops require relatively less.

Men to Report First, Then May Return to Farm

OTTAWA, May 3—Mr. Lavigueur asked in the House of Commons if it had been the intention of the Government to take any steps to put a stop to the diversion of the Canadian grain trade and to give the trade to Canadian sea ports.

Sir Robert Borden replied that owing to war conditions it was necessary to utilize all the Atlantic sea ports from time to time.

Dr. Edwards asked the Minister of Militia whether young men from the farms who were aged 20 to 22 and who had been called upon to report for service, would be allowed to return to the farms after doing so. He asked this question in view of the announcement by the Minister that young men from the cities would be called before the farmers.

Return for Two Weeks

Gen. Mewburn said that registrants had been requested to send out notices to men in urban centres calling upon them to report before notifying the farmers. In some cases this had not been done, and in others there had been some difficulty in distinguishing between men in urban centres and farmers. Every effort was being made to give the young men who were engaged in seeding operations time to finish their work, and they would be allowed to return to the farms after registering for about two weeks.

HOW A YOUNG GIRL SUFFERED

And Was Restored to Health By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Told By Her Mother.

Brooklyn, N.Y.—"I cannot praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound enough for what it has done for my daughter. She was 19 years of age, very sickly and pale and able to sleep but little in school most of the time. She suffered a great deal from backache and dizziness and was without appetite. For three months I had her under the doctor's care and got no better, always complaining of her back and side aching so I didn't know what to do. I read in the papers about your wonderful medicine so I made up my mind to try it. She has taken five bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and doesn't complain any more with her back and side aching. She has gained in weight and feels much better. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all mothers and daughters."—Mrs. M. Finnan, 1 Marcy Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

KINGSTON, Ont., May 3.—Two more scholarships have been founded at the Royal Military College, Lieut.-Col. H. W. Leonard, of St. Catharines, has founded "The Leonard Foundation," the foundation fund consisting of securities to the value of $100,000. The object of the foundation is to assist in the education of the sons of clergymen, non-commissioned officers or men of the permanent British or Canadian army or navy, or of veterans who have taken part in any of the British Empire's wars.

The Laurentian Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire, Ottawa, has given $7,000 to establish a scholarship to be allotted to the free education of the sons and grandsons of Canadian citizens who have fallen or been totally disabled while in the Canadian or Imperial armies.

An Idle Man of 51 Gets 6 Months Jail

OTTAWA, May 3.—The first prosecution in the Ottawa police court for idleness, under the order-in-Council passed on April 8th, which makes idle men between the ages of 16 and 60 years liable to fine or imprisonment, was made yesterday when Edmond Langevin, 39 Murray street, aged 51 years, was arraigned following a complaint made by his nephew, Alderic Bourque. He was found guilty and left out of payment of a fine of $100 and costs, was sent down to serve six months in jail.

Langevin pleaded not guilty and declared that he collects the rent from five tenants for his mother every month.

"I sit down with the floor for my mother every Saturday, wash the dishes, light the fire, chop wood and bring in coal," Langevin declared.

Teutons Eager For Offensive in Italy

LONDON, May 1.—German papers recently have been referring to a supposed impending revival of the Austrian offensive against Italy on a grand scale. The command have said at times as if they were intended to exert pressure on Austria-Hungary to begin an attack, for which the Germans are eager, as a diversion on the extreme flank of the entente front.

Giuliano Von Cube writes in the Berliner Tageblatt, strives "The tension amid which the world is watching the drama in France and Flanders is likely to be increased as soon as the Italian theatre becomes livelier. It cannot be denied that, while the German people await a revival of the fighting activity there with full confidence, they also await it with impatience. Never was the opportunity for reviving an Austro-Hungarian offensive more favorable than at present."

QUEBEC STORM IS OVER

MONTREAL, May 3—L'Evenement of Quebec, says that "The wind is turning and that the crazy wave that has been sweeping over this Province during the past year is being succeeded by a calm. We are happy also to signal the fact that the Catholic clergy of this Province are preaching with wisdom and moderation."

UP TO TRENTON RATEPAYERS.

Trenton will be in the premier class with its new motor fire engine if the ratepayers of that busy burg are as progressive as Mayor Ireland and the members of Trenton Town Council. Belleville is also interested in the proposal for with one of these highly efficient fire fighters within twelve miles of the city it could reach here in twenty minutes in case of a big conflagration and render valuable assistance. The motor fire engine is the last word in fire-fighting apparatus.

CHEESE PURCHASES FINANCED.

The visit of Sir Robert Borden and Sir Thomas White to financial centres in the United States resulted in the arrangement of a British credit of forty million dollars to finance the purchase of Canadian cheese for export. The entire exportable surplus of Canadian cheese is thus arranged for this year and the cheesemakers can go ahead and make all the cheese possible, assured of a ready market at the increased price fixed by the Government, and every pound will go to the Allied armies and peoples.

BONDS OF APPRECIATION.

Melville E. Stone has been General Manager of the Associated Press, that globe-girdling news-gathering organization, for twenty-five years, and if he ever had any doubt that his services were appreciated he has tangible evidence now that his labor has not been in vain. Upon his twenty-fifth anniversary as manager he was presented by the members of the association with twenty-five one thousand dollar Liberty Bonds as a token of appreciation. It is significant that at the conclusion of his speech expressing his gratitude for the splendid manifestation of appreciation accorded him Mr. Stone called for a toast to the Allies which was responded to with great enthusiasm.

COMMERCIALIZED CHRISTIANITY OR CHRISTIANIZED COMMERCE?

That "commercialized Christianity" should give way to "Christianized commerce" in these days of stress was the message brought to the Toronto Press Club by Mr. W. F. O'Connor, recently Cost of Living Commissioner for Canada.

The "Christianized commerce" sounds infinitely better than "commercialized Christianity," and in operation would certainly remove many of the evils which are causing unrest at the present time. Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn," sang Scotland's bard, and the demon of greed which inspires "commercialized Christianity" in war time should be banished by Everyman's determination to keep his soul white, purged of envy, vice, hatred and all the horrid brood of evil spirits led by Greed, most despicable of all. With the inspiration of the blood of heroes being spilled on the fields of Flanders for our protection, peace and comfort, are we trying to be worthy of that most noble of all sacrifices: "that a man should lay down his life for a friend."

LABOR LEADER AND PATRIOT.

The visit of Mr. Samuel Gompers to Canada and his address before the House of Commons has focussed public attention upon this remarkable man and labor leader. His ability and qualities of leadership have carried him through many storms and his wisdom and clearsightedness has helped to keep organized labor steady during the Kaiser's war against democracy despite the vast expenditure of German money in the effort to bring about labor wars and interfere with the manufacture of munitions in the United States and Canada.

Sam Gompers could have sold his patriotism and influence for millions to the German treachery Bund but the Kaiser's agents found that here was another man who measured not his honor by the dollar mark. At the head of a great labor organization with a membership of millions of all nationalities, Sam Gompers has proved himself a man among men and since the beginning of hostilities has never been deceived for a moment by German lies or blandishments, but has relentlessly pointed out at all times the danger to democracy, to organized labor, and the liberty of the world which lurked behind the mask of the Liar and Hypocrite of Berlin. Organized labor has achieved honor and won respect by a whole-hearted support of the cause of the Allies in this war and among the patriotic leaders of labor none shine more brilliantly than Sam Gompers, who has been frankly outspoken since the war began in opposition to everything that the Kaiser stands for. It is fortunate for the industrial world, both labor and capital, that at a time when the Germans conspired to corrupt the universe and win world domination by treachery and every despicable means of warfare, labor in North America was not led by one whom gold could tempt. Sam Gompers has stood firm through the storm, spurned the blood money of the Hun and defeated treacherous German plots to supplant him at the head of the American Federation of Labor with a pliant tool of corrupt autocracy.

When the Kaiser set his mind firmly upon the idea of being War Lord over all peoples on this earth, he believed that "every man has his price" and accordingly sent his agents with bags of gold into every land to buy the honor of leaders of labor and public men and to corrupt public opinion, with millions of dollars spent on the press. To his astonishment the Kaiser discovered that some men were above price and prized honor and virtue above rank and fortune.

Prohibition, it is estimated, will cost the Government fifteen millions a year, the duty formerly derived from alcoholic beverages. It should lessen by twice as many millions, says The Globe, the cost of maintaining the prisons, houses of correction, hospitals and other institutions wherein the misery and want and crime that the liquor traffic caused were sheltered.

Although the gin is supposed to have been eradicated even from ginger, there is a pedromistic bench of parliamentarians at Ottawa known as the ginger group who wage ceaseless war on any symptoms of circumlocution methods in war efforts. While they are staunch supporters of Union Government on principle they are breaking away from old-time party methods and mixing ginger with the customary molasses of outmoldered debate. If they can put the gin in ginger they are "all 15 the sunshine."

To drive a tank, handle the guns, and sweep over the enemy trenches, takes strong nerves, good rich blood, a good stomach, liver and kidneys. When the time comes, the man with red blood in his veins "is up and at it." He has iron nerves for hardships—an interest in his work grips him. That's the way you feel when you have taken a blood and nerve tonic, made up of Blood root, Golden Seal root, Stone root, Cherry bark, and rolled into a sugar-coated tablet and sold in fifty-cent vials by almost all druggists for past fifty years—as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This tonic, in liquid or tablet form, is just what you need this spring to give you vim, vigor and vitality. As the fag end of a hard winter, no wonder you feel "run-down," blue, out of sorts. Try this "Medical Discovery" of Dr. Pierce's. Don't wait! To-day is the day to begin! A little "pep," and you laugh and live.

ST. CATHARINES, ONT.—"Several years ago, when convalescing after a serious illness, I took a half dozen bottles each of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Favorite Prescription as tonics. I cannot praise these medicines too highly for the benefit I received—my health was completely restored. I always take pleasure in recommending them two of Dr. Pierce's remedies."—MRS. JOHNNY GET YOUR HOE!

Johnny get your hoe, get your hoe,
get your hoe,
Make your garden grow, make it grow,
make it grow,
Plant your seeds from sea to sea,
Let them work for liberty,
Hurry right away, don't delay, start today.
Pursuit to the land with a right willing hand.
So we'll help defeat the Hun,
Now we've got him on the run.

Over there, over there, over there,
Send the food, send the food, over there, over there.
For our brave boys need it, our brave boys need it.
The calls are coming everywhere,
So observe and preserve,
Save the food, save the food, and conserve.
So we'll help win the cause of freedom,
And will plant, save and send, till it's over, over there.

Miserable Corns—How to end them

Touchy corns make thousands suffer—no pleasure trips—in business—at home—everywhere.

Until they once try Blue-jay. Then they are corn-free forever.

Painful corns are utterly needless. Science has brought relief. The medicated spot of wax on a Blue-jay Plaster stops pain instantly. Then in 48 hours the corn painlessly comes out.

Harsh liquids are dangerous and messy. Paring may bring infection.

No corn can resist Blue-jay. Yet this way is most gentle.

The chemist of a concern known the world over for its surgical dressings discovered Blue-jay. He studied corns for 25 years.

So with Science's way at your command, no touchy corn need ever bother you again.

Blue-jay Plasters are sold everywhere at drug stores for 25 cents per package. Buy a package now.

End your corn at once and never let one pain again.

BE CAREFUL

In your choice of an ointment. An inferior ointment is worse than none at all, because it irritates and inflames, and sometimes even poisons the place it is intended to soothe and heal. In using Zam-Buk you take no risk, as its soothing, healing properties have been proved by thousands of users, and its purity is vouched for by the famous English Chemist, Mr. W. Lascelles Scott, who says:

"I have made an exhaustive analytical examination of Zam-Buk, and find it exclusively of vegetable origin, rich in some of the purest and lovliest mineral drugs and animal fats found in ordinary ointments. The germ-destroying powers of Zam-Buk exceed those of carbolic acid, yet it does not inflame even the most sensitive skin. I have no hesitation in certifying the purity of Zam-Buk, and its value for skin diseases and injuries."

Zam-Buk is best for eczema, ulcers, running sores, old wounds, abscesses, blood-poisoning, boils, pimples, piles, cuts, burns, scalds and all skin injuries. 50c. box. 3 for $1.25, all druggists or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. Send 1c. stamp for postage on free trial box.

ROUNDUP OF HUNS AN ANARCHISTS

DETROIT, Mich., May 3.—A well-known resort on the east side frequented largely by Germans and other alien enemies was raided by Federal and State authorities and some twelve hundred men and two score women taken into custody. Fifty patrol wagons took two hours to transfer the "catch" to the Armory where the men were examined and searched. A large quantity of industrial workers of the World literature and some inflammatory articles concerning the Mooney case and a book of songs entitled "Fanning the Flames of Discontent" were also confiscated.

Government agents responsible for the round-up say the crowd was made up mainly of "Reds" and "near Reds," with a good sprinkling of "I.W.W.s." All of these have been under the eye of the Government for some time. All but about seventy-five were released. The others will be held either as suspects or slackers.

THE CRISIS!

JUST an ordinary cup of coffee! Surely nothing could be more commonplace to you. But—

To wounded, broken and exhausted Canadian men staggering out of a furnace of shells, at Vimy Ridge, with nerves torn to pieces, that little refreshment in the moment of crisis—who can measure its significance? For it may mean life itself!

Here is an officer's picture of the need: "I wish you and the people supplying free hot drinks could see the men coming in after a big action. They would look like grotesque scarecrows if you couldn't see the pathos of it. Their shoulders and heads sag forward and they slouch slowly along with never a glance to left or right. The strangest thing about them is their faces. If the tension is not broken the brain may snap. I certainly believe that in thousands of cases it was that first hot coffee that dragged the man back to life and sanity."

Is there a man, woman or boy in all Canada to whom these heroes would appeal in vain? Will you help the Y.M.C.A. supply the coffee and the thousand—and one other needs of body, mind and spirit "over there?"

Can proud Canadians send a more heartening, more practical message to Canadian heroes now amid the perils of the greatest battle in history than this: "that the Canadian people responded to the Call of the Y.M.C.A. with magnificent, abundant wholehearted Generosity!" Will YOU Help?

MAE MARSH IN "THE BELOVED TRAITOR"

The eternal conflict of country and city, of innocence and guile, of ambition and dissipation is the theme of Frank L. Packard's film play "The Beloved Traitor" in which Mae Marsh is appearing at the Palace Tonight and Saturday matinee and night. Mae Marsh has the role of a village girl who inspires the man she loves to do great things, only to be forgotten by him in his moment of triumph. How the unassuming maid of the Maine seacoast settlement overcomes overwhelming odds is developed in this beautiful production, in sharp contrast to life in the sleepy old fishing village, with its atmosphere of homely virtue and the broading sea, is the swiftest life of New York's artistic smart set, both shown in the production with striking fidelity. Universal's thrilling adventure serie "The Mystery Ship" and "Her Regiment," an amusing Jaxon comedy are also shown.

GERMAN SPY SYSTEM TO NIGHT

An American's sacrifice of life and all it holds dear, to him, to save his countrymen and learn the secrets of the German Spy system forms the theme of the "stirring photodrama "The Spy" which with Dustin Farnum in its lead is being screened at Griffin's tonight and Saturday matinee and night. Dustin Farnum, one of the few popular men stars of the screen, plays the role of Mark Quaintance, a man of wealth and social position, who undertakes the hazardous task of gaining a list of the Teutonic spies in the United States.

JULES OF THE STRONG HEART

The pungent smell of pine and the freshness of the great out-of-doors together with a wholesome lovable story, make "Jules of the Strong Heart" which is being screened on the same program, one of the loveliest, most enjoyable of the season. The star, George Beban, will be remembered for his remarkable characterizations in such photoplays as "Lost in Transit," "His Sweetheart," "An Alien", and others.

Another thrilling chapter of Vitagraph's great Western serial "Vengeance and the Woman," and weekly Griffin Screen Telegram with its budget of crispy news events will also be shown.

Make Aliens Work In War Industries

OTTAWA, May 3.—Urging the Government to take measures which will force workless of alien birth into such employment as it thinks "most appropriate and urgent," a deputation of members of the shipbuilding trades waited upon a committee of the Cabinet yesterday. The places which such men now occupy and from which they might be removed, the delegation suggested, should be filled by women, preferably by relatives of men serving overseas.

MILITARY NEWS

Brig.-Gen. W. St. Pierre Hughes, who left Kingston with the 21st Battalion, has returned to Canada, having arrived at an Atlantic port yesterday. Hughes organized and commanded the 21st Battalion, which left Kingston three years ago this week. He left the rank of lieut.-colonel, and through his good work at the front was gazetted brigadier-general. As announced in the newspapers some weeks ago, it has been reported that Gen. Hughes is returning to take the position of Superintendent of Penitentiaries. Many of the men who left Kingston on May 7th, 1915, under Gen. Hughes, have given up their lives to the cause, while others have returned to Canada, incapacitated through their efforts to help the Motherland. Gen. Hughes has done splendid work overseas, and will be welcomed back home by his many friends in Kingston.

The Barriefield camp will consist of all the troops in training and the 3rd C.G.R. It is stated that the district administrative officers will remain at the Armories in order to save expense. Royal Military College cadets will move into camp at Petawawa on June 1st for instruction in artillery practice. The visiting board will attend the Royal Military College during the last week in May.

Word was received at the Guelph Military Convalescent Hospital this week that within a few days between 600 and 700 more men would arrive at the institution for treatment. Owing to the shortage of hospital accommodation in Ontario it is expected that the Guelph institution will be utilized as a hospital for some time yet before being turned into a reeducational institute. Sixteen men left the hospital last week to operate tractors in different parts of the province, having successfully passed the course. A large number of the soldiers are taking up the tractor course and they will be sent out as soon as they become competent to take positions.

GUELPH WILL SELL WOOD AT $15 A CORD

GUELPH, May 3.—It is expected that Guelph will have a municipal wood yard this year. Tenders were received for cutting, which varied in price from $6.50 per cord placed on the cars at the park, to $9 per cord, the wood to be in four-foot lengths. Hauling by rail to Guelph would add about $2.65, bringing the price to over $10 per cord on the cars in Guelph. In addition to this the city would have to provide a wood yard, pay for the handling of the wood and the delivery of it to the homes, which would ultimately bring it to between $14 and $15 a cord.

BAY BRIDGE RESOLUTION

The full text of the resolution passed in Private Bills Committee, House of Commons, May 1, as reported briefly in the Intelligencer of Wednesday in a despatch from Ottawa, is as follows:

"Bay Belleville Bridge—

That the consideration of the bill be delayed for a week to enable the parties interested to procure a statement from G. T. Clarkson, as auditor as to the amount the Company has for years invested in the enterprise, together with a statement of receipts and expenditures during the period it has been operated by the company, and that a committee composed of the Chairman, (Dr. Steele), Mr. Richardson, Mr. Bureau, Mr. Boyes and Mr. Blair confer with the accountant in laying before this committee such report as may help to solve the difficulty."

Slight Stroke of Paralysis

Down Left Side—Stomach and Heart Affected—Case Baffled Doctors For Three Years.

Trenton, Ont., May 3—A very interesting report has been received from Mrs. Pringle in regard to her recovery from partial paralysis. This was a most extraordinary case, for doctors had been trying for three years to find something which would restore the depleted nerve force.

One can scarcely imagine stronger evidence of the restorative influence of Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. C. Pringle, Queen street, Trenton, Ont., writes:

"About five years ago I was troubled with my stomach, there was a spell of paralyzed feeling across it and up my left side, and my heart seemed almost to stop beating. I called in the Doctor, and he thought it was symptoms of a stroke. My stomach kept getting worse. At times the pounding would be intense, almost suffocating, and I thought I would go wild. Sleep was out of the question. I tried different Doctors, giving each one a fair trial, and doctoring nearly three years. My case seemed to baffle them. It was a nervous breakdown caused by overwork and worry. During all this time I could not do any work, and my friends thought it was a matter of time, how long I would live. Some one advised me to try something to build up my system, and I tried different medicines. Finally I thought I would try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and see if they would do me any good. A famous Doctor sanctioned my using these pills and told me they would be good for me. They seemed to be just what I required, as I soon saw an improvement. I took about fifteen boxes, and the results have been very gratifying. I am now enjoying splendid health, and able to do all my work, eating anything I wish, and can go to bed and get a good night's rest. I have recommended Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to many of my friends, who have also secured good results from this treatment."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, a full treatment of 6 boxes for $2.75, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations only disappoint.

Last fall he had the misfortune to lose his wife, and feeling that he was in a position to do his bit, came back to Canada and enlisted with a Toronto battalion, where he is now wearing the King's uniform and awaiting his overseas orders. Mr. Wm. Rogers went to Toronto today to visit his brother, whom he has not seen for years.

Very few exemptions are being allowed and these only for a temporary period. Lieut.-Col. CONSECON TRAGEDY DEEPENS

Willa Marriet Bean died in Toronto recently. It will be remembered that this little child was trapped with her parents Dr. and Mrs. Bean, in the fire that destroyed their home in Consecon last August. Dr. Bean lost his life and Mrs. Bean terribly burned. The little girl was tossed from an upstairs window by her mother, Mrs. Bean jumping from the same window. The little girl didn't seem to be getting along well and she was taken to Toronto a couple of weeks ago for treatment. Mrs. Bean is still confined to her bed at the home of her father, Rev. James Ford, Goderich.

DEATH OF PTE. STORMS

Private W. Storms, of Lancroft, died on Sunday last at the Kingston General Hospital, after being ill for some time with lung trouble. On Wednesday afternoon the body was interred at Mount Pleasant cemetery, Lancroft. The services in St. Paul's Church and at the grave was conducted by Rev. Dr. Cracey of Kingston, and there was a large turnout of citizens to pay a tribute of respect to the young soldier who sacrificed his life for his country. Among the floral offerings was a beautiful wreath contributed by the Girls' Club. The deceased went overseas with the 155th Battalion. He has left behind him to mourn his loss a widow and two children.

AVIATOR'S NARROW ESCAPE

An aviator from Mohawk Camp came to grief near Cataraqui yesterday afternoon and narrowly escaped injury when his machine crashed to the ground after making a few wild circles in the air. Residents nearly buried to the scene expecting to find the aviator crushed beneath the wreckage, but were relieved to find him uninjured. The machine was badly broken by the fall, and it was only by the quick thinking and clear-headed action on the part of the aviator which saved him from injury if not death, for the machine was high in the air when engine trouble developed which brought it quickly to the ground. The aviator in question was taken in charge by a relief party from Camp Mohawk.

Further Details of Locomotive Explosion

As reported in The Intelligencer of yesterday, John Skelcher, aged 42, a G.T.R. engineer residing at 136 Chatham street, Lloyd Chandler, aged 22, fireman, residing at 270 George street, and Howard Bertram, aged 21, brakeman, residing at 197 Foster Avenue, all of Bellefville, are at the General Hospital, Kingston, suffering from severe scalds, received when the boiler of the engine they were riding upon exploded. The accident occurred shortly after 9 o'clock yesterday morning about a mile east of Gananoque junction. The injuries to the men were characterized as serious but not necessarily fatal, and every confidence was held out for their ultimate recovery.

It appears that the train, an eastbound freight, had just left Gananoque Junction after loading with wheat and had proceeded about a mile east when the explosion occurred. Without any warning the cab was filled with escaping steam and hot water, and the hapless crew were quickly enveloped. The explosion threw the engine off the track with lightning speed, like rapidity ten cars were piled up on the tracks behind.

As soon as possible the rest of the crew came from the rear of the train and assisted the men from the steam filled cab and gave them what assistance they could. A west-bound train came along in a few minutes and the injured men were placed aboard and brought to the Outer station, Kingston, where they were met by Dr. C. A. Morrison, the company's physician, and T. J. Reid's ambulance, and taken to the General Hospital where their injuries were quickly attended to and there were given the relief which they so sorely needed.

The injured men were the engineer and fireman and the fresh brakeman of the train the conductor and test brakeman being in the caboose at the rear of the train.

The accident was one of the most unusual in railroad history and no reason could be found for the explosion. The engine was badly wrecked, and the cars all of which were loaded, were outbound up as well as possible and placed in auxiliary cars brought by the wrecking apparatus, and it was said that before the track was finally cleared up. The west-bound track was not obstructed.

Dandruff Soon Ruins The Hair

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will complete the job entirely. You destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will complete the job entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

Maynard is Charged With Theft of $50,000

Dominion Bank Manager Was Committed on Evidence of Detective Nursey

TORONTO, May 4.—On a new charge of having, in the years of 1916 stolen $50,000 from the Dominion Bank, Louis M. Maynard, former manager of the McCaul and Dundas street branch of the bank, was yesterday committed for trial. Commitment was made entirely on the evidence of Detective Nursey, who arrested the accused.

New Outburst Liable Any Time On Flanders Line

With the British Armies in Flanders, May 4.—There is still a big concentration of men and guns opposite the France-Belgium lines, and a terrific new outburst is liable at any time.

Hindenburg is playing possum until his armies are refreshed.

The British destroyed a post in the Lys area, and the Canadians conducted a raid near Lens, capturing seven Germans and three machine guns.

The pessemist activity reminds one of the mid-winter lull during the days at static warfare. It is common talk among the ordinary German soldiers, however, that conditions at home necessitates some sort of a decision.

Germany's Peace Drive On Allied Morale Begun

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Germany's expected "peace offensive" against allied morale seems to have begun.

In the view of authorities here the sudden and widespread launching of rumors, printed reports and whispered confidences reaching Washington and inviting likelihood of peace proffers from the Pope, Emperor Charles of Austria, King Alfonso of Spain, and even the Kaiser, is merely Germany's same old game to slacken the fighting spirit of her enemies.

And it may be stated that President Wilson is not concerned in this latest war development. There is nothing to indicate Mr. Frank and open negotiations he demands before peace steps may be taken.

It is significant that most of the reports have had their origin in Teuton newspapers or Teutonic quarters in neutral countries.

BOUND TO DO HIS BIT.

Sporting Editor Rejected for R. F. C. and C.E.F. Joins Merchant Marine.

Windsor, May 6.—Rejected when he applied for enlistment in the Royal Flying Corps and the Canadian infantry, Frank J. Teahan, sporting editor of The Windsor Record, today signed to serve in the United States Merchant Marine as deckhand on a vessel that will leave the Detroit River for an Atlantic port. He is the fourth son of Dennis Teahan, a Windsor business man, who was enlisted to "do his bit." His son, Lieut. John Patrick Teahan, was killed in action while serving with the famous Irish battalion, the Sherwood Foresters.

Close Up Stories of the World's Greatest Battle

"A.A.M." the well-known contributor to the London "Punch."

Of the new German thrust at Armentieres few stories have yet come through. The attack was begun in a mist as at St. Quentin, and German prisoners have boasted that their meteorologists are able to foretell these foggy sonnets, and that operations are timed accordingly. It may be due to skill, or it may be due to luck; but the Germans have certainly had the weather on their side. Perhaps it is this which encourages the Kaiser to claim that Heaven is with him.

PASSING OF "PLUG STREET"

"Plug Street" is gone; perhaps the best known spot in all the fighting area. Not because of any tactical advantages which it offered is it famous, but because in the early days of the war the British soldier thus adapted in his familiar way the name of Ploegsteert. Many another foreign name he has anglicised since, but Plug Street remains somehow the hall-mark of Tommy in Flanders. It seemed more peculiarly his own than any other.

The large part played by the cavalry in the Somme retreat is beginning to be made clear. They have not had very much chance since trench-warfare began, though dismounted they have of course taken their share of trench-fighting from time to time. But in covering the withdrawal of the infantry they had a chance to play a true cavalry part. Over and over again they held on and delayed the enemy until the infantry had a chance to play a true cavalry part. Over and over again they held on and delayed the enemy until the infantry had got well away, and then, with Germans all round them, they fought their way back. Lancers and Hussars and Canadian Cavalry, and were ready to repeat the performance in another part of the line.

CANADIAN CAVALRY.

It was after much hard fighting of this sort that the Canadian Cavalry were suddenly ordered to cover the approaches to Amiens. Starting at once they arrived at Bores at midnight, and early next morning learnt that the Germans were in Moreuil Wood and that it was their job to turn them out. The Canadians proceeded to do it. They got in a fine mounted charge to begin with, and then dismounted and fought on foot. By midday they had gone clean through the wood, having driven only dead Germans behind them.

Meanwhile Dragoon Guards and Lancers were co-operating with Australian, Infantry, and clearing the wooded ground between Villers and Demuin. Twelve hundred of them went in, in three successive waves; the first wave got to the fringes of the woods, the second wave half-way through, and the third straight out on to the other side. From the high ground thus taken they saw a whole reserve regiment pointed out north of Villers to the attack, they saw a whole reserve regiment pointed out north of Villers to the attack, Company after Company. Then the Royal Horse Artillery had the morning of its life. One battery fired 1500 pounds, another battery over 2000. And the German brigade melted away.

But all through the recent fighting the artillery has had such targets as it could hardly have dreamed of before. Never has it fought so well, and at such close quarters. "Their machine-guns were rather annoying," said a gunner in one battery, which can have had very little previous experience of machine-gun fire.

WORE HIS RED HAT

A fine story is told of a General Officer, killed last week by a fragment of shell. On the day of his death he refused to wear a steel helmet. "My red hat may be useful," he said. "It shows who I pm if anyone wants me, and it may encourage the men."

ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF STEALING AUTO

TORONTO, May 6.—While endeavoring to dispose of a motor car, Raymond Stevens was arrested by acting Detective Wickett, charged with theft of the car. Stevens is eighteen years of age, and says his home is at Parkdale, near Sunday Creek.

He is alleged to have stolen a new Chevrolet car from in front of 25 Toronto street. The boy drove the auto to a garage at the corner of Shaw and St. Clair streets and was trying to sell it to a prospective buyer. The bid offered for the car for $500. The dealer becoming alarmed at the low price fixed on the car by Stevens, phoned the police and Wickett was sent up in the police auto. The number on the car corresponded with that of an auto reported stolen to the police. The car is owned by Mr. S. G. Whitney of Wellesley crescent.

SAYS FOE'S LOSS 900,000

LONDON, May 4.—"A high English authority" is quoted by the Graphic as estimating the German losses in killed, wounded and captured since March 21 as at least 900,000.

Colonials Display Great Gallantry

PARIS, May 4.—African colonials which have been thrown into action against the advancing Germans, have conducted themselves with the most conspicuous bravery, according to the Petit Parisien.

"For six days, four battalions of African Zouaves held back five German divisions, one of which was from the Imperial Guard," the despatch stated.

Undaunted, the Zouaves, led by Battalion Commander Du Peuty, charged straight into the fire of the German mitrailleuses, Du Peuty, badly wounded, being assisted by two pasibs. All three fell before the Mitrailleuses fire, but the Zouaves cleared the positions retaking lost ground. A Brother of Commander Du Peuty, serving as an aboerver, was lost in this same engagement.

MR. W. R. DAVIDSON

who has just been appointed General Superintendent, Eastern Lines, Grand Trunk Railway System

Mr. Davidson entered the services of the Grand Trunk as trainmaster. He was promoted to be superintendent at London, Ont., in 1911; was transferred to the Detroit Division as superintendent in 1916, and was made general superintendent of Grand Trunk Western Lines in 1917.

Men Acting as Maid-Servants Who Ought to be in Firing Line

LONDON, Eng., May 4.—"Guardsmaids" is the term levelled at the heads of Britain's most aristocratic regiments by Pringle, a member of Parliament. "How many men," he asked in a debate in the Commons, "are acting as maidservants who ought to be in the army? The Grenadier Guardsmen employed in Kensington who could easily do more useful work." His question elicited no reply, but there has been considerable criticism in both Parliament and the press of able-bodied men employed in purely non-combatant duties. The Globe refers to them as "boy soldiers." It says: "We should like to know the situation of our new Air Minister to the large number of men on his staff, who, though holding the rank of officers, have never been on the parade ground. If the new Minister will make enquiry he will find there are scores of officers incapacitated from wounds who would welcome the opportunity to take up work with the Air Force staff. While the Director of Natural Service is calling men of 40 to 50 to serve in the ranks it should be an infallible rule that no man fit for active service, who has not served at least 18 months abroad should be eligible for a staff appointment at home."

Lord Rothermere has been holding the office of Air Minister, in a letter to the press said he had received a letter from a member of Parliament which complained that there were more staff officers than certified pilots on the western front. This, it is charged, is also the case with the administrative, transport and commissariat branches of the British army, both in Britain and in the war area. Thousands of men are still holding jobs that could easily be worked by women.

Miss May Johns Of Cobourg Missing

Girl of 19 Left Home Saturday Night—Hundreds of Searchers Out

COBOURG, May 4.— Miss May Johns, aged nineteen years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Johns, Spring street, has been missing from her home since last Saturday evening and no clue of her has yet been found. She retired about 11 p.m., complaining of headache. When Mr. and Mrs. Johns arose about 6 o'clock the next morning their daughter was not in her room. She was apparently fully dressed excepting for her hat. Inquiries made of relatives and near friends showed that the girl had not been seen. About two hundred men, boys, soldier and Girl Guides turned out at the call of Mayor Greer a few days later and searched every woods, swamp, and creek within six miles of the town. The life-saving crew dragged the harbor. Today the Lake Shore was dynamited by instruction of Chief Ruse, and also the Factory Creek.

Last night a phone message was received saying that a young girl answering to her description had been seen walking along the road about three miles from Desemonto. This is being investigated.

SAYS LONDON GIRLS GUIDED TO BLIND PIG

ST. THOMAS May 4—At the County Police Court Harry Matheson of Port Stanley was charged with being drunk. He pleaded guilty, and paid a fine of $15 and costs; but after paying the fine he said that he and other men from the surrounding district have for some time been going to London and being met there by a batch of young women, who conduct them to a source of supply where they are filled up with whiskey. The visitors from St. Thomas, it is alleged, merely pay for a taxicab, and then the girls escort them. They pay a little higher than was customary in the olden days of plenty, but for all that, Matheson says, it is worth the price. An investigation will be made at an early date.

BRITISH AND FRENCH TROOPS MADE IMPORTANT GAINS THIS WEEK

HUNS HAVE NOT ADVANCED SINCE KEMMEL

DISTINCTLY UNFAVORABLE WEEK FOR ENEMY, CHECKED BY VICTORIOUS DEFENCE OF ALLIES — OFFENSIVE DEFEATED NORTH AND SOUTH AND GERMANS HESITATE TO RENEW OFFENSIVE IN VIEW OF TERRIBLE CASUALTIES SUSTAINED WITHOUT ANY RETURN IN MILITARY ADVANTAGE — HEAVY BOMBARDMENT OPENED BY ENEMY THIS MORNING — GERMAN PEACE EMISSARIES REPORTED TO HAVE ARRIVED IN LONDON IN PERSONS OF NEUTRAL DIPLOMATS.

Special Despatches to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, May 4.—An intense bombardment was opened by the Germans early this morning on the Flanders front from Locre to South of Ypres. There is great activity also in the sector between the forest of Nieppe and Meteren, the war office announces.

NEW YORK, May 4.—The Associated Press war summary today says: Germany's military leaders still hesitate to renew in force the offensive to which they are committed and the lull in Flanders and Picardy is still unbroken by heavy infantry fighting.

The past week has been a distinctly unfavorable one for the enemy. After capturing Mont Kemmel and heralding it as only the first step of a series of victories in Flanders, the Germans have not been able to advance either southwest of Ypres or east of Amiens. Checked by the heroic defence of the French and British in the north they were also unable to gain south of the Somme. In Picardy during the past few days the British and French, especially General Petain's men, have made important local gains and the Germans have not reacted in force, an unusual procedure. Intense enemy artillery fire on the southern flank in Flanders has not been followed by infantry fighting.

GERMANY'S NEW PEACE OFFENSIVE.

LONDON, May 4.—An emissary of Germany's new peace offensive is already in England, it is reported. According to a Central News despatch he is a Dutch financier. Another agent, the agency says, is believed to be on the way.

BRITISH AND FRENCH AGGRESSIVE.

LONDON, May 4.—The British slightly improved their position in a minor operation near Hinges, southeast of Amiens, while on the northern front the French carried out a local enterprise in which prisoners were taken in the Locre sector.

BRITISH LOSSES IN BIG OFFENSIVE.

WASHINGTON, May 4.—The British losses in men killed, wounded, captured and missing on the western front since the great offensive began on March 21 are estimated by the British military mission here at nearly 250,000. In a statement giving this calculation the mission said that everything indicates that the offensive will be continued almost immediately and that if the brunt of the attack is borne again by the British the losses will become serious unless the troops are supported by sufficient reserves.

HEAVY ARTILLERY FIGHTING.

PARIS, May 4.—Spirited artillery fighting along the Avre River on a front southeast of Amiens is reported in today's official statement.

NEWSPAPERS HARD HIT.

(Kingston Whig.)

Since the war started about 1,300 American newspapers have gone under, and over 500 others have amalgamated, with contemporaries Thousands of Old Country papers have suspended publication—nearly all of them have raised their price and mostly all have been reduced in size. These changes are due to the fact that every item entering into the cost of production of newspapers has increased from 30 to 300 per cent.

MAE MARSH IN "THE BELOVED TRAITOR"

In "The Beloved Traitor" the week-end feature at the Palace, Mae Marsh is at her best, and that is saying something for this winsome little lady whose friends are legion.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN"

Kibbie's revival of that everlasting old play, "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be seen at Griffin's Opera House next Friday, matinee and evening. The company, this year numbers over fifty people, among which are twenty negroes from the sunny South, who have been especially engaged to fill out the many pretty pictures of the play and present their famous songs, dances and plantation "shines."

"PARADISE GARDEN"

Wholesome and vigorous, like a breath of fresh air in a hot room, is "Paradise Garden," the Metro wonderplay starring Harold Lockwood, that will be shown at the Palace Theatre Monday to Wednesday, matinee daily. "Paradise Garden" reflects the life of the great outdoors. It was produced on a great California estate, the natural beauty of which has been left undisturbed.

"Paradise Garden" presents a panorama of scenes of outdoor life. Three other selected photoplays will also be exhibited.

"DOUG" FAIRBANKS HEADIN' SOUTH

"Headin' South" at Griffin's Monday to Wednesday, is an exceptional Fairbanks production, and is full of action from start to finish, giving him the role of a Western cowboy who takes an active part in troubles on the Mexican border. Fairbanks undertakes some hair-raising "stunts" with his best pony "Smiles," and the photoplay teems with gun-play and battle in which fifty cowboys run down a lawless band of Mexican raiders whose depredations have aroused a desire for retaliation and punishment.

As Jules LeMaire, a laughing, singing, high-spirited and wholesome trapper from the great forests of the Canadian Rockies, George Beban in his latest picture, "Jules of the Stronghart," which is being screened at Griffin's theatre, has found a role that is absolutely suited to his talents and one in which he finds opportunity for the exercise of all his faculties of character delineation. That combination of primitive kindliness, robust spirits, and unflinching disposition, coupled with a gusty temper and efficiency of the highest order makes up a character of the sort Mr. Beban finds Mr. Beban can adequately portray and it is his ability in this respect that has made him so wonderfully successful in his photoplays.

"The Spy"

If you want a genuine thrill you must go to Griffin's tonight to see Dustin Farnum in "The Spy" which is also being offered on the same program. The intricacies of diplomacy just before the American declaration of war, are exposed to the public in a manner which is at once easy to grasp and interesting to watch. With every foot of film comes a new thrill or a touch that warms the cockles of your heart.

The third chapter of Vitagraph's western serial, "Vengeance and the Woman," and the Griffin's Screen Telegram with its interesting list of important news events will also be presented.

RED CROSS PENNY BAG APRIL COLLECTION

For five consecutive months Samson Ward has led in the penny bag collections. In April with $69.80 to its credit, it exceeds by ten dollars its closest competitor, Kelchesou Ward. Five district fall a little below, and two come a little above last month's collection, while the total amount is ten dollars short of the March amount.

Next month we would like our collection to rise again to $375.00, and we'll give a loud cheer for the ward which beats Samson Ward.

We carry to have to keep pressing an advance, despite the continued generosity of the public, but as long as the war lasts and the prices of needed materials keep increasing we must make all possible efforts and sacrifice to do our part for our boys at the front who have sacrificed everything and will, if needs be, give their lives for our safety and freedom.

DANGEROUS ANTISEPTICS AND GERMICIDES ARE UNNECESSARY

A dependable antiseptic has come to be considered a necessity in most homes. Especially is this true since Absorbine, Jr. has had such a wide introduction, because this liniment is not only a powerful antiseptic and germicide but it is absolutely safe to use and to have around the house. It is not poisonous and it cannot do harm even if the children do get hold of it. That is a big point to consider.

Absorbine, Jr. is concentrated and is therefore economical. It retains its germicidal properties even diluted one part Absorbine, Jr. to 100 parts water —and its antiseptic properties, one part Absorbine, Jr. to 200 parts of water.

The antiseptic and germicidal properties have been repeatedly tested and proven in many prominent chemical laboratories. Detailed laboratory reports mailed upon request.

Absorbine, Jr. combines safety with efficiency. $1.25 a bottle at most druggists or postpaid.

RUSSIAN RED FLAG WAVING IN BERLIN,

Amsterdam, May 6—The German Government, according to a despatch from Berlin, says it is unable to demand the removal of the red flag from the Russian Embassy at Berlin, as it had been recognized as the color of the Russian Republic. The Government made this announcement in reply to protests of Conservative members of the Reichstag, who considered the flying of a red flag in Germany provocative.

Worth Over $500 a Bottle to Him

"After 3 Years' Misery I'm Now Almost a Well Man Thanks to Tanlac," He Says

"Positively I wouldn't take a thousand dollars for the good this Tanlac has done me and I have only taken two bottles so far," said Edward Costello of 270 Pape Ave., Toronto, the other day. Mr. Costello is an employee of Thomas Thmlinson & Son.

"For three years," he continued, "I suffered agonies from stomach trouble, and although I took all kinds of medicines I got worse instead of better. Nothing seemed to agree with me, and soon after eating I would bloat up so with gas, that I could hardly breathe. I had a heavy feeling in the pit of my stomach, and at times it pained me so, I could hardly stand it. My heart would flutter and palpitate, and I would feel just like I was going to faint. After eating when I sat down to read the paper I often felt so dizzy I would have to get up and walk about, and I've actually had to stop work at the shop many a time on account of an attack coming on. I am on my third bottle now, and after three years of misery, I am almost a well man and I feel better than I have all this time, thanks to Tanlac. I can eat anything I want and have no more trouble with gas or indigestion. That dull, heavy feeling is gone, my heart does not worry me like it did, and I sleep like a log all night. I have never given a testimonial to a medicine before but my relief has been so wonderful that I feel it my duty to give Tanlac the credit, and will recommend it to anybody."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Orrom's Drug Store, in Trenton by J. H. Dicker, in Deseronto by W. J. Molloy, in Stirling by J. S. Morton, in Frankford by W. H. Mattice's, in Madoc by J. Will Vince, in Marysville by T. J. McAlpine, in Ormsby by Jas. Campbell and in Thomasburg by J. H. Blakely.

Willy's Cockchafers Soundly Punished

Kaiser's Best Troops Failed Completely Against the British Line

LONDON, May 1.—Correspondents send further details of the Germans' unsuccessful attack on Monday, when the Kaiser's beloved Cockchafers were soundly punished. The Third Guards division, of which they were a unit, was thrown into the battle west of Hollebeke and attacked after Junction of the British and French. They did not succeed in approaching close enough for our men to use the bayonet, and all the Cockchafers taken were dead ones.

PLEASED WITH RESULT

The British troops were highly elated with the results of the fighting, and when they knew that they had some of the Kaiser's best men against them they were all the more pleased.

Inspiring details are given of the stand of the British Guards near Neppe Forest, between April 11 and 14. After the Germans had broken through the Portuguese lines the Grenadiers, Irish and Coldstreams were sent forward and asked to hold back the enemy until reinforcements could arrive and fight at all costs for 48 hours.

ACCOMPLISHED THEIR OBJECT

The Guards did this. Fighting as separate bodies with the enemy on both flanks, and greatly outnumbered, they beat back attack after attack and gained precious hours by the noblest self-sacrifice. For two days and nights the Guards stemmed the enemy advance, parties standing back-to-back on all sides until only isolated soldiers were left, but gaining time until the Australians arrived, according to time table.

A Mother's Work

IS TOO OFTEN FOLLOWED BY

NERVOUS DEBILITY AND SHATTERED HEALTH.

Mothers as a rule spend so much time in looking after their children and in household work that they overlook the absolute necessity for that rest and relaxation upon which their health depends. The consequence is that soon they find their health breaking down. The daily humdrum of household cares, quickly thin the blood and weaken the nerves. Then follow headaches, pains in the side and back, restless nights, palpitation, a constantly tired feeling, and often an inclination to fretfulness. These symptoms are the sign of poor blood, and are the inevitable penalty of overwork and over anxiety in the care of children and the affairs of the household.

Whenever a mother finds her health failing and household duties becoming more than she can comfortably manage, whenever extra demands are made upon her strength,-she should adopt the safe and simple expedient of enriching her blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills are especially valuable to the nursing mother and the woman worn out with household cares. They renew her blood supply, strengthen her tired limbs, and drive away the headaches and backaches that have made her so miserable. They have restored thousands of despondent women to a state of health and bright spirits, and will do for you as much as they have done for others if you will give them a fair trial.

Mrs. W. F. Burns, Guelph, Ont., says:—"I for years ago my two little children born in three years which left me so run down and nervous that I was not able to do my work. The last baby lived only two weeks and the worry that added to my weak condition shattered my nerves. Our family doctor for several months tried to build me up, but nothing seemed to benefit me. I suffered agony with my head, and was terrified with a fear that I would lose my reason. The headaches from which I suffered would leave me completely prostrated. During one of these spells I went to another doctor, who attended a case of scene. I went away for a few weeks but was discontented and wanted to be back home, so my husband came and brought me home again. A few days later my sister came to see me and asked me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I got three boxes, and by the time I had used them all I was completely well, could do all my own work without feeling tired, and was like a new woman. This was five years ago, and since then two other children have come, and I am still enjoying perfect health."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any dealer in medicine, by mail at 50 cents a box six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THE FUTURE!

Communication With the Spirit World

(Written for The Intelligencer by J. J. B. Flint).

When a car goes into this machine, which is my body, or when from any cause my body dies and is deposited in the cemetery, I wish in dying to leave that it is only my body that dies, and that my soul is separate from my body, dwelling within it until death occurs, and when that event happens, that my soul leaves the body and continues to exist. I believe in the immortality of the soul. Many materialists and agnostics do not. They ask for evidence. In the Old Testament there is very little reference to immortality. That wonderful, "Job," in two passages refers to death and the soul. In one passage he declares against immortality. In the other he asserts his belief that he will, after death, see God. All through the Old and New Testaments there are references to spirits and angels: The spirit appearing to Samuel, and to Moses; the Witch of Endor calling up the spirit of Samuel at the request of Saul; the spirits at Pentecost; the Spirit in the form of a dove at the baptism in the Jordan; the resurrection of Lazarus; the spirits in the tomb of Jesus after His resurrection; Christ appearing after His death to Mary and to the disciples; His address to doubting Thomas; the statement that angels are ministering spirits sent forth to minister; the evil spirits cast out of the Magdalene and the descending spirits inhabiting maniacs and addressing Christ; Satan appearing in bodily form tempting Christ in the wilderness; Moses and the burning bush and the still small voice; God speaking to Adam, to Abraham, to Jacob, to Joseph, to Joseph of Arimathea.

Angel Spirits.

Thus we learn that angelic spirits frequently appeared and conversed with men—the angels who visited Sodom and Gomorrah, we may well ask, Why should we disbelieve the abundant and unanswerable evidence of the present day? If spirits possessed these powers and appeared and conversed so frequently with men, why should they not do so in these days. What do those who have investigated spiritualism teach? Simply that the soul survives the change called death. Death is the death of the body, separating the spirit from the bondage of the body. This spirit retains its intelligence and can and does return under the most favorable circumstances and communes with mortals. In not this in strict accord with Bible teachings believed by Study the religions of Europe, China, Japan, Persia and Greece. They all teach immortality of the soul. An Egyptian sneer said: "In the ecling surrounding the world the souls of the dead live and enjoy eternal life." The Chinese teach that spirits communicate through written tablets. Zoroaster, the Persian, claimed to hold intercourse with spirits. Hesiod, who lived one thousand years before Christ, stated that "Millions of departed spirits walk this earth, and are the ministers of good and the guides of man."

Man Immortal.

The great poet of the East, living before Christ, said that "Spirits are appeared and conversed with him." The greatest logician and author possibly of any age wrote that "The dead are the only living souls, and that when a man dies his mortal body suffers dissolution, but his immortal part escapes unhurt and 'triumphs over death." The Greek philosophers thought that after death the souls of the corrupt and low are bound to earth by their sins and unholy desires and that the souls of the pure progress onward and upward.

The great Plato believed and dwelt upon the immortality of the soul. One of his pupils, one of him, "Plato, thou reasonest well, or whence is this longing after immortality, etc." Socrates, when given the poison, said to those who administered it: "You may kill my body, but you cannot catch me," meaning his soul.

I do not sympathize with the belief that upon death the soul sleeps until the judgment day, when it reanimates the body. This earth has existed for centuries of years, judging from geological records.

When the Sun Fails.

The sun is gradually losing heat, and alluring the lapse of ages this world become a dead, frozen world like our moon. Possibly the judgment day will dawn at that period in the world's history. But millions of years will come and go before that event, and if we are resurrected then I doubt much if there will be anything left of our bodies and a very slight resemblance of our sins committed during this fleeting life. Every nation, no matter how ignorant or barbarous, entertains some belief in immortality. Why is this? If you look at a dead body, there is nothing about it which makes you think it possessed a soul; yet the general belief is that it contains an indwelling soul, and a part of the body, which is merely its home during life. Many point out idiots and lunatics and say that these prove there is no soul; apart from the body, that thought is a secretion of the brain. The fact is that the soul has to manifest itself through bodily organs. When something disarranges the body, the body cannot truly convey the mandates of the soul. The organs used have become defective, or were originally so. They do not ring true. A well turned piano conveys the true emphasis of the notes. Disarrange the wires and discord is produced. While the body is able to exert its normal powers it will truly express through its organs the meaning and intent of the soul. Every seven years the body changes and disappears. It is only sustained by accretions from the air, elements and food. The man who has lived seventy years has died ten times. Not a single cell remains after seven years of life of the body with which he was born.

Soul Never Changes.

Suppose two people of the same age married. In seven years the wife has lost her husband, the husband his wife. During seventy years the man has had ten wives, the wife ten husbands. It is possible that the person now his wife may be compounded from the wives of some of his friends in some degree. During all of these bodily changes the soul remained unchanged. Although the bodies have from time to time disappeared in the air, the soul possesses memories of events which occurred during the lifetime of bodies long since disappeared. When death happens this soul leaves the body and lives its own soul life. Chase the elusive soul through the body; cut off its limbs and members; dissect and find the soul? Blood, flesh, bones, nails, constitute all that you will find—all the earthy, earthly, and perishable.

The Psychical Society of England has existed for about forty years. The greatest minds and profound scholars of the Empire have been its members. Their efforts have been devoted to examination of all matters connected with the future life and immortality of the soul. Gladstone, Crooks, Balfour, Balfour, Sir Oliver Lodge, Sir Alfred Barrett, William James. Very many bishops and ecclesiastics have been members, among them the Bishop of Carlow and Oxford graduate, Stanton Moses. This last mentioned gentleman has written a book proving the truth of spiritualism from his own experience.

Ruskin's Changed Belief.

The great Ruskin, the poet, the lit-erateur, was an agnostic, disbelieved in the immortality of the soul. After a careful and prolonged study of the evidence of communication of spirits the renowned agnostician was forced to feel that the evidence offered as to the truth that spirits actually communicated with people upon this earth, was unanswerable. Eight millions believe this. Every city of reasonable size has its circles. An annual conference is attended by thousands, at Lily Dale.

Many prominent ministers of different denominations frequently assert their belief in the communion of spirits with mankind. Chancellor Burwash, Principal of Victoria University, told me of an occasion when his life was saved by a spirit voice, also of a second occasion upon the decease of a young friend.

Recently in Belleville I heard a highly intellectual minister publicly avow this belief in a sermon. Very Reverend Father Vaughan in his book declared that no man possessing common sense could any longer doubt the intercourse of spirits with this kind. The life of Saint Theresa and the celebrated book called the "Flowers," written centuries ago, abound with evidences of intercourse with spirits. Many are the sorrowing hearts all over Canada bowed down with grief over the deaths of beautiful lads in the flower of their youth. Let them think of them, not as dead, but living like Sir Oliver Lodge's son, Raymond, who has had many conversations with all the members of his family.

MILITARY NEWS

MAY GET LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Medical, veterinary and dental students of the second or higher years will be granted leave of absence without pay until the termination of the present academic year. After that they must report to the Depot Battalion in their district. Instructions altogether different had been issued in this matter some time ago and they are now cancelled.

LIEUT.-COL. ELMER JONES HONORED

It is announced that Lieut.-Col. Elmer Jones, of the 21st Battalion, succeeding Brig.-Gen. W. S. Pierre Hughes in that command, has been given a bar to his D.S.O. for bravery in action.

HEADQUARTERS REMAIN IN KINGSTON

Contrary to custom the headquarters staff and sub-staff of the Third Military District will remain in King-ston this summer. The Depot Battalion, Medical Corps and Dental Corps will go to Barriefield Camp, and there will be about the same number of men as last year in camp. Headquarters staff, however, will remain at the Armories. While no definite reason for this action is given, General Hedming stated that there are many advantages in headquarters remaining in the city during the camp months.

Childhood Constipation

Constipation is one of the most common ailments of little ones and should never be allowed to become chronic and baby's health for all time become impaired. Nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets in regulating the bowels. They are a mild, safe laxative, easy to administer and never fail to be effective. Concerning them Mrs. Emile La Chapelle, Terrasse, Que., writes:—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets for my baby who was badly constipated and they quickly relieved him. All mothers should keep a box of these Tablets in the house." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

War has made Economy the National Buy-Word

TO-DAY each one must decide for himself what economy means. It doesn't mean to stop buying the things you need. It means getting full value for each expenditure so that your money will go as far as possible. It means saving that margin we used to spend thoughtlessly for the "highest-priced" things—imagining that they were necessarily the best. In fact, the Economy of to-day really means Thrift.

The Descendant of Parchment Paper of a Thrift

Take the matter of shoes. The money you spend on shoes is a very important item. You may be paying too much for your shoes.

You know, of course, that shoes, like everything else, have gone up in price. But there is a limit to the price which it is necessary to pay for good shoes.

For example: If you are paying $5 as a fair price for shoes and can get the same wear and appearance in a shoe for a dollar or two less, you want to know it.

It is not easy, even for a man in the shoe business, to judge the exact value of a shoe from its appearance. You may think, therefore, that it is necessary to pay the highest price always in order to get good shoes. That is not so.

For instance: Ames Holden McCready Men's Shoes are being made today to retail from $6 to $10. There are more expensive shoes on the market, but it is not necessary to pay over $6 for good shoes, and $6 will buy shoes that will give good service for the price.

There is quite a difference between $6 and $10, but shoes at both these prices are very similar in appearance. The difference is due to the grade of material used and to a certain extent extra trimmings and workmanship, which increases cost but adds only little to the wear or appearance.

For example: one man's shoe retailing at $8, $9, or $10 are made of the same kind of skin and first-class materials throughout, but you can buy shoes for $6 or $7 that are made of the skin of a large calf or steer. This leather does not command such high prices because it is finer in weight and not quite so tough in texture, but for the ordinary wear and only experienced shoe and leather man can appreciate any difference in its appearance.

Differences in price you will see do not necessarily affect the actual wear or stylish appearance of the shoe, that are made of the same kind of skins and first-class materials throughout, but you can buy shoes for $6 or $7 that are made of the skin of a large calf or steer.

It is a guide to good values, because it is found only on shoes of good appearance which give excellent wear and satisfaction for the price. When you buy A. H. THE ONLY WAY TO END THE WAR.

Recently the following editorial appeared in Leslie's Weekly, the noted New York illustrated paper, and as an illustration of the splendid spirit which the United States faces active participation in this stupendous war constitutes a cheery message to Canadians and is as happy augury that, animated by such sentiments, the United States will press every ounce of energy, every man, and every dollar into the great task of removing this menace of militarism forever from the earth. The Butcher of Berlin can already hear the measured tramp of countless hosts of inspired soldiers from the New World who, spurred on by a high sense of duty and a nation's prayers, will never rest until the Beast of Berlin and his mercenaries are humbled in the dust of decisive defeat:

"Every pacifist is an enemy. Every one who stands for a negotiated peace is giving aid and comfort to our foes.

"And a peace that would leave unsettled the vital issues of the war would be only an armistice.

"Among the armies of the world would be plunged into a still bloodier war, and our children would be driven to finish the struggle for freedom which in our confidence we left incomplete.

"Woe to England, France and America if they leave such a legacy to the next generation!

"Already we have talked too much about peace. The frequency of our peace definitions Berlin and Vienna interpret as signs of weakness.

"Among the armies at the front there are no illusions. Soldiers know but one way to win.

"The Allied armies in France know they can make Germany taste the bitterness of defeat.

"Germany and Austria are whipped to their knees. All the world knows it. The Teuton military lords know it, but by a gigantic bluff they hope to discourage the enemy.

"The more we talk about peace the more we play their game. Famine and economic ruin stare the Central Powers in the face. Their armies may still be fed, but even a Hindenburg cannot maintain indefinitely a New York fighting army with a home background of underfed or starving wives and children.

"A negotiated peace will mean the end of all a liberal civilization holds dear.

"'Nothing we may have to endure now,' says Rudyard Kipling, 'will weigh one featherweight compared with what we shall most certainly have to suffer if for any cause we fail of victory.'

"We must end the war by fighting. . . . Thus only can we secure a peace worthy the name."

DOWN WHERE THE WURZBURGER FLOWS.

The city of Ogdensburg, N.Y., twelve miles below Brockville, on the St. Lawrence River, has just defeated a local option measure to banish liquor licenses, and with Canada, just across the river, dry, and all the surrounding territory in northern New York State in the dry belt, the Burg will still delight the hearts and palates of the thirsty travellers who continue to have urgent business to transact in that city where the dark brown taste and soothing headache can still be acquired though a haze of momentary forgetfulness with one foot on the brass rail.

The Ogdensburg Advance, which is strong for prohibition, takes comfort in the fact that the wets only secured a majority of 114 in a vote of 4,300, but mourns the outlook for the future, saying, "We do not look forward with any pleasure to Ogdensburg being the Bizee Centre for all northern New York and Canada, but the city seems to have made its choice and that is the end of it."

And in the meantime the booze fighters, within a day's march of Ogdensburg continue to sing "There's a Stein on the table!"

Ogdensburg is noted for a brand of "squirrel" whisky which makes strong men climb trees and fills the "nut" wards of the adjacent hospitals. One farmer driving away from Ogdensburg in the darkness of early morning thought his horse was a fish and started to drive to Canada, but the water was deep and wet and the horse and rig and farmer were fished up from the bottom next day, very wet and very dead.

Of the many crimes and comedies blamed on the "squirrel juice" which masquerades for whisky in some sections of the 'Burg, a book could be filled, but anyone seeking a new sensation should make his will, say good-bye to his creditors, and with a few injections of the 'Burg's Worst, sail out on an unknown sea. The awakening may be in Ogdensburg or may be in another place not on the map, or the comeback may happen in New York, Pittsburg or Chicago, but the memory of that squirrel juice will never leave while life lasts and immortality endures.

The Globe's highly trained booze smeller scented a rich and rise scandal in the calling for tenders by the Canadian Naval Department for champagne glasses, shades and other paraphernalia of prohibition days, which ornamented festive gatherings "when good fellows got together." The Globe's smeller was good, but it didn't smell far enough, for a perfectly good explanation was forthcoming from Ottawa that the glasses were required to replace breakage on the sideboards of British naval vessels, where prohibition has not as yet penetrated to any great extent. The Globe will be gratified to learn that there is no leakage of alcoholic beverages in the Canadian Navy, where "Der Tag" is toasted in seven different languages and one kind of water.

The Poet's Corner

HOW SMALL THEY ARE

(By Wm. Henry Taylor, author of "Canadian Seasons" etc.

Is there a Great I Am today,
An Egotphoe, who dares to say:
"The war has weighed and measured me,
For in its mirror I can see—
How small I am?"

The Czar looked through his gilded pane
A pigmy, smaller than his page;
He lacked the grip of Peter's hand,
But as a Failure he is grand—
The Little Czar!

The Kaiser and his Gott are naught;
No Hohenzollern myth has fought
In battle's front with Fritz, the bold,
Who pays the price of woe untold—
For Will, I am.

The superhuman diplomats,
The scientific moles and bats,
The subtle strategists and lears,
Have no more weight than dream and snores,
Or ghosts of fools.

Professor's, owls and autocrats
With prehistoric demerits,
Are left with socialistic crows,
Who lead the rabble when it goes
To feed on chaff.

This war's a fever, it must run
Toward its crisis with the sun,
Then quacks can give no remedy,
For God's own hand writes history—
For little men.

Napoleon sleeps, and Caesar's clay,
Is not inhabited today;
But patriotes win and sergeants share
With Mighty Ones, the Stars they wear—
The Men are Great.

Look close at home, down on the ground;
All boast is brass, what have you found?
Some under you, but more above,
With Self, perhaps, your only love—
O, Little One.

When lightnings play and thunders roll,
Then puny Man, go search thy soul,
And give the fibres of thy life
A modest portion in the strife,
For thou art Small.

Of course, the "Poet" will not offend Sir Grandee, who may condescend To read between the lines and see Turn Other Peoples' vanity—
How Small they are.

The giant guns manufactured at Philadelphia can, it is claimed, throw a shell 114 miles.

UNWORTHY OF CONFIDENCE

After this we put "war experts" opinions in the sad record-tick flips in the same class.

A BACKGROUND OF COURAGE

There are hundreds of years of traditional courage now living used to adjust themselves to the line, declares The Detroit Free Press.

THE MEN OF HARLECH
(Toronto Globe)

The men of Harlech are still martial. The flow of recruits from the Welsh mining districts to Cardiff for enlistment has swamped the recruiting staff.

THE LACK OF MEN

NECESSARY QUALIFICATIONS
(Woodstock Sentinel Review)

It is reported that the man selected to take the place of Mr. O'Connor as Cost of Living Commissioner, possesses high academic qualifications. Very good. But the chief qualifications which Mr. O'Connor's successor will require are ability to understand the people's needs, a determination to satisfy these needs—and sufficient courage to hose a stenographer.

THE KAISER AND PHARAOH
(San Francisco Bulletin)

"God has been with us," says the Kaiser, using in his latest speech the customary formula implying that the Creator of the universe is at the disposal of military attaches of the German army. Doubtless Pharaoh was under the same impression when the waters of the Red Sea engulfed him and his army to prevent the fleeing Israelites.

IRELAND
(New York Tribune)

A whole wide world is joyous at the thought that Ireland at last is about to have her own parliament and be left to settle her own internal problems as best she may. The present moment, indeed, is the most auspicious that could be imagined to launch it. An Irish Ireland, joining that of the independent members of the British Empire, will not refuse to do her share in its defence. Irish valor is the finest and most tragic thing in all the range of human qualities, as everybody knows except the Irish and some of the English. The people who know least about the Irish are themselves. Those who are next most ignorant about the Irish are the English. That is why they are insoperable.

Quick-witted, she replied the curtseying mother, "I shouldn't like to say as much as that, but your young man came and did what he could."

Half Fall Wheat Is Winter Killed

Land in Unusually Good Shape For Spring Seeding, Say Experts.

The following is a summary of reports made by district representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

About half the acreage of fall wheat is reported to be more or less injured since the crop entered the winter, chiefly unfavorable fall and later winter weather. A portion of the damaged fields will be cultivated to other crops, chiefly spring wheat or barley.

Clover has come through much better than the wheat, and although patchy in spots, is recovering wonderfully. Grasses generally are now getting a favorable start.

Spring seeding is being actively prosecuted, the land being in unusually good tilth, and a first-class seed bed being secured in most cases. In some districts nearly all the cereals are in; in others, about completed of the spring seeding has been done. Growth has been a little slow, as the weather has not been very warm, but the general prospects for spring crops are most encouraging. There will be an increase in the acreages of spring wheat, also of oats, barley and sugar beets. A marked revival in the growth of flax is also taking place.

Horses in Demand.

Heavy horses are in good demand, with prices advancing.

Fat cattle are now coming on the market in good numbers, but many are being held for May sales. Prices rule around 12c and 13c a lb., but one Brant farmer with a choice lot of steers last week refused 14c a lb.

Sheep are being sold for breeding purposes at $25 and $27 each.

Milk production is normal in all districts although the scarcity of corn, grain and millfeeds is interfering with their feeding somewhat. A cheese in the Northumberland representative tersely puts it: "The scarcity of feed is a limiting factor in milk production." Young pigs are in great demand. Bacon hogs are selling at from $19 to $21.50 per cwt.

The flow of milk is about normal. Raising the set price of cheese from 21½c to 23c a lb. has given much encouragement to patrons and manufacturers, and some factories that had to close last season owing to butter outbid in the price of milk by condenseries, will reopen.

Plenty Bulky Fodders.

While grain is scarce, and all kinds of millfeed very dear and hard to procure, there is plenty of the more bulky fodders, such as hay, straw and roots, although rutabagas are very lower in the silo and never better appreciated. In most cases live stock will be carried nicely over to the grass.

Farm labor conditions threaten to be more acute, owing to the new draft regulations of the Military Service Act. Some claim that this is affecting the extent of spring seeding and general cultivation, already. The Norfolk representative reports: "Heavy demand for help of all kinds—men, both school boys and women. Several girls' camps are being established in the county at Waterford, St. Williams, Vittoria and Simcoe. During the week five or six young women have been individually placed on mixed farms and fruit farms."

Appendicitis Operations Not Always Necessary

Internal Bathing Relieves the Cause

Your physician will tell you that Appendicitis is an inflammation and that the little sack called the Appendix at the end of the intestine called the Colon or large intestine. By cleansing this Colon with purified water by the "J. B. L. Cascade" this sack is cleansed and the inflammation subsides. Hundreds of operations have been avoided by using the warm water way. J. B. L. Cascade, Mr. Jas. Mc-Laughlin, 91 Evanston street, Wimbledon writes:

"I had spent over fifty dollars with doctors trying to cure Appendicitis. Finally the doctor said I must go to the hospital at once for an operation. Your advertisement interested me, so bought a "J. B. L. Cascade," which relieved me at once, and I was soon completely cured. Never felt better in health, pain and soreness gone, appetite and I eat and sleep like a boy. I am pleased to Dr. Tyrrell for this wonderful health giving invention."

93 per cent. of all human ills are caused by accumulated waste in the Colon. Internal Bathing with the "J. B. L. Cascade" keeps this large intestine as free from all waste and as clean as nature demands it should be for perfect health. Ask J. S. McKeown, Immigrant Defeville for book let called "Why Man of Today is Only 38 Per Cent. Efficient." It is free or will also be pleased to show and explain the "J. B. L. Cascade" to you.

TEA DRINKERS HIT HARD

"The new tax will be no harder on the smoker of cigarettes than on the hundreds of tea drinkers," he said a lady who takes a studious interest in public affairs. The cigarette smoker pays his grievance—he is hit much harder than the chap who ran afford cigars—but what of the extensive consumers of tea, which is being taxed almost as heavily as tobacco There are, according to this lady, women everywhere who live practically on tea and bread and butter, and who, at a time when food is scarce, will inadvertently turn for nourishment to their old friend, the tea-pot. Tea has become a tremendous factor among women who find it difficult to make ends meet, and it is by these that the tax on that commodity will be felt most. She did not disagree with the new system of taxation—rather she agreed—she expressed the opinion that there are many luxuries which might have been taxed before tea and tobacco, such as expensive articles of wearing apparel, etc., which are, to a certain extent, extravagance.

S. A. OFFICER'S FAREWELL

Adjutant and Mrs. Ritchie the commanding officers of the local Salvation Army Corps have received their discharges farewell. This is brought about by the serious illness of Mrs. Ritchie, who on medical advice has to go to Gravenhurst for at least six months' treatment. The Adjutant does not at present know as to when he will be leaving the city, but he will farewell on Monday night from charge of the corps. This change is greatly regretted by the soldiers by untiring efforts and devotion to duty the local work has prospered since he took charge. A branch Sunday School has been opened and the building bought on Station street, which through his personal effort and unquenchable zeal has become the centre of a live work for God, which will stand out for years to come as a monument to their splendid self-sacrificing life to the benefit of others. Many good officers have been stationed here and left their mark for good upon the community and left the city with the good wishes of all, but none more so than Adjutant and Mrs. Ritchie, and all join in wishing for the speedy recovery of Mrs. Ritchie. Adjutant and Mrs. Trickey of Montreal are to succeed to the command of the corps; they will be remembered by their successful revival meetings conducted by them last December.

Mr. J. A. Bowlan is, Manager of the Royal Bank at Tweed, has severed his connection with that institution and enlisted for overseas service. Mr. Bowlands was a popular manager and made many friends in Tweed.

IN DEATH NOT DIVIDED.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Cooper, two aged citizens, said to have reached about the century mark, passed the winter with the Carrying Place with their daughter, Mrs. George Clarke. A short time ago they returned to their home at Gardenville, when Mr. Cooper was taken ill and passed away, and his wife died the same day. A double funeral was held.

THROW OUT THE LIFE LINE.

The local municipalities received notification this morning that the wholesale price of beef had advanced 82 per hundred weight. This increase will be immediately felt in the retail market, and the price of all kinds of beef will be raised, more or less, even with the rise of the wholesale trade. The reason given for this is that the local butchers and dealers do not carry a big stock ahead, preferring to buy their supplies about as they are needed, so any change in the price is felt at once. Consequently all orders will be asked for higher prices for their best supplies from now on, and it is safely predicted that the present price which local butchers are obliged to pay is the wholesale price.

COMMONS ON A VOYAGE
WITH CAPT. REID P. E. I.

OTTAWA, May 4.—"Around the world with Captain Reid" might make a suitable title for the story of a part of last evening's debate on the budget. The veteran sea skipper from Prince Edward Island kept the House in tears of laughter for nearly an hour.

His white beard waggling in the breeze, not rimmed like a foresail but like a boy, and his eyes twinkling on the very top of the head, the skipper jumped gaily from Mobile, Alabama, to Buenos Ayres. This latter jaunt was in the course of the debate and explained why the price of binder twine in Canada went up in 1898. "What about the budget," you may ask. It's a long long story. Back in the days when the Liberals were in office they were then called by the scribes and pharisees, went around the country telling the simple people that they were selling the simple people that they were selling the simple people that they were sel

What it has done for others it will do for you

No appetite, tired and discouraged

This is an invitation no man or woman can afford to ignore. It will tell you what Parmint, the 20th century discovery that cures catarrh, is doing for others. Men who were constantly hawking and spitting, with foul breath, dull watery eyes, tired, worn out feelings, by their own testimony here admit to enjoy the blessings of health. Women who were bordering on the grave, have by their own testimony here given up their fight for health, life's battle, and at once before the years, through this wonderful catarrh specific, are starting all over again to get up in the morning feeling fit, no more dull headaches, no more bad breath and foul, sour stomach, no more dizziness, no more fainting spells, but a bright and active interest in life, a feeling of wanting to get up in the morning feeling fit

The Heart of a Range

BY its fire-box the usefulness, efficiency and durability of a range is measured—it is the heart of the range.

It must be scientifically proportioned to the whole range,

—It must be both heat-resisting and heat-conserving.

McClary's exclusive process semi-steel linings, fitted to expand and contract at different degrees of heat, has the tough durability that makes for long life under constant usage.

And the close-grained texture and toughened hardness of that semi-steel resists the permeating destructiveness of fuel gases.

Then the fire-box is built wide to give maximum utilization of the fire body and it is just the right depth to maintain a steady, dependable body of fire—under perfect control.

No part of the Pandora Range has been given such close study by its makers as the fire-box, because the fire-box is the most important and most difficult problem in building a perfect range.

"The Magic of the Pandora"—Booklet Free

This is only one of the many features of the Pandora Range described in "The Magic of the Pandora," a little booklet full of information that every woman will want before she buys a range. Write for it to the nearest McClary Branch.

FOR SALE BY—SMITH HARDWARE COMPANY

An Industry That is Worth Over Fifty Millions a Year

Figures published in the Globe show that in 1913, the year before the war, exports of butter were valued at $173, representing 681 lbs. of butter. The values for 1917 were $2,220,197, and the quantity 7,121,569 lbs. The figures for cheese were: 1913, 153,486,985 lbs. valued at $20,107,130; in 1917, 179,568,863 lbs., valued at $36,463,272.—Toronto Globe

The condenser and powder factory have brought about changes and developments in the dairy industry corresponding to those which refrigeration has effected in the meat trade, and sterilization and the possibility of hermetically sealing cans have caused in the production and marketing of fruit and vegetables.

Not many years ago consumption of milk and cream was limited to sections adjacent to points of production. Improved methods of transportation have changed this condition in a measure, and to-day whole milk is being delivered in Toronto from points up to a hundred miles away and in the case of New York milk supplies are drawn from distances up to 500 miles.

The condenser and the powder factory have marked a still further advance and have made it possible for men in the lumber camps of Northern Ontario, miners in the Yukon, railway construction gangs on the prairies, and men on the outskirts of civilization everywhere, in tropical heat or Arctic cold, to secure milk as fresh as that supplied Toronto householders. Temperature and distance alike have no effect on quality in this case.

Developments in this line of product made rapid progress in recent years. There are seven condensers in Ontario.

MILK POWDER PLANT

There are also four milk powder plants, in which all the moisture is dried out of milk and only the solid left, in the powder. These powder factories are located at Brownsville, Belmont, Hickson and Burford. These four plants receive in the aggregate 250,000 lbs. of milk daily mostly drawn from within eight or ten miles of each factory. In reducing milk to powder the fluid is sprayed into a chamber, sprayed so fine that it resembles a fog rather than a liquid and heated and filtered air is circulated through that fog in the chamber to evaporate the moisture. It is calculated that each pound of milk comes in contact with three or four acres of heated and filtered air. The result is an almost instantaneous evaporation of moisture, thus rendering it impossible for bacteria to multiply in the finished product.

Part of the powdered product consists of whole milk and part of separated milk. The former, 58 per cent. of which is cream, goes mainly to the chocolate manufacturers. The bulk of the output, however, is separator milk and is sold to bakers confectioners and for use in the home. This contains all the albumen casein, and other food products in the milk with the exception of fat. It contains these foods in the most easily assimilated form, and for adults, who get plenty of fats in meats and butter, is as valuable a food as the whole milk and costs only a little over half the price of the latter.

ONE VIEW OF NEW LINE

"The introduction of the milk powder industry has been a good thing both for milk producers and milk consumers," said Mr. Benjamin A. Gould, president and manager of the company making the product in Canada. "This season we are paying farmers $2.82 per 100 lbs. for milk testing 3.9 per cent. We pay 7c. for each point over 3.9 per cent, fat with 6c. off for each point below that standard. Thus on a day recently, the average percentage of fat in milk received was 3.8. This meant $2.78 per 10 lbs. for this milk. If the average had been 4 per cent, the price would have been $2.89. In this case each producer is paid for his milk, not according to weight, but according to quality. That is how the new industry works out from the farmer's end. From the consumer's end there is the fact that powder from separator milk sells at a little over half the price of whole raw milk. There is also the matter of transportation to be considered. One car of new-laid milk will contain the equivalent of ten cars of whole milk."

FACTORIES MUST SATISFY FARMERS

"But," it was suggested, "farmers fear that big corporations engaged along this line may later or unduly depress prices to farmers."

"If you consider the situation for a moment you will see there is no danger of that," was the reply. "Each one of these powder plants represents an investment of $150,000. That investment is practically valueless unless we can get milk to transform into powder. In order to get that milk we have to pay a price that will equal the price paid for milk supplied cheese factories, plus the value of whey, plus the cost of added care in handling the milk, and plus a profit to the milk producer sufficient to induce him to favor the powder factory in preference to the cheese factory."

Up to the present milk powder factories in Ontario have, Mr. Gould says, been taxed to the limit of their capacity in meeting local demands, but when this is overcome there will be an almost unlimited export market found in the West Indies, in Central America, and other tropical areas.

"This new line in dairying is as much a permanence and capable of as great expansion as the refrigerator meat and canning industries," he said.

CHEESE FACTORY SITUATION

Last year a very uneasy feeling was created among cheese factory patrons and owners because of the fact that condensers and powder factories were able to pay a higher price for milk than could be paid for milk to be made into cheese at the price fixed by the British Government for cheese. This grievance was discussed at both the Eastern and Western dairy conventions and, as an outcome of the discussion, a deputation recently waited on Hon. T. A. Crerar to solicit his influence in securing higher prices for cheese in the coming season. As a result of that interview, in which a representative of the British Government took part it is probable cheese prices for 1918 will be higher than last year.

It is impossible to obtain exact figures as to the values of Ontario dairying industry, but the table is approximately correct:

Cheese output for 1917	$25,200,000
Creamery output for 1917	10,080,000
Whole milk and farm dairy butter	9,000,000
Condensers and powder factories	7,000,000

CURTED FLOUR ACROSS BORDER

NIAGARA FALLS, May 3.—Beginning Monday, men, women and children from over the river began buying flour home from the Canadian side, and now are going over to the United States in every kind of vehicle from little express carts to autos, that the customs officers at the bridges were compelled to take notice. A message was sent to the Food Controller last night asking for instructions, and to-day a wire came from Ottawa to stop the exportation of flour. Many are armed with express waggons carrying six or seven 25-pound bags of flour, were ordered to take the flour back to the store where they purchased it. There was naturally a lot of protest, but in vain. One man, yesterday afternoon, carried three barrels of Canadian flour over the river in his auto. Asked if the flour was scarce over there, he said no, but to get it they had to buy cereals he couldn't use.

BEST IN THE LONG RUN

The Conquerors

HAIL The Conquerors of The Road. Hail the tires that triumphed in the bitterest struggle ever staged between roads and tires, a conflict of 4,170,744 tire miles. Hail Goodrich Tested Tires.

Hear the story of a good fight well won. One year ago Goodrich, challenging the roads to a test of strength, sent forth six Test Car Fleets to battle the roughest roads in six different regions.

GOODRICH TESTED TIRES

The roads did their worst, as the Test Car Fleets whirled from region to region, the teeth of the road gnawed at Goodrich Tires.

But the tires conquered with phenomenal mileage that doubled Goodrich's pride. From that test covering millions of miles, the Test Car Fleets came back with a new tire standard, the TESTED of Goodrich Tested Tires.

Tested Tires mean certainty of service, proved service, and that means a low cost a tire user. It means long life in a tire, and dependability on the road, for no hidden weakness could conceal itself in that year long test of Goodrich's Test Car Fleets.

SILVERTOWN CORDS, and BLACK SAFETY TREADS, proved themselves masters of the road. The spiral-wrapped, cable-cored tire body, and the tough, close-clutch, cross-barred black safety tread defied the rough going.

Under light and heavy cars they proved themselves not for one car or one driver, or one road, but all cars, all drivers, all roads.

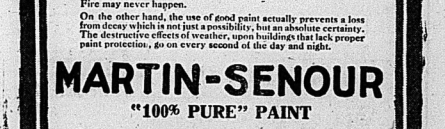

Reap the benefits of this great victory of Goodrich Tires, the sure mileage and dependability of a proven tire service, by demanding tires that won the title, "Canada's Tested Tires."

The Best Insurance

You Can Put on Your Buildings

is the protection that good paint guarantees. Fire Insurance does not prevent fire—it only partly reimburses you for loss sustained, should fire destroy your property.

Fire may never happen.

On the other hand, the use of good paint actually prevents a loss from decay which is not just a possibility, but an absolute certainty. The destructive effects of weather, upon buildings that lack proper paint protection, go on every second of the day and night.

MARTIN-SENOUR

is the greatest known protector of all building material against time and weather, because it is made only of pure White Lead, Pure Zinc Oxide, and Pure Linseed Oil.

You would not think of letting your Fire Insurance Policies lapse in order to save the yearly premiums. It would be even poorer economy to let your Paint Protection Policy lapse by neglecting to repaint your increasingly valuable buildings this season.

When you do paint use Martin Senour "100% Pure" Paint. It spreads easier, covers more surface, and protects longer than most other makes.

Ask for copies of "Farmer's Colour Set" and "Town and Country Homes". Many good colour hints in each. 121

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Secretary of War Baker, at a hearing before the House Military Committee, in connection with the question of the proper amount unlimited power for the creation of an army of whatever size necessary for the prosecution of the war. American Without Penny Joins British Army, Quits; Builds Many Airplanes

London, Eng., May 2.—With all of its cases of meteoric rise from poverty and humbleness to wealth and success, the United States furnishes nothing more striking than that of J. L. Whitehead, president of the Whitehead Aircraft Company, of England. But it should be stated that Mr. Whitehead, though a Britisher now, has American citizenship papers and got his business training in San Francisco.

Unknown two years ago, Mr. Whitehead now is one of the most prominent men in Great Britain, and in his industrial life is easily one of the most shining figures. He started his career two and a half years ago with no asset in the world except credit with a small hotelkeeper in a Scottish suburb. Now he owns the biggest aeroplane factory in Great Britain and has under his ownership 450 acres of factory buildings and airdromes. His first payroll was $25 a week, with borrowed money. His payroll is now $5,000 a week. He recently obtained permission from the Treasury Department of England to increase his capitalization by $5,000,000, and so complete was the confidence of English investors in his ability to "make good" that the amount was subscribed before the bonds were issued.

Airplane Yet in Infancy.

Mr. Whitehead is a far-seeing man. He says the airplane business, despite its magical development during war time, is just in its infancy; that when the war is over these will be flying machine services for mail and passengers and expresses all over the world, and that where thousand of machines are required now, tens of thousands will be needed after the war. He predicts that the airplane industry will see the same wonderful transformation that the automobile industry experienced some twenty years back.

Furthermore, Mr. Whitehead says that the day the war is over he will start machines on a flight to New York, and he has no doubt that within a short time he will have established, in cooperation with others, a regular mail service between the metropolis of Europe and the metropolis of the Western Hemisphere.

It is, of course, not possible to go into details in describing the airplane works which Mr. Whitehead has built. It is one of the wonder spots of England, and the thousands of employees whom I saw at their work one day this week are turning out these "eyes of the army" at a rate which may well cause alarm to the Huns, who perhaps as soon as anyone else realized that the great world war would be won in the air. Mr. Whitehead believes that the war will be won in the air, and he says there is no question that the English manufacturer, supplemented by his American industrial captain, will provide the machine which will give the Allies an overwhelming superiority.

At a recent luncheon given at Mr. Whitehead's home, Burclench House, on the Thames, he told privately the story of his wonderful career, and I have received permission to send it for first publication. This is it:

Sentenced to be Shot.

At the outbreak of the war Mr. Whitehead, then on the sunny side of forty, was in San Francisco and, letting on his feet after a rather adventurous experience which had taken him to all parts of the world, and in a way gave him the reputation of, as he now humorously says, a "black sheep." The turning point in his career had come at Monte Carlo some years before. He received financial aid which enabled him to shift his course in life and take a turn for the better.

As soon as war was declared, although he had become an American citizen, he enlisted in a British regiment and came to England. He was at the battle of Antwerp, and there, after watching the work of enemy airplanes, reached the conclusion that airplanes would decide the war sooner or later.

To get out of the army was not an easy task. He did it by insubordination, and when sentenced to be shot produced his American citizenship papers and said he didn't think the authorities would kill him. They did not. They paid very little attention to his claim that he had committed a breach of discipline for the sole purpose of employing his talents in a more effective way to the service of his country. He was sent back home with a black mark against him, filled with chagrin, but glowing with confidence that he could manufacture airplanes on a big scale and be a factor in the determination of the world struggle.

He had not a cent. He had no friends who could help. His parents, quite naturally, turned a deaf ear to his overtures for aid. His first step was to go to the War Office and, as he laughingly says, with true American optimism, ask for an order to build airplanes. When asked if he had a factory he replied that he had. Then he went out to look for one so that the authorities could verify his statement.

Commandeers a Machine Shop.

Out in a London suburb, where he had a hotel man for an acquaintance, he found an old machine shop in which were a few lathes and some benches. He inspected it as well as he could through the windows, borrowed a pot of pain and a brush and ladder and began to paint his name on the front of the building. He had it fairly well done when a man came along and said:

"What are you doing there?"

"I am painting my name on this building."

"And what are you doing that for? That is my building."

"Oh, is that so? Then you are just the man I wanted to see."

Mr. Whitehead took the owner of the building to the aforementioned hotel and bought luncheon for him. He told him of his airplane dream, and Vaughan Thompson—for that was the name of the owner—was impressed by it. He said:

"It sounds very good to me. If it will help win the war I'm for it. I am going to the front tomorrow, and you can take the building and do what you want with it. And I have two hundred pounds cash, and as I don't expect to come back you can take that too, and use it the best way you can. It will be at your disposal in a month."

Mr. Thompson went away. He was killed, as he predicted, just a year from that day.

Contract for Six Flyers.

Mr. Whitehead, being a skilled mechanic, put the old machinery in the Thompson property in the best condition he could, made a few purchases on credit, and went to the Air Department with his proposal: "You may send your inspector to my machine shop any time you wish. I would like a contract to build six airplanes, and they will be as good as any other maker in the country can give you."

They gave him a contract for the six. An inspector reported that his factory was of sufficient capacity for a trifling order of that kind, and thereupon the 450-acre Whitehead Company began its career.

On the strength of his order for six government machines Mr. Whitehead was able to make such purchases as he needed for his small undertaking. He also borrowed $25 to pay two mechanics who helped him the first week. From that the industry grew. He surmounted obstacles that would have awed almost anyone, and did things which astonished the cleverest business men of England. But he achieved results. He finished the six machines in far less than the specified time, and then he got a contract for a hundred.

The works grew, and the orders grew also. He built a great airdrome facing a field of hundreds of acres, and to the amazement of government officials who thought his field was of no use as a training station because of the fact that river flowed through it, he buried the river. He diverted the stream so that it is not now to be seen on his property.

The lunch which he gave the other day marked the end of the second year of active full operation. There is no telling where it will end.

FUEL SUPPLY FREE

To Municipalities of the Province of Ontario

A view in the hardwood forests in the Algonquin Park

OWING to the seriousness of the fuel situation at the present time, the Government of Ontario would urge upon all the farmers or others who may have wood lots, to assist at this time by making provision for their fuel supply from such lots.

The Government would also draw the attention of the various Municipalities throughout the Province to the necessity of making some Municipal action to secure fuel supply. To this end the Government has decided to issue to any Municipality in Ontario a permit to cut fire wood in Algonquin Park or from other Crown Lands free of charge. For particulars as to localities, conditions of cutting, etc., apply to

The Quality Goes Clear Through

GRAY-DORT

Intention and Ability

You are sure of a good motor car only when you know that the manufacturer habitually means to make a good car and has the resources to do it.

The greatness of the Gray institution is the best evidence of our intention to put the last cents worth of value into every car we make.

The volume of the Gray business is the best evidence of our capacity to do what we mean to do.

Sixty-five years ago Wm. Gray founded this business. From a small waggon-shop it grew to be the greatest in Canada. Only our intention to give more, and our ability to give more, can account for this amazing growth.

This same intention and ability now marks the manufacture of Gray-Dort motor cars. The same unswerving standards of surplus value to the customer, the same keen, well-knit organization of mechanics, proud of work well done.

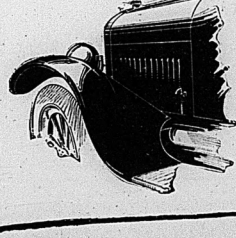

The new Gray-Dort embodies all the good features that won instant success for former models. The 4-cylinder motor is a triumph of smooth, economical speed and power. The chassis is sturdy and quiet. The springs are long. The upholstery is deep. The equipment is absolutely complete from electric starting and lighting to the tools. New lines of beauty have been given this model. *The fine passenger touring car is $1,125; the three-passenger fleur-de-lys roadster is $995; the Gray-Dort special, beautifully finished and with extra details of equipment is $125 above the list. Many Narrow Escapes For Flt.-Lt. Junor

Toronto Aviator, Now Missing, Has Been Shot Down Five Times

TORONTO, May 3.—That Flight-Lieut. Kenneth W. Junor, M.C., son of William Junor, 106 Jameson avenue, who is officially reported missing, was in some of the fiercest air duels in connection with the Huns' latest offensive, is indicated in letters to his comrades.

Lieut. Junor had some wonderful escapes while fighting thousands of feet in the air. He was shot down twice in three days. Once he fought two Hun fliers alone for several hours five miles behind the German lines and by daring flying managed to drive the moff and get back to his lines. When he landed his machine was full of holes and collapsed as he landed.

On another occasion he was with a scouting squadron when he was attacked by five Hun machines. He had a miraculous escape and might have met death but for another companion of his squadron who dropped down and drove the Germans away. Junor's machine was riddled with bullets, the petrol tank was shot away, the engine jammed, and he came down from 10,000 feet to 2,000 before he gained control of his machine. Parts of the propeller blades were shot away. Since he took to the air, Lieut. Junor has had five machines shot from under him.

He was with the 56th Scout Squadron, a famous unit, as there are two flyers in the squadron who have won the V.C.

Noted German Spy Caught in New York

NEW YORK, May 1.—The Federal authorities have arrested here a German naval lieutenant-commander who is said to be the head of enemy propaganda in America, having been delegated to this work by Count von Bernstorff when the former German Ambassador left this country. Pending other expected arrests, this prisoner's name was withheld.

The arrest of the German naval officer, who has thus far figured in the records of the Federal authorities as "Lieutenant-Commander X" follows on the heels of the apprehension Saturday of Marie D'Victorica, alleged to have been one of his most valuable lieutenants.

The woman, who is detained at Bellevue Hospital, where she was taken after her arrest suffering from the effects of a narcotic, confessed that she had received about $40,000 from the German naval officer since her arrival in this country, January, 1917, Federal authorities assert.

She denied the allegation of the Government that she used the money in furthering the dissemination of pro-German propaganda here. The money, she said, she spent in living expenses in various expensive hotels in and near this city. She claimed she is the owner of a large estate in Chile, and that the money she had received represented interests on her properties, which had been managed by the German.

ASSOCIATE OF BERNSTORFF

Lieut. Commander X" is said to have come to the United States in December, 1916, four months before the United States entered the War, and stopped at a hotel where he associated with Count von Bernstorff and other leading Germans.

He is said to have been the pay-master of German agents after the departure of von Bernstorf, and to have directed on a large extent the German propaganda in this country. He is also reported to have directed German activities in Brazil and other South American countries.

One of the special forms of work in which he was engaged here, it was said, was trying to induce disaffected young Irishmen to join the English Navy with a view to placing bombs on British war vessels and causing their destruction.

The man is believed by the Federal authorities to have expended millions of dollars on the western hemisphere in the past sixteen months.

An Old Friend with a New Name

LONG before Labatt's Brews come to the fermenting tuns, they have passed through the crucible which give them the flavor, the body, the tonic quality which has made the old style Labatt's Ale, Canada's favorite for over eighty years.

Old London Brew, the new brew which Labatt's have put on the market, is made with the same ingredients, with the same care and skill, and by the same processes as the ale you have known and used for so many years.

Brought Down 50 German Planes in Less Than a Year

Rene Touck is New Star Fighter of France—Carries Fourteen Palms—Says Chief Thing in Manoeuvring Opponent —Easy to Fight Seven

(By Walter Duranty)

With the French Armies—If there be any truth in the theory of rebirth, the spirit of D'Artagnan may well live again in the body of Rene Fonck, the star air fighter of France, who, in less than a year (he entered a battleplane escadrille last May), has downed 33 German planes, officially certified by three independent witnesses and more than fifty in actual fact. Your correspondent met the "Ace of Aces" in a quiet moment in the war zone, where the work of the group of which he is the most famous member was suspended on account of the bad weather. Fonck, who has hitherto refused to talk for publication, consented to give his views on air fighting, when reminded of what an important role the airmen were playing.

Like Garros, Fonck more resembles a college athlete than the average Frenchman. At first sight one might take him to be a short, stocky quarterback, sweater and all, were if not for his uniform and double row ribbons. He wears the War Cross and the Military Medal, and is, at 23, the youngest officer of the Legion of Honor. In his breast are no less than fourteen gold palms for citations—he now has seventeen altogether—two gold and two silver palm decorations. But his round face, with a fair complexion, budding mustache and long curled head back from the forehead, has exactly the same expression of boyish confidence in proved ability as that of a hero of the track diamond or gridiron.

Air warfare requires no long years of training, like the land service, he said. Fonck himself is so exactly the type of thousands of the young men joining the various Allied armies that it seems impossible that they should not be equally successful, if given the same opportunity.

Although he never mentioned the word swordmanship, the whole tenor of his conversation suggested fighting of the D'Artagnan style—but one against one, but one against all comers, simply because that "one knew" was skilled enough to break off the combat at will and return to the attack with an irresistible thrust when he had maneuvered his opponent into a dangerous position.

In Air-fighter's Trade

For Fonck four things count as an airfighter's assets: Flying ability, accuracy of shooting, automatic swiftness and decision, and coolness. Unlike many great fliers, Guynemer for example—he does not put shooting first.

"Maneuvering your opponent is the chief thing," he said. "Directly I engage an enemy I can judge what line to take. You can tell from the outset just what quality of pilot is opposed to you; and must act according. If I have never fought Richthofen, but I am certain I should know in ten seconds that I was in grips with him if we met, and he would know, too. The way a pilot handles his machine is an unfailing indication of his calibre."

The remark might have come from the mouth of D'Artagnan himself, talking about his battles. Fonck continued:

"Don't believe the stories about the most successful airmen diving from a great height and abandoning the steep spiral if the enemy is missed. That may have been true once, but at present such tactics are impossible. You must fight and fight close. The victorious aviator is the man who knows best how to handle his machine so as to meet changing situations most adeptly, and who has the quickness of decision to translate that ability at once into action."

"But against heavy odds," I said. "Surely you are at a disadvantage when several attack you at once."

"Not in the least," he replied. "You just give ground and manoeuvre them!" he emphasized the word—"and then go for the one who is in the worst position." Again it was D'Artagnan speaking.

Four Items Fought Seven

Fonck continued: "The greatest number I ever fought alone was seven, at Verdun. I dodged around until I got my opportunity and then went for one and downed him. A moment or two later I got another and gave a third more than he liked, so that he made off. That left four. I dived at one, and although I missed him, came so closely" (Fonck begins firing at 150 yards and continues until he is five yards distant, when he averters for an instant to avoid a collision) "that he decided to quit also. When I wheeled to tackle the rest they were streaks on the horizon."

Fonck reckons that his best performance, but in the present battle he downed two out of three of Richthofen's "Tango Circus" in a five-minute combat above Mont-Didier. The "Circus" follows the "stoke," and members of the crack French flying corps are called whenever they go along the front. Last summer they met in Flanders last August at Verdun and a week ago near Mont-Didier.

I asked Fonck about his sensations while flying.

"It's very interesting," he said coolly in a tone that might have been borrowed from the swordsman of Dumas. "One is so keen on the game that he never thinks about danger. Sometimes, after it is over, I find myself sweating, but I suppose that is one excitement plus physical exertion. It is hard work handling a fighting plane. You've got to be in tip-top condition. I know there are good pilots who play the ped on brave but they lose their nerve or get killed. You need be absolutely fit to stand the racket."

NEW GENERAL SUPERINTENDENT OF ONTARIO LINES WAS HONORED BY COLLEAGUES.

MONTREAL, May 3.—Mr. C. H. Bowker, who has been general superintendent of the Eastern lines of the Grand Trunk for the past five years, and who has been appointed general superintendent of Ontario lines, was honored by his colleagues in railroad service on the occasion of his leaving Montreal for Toronto, and there was a gathering of nearly one hundred representatives of the whole official family and of all departments of the railroad, at a war dinner, Mr. P. C. Martin, general freight agent of the road presiding.

The splendid work done by Mr. Bowker while general superintendent of Eastern Lines, and more particularly during the period of abnormal stress of war traffic, was alluded to by the various speakers, who stated that the work accomplished by Mr. Bowker would remain noteworthy among great railway operating achievements. On behalf of his colleagues and other friends, Mr. Bowker was presented with a silver service, the presentations being made by the Mr. L. G. Coleman, superintendent of the Ottawa division of the Grand Trunk.

On behalf of the Order of Railroad Conductors, Mr. T. Todd general chairman, congratulated Mr. Bowker on the splendid manner in which he had dealt at all times with the men under his charge. There were no grievances outstanding between the Order of Railroad Conductors and the Grand Trunk, and on no railway on the continent were the members of the order more at home than on the Grand Trunk. Mr. John Maloney, general chairman of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, also expressed the warm feeling of regard in which Mr. Bowker was held by the trainmen.

One of the larger railroads in Brazil is experimenting with pulverized coal, blown into the locomotive fire boxes, as fuel, and is meeting with much success.

The Road of Much Travel!

IN order that war efforts may be unimpeded, we have placed at the disposal of the military authorities for their exclusive use, certain of our long distance telephone circuits in various parts of the province.

Meanwhile, we are hurrying necessary construction of additional facilities to keep up the quality of our long distance service.

¶ When you are obliged to wait for a connection, please do not overlook the fact that the war has made unprecedented demands, among other things, on telephone service as on the supply of telephone materials.

A Ford Car Takes the Place of all These Things

WHEN you own a Ford you can do away with many articles that are a source of continuous expense to the man who still drives a horse. For instance, not only your driving-horse and buggy, but the single harness, blankets, whips, currycombs, brushes, horse-shoes, pitch-forks, feed-bins, etc.

In their place you have a speedy, dependable, dignified, roomy Ford Car—complete in itself. It is vastly superior to the narrow, cramped buggy that travels so slowly. And when a Ford is standing idle it does not eat three meals a day, and it requires no "looking after."

A Ford will save you time, trouble, and money. It is the utility car for the busy farmer and his family.

STEEL GARMENTS OF PEDESTRIANS

Prédicts Ten Year War If Germany Occupies Siberia

London, England, May 2.—"Let Siberia be once occupied by Germany throughout its four thousand miles of railway, by say nothing of the vast built to the northward, which nearly joins it to Alaska, and the world may look forward to ten years of real war, compared to which that which has been going on for three and a half years will be a mere fourth of July celebration."

This is the opinion of Chester W. Purington, chairman of the American Committee of Engineers in London, whose knowledge of Siberia and its geography covers a period of twenty years' mining operations in that vast country, and who possesses perhaps the most complete file of information in London concerning Siberia.

"I speak of Siberia, not of Russia," he said. "In other words, of a country occupying thirty-six per cent. of the circumference of the earth's northern hemisphere; of a country 6,000,000 square miles in area, or one hundred times the size of the British Isles, and of one comprising 6,000 miles of coast line on the Pacific Ocean and its indentations. And in this vast region of population averages five human beings to the square mile.

"This country, embracing one-third the total of Asia, it is safe to say, does not contain 2,000,000 persons who can read or write.

"Before the war the business of Vladivostock and Nikolaievsk-on-Amur was mainly in German hands. Before the German outfoil at Vladivostock, was the manager of the Kunst Albers, of Hamburg. This firm, with branches in all East Siberian cities, had numerous contracts and even built fortifications for the Russian government. Datian was allowed to remain at liberty for two years after the war commenced and was finally exiled to Turukansk on the Yenisei River.

"Some forty or fifty German clerks employed by the firm were seized the first week of the war and sent to Verkolensk and to Kirensk, on the Lena river. The last time I saw the Verkolensk prisoners was in July, 1915, when they were bathing in the river as my boat passed the village, en route to the Lenskoi mines.

"The Allgemeine Elektrische Gesellschaft, of Berlin, maintained a large office building at Vladivostock, and all government installations at Vladivostock, Nikolsk-Ussuri, Habarovsk, Nikolaievsk, and Blagoveschensk were made by them.

"A German club, at which all the German agents and clerks congregated and mostly took their meals, was maintained by Kunst Albers.

"The German General Staff knows more of the Russian Far East already than any other general staff, except the Japanese. The British Foreign Office undoubtedly was informed of these German activities, as was also the American government, through the most excellent consular representatives, which both nations had at the front. But looking at the matter in the light of what I have referred to, is it not clear that Germany in her proposed envelopment of Siberia from the west will be but joining up on the Pacific with a section of Asia which she hopes to make an impregnable base, the foundations of which already are laid and from which to extend her foul tentacles?

"Now is the time to act! It is not too late. Keep your eyes on Siberia. There are more approaches to Siberia than Vladivostock. There is the Amur river, navigable for fifteen hundred miles. There is Port Ayan on the Okhotsk Sea, giving entrance by only two hundred miles overland road to one of the great tributaries of the River Lena. There is the western Arctic route via the mouth of the Yenisei, only twenty-five hundred miles sea route from British ports, and already proved commercially practicable.

"Now is no time to talk of the yellow peril. The peril is Germany. Shall the Allies at this awful moment fail to use the Chinese nation of 400,000,000 already roused against the foul vermin of Berlin? Cover Europe, if necessary, with Chinese. Let Asia teach civilization to Potsdam. If not, let Asia exterminate the German race, lock, stock and barrel. The Germans have sought a holocaust. Let them have it.

"It is being said that there are two hundred thousand German prisoners in Siberia. There are not twenty-five thousand. There are five hundred thousand Slovenes, Slovaquins, Bohemians and Hungarian so-called prisoners in Siberia, but they will not fight for Germany, even if they are told be armed by the Bolsheviki, which they cannot.

"I have passed miles of prisoner trains in Siberia in 1914 and 1915, and probably have not seen fewer than fifty thousand prisoners of war in these trains, all Austrian, and not one German. Thg few civilian prisoners, German business men, such as I have mentioned, constitute all the Germans which the best informed engineers and franchise know of in Siberia. But German troops will be in Siberia soon. The Germans are a determined and energetic people. Once they arrive they will soon set about organizing the country. What then? And yet we talk of finishing off Germany on the western front and worry about food tickets—worse than belching while Rome is burning."

JUDGES' SALARIES WILL BE REDUCED

OTTAWA, May 3.—In the Senate today Senator Ross' bill amending the Judges Act was given a second reading. The main provision of the bill is that judges, upon being retired, shall receive a pension of only two-thirds of his salary instead of the full amount as at present. Two other provisions are:

1. That no judge shall be permitted to act as a member of any commission, except as a member of any board or committee appointed under the provisions of the Conciliation and Labor Act, or the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act; and

2. That every judge shall, in the month of October in each year file with the Minister of Justice a statement to the effect that he has complied with the terms of the Act during the year, if not, in the manner, in which he has departed from it. Any judge who fails to file such a statement shall have his salary withheld.

Literary Notes

SOBER TO A DEGREE

Many stories clever about the name and fame of Mr. E. B. Wood, says Sir John Willison in his Reminiscences appearing in The Canadian Magazine. He lived in a less arid time and was not always neglectful of his opportunities. It is said that he and Mr. Edward Farrer were once opposing speakers at a series of political meetings. At one of these meetings a voice observed that Mr. Wood was going in the full sweep and majesty of deliverance that he was "drunk as a lord," the night before. Mr. Wood paused and uttered a grave and feeling protest against the accusation. Turning to Mr. Farrer he said: "There sits the man who has been opposing me from many platforms and I desire to shield him, but I have faith that he will not do me injustice. After last night's meeting we spent the time together until we retired. We are opposed politically, but we respect each other and have friendly personal relations. I ask Mr. Farrer to answer my accuser." Mr. Farrer arose and declared with solemnity emphasis that Mr. Wood had been just as sober as he was. The story, which may be purely apocryphal, although

SEEDS.

Make every seed count this year. The amateur gardener has a weakness for using more seed than is absolutely necessary. Three poor overcrowded plants will not produce as much as one good strong one, which has had room to develop perfectly. Through the medium of the War Garden Bulletin specific directions will be given from time to time as to the quantity of seed to be used in planting the various kinds of vegetables, how deep ous kinds of vegetables, how deep you should go and the distance that should be allowed between the different rows.

Seed is scarce—that is the chief reason why you should not be prodigal in your use of it. Every plant in its place is as gold—but every surplus plant is a weed. Make sure before you start putting in your seeds next week that the soil is in the right condition to receive them. It should be loose and friable. Young seedlings do not require very rich soil in the first instance but it is absolutely essential that it be well "worked."

Remember conditions in a country as large as Canada vary. Some portions are weeks ahead of others. These bulletins will in strike about the average for Canada as a whole,

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, May 6.—The British line has been advanced on a considerable front between the Somme and Ancre rivers, west and southwest of Morlancourt, says the official statement from headquarters today. The British positions in the neighborhood of Locon and the Lawe River, on the southern leg of the Lys salient in Flanders have been improved as the result of local fighting.

Spinning Nose Dive Carried Young Cadet to Instant Death

Cadet Herbert Paul, No. 153,008, was instantly killed in a crash at Camp Mohawk at 9.30 on Saturday afternoon. It is believed the accident was due to a spinning nose dive. Cadet Paul was a Canadian training with the Royal Air Force and his next of kin is E. Paul, Springhill, Nova Scotia. He was a young man of great promise, bright and genial and had the makings of a brilliant aviator. He was a prime favorite in the camp and his passing is regretted.

Cadet Paul was 1800 feet in the air in a solo flight when his machine was observed to begin a spinning nose dive and escape from the control of the young aviator. The plane struck the ground with great force and was smashed to pieces, the cadet being instantly killed.

HALIFAX, May 6.—The Dominion Government steamer Stanley, reported in distress northeast of East Point, P.E.I., while en route to the Magdalen Islands from Louisburg, C.B., is still drifting helplessly in the ice. The Stanley reported that she had effected temporary repairs to her rudder, but that the ice was so closely packed that she could not make headway.

CHICAGO, May 6.—A bomb explosion in the County Jail yesterday afternoon injured several prisoners. The explosion was said to have been a detail of a jail-delivery plot. Twenty prisoners made a desperate attempt to escape, but were clubbed into submission by the guards.

The blast blew a hole in the north wall of the jail, but otherwise did no material damage. Policemen on motorcycles arrived and scompleted the restoration of order.

ROBBING BIRDS' NESTS, MADE NATIONAL CRIME

OTTAWA, May 6.—The old and often cruel sport of boys in robbing birds' nests and making rival collections of birds' eggs is now officially put on the list of national crimes. The sport is banned, according to an order in Council just passed. The order is passed under the provision of the migratory birds convention, passed last session.

The new regulations provide for the protection of migratory game birds, migratory insectivorous and migratory non-game birds, which inhabit Canada during the whole or any part of the year. New close seasons are established for ducks geese, brant or rails, and other edible wild fowl, from December 16 to August 31, both days inclusive. The killing, capturing, injuring or molesting of insectivorous birds, their eggs or nests, is prohibited throughout the year except where special permits are granted to reognized museum; or for scientific purposes. These insectivorous birds include robins, woodpeckers, wrens, meadow larks, humming birds, whip-poor-wills, thrushes, and all other perching birds which feed entierly or chiefly on insects." A close season for ten years is proclaimed for cranes, and nearly all shore birds, and a close season for five years on wood duck and eider-duck.

Greatest Mine Field Laid to Foil U-Boats

Will Embrace 121,782 Square Miles, the Base Forming a Line Between Norway and Scotland—Peak Extends Northward Into the Arctic Circle

LONDON, May 6.—According to Archibald Hurd in the Daily Telegraph, the area in the North Sea, recently announced by the British Government as prohibited as dangerous to shipping after May 15 will be the greatest mine field ever laid for the special purpose of foiling submarines. It will embrace 121,782 square miles, the base forming a line between Norway and Scotland and the peak extending northward into the Arctic Circle.

Archibald Hurd, who is an authority on naval subjects, says that there has been a vast improvement in British mines since Admiral Jellicoe became First Sea Lord. Hurd points out that the creating of this barrier across the northern exit of the North Sea was an enormous task, involving 12 or more months and estimates that tens of thousands of mines were required to cover the area. He suggests that when Admiral Jellicoe made his famous prophecy that the submarine menace would be met by August he had this mine field in mind.

MAYOR CHURCH CONTRIBUTES TO ENTENTE CORDIALE

MONTREAL, May 6.—Mayor Church was instrumental to the entente cordiale between Ontario and Quebec by an interview while a guest at the Windsor here, in which he paid striking tribute to the gallantry and skill of the youthful French-Canadian aviators at Camp Borden.

"They are adventurous, daring and skilful," he said, "and no better testimony of the fact is needed than the statement that only a single accident has occurred amongst the 500 or more French-Canadians in training for the Flying Corps."

Toronto, the Mayor continued, was glad to see so many brave boys from Quebec, and the citizens welcomed with open arms the French-speaking arrivals, the real people of Toronto being anxious to show their desire for friendship and harmony between the races.

The change of sentiment in the West and in Ontario towards French Canada was most noticeable, he declared, and he welcomed the improved spirit which was to be met on both sides. He was particularly gratified by General Mewburn's tribute to the French-Canadian recruiting, and said that during his short stay here he had been able to convince himself that the Minister spoke the truth.

Mayor Church declared himself optimistic as to the future relations between the Provinces.

Fifteen Billion Baker's Estimate For War Outlay

WASHINGTON, May 6.—Secretary of War Baker's estimates for the immediate war program, as submitted to the military committee, total approximately $15,000,000,000 he said recently. The principal increases are in the ordnance bureau.

The Secretary said the airplane program had not met expectations, and blamed the situation on over-confidence of the Government and lack of ability of contractors to fulfill their contracts as speedily as they promised. He said the Liberty motor was beginning to be produced in quantity and that it was an unqualified success, so much so that foreign Governments wanted to use it.

He told of the wheels of various bureaus, in the light of the knowledge he obtained in Europe, his trip, he said, opened his eyes to the magnitude of operations.

Of the gigantic $15,000,000,000 appropriation estimate compiled, $11,000,000,000 is set aside for the quartermaster's corps and ordnance. More than a billion will go for building railroads and greater training camp facilities in France. And while the exact figure has not yet been determined upon, proposed aircraft production will call for approximately $1,500,000,000, it is estimated.

BRITISH PREMIER VISITS BATTLE FRONT

BRINGS BACK CHEERY MESSAGE FROM BATTLE FRONT—GERMANS RENDERED GOOD SERVICE IN ACCELERATING MOVEMENT OF AMERICAN TROOPS AND MAKING ALLIED UNITY OF COMMAND A REALITY — "BUDDIES" ARE FIRST CLASS FIGHTING MEN AND ARE POURING INTO FRANCE AT RAPID RATE.

LONDON, May 6.—Premier Lloyd George has returned from his visit to France, in which he attended the sessions of the supreme war council and went to the front. He spoke enthusiastically of the American troops.

"A good number are already there," said Mr. Lloyd George. "Many more will pour in steadily during this month. The French who saw them fighting in the battle lower down the line said they were first-class fighting material, full of courage and resource, and all very keen.

"The Germans have rendered at least two great services to the allied cause," continued the premier. "They have accelerated the advent of the American troops and they have made unity of command at last a reality. The French and British are fighting in close comradeship, each with full appreciation of the qualities of the other."

"Have you any message to bring from the army to the people?" he was asked. To this he replied:

"The message I bring from the British army to the people at home is: 'Be of good cheer. We are all right.'"

OUR DEFENSE

In the spring we may be attacked at any moment. Toxic poisons pile up within us after a hard winter, and we feel "run-down," tired out, blue and discouraged. This is the time to put our house in order—cleanse the system, get fresh blood into our arteries. You can obtain an alterative extract from Blood root, Golden Seal, Stone and Queen's root, Cherry bark, rolled into a sugar-coated tablet and sold by most druggists, in fifty-cent vials, as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This blood tonic, in tablet or liquid form, is just what you need for "Spring Fever," or fine lack of ambition. It will fill you full of vim, vigor and vitality.

Lyrian, Ont.—"When my little daughter was five years old her liver was so sluggish that I feared she might be troubled with habitual constipation. I got a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and decided to try it with her, giving her small doses. I found that it not only helped her liver but it also proved to be a splendid tonic as well. It was such a splendid tonic for her I would never hesitate to give it to her again if she needed it, and I take pleasure in recommending it to other mothers whose little ones seem to need a liver regulator and blood maker."—Mrs. Louisa Brazee, Box 118.

PARADISE WITHOUT A GIRL

Harold Lockwood appears at the Palace tonight in Wednesday matinee daily in the 7-part Metro wonderplay "Paradise Garden" which is the story of a man who has never seen a girl. Then one day pretty Tina Hebberton wanders across his vision. She is a good girl,—the right sort. But she becomes Marcia Wyck Wyck, as a young Satan in petticoats, and she teaches the hitherto spotless young man the knowledge of good and evil. The theme presents great possibilities of which full advantage is taken in the picture. Three other quality pictures will also be presented.

"DOUG" FAIRBANKS IN "HEADIN' SOUTH"

From the sun-beaten desert of Arizona to the snow-capped mountains of Truckee, Cal., is the contrast of the scenery offered by "Doug" Fairbanks in his new picture, "Headin' South," in which a rip-roaring tale of Mexican raiders, which will be the attraction at Griffin's tonight to-Wednesday. As the mysterious rider of the desert, Fairbanks personifies thrilling romance, and rescues the girl (Catharine McDonald) a recent discovery in films, in an unusual acrobatic manner.

On the same programme with the above offering, Mr. Sonia Markova appears in a five part Fox play, "A Painted Madonna." Mme Markova, practically unknown today, will soon take a high place among screen stars. Her acting and her beautiful expressive face will stamp themselves indelibly on intelligent motion picture followers. Three other selected photoplays will also be screened.

"UNCLE TOM'S CABIN"

Wm. H. Kibble's world's greatest production of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" will appear at Griffin's Opera House next Friday, May 10th, with a childlily's matinee at 4.15, and usual evening performance. Mr. Wm. H. Kibble has successfully solved the problem of removing the old and the new "Uncle Tom's Cabin" into a big spectacular play that leaves out nothing worth retaining of either the straight method or the circus method. It will be a real loss to miss witnessing. Fifty people are with the company and two Pullman Parlor Cars, each seventy feet in length, are used to transport this mammoth aggregation from city to city.

POULTRY DEPARTMENT

Importance of Early Hatching

HATCH EARLY. Make every effort to get your chicks out this spring before the 21th of May. The lighter breeds may be hatched up to the first of June, but as a rule, the heavier breeds hatched later than the 24th of May are not satisfactory. At least ninety per cent. of the pullets in Canada were not laying during November and December the past winter because they were hatched too late.

If you are depending upon your own flock for breeding eggs mate ten to fifteen days before setting. Test the eggs for fertility so that you will be sure you are not setting many without food fertility. If you are doing incubators set early but do not overfill more than three hatches. If you can get all the chicks out in one batch so much the better. If hens are only use some system. (See Exhibition Circular No. 1 Experimental Farm, Ottawa.) If the hens are too slow in becoming broody see if you can get some custom hatching done or purchase day-old chicks. If not in touch with good breeders in your vicinity, or write your nearest Experimental Farm.

There is more money wasted each year because of late hatched pullets than is often made from the rest of the flock.

NO LATE HATCHES. Do not be misinformed. Late hatched chickens as a rule do not pay. "One mon hatch" will not help the Empire. Better to sell the eggs and save the feed.

IMPORTANT POINTS

During the hatching season the poultry house and particularly the nest should be kept clean. Clean water and a supply of whole grain should be accessible to the sitters and a dust bath should be provided also. If many than one hatch is being taken off clean out and disinfect the nest after each hatch and put in new sod and fresh litter. Dust the hen with insect powder before putting her in the nest and again in a day or two before hatching. Dust the nests with the chickens. It is a good plan to put into the dust bath a little dry sulphur or ground tobacco.

Be sure also that the house is free from mites. These little pests get into the cracks and corners of the building and at night, as the hens are roosting, they come out of their hiding place, get on the hen's body and it does not take very many of them to make the hen so uneasy that she cannot sit. In some cases the mites become so troublesome that they actually worry the hens to death.

HOW TO GET RID OF MITES

Clean out the house and thoroughly sweep, not forgetting the windows, walls and ceiling. When this is all swept out clean, use a garden hose or a stiff brush and hot water. See that everything is dry before and crevices is washed out. After this is done allow the house to dry for a while and if everything then appears to be clean, use a good disinfectant and be sure that the solution is forced by the spray or brush right into the cracks and crevices. If the mites are bad, use boiling water followed by coal oil and a liquid lice killer or lice paint. Be sure that this goes into the cracks and crevices and when you have gone over your house thoroughly according to the above treatment, in all probability the mites will be exterminated, but it is advisable in the course of three or four days again to inspect for the mites and perhaps to repeat the dose once more.

Air-Cadet W. F. Annis Succumbs to Injuries After Aeroplane Accident

CAMP BORDEN, May 6.—Lieut. W. F. Annis, of the 11th Wing, Royal Air Force, died in the camp hospital, Camp Borden, as the result of injuries sustained in an aeroplane accident. Lieut. Annis went overseas two years ago with the 58th Battalion and spent five months in France. He was wounded and buried in a shell hole shortly before the battle of Vimy Ridge. After being invalided home he enlisted in the Royal Air Forces and was sent to Camp Borden about a month ago, where he was instructor. In the accident his skull was fractured and arm and leg broken. When his parents arrived he was unconscious. He was born in Scarboro' and attended Riverdale Collegiate. Later he entered Toronto University.

THE MAKING OF A FAMOUS MEDICINE

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Is Prepared For Woman's Use.

A visit to the laboratory where this famous remedy is made, would interest even the casual looker-on with the reliability, accuracy, skill and cleanliness which attends the making of this great medicine for woman's ills.

Over 350,000 pounds of various herbs are used annually and all have to be gathered at the season of the year when their natural juices and medicinal substances are at their best.

The most successful solvents are used to extract the medicinal properties from these herbs.

Every utensil and tank that comes in contact with the medicine is sterilized and as a final precaution in cleanliness the medicine is pasteurized and sealed in sterile bottles.

It is the wonderful combination of roots and herbs, together with the skill and care used in its preparation which has made this famous medicine so successful in the treatment of female ills.

The letters from women who have been restored to health by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which we continually publish attest to its virtue.

Military News

IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Cadet John McGaw, who was seriously injured by falling almost 2,000 feet at Camp Mohawk is still in a very serious condition. The nature of the injuries received was such that his chances of recovery are not the brightest, although the physicians at Queen's Military Hospital hope to see the young aviator recover

3,000 MEN FOR BARRIEFIELD

Barriefield Camp will not be so small this year as one would suppose. The camp will open on the 15th of the month, and under the new feature of the Military Service Act men will be coming in at the rate of 200 a day. It is expected that 3,000 men will report before the camp opens, and within five days after that there will be 1,000 more. These will be sent overseas in drafts, although many will remain in camp for some length of time. In addition to the Depot Battalion, there will be the Ordnance Corps, Queen's Field Ambulance, Army Service Corps, Engineers, and possibly the Engineers who are at present stationed at Brockville. Altogether there will likely be about 3,000 men in camp this summer.

NEW FURLOUGH MEN FIT

The First Contingent men are appearing before medical boards, in accordance with the new regulations, and the majority of them are being found unfit for further service in the trenches. While the exact number of men appearing before the boards could not be ascertained, it is stated that most of the men are not fit for further service and will therefore be kept in Canada for duty.

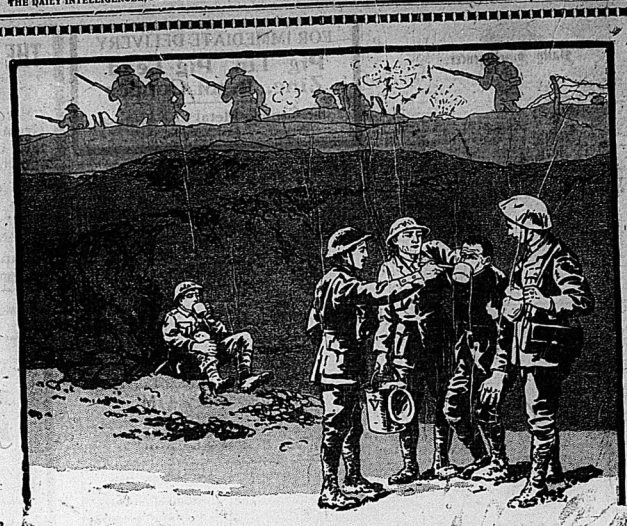

Called by Death

REV. TOBIAS MEYERS.

On Saturday night Rev. Tobias Meyers passed away at his late home on Grove street in this city, after losing in failing health for some time. Deceased was a superannuated minister of the Methodist church. The revered gentleman was born in the township of Sidney near the town of Trenton 78 years ago, and was a son of the late Mr. John Meyers. In the year 1863 he entered the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church, after an educational career at Albert College in this city. After a faithful and efficient pastorage at Belleville he was stationed at the following circuits: Madoc, Campbellford, Clarke, Oakwood, Odessa, Brooklyn, Uxbridge, Frankford, Northam, Brighton, Salem, Wilton, Plainfield and Demorestville, where there are lasting fruits of his earnest and devout labors. For the past ten years the deceased had lived a retired life in Belleville. Mr. Meyers was much respected by all who knew him. An aged widow and one daughter, Mrs. H. Phillips, survive.

CHARLES STEWART

Mr. Charles Stewart a well known and highly respected citizen who resided at No. 7 Pine street in this city, passed away last evening at the Belleville hospital. Two weeks ago he was taken seriously ill. In 1859 he was born in Shrewsbury, England, and came to this city 37 years ago, residing here ever since. For some years Mr. Stewart was engaged as a shipper of cheese, and for the past nine years had been employed as shipper with the Canada Steel Company, Limited. He was very popular with his fellow employees, and was a member of St. Thomas' church, and a member of Belleville Lodge No. 125, A. F. & A. M. Surviving is a widow and four sons, George and Charles of Calgary, William of Belleville, and Joseph with the C.E.F. overseas, "Somewhere in France," and one daughter, Mrs. Jas. Staples, of Trenton. He is also survived by two brothers in England.

RESPONSIBILITY!

AS the boys go marching into battle—theirs is the responsibility of saving the Empire, even though they lose their ALL.

They give their last drop of blood! Could our last cent repay the debt? Yet of our wealth we are asked to give but a fraction.

The folks at home sent them. Let not one of us forget our responsibility!

Canada's Gift Abroad

It is the climax of war that tries men's minds, bodies and souls to the uttermost. It is to mind, body and spirit that the Y.M.C.A. ministers.

Let not one Canadian hero go into battle without the inspiration the Y.M.C.A. gives. For it is a powerful factor in morale, and morale (fighting spirit) wins battles! Nor let one "walking wounded" stagger out looking in vain for the refreshment that saves lives in crises.

Our American brothers were asked to give thirty-five millions to their Y.M.C.A. They answered with fifty millions! Canadians are asked for $2,250,000. Remember YOUR share of the responsibility—will YOU help?

For the boys' sake—Be Generous!

TOMMY ATKINS, PRIZE GRUMBLER.

The British Tommy is some grumbler, and the faults he can find about every phase of military life are so ingenious as to be rich with humor; but his grumbling proclivities do not interfere with his fighting qualities and his dogged bravery and spirit of never-give-in shows that grumbling is just a side-line, his safety-valve in fact, to keep him from getting lonesome between battles—so it is with British people everywhere, we are great kickers but we line up just the same and show an unbroken front to the enemy.

FREE BUTTER, CHEESE AND EGGS.

A lady from the country was complaining bitterly of the sudden cancellation of all military exemptions for young men from 20 to 22. She said, "Why don't they take the city chaps and leave our lads on the farms?". Just what is being done, my dear lady—the call is the same to all, your lad and my lad must go, the Germans are on Kemmel Hill and the hungry Hun beast looks longingly across the water to the peace and plenty of Canada and licks his lean chops in anticipation of the feast in store if he can break down the allied barriers and reach the sea. If the line breaks, on the western front there will be free cheese, free butter, free eggs and free everything for the Huns with freedom gone forever from the free peoples of the world. We must trust Sir Robert Borden when he says the call is urgent and brooks no half-way measures. When he tells us that he knows more than we know about the war situation we must try to grasp the deep significance of that statement which we may be sure is not idly made. Kemmel Hill is taken and Vimy Ridge, dyed with the blood of our Canadian heroes, must not be lost through our selfishness in this great crisis when world freedom is threatened by the forces of world slavery.

The farmer, however, is favored above the city chap, even in this emergency call, for orders have been issued from Ottawa that only sons of farmers, if working on farms, will not be subject to the draft. This covers also only sons at home, who have brothers serving in the army.

The city is hard hit. For instance, The Intelligencer office loses expert type-setting machine operators, pressmen and job printers, and apprentices who have been carefully trained are at just beginning to be an asset intead of a liability. Industry in every line from the ground up has been hard hit by the cancellation of exemptions, but it is better to limp for a while now so that we may be able to walk upright later on, relieved of the crushing weight of the German menace.

HUNS HASTENING THEIR DEFEAT.

The longer the German offensive on the Western front is continued with its great sacrifice of life without corresponding military advantage the greater will be the gain of the Allies over the enemy in man power. Man power means everything in this war, and the enemy is recklessly sacrificing man power without gaining any strategical advantage, while the Allies are conserving theirs and taking advantage of every false move of the enemy to strike hard and frequent blows at the Hun war machine. Territory is nothing in this supreme struggle, the conservation of man power everything for the final battles which must be decisive. Time is battling on the side of the Allies and the great enemy offensive which Berlin boasted would drive the hated English across the Channel in over a month old now and all that the enemy has to show for it is the acquisition of shell-torn terrain, fought over many times, and the doubtful victory of the capture of Kemmel Hill which has been rendered almost untenable by a constant tornado of steel from massed batteries of the Allies, and ceaselessly cleansed by the bombs of low-flying battleplanes of the Allied air forces.

The week closed with a lull on the battlefront—the enemy is taking stock and no doubt feverishly planning further desperate offensive measures. There is every appearance now of an enemy diversion on the Italian battlefront, where the Austrian armies have been inactive for some time, although S.O.S. calls from Berlin have been insistent to start something and start big to draw attention away from the debacle on the Western front.

Further desperate fighting may be looked for, but the enemy will have to produce something more formidable than shown thus far to cause much of a dent in the allied line, and it is inconceivable that the Kaiser has sacrificed so many men without throwing in every ounce of energy and resource into the bloody maelstrom of death on the Western front. Poison gas, liquid fire and all the savagery of devilish cunning have been used in vain, and the dense masses of enemy soldiers have failed to pierce the thin red lines of British heroes or break the spirit of the heroic Poilus of France.

The Kaiser, seemingly as a last resort, picked out the line held by the United States troops as a soft place to batter through, where, he was treated to a disagreeable surprise, for the "Buddies" handed the enemy a jolt which they will not forget for a while. As the Canadians won glory on the fields of Flanders for outstanding bravery and initiative, so will our North American brothers come out of this war with flying colors, for they are not different from us—all brothers of the New World, strong and true and vigorous, inspired by the highest ideals of individual liberty which must ever rise superior to the mercenaries and slave soldiers of Prussian despotism.

We will win the war and win it gldriously and the flags of democratic freedom will fly over Berlin.

CRISP COMMENT

There are some things we cannot get in a restaurant now, and things we can get we cannot afford.

Since the price of fags has been hooked up strenuously it takes a brave spunger to ask for the loan of a cigarette.

Anyhow, the Kaiser's six sons can never say that their father didn't take good care of them, says the Detroit Free Press.

Swat the fly, shoot the spy, cut out the lie, swear off on pie, quit drinking rye, and never say die, is the new creed expounded by the Fort Wayne News.

In the piping times of peace philanthropy is as common as philosophy but in war times the philanthropists are so busy profiteering that they forget to philanthropize.

Mr. James Simpson announces that he does not agree with President Gompers. There is nothing for Mr. Gompers to do now, but to turn over and die, says the Toronto News.

The Government means well, but sometimes it does seem to make a mess of things, particularly since it started messing around the kitchen and telling us what NOT to eat. However, if it keeps on guessing it may make a reasonable number of lucky hits.

The high price of war has affected the club sandwich, formerly three tiers high and lined with chicken, bacon, lettuce and tomato. The club sandwich is now on a war basis, sans one tier, sans bacon and light on chicken. Our fear lies for the crimes of war.

The Kaiser will be pained to learn that 300 American "Buddies" penetrated the German third line trenches in the Lorraine sector on Friday, not as prisoners but as victors. The paralysis will soon spread from the All-Highest arm to the All-Highest shirvelled soul.

Some western Ontario farmers are reported to have stopped ploughing as a protest against the recent cancellation of military service exemptions. If the Allied soldiers in the recent great German had ceased fighting as a protest against lack of reinforcements the farms of those protesting farmers might have been worth about two cents today, but probably less.

ESCAPES FROM GERMANY

LONDON, May 2—A dramatic story of his escape from Germany is told by Pte. Allan Wilson, now convalescing with his grandmother in Parish Craigie, of Kilmarnock. Pte. Wilson enlisted from a Manitoba farm. He was taken prisoner at Ypres, in June, 1916. He twice attempted his escape the first occasion being unsuccessful. He was confined in a dark cell for seven days and compelled to stand attention with his face to the wall. He says prisoners are fed black bread with soup made from turnips, practically just hot water, and only allowed two slices of bread daily.

Pte. Wilson eluded the warder under cover of darkness and made his way to a wood where he remained until the following night. It took a whole week by nightly stints to reach safety. One night two of them had a terrible scare. They were hiding in a big shed when two Germans and two Russians came to lift the hay. A Russian saw them first, and grasping the situation, covered them with hay. This thoughtful Russian's action prevented their recapture. They covered 140 miles of endless pitfalls and hardships. Pte. Wilson losing nearly 20 pounds in weight. He happily is now regaining his health, and will shortly resume farming pursuits in Manitoba.

FLYING MAN HERE.

Capt. Thomas Campbell, R.F.C., and graduate of Queen's School of Mines in 1910, is renewing acquaintances in Kingston. Capt. Campbell has been on the flying service since 1914, and wears four service ribbons, one red and three blue, on his sleeve. He is recovering after an operation for appendicitis.

FROM PRISONER'S BOX TO THE MARRIAGE TIE

BELLSON, Que., May 3—Five minutes after a jury had found her not guilty of the killing of a youth, Baptiste Lavoie, in Pontiac County, in October last, Victorine Latour, a French-Canadian girl of 22, was married in the courtroom to Lewis Chaussee, an Indian, with whom she had associated before her arrest. Rev. Father Kinnipton, of Vinton, Que., performed the ceremony in front of beating with Lavoie, a youth of 17, the judge's dias. Justice Weir, of Montreal, who presided at the trial, added his benediction to the priest's and presented the couple with a sum money to help them in their new life. Victorine Latour had been out and was the only one near when he met his death. She declared Lavoie had accidently shot himself, but the coroner's jury decided the wound which caused Lavoie's death could not have been self-inflicted.

Messrs. John Skelcher, Lloyd Chambers and Howard Bertram, the three G. T. They are still in a serious condition and sufferine much pain, but more hope is held for their ultimate recovery.

CONGREGATION DISTURBED

Some country folk are having much difficulty in making uniform the new Daylight Saving promotion, and yesterday several citizens who attended services in a country church near Gananoque were amused to notice about half the congregation arrive as the services were about over. In his sermon the pastor of the church drew attention to the difficulty of one-half the congregation using one time and the rest the other, and after the services a meeting of the congregation was called. There was much argument over the question, neither side being willing to recede from its determination to stick to the time which they favored. Even a suggested compromise by the pastor had no effect and the congregation is still divided on the question, and it is supposed that the portion which clings to the old time conditions will continue to arrive at service an hour late.

BARN DESTROYED BY FIRE

Last evening a barn, the property of Mrs. Smith, a widow residing on the Main Road, at Rose Corners, in the Township of Thurlow, was destroyed by fire. It appears that a daughter of Mrs. Smith went to the barn with a lantern for the purpose of feeding a horse and a cow. While there, some hay down from the mow the lantern was upset and ex d, causing the blaze. In a few minutes the interior was a mass of flames. Mrs. Smith, who was alone on the premises at the time, succeeded in getting out the cow, but the horse was burned to death. The contents of the barn were all destroyed. Only by the strenuous efforts of neighbors who gathered on the scene was the house saved. The loss sustained is partially covered by insurance. The fire was plainly visible from the city, and a number of citizens visited the scene by autos.

Beat His Way 4,000 Miles to Fight the Hun

When Germany first went crazy and thought she could "clean up" Great Britain and several other nations, says a writer in the World Herald, I was in the Hawaiian Islands. I soon decided to take a hand in the big "scrap" but not being flush of money I had to travel the "hobo" and "working tourist" route, and this is how I reached London:

I left Honolulu in December, 1914, on a stow-away on a lumber barque; (2- as a "hobo," "beating" passenger and freight trains from Portland to Galveston, Texas; (3) from Galveston to Havre, France, as seaman on a steam ship; (4) on a military pass from Havre to London.

The journey took over two months, the distance traveled being close on fourteen thousand miles, and not once did I pay a cent for railroad or steamboat fare.

I had several uncomfortable, and more or less exciting experiences. More than once I was nearly frozen while crossing the Rockies in Colorado, and twice I was fired at by railroad police, a bullet going through my hat on one occasion. At Las Vegas, New Mexico, I was arrested and given sixty days' "road gang" by a "hyphenated" J. P., but I escaped in less than an hour by knocking out the Italian-Italian guard.

I also had a little excitement at sea, being nearly washed overboard during a gale in mid-Atlantic. Off the Bishop Light, moreover, a U-boat tried to end my travels by letting go with two "tin fish," both missing the ship by a few yards.

CONGREGATION DISTURBED

Some country folk are having much difficulty in making uniform the new Daylight Saving promotion, and yesterday several citizens who attended services in a country church near Gananoque were amused to notice about half the congregation arrive as the services were about over. In his sermon the pastor of the church drew attention to the difficulty of one-half the congregation using one time and the rest the other, and after the services a meeting of the congregation was called. There was much argument over the question, neither side being willing to recede from its determination to stick to the time which they favored. Even a suggested compromise by the pastor had no effect and the congregation is still divided on the question, and it is supposed that the portion which clings to the old time conditions will continue to arrive at service an hour late.

BARN DESTROYED BY FIRE

Last evening a barn, the property of Mrs. Smith, a widow residing on the Moira Road, at Foot' Corners, in the Township of Thurlow, was destroyed by fire. It appears that a daughter of Mrs. Smith went to the barn with a lantern for the purpose of feeding a horse and a cow. While throwing some hay down from the mow the lantern was upset and exploded, causing the blaze. In a few minutes the interior was a mass of flames. Mrs. Smith, who was alone on the premises at the time, succeeded in getting out the cow, but the horse was burned to death. The contents of the barn were all destroyed. Only by the united efforts of neighbors who gathered on the scene was the house saved. The loss sustained is partially covered by insurance. The fire was plainly visible from the city, and a number of citizens visited the scene by autos.

I had several uncomfortable and more or less exciting experiences. More than once I was nearly frozen while crossing the Rockies in Colorado, and twice I was fired at by railroad police, a bullet going through my hat on one occasion. At Las Vegas, New Mexico, I was arrested and given sixty days' "road gang" by a "hyphenated" J. P., but I escaped in less than an hour by knocking out the Mexican-Italian guard.

I also had a little excitement at sea, being nearly washed overboard during a gale in mid-Atlantic. Off the Bishop Light, moreover, a U-boat tried to foil my travels by letting go with two "tin fish," both missing the ship by a few yards.

The Term "Draftee."

Some objection has been raised by soldiers to being styled "draftees" since a large number of the men are soldiers who have come from the United States for service with the Canadian forces. Their objection was sustained by Gen. Wilson, commanding the Montreal district, who took the ground that whatever a man might have been before he donned the King's uniform, once he was clothed in that he was a soldier of the King, and entitled to every respect as such. It was pointed out that in the ranks of the C.E.F. in Canada to-day there were neither volunteers, draftees nor conscripts, but simply soldiers.

The course will be open to women who are physically fit and are ready to sign up for three months' service on the farm at the close of the course. One hundred women will be selected from those who apply. The enlisting of the women is in the hands of Dr. Hincley, superintendent of the Trades and Labor Branch.

Severe Pains In The Back

Told of Kidney Trouble—Was Unable to Work, But Finally Found a Cure By Using This Well-known Medicine.

Gananoque, May 6.—There is plenty of enthusiasm in this town for Dr. Chase's Medicines, and many people only with good reports of cures effected.

There seems to be no treatment for kidney disorders which proves so effective in such a large proportion of cases as does Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. This is because the liver and bowels are usually involved as well as the kidneys, and this medicine overcomes the disease because it acts directly on these organs.

Mrs. W. Higgins, John St., Gananoque, Ont., writes: "I have frequently made use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for the last three years. Previous to that he had several attacks of kidney trouble, accompanied by severe pains in his back. He became so bad that he was unable to work. Finally he started using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and the results were splendid. He quite recovered, and by using an occasional Kidney-Liver Pill he wards off recurrences of tacks, and has never had any trouble since. We also use Dr. Chase's Ointment in our home and find it an excellent salve."

Mrs. James Bishop, Stone St. N., Gananoque, Ont., writes: "We have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in our home for some time, and find them an excellent remedy for pains in the back. They seem to help the stomach and kidneys to do their work more effectively. We are pleased to recommend them to others."

Municipal Fuel Yard Is Neither Dead Nor Sleeping

Discussion In City Council On Fuel Question—Mayor Platt Says There Will Be Plenty Of City Coal At Lower Prices

For two and a half hours the City Council was in session last night, and during that time much talk was indulged in and many business matters transacted. At one time there was a tilt between Ald. Robinson and Ald. Whalen, over a remark made by the latter, but oil was poured on the troubled water by Mayor Platt.

His Worship aired a grievance he had with the City Treasurer, over the latter refusing to advance the Mayor $30 desired for the Fuel Committee expenses.

The city assessment shows a considerable increase over last year, but the population is slightly decreased, owing to the war. The resignation of Mr. Walmsley as a member of the Court of Revision, was accepted and ex-Mayor Panter was appointed by-law to fill position. Considerable discussion took place in regard to the fuel situation, and it was intimated that the city would procure a consignment of coal and probably sell it cheaper than the price at present charged by dealers in the city. Some other matters of minor importance were disposed of during the session.

The members present were Mayor Platt, Aldermen St. Charles Curry Treverton, Parks, Donohue, Whelan, Robinson and Hagerman.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

Reports of committees, communications, petitions, etc., were laid upon the table.

On motion the Council went into committee of the whole on reports, etc. Ald. Parks in the chair.

The accounts recommended to be paid by the various committees were passed and the following recommendations were adopted:

Resignation Discussed

That the resignation of Mr. J. E. Walmsley as member of the Court of Revision be accepted.

Ald. Robinson stated that the Solicitor and the Chairman of the Court of Revision claimed that they were unable in the matter, whereas Mr. Walmsley contended he was right. He moved that the resignation of Mr. Walmsley be not accepted.

Ald. Parks said that everything that Mr. Walmsley contended for had been done and he (the speaker) thought that the resignation should not be accepted.

The amendment of Ald. Robinson was defeated.

On recommendation ex-Mayor Panter was appointed a member of Court of Revision in place of Mr. Walmsley.

Salary Increased

It was also recommended that the request of Miss Sayers as city stenographer, for an increase in salary be granted.

A Lot Case

Dr. Farley addressed the Council in reference to a lot being taken on Bleecker Avenue for production purposes. The lot in question did not belong to the speaker, but to Major J. J. Farley, who is at present overseas fighting. (At the speaker) had been renting this and other lots for the Major in order to provide a revenue to assist in paying taxes. The present deal the doctor claimed, was a fake deal, as the owner had been virtually disposed of his property. He would ask the Council to pass a motion to exempt from taxation any vacant property that is owned by a person who is doing his duty at the front. If the city remitted the taxes he was perfectly willing to allow the lot to be used for production.

Mayor Platt was appointed a committee to endeavor to make a satisfactory settlement of this matter.

The committee of the whole resumed.

It was recommended that a new gas main be laid on Burnham Street.

Endorsed Petition

A communication was read from the Council of Brantford relative to petitioning the Government to appoint a consulting gas engineer for the Province from whom municipalities could secure information when required. Belleville Council was asked to cooperate in the petition.

Ald. Robinson moved that the Council co-operate in the petition.

Insurance Renewal

Mr. H. F. Ketcheson asked the city to renew the insurance on the boilers at the pump house.

Ald. Parks said the matter had been attended to and the insurance had been given to Mr. C. Ashley, and it was placed in the Provincial Insurance Company, of which Mr. Ashley was the agent.

Mayor Platt—Such matters should be settled in committees. He was, however in favor of insurance being distributed amongst agents.

Ald. Parks—Last spring Mr. Ketcheson lost the Canadian Casualty insurance business in which company the boilers were insured.

Ald. Curry said he could not understand why the matter had been attended to when the policy did not expire until May 14th.

Ald. Parks—I had a perfect right to do what I did.

City Assessment

Mr. J. A. Kerr, City Assessor, reported that he had completed the assessing of the city for the year and was pleased to report an increase. The total assessment was $6,465,895, an increase of $149,000 over last year. The population had decreased 74 from last year owing to the war.

Water On Pope Street

A report was presented in reference to having a water main placed down on Pope Street.

Mayor Platt—The residents on that street should be provided with water.

Ald. Robinson wanted the residents of Pope street to have a water main laid down upon that street, but we have got to go contrary to the statute in the matter.

Ald. St. Charles moved that the prayer of the petition for a later service on Pope Street be granted if sanctioned by the City Solicitor.

A report was presented showing the expenses of the two deputations to Ottawa and the deputation to Toronto.

The report was received and adopted. The report was received and adopted.

Fuel Problem

Mayor Platt said that during the past two weeks deputations had left the city for important business for the city, one was in reference to the fuel situation. The special committee on fuel had met and considered the matter and especially in reference to sending a member to look after the matter, but the treasurer refused to give it to him. The treasurer in this instance showed a petty spirit in refusing the request. The question was, should the Council censure the treasurer for his action. He (the Mayor) knew Mr. Price was a conscientious and efficient official, but in this case he appeared to be over zealous.

Ald. Curry—The City Treasurer should have given the amount asked for by the Mayor.

Ald. St. Charles did not think the Council should censure Mr. Price in this matter. No reputation was presented to him for payment of the money.

Ald. Parks—An application for 2,000 cords of wood was laid on but the contract must be signed by some one at the Park.

Ald. Whelan said he could have procured hardwood within a few miles from the city and laid down in the city for less than $8 per cord. Ald. Robinson had the letter referring to this matter and he, Ald. Robinson, had shelved the letter.

Ald. Robinson asked the Mayor to have Ald. Whelan retract that statement, which was not the case.

Mayor Platt said Ald. Whelan should retract the statement.

Ald. Whelan—I will retract about the shelving of the letter, but the letter was by Ald. Robinson sent to the fuel committee.

Ald. Treverton—The fuel committee had given the Council figures as to what wood can be procured for. He (the speaker) placed a letter in the fuel committee's hand but had heard nothing from them.

Ald. Donohue asked if there was any coal in sight.

Ald. Robinson—The coal committee is doing its best to secure fuel for the citizens. We have a man who is offering to supply coal at a cheaper price than it is being sold here at present.

Ald. Donohue—Citizens want to place their orders for coal, but would like to know if the city is going to procure coal for them.

Mayor Platt—We will have plenty of coal to supply the citizens, and we think at a lesser cost than is being paid for at present.

This ended the discussion.

Bylaws

Ald. Whelan introduced a Bylaw to appoint Mr. W. H. Panter as a member of the Court of Revision in the room of Mr. J. E. Walmsley who resigned.

The Council went into committee of the whole on Bylaws. Ald. St. Charles in the chair.

The Bylaw was passed through its various stages and numbered 2035.

Motions

Ald. St. Charles moved, seconded by Ald. Robinson, that a filing cabinet be purchased for the city engineer from the Scantlebury limited, at a cost not to exceed $20—failed out of order as the special committee appointed to deal with the matter had not reported.

Ald. Robinson moved, seconded by Ald. Parks that the City Treasurer be requested to place $150 at the disposal of the Fuel Committee, same to be used as required when a requisition is signed by the chairman of the committee and approved by the members of the committee.—Carried.

Council adjourned.

BRITISH SUCCESSFULLY RAID ENEMY POSITIONS ON WESTERN FRONT

CAPTURE PRISONERS AND MACHINE GUNS

ALLIES CONTINUE TO HARASS ENEMY WITH VIGOROUS MINOR ATTACKS — ENEMY RAIDERS REPULSED — ENEMY STILL REMAINS INACTIVE — PARIS REPORTS ACTIVE ARTILLERY FIGHTING LAST NIGHT ON AMIENS FRONT — FRENCH RAIDERS CAPTURE HUN SOLDIERS—ENEMY CONCENTRATES ARTILLERY ON DESTRUCTION OF AMIENS — BRITISH HEAVY GUNS PREVENT HUN OFFENSIVE MOVEMENTS — BRITISH AVIATORS VERY BUSY.

Special Despatches to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, May 7.—(British official)—We carried out a successful raid last night in the neighborhood of Neuville-Vitasse, on the front recently taken over by the Canadians, and captured a few prisoners and three machine guns with slight casualties to our troops. A raid attempted by the enemy near Royelles was repulsed. There is nothing further to report.

HEAVY ARTILLERY FIGHTING.

PARIS, May 7.—Active artillery fighting occurred last night on both sides of the Avre river on the front southwest of Amiens. A German raid against a small French post near Hangard was repulsed. In the same region we carried out a local operation and brought back prisoners. There is nothing to report elsewhere on the front.

DESTRUCTION OF AMIENS.

With the French Armies in the Field, May 7.—The Germans Saturday and Sunday began the systematic destruction of Amiens, the same as they annihilated Rheims. They hurled more than 150 shells and 60 aerial torpedoes into the city, causing heavy property damage, killing some civilians and endangering the cathedral, the Palace of Justice, and the Museum. The latter contains the famous Puvis de Chavannes murals.

Amiens was evacuated by a large proportion of the civilian population some time ago. Recent despatches declared that Rheims practically had been razed, and stated that the famous cathedral there was so badly wrecked that its collapse was imminent.

British Shells Stop Huns.

London, May 7.—Correspondents in France stated that the British gunfire in Flanders during the past fifteen days has completely prevented any enemy movement. The enemy had undoubtedly prepared to attack the British positions on Saturday, but the British gunners smothered the attack before it could be launched. This announced the disorganization in the enemy's rear. The French prevented the attack on their front by attacking first.

Especial emphasize also the difficulty of the enemy in his effort to bring the allies by surprise. Certain points of importance are carefully watched, and if other points are attacked the allied reserves reach the battle field quickly by the German reserves. The experts are confident that Mount Kemmel can be recovered if the enemy fails to advance his line in this region.

Drop 12 Tons of Bombs.

London, May 7.—An official statement on aerial activity issued by the War Office reads:

"There was a dense mist Saturday until sunset, when reconnaissance was possible. Nine tons of bombs were dropped on the Chaulnes railway junction, near the Bapaume, Amiens-Merville and Estaires.

"There was very little air fighting One hostile machine was brought down by our aviators, and four others were driven down. Two of our machines are missing. Four of our machines were lost on May 5 have returned. "After dark, although conditions were still unfavorable, more than three tons of bombs were dropped on the Chaulnes railway junction and on the Bapaume. All our machines returned."

LYNX SHOT IN OXFORD.

Ingersoll, May 7.—A lynx was shot in a tall tree in a bush on the farm of Alex. Muterer, North Oxford. It was seen by T. A. Stevenson crossing the fields and by the assistance of a collie dog it was traced to the tree.

Allied Aviators Destroy 23 Boats Of Hun Gravel

AMSTERDAM, May 7.—The effective work of allied airmen in harassing the German supply service in Belgium is the report of Lieut. Leo Nouvellen of The Hague, which says that allied aviators recently sank 23 boats laden with gravel and road material for the German front in Picardy. The vessels at the time were twelve kilometres (eight miles) from the enemy rear line. The newspaper adds:

Namur Bridge Damaged

"Three weeks ago the Luxemburg bridge at Namur was again badly damaged by aircraft. Two arches were destroyed and one boat was sunk. Three German sentries on the bridge were killed. The movement of vessels to the front never has been so intense as since the opening of the German offensive, and the destruction and devastation wrought by allied airmen never has been so great. Boats are being dropped by allied aircraft that destroyed a railway station in the province of Hainaut, Belgium, on March 27. A munitions train of sixty-four cars was in the station and forty of the cars blew up in succession, killing and wounding many Germans. Rigorous measures were taken immediately to keep onlookers away from the scene of the disaster. A German officer estimated the loss in shells at one million mark.

Steamer Tidewater, Worsts Hun Sub.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—A field between the American steamer Tidewater and a German submarine on March 17 in which the submarine was defeated and perhaps sunk, was reported today by the U. S. navy department.

S. S. Tyler Sunk By Submarine

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

NEW YORK, May 7.—The American steamship Tyler, 4,000 tons, has been torpedoed and sunk off the French coast. Eleven members of the crew were killed or drowned.

Civic Water Works And Modern Fire Dep't For Trenton

Money By-Laws Carried By Large Majorities Yesterday to Purchase Waterworks System and Modern Fire-Fighting Apparatus—A Large Vote.

TRENTON, May 7.—The citizens of Trenton are very jubilant today as the result of the voting yesterday on the two money by-laws submitted by the Town Council, both of which were carried by large majorities.

The by-law to install modern fire-fighting apparatus, including a new 100 horse-power motor fire engine equipped with hose and chemical tank entailing an expenditure of $16,000 carried by a majority of 135.

The waterworks purchase by-law for $20,000 carried by a majority of 197.

The great interest taken by the ratepayers in the progressive by-laws submitted was evidenced by the fact that the vote was the largest ever polled in Trenton upon money by-laws. A number of Belleville citizens who own property in Trenton made a special journey to cast their votes in favor of the by-laws.

The Motor Fire Engine.

This is a modern twenty-inch century type of fire protection, 100 horse-power motor fire engine carrying 1200 feet of fire hose with a 60-gallon chemical tank, complete maintenance of lighting and minor fire-fighting tools.

This modern fire engine has resulted when used in a reduction of fire losses to fully 25 per cent. as compared to the horse-drawn equipment, due to the fact that a fire can be reached in a very short time and large areas of territory covered.

Statistics show that 75 per cent of all fires are put out with chemical apparatus throughout the cities of the country today, due to the fact of the introduction of motor fire equipment and the fact that many fires can be reached and in much short time that they can be extinguished with the modern chemical engine.

This is the same type of fire engine that went from Lindsay to help Peterborough, in a recent large conflagration, a distance of twenty-three miles. The pumping engine which is a very important one in modern fire protection, is operated and driven by the same motor as drives the car, simply by shifting the gear, the pump is operated by a direct drive from the motor and 750 gallons (imperial) per minute can be pumped from draft and from open water and is especially adapted for towns where open water is available, and where low pressures are in the mains or where tanks in the city afford an available supply.

Some forty of the same type of engine are in service in Canadian cities and towns, and hundreds in the United States, and they are recommended by the fire marshals and national board of underwriters.

Civic Waterworks.

The purchase of the waterworks system is for upwards of a million dollars under civic auspices has long been the desire of the progressive element among Trenton citizens. The plant was privately owned and operated and passed under the control of the Hydro-Electric Commission of Ontario when the business of the Seymour Light and Power Company was acquired. It is hoped by the present by-law and the purchase by the Town Council of the waterworks system from the Hydro.

Mayor Ireland and his colleagues in the Town Council are very much pleased that the ratepayers have endorsed their progressive program in such emphatic manner, indicating a desire to back up heartily all measures tending to advance the interests of the municipality.

Officer's Gallant Conduct Held Up Enemy Attack

LONDON, May 7.—Acts of almost superhuman heroism characterized deeds for which five Victoria Crosses have been awarded. Three of the recipients are dead. The following are the names and records:

Second-Lieut. R. O. Cassidy, late of the Lancashire Fusiliers. During the hostile attack, when the flank of his division was endangered, Cassidy, who was commanding a company in close support, carried out the ordered manner and to the letter orders that he must hold the position to the last. The enemy came on in overwhelming numbers, compelling our troops to turn the flank. He, however, continued to rally his men under a terrific bombardment. The enemy were several times cleared out of the trench by his personal leadership. The company was reduced to a mere handful, but Cassidy, encouraging and exhorting the men until he was killed. His most gallant conduct held up the whole attack at this point, and undoubtedly by saved the left flank from penetration.

Pte. H. C. Columbine, late of the Machine Gun Corps: Owing to casualties, Columbine took command of a gun and kept firing from nine in the morning until one o'clock in the afternoon, in an isolated and unsuited position, beating back successive enemy waves. An attack by a low-flying airplane finally enabled the enemy to gain a footing in a trench on either flank. The position being untenable, Columbine ordered the two remaining men to get away, and though bombed from either side, fix kept on firing the gun and inflicting tremendous losses. He was eventually killed by a bomb, which blew up both him and the gun.

Letters from Overseas

GRATEFUL FOR SOCKS

Mrs. Ormand, Secretary of the Ladies Auxiliary of B. of L. E., received the following letter from Hugh Rogers in answer to one of a number of parcels of socks this little auxiliary has sent overseas:

Somewhere in France, April 10.

To the Ladies Auxiliary, B. of L. E.

Dear Friends:—I received your parcels of socks last night and it will be a pleasure for me to distribute them to any of the boys, who are in need of socks. I am sending two pair to a few French-Canadian chap in the trenches whom I met while in hospital, and the remainder I am going to give to the lads who are in need of them around here. While in hospital I received two pair of your fine socks from Keith Merrin, who brought them to me at hospital, and you may be sure they came in handy, as I was out of clean socks as I had very little of my kit with me. You might tell Keith's aunt and uncle that he was looking fine and seemed to be enjoying good health.

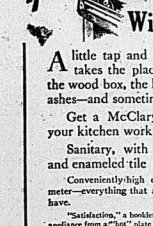

The boys over here certainly appreciate the noble work you kind ladies are doing for them, so please accept on behalf of the boys who receive them from our sincere thanks for your kindness and thoughtfulness for our welfare. Arthur and I also wish to express our thanks as it means so much to us to know that all is well with the little mother, and may God bless you all for your thoughtfulness, as you have made us very happy. We miss also the pleasant times that we used to have in your company, and if it is God's wish, we hope to be able to further enjoy being with you all on our return.

At present Arthur and I are enjoying a much needed rest at the "Ilerves", where we are attached to the Agricultural Staff and are working in the gardens of a beautiful old French chateau. We have had lovely weather until the last two weeks, then the spring rains commenced and still continue. The fruit trees are all in bloom and the air is full of the fragrance of their blossoms, while from morn till night the lark's sweet song fills the air, lyring its best to make us forget the horrors we have gone through, and which, sad to relate, are still going on up in front. It has been terrible foggy the last few days and the Hun has taken advantage of the ground mist by shelling us with gas shells day and night, so we are always with our masks on the alert all the time. It is hard to see the poor, brave civilians suffer from the Huns' gas and shells as they do not have the same advantage that we have to escape these horrors, but such is the Boche's method of warfare and he is paying dearly these days for all his dastlish work.

I must bring my letter to a close or you will become bored. Permit me to again express our thanks for your kindness to the boys over here.

With our kindest regards to you and your worthy husbands.

Ever your friend,
HUGH A. ROGERS.

Music and Drama

A STRONG CAST.

In "Paradise Garden," the Metro wonderplay being exhibited at the Palace tonight and Wednesday matinee and night, the popular star, Harold Lockwood, is supported by a cast of friends, several of whom have appeared with him in Metro pictures. Lester Cuneo, who has been Lockwood's opponent in half a dozen excellent photo-dramas, again puts up a good manly scrap with the star. Both of them are clean athletes and love their work. Cuneo's portrayal of the scheming Jack Rolland shows him at his best. Vera Sisson, in the part of Fan Habberton, brings to the role all the girlish charm in which she displayed in other Lockwood photoplay successes. "The Friendship of Beauprez" a thrilling story of the north, and "Too Much Alike," an amusing Jayson comedy, will also be exhibited.

"DOUG" FAIRBANKS IN BREEZY WESTERN STORY

Those who believe in "Seeing Douglas Fairbanks" will be given plenty of it in the picture that strikes "Healin' Saint," in which "Doug" Fairbanks appears at Griffin's tonight and Wednesday night, the most distinctive film of the season. Mounted on his favorite pony "Calico," "Doug" performs amazing deeds of daring, in scenes of intense sensationalism. He is an expert horseman, and his riding scenes at the head of over fifty cowboys are intended to thrill the most blase patron of the theatre. There is an undercurrent of fraternal mystery that runs through the story, with a strong element of suspense that is maintained to the very last scene of the picture.

Miss Sonia Markova the new screen star made a splendid hit last night at Griffin's, where her photoplay "A Painted Madonna" began a three days run. Miss Markova's beauty, beauty and talent and those who saw her last night went away highly pleased with her work.

"Driftwood," a gripping 2-part Essanay play, will also be presented.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN.

Among the notable scenes of Wm. H. Kibble's "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which is to be at Griffin's Opera House next Friday, with a children's matinee on the 11th, and evening performance, is the St. Clare home showing the tropical garden with its fountain and many exotic flowers among which nestles the typical Southern plantation residence, the magnificent St. Clare home, a colonial plantation on the Red River with the cotton in full bloom; the wild rocky pass in Southern Utah, and the log cabin by this River by moonlight. The transformation entitled "The Celestial Sky Garden" is to be sacrificed

TALENT CONCERT

The Talent Concert of the Alert Public Class of the Holloway St. Methodist Sunday School, was a delightful affair. The lecture room of the church was crowded to its utmost capacity, with an appreciative audience. At the appointed hour, the President, Mrs. R. Anderson, appeared on the platform, and announced that the Rev. J. N. Clarry was the chair which was carried amid great applause. After the opening chorus by the class, "The World Must be Conquered for Christ" and prayer by Mr. Clarry, the chairman in a few well chosen sentences, explained that the ladies during the winter had been working on the talent system for the missionary cause and I would tell the audience how they earned the money. He, the teacher, had earned his by making a couple who came to the parsonage happy for life. He then called on the ladies of the class to come to the platform in groups according to the alphabetical order of their names, to render their response in earning their money. A unique feature of the proceedings was that each lady related her trials or triumphs in verse, some of which were very humorous and others quite pathetic, but all of which were very interesting as was evinced by the unmistakable approval of the audience. The ladies who took part in the programme were Mrs. H. M. Anderson, Mrs. Cook, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Cornish, Mrs. Ellis, Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Lankford, Mrs. MacGowan, Mrs. Kember, Mrs. Pearce, Mrs. Sine and Mrs. R. Anderson. Mrs. Cook read a letter from Mrs. McCutcheon who was not present, but who helped in the talent work, and the President read one from Mrs. Shoemer. Mrs. Graham told of several who did not belong to the class, but who with open hand and generous heart wished in the good work to have a part.

During the evening the ladies of the class gave a couple of fine selection; and there was a ringing chorus from the audience. The Alerts are entitled to the following people who helped so materially to make a success of the evening's entertainment: Mr. King and Miss Collins of Trenton, Mr. Wilkinson, who contributed two delightful songs, and graciously responded to the hearty encores which they received; also to Miss McKim, who rendered a beautiful solo, and to Mrs. Clarry and Miss Pearen who gave a piano duet.

The Treasurer announced that the proceeds of the evening amounted to $107.85. A hearty vote of thanks was given to those who so kindly helped on the program. Mr. Woodley, the Superintendent of the school, made a few remarks, congratulating the class on the success of the class as a slight token of their great success, after which the appreciation of the services these gentlemen had rendered.

President called on Mrs. Graham, who presented to the guise of the class a most beautiful plants to the Superintendent of the National Anthem.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia To Overcome Trouble, Caused By Fermensing Food and Acid Indigestion

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the cells or lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent by formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Expect Big Foe Drive on Italian Front to Begin

NEW YORK, May 6.—The Associated Press gives out the following: Vienna despatches indicate that the predicted Teutonic drive against Italy may be about to begin. Simultaneously there are indications that the Germans are on the eve of a renewal of major attacks on the Franco-Belgian lines.

It is announced that Emperor Charles has left Vienna for "the front," presumably the Austro-Italian front, and the Vienna War Office statement reports pronounced activity all along the practicable fighting line from Lake Garda to the Adriatic.

Snow Postpones Offensive.

Washington, May 6.—Advices to the Italian embassy here from Rome made no mention of the beginning of the Austrian offensive on the Italian front, but said the Austrians, because of the heavy snows, had been obliged to postpone their offensive operation.

War Garden Bulletin

PRACTICAL DAILY GUIDE FOR VACANT LOT AND BACK YARD GARDENERS ENLISTED IN GREATER PRODUCTION CAMPAIGN.

Issued by the Canada Food Board in collaboration with experts on the staff of the Dominion Experimental Farm.

GETTING READY.

By this time most amateur gardeners have at least made a start. Their ground has been cleaned up. All the old cans, stones, bricks, pieces of wood, broken toys and other kinds of refuse have been removed or buried so deeply that they will not be troublesome. Where this has not been it is high time that the prospective gardeners "got busy." The basis of successful gardening is the preparation of the soil. In the case of the city lot there are many difficulties to be overcome before the soil is in really good condition. The more working it gets the better. The soil for vegetables cannot be too well prepared. Many garden seeds are very fine and require well prepared soil to give good germination. Continued cultivation serves to destroy weeds, conserve moisture and maintain a finer physical condition of the soil. This cultivation should be repeated at intervals of a week or two weeks through out the entire growing season and may be carried on successfully with a hoe and rake.

The soil should be dug to a depth of from 6 to 10 inches and all the lumps should be broken up with spade or fork. The manure or fertilizer should be worked well into the ground at least to the full depth of the top soil. The ground should then be carefully raked, as seeds must be sown in soil which has been thoroughly pulverized.

CHOOSE YOUR SEED.

Discrimination in the purchase of seed is very important. There is a scarcity this year and for that reason none must be wasted. In the following list, based on tests made at the Experimental Farms and stations in Canada, several varieties of parallel merit are suggested, so that if it is not possible to get one kind the other may be obtainable.

Potatoes—Irish Cobbler or Eureka Extra Early, Green Mountain, Gold Coin, Wee MacGregor, Farman No. 1, Early Ohio.

Beets— Crosby Egyptian, Detroit Dark Red and Early Model.

Carrots—Chantenay, Danvers Half Long, Early Scarlet Horn.

Corn—Extra Early Early Malcolm, Malakoff Peep O'Day, Golden Bantam, Early Evergreen or Black Mexican, Country Gentleman and Stowells Evergreen.

Peas—Gregory Surprise, Thos. Laxton, Gradus, Nott Excelsior, American Wonder, Sutton Early Giant, Telephone, Champion of England, Quite Contrel, McLean Advancer, Sutton Excelsior and Premier Gem.

Beans—(Round Pod Wax) Round Pod Kidney Wax, Hodson Wax, (Green Pod) Stringless Green Pod and Early Red Valentine, Refugee or 1000 to 1 (Late) Lima and Pole beans are not very satisfactory except where the season is long and warm. Scarlet Runner is the most reliable Pole bean but Kentucky Wonder is one of the best in quality.

Cabbage—Early Jersey Wakefield, Copenhagen Market, early; Succession, medium; Danish Ballhead and Drumhead Savoy, late; Red Dutch.

WANTS TO MEET CARPENTIER

PARIS May 7.—"Battling" Schroeder, of Pittsburg, on service at an American base hospital in France, has asked for the chance to meet Georges Carpentier, the French champion heavyweight pugilist, in the ring. Schroeder is said to be the star boxer of the American expeditionary force and is arranging bouts at the base hospital twice a month. Carpentier is recovering from injuries to his head suffered recently in a fall in an airplane. During his convalescent he is teaching physical culture and boxing at the Normal Gymnastic School in Joinville.

WORTHY DESCENDANT OF U. E. LOYALISTS.

Lieut.-Col. Elmer Jones, D.S.O., has received further honor with an added bar to his Distinguished Service Order. A native of Brockville and a descendant of United Empire Loyalist ancestors, Lieut.-Col. Jones just couldn't keep out of the war, and as soon as possible wound up his legal business in Vancouver and came to Kingston, where he was attached to the 21st Battalion. He won rapid promotion and recognition on active service after reaching France and succeeded Lieut.-Col. Hughes as commanding officer when the latter was made Brigadier-General. Lieut.-Col. Elmer Jones is every inch a soldier and very much the man, respected and loved by every soldier and officer who serves under him.

THE CATTLE BARONS.

Beef has taken a jump of four cents to the Belleville consumer in response to a raise by the wholesalers. Old Man Supply-and-Demand, who regulates the price barometer, is again responsible for the new boost in the high cost of living. The farmers are holding their cattle for more money and the United States Government has hulled the market by offering twenty-five cents a pound for beef on the hoof to feed the army overseas. Without being familiar with all the circumstances one cannot help but feel that these army contractors are a little flush with the people's money, especially since the Government has the power to commandeer all the visible cattle supply should it so desire. The crop of cattle millionaires is steadily growing longer, but the crop of good citizens who are steadily growing poorer is as a vast army, and the popularity of the war millionaires after the war will be touching.

TRENTON THE PROGRESSIVE.

Trenton ratepayers showed their progressive spirit yesterday by emphatically endorsing two money by-laws of great importance to that rejuvenated municipality. One called for the purchase of the waterworks system, which will be transformed from a Hydro side line to a public utility, with all the advantages that implies; the other gave the Town Council power to proceed with the progressive program of installing a first-class fire fighting equipment, including the most modern motor fire engine obtainable. Before Trenton stole very recently to a full realization of its exceptional advantages for industrial enterprises, like many other of the older settlements, it slumbered along in the "let-well-enough-alone" class, seemingly content with the old and familiar ruts and beaten paths. Now all is changed and the progressive element which so long has chafed under the handicap of conventional chains is now in control, and a new, better, and bigger Trenton is the result.

Trenton's new fire-fighting equipment will add a sense of security not only to that favored municipality itself, but to the residents over a wide area of the surrounding country, where almost a proprietary interest is felt in the advent of the new motor fire engine in the assurance that if the need arises in adjacent municipalities the good people of Trenton will be only too pleased to lend every assistance possible in the event of large conflagrations.

Trenton deserves every congratulation for its progressive spirit and emphatic endorsation of Mayor Ireland and his colleagues in the Town Council.

MISSOURI MEERSCHAUM AND HENRY CLAY.

Gamblers have a rule which they follow when luck goes against them, "every time you lose double up," and it seems that there are others who follow the same rule. Almost every time the Government levies a tax of one cent the trade takes two, following the gambler's rule. It is an interesting game, only the public gets tired of always being the goat. The Toronto Star discusses the new Smoker's Tax as follows:

> A tax of six dollars a thousand on cigars means a tax of a little more than two-thirds of a cent, on one cigar.
> How much will the price of cigars go up? Will the cigar that formerly sold for ten cents now sell for eleven, or will the price be jumped to fifteen?
> Another question smokers are asking is this: Why should tobacconists, because of the new tax, hoist the price on stocks on hand to which the new tax does not apply?
> It seems probable that there will be taken from tobacco users many times as much as will go to the Government in revenue, although the sole object of the tax is to raise revenue for the national treasury. There is no tax so economical to the country and its people as the direct tax, which goes straight to its object. For instance, if there were a war stamp, in the shape of a cigar band, to be bought at the cost of a cent with each cigar purchased or affixed on a stamp to each package of cigarettes purchased, there would be in each case a clean and direct transaction, with the public revenue receiving all the extra cent imposed on the consumer, less the cost of printing the war stamps, which would be very small. But when any sort of tax is so imposed that the trade has to pay it, it is usually made the excuse for a raise in prices about ten times as much as the tax actually amounts to.

Toronto has food to burn, and while food goes up in price it also goes up in smoke at the city incinerator. Bargain sales of fruit, fish and vegetables occasionally might prevent this appalling waste.

PARDON FOR SAMMIES.

President Wilson Disapproves Death Sentence on Four American Soldiers.

Washington, May 7.— President Wilson disapproved today the sentence of four American soldiers in France ordered to be shot. Sentences of two of the men, privates Otto Lodgren and Stanley G. Fishback were commuted to three years confinement. Privates Forrest D. Sebastian and Jess Cook were granted full pardons. Sebastian and Cook, who were pardoned, were convicted of desertion at sentry post. Lodgren and Fishback were sentenced for disobeying orders. They will serve their three years' term at Leavenworth.

Quebec members of Parliament are asking questions in season and out of season in the House of Commons. Dr. Tremblay, M.P., asked if it was the intention of the Government to raise a French-Canadian brigade under the new military service regulation. Sir Robert Borden did not hesitate to inform M. Tremblay that he did not think there was any need for trouble with which to organize a French-Canadian brigade. M. Tremblay, M.P., not at wished he hadn't asked that question, as he listened to the audible snigger of the other members.

The new censorship regulations upon Canadian newspapers in regard to comment upon Governmental war activities are irritating and should be considered as unnecessary legislation were it not for the dangerous propaganda of Henri Bourassa and his imitators who have been effectively muzzled by the new regulations. The great majority of Canadians require no evidence of the need for censorship as they realize fully the seriousness of the war and they will cheerfully submit to any legislation considered necessary to curb the misguided activities of the few writers blinded by prejudice and politics to the true seriousness of the war.

Austria in State Of Great Alarm At Food Famine

AMSTERDAM, May 6.—A statement published in Vienna indicates that the closure of Parliament is due to the seriousness of the food situation. The statement says:

"The Government will devote its entire strength to the economic problem and will try to create conditions required to enable the population to hold out.

A Vienna despatch says that the Austrian Premier, Dr. Von Seydler, speaking at a conference of party leaders, declared that the serious economic and food conditions made it imperative for the present Government to be spared Parliamentary criticism. He therefore demanded that the proposed sittings of Parliament be postponed, adding that unless the party leaders took this step the Government would prevent the sessions forcibly.

SEEDING LEAVE MUST END BY JUNE 1st.

Ottawa, May 6.—In order to correct a wrong impression in regard to a statement of the Minister of Militia at the conference with the farmers, the Department of Militia and defence wishes it distinctly understood that all leave of absence granted to farmers in order that they may finish seeding operations must expire before the first of June. Farmers reporting for service will be given two weeks, if they desire, to return to their farms and finish putting in the crop. They can choose whatever time they see fit, but it does not extend beyond the first of next month.

The Man on the Land finds much of interest and practical value in the SPARE AND SURPLUS MARKET section a special feature every Saturday in

The Mail and Empire.

Edited by an experienced and practical agricultural writer who knows his business, it is small wonder that this department is steadily growing in popularity with our subscribers.

Farmers best on getting the fullest returns from their land need hardly be reminded of the immense value that observations on stock and poultry raising, beekeeping, grain growing and farm improvements have for them. The fact that so many of them read the Agricultural page of The Mail and Empire, year in and year out shows that they are not lacking in a proper appreciation of its worth.

FCZEMA CURED
FOR ONE YEAR C IN ONE MONTH

H. Martineau, Esq., Honorary Commandant of the Papal Zouaves, of 70 Villeneuve West, Montreal, writing to the proprietors of Zam-Buk, says:

"For over a year I suffered with an eruption on my face, and notwithstanding the numerous remedies I used it got no better until I commenced using Zam-Buk. I applied the balm regularly, used only Zam-Buk Soap for bathing, and in a comparatively short time the eruption left my face, and I could see some improvement. After continuing the treatment for a month the disease, although of over a year's standing, had entirely disappeared. In my estimation Zam-Buk is the only remedy for skin troubles."

The reason Zam-Buk succeeds when other remedies fail is because Zam-Buk is all medicine—100% ! Its healing power is therefore much superior to ordinary ointments which contain but 5% medicine and the balance animal fat.

For ringworm, scalp sores, abscesses, ulcers, boils, running sores, salt rheum, teething sores, "barber's rash," pimples, blood-poisoning and piles Zam-Buk is unequalled. It is also the best "first aid" for cuts, burns, scalds and all skin injuries. 50c. box, 3 for $1.25. All dealers or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

Letters To The Editor

BELLEVILLE'S HONOR ROLL.

To the Editor of The Intelligencer:

Dear Sir,—Not forgetting honors won by Kettleson, Johnson and others, Belleville may indeed be proud in reading the last issue of the Canadian Military Gazette to find the record on one page of no less than four of our own boys who the "King has delighted to honor." Major Edwin Franklin Linn, already Military Cross, has D.S.O. added to his distinctions, and is in command of his corps of Engineers; Major William Ray Reeden of the Field Artillery receive his D.S.O.; Major John Hugh Bell of the Infantry, is also awarded the D.S.O. and Lieut. Stanley Burnett Ker of the Engineers, is awarded the Military Cross. Can any city of our size show such a splendid record in one month? Are we at home living up to the best given by these splendid men, patient and chivalrous in service and sacrifice?

Yours, truly,
W. N. PONTON.

Had Headaches, Was Always Tired

Sleep or Rest Was Impossible. For Nervous System Was Greatly Exhausted and Irritated.

Jordan, Ont., May 7.—As the result of Mrs. Thwaites happy experience with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food many people in this district have got this great food cure to the test and proven its exceptional restorative powers.

This was an extreme case of nervous exhaustion and the cure effected was so thorough and radical that there could be no doubt of the value of this treatment. This is how Mrs. Thwaites describes her cure, and her statement is certified to by her pastor.

Mrs. Stephen G. Thwaites, Box 295, Jordan, Ont., writes: "For about a year I was troubled with nervousness and took doctors' medicine, but it did not seem to relieve me. I could not sleep nor content myself to do anything. I had severe headaches, was tired all the time, and afraid to stay alone. I also tried several nerve medicines until almost discouraged. At last I discovered Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and found relief in this. I had only taken one box when I began to feel better. I continued using this treatment until my nerves were restored to perfect health. I think the Nerve Food splendid for nervous troubles of any kind, and cannot recommend it too highly."

Rev. S. F. Coffman, Vineland Ont., states: "This is to certify that I know Mrs. Thwaites, and her statements are correct."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, a full treatment of 6 boxes for $2.75, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations only disappoint.

ALERT BIBLE CLASS

The Alert Bible Class of Holloway Church held their annual meeting in the League Room of the church, for the winding up of the year's business, and for the election of officers for the coming year. BOYS ALLOWED LIBERTY

The three boys who some time ago broke in Mr. Hope McGinnis' store in this city, were this morning up before the magistrate in the Children's Court for sentence. After some statements had been made relative to the case by Mr. W. D. M. Shorey on behalf of the boys, and by Mr. Carnew, representing the Crown, the Magistrate gave his decision. He allowed two of the boys to return to their mother who promised to remove them from the city, and to look well after them. They will also be under the surveillance of Mr. Ruston, Agent of the Children's Aid Society. The other boy was also allowed to return home under a suspended sentence in the Industrial School.

Is Praising It To All of His Friends

"If Any of the Boys Here Haven't Heard of Tanlac It's Not My Fault," Says Smith.

"If any of the boys here haven't heard all about Tanlac yet, it is not my fault, for ever since this wonderful medicine fixed me up so fine I've been praising it to everybody I know," recently said Victor E. Smith, a well known switchman in the yards of the Canadian Pacific Railway and who lives at 445 Pacific Ave., Toronto.

"I suffered terribly from stomach trouble," he continued, "that had worried me constantly for the past six or seven years. My appetite was poor and soon after eating anything I would have indigestion so bad that I could hardly breathe. Bitter, acid water would rise up in my throat, and my stomach would turn like I had swallowed coals of fire. Vegetable or any sort of acid food would upset me and I would have a heavy feeling like a lump of lead in the pit of my stomach that distressed me for hours. Often I'd have such severe attacks that I would have to stop working until I could get that sour fluid off my stomach. I got so I couldn't even chew tobacco without having trouble, and my life was made miserable from one day to another.

"I had tried all kinds of medicines but nothing helped me. One day a friend told me how Tanlac had benefitted him, so I decided to try it. I have taken only two bottles so far, but they have entirely relieved my stomach trouble, I can eat anything now and never have a touch of indigestion in any form. That awful burning and heavy feeling in my stomach are gone, and even tobacco don't hurt me now at all. Tanlac is the only medicine that ever gave me any relief and I can't say too much in its praise."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Dr. trom's Drug Store, in Trenton by J. H. Dickey, in Deseronto, by W. T. Malley, in Stirling by J. S. Morton, in Frankford by W. H. Lattimer, in Madoc by J. Will Vince, in Marysville by F. J. McGahey, in Ormsby by Jas. Campbell and in Thomasburg by J. H. Blakely.

Maurice Censure Stirs Up Storm In British House of Commons

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, May 8.—The Government has issued a summons to its supporters requesting their attendance in the House of Commons on Thursday, where Mr. Asquith will move a resolution which if carried, will be a vote of censure on the Government regarding the General Maurice incident. A division is absolutely certain, says the correspondent.

Napanee Farmers Want Crops Saved

NAPANEE, May 8.—"We don't want exemption, we don't plead for exemption, we don't expect exemption for all farmers as a class, but we do want such necessary steps taken as will ensure the saving of this season's crops; and the only possible step that it appears can be taken is to grant leave of absence to actual farm workers who are now busily engaged producing food," declared Jos. Hicks, Warden of Lennox and Addington, at a special meeting of more than six hundred farmers held at Napanee to discuss conscription as affecting farmers and production. Mr. J. El Harrison, Beere of Sheffield, emphasized the need of crops conservation among farmers and advocated that if anything effective is to be done the farmers must go to Ottawa in overwhelming numbers. A committee consisting of one representative from each township was nominated to draw up resolutions and submit them to the United Farmers of Ontario, meeting at Ottawa.

RUSH FARMING IMPLEMENTS TO WESTERN CANADA

MONTREAL, May 7.—The Grand Trunk is handling a big movement of farming implements over its lines to Western Canada. The railway is moving this freight with all possible expedition, every effort being made to assist in the work of obtaining increased production of food stuffs.

Grain is now moving freely from Western to Eastern Canada. With the opening of navigation on the lakes, ships are arriving at the Georgian Bay ports, served by the railroad, with large quantities of grain for transshipment by rail to the seaboard. There was no slackening in traffic during the winter, and in spite of the very severe weather conditions the volume of traffic handled created new records.

LINDSAY, Ont., May 7.—Spalding Black, son of Manager Black of the Bank of Montreal, was thrown from a horse on Sunday and dragged half a mile by the spur sticking in the stirrup. He was unconscious for hours and is still in a dangerous condition.

NEW TAX ON AUTOS

It is stated that the second-hand automobile acquires a greater value by virtue of the new war tax on cars. The new war taxation on automobiles does not apply to the sale of second hand cars. If John Doe sells his used car to William Brown for, say, $500, no tax could be collected.

KAISER'S TRIUMPHANT ENTRY?

LONDON, May 8.—"Only 1,300 yards from the walls of Ypres" and "Our Advance on Ypres" were the joyously anticipatory headlines stretched across the front pages of the German papers on April 29, the date of Gen. von Arnim's sanguinary defeat.

It is plain, says F. W. Wile in the Daily Mail, that victory was expected during the course of the day.

Karl Rosner, the Imperial press agent, reported that the Kaiser was on the Ypres battlefield ready, of course, had events taken a different turn, to make a triumphal entry into the town.

AUSTRIA WORRIED AT HOME

ZURICH, May 8.—Reports from various quarters declare conditions in Austria are becoming serious. Revolutionary tendencies are continually cropping out. The Austrian Government denies the reports, saying the situation is "calm". The Government evidently is preparing for an important move, but it is not known just what this will be.

CANADIAN SHIP SINKS HUN SUB.

A Canadian Atlantic Port, May 8.—The first Canadian vessel to sink a submarine has arrived in this port. When about 700 miles out from the British Isles the vessel sighted a 300 foot submarine crossing her bows, about 1,500 yards in front of her, and getting up full steam attempted to ram it. The submarine dived, as, like a shark, it is necessary that it be parallel to the object which it wishes to attack. It came up soon, however, through engine trouble, it is believed. The merchant vessel in the meantime had circled and trained the French gun on her stern on the place where the submarine had sunk. When the submarine again appeared on the surface one shot was fired which hit it amidships. There was an explosion and it disappeared.

NUMBER OF NEWSPAPERS LARGELY INCREASED

That the press of Canada is in a particularly healthy condition is shown by the 1918 Edition of the Canadian Newspaper Directory, just issued by A. McKim, Limited Advertising Agency, of Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and London, Eng.

There are 1,490 publications of all kinds now being issued in Canada, as against 1,381 in 1917, an increase of 109. This number is made up of 135 dailies, 5 tri-weeklies, 47 semi-weeklies 1018 weeklies, 8 bi-weeklies, 69 semi-monthlies, 228 monthlies, 1 bi-monthly, 20 quarterlies and 2 miscellaneous.

Since the firm of A. McKim, Ltd., Canada's oldest Advertising Agency, issued its first Canadian Newspaper Directory, 27 years ago, they have seen the birth of most of the publications listed therein, and are in a position to have accurate knowledge of the growth of the press. The Canadian press have grown up. The present day condition of the publishing business of Canada enables the Dominion to boast the largest reading public in the world in proportion to population.

Besides giving full details in regard to every newspaper and other publication issued in Canada, the McKim Directory shows in concise form the business possibilities of any section of the Dominion. Its Gazetteer contains a wealth of general information regarding every town and city where a publication is issued, giving population, county seats, railroads and waterways touching each place, telegraph, express and banking facilities. With the aid of its supplementary maps, it locates every newspaper town in Canada, and the descriptions are so written that these towns may readily be visualized by the reader in relation to the territory in which they are situated and the entire Dominion.

Never before was the need and value of the up-to-date information about the Canadian market so essential, and the 1918 Edition of the Canadian Newspaper Directory comes to us at a time when such facts as it contains are in great demand by the foremost business men of Canada. The book itself is well bound, durable and neat, it is indispensible to business men of Canada, as well united to every office desk and business library in the Dominion.

Many Hun Subs Are Being Destroyed

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, May 8.—The sinking of enemy submarines has increased steadily and the sinking of merchant ships has fallen steadily, declared T. J. MacNamara, M.P. for North Camberwell, and parliamentary secretary to the Admiralty, in a speech at Bristol last night. The output of tonnage month by month is well ahead of last year. Large plans have been laid by America and Great Britain for increased output of new tonnage, but the plans must take time to mature. Meanwhile, he added, the onus of immediate output was on the United Kingdom.

SOLDIERS' VACANT LOTS.

To the Editor of The Intelligencer.

Dear Sir,—At the last meeting of the Council the undersigned suggested that a resolution be passed exempting from taxation the vacant lots owned by Belleville soldiers who are doing duty at the front. Although the suggestion was good enough to tell us where they are,

Yours very truly,

Music and Drama

"THE GIRL WITHOUT A SOUL"

"The Girl Without a Soul", in which Viola Dana stars at the Palace tomorrow to Saturday, matinee daily, has moments of thrilling realism, and contrasted with them the everyday happenings of life as it is lived in a little mountain town. The village milliner, the blacksmith, the elders of the church, all these rural types are here, as well as the sophisticated traveller who hopes to triumph because of the ignorance of the villagers, especially the young and pretty ones. Ivor, the musician, is a character that is strong by drawn, as is that of Hiram Miller, the village blacksmith; and a humorous trio-four composed of Patty Beaumont and Priscilla Beaumont, twin daughters of the old violin-mender, is played by the adorable star herself. Like all Dana pictures, "The Girl Without a Soul" is intensely human.

A very amusing Charlie Chaplin comedy, and the latest chapter of the "Mystery Ship" serial will also be exhibited.

"UNCLE TOM'S CABIN"

In many respects Uncle Tom's Cabin, which comes to Griffin's this Friday with a children's matinee at 4.15 and usual evening performance, is the most important of the season's productions. In the first place, it serves to exploit the masterpiece of two of Europe's noted artists, in Ralph Brunt's elaborate painting entitled "The Celestial City," and Hartz Verlon's picture of the New Orleans slave market; and secondly it has brought back into prominence the memories of that grand old lady, Harriet Beecher Stowe, and serves to reveal the beautiful lessons really to be learned by careful attention.

"DOUG" FAIRBANKS IN "HEADIN' SOUTH"

Distinctive scenery serves as the background for exterior scenes in "Headin' South," "Doug" Fairbanks' latest picture which will be shown at Griffin's for the last time tonight. Some of the scenes were staged in the forest of giant cactus, twenty miles from Tucson, Ariz., where the cactus ranges from ten to fifty feet in height and have been described as "sentinels of the desert."

Tonight is the last chance to see Mme. Sonia Markova, the new star whom Wm. Fox is presenting to the film world for the first time in his latest photoplay "The Painted Madonna."

"Mr. Pringle and Success", an amusing 2 part Essanay comedy will also be presented.

EXPOSES GERMAN SPY PLOTS

At Griffin's Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday the opening chapter of the great twenty episode serial, "The Eagle Eye," will be shown. This serial will be quite the most dramatic, novel and sensational production ever made, either on the stage or screen. Each episode will be complete in itself, and each will reveal an actual occurrence in the investigations by or by William J. Flynn recently retired Chief of the United States secret service to unmask and frustrate the plots of Ambassador Von Bernstorff, Dr. Albert, Captain Von Papen and Captain Boy-Ed, military and naval attaches of the German Embassy, Wolf Von Igel, and other master minds of the Imperial German Spy System in the United States. Each of these men will be impersonated in the story and his place in the systematic intrigues and espionage which have been going on in America for several years will be most convincingly shown.

"THE BELGIAN"

"The Belgian", Sidney Olcott's heart interest spectacle of martyred Belgium is being presented at Griffin's Thursday and Saturday, matinee and night. Mr. Olcott has made the war not the subject of his picture, but a setting for his story; and yet he has given us, in their proper perspective, cavalry raids, armored motor cars, trenco scenes which even army experts can find no fault.

"Mother Machree" must have been "A" wearing in the errors' under "A little bit O' Heaven" when Edith Kennedy wrote "Molly Entangled", which is the delightful Griffin Screen latest photoplay, being screened on the same programme.

The big chapter of Vitagraph's thrilling Western serial, "Vengeance and the Woman," and the Griffin News Weekly, the latest reel of real news, will also be shown.

MARY PICKFORD SEEKS REST.

Worn out by her labors in behalf of the Liberty loan and greatly affected by the reports in circulation and circulation through the statement of Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks that she and her husband have separated, Mary Pickford, film idol of the world, will at once go into total retirement and will see no one, not even members of her family, for at least three weeks.

This statement was given out at Los Angeles, California, by Miss Lotta Pickford, sister of the motion picture star. Miss Lottie refused to state where her sister was, but declared she was not in California.

"I have promised not to tell where Mary is," said Miss Lotta, "and she is not in this state. My sister is on the verge of nervous prostration, not only on account of the notoriety she has recently received in the papers concerning her alleged relation to a certain other star, but because she is worn out with her work in behalf of the Liberty Loan. She sold $1,000,000 worth of Liberty bonds by her personal efforts, and was so engrossed in the work that after she needed on many occasions to speak only ten minutes she kept right at it, speaking an hour or half an hour at a time. Mary will not see anyone during the next three weeks at least. She wishes to be entirely alone, and will be."

In relation to the report that Mary Pickford intended establishing her talented husband, Owen Moore, in the studio of his own, Moore today said: "I do not know, and I prefer to say nothing."

Pains Followed Nerves

From the Feet to the Top of the Head —Could Not Attend to Business — For Five Months—Gaining Strength Every Day.

Bonnanville, Ont., May 8.—A great number of people in this district have been trying out Dr. Chase's Nerve Food with splendid results and more are more enthusiastic than Mr. Allen.

His nervous system had become so completely run down that he had to give up his usual occupation and he suffered keenly from neuralgic pains which would start along the nerves, causing keen distress.

But he found a cure and does not hesitate to recommend it to others. This is his letter.

Mr. Samuel Allen, Coleman street, Bonnanville, Ont., writes:

"Last summer I suffered from a severe attack of nervousness. I was laid up, unable to attend to my business, for five months. I would be taken with pains which commenced in my feet and run right up to the top of my head. I had frequent dizzy spells, sometimes so bad that I would fall over from unconsciousness. At last I commenced a treatment of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and my system got such benefit to me that before long I was able to return to work. I am still using the Nerve Food and gaining in strength every day. I can heartily recommend them to anyone suffering from nervous trouble of any kind."

This letter is endorsed by Mr. John Lyle, J.P.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, a full treatment of 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations only disappoint.

Red-blooded men of courage are on the firing line—and there are many anemic, weak, discouraged men and women left at home.

At this time of the year most people suffer from a condition often called Spring Fever. They feel tired, worn out, before the day is half thru. They may have frequent headaches and sometimes "dizzy spells" or pale skin.

Bloodless people, thin, anemic people, those with pale cheeks and lips, who have a poor appetite and feel that tired, worn or feverish condition in the springtime of the year, should try the refreshing tonic powers of a good alterative and blood purifier. Such a one is extracted from Blood root, Golden Seal and Stone root, Queen's root and Oregon Grape root, made up with chemically pure glycerine and without the use of alcohol. This can be obtained in ready-to-use tablet form in fifty-cent vials, as druggists have sold it for fifty years as Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is a standard remedy that can be obtained in tablet or liquid form.

WINDSOR, Ont.—" Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery' is a splendid tonic for blood and nerves. I have used it with weak lungs, weakening spells and sick headaches, but since I have taken the above mentioned medicines these conditions have left me.

"Such medicines as Dr. Pierce's are worthy of praise and I am very glad to add my testimonial to the thousands of others."—MRS. ELLEN HARDING, 21 Erie Street, West.

Scores of New Canadian Industries

Millions of Dollars Invested in Building Plants Along the Grand Trunk.

Montreal, May 8.—With the brisk demand prevailing for all forms of munitions and products, many new industries continue to be attracted to Eastern Canada.

Along the lines of the Grand Trunk Railway have located during the past number of industrial plants has been very marked. More than forty large factories have been built in the past year in Ontario and Quebec during the past twelve months. These new plants represent a capital investment of nearly $11,000,000, and will employ six thousand hands.

Many new additions have also been made to existing plants. These extensions, at twelve representative points along the Grand Trunk, have called for an increase in the capital investment amounting to several millions of dollars, and the employment of some thousands of extra hands.

C. P. Hebert, Jr. Fitzsimmons, Commissioner of Industries, Grand Trunk Railway System, states that the demand for new industries, and additions to existing sidings, to take care of the increased industrial effort has been continuous. While encouraging in every way possible with the Board of Trade and committees and individuals interested in industrial development, the railroad has done all in its power to promote increased production of "home" products. A special train carrying exhibits of grain, roots, grasses, poultry and model dairy apparatus visited a large number of farming communities where lectures on better farming were delivered by acreditable experts.

Huns Destroy Hospital

PARIS, May 7.—The hostal established near the front by Dr. Alexis Carrel and Dr. Dehelly, which for years has been persistently bombed by German aviators, and now is almost entirely destroyed, despite the fact that it consistently flew a flag bearing a Red Cross and was further identified by an immense white cross marked on the lawn. The wounded were successfully removed.

VICTORIA

On Tuesday evening, April 30, a reception was given at the home of Mr. Everett Brickman, to welcome Pte. J. H. Backis back among us, after serving four years in the army. About eighty friends and neighbors gathered at the home about 8.30, it being a great surprise to Pte. Backler. During the evening the following address was read by Mrs. M. B. Wesse. The presentation was made by Mr. Lorne Brickman:

To Mr. Bert Buckler.

Dear Bert:—We have met here tonight to welcome you from across the seas to your former home and old friends and associations.

Knowing that your stay among us is limited we wish to express to you our appreciation of your services to your country. We are so pleased that you have been spared to return to Canada, and yet still with thousands of others you have "done your bit." It seems but a short time since you were among the bright and well and strong, eager to do your part here as a soldier of the soil, but still more eager to join the ranks of brave boys across the seas. We all know with what determination you fought a place in your battalion, and under what difficulties you were allowed to go to France.

Feeling it to be your duty you left kind home and comfortable surroundings to put up with the hardships of training and camp life and so looked forward eagerly to your letters, glad to know that you had not forgotten your old Victoria friends.

We are proud that you took your place in the ranks, and with heroic courage marched with our boys in the front line. Dear boy, we realize that you have made a great sacrifice, have endured pain and hunger and host days of patient suffering that we might hold our own and prevent disaster in the fields of Flanders. Every soldier on our roster rolls has done his bit bravely and well. We hope and trust that these sacrifices will not be in vain and that soon success of our allied arms will lift the cloud in France and the dark days will be dispersed by victory.

In welcoming you to night we hope you will accept this small token of our appreciation of your work and sacrifice and we join hands and hearts in wishing you many, many years of success and happiness. Trusting God you will always feel a warm welcome among us.

In distant lands where we shall never roam,
Your part in that great awful war you played,
While we, in blood-bought safety here at home,
Together prayed.

Dear soldier boy, a thousand loving prayer
Are woven with this little gift we make,
God give you strength and keep you in his care,
For Christ's dear sake.

Signed on behalf of the friends and neighbors,

MR. LORNE BRICKMAN.

Pte. Backler gave a very suitable reply. A pair of military spurs were presented to him, also a purse of money. After the address was read lunch was served. The evening was spent in music and social intercourse. The party broke up at 12 P.M., all regarding a very enjoyable evening.

CANADA WILL BE MECCA OF TOURISTS

Montreal, May 8.—Grand Trunk officials anticipate a considerable volume of war travel this season. With the prevailing stress of war conditions a very general desire is being shown to escape for a few weeks to the cities for the serious where quiet and rest may be obtained. It is believed that very large numbers will visit Canada from the United States will seek the Canadian lake land resorts, such as Algonquin Park, Muskoka Lakes and the Lake of Bays. These are no reserves in the eastern section of the United States that compare with Algonquin Park or Temagami, where there is everything that is dear to the heart of the lover of out-door life. The Algonquin Park has an area of about four thousand square miles, and has within its boundaries more than fifteen hundred lakes and streams. With her great natural attractions Canada will owe much to attract the tourist, says the railroad men.

OUR WEEKLY SERMON

By Rev. A. M. Hubly.

THE SIN-WOE OF THE WORLD

Rev. 12:9.

As we read this wonderful, weird and mysterious book of Revelation we may be tempted to say with the Psalmist, concerning divine mystery "It is too wonderful for me, it is high I cannot attain unto it." But when we remember what is set forth in the opening paragraph are bound to give it a time attention, or do ourselves inexcusable injustice.

The book begins with statements of great importance to everyone who is enslaved with power to think.

It declares itself as being "The Revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave to Him, to show unto His servants," It also says: "Blessed is he that readeth, and they that hear the words of this prophecy, and keep those things which are written therein."

We have read and heard, this evening, strange declarations from the sacred page of the record of an apocalyps of the plan of the world's redemption, triumphs and failures, and the book which shall issue when all sin is conquered, and the race of Adam restored to its original state of holiness and happy communion with God. It was given to John, the servant of Jesus, to see some things which he was specially bid to write and portray.

This should not seem more strange to us, when we remember that the things that were unfolded to him were spiritual and heavenly, while he lived and moved in earthly scenes and could not describe them with. Hence, our difficulty when we attempt to interpret the book is found in the strange language made use of by the inspired apostle. The chapter read for our lesson this evening presents a series of animated scenes most difficult of interpretation with any degree of certainty. We are confronted with the immodest declaimers of various cults who tell their hearers of their experiences above all that ever were before them; and who can reveal the very secrets of the God-head, and tell us all mystery can overmine the souls of men in time and eternity.

We who know when the war will end, when the Lord will come; where heaven and hell are, and what each place is like!

Those men advertise their disbelief as well as their immodesty by the shocking of their own remarks, heard in the false notes of past apostacy. Our scripture records the fact that the apostle had a vision of seven angels who with blast of trumpet would announce woe upon the earth.

The first four had sounded. The earth had been scorched, the sea had been smitten with a curse, the waters of the earth had become bitter and sickening; the luminous bodies of the universe had been partially darkened.

Then, an angel proclaimed that the remaining three trumpets would result in terrible woe to all things. Notwithstanding all the former woes, men repented not, but still blasphemed God. Then was "an angel flying through the midst of heaven, saying with a loud voice: "Woe, woe, woe to the inhabitants of the earth, by reason of the other voices of the trumpets of the three angels which are yet to sound!"

And when the fifth trumpet sounded we see a star fallen from heaven to earth. The star is a person, for, "To him was given the key of the bottomless pit." As we read this we see the fallen one mingles naturally, even to what Jesus said, as is recorded by Luke: "I beheld Satan as lightning fall from heaven," and we wonder if there is not some connect-ion, the one with the other.

As we read further, the idea of the fallen, illuminated Satan, that Jesus saw, and the falling star which John saw, shines clearer.

Let us read the second and third verses of the chapter before us: "And he," i.e. the "star," "opened the bottomless pit, and there arose a smoke out of the pit as the smoke of a great furnace; and the sun and the air were darkened by reason of the smoke of the pit. And there came out of the smoke locusts upon the earth; and unto them was given power as the possess of the earth have power."

Now read the promise of Jesus to His disciples when He saw Satan fall as lightning: "Behold, I give unto you power to tread on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy; and nothing shall by any means hurt you."

As we meditate upon these two pictures of Satan's fall, we see him as light shining from the obscurity of each that speaks in one great illumination of truth.

Then I read seem very plain that the storm of infernal locusts which came out of the smoke which rose from that abyss of evil represent to us the errors and vices that come from the domain of Satan and fill this world with iniquity. Centre your thought for a moment upon the smoke that rose from the bottomless pit, that darkened the sun and the air. Does not this smoke represent the lax moral and religious atmosphere which poisons the mental vision with regard to a proper discernment of good and evil.

May it not be that this smoke represents the veil, by which the gods of this world blind the eyes of many that would do good if they could only see through the mists of unbelief? There are many who would turn from evil and do good, but make the mistake of following the promptings of the old adage: "Fight the devil with his own fire." It is the lack of moral and spiritual discernment which leads so many to "do evil that good may come," and makes possible so much sin and misery in places where we least expect it. This radical notion of improving upon God's prescribed methods of overcoming the world, its sin and misery, are as reptiles and scorpions which issue from the black abyss of evil, but, by the wiles of Satan, made deceptively beautiful.

We see this in the doings of both church and state. The organic, like Master, finds it impossible to win men into the enjoyment of a holy life because of their sinful state of heart. Master, rather than go to the cross, she has resorted to more worldly methods: the passing of laws by a house of prayer by the few, but for the many it must be an institutional building where creed is the main point of issue, and where the people will pay to play.

In politics of nations, the brightwinged locusts are very busy. There never has been a political party in power that has not done things in the tacit consent of good men and women, which were a disgrace, even to heathenism. We see this evil in the business world. The straining of the most of men in trade to get the best of their fellows, the holding on their heads, and losing the church like respectable men, who openly record: and "Christian" in spirit, "liar," and yet in advertising their wares, practice the black art of deception as arch fiends.

Is not sin in any form like scorpions? Scientists tell us that these detestable creatures bite, but do not necessarily cause death, yet the bite inflames the flesh and produces intense pain. Sin does not always cause either physical or spiritual death; but it does produce that which properly disgusts—as moral nature, and brings pain to every man bitten by it. Be sure your sins will find you out. And then the deceptive power will seek its venom with heart-breaking remorse. I venture the statement. There is not a home in this Christian empire that has not seen, some one, or more of its circle stung by the power of evil. These locusts seem to be prepared for war present from things for our consideration: the power of their king, and that it is always ready to battle against the right. There is not a reform movement in all the world that is not assailed for the protection of maiden purity and child-hood's innocence.

When we remember that sin overcame one of The Twelve so that he betrayed his Master, and that in the darkness of a night that knows no ending; and that it also had hold of the valiant Peter, so that he denied to shun it, even in its most winsome form.

We notice that those locusts had like this unto a woman. In other words, they were as fascinatingly winsome as woman. There is not a person in all the world that can wield a power for good or evil equal to that of woman.

William Wirt, the eloquent orator, was saved from a drunkard's grave by a good woman who won his love and respect, and he is only one of thousands thus rescued from sin, ruin and death.

On the other hand: Samson, of scriptural fame, lost his God-given strength through the seductive influences of Goddess Delilah; and Mark Antony, one of Rome's greatest generals, would have been crowned second Augustus Caesar, if it had not been for his guilty love for Egypt's fair Queen Cleopatra.

O ye women! Remember the Most High has given to you mighty power, and use that power for good and holy purposes; then, in the great season, men will rise up and call you "blessed." These locusts had breast plates of iron." Sin is always ready for defence. Dare to raise a hand against one, even of its smallest vices, and it presents a form strong as iron, and marshals its hosts to defend. He that will not fight for the right against the wrong, is not worthy of the name of man.

These locusts had crowns like unto gold. Sin is always ready to crown its votaries with honor. Its rewards are always tempting. Its promises are always fair. Its pleasures are always alluring. Its faces were as the faces of men. Sin is always ready to look you in the face, and to meet you on the level of your own intelligence. Its hair was as the hair of women. Sin is always ready to appeal to the sensuous nature of man. Its teeth were as the teeth of lions. Sin is always ready to devour its victims. Its tails were like unto scorpions, and there were stings in their tails. Sin is always ready to sting its victims with remorse, and to poison the soul with the venom of hell.

These locusts were like unto horses prepared unto battle. See the faces of our noble sons, looking out from their homes. Have not these winged creatures the fascinating influence of woman for winning to their embrace the flower of our young manhood?

I could go much further describing the fiery-colored locusts of dread and mysterious things seen by the apostle, had I more time, but must close.

Let me say this: Beware of them! There is no place where each of us can be prepared for all warfare and stand safe-guarded against all devilish devices, "They that dwell in the secret place of the Most High, shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty."

QUEBEC DISCOVERS THE MOTE.

The committee investigating the need of reform in the Catholic schools of the Province of Quebec has reported to the Department of Public Instruction of that province urging that more English geography and Canadian history be taught. The concensus of opinion of the committee after hearing the views of scores of teachers, both lay and clerical, was that greater stress should be laid upon the teaching of English in all the schools of the province. It would appear that the educational propagandists of Quebec have been so busy complaining about the schools of Ontario not teaching enough French that they have neglected the teaching of English in Quebec schools. Now they may leave Ontario alone for a time while they are busy removing the mote from their own educational eye.

The report of the committee practically proves what has long been charged, that the vast majority of Quebec schools treat the English language more as a disease than as a necessary adjunct to life in Canada.

THE RED TRIANGLE AND THE SOLDIERS.

The campaign to raise two and a quarter million dollars for the Canadian Y. M. C. A. war work, or the Red Triangle, a symbol of good cheer, rest and fellowship for the weary soldier, is making wonderful strides toward accomplishment, and the objective dates not look nearly as large as it did at first. Public spirited men and women everywhere in Canada are giving freely of their time and talents to roll up a mighty fund to enable the Y. M. C. A. to carry out the splendid work of ministering to the comfort of the soldiers on the firing line and in the training camps. The city of Toronto, which with exemplary patriotic zeal, assumes to lead in all war efforts, has launched a campaign to raise half a million dollars for the Red Triangle Fund and the City Council leads the way with a grant of $75,000.

The Canadian Y. M. C. A. is asking for $2,250,000 to enable it to "carry on" for another year. This will mean that nearly one of the boys in camp in Canada, in England, and in France, will be given something of the joys of home for the nominal sum of between five and six dollars per man. Looked at in this light the Y. M. C. A. budget appears modest in the extreme. Candidly, we should like to know of any other institution that gives the same value for the money.

Many a mother, if she had a family, would gladly donate the two and a quarter millions asked for to continue and extend this work, if thereby she could secure for her son the comforts, the solace, and the close, intimate touch with home that the Y. M. C. A. provides.

Till the boys come home, the Red Triangle takes home to the boys. What every man and woman of us would do for the boys "over there" had we but the chance, the Y. M. C. A. can do and is doing for us. Its system of work is a triumph of organization. Not only does it reach every man, but it ministers to every side of each man. As the flaming red three-sided symbol indicates, body, mind and spirits are catered to. Tired bodies, minds made soggy by the monotony of camp life, souls distressed and torn by loneliness and temptation, are strengthened and renewed by this ministry.

WAR FICTION SHOULD WAIT UNTIL AFTER THE WAR.

When you come to think of it, war is all that Sherman said it was and more, and we get so much of it that we begin to think it is served up in too frequent and large doses. The news columns of the daily papers are eagerly scanned for the latest stories from the battlefronts and between editions bulletins are closely watched. That is the function of newspapers and a phase of war activities that the public is entitled to and reasonably expects, but when war is so real and tragic and so fraught with fearful consequences to the nation and the individual, the flood of motion picture books, magazine plays and films, rather than for war weariness than accomplishes any good. Even the editorial columns of the daily newspaper seems to dwell a little too much on the war situation in sympathy with the news columns, for it is difficult to write of anything else when the mind is full of war. Be that as it may, the people persists in their demand for war and war stuff, and there is grotesque to say the least and anticipates the period when war fiction will be palatable by many mouths or at least until the close of the war.

The position taken by a well-known French theatrical producer against war plays must strike a responsive chord in many hearts. Having served in the army of France in the present struggle and been retired with honorable wounds his opinion on war plays has special significance. He says:

> "I hold that the true artist should refrain from touching this sacred thing. The more alive the patriotic feeling in a well-balanced soul, all the more does an instinctive reserve forbid us to make use of it. Those who are making war, those who are really feeling it, give us the best example of this discretion.
> "All belligerent literature is abhorrent to them. A few rare poems, the letters of our soldiers, the books of our officers, the stories of a few reliable eye-witnesses—that is what the war will produce as long as it lasts. But no literature, no bombastic tirades, no theatrical effects. Similarly we whom the war spares should not speculate on a counterfeit of the tragedy in order to augment the receipts at the box-office. We should not make the cannon thunder in the wings, nor unfold on the stage the flag of battles, nor clothe an actor in the garb of a hero. To do so is a disgusting spectacle, and I shall never consent to it."

The Easiest Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

The Poet's Corner

TWENTY YEARS AFTER.

In after years, when your young son asks what you did in the war, you may, you be able to look him in the face and say, "I was there."—From a daily paper.

"Ever in a battle, daddy?" asked a bright-eyed winsome lad;
He'd been reading in his schoolbook of our brave Canadian sons,
Who had fought and bled in Flanders, driving the Allies' hard oppressors,
Leaving behind for world freedom and defeating the fierce Hun.

"I was there, my boy, at Vimy; it was where my brother Jimmy Met a soldier's death and won the cross your grandma proudly keeps;
I have visited his grave there, set a wind-kissed maple tree above.
On the green and flow'ry hillside your brave boy uncle sleeps.

"Some may say there's too much glory set forth in that battle story—
You can't look them fairly in the eye—
And say your dad was there.
See, that when we son of Vimy,
That our own brave Uncle Jimmy
Led a charge and died for Canada
That all that's right and fair.

"In the days when you've grown older, you, too, may be a brave soldier,
Then you'll remember Vimy Ridge
And the heroes sleeping there;
Their fair lake shall give you courage to withstand the fiercest carnage
That an enemy may shower hot, from land, or sea, or air.

"Canada shall hold that there, when this land's crown old and bare,
Those brave lads who fought so nobly,
Their memory shall be cherished,
And their men'ry shall be cherished,
when earth's meaner things have perished
Their upheld the flag of freedom at our cross would do again.

TO RELIEVE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength) and add ½ pint of hot water and a little of granulated sugar. Take a teaspoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing becomes easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Any one who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

DULLED THE KNIFE'S PAIN

Power of Music to Help Suffering Soldier.

The following example of endurance and quiet heroism is the record of an actual occurrence. Its truth, says the Winnipeg Tribune, is vouched for by the surgeon-colonel in charge of one of the Canadian hospitals, who was a practising physician in Vancouver before the war.

A soldier came to Canada in sunny Tuscany, who came to Canada in 1912, left his home and family and is reservist at the beginning of the war. After marching for days in the dangers of flame years of war, unscathed, he was wounded severely in a recent engagement. On examination it was found necessary to perform a serious operation, although, even if the operation proved successful, his recovery was far from certain. At any rate, it had to be done. The soldier was willing but he did not want to be enfeebled with chloroform or other. The time came when they wheeled him into the operating room and with him came another soldier who stood by the side of the wounded man.

"You are in the way," the surgeon said kindly but firmly to the friend. "Step back."

The soldier friend changed his place to the other side of the table without a word.

An assistant produced the mask and bottle, but as one of the latter put up a hand.

"No," he said, "not that. I will not have it."

"You must," said the kindly surgeon.

"I will not," he answered. "There is no truth in it. I have something far better." He motioned to the other soldier and the surgeon thinking that the latter had brought some opiate or other with him, decided that it could not bother with any uncertain methods. The man on the table seemed to guess what was in the surgeon's mind for he made a last appeal.

"Sirs," he said, "this, my friend will keep me good. You go ahead, and I will not feel the knife, you can put that thing on me. But not else, remember."

The surgeon said the doctor. "It will hurt terribly."

"Oh what," was the only reply.

The surgeon began, and as they heard a swift gash and blood flowed the red blood was po ring from the gaping wound, the friend received the companion sang an Italian hymn:

> "Vieni, celeste Re
> Vaglian cantare a Te
> Le tue Lod
> Sia pace ed gioia
> Di pace e gaitia;
> Sia pace e Gloria
> Nell' alto ciel."

The man on the table joined in. He sang into a part of the second verse and then the companion went on alone. The dark blood lay in little puddles on the floor while dressings, stained a deep crimson, were scattered everywhere. Gradually the knife and the scalpel and the sponge and the needle and the needle and deep sutures were made in his living flesh. Still the man on the table did not move.

The other sang, all air verses—sang them twice and then again and then it was over. The joy of his song of adortion had dulled the pain and assuaged his sufferings.

The man and his friend passed out, and the friend heard:

Schooners for Eskimos.

A couple of made-in-Edmonton schooners left that city for the Arctic coast recently. They were intended for use on the Polar sea by the Eskimos, who had ordered them from the Edmonton builders and will pay for them in furs at the rate of something more than $2,000 apiece. Each of the schooners is a craft of 56 feet in length, and about three tons' weight and carried a spread of canvas on two masts. It will be the first time that Eskimos have had their destination. At Fort McPherson they will be turned over to the white men who will use them in coasting along the Arctic mainland during the short season. The Eskimos, it seems, are expert boatmen, but they have no boats, for their summer afloat, taking their families with them on the caribou. Before Edmonton began supplying them with these boats they had the habit of buying them, sometimes at high prices, from American whalers.

The Northern Boat Building Company has made the schooners that are building for the Eskimos. After reaching the Slave river, via Fort McMurray, the boats will be towed down the Slave and Mackenzie to Fort McPherson.

Turks and Caicos Islands.

Turks and Caicos Islands form a dependency under the government of Jamaica, but geographically they are a portion of the Bahamas, of which they form the two southeastern groups. There are upwards of 30 small islands with an area of 165 square miles, but twenty eight are inhabited. The population is about 8,000, of whom only 300 are whites. The most important industry is the salt raking.

Every time the Huns meet a decided reverse they strafe something. Be-fated in the south, they vented their spite by destroying Rheims with long distance shelling; beaten back in the north and west they have set about burning their hate into Amiens. What a bill of indemnity they will have to pay when settling up day comes.

German activity in Mexico is now reported, and Hun agents are busy trying to stir up trouble there in an effort to keep a large section of the United States army from proceeding overseas. Germany's policy is the most prominent feature of the Kaiser's conduct of the war, which is devoid of a single redeeming feature. The Kaiser knew that he could not win by fair means nor by ordinary fair means, so he descended to extraordinary foul methods in a super-fiendish attempt to accomplish his aim.

"On the Side," in Toronto News springs the following good 'un: From McAree's paper. "Shall a man swear off smoking in order to save his money, or shall he continue to be an industrious smoker to contribute more to the revenue of the Government? The ayes have it." This merry cloudiness reminds us of a famous conversation between an Irish captain and his men.

"Men, we are going over the top. Will ye fight like the divils ye are, or will ye run away?"

"We will," answered the men with one voice.

"Which will ye do?" asked the captain.

"We will not," was the rejoinder.

"Ah," said the captain with a gladsome smile, "I thought ye would."

Montreal a Busy Port

Who would think of finding a busy seaport one thousand miles from the sea? Canada, that land of marvelous development, has one—it is Montreal, its metropolis— Built on the Island of Montreal that lifts Mount Royal where the waters of the great St. Lawrence and Ottawa Rivers mingle, its site is admirable. This marks the head of ocean navigation and here the great ocean-crossing ships meet the lake and river boats. The cargoes brought from the west by boat and rail are transferred to ocean carriers and start on their way to faraway ports by an initial voyage down the mighty St. Lawrence, thirty feet deep at this point.

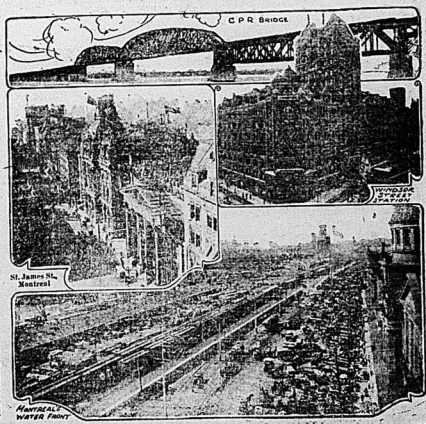

During 1917 Montreal witnessed the sailing away from her wharves of more than sixty-five million bushels of grain. Over two-thirds of this grain came into Montreal by rail, chiefly on the tracks of the Canadian Pacific Railway and was handled with little or no congestion. This was accomplished through a co-operative arrangement. The representatives of all transportation lines met in conference with Montreal's Harbour Commission and after discussion decided that 650 cars of export freight should be delivered daily by the lines, the Commissioners undertaking to handle that amount without congestion. This they have done successfully.

Because of secrecy entailed by the war, little has been heard concerning movements of vessels and it will surprise many to learn that 647 ocean vessels came into Montreal harbour during 1917. Naturally passenger travel has been greatly curtailed. The war demands nearly all available ship space for the transport of supplies. These have been going forward in immense quantities and landed on the other side with comparatively few losses — thanks to the efficient convoy system maintained by England. In addition to the great grain shipments, other products of the fruitful Prairie Provinces—meats, fresh and cured, butter and cheese—are going forward in a steady stream to feed the hungry millions of Europe and our armies overseas.

This volume of shipping means increasing activity in the elevators, warehouses and along Montreal's waterfront. It has given an added stimulus to shipbuilding, the 1917 output of one firm being 5 steel trawler hulls, and installed supplied boilers and machinery; 6 steel trawler hulls complete with boilers and machinery; 26 wooden drifter hulls; installed machinery and boilers in 16 drifters; built and launched one 7,000-ton cargo boat; docked and repaired 30 vessels—a creditable showing. There are many more yards and they have all been correspondingly busy. Recently a new departure in shipbuilding was initiated when a concrete vessel was launched. If developments justify the use of this sort of craft, Montreal shipyards are ready to embark in the new industry. Such an event would call for more labourers and the installation of new machinery, all adding to Montreal's prosperity. There have been no labor troubles and work goes on week days, holidays and Sundays, without interruption. Not one of the 214 days—May to November, inclusive—was an idle day in the shipyards. These busy, well-paid workers spell good business for Montreal's merchants.

BULLIES IN HUN PRISON CAMP

THE HAGUE, May 7.—Amongst the odious tools of the Kaiser employed in German prison camps are two brothers who claim to have enjoyed American citizenship for many years. They have earned unenviable notoriety for their inhuman treatment of British officers and men. The individuals in question rejoice in the name of Nietzger; their ages lie between fifty and sixty, and both are Hauptmann (Captains) of the reserves. They speak most fluent but execrable English, and are decorated with the Iron Cross of the second class.

The theme of their activities lies in the Youth, or Hanover, Army command, which grows under the despotic rule of Lieut.-Gen. Hanish, who selected the Nietzgers as his partners for arms. Hanish, as Commander of the Tenth Army Corps, is directly responsible to the Kaiser, and to no one else. Morland set for the dastardly work of ill-treating the British by their knowledge of English, and by their claim of acquaintance with English and American customs, the Nietzgers have given their chief no regret on account of their selection.

Active, plausible, relentless, and ambitious to earn the favor of the General, the two German-American Captains are well able to execute the every instructions of the venomous Hanish. No one has been left untormented to humiliate, bully, rob and injure the unfortunate victims of this iniquitous command.

BELGIUM IS FULL OF GERMAN WOUNDED.

Two Hundred and Sixty-Five Trains Counted in Three Days.

Amsterdam, May 7.—Two hundred and sixty-five trains full of wounded soldiers returning to Germany from the battlefronts in Picardy and Flanders, says the newspaper Les Nouvelles of The Hague, were counted in the daytime on April 9, April 11 and April 12 on the Saumur-Liege railway. The transports were so crowded that the Germans were even using open coal cars to carry the wounded.

Hospitals, convents, schools and factories in Belgium, the paper adds, are all packed with wounded.

STATE LIQUOR OWNERSHIP REPORTED FEASIBLE

LONDON, May 7.—The English, Scotch and Irish committees appointed to investigate the purchase and control by the Senate of the liquor traffic have reported in favor of the feasibility of the scheme. The cost is estimated at more than $2,000,000,000, but less than $2,500,000,000.

Coconut Oil Makes A Splendid Shampoo

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless, is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as it can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

Soldiers Guard Manger Cradle

Birthplace Of The Saviour At "Bethlehem" Is Beautifully Lighted

LONDON May 6.—From Bethlehem a youthful British soldier writes to a friend here:

"I am on guard at present and it is a great honor, I can tell you, that I am guarding the birthplace and manger of our Lord. It is a wonderful place, and I never thought when I used to read about it that one day I should stand and guard it. The birthplace is marked by a fourteen-pointed silver star, presented by the French Government. The stable is hung with lamps from all different countries, and they look beautiful; and I might add they are always alight. The manger itself is cut in a natural rock, but marble has been put in to keep it in a good state of preservation."

CHECK APPLAUSE HABIT.

Wrist Watches Said to Put a Damper On People in Audiences.

A observant investor in a Minneapolis stock company offers an interesting explanation for the decline of the applause habit among playgoers—wrist watches. Many theatregoers are chary about exemplifying in the usual way their approval of the work of the actors because they have found that hand-clapping decreases the time pieces. In some audiences there are so many wrist watch wearers, all silent, that the scattered applause may make isolated sounds like carpet beater working in different parts of a vacant lot.

BLIND SOLDIER HAS RECOVERED HIS SIGHT

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Blinded by a shell explosion at the battle of Gallipoli, in the early months of the war, Thomas Skerbill, an Anzac private, had his sight restored here by a simple operation on the vertebrae of his neck. Examination of Skerbill, who has been lecturing throughout the country in the interests of the Third Liberty Loan, showed a vertebrae at the back of the spinal column slightly out of position and a correction easily was made, with the result that the blindness was dispelled. Physicians explained that the displaced vertebrae had impaired nerveimpulses of nerves indirectly to sight.

U. S. TIGHTENS WATCH ON ALL HER PORTS.

Washington, May 6.—The House passed the Administration Passport Bill requiring all persons entering the United States to have a Government permit and giving the President broad powers in restricting entrance or exit from American ports.

During debate on the bill Representative Flood of Virginia, chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee, declared hundreds of American citizens now in Germany are detained by the United States and that their country knows they are disloyal.

MONK FROM QUEBEC CITED FOR BRAVERY

Quebec, May 7.—Father Gregoire a Canadian Monk, and for years a well-known London preacher here, has been cited anew in the orders of the day of the French army for conspicuous bravery on the field of battle. The recipient of the cross as a reward for his gallantry on the eastern front is reported dead of the British and French armies on the occasion of the German offensive.

SIR JOSEPH FLAVELLE DENIES MCKENZIE CHARGES

OTTAWA, May 7.—"There is no truth in the statement that the Duke is to be placed in a responsible position in the Borden Government," was the statement made in the House by D. D. McKenzie of Cape Breton, in which the inference was that Sir Joseph was interested in a company which made a profit on munitions transactions. "The Duke per cent goes to the Northern Electric Company in recognition of expert assistance in the delicate business of manufacturing fuses."

MR. GORTON SAYS

NUJOL LABORATORIES,
STANDARD OIL COMPANY (New Jersey)
BAYONNE, NEW JERSEY.

Dear Sirs:—

I am 74 years of age, and had chronic constipation for years. I have suffered much at times trying to get relief by using physics. Now I use Nujol every morning just an hour before eating, and find it sure to give relief without griping pains of any kind. It leaves no bad results.

I cannot say too much in favor of Nujol as the best remedy for constipation, sour or burning stomach; it gets away with those troubles right away. My friends use it with the same results, never fails, no griping, no physicking, no inconvenience. I surely recommend it to all sufferers from constipation, old or young.

Hurley, South Dakota, Yours truly,
January 3, 1917. J. B. GORTON.

Mr. Gorton's letter is a valuable endorsement of Nujol to every sufferer from constipation. In all cases Nujol is a gentle, natural aid to normal bowel-action.

Don't merely tell your druggist, "Give me something for constipation." Insist on Nujol. You then protect your health against harmful pills and salts—you run no risk of making the bowels dependent on laxatives and cathartics. There is not a single drug in Nujol! It is a safe remedy for young and old that makes you "regular as clockwork."

SOOM IN VICTORY BONDS

MONTREAL, May 1.—The chief effect of the budget announcements regarding new taxation, as noted in the Street, was some increased enquiry for Victory Bonds. As the meaning of the heavily increased scale of taxation on large incomes sinks in, it is expected that something approaching a boom will develop in the Victory and the unexempted bonds of the earlier war loans, because of their entire exemption from all Federal taxation.

BEES IN THE SPRINGTIME

Fine Weather Necessary When They Are Taken From Cellar.

PAINFUL DISEASE CURED

Interesting Information for Dairymen Regarding Success in New Treatment—Overheating of Udder—Late Spring Suggestions For the Farmer.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

THE arrival of spring brings up the question, "When and how shall I set my bees out of the Cellar?" to the minds of all farmer beekeepers. The answer calls for judgment on the part of each beekeeper. The factors which must take a part in forming correct judgment are (1) the cellar, (2) the bees, and (3) the season.

The ideal cellar will permit the beekeeper to keep his bees confined much longer than will an ordinary cellar. This is desirable. A fairly dry, dark, easily regulated and ventilated cellar when the temperature can be maintained at 45 degrees Fahr. is ideal. Very few Ontario farm cellars will meet these requirements, however, so that the weather conditions play a more prominent part in the farmer-beekeeper's decision.

As a rule, the farmer-beekeeper will do well to carefully select opportune weather and to give the colony some protection after setting out. Warm fine weather favors the cellar and when the wood gets around to the south and east, with a prospect for rain on the morrow, start in the evening and move out all possible. Contract all entrances to suit size of colony, giving strong colonies approximately ¾ in. by 2 in. and arrange a cushion of chaff (4 to 6 inches thick at least) over the brood chamber. It pays to pack the sides as well, especially in the northern sections of Ontario. Special packing boxes of ¾ in. material are made for this purpose, giving 2 to 4 inches packing room. A shock to brood rearing is very much reduced by packing and entrance therefore built up more rapidly.—W. A. Weir, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, Ontario.

To Treat Inflamed Udder of Cows.

Mammitis or inflammation of the udder is a frequent disease in cows. It is caused by irregular milking, exposure to cold and dampness, wounds, bruises, rough or careless handling during milking, and chills, in many cases appears without well marked cause.

Symptoms.—One or more quarters of the udder become swollen, hard and tender. The patient becomes dull, appetite lessened and temperature increased. The quality of the milk is more or less altered, in most cases curdled milk and a thin fluid resembling whey appears before the cows are drawn. In some cases a portion of curdled milk becomes lodged in the milk duct and in some what hard to remove. In some cases clotted blood also appears.

Constitutional treatment consists in keeping the animal as quiet and cool as possible, preferably in a roomy, well-bedded box stall. A brisk purgative of 1 to 2 lbs. epsom salt, ½ to 1 oz. of gamboge and 10 to 20 drops of ginger (according to size of patient) dissolved in a quart of warm water should be given, and followed up with 1 to 6 drams or nitrate of potassium twice daily for three days. The patient should be fed lood ibs. Also regularly inclined to cause milk production until the inflammation subsides.

Local treatment consists in applying moist heat to the udder by keeping hot poultices to it or by long continued and frequent bathing or sponging with hot water. Poultices can be applied by using a piece of cloth or canvas, with hole cut for the protruding teat, and tying or pinning it by strings or straps over the back and loins. Make a thick paste of poultices of the proprietary preparations known as linseed meal, using given good results. The said should be drawn from the udder as often as possible and after each milking the udder should be well massaged and rubbed with camphorated oil, where this oil cannot be readily obtained the following soap liniment gives good results.—J. H. Reed, Ontario Agricultural College.

Plant the Cultivated Crops.

To ensure good crops of carrots, mangles, sugar beets, potatoes and roots, the land should be well prepared and seed should be secured to the advantage of early planting. In conditions the Irish Cobbler variety of early potatoes and the Green Mountain (late potatoes) are recommended for Ontario. To obtain best results with the potato crop, it is always best to plant late rather than early, the 15th of May. This year plant half your seed early and another half later. If you have been accustomed to, and plant the other half each time. By this experiment will prove to your satisfaction the value of early planting. The Canada farmer and sprayer have not already learned the value of spraying, may be very profitably employed in this work.

Live Stock Reminders.

A regular and ample supply of salt will always be found helpful in keeping all kinds of live stock in health.

When pasture is provided for pigs such less concentrated food is required. In view of the present labor shortage pasture will be found very valuable this year.

Pigs are used previous to feeding will perform a good deal of work in the garden. It will be strongly inadvisable this year.

If a cow is allowed to get a good start it will carry more stock than if eaten down from the start.—Ontario Agricultural College Note.

Made of waterproof material and with a watertight fastening, a wrist watch is while a woman can carry her thimbles with while surf bathing has been invented.

Private M. Oliver Warmly Welcomed Home to Foxboro

A Royal Reception Accorded Him By Neighbors and School Chums—Addresses of Welcome by Prominent Citizens—Band in Attendance.

On Monday evening, April 29, the cars in which were the school pupils came next and then the citizens. The procession moved northward, but the crowds of people on the sidewalks were deserted. H. H. Shaw's store were gathered his large number who gave a hearty Chautauqua salute as the officer passed them. At the extreme north end of the village, at S. C. Guy's store, the procession was halted and a halt was made to the town hall. Here at the entrance, the school pupils massed, and as Private Oliver was lifted on the shoulders of two members of the band just there into the hall, three cheers and a "tiger" were given.

The hall had been daintily decorated with flowers and flags; many of the flags of the Allies were displayed on the walls. The hall was filled to capacity, and a large number were prevented from entering. Dr. W. Carrie was chairman, Private Oliver and his mother had a prominent place on the platform, and Rev. W. Carrie with the band, occupied the remainder of the platform. Following the singing of the National Anthem, the appointed order of meeting, which was at Mr. James Guy's, at the south end of the village, each waiving a Union Jack, made a fine spectacle. Four large Union Jacks, waving high, one over each car, were carried by the school boys. About 8 p.m. Mr. Empson arrived with the honored soldier at the appointed place. Every one was anxiously awaited for the face of Private Mab. Oliver, who was sealed with his mother on his right, and on his left was Mrs. John Eggleton, whose son Clarence made the supreme sacrifice in 1916. Mr. Eggleton, the genial host of the hotel, was also present.

Royalty Received.

The procession of cars and a number of other vehicles now fell into line, led by the Foxboro Brass Band on foot. Then came the car in which sat Private Oliver, followed by the car of Dr. W. F. Faulkner, with phone west Rev. S. A. Kemp, Rev. P. W. Currie, and Mr. W. Haight. The

GARRISON DUTY

A Royal Canadian Horse Artillery detachment left Wednesday under command of Capt. O'Leary for garrison duty at Quebec and Halifax.

BELLEVILLE PEOPLE SHOULD EAT PIE DAILY

Pie is wholesome, combining both fruit and grain. Those who have trouble digesting pie should take ONE SPOONFUL simple bisulphate bore glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-i-ka. This flushes the ENTIRE bowel tract, removes foul matter which poisoned your stomach for months and relieves ANY CASE your stomach, gas or constipation and prevents appendicitis. Leaves stomach in condition to digest ANYTHING.—J. S. McKeown, Druggist, Belleville.

Happiest Man In Canada, He Says

It's All Because of What Tanlac Did For Me," States Ward

"I believe I am the happiest man in all Canada today and I want to tell the public it's all because of what this Tanlac has done for me," said Henry Ward, who resides at 20 Batavia avenue, Toronto and is employed by the Swift Canadian Company.

"Sometimes," continued Mr. Ward, "when I stooped a pain would catch me in the small of my back and I couldn't hardly straighten up again. My kidneys were all out of order and disturbed me so I could scarcely get any rest at night. My stomach was so out of fix that I couldn't eat like other people and for fifteen years I have simply suffered torture. Many a morning my back hurt me so bad and was so stiff that I couldn't raise my head and I would actually have to roll out of bed. I have gone to work hunting so bad that I could hardly walk once and felt that I would be compelled to go back home. I have had to quit work many times on account of my condition and last Spring I got in such a bad shape I had to stop off for more than a week, and I can't describe my suffering. Then my legs became affected with something like rheumatism and had such sharp, cramping pains going through my muscles that made my legs feel like they were drawing double. Many a night I have had to crawl out of bed, walk the floor and rub to get relief from those awful cramps, and I just tell you I was in misery nearly all the time.

"Tanlac is just the fix I was in for fifteen years and while I doctored and tried nearly every kind of medicine recommended for such troubles, nothing did me any good until I began taking Tanlac. Others said so much about Tanlac helping them that I thought I might as well try it. So I did, and when I found it was doing me good I kept on taking it. I have taken six bottles now and I can say it and tell the truth, I am feeling better than I have in fifteen years. I am simply getting along fine and have gained five pounds in weight, which I think is wonderful for one of my age, as I am sixty-four. I haven't been bothered with my stomach and kidneys since I took my first bottle of Tanlac and I believe these troubles are gone for good. All pains in the small of my back have left me too. I'm not constipated any more and I feel stronger and more vigorous than I have in many years. I certainly am happy over my wonderful relief and I think it nothing but right that I should tell about it for the benefit of others."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store, in Trenton by J. H. Digley, in Bowmanville by W. J. Malley, in Stirling by J. S. Morton, in Frankford by W. H. Latimer, in Madoc by J. Will Vance, in Marysville by T. J. McAlpine, in Ormsby by Jas. Campbell and in Thomasburg by J. H. Blakely.

Belleville Triplets Will Be Reported To King George

April, May, and June Will Be Among the Names to Be Bestowed Upon The Lynch Triplets at Approaching Christening Ceremony

April, May and June will be Christian names of the triplets born recently to Mr. and Mrs. William Lynch, 153 Church street, together with appropriate family names as godfathers. The triplets were born on Tuesday, April 26th, 1918, and are healthy and hearty and apparently enjoying life to the fullest extent, although still, as a matter of course, on restricted diet, which helps some on a few fighters' salary in these days of Beef and Bacon Barons. The triplets will be christened at St. Michael's R. C. Church next Sunday or the Sunday following, and the event will be one of deep significance in the Lynch family which, since the advent of the triplets, now includes nine children. The triplets will receive the following names:

Michael James April.
Harriet May.
Margaret June.

May their lives be blessed with gentle APRIL showers, beautiful MAY flowers and an abundance of JUNE roses.

The fact that the King's bounty of three pounds has just been received by a Toronto family in honor of triplets born December 19th, but suggested that King George be notified of the stork's generosity to Mr. and Mrs. Lynch. Without doubt Mayor Plant would be pleased to forward the necessary credentials to the Secretary of State at Ottawa for transmission to the King.

In this connection the following Toronto despatch will be of local interest:

King George has awarded the £5 Bounty to Mr. and Mrs. W. Tozier, 182 Argyle street, for their five months old triplets. The actual sum was $14.50.

"We thought the money would come in three gold pieces, all done up in a proper family manner, but when it came from the King's pocket, but it's nice to have the check," said Mrs. Tozier.

Unknown Benefactor.

Mr. Tozier put the money in the bank to the babies' credit along with $50 which was awarded them by some odd gentleman who would not give his name. He has settled down to work regularly. The letter from Ottawa notifying us that the money was being forwarded we are going to keep and keep for our kiddies when they grow up. The babies didn't get much of a welcome from me at first, but I am so glad they have all lived. My other kiddies, four boys and two girls, are very fond of them, too, and it's strange how one child helps to raise another.

Thanked the King.

In response to the above and letter received, Mr. and Mrs. Tozier are sending the following letter of acknowledgment:

Toronto, May 7th, 1918.

To His Majesty King George V.,

Buckingham Palace, London, Eng.

"I am proud to acknowledge the receipt of your £5 King's Bounty granted me for my triplets born December 19th. It makes me happy to know that I have been of some service to Canada in raising two fine boys and a girl when so many young men have left a share their lives for their country. The babies are doing well, and I trust will grow up to be good and useful citizens of the future. In my own way I feel at least that I am playing my part as this makes my sixth con-

SOLDIER'S APPRECIATION

Prince, May 31st, 1918.

Dear Mrs. W. S. Mikel,—I want to thank the Women's Red Cross and Patriotic Association for the lovely box which I received a few days ago after it had travelled some what around the country. The box was very appropriate indeed; the cigarettes, socks and candies were duly received, and the shaving mirror just what I needed.

I have just returned from a short course in the south of France. It by a beautiful spot, and I had a wonderful time, but will now have to get down to work once more. We are having fine weather at present, but very cold in the mornings, standing to in the trenches.

Thanking you again, I will close.

Sincerely yours,
R. B. COOPER,
2nd Batt., Can. R. R. F., France.

Feb. 7, 1918

Dear Mrs. W. S. Mikel—Just a line to let you know that I have received the parcel that was sent to me by the Women's Red Cross and Patriotic Association for Christmas, and you may be sure that I was more than pleased to get it. The parcel was in fine shape and everything inside was great—but, then, leave it to the ladies of Bellleville to do that much for us.

Our unit had real good luck today in the gift line as we received a complete baseball outfit, a gift, I understand, from the Ontario Government, and also a hale of comforts from Montreal through the Canadian War Contingent Association, so that all the boys are in high spirits.

Well I must close now. Thanking you again for remembering me, and wishing the Association all kinds of success in their work for the boys, I remain,

Yours very sincerely,
C. H. McBRIDE.

CHECK GERMAN INTRIGUE.

Washington, May 9.—To check German intrigue in Porto Rico, which threatens to tie up the great sugar industry there, Alien Property Custodian Palmer is taking over enemy-owned or controlled plants. One plant is a $500,000 concern.

German Code Has Been Deciphered

ALBANY, May 9.—The von Bernstorff code, the cryptic means of communication employed by the German Foreign office to keep in touch with Count Johann von Bernstorff while the latter was directing sabotage and other German activities in this country, has been deciphered, reconstructed and turned over to the Federal Government by Attorney G. Morton Lewis. This was the code which Hugo Schmidt, the paymaster in this country of the German Foreign Office, attempted to destroy by burning the original copy in the furnace of the German Club in New York City. Schmidt, who was in constant touch with Bernstorff, extensively used this code in his attempts to deliver to Germany by circuitous routes large stores of copper, wool and other war necessaries.

Royal Romanoffs Are Transferred

MOSCOW, May 8.—Nicholas Romanoff, the former Emperor, together with the former Empress and one of their children, have been transferred from Tobolsk to Ekaterinburg (170 miles southeast of Perm on the Asiatic side of the Ural Mountains), according to a Soviet announcement. The transfer was ordered because of the alleged efforts of peasants and Monarchists in the neighborhood of Tobolsk to promote the escape of the prisoners.

The announcement does not mention the former heir-apparent, the young Alexis Romanoff.

This magic spot ends corns

PLACE it on your throbbing corn tonight. It takes but a second. Relief will come instantly, because the felt ring relieves all pressure. The medicated spot of wax soothes while it works. You will wonder why you waited so long.

Tomorrow your corn will not hurt as it has today.

And within 48 hours the corn will come out easily, painlessly.

Blue-jay is the gentle, certain way, discovered by a great chemist. Blue Jay Plasters are made by Bauer & Black, famed for surgical dressings.

Paring Is Extremely Dangerous and only a makeshift. Infection is possible. Harsh and mussy liquids are disagreeable.

Blue-jay is irresistible to the average corn. Once in a while an old and stubborn corn requires a second treatment.

Tonight prove these truths yourself. It costs as little. Then you will never let a corn hurt another.

How Blue-jay Acts

A is a thin, soft pad which stops pain. It relieves pressure at once.

B is the B&B wax, which gently undermines the corn. Usually it takes only 48 hours to loosen the whole corn.

C is a mild, effective salve which aids without writing. It keeps around the corn and makes the plaster tense and comfortable.

Blue-jay is applied in a jiffy. After that, one doesn't feel the corn. Then, in two days, the corn comes off. Yet the corn disappears without soreness.

"THE BELGIAN" AND VIVIAN MARTIN

The invasion of Belgium by the Germans, that greatest historical event, forms a tremendous climax in Sidney Olcott's spectacular production "The Belgian", at Griffin's tonight. Scenes of the desolation wrought in this little kingdom of relief by the Huns are depicted with striking realism, centering in "The Belgian" being Walker Whiteside and Miss Valentine Grant, whose triumphs are numerous.

Married to the wrong man who refuses to expire at the appointed time all the while loving big Irish Barney—such is the fate of Vivian Martin in her newest picture "Molly Entangled," which is being presented on the same programme; it sounds a bit gruesome but in reality it isn't, however, only appealing fancy, quaint and lovable as only Vivian Martin could have made a situation of that sort.

The Griffin Screen Telegram with its varied list of important news events, and "Vengeance and The Woman," Vitagraph's thrilling Western serial, will also be screened.

MISS DANA AND CHARLIE CHAPLIN

Viola Dana, star of the Metro play "The Girl Without a Soul", the week-end feature at the Palace, is one of the most versatile as well as one of the youngest of stars. In the present production she acts the dual role of Priscilla Beaumont, a talented violinist, and her twin sister, Unity, who has no talent except that of being sweet and wholesome.

On the same program with the above offering a highly amusing Charlie Chaplin comedy and the 16th chapter of Universal's great adventure serial "The Mystery Ship" will also be presented.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN

The "Uncle Tom's Cabin" revival which will be seen at Griffin's Opera House tomorrow night, is said to be the most expensive and elaborate offering ever made of the great play in America. The company numbers over fifty members and carries much scenery. A street parade will be given tomorrow at noon.

THURSO IS MECCA OF ANTIPROHIBITIONISTS

$100, plus 25 cents.

"A Scotch" at that price comes high, but that's the way it figures out in the case of those who visit Thurso for the purpose of obtaining liquid refreshment now unobtainable in this district in the course of the fellow who gets that for a drink will not stop at one; he'll have several—and the more he has, the busier will be the performance of cost represented by railway fare.

One day late in Thurso item fifteen C. P. R. is $4.10 and return, $7.60. For organizations, such as Baseball clubs and other similar bodies entitled to the 2c rate, the fare is $6.80 and return. However, the interpretation of the actions which prompt the affluence of the latter upon the part of the delicate that it applies to but few groups.

The "drivings-in" of Hull has already resulted in increased patronage of the C. P. R. North Shore route from here to Thurso. That is, there is noticeable increase in traffic in via the road, many motorists having visited the little place down the river to quench their thirsts. When the boats start running, a further influx is anticipated by residents of Hull on the river-front premises to be popular.

Hocken Raps Quebec In Budget Debate

OTTAWA, May 9.—H. C. Hocken, member for West Toronto, continued the debate on the budget in the House of Commons. Mr. Hocken spoke of the patriotic work of the Orange order. Out of 250,000 members in Canada, Mr. Hocken said, 60,000 had gone overseas with the army.

Speaking of Quebec, Mr. Hocken said that the number of French-Canadians who enlisted with the first continent was very satisfactory. Then something happened and "we were forced to the conclusion that there was one Province in the Dominion which was not doing its duty."

Mr. Hocken repudiated the suggestion that there had been any unfair criticism of Quebec. It was not till the war had been in progress nearly a year, Mr. Hocken added, that the first criticism of Quebec appeared, "although it had been said that the friction was due to insults from Ontario. "It is true too," interrupted Hon. Jacques Bureau.

Mr. Hocken replied that, in his opinion, the remarkable restraint had been shown by the Ontario municipalities will rest upon the Government to urge exemption in cases where it is considered necessary.

Obsequies

WILLIAM WELSH

One of the largest attended funerals ever seen in Huntingdon Township, was that of the late Mr. Wm. Welsh, which took place yesterday afternoon. It was held under the auspices of the I.O.O.F., lodge of Thomasburg, of which deceased was a member. There was a large turnout of the brethren and the ladies of the Rebekah lodge were in attendance and assisted in the singing of hymns at the house and church service. After a brief service at the house the cortege was formed and proceeded to the Moira Methodist church, where an impressive service was held. Upwards of 100 automobiles followed the hearse. Rev. Mr. Reddick conducted the services and Revs. Messrs. Richards, Kemp and Dr. Scott of this city, took part. Interment took place at Thomasburg cemetery. The numerous and beautiful floral designs were evidences of the regard of many friends. A number from the city of Belleville and other parts of the county were present at the obsequies. The bearers were four sons and two nephews of the deceased.

The sum of $5,000, recently left by Mrs. Carrie Read will greatly help, and it is now proposed to raise $6,000, which will enable the Association to have a clean sheet, wiping out the mortgage balance and all other obligations and carry on to May 1st, 1919. To do this a campaign will be launched next Tuesday evening at the workers' tea and a full canvass of the city made on Wednesday May 15th.

ENGLISH SHIPWORKERS BEAT RECORD MADE IN U.S.

London, May 9.—The record made recently by Charles Schoek who, at Hattaway, averaged 229 rivets in nine hours, has been beaten in London. The workmen of Fraser & Fraser, engineers and boiler makers, asked the management to give them an opportunity of beating Schoek's record, and the effort was made yesterday by a selected squad of riveters under Foreman Farrant, aged thirty-one. He is one of a family of eighteen, and his father, aged sixty-seven, is a riveter in the same firm.

The squad set out to do 2,500 rivets in nine hours, or an 18 beat Schoek's figures, but Farrant passed that total in six hours. Going on, he hammered 4,267 rivets in nine hours, an average of slightly less than five per hour, or one rivet every 7½ seconds. This is claimed to be a world's record.

GOLD DISCOVERY IN TOWNSHIP OF HOLMES

COBALT, May 9—It is reported that a new gold discovery has been made in the district north of Fort Matachewan. While the exact location of the new find has not been given out, it is reported to be in the Township of Holmes. A large number of prospectors are in this district owing to the recent discoveries made in the Matachewan district, and it is considered probable that a number of more or less important "strikes" will be reported from time to time as prospecting continues.

"Killing" Toy Balloons From Airplanes Proves An Absorbing Diversion

Toy-balloon shooting in the clouds has entered the arena of American sports as an exhilarating and dignified diversion for leisurely moments by means and red-blooded tendencies, says Popular Mechanics.

Its introduction has been made in Southern California under the auspices of the Boiss Chica and Los Angeles Gun Clubs, some of whose members are its first patrons and devotees.

Balloon shooting is accomplished with the aid of airplanes, and reduced to its last analysis amounts to an ultramodern adaptation of the English sport, and might fittingly be called aero-nautical chase.

Light-colored balloons as large as six feet in diameter are released at the GOVERNMENT IN DEADLY EARNEST.

Canada has apologized for publishing articles tending to interfere the war work of Canada. Having discovered that the Governdeadly earnest in its determination to discourage the Quebec which has been helping the Kaiser's cause, Le Canada...

"We admit now that these articles have been published in contravention of the Order-in-Council concerning the censorship by Canada. We regret that Le Canada has been published and circulated articles which could interfere with the war effort of Canada. We engage to abstain from publishing any matter of a kind considered reprehensible of the censor."

The Bold Bourassa has no crow to eat because he saw the tornado of wrath coming and ducked into the bomb-proof cellar of silence. Some dark secret as yet, but a sad one, kept him and his from the get out of France and made full use of the British flag to speed his departure, claiming to be a British subject. If Bourassa and a few others like him would cultivate the spirit which animates Britain and France and binds them as blood brothers there would be no longer any Quebec problem.

THE BEAST OF BRANDENBURG.

Hun hate added Rheims with its priceless treasures of art and architecture to the charred heap of ruin which is a ghastly monument to the infliction of Hun Kultur on once beautiful France. Amiens now being ravaged by Hun hate and enemy shells are battering to pieces the beautiful cathedral there.' The infamy of Germany's latest crime against humanity is vividly described in the following editorial in the Toronto Globe:

Amiens Cathedral is—or was—one of the world's glories. In Christian architecture it holds, according to Ruskin in "The Bible of Amiens," the place held by the Parthenon in Greek. It was built in the thirteenth century, the central years of mediaeval Christianity, the age of its best art and highest influence. Its construction took sixty-eight years of arduous and exquisite work by the original master Robert, surnamed De Luzarches, and two other master builders, father and son, who succeeded him. Later centuries added details, including the marvellous wood carving of the choir, wrought in native oak, mortised without nails and so skilfully that the joints have never moved, are still imperceptible.

With the Teuton beast scarce eight miles from such beauty it was too much to expect that this matchless structure—the pride not alone of France, but of all humankind—would be spared. The Hohenzollern ruffians are not meeting waging war. They are seeking to destroy civilization, and to inflict wounds that cannot be healed. Amiens cathedral stands alone among the world's edifices. It is the essence of majesty and beauty. It is not subject to be repaired by human hands. If destroyed it can never be restored. The Germans know this. They know that every shell that crashes through the nave or transept of Amiens is inflicting a death wound.

Amiens stands for something that cannot be measured by terms of human power, and which is the object of aim in the vision of the beast-men of Brandenburg. Its fate is for something beyond the ken of the Prussian. The fate of Prussianism is to destroy everything that is not cruel and strong. To the Prussian, blutwurst and beer are more inspiring than cathedrals. So the shelling of Amiens was to be expected. The cathedral may be destroyed and more women may be killed. This is quite in accord with the "grand strategy" of Prussianism in its effort to make unarkrast-fed force dominant all over the world.

BOOMING LACROSSE IN TRENT VALLEY.

Havelock, May 9.—An effort is being made to boost the good old game of lacrosse throughout this district. The Havelock juvenile team of last year, winners of the district were presented with handsome bronze medals at the O. A. L. A. annual convention in Toronto. The medals are now being engraved with the players' names, and will be presented to the boys shortly at an organization lacrosse meeting. There is plenty of material in this district for the new O. A. L. A. midget series which is being advocated, with an age limit of 15 years and under. The Havelock Standard has offered a set of twelve medals to the winners of this district if a district can be arranged. The should be plenty of youngsters to get into the game.

War Garden Bulletin

PRACTICAL DAILY GUIDE FOR VACANT LOT AND BACK YARD GARDENERS ENLISTED IN THE GREATER PRODUCTION CAMPAIGN.

Issued by the Canada Food Board in collaboration with experts on the staff of the Dominion Experimental Farm.

THE POTATO PATCH

Every prospective gardener must concentrate on potatoes this year. The most suitable soil for the tubers is a rich, deep, friable, warm sandy loam with good natural drainage, a constant moderate supply of moisture and an adequate supply of decayed or decaying vegetable matter. The warmest and best drained soils that can be obtained should be chosen for the early potatoes and the sets should be planted shallow, so that they will get the advantage of the heat from the surface soil.

May 18th is time enough to plant your potatoes but in the meantime be preparing your soil. Get it as mellow as possible. While forking it over add some stable manure. To obtain enough food to produce twenty or thirty bushels of tubers a small patch of ground must take up and evaporate through the leaves tons of tons of water. This water holds the plant food in solution. Your soil does not hold water and it should be your task to make it do this. The more like a sponge you can make it the better, providing the water in it does not become stagnant. If you get food to a physically fit or spongy-like soil, good growth is bound to result. The value of stable manure is that it makes the soil physically fit and supplies some food at the same time.

LITTLE FRENCH BOY DIED LIKE A HERO

LONDON, May 8.—Lieut.-Gen. Sir Robert Baden-Powell, addressing a central meeting of Boy Scouts at Guild Hall, told of work done by French Boy Scouts in the neighborhood of the fighting line. A heroic deed by one French Boy Scout was described in a letter found on the body of a dead German. General Baden-Powell read the letter, which follows:

"A traitor has just been shot—a little French lad belonging to one of those gymnastic societies which wears the Tricolor button. The poor little fellow in his infatuation wished to be a hero. A German column was passing along a wooded defile and the boy came up and asked whether the French were about. He refused to give information. Fifty yards further on fire was opened from the cover of the wood. The prisoner was asked in French if he had known that the enemy was in the forest and he did not deny it. He went with firm step to a telegraph post and stood up against it with a green vineyard behind him, and received the volley of the firing party with a proud smile upon his face. Indeed fatuous boy! It was a pity to see such wasted courage."

GERMAN PRESS BEGINS TO TELL THE TRUTH

LONDON, May 9.—That the recoil British attack on the German submarine base at Zeebrugge was successful is admitted by the Frankfurter Zeitung in commenting on the affair.

"It would be foolish to deny," it says, "that the British fleet secured a great success through a fantastically audacious stroke in penetrating one of the most important strongholds of which the German flag floats.

"However unpleasant it may be, we must frankly admit that the enemy ships entered the port of Zeebrugge. That being so there is no reason why they should not achieve a similar feat at other times. It therefore behooves our navy command to be alert for we have to deal with an antagonist of remarkable boldness."

PAY FARES OF KIN

The Militia Department has granted authority to the districts to issue railway transportation to the next of kin of warrant officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the C.E.F. who are seriously ill in hospital, the transportation to cover return fares between home and hospital. The same applies in case of a death at any of the hospitals.

PEANUT CAUSED BABY'S DEATH

Half a peanut breathed into his lung was a contributory cause in the death of little Jack Blewett, the baby son of Mr. and Mrs. William Blewett of Thorbeck, one year and seven months old. In charge of two girls he was taken down to see the soldiers, the band and the other features of the Governor-General's reception. The girls had some salted peanuts, and when the baby one of them put in half of it caught in the child's windpipe and was carried into a lung. The baby was taken to Nicholls' Hospital but died of suffocation.

Dizzy Spells, Indigestion

Napanee Man Could Scarcely Walk at Times, He Was So Dizzy—Indigestion and Kidney Trouble Overcome By This Treatment.

Napanee, Ont., May 9.—The experience of Mr. Nolan of this town will interest all who suffer from indigestion and accompanying derangements of the liver, kidneys and bowels.

Indigestion is such a common trouble that many suffer for years without knowing how readily they could obtain relief by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to arouse the action of the liver, kidneys and bowels, and thereby remove the cause of much discomfort and suffering.

Mr. John P. Nolan, Dundas street west, Napanee, Ont., writes: "For some time I was troubled with weak kidneys, and used to have a scalding, burning sensation in my stomach. This was accompanied by dizziness, and occasionally it would be so severe that I would stagger while walking. I commenced using Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills, and in a very short time my kidneys were in normal condition. Then I tried Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for the dizzy spells, and am glad to say that under this treatment they gradually disappeared. At present I am enjoying good health, and am pleased to recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Nerve Food."

This statement is endorsed by S. H. Ketcheson, Mayor of Napanee.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25c a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations only disappoint.

ACTION DISMISSED

His Honor Judge Deroche gave judgment this morning in the case of Henry R. Beattie and George R. Hope against Pitre Bosse. Lynch-Staunton dismissing the action for want of prosecution. R. D. Ponton for defendants. Porter and Carnew for plaintiffs.

CIVIC COAL AND WOOD YARD

A meeting of the Finance Committee of the City Council was held last evening to consider the matter of procuring a supply of wood from Algonquin Park. After some discussion Ald. Hanna, Secretary of the Committee, was advised to write in regard to the matter and ascertain what amount the city could procure. The question of procuring coal was also discussed and the committee expect that the city will be able to have coal delivered in the near week.

INJURY TO A BOY

About six o'clock yesterday afternoon, Victor Bird, aged 14 years, whose home is at 12 Albion Street, in this city, was the victim of an accident which fortunately was not of a serious nature. The lad was riding a bicycle on Front street and fell off the wheel near Bridge street. When he struck the pavement a horse driven by Fred Johnson of Ameliasburg Township which was close behind, stepped upon the lad. The result was the boy's arm and leg were injured, and the wheel damaged. Eye witnesses of the affair state that Mr. Johnson made an effort to stop the horse, but it was in such close proximity to the boy that he was unable to do so.

BUSINESS TAX ACTION

An interesting action was tried this morning before His Honor Judge Deroche in Lyons vs. Town of Deseronto. The plaintiff, who is a publisher of Kingston, formerly conducted a printing business in Deseronto, and he sought to recover business tax alleged to be over-assessed, and over-paid. Four years taxes were involved, the plaintiff claiming that he had been assessed on a basis of fifty per cent instead of twenty-five per cent. The judge dismissed the action on the ground that the taxes having been paid remedy in court was gone and relief was obtainable only through the Court of Revision and the Town Council of Deseronto. As a matter of grace and not of law. R. D. Ponton appeared for the Town of Deseronto, and the plaintiff, Lyons, conducted his own case.

The regular meetings of the Board will be held until further notice, on the second Tuesday of each month at 8:30 p.m. Mr. Elliott and Mr. Ackerman will proceed to Toronto today with Mr. L. B. Hall on important business. The question of the Rubber Company instead and other matters were discussed at length the session lasting until midnight.

SIDNEY FARMERS PROTEST

A number of farmers of the southern part of Sidney Township met on Monday afternoon to discuss the situation brought about by the recent amendment in the Military Service Act as to cancellation of exemptions. Nearly all present expressed themselves as impressed by the seriousness of lack of help upon the farm and especially since many more exemptions are cancelled among the farmers. Those present placed themselves on record that while Canadians everywhere are ready and willing for men, still the true farmer is very sincerely and strenuously answering the call upon the land in production. The result of the meeting was that it was decided to have a deputation go to Ottawa and present their views upon the Government. The delegation will consist of Rev. L. M. Sharpe, Mr. Chas. H. Ketcheson, Mr. Geo. H. Nicholson and Mr. George Burkett. It is expected that delegations from other rural municipalities will wait upon the Government to urge exemptions in cases where it is considered necessary.

Wheat Crop In U. S. Largest In History

WASHINGTON, May 9.—The American farmer, responding to war necessities, will turn out a bumper wheat crop this year.

Estimates by the Agriculture Department today were that the winter wheat crop would run to 572,000,000 bushels, one of the largest in history. This estimate was 17,000,000 bushels in advance of that made a month ago and compared with a 418,000,000-bushel production for 1917.

The acreage sown to winter wheat was a third lower than the entire acreage harvested last year.

GERMAN GAS FLOATS BACK TO GERMANY.

Geneva, May 9.—The municipal authorities at Muthausen, Alsace, have ordered all inhabitants to procure gas masks before May 20th as protection "against aerial gas attacks," the Lausanne Gazette says it learns.

The fruits of the matter is, the newspaper adds, that owing to contrary winds large quantities of poison gas employed by the Germans is now drifting gradually toward towns along the Rhine, which already are feeling the effects of the gas.

LIKE FATHER, LIKE SON

Former Fought Overseas—Latter Commands Laval Tank Section.

Montreal, May 9.—It is expected that Lieut. G. E. Leprohon, formerly of the 22nd Battalion, French-Canadians, will be promoted to command the Laval tank section with the new Canadian tank battalion, now mobilized at Ottawa, with the rank of captain. He is a son of Lieut.-Col. Edouard Leprohon, who also saw service overseas, and is now invalided home.

PAVED THE STREETS

WITH VALUABLE ORE

BUTTE, Mont., May 9—City officials and residents of Butte have discovered that they have been paving their streets with manganese ore worth about $13 a ton. Now this question arises:

"Shall the city rip up its streets and sell the ore, use the proceeds to construct new streets, and keep the profit?"

A few years ago this manganese rock was considered worthless. But the war has changed everything. The demand for manganese for making implements of warfare constantly has been growing heavier.

VOL. 82 BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, MAY 10, 1918. NO. 210

ANOTHER GERMAN HARBOR BLOCKED BY BRITISH NAVAL FORCES

SUBMARINE BASE BOTTLED UP

SECOND RAID ON OSTEND IS SUCCESSFUL AND OBSOLETE CRUISER, VINDICTIVE, USED IN ZEEBRUGGE RAID, LOADED WITH CONCRETE, IS SUNK ACROSS HARBOR ENTRANCE — BRITISH CASUALTIES FEW IN BRILLIANTLY CARRIED OUT RAID — ONE MOTOR BOAT LOST.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, May 10.—The German submarine base of Ostend, on the Belgian coast has been blocked as the result of a new raid by British naval forces, the Admiralty announces. The obsolete cruiser, Vindictive, filled with concrete, has been sunk across the entrance to the harbor. The British lost one motor boat. Their casualties were light. Apparently the British have carried out another raid on the German submarine base on the Belgian coast similar to the one on April 23, when so much damage was done to the harbor and works at Zeebrugge. The Vindictive was built at Chatham in 1897, displaced 5,750 tns and her complement men.

DOVER, England, May 10.—The decison to send the Vindictive to Ostend was made a few days ago, after her return from the Zeebrugge raid, and the task of filling her with concrete was begun immediately. As in the former raid on Zeebrugge and Ostend, this later British navy exploit was kept a well guarded secret. As an evidence of this it is recalled that after the battle-scarred cruiser returned from Zeebrugge an urgent request was made that she be sent up the Thames to London.

Poisonous Shells Having Excellent Effect on Fritz

LONDON, May 10.—The British are using gas shells on the western front with excellent results, the British War Mission announced to-day. "During the last few days," said the statement, "the British have consistently shelled the German support trenches and tramlineds with gas shells with marked results. The German concentrations have been disturbed and their preparations paralyzed by the effectiveness of these bombardments. Prisoners captured on May 4 said they had been unable to obtain rations since May 1, owing to the constant artillery fire."

Travel Restricted In Great Britain

LONDON, May 10.—Sir Albert Stanley, President of the Board of Trade, announced in the House of Commons the decision of the Government to place great restrictions on travel in London and vicinity, which later will be extended throughout the country. Passenger train service he said, would be reduced by 40 per cent., and it will be necessary for everyone to show that his proposed trip has an adequate reason.

The issue of season tickets will be greatly restricted. This will effect a large number of aliens, who have moved to places outside of London, owing to the air raids, and travel back and forth each day.

Over 100 women physicians, including tuberculosis and pediatric specialists, will start for France shortly.

Border Closed To Alien Women

DETROIT, May 10.—Chief Immigration Inspector Frick, in charge of United States immigrant services at this point, ordered the United States-Canadian border closed to all enemy alien women more than fourteen years of age and to all American men of draft age. This was in accordance with orders from the Department of Justice at Washington. The alien women must obtain permission from this department, and must be provided with passports before they can leave the United States. As this procedure will require two weeks or more, it means that hundreds of young women employed in munitions plants and other industries across the river will not to be able to go to work to-morrow morning. The order becomes effective at once, and late this afternoon many women were held up.

Americans of draft age will be permitted to cross into Canada only with written permission from their Draft Boards. One young man who came from Mount Clemens this afternoon to go to Chatham to see his dying mother was sent back to Mount Clemens for this permission.

Little Fighting Welshman Again Humbled His Enemies

LONDON, May 10.—The Lloyd George Ministry won a notable victory in the House of Commons yesterday. By a vote of 293 to 106, the House voted down a motion introduced by former Premier Asquith providing for the appointment of a special committee to investigate charges made by Major-General Frederick B. Maurice, recently relieved of his post of Chief Director of Military Operations at the War Office.

Stirred by the imminence of a Cabinet crisis, the people of London crowded the public galleries long before the debate opened. The Diplomatic and Peers' Galleries also were thronged.

Immediately after the introduction of Mr. Asquith's motion the Premier took the floor and spoke in defence of the Government. He refuted the charges of General Maurice, and declared that statements made in his recent speech, to which Maurice's charges referred, were made on information received from General Maurice's Department of the War Office. He showed also by documentary evidence that the extension of the British line was made because of pressure exerted by France, and the decision was taken on the advice of the military authorities, in agreement with Field Marshal Haig, the War Cabinet having interfered in no way in the matter, although it approved of the dispositions. When the Premier left the House he was loudly cheered.

PREMIER LLOYD GEORGE.

"If the motion carried Mr. Asquith would again be responsible for the conduct of the war."

"Since I have thrown myself into the vigorous prosecution of the war I have been drenched with 'cocoa press' slop."

"National unity and the army are threatened. The Germans are preparing the biggest blow of the war, and I beg, I implore that there shall be an end of this sniping."

"There was a very considerable addition to the man-power of the army at the beginning of 1918 as compared with the man-power at the beginning of 1917, in France."

"There was considerable ferment in France last year on the subject of the length of the line held by the French army. The French losses had been enormous, and they had sustained the great strain of the fighting for three years."

"Field Marshal Haig's action in taking over the extension of the line had the full approval of the British Cabinet, having regard for the pressure from the French authorities."

MR. ASQUITH.

"It is in the common interest of the Government themselves, the army, the State, the allies and of unhampered prosecution of the war to set up a tribunal of inquiry."

SIR EDWARD CARSON.

"If the veracity of the Ministers is not believed in the House there is no longer any possibility of carrying on the Government."

BRITISH BARRAGE SPOIL A BIG OFFENSIVE PLANNED BY HUNS

RAIN OF STEEL DISORGANIZES FORCES

GERMANS HAD ASSEMBLED LARGE FORCES FOR ATTACK WHEN BRITISH BARRAGE SWEPT THEIR LINES WITH WAVES OF STEEL — BIG FRENCH GUNS JOIN IN THE CHORUS AND FRITZ WAS BADLY MUSSED UP — ENEMY ADVANCE WAS MADE ON SMALLER SCALE THAN INTENDED AND ANY GAINS MADE HAVE BEEN WIPED OUT BY BRITISH COUNTER ATTACKS.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

PARIS, May 10.—The French this afternoon took possession of the park at Grivesnes, an important part of which had been occupied by the Germans. In this operation we took 258 prisoners, including four officers and also a considerable amount of material.

Notwithstanding vigorous German artillery fire and an attempt of the enemy patrols to approach our new line our infantry held the position which had been captured.

LONDON, May 10.—The British have recaptured a small portion of the front trench northwest of Albert which the enemy gained yesterday, it is announced officially.

With the British Army in France, May 10.—The Germans had intended to make a much more pretentious attack in Flanders than they were actually able to carry out, it has been learned. Their plans were due to the excellent work of the allied gunners and to a small coincident operation by the French east of Robecq-Lestrem, which came at the right moment to help upset the enemy plans in this sector.

The German attack as actually executed lay, roughly, between La Clytte and Voormezeele, and it was made principally by the 52nd German reserve division—fresh troops which had not been used before since the big offensive began—assisted by the 56th regulars.

Fresh details which have come to hand, and statements by prisoners, would indicate that the enemy had intended to attack with five divisions on a much wider front, mainly between Loere and the Ypres-Comines Canal, and it is quite possible that this drive was meant to be the forerunner of a grand smash to push up west of Ypres and thereby threaten the British hold on the ruined city.

The Germans preceded their advance by a terrific all-night bombardment against both British and French over a wide front. At 9.30 o'clock the infantry was started by the 52nd Prussians, which was sent against the British in Ridge Wood and the neighboring territory southwest of Voormezeele, and by the 56th Division, which attacked the British on the right and the French on the left.

Caught In Barrage

Before the battle started in earnest however, actual things had begun to happen which were to have a vital bearing on the day's program. Along the Ypres-Comines Canal an unusual movement among the enemy had brought down a tremendous barrage from the British guns against a German division on the right of the 52nd reserves.

Nothing further happened along this sector, but it appeared later that the enemy had been assembling here to participate in the attack, and had been so badly smashed that the idea of their taking part had been abandoned.

In the meantime, along the French front between Loere and La Cytte the French had their eyes open and began a heavy bombardment. Also, the French had undertaken a small operation in the early morning for the capture of a position east of Scherpenberg hill. The combination of the French attack and the great bombardment undoubtedly completely upset the German plans, for additional German divisions, which were assembling to assist their comrades on their right, could not be brought in. As a consequence, the assault was confined to a two-division affair, which was directed mainly against the British about Ridge Wood.

GERMAN KING FOR FINLAND

LONDON, May 9.—"There seems to be little doubt that a monarchy will be proclaimed in Finland with the Duke of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, the German candidate, as King," says a Stockholm despatch to the Times, "a spirit of reaction is spreading over the country. The most democratic constitution in Europe is to be remodeled on more or less autocratic lines.

"The Socialists and Democratic party are under a ban for having favored the rebellion. The natural reaction against all who, with the aid of Russian soldiers of Bolshevist sympathies, created a reign of terror and anarchy that has led the county to the verge of perdition, is telling against those who still cling to the principles of democratic freedom and who would vote for a republic."

British Newspapers Comment Upon Lloyd George Victory

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, May 10.—The action of the British House of Commons in turning down the Asquith motion by a large majority generally accords with the views of various newspapers expressed previous to the Premier's statement in the House of Commons. The staunch supporters of Premier Lloyd George accept his statement without question and regard it as a complete refutation of the charges made by Major General Maurice. Others differ.

The Daily Mail says that not a rag of Gen. Maurice's pretentious indictment is left and asks who again will ever pay the least attention to anything he says. It declares that former Premier Asquith was outgeneraled and out-fought.

The Premier's answer, says the Daily Telegraph, was complete and overwhelming and showed that General Maurice had not a shadow of justification for any of his charges.

The Daily Chronicle, voicing another view, declares that the Premier's statement does not remove the serious disquiet from the mind of the army.

The Daily News refers to the Premier's withdrawal of the plan of a judicial inquiry as political jugglery and says he burked inquiry into charges affecting British honor and the honor of Parliament.

The Morning Post says that because the House of Commons professed to be satisfied with Premier Lloyd George's statement it does not follow that people outside of the House will be equally pliable. In this matter, as in others, the Commons has ceased to represent the nation, says the Post.

A GREAT STORY

The Belgian and Vivian Martin

A story that will appeal to Miss Martin's women of all ages is "The Belgian," Sidney Olcott's fine picture of the tragedy of Belgium, which was presented last night at Griffin's and will be presented again Saturday matinee and night. The story opens in Belgium just before the exalted fat descends on the peaceful nation and crushes out the life of the country. One of the realistic touches with which the picture abounds is the shadow of a cross growing Belgium crucified and the body of the Hun about to trample her under foot.

"UNCLE TOM'S CABIN"

The "Uncle Tom's Cabin" festival which will be seen at Griffin's Opera House tonight, is said to be the most expensive and elaborate scenic production. It is a large company that is presenting this never to be forgotten play this season, and the scenery is the best that has been seen carried by any company offering this great play. The seats are selling fast at Boyle's, and when the certain rises to night a capacity audience will no doubt be present.

SCREEN STAR SHOWS MUSICAL ABILITY

Viola Dana, the charming little Metro star, is called upon to play the violin in "The Girl Without a Soul," the five-part screen play at the Palace tonight and Saturday. When Mr. B. A. Rolfe, who presents the production discovered that Miss Dana could play a violin he asked her to visit a violin instructor and learn to use the bow correctly so that her work on the screen would appear natural. Miss Dana is skilled and agreed. A few days later Mr. Rolfe was delighted to hear the strains of Berceuse from Jocelyn and hurried out to see what musician had been engaged to assist Miss Dana. Mr. Rolfe got a sure surprise when he saw Miss Dana perched on a soap box playing some wonderful music. In the picture Miss Dana is called on to play two parts, and the way she does it is truly remarkable.

War Garden Bulletin

PRACTICAL DAILY GUIDE FOR VACANT LOT AND BACK YARD GARDENERS ENLISTED IN GREATER PRODUCTION CAMPAIGN.

Issued by the Canada Food Board in collaboration with experts on the staff of the Dominion Experimental Farm.

THE GARDEN TRENCHES

To sow a row of seed quickly, evenly and thoroughly requires care and practice. The beginner is very apt to be prodigal in his use of seed and to sow indiscriminately. This not only entails waste but causes overcrowding and corresponding injury to the plants. The top of the seed packet should be torn off and the packet held between the thumb and forefinger. By gently swaying the packet from one side to another the seeds will drop out. Another method of seeding is to place the seed in a flat dish and gather as many seeds as possible between the thumb on the forefinger. A gentle rubbing motion of the thumb on the forefinger releases a few seeds at a time. Coarse seeds may be placed individually with the fingers. After the ground is fully prepared for planting a piece of board or a line may be used to make straight even rows.

In the garden trenches this year Canadians are going to give very real and substantial aid to their kinsmen in the trenches of Flanders. It is anticipated that $60,000,000 worth of vegetables will be grown on the vacant lots and in the backyard gardens of Canada this year, or twice the amount grown last year.

Alkali in Shampoos
Bad For Washing Hair

Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali, for this is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is plain mulsified cocoanut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

YOUNG BURGLAR SENTENCED

BROCKVILLE, May 10.—Edmund Noyes, seventeen years old, was sent to the penitentiary for two years by Judge Dowsley for burglarizing three stores here a month ago. A young soldier named Billings is awaiting sentence on the same charge.

Border Farmers Not Lacking Help

WINDSOR, May 9.—That the section of Essex county farmers to the Government's plan to draft all unmarried farmers and farm laborers between the ages of twenty and twenty-two is not well founded is declared by County Judge Smith, Chairman of one of the local draft Tribunals.

Farmers in the border county are not short of help, he said, and to back up his assertion pointed to the fact that scores of boys who had volunteered to serve on farms for the summer months have been unable to find positions in the country. "A great majority of the men from the rural section of the county who came before me offered legitimate excuse in attempting to show that they could best serve the country by staying on the farm," Judge Smith said.

Further proof that farmers require no assistance is seen in the five recruiting parties which went out by the local Resources Committee asking farmers to state their requirements in seed, labor and implements.

Americans Are Reported In Italy

NEW YORK, May 9.—The presence of "an American contingent" and a Bohemian legion on the Italian front is reported in a despatch from Austria war press headquarters dated April 30 to the Berliner Tageblatt, a copy of which has been received here. The number of supposed Americans or to what arm of the service they belong is not reported by the newspapers correspondent, who adds that the British and French auxiliary troops are no longer on the Italian front.

BILLY SUNDAY'S BALL TEAM.

New York, May 9.—With eight players already signed, including Billy Sunday, who will play in the outfield and captain the All-National League team, the committee in charge of the Oldtimers' game to be played at White Sox Park, Chicago, on Tuesday for the benefit of a patriotic fund, is making rapid progress.

Efforts were made to persuade Charley Comiskey to don the spangles, but the "old Roman" refused. However, he said he would manage the team if he became. Aside from Sunday, the committee has received assurances from such well-known players as Fred Pfeffer, Jimmy Devaney, Frank Roseman, Charley O'Connor, Pete O'Brien, Jimmy Ryan and Fred Holdsworth that they will play.

HE AIDED HIS WIFE TO MARRY ANOTHER MAN

TORONTO, May 10—Earl DuSomme husband of Ila DuSomme, who is now facing a charge of bigamy, was arrested by Morality Officer Keen on a charge of aiding and abetting his wife in the contract of marriage with Fred Muir. The police alleged that following a domestic quarrel Dr. Somme secretly gave his consent to his wife marrying Muir, but that he went so far as to press the prospective bridegroom's hand and say he would make a good showing at the altar. Dr. Somme is alleged to have posed as the wife's cousin, and after the marriage frequently visited her home.

Overwork Paralysis

Doctors Said His Case Was Hopeless
—Could Not Walk or Write—
Speech Almost Gone—How Cure Was Effected.

St. Ann's, Ont., May 10.—Paralysis is far more easily prevented than cured. For this reason it is well for all to be warned by sleeplessness, headache, nervous indigestion and neuralgic pains and seek proper nourishing treatment before the nervous system becomes set in. It is not always recover, to neglect nervous disorders until such symptoms appear.

Mr. Avery Hyatt, Blacksmith, St. Ann's, Lincoln County, Ont., writes: "For a long time I was ailing, and ten years ago became afflicted with paralysis. I could not walk, write or write, and could talk with difficulty, so that it was a hard matter to understand anything I would say. Being a young man I was very much discouraged. Two doctors told me it could not be overwork, and that my case was hopeless.

"One day my father read about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and asked me to try it. I bought 12 boxes, and when they were used I was able to walk well and strong and working every day, thanks to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

This statement is certified to by Mr. Elmore, J. Hodgins, J.P.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, a full treatment 6 boxes for $2.75, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Beware of imitations offered as "just as good." Insist on getting Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Belgian Wasp Stings Germans

The German administrators in Belgium have suffered another bitter disappointment in their efforts to rid themselves of the secret Belgian newspaper, "La Libre Belgique", which has stung, ridiculed and laughed at them ever since they occupied the territory of the brave little kingdom.

The Germans announced recently that they had arrested three Belgian priests and three civilians and that they had found the editors, publishers, printers and distributors of the secret paper. One of the priests was condemned to death and the others received prison sentences aggregating many years.

Next morning's issued new copy of "La Libre Belgique" was in its usual place in the letter box of Baron von Falkenhausen, governor-general of Belgium, and the publication has appeared irregularly since. The death sentence upon the priest was commuted to life imprisonment.

WOULD BAR JUDGES FROM COMMISSIONS

OTTAWA, May 9.—In the Senate Senator Ross still with requires that Judges shall not sit on boards or commissions, except in the case of boards constituted under the Industrial Disputes Act, but give their entire time to the duties of their office, was referred from committee, and stands for a third reading.

Senator Belcourt moved an amendment which would have prevented Judges from even sitting on boards arbitrating industrial disputes, but after Hon. Gideon Robertson, Labor representative in the Government, had explained that this would be contrary to the wishes of Labor the amendment was withdrawn.

The debate on the bill for the libel indemnity of Judges in German hands was continued by Senator Mason.

Lemieux Flies Into a Passion

OTTAWA, May 9.—The budget is still grinding away. It was enlivened by the appearance on the scene of Mr. Horatio Hocken, Member for West Toronto, who made a moderate and calm speech in the relation of Quebec and Ontario. He extolled the patriotism of the Orange Order and declared that the aims and objects of the Orange Order were misunderstood in Quebec. He asked Quebec not to "lump" together the bounds of the B. N. A. Act.

Why Mr. Hocken's temperate speech should have stirred up the wrath of Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux was a mystery to the House, but he flies into a regular passion. He interrupted Mr. Hocken's remarks by a lecture on loyalty to Quebec. The Orange Order had no monopoly of loyalty, he declared hotly.

Dr. Michael Clark followed with a warm reference of Union Government though he regretted that there should be a greater income tax.

Mr. R. C. Henders, MacDonald, in his maiden speech said the west had not changed its view on tariff matters but the winning of the war was put first. The people of the west were absolutely behind Union Government.

Mr. L. T. Pacaud, Megantic, pessimistically thought Canada was not heading for financial ruin. Mr. Fred Davis, Neepawa, wanted an increase in the income tax and in curtailment of non-essential industries.

Mr. W. A. Clarke, North Wellington, admitted that as candidate who had succeeded Mr. Guthrie in Canada and proposed to give him loyal support. He blamed the justice department for the failure of the Military Service Act and suggested, if necessary, that there should be a Cabinet re-arrangement.

Forty Hun Warships Were Attacked

Official British Statement Tells of Work Done by British Submarines

WASHINGTON, May 10.—More than 40 German warships have been attacked successfully by British submarines.

This was disclosed by an official British statement received here and made public by the committee on public information. The review was the most extensive ever received in this country of the work of British underwater craft concerning the activities of which little news has reached America since their famous raids in the Dardanelles and the Baltic Sea.

Various exploits of individual craft are recounted. In many instances the submarine commanders have threaded their way thru dangerous channels to seek out their quarry and so successful have they been in penetrating the defenses of the German coast that the report notes that the enemy "cannot allow his above-water craft to spend the restless of his harbors."

Most of the battles narrated in the review were with German destroyers which had sallied forth presumably on raiding expeditions, but in one instance a submarine commander told of sighting four dreadnoughts of the "Kaiser" class off the Danish coast, and of diving immediately at two of them. The submarine submerged as the torpedoes were fired, sent from the same explosions which the commander heard, he concluded that two of the battleships were hit. The submarine was prevented by German destroyers from rising to the surface to observe the effects of its attack.

Another warship tells of a British submarine meeting a German U-boat, and hailing the pair ordered her position to be fixed by torpedo, until the German finally decided safety by in flight.

The review also deals with the hazard of operations in the North Sea during the winter months and tells of the hardships and suffering of the crews from extreme cold. Frequently periscope and wireless are covered with ice so that they could not be used.

German Trade Needed In Canada?

Will Be Our Best Trading Customer After War, Says Senator Roche

OTTAWA, May 10.—Senator Lynch-Staunton's bill for the distribution of the trades in German goods was given a second reading in the Senate today, and its details will be considered in committee to-morrow. This bill, which is designed to protect the public against dealers who may seek to sell German goods as the products of Canada, Britain, or any allied or neutral country, would, if it passed both Houses, give Canada the most advanced legislation of this character thus far adopted by any allied country.

The delay which preceded the second reading was made notable by a speech by Senator Roche of Halifax, who warmly opposed the bill and declared that when the war was over Germany would become Canada's best trading customer. This remark drew a storm of protest from all sides of the House and was subsequently repudiated by other Senators who participated in the discussion.

Cadet Flew Under Niagara Bridge

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., May 10.—An exhibition flight by Cadet Beamsley Camp circled over the Falls, for a few moments today and then "dived down and frightful velocity and sailed under the steel arch bridge. Evidently he experienced some difficulty in rising from the gorge as Bd Beachy some years ago.

The Beamsville cadet, however, after being in the gorge about three minutes, managed to rise on the American side, and after circling round, made off for camp.

Huns Brag Of Their Crimes

Amazing Propaganda Document For Use Among The People Of Spain

WASHINGTON, May 10.—German propagandists in Spain are circulating a document dealing with what has been "accomplished" by the German armies, and which would seem to convince the Germans out of their own mouths of many of the charges of violation of international law, cruel treatment of prisoners, looting of civilians and reprisal against the civilian population in occupied France and Belgium of which the Germans have been accused. It is evidently intended to overawe countries.

The document claims that 50,000 British have been made prisoners, and admits that 134,806 German prisoners had been taken by the British. The document was circulated before the recent German offensive in Flanders and Picardy began, and these figures regarding British prisoners refer to the total prior to the recent offensive. Extracts from the document were made public by the State Department today in this form:

"The President of State has received a copy of a circular which is being distributed by German propagandists in Spain, setting forth claims as to what has been accomplished by the German armies. The authenticity of the document as being of German origin has been established.

Some Exact Particulars

"The circular, which is in Spanish, states:

"'Besides an untold amount of war material captured on the battlefield the Germans have taken possession of incalculable booty in France and Belgium, including: High-grade watches, 147; averages watches, 5,016; underwear, 18,072; embroideries and women's handkerchiefs, 15,312; umbrellas and parasolas, 2,705; silver spoons 1,376; bottles of champagne, 122,000.

"'These figures show a large increase over those of the campaign against France in 1870-71.

"'In Belgium, besides many art treasures, they have confiscated all paintings valued at 2,000,000 pesetas.

"Admit Destroying Churches

"'Due to the treachery of Cardinal Mercier and other priests, who did their utmost to stir the priests against the good-hearted German soldiers, they were forced to teach a severe lesson to the Belgian and French Catholics.

"'Cathedrals destroyed, 4.

"'Rendered unserviceable, 8.

"'Churches destroyed, 27.

"'Rendered unserviceable, 34.

"'Total, 71.

"'In Poland also a large number of churches have been destroyed for military reasons. The figures concerning these have not yet been published.

"Loss on Rich Enemies

"'As a result of the stupid stubbornness of the Belgian people in continuing the struggle after their defeat and final defeat on the battlefield, the German officers were forced, against their will, to impose punishments on many rich individuals and wealthy cities. This has contributed the following amounts to the German Treasury:

"'Punishments, 87,000,000 'pesetas; penalty, 13,000,000 pesetas; requisitions, 15,750,000 pesetas; forced contribution 4,320,850 pesetas; total, 129,750,150 pesetas.

"'This amount includes a fine of 15,000 pesetas imposed on the Abatian children who insisted on speaking the French language and refused to study the beautiful German language. These statistics are a most useful warning to the neutral countries.

"'If there are any still thinking of joining with the allies, let them take warning from the fate of the others."

Treatment of Prisoners

It is claimed in this document that more than 50,000 British have been made prisoners, and in this connection the following statement is made:

"Although to these figures the English oppose 124,806 German prisoners taken by them since Passchendaele, it must be remembered the English treat their prisoners with notable kindness while the regime imposed on the English prisoners by the Germans is one of extreme rigor so that the Germans have a small number of prisoners, have secured as much superior moral effect. Besides, to the 2,264 officers and 51,225 soldiers now imposed as slavery thousand English prisoners that have died in consequence of disease, scanty food and other calamities, in German concentration camps."

The figures regarding British prisoners, it is explained, refer to the total prior to the recent drive in Picardy and Flanders.

Lord Lansdowne Breaks Out Again

LONDON, May 10.—In the House of Lords a debate arose on the peace agitation, in the course of which the Marquis of Lansdowne reiterated his opinion that peace would never come except by negotiation. Those expecting that peace would come through a knock-out blow, he said, were unable to tell the country how that blow could be delivered or the method of delivering it.

There existed a great body of opinion in Germany and Austria, continued Lord Lansdowne, which was sick of the butchery and desirous of stopping it. He who wished to encourage that kind of opinion, and advocated a knockout, should think twice before driving the British people into a very dangerous mood.

CHEESE OUTPUT IS MUCH REDUCED

BROCKVILLE, May 10.—At the meeting of the Cheese Board Professor G. G. Publow, chief instructor for the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association, stated that the make up to the end of April was down 25 per cent., but with a favorable season the output would be normal. Due to the Military Service Act, there is considerable unrest among the makers, and if the militia authorities take more men there is grave danger, he said, of many factories being compelled to close. He announced that there had been nothing done officially toward fixing the price of milk between the conderseries and the cheese factories.

THE UNDER-SEA WAR.

The mystery of silence which has enshrouded the doings of the British submarine fleet has been partially relieved by an admiralty announcement which shows that the submarine department of the Grand Fleet has not been idle by any means. Forty German warships have left the sting of torpedoes with more or less damaging results and the British undersea craft have penetrated German harbors and dodged through minefields, always striking deadly blows at Germany's naval resources. When the war is over the story of the British submarine activities will make thrilling reading.

SOLDIER SOX TAXED BY PROFITEERS.

There is much food for thought and scope for governmental investigation in the following remarkable statement made by a Woodstock dry goods merchant in his daily paper advertisement. If the war profiteer has been collecting unearned tribute on even the socks for the soldiers it is high time for a show-down:

"Why are the people of Canada paying about 200 per cent more for their cotton goods and about 400 per cent. more for their woollen goods now than they did before the war? We recently paid 26c. for a line of Canadian cotton goods for which we were paying 9½c. per yard before the war. We are asked $2.50 for the same standard fingering yarn that previous to the war we bought for $1.50c. a pound. These two samples show the general situation, and the question is: What has brought it about? For the situation the Governments of Canada and the United States must assume the responsibility. We should not cut off speculation and gambling in raw cotton and wool by fixing the prices for them on the one hand, and should not have allowed the manufacturers of cotton and woollen goods to take advantage of public necessity by demanding unwarranted and unjustifiable prices for them upon the other."

ONLY SONS ARE NOT EXCEPTED.

From the published statements of military officials it was understood that only sons of farmers who remained on the farm, and the last remaining son on the farm with brothers in military service, would be subject to the latest call to the colors of young men from twenty to twenty-two years of age. It now appears that this assumption is entirely erroneous, that the cancellation of exemptions has absolutely no exceptions.

That only sons should be left on the farm commends itself as an eminently fair proposition and no doubt many cases of genuine hardship will result by reason of the fact that the Government can not see its way clear to make this exception. However, we must have faith in the Government which, knowing the seriousness of the war situation, has a disagreeable duty to perform whether it likes it or not. The cancellation of all exemptions for young men between twenty and twenty-two hits hard the farm and factory, but it is just another sacrifice imposed by the inexorable demand of war. The Government has assumed the responsibility of taking the lads from the farm, and time will demonstrate whether or no this extreme step was justified.

The following letter from the office of the Minister of Militia is self-explanatory:

Department of Militia and Defence.
Minister's Office, Ottawa, 8th May, 1918.

To the Editor of The Intelligencer,
Belleville, Ont.

Dear Sir,—In reference to a recent editorial in your paper, under the heading of "Free Butter, Cheese and Eggs", a copy of which has been forwarded to the Honourable the Minister, I am requested to point out to you the fact that there is no truth in the report published in some papers that only sons of farmers are to be exempted under the present regulations.

This report seems to have emanated from a reported interview with General Wilson in Montreal which appeared in "The Montreal Star" on May 2nd.

For your information, I am enclosing herewith a memorandum containing the regulations for the granting of leave of absence without pay to men called up under the Military Service Act, together with a copy of General Meuburn's statement made in the House of Commons.

Yours faithfully,
W. R. CREIGHTON, Major,
Private Secretary.

BETH. STEEL REALIZES ENORMOUS PROFITS

NEW YORK, May 10.—The statement of President Grace of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation shows that Bethlehem Steel is beginning to realize profits from its enormous increased plant during the last two years. President Grace says by July the shipbuilding department alone will have in its employ 100,000 men, which is within 5,000 of the average number of employees in all plants, steel and shipbuilding, in the year 1917. Before the close of the year it would not be surprising if Bethlehem was employing more than 90,000 men. This means a heavy increase in volume of business in 1918 compared with 1917. While the margin of profit may be smaller, this loss is likely to be made up through the increased volume of business. Profits of the Bethlehem Steel Company on shipbuilding will establish a new high record this year.

Borrow to Buy Cattle

"Mixed Farming" is the big money-maker to-day. Grain and fruit and vegetables pay well, but beef and bacon, butter and cheese are piling up the profits for the alert farmer.

Milk more cows—fatten more cattle—raise more hogs. If you need money to do it, come to the Merchants Bank. We are glad to assist all up-to-date farmers.

SUFFER LITTLE CHILDREN

"Suffer little children to come unto me," what a difference between the commands of mankind's greatest Champion, and its practical application by the Huns in Belgium; who with their arrogant, vindictive mirit make it read to the world—Suffer little children.

Left alone, sick and starving those children look to this country as the paradise from which all good things come. Shall we fail them; or will their baby clamors be stopped by refood they crave and which is so urgently needed.

A fund has just been received from the Belgian Relief Commission in Brussels; "That provided all shipments of provisions arrive the Belgians will still be without bread for 20 days." Think of it.

The Belgian Relief has also made arrangements to transfer children under 12 years of age, who have become destitute through lack of nourishment to Holland, Switzerland and France for the duration of the war. Proper nourishment and medical care will then be supplied by them—provided the generous hearts of Canadians respond to the appeal of these children.

U. S. Is Determined To Feed The Swiss

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 10—America's determination to feed the Swiss population despite obstacles interposed by Germany was made plain when the State Department gave out a communication to the American Minister at Berne declaring grain ships were on the way under naval convoy prepared to force passage through the submarine zone.

The note was sent for publication in Switzerland to relieve anxiety there as to the food supply. It disclosed that the United States decided to defy the submarine blockade after the German Government declined to guarantee safe passage for grain ships until three months' time had expired in which to notify submarine commanders

PROPRIETOR OF INN FINED $800

WINDSOR, May 10.—Francis Mierdick, who for many years has conducted a roadhouse in Sandwich East known as "The Japanese Inn," but who at present is a fugitive from justice, following a raid by Provincial officers on his hotel some time ago, was sentenced to pay a fine of $800 for violating the Temperance Act. Magistrate Mierz imposed sentence. If the fine is not paid within a reasonable time an order will be made attaching Mierdick's hotel for the amount due to the Crown. The evidence upon which conviction was based was the finding of a case of whiskey hidden beneath the flooring of the inn.

American women's hospitals are to be established in Serbia, Macedonia, France and Italy this summer.

CRISP COMMENT

Egg-candlers want more money. They make the claim that it costs more to look at an egg in these days than ever before. Probably so. It costs a good deal more to look at a dozen of eggs, says the Toronto News. J. E. M.

Prospects for bumper crops in both Canada and the United States were never better and present indications point to harvests unprecedented in North America. Much depends upon this continent this year, and not the least encouraging feature of increased production campaigns is the vast number of backyard gardens, the produce of which will ease the home demand upon exportable foodstuffs.

The Bay Bridge matter is being smothered in talk. First it was eagerly grasped as a political shuttlecock, then it passed through the debating stage, now it may not be too late to handle it as a business matter and have a small joint commission between Dominion and Prince Edward County take charge of the negotiations with instructions to buy, arbitrate or break off negotiations. In the meantime it might-be as well to keep their records as clear as much as possible, if there are any left to cover.

Mr. Harry Dempsey, who is representing the County Council of Prince Edward in the Bay Bridge negotiations, has been keeping very close to the Private Bills Committee of Parliament, who have charge of the Bay Bridge increased tolls bill. Mr. Dempsey has been almost continuously in Ottawa since the matter first came up and has always been Johnny-on-the-spot when ever anything has transpired there in the bridge negotiations.

Lord Lansdowne has had another violent attack of pacifism and has delivered another speech in favor of "peace by negotiation." In the light of revelations of the German lack of character, scrap of paper treaties and Russian peace, negotiating a peace with the Kaiser would be just as sensible as trying to make peace with a rattlesnake. The only peaceable rattlesnake is one deprived of its power of evil, and the only way to secure lasting peace with the German snake is to scotch it.

Parliament is degenerating again into a Talk Fest and members are objecting to an early dissolution as tending to prevent them from filling Hansard with their more or less valuable opinions. Talk will not win the war, and it costs money to keep the Parliamentary Conversation Factory open. Cheaper for the country to retire the members to the corner grocery, except it is aged on the crackers and cheese. The parliamentarians could work days on the farm with their hands and give their jaws a rest. Then they could work their jaws at night in the corner grocery and give their hands a rest.

Plays may come and plays may go, but Uncle Tom's Cabin seems destined to go on forever. Year after year Harriet Beecher Stowe's word picture of the highs and shadows of slavery days in the Southern United States is depicted upon the stage with more or less realistic effect. Uncle Tom and Eva are not always bright and shining lights of the art of Thespis, for the exigencies of their positions generally call for ability to play head instruments as well as to portray characters on the stage. The "Simon" bloodhounds are about the only members of the troupe who do not have to double, and they just have to lead a dog's life on the stage and off. However, the annual visit of Uncle Tom is a source of delight to the children and the play, whether well or poorly presented, contains at least some historical value, and entertainment of a kind.

Margaret Anglin as Medea

CANADA may well be proud of Margaret Anglin, who continues to win fresh laurels, week by week, from those who are recognized critics of dramatic art.

This gifted actress is a daughter of the late Hon. T. W. A. Anglin, former Speaker of the House of Commons at Ottawa, where she was born and educated until she went to the Sacred Heart convent of Montreal.

It was in 1896 that the people of Canada realized that their country had produced an actress who would one day win international fame; for in that year Margaret Anglin toured this continent with James O'Neill in a spendid repertoire, which included among others, "The Girl I Left Behind Me," "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," "Hamlet," and "Monte Cristo."

Her foreshadowed recognition came even quicker than her staunchest admirers dared to hope.

As leading lady to Richard Mansfield, Margaret Anglin gained for herself a permanent place among the great artists; and when a little later she starred with Henry Miller throughout the continent, she but added to those laurels that were permanently here.

"Green Stockings" made a great impression upon her Canadian audience, but it was in her Shakespeare an repertoire of a few years ago that Margaret Anglin seemed to reach the height of her power.

She recently scored a huge success in a series of productions of Greek tragedies at Carnegie Hall, New York city.

Those who have watched Margaret Anglin's career closely, say that her impersonation of "Medea" of Euripides is the finest piece of interpretative acting she has ever achieved.

"It is as Medea," says the Kansas City Star, "depicting in its utmost intensity the fury of a woman stirred, that Miss Anglin has won highest praise."

Medea was not a woman of civilized Grecw society, but a wild barbarian from what was then the ends of the earth. She was a princess descended from the Sun God, and an enchantress versed in the arts of incantation and magic. She worked her savage will with the aid of all the poisons of the earth and the powers of the air. Jason came from the civilized world, and Medea fell in love with him. He became her husband, and also the cause of her fury and the chief object of it. He went forth in quest of the Golden Fleece, the first ship to sail the sea, the Argo, and he accomplished the feat through the aid of Medea, who so loved that she slew her own brother in his behalf.

Jason returned to civilization, bringing his plunder and his princess, the hero of one of the world's great romances. In Greece, Medea went right on murdering in order to advance her husband's fortunes; but here she found laws regarding homicide, and so they and their children became exiles. After long wandering Jason hit upon a plan to settle the family matters. Marriage with a barbarian not being recognized in Greece, Jason became engaged to the only daughter of the old King of Corinth, thus gaining a kingdom and assuring the future of Medea and the children. Prima facie, Medea was a barbarian woman who had given herself up to a civilized Greek, and who, in the course of time found the attrition of human life, was cast off.

Once again Medea resorts to magic, and with the gift of a poisoned robe she kills Jason's young bride. Jason she disdains to kill, reserving him for a greater torture. Although having the primitive woman's love for her children, before fleeing from this new enemy, she kills them both. Then mounting to the roof of the palace in a magic chariot, she sails away through the air, taunting the hero of the Golden Fleece that she leaves him without bride, kingdom or child.

Her motive in the murder of the children was to save them from the vengeance of the people of Corinth.

Miss Anglin, wearing a barbaric robe of green and scarlet, her shock of raven hair touched with silver, her countenance haggard as if aged by the vortex of elemental feminine passions, her voice responding alike to the tenderness of love toward her doomed children and to the utmost outburst of rage and jealousy, shows still deeper than all that is feminine, maternal, lies the cosmos of the barbarian. She is said to have fathomed the depths of the character in a way to show how the pity and terror of tragedy are blended in their utmost intensity.

"Was Euripides, twenty-four centuries ago, a feminist? Was Medea, this daughter of the Sun God, the victim of a man-made world?" asks John Corbin, in the New York Times. And he quotes:

"Of all things upon earth that bleed and grow,
An heed most bruised is woman . . .
Lo, they bring
A master of our flesh! There comes the sting
Of the whole shame. How best to guide
Toward peace the thing that sleeps eth at her side. . . .
Her lord, if he be wearied of the bed Within doors, gets him forth; some mertier place
Will ease his heart; but she waits on, her whole
Vision enchained in a single soul."

Treaty for Bird Protection

CANADA and the United States are parties to a treaty for the protection of birds unique in the history of the world. The full text of this pact may be obtained on application to the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, along with the text and the enabling act (bill 93), passed by the Dominion Parliament on July 21, 1917. An abridgment of the text of these laws is in course of preparation, and will be issued in leaflet form for distribution by the Canadian Society for the Protection of Birds this year.

This treaty was drafted and signed after an exhaustive biological survey of the North American continent, in which the evidence of experts regarding the mission of certain species of birds in organic nature to mankind, an essential check on insect life, was presented and confirmed. The alarming decrease of useful species of birds was due in part to man's activities, and also noted and deplored.

The treaty provides for a perpetual close season on all migratory insectivorious and weed-seed eating birds, and for special periods of protection for vanishing species such as the Wood duck and the Eider duck. It abolishes spring shooting all over the continent and provides a close season on all migratory game birds throughout the nesting season—from March 10 to September 1st.

The Canadian enabling act is known as the Migratory Birds Convention Act. This splendid Act—which the public should be made aware of, is now operative throughout the Dominion—imposes a maximum penalty of one hundred dollars or six months' imprisonment, or both fine and imprisonment, on any person violating its provisions. It also provides for the confiscation of all guns, ammunition, vessels, vehicles and outfits of every description, that may be used in the violation of the act or even with intention to violate it.

Under the act, Dr. C. Gordon Hewitt, Dominion entomologist, has recently been appointed as Dominion consulting zoologist. The administration department, which will include game officers, invested with the powers of both a constable and justice of the peace, is in course of formation.

Excellent though its provisions are, and its administration may be, however, the act and the great treaty will be of little avail for their purpose unless the people are enlightened regarding the value of birds to man and their nests and eggs. Until this is done and the knowledge of the mission of birds in nature, and pure interest in birds for their beauty and habits and song become widespread, laws for their protection will be evaded or only half-heartedly obeyed.

The Canadian Society for the Protection of Birds exists for the purpose of disseminating this knowledge. It is a voluntary movement receiving the approval of the Ontario Government, which has assigned to it suitable headquarters at 153 University avenue, Toronto. Its object is the education of the people regarding bird life and bird service. It is the only organized and incorporated association in Canada for this purpose.

During the past year 2,500 members were enrolled, chiefly juniors, from the Yukon to Newfoundland. The awakening interest of young people in birds is promising, and the Society feels that the treaty for their protection will be faithfully observed.

But the persecution of the multitude of "young naturalists" who apply every year for permits to collect birds' eggs and nests and to kill rare birds in order "to complete a specimen," must be resolutely repressed, and M.L. Wardle warned from applying in to secure these permits.

A lot in one case is a thousand in the "collection" more than a passing fancy, to be thrown out in the course of time as rubbish—which is also so much the poorer for the loss of the birds.

The truest and most beneficial knowledge of birds is obtained by users of the kodak, and by Ratient, Intelligent, observation.

To Rebuild France.

Her Excellency the Duchess of Devonshire has most graciously granted her patronage to the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire in establishing a great army of 3,111 volunteers for the adoption and relief of towns and villages in the devastated regions in France. The scheme has already been commenced in Toronto, and two battalions are under formation. Operations will extend throughout Canada. Mme. Chas Cazarin will have charge in the visiting chapters and will organize brigades for the purpose of raising funds for this enormous undertaking.

Sealing Fleet Suffers.

It was a greatly depleted Newfoundland sealing fleet which started on its annual hunt in the waters off the Labrador coast and in the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Like everything else in which sea-going craft are concerned, this industry has suffered severe losses from the war. The crack of steamships which had largely replaced wooden vessels and which were the most efficient ice-breakers in the world, were taken over for war purpose. Two of the best of them are now at the bottom of the sea.

Lord Mayor Laid Brick.

Sir Charles Hanson, now Lord Mayor of London, was roaming the streets of Brampton over fifty years ago, and contemplated the builders of Grace Church to let him lay one brick and thereby win an M.A. The builders obliged the boy, and W. A. McCullough recalled the incident and identified the brick at the recent Grace Church jubilee.

High as the cost of living in Germany is conceded to be, it doesn't compare with the expense of moving into France.—Topeka Journal.

the paint protected town

THE finest town buildings soon get to look "dingy" if they are not kept painted.

Worse still, the corrosion of the Spring painting leaves them open to weather-attack and time's decay.

And—with materials so high as to make every building worth double today what it was worth in 1913—you are making a mistake if you let a building "go to seed."

Have your town a "model" town—have it fresh with paint—have it protected with a paint that affords real protection—

If this paint were sold at a price half as high again it is any other (which it isn't) it would still be the economical paint to use on your house. In fact it would still be the only paint to use on your house. It has no equal. A gallon of it goes so far that your big bill is all and yet it moves with it. Paint with B-H "ENGLISH" PAINT this spring—and your house is protected for years, when a coat of ordinary paint will last but a few months.

The difference lies in the above formula basis. What other paint is so correct in this respect that its makers guarantee it? What paint can a dealer furnish you that has anything like the quantity of white lead in it that has B-H "English"?

This was the formula when lead was lower in price—this is the formula still even though lead is extremely high in price. It HAS to be this formula; because the guarantee that calls for it, is printed right on the B-H can. We could not afford to print it on the can if it were not so. So it's your safe point as to quality, your sure point as to covering capacity, your dependable point as to durability. Find the B-H dealer in your town. He's the man to buy from.

BELLEVILLE

WAS THANKED BY KING

YOUNG KENTUCKIAN WENT TO FRANCE IN C.E.F.

He Was Wounded and Received a Distinguished Conduct Medal—He Describes Visit of British Monarch to the Hospital in Express Gratitude of the British People.

SERGT. ALEX. McCLINTOCK is a young Kentuckian who joined the 87th Battalion, Canadian Grenadier Guards. He was seriously wounded and soon afterward was awarded the Distinguished Conduct Medal "for conspicuous gallantry in action. He displayed great courage and determination during the raid against the enemy's trenches. He rescued several wounded men at great personal risk."

Sergt. McClintock was discharged from the Canadian army and is now a member of the U. S. A. Reserve Corps. He has recently published a book, "Best o' Luck," which not only described methods in present day warfare but gives many interesting anecdotes and incidents in the young soldier's career. An extract from the book is here given:

"If I were possible, I should say something here which would be fitting and adequate about the English women who nursed the twenty-five hundred wounded men in General Hospital No. 3, at Boulogne. But that power isn't given me. All I can do is to fall back upon our most profound American expression of respect and say that my hat is off to them. One nurse in the ward in which I lay had been on her feet for fifty-six hours, with hardly time even to eat. She finally fainted from exhaustion, was carried out of the ward, and was back again in four hours, assisting at an operation. And the doctors were doing their bit, too, in living up to the obligations which they considered to be theirs. An operating room was in every ward, with five tables in each. After the fight on the Somme, in which I was wounded, not a table was vacant any hour in the twenty-four, for days at a time. Outside of each room was a long line of stretchers containing patients next awaiting surgical attention. And in all that stress I did not hear a word of complaint from the surgeons, who stood hour after hour with their skill and training for the petty pay of British army medical officers.

"On Dec. 5 I was told I was well enough to be sent to England and, on the next day, I went on a hospital ship which every medical officer in our army ought to have a chance to inspect. Nothing ingenuity could contrive for convenience and comfort was missing. Patients were sent below decks in elevators and placed in swinging cradles, which hung level no matter what the ship's motion might be. As soon as I had been made comfortable in my particular cradle I was given a box which had engraved upon it: "Presented with the compliments of the Union Castle Line. May you have a speedy and good recovery." The box contained cigarettes, tobacco and a pipe.

"When the ship docked at Southampton after a run of eight hours across the channel, each patient was asked what part of the British Isles he would like to be taken to for the period of his convalescence. I requested to be taken to London, where I thought there was the best chance of my seeing Americans who might know me. Say, I sure made a good guess. I didn't know many American, but I didn't need to know them. They found me and made themselves acquainted. They brought things, and then they went out to get more they had forgotten to bring on their visit. The second day after I had been installed on a cot in the King George hospital, in London, I sent fifteen hundred cigarettes back to the boys of our battalion in France out of my surplus stock. If I had undertaken to eat and smoke all the things that were brought to me by Americans, just because I was an American, I'd be back in that hospital now, only getting fairly started on the job. It's some country when you need it.

"The wounded soldier, getting back to England, doesn't have a chance to imagine that his services are not appreciated. The welcome he receives begins at the railroad station. All traffic is stopped by the Bobbies to give the ambulances a clear way to the station. The people stand in crowds, the men with their hats off, while the ambulances pass. Women rush out and throw flowers to the wounded men. Sometimes there is a cheer, but usually only silence and words of sympathy.

"The King George Hospital was built to be a Government printing office and was nearing completion when the war broke out. It has been made a paradise for convalescent men. The harrows and sick wagination and characteristic smell of the average hospital are unknown here. There are soft lights and comfortable beds and pretty women going about as visitors. The stage beauties and comedians come and entertain us. The food is delicious and the chief thought of every one seems to be to show the inmates what a comfortable and cheery thing it is to be ill among a lot of real friends. I was there from December until February, and my recollections of the stay are so pleasant that sometimes I wish I was back.

"On the Friday before Christmas there was a concert in our ward. Among the artists who entertained us were Pay Compton, Gertrude Elliott (sister of Maxine Elliott), George Gobe and other stars of the London stage. After our protracted stay in the trenches and our long absence all the civilized forms of amusement, life itself seemed to us the most wonderful show ever given. And, in some ways, it was, for instance, in the most entertaining of dramatic exhibitions, did you ever see the lady artists go around and reward enthusiastic applause with kisses? Well, that's what we got. And I am proud to say that it was Miss Compton who conferred this honor upon me.

"At about three o'clock on that afternoon, when we were all having a good time, one of the orderlies threw open the door of the ward and announced in a loud voice that His Majesty, the King, was coming in. We could not have been more surprised if some one had thrown in a Mills bomb. Almost immediately the King walked in, accompanied by a number of aides. They were all in service uniforms. The King having little in his attire to distinguish him from the others. He walked around, presenting each patient with a copy of "Queen Mary's Gift Book," an artistic little volume with pictures and short stories by the most famous of English artists and writers. When he neared my bed he turned to one of the nurses and inquired:

"Is this the one?"

The nurse nodded. He came and sat at the side of the bed and shook hands with me. He asked me what part of the United States I had come from, how I got my wounds and what the nature of Leon was, how I was getting along and what I particularly wished done for me. I answered his questions and said that everything I could possibly wish for had already been done for me.

"I thank you," he said, "for myself and my people for your services. Our gratitude cannot be great enough toward men who have served us as you have."

He spoke in a very low voice and with no assumption of royal dignity There was nothing in the least thrilling about the incident, but there was much apparent sincerity in his words.

After he had gone one of the nurses asked me what the King had said. I told her and I left her to ask me what I thought about the way the war was being conducted, and I said I'd drop in and talk it over with him as soon as I was well enough to be up.

There happened one of the great disappointments of my life. She was English. She gasped and glared at me, and I think she went out and reported that I was delirious again.

Canadian Cattle In England.

On March 6 the question of the British embargo on Canadian cattle was raised in the House of Lords. The London Times report of the debate which followed reads:

The Duke of Marlborough, replying for the Board of Agriculture, said under special conditions animals might be allowed to come to this country, but he did not believe that those conditions had ever been put into operation, except in the case of animals for exhibition. The Act of 1896 was quite drastic, and embodied the principle of total prohibition, except for slaughter, of cattle at the port of entry. Since 1896 it had been urged by Mr. Rogers, the representative of the Canadian Government, that Canadian cattle were free from disease. Mr. Prothero had said there was no ground for saying the Canadian cattle on the ground of disease, and Sir Robert Borden had said that a mistake had occurred. What conclusion must be drawn from their testimony? It was true, he said, that so far as contagious disease was concerned, there was no justification on the part of the Government for refusing to allow Canadian stores born and bred in Canada to come into this country. The conclusion was supported and endorsed at the Board of Agriculture by the competent to express an opinion on the veterinary side of the question. If, however, never gave a pledge that because diseases were not found in Canada they must be imported from Canada. In the opinion of the Board of Agriculture, supported by the representatives of Canada and fortified by veterinary opinion, Canadian cattle were entirely free from disease. Mr. Prothero had pointed out that Canadian cattle might be of assistance to the agricultural community in this country. No promise had been made, however, to permit the entry of more cattle into these shores. He could not promise that no act would be passed permitting the importation before the end of the war, because he did not know who might be in the position to decide, but no change could take place until the Act of 1896 had been repealed. Ample opportunity would be afforded all concerned to present their views to the Board of Agriculture.

Prussic Acid In Beans.

Mr. A. McGill, dominion analyst, has advised the Government to exercise care in connection with the importation of lima beans in view of the climates because of the dangerously large amount of prussic acid they contain. Mr. McGill's calculation, which has been acted upon, forbids the delivery of any beans found to yield more than twenty parts of prussic acid per one hundred thousand. Of 532 samples of beans recently examined, 240 samples contained 60 parts of prussic acid, and all other samples a small quantity. Only nineteen samples, however, contained more than twenty parts of prussic acid per 100,000. A number of cases of illness have resulted from the use of beans containing prussic acid. "These beans," says the report, "are mainly entered at the west seaboard and are finding their way eastwards, already practically monopolizing the markets as far east as Manitoba."

DEMAND $50,000 FOR CLOSING ROADS

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., May 9.—Stamford Township Council and Ontario Hydro Commission are at loggerheads. In order to construct Chippawa Hydro power canal it is necessary to close certain sections of road in the township. Hydro representatives waited on the Council last night with a draft of the roads they wanted to close up, and were met with the request from the township legislators that they must first pay the township a lump sum of $50,000 for the privileges. It is understood some lawsuits consequent in closing the roads may result, and the Council wants to play safe. A resolution of the Council calls on payment of $50,000 before any road can be closed. Seeing the councillors were determined the Hydro men left the meeting.

THE SPRING DRIVE

Our boys are going " Over the top" and into " No man's land" this spring. No one has any doubt of their ability to get there. There will also be a spring drive on this side of the ocean, because March is this year's " time Mon-day." It is the most fatal month of the year. March and April is a time when resistance usually is at lowest ebb. It is a trying season for the " run-downs" also. But medical science can help us, and says, "it need not be" so. We should cultivate a love of health, a sense of responsibility for the care of our bodies. Do not allow the machinery of the body to clog. Put the stomach and liver in proper condition. Take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, to be had at most drug stores in tablet or liquid form; tablets fifty cents a vial, concentrated or native herbs. This puts the stomach and liver in proper condition. You may be plodding along, as a typical, so elastically, so vim, but as soon as you have put body into his natural physical condition—oiled the machinery, as it were—you will find new vim, vigor and vitality within you. A little "pep," said we laugh and live. Try it now. Send Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N.Y., or branch office, Bridgeburg, Ont., 10c. for trial pkg. The prime necessity of life is health. With spirit and energy you have the power to force yourself into action. The Golden Medical Discovery is the spring tonic which you need.

Called by Death

JOHN E. JORDON

One of the prominent residents of Tweed Village has passed away in the person of Mr. John E. Gordon, agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Thirty-four years ago when that railway opened up its offices at Tweed Mr. Gordon received the appointment as agent and held the position to the day of his death.

Deceased was a member of the Methodist church, and is survived by Mrs. Gordon and one son, Winston, to whom the greatest measure of sympathy is extended. There also survive three brothers, Wilber, of Tweed, William H. and Dr. Andrew J. of Vancouver, and two sisters, Mrs. (Dr.) Morrison, Long Beach, Cal., and Mrs. D. C. Johnston, Springbank, Alta.

CHARLES DEMPSEY

Mr. Charles Dempsey, a well known and much respected yeoman of Ameliasburg Township, passed away suddenly this morning at the family residence. Deceased was taken ill at an early hour in the morning, and expired in a few minutes. Mr. Dempsey was born in Ameliasburg and had resided there all his life. He was a prosperous farmer and beloved by all who knew him. For many years he had been a member of the Methodist church, and always took an active part in church work. A widow and one son, Fred, of Rome, and one daughter, Mrs. Korah Skinkle of Warkworth, survive.

TORONTO, May 10.—The case of Rev. Bert H. Spence, Secretary of the Dominion Alliance, against whom a libel suit was brought in by the Grand Jury in the Spring Assizes, has been traversed to the September Assizes.

Comb'ng Won't Rid Hair of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.

German Guns Killing Children in Amiens

This City, Now Completely Dead Joins The Martyred List

With the French Armies in the Field, May 10.—Two hundred and thirty-two civilians have been killed so far in the German bombardment of Amiens, including 30 women and 57 children.

In addition 345 civilians have been wounded, including 76 women and 191 children. Nine of these include British nationality casualties.

Amiens has joined Arras, Rheims and Soissons in the sisterhood of martyred cities. It is completely dead. Seven thousand shells, bombs and aerial torpedoes have devastated the place in the shortest time on record. It is more wrecked than Soissons and Arras, which have suffered four years of constant bombardment.

Twelve hundred homes in Amiens have been hit. Scarcely any house in the city is untouched by the effects of the bombardment. The cathedral is still intact, despite nine shells which have been crashed into it. The archaeologone to this famous structure was principally in the interior. The huge statue of Christ has been knocked to fragments. Workers are feverishly shoring sandbag barricades about the street statues.

At times ten fires raged simultaneously. Firemen from Paris who attempted to extinguish the flames were bombed by German airplanes and thwarted. Great portions of the city have been swept by fire.

The Germans are using mustard gas against the few hundred civilians who are still clinging to their homes, living in caves until their belongings can be removed.

Amiens is now only a name. There is nothing more that can be destroyed and nothing worth stealing left, should the Germans eventually capture the city.

Queen Marie Scorns German-Made Peace

AMSTERDAM, May 10.—Queen Marie of Roumania has announced she will not recognize the peace pact just signed with the Central Powers according to a dispatch from Bucharest published in the German press. The Queen is quoted as declaring she would prefer to abdicate. This also is said to be the attitude of the Queen's children, who, the German newspapers said, "never lose an opportunity to insult the Germans."

Queen Marie is the daughter of the late Alfred Ernest Albert, Duke of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha and a prince of the United Kingdom. Thus, while a British subject, she has the Germ blood in her veins. She was married to King Ferdinand in 1893.

City Council Sets $65,000 As High Water Price For Bridge

Expert Audit of Bridge Company's Accounts Sets Higher Valuation Upon Bay Bridge Than Anticipated—City Council Discusses New Phase in Bridge Matter

A special meeting of the City Council was held yesterday afternoon in reference to the bay bridge matter.

The members present were Mayor Platt, Aldermen Wheelan, Parks, Harman, Donohue, Hanna, Robinson, Curry and Peterson.

On motion the Council went into committee of the whole on communications. Ald. Hanna in the chair.

Communication

A communication was read from Mr. R. H. Pringle, K.C., relative to the Bay Bridge matter. It was in effect that the valuation placed upon the bridge by the Private Bills Committee was in excess of the price acceptable to the municipalities concerned. The latter stated that if the valuation was not acceptable that there was no doubt the Private Bills Committee would raise the tolls to a considerable extent. Inside of a year expropriation proceedings could be instituted.

Solicitor's Statement

Mr. S. Masson said he could not add much to what Mr. Pringle had stated in his letter. Anything placed in the proposed Bill would be only conditional. When the bridge was purchased by the present company it was capitalized at $40,000, but the sub-committee of the Private Bills Committee have figured out that they should allow an increase paid for the bridge over that proposed to be paid by the municipalities interested. The questions to be considered was the extraordinary price of material to-day and also what would be the expenses incurred in placing the structure in first class condition. He did not think the value was in the figure named, if arbitration was entered into it might mean a considerable sum.

Col. Fenton's Views

Col. Fenton, representing the Board of Trade, called upon stated that some years ago the basis of negotiation for the purchase of the bridge was $65,000. The Provincial Government had promised 40 per cent of a purchase price of $65,000. If we pay any more for the bridge all we can expect from the Government is 40 per cent on the amount named." If we do not purchase the bridge then the tolls may be increased. The increase in tolls may not be more than 15 per cent. He was enthusiastic for the purchase of the bridge. It would be an asset not a liability if we purchased the bridge. We should prevent if at all possible, the increase in tolls. He had for years advocated the bridge being free.

In reply to a question from Aldermen present, Col. Ponton gave it as his opinion that the Provincial Government could be induced to increase their offer of forty per cent. on a purchase price of $65,000 to perhaps 49 per cent. upon $70,000.

A general discussion took place and crystallized into the following resolution:

The Price Acceptable

Bay Bridge Company Name Figure For Bridge Purchase

Company Asks $72,500, Municipalities Are Willing To Pay $65-000—Expert Valuation Of Bridge Property Favors Company's Contentions—Compromise Quite Possible

Special to The Intelligencer.

OTTAWA, May 10—The subcommittee of the Private Bills Committee met to-day with Clark Carlisle, the independent audit made by him. After considerable discussion the owners of the bridge verbally submitted a price on the bridge of $72,500, which works out as follows, based on amount audited previous to municipal sale:

Actual investment at commencement, 1898 ..... $ 55565.00
Interest at 5% simple interest for 20 years 55565.00
Less profits received by cattle or net earnings 2062.50
Actual investment at end of 1917 ..... $ 109,067.50
Price submitted by owners to-day 72500.00
Amount of reduction by owners 36567.50
Which reduces the average rate of interest as follows:
Less, actual amount of money invested ..... $ 55565.00
Interest at 4½% simple interest for 20 years 47247.20
Net receipts of profits by owners for 20 years $102812.20
Price submitted by owners $72500
Reduction on authorized capital of $40,000.00 at Jan. 1, 1898 ..... 32312.20
Interest allowed on above reduction for 20 years ..... $ 4042.60
Return of amount invested over authorized capital 15575.00
..... $ 19617.60

Tolls Will Be Increased.

The committee will deal with the Bill next week, it is expected certain that the tolls will be increased, but not doubled, as asked for in the Bill.

The subcommittee were of the opinion that the owners were entitled to the return of the original amount of money invested, namely, $55,565.00, together with 5% earnings, less the amount of earnings clear of all expenditures for the 20 years from Jan. 1, 1898 to Dec. 31, 1917.

The Prices Asked.

The price of $72,500 submitted by the owners verbally will be submitted to the proper parties in writing to submit to the council of the city of Belleville and to Mr. Harry Bampfoy to submit to the Provincial Government and to the Prince Edward County Council.

The Provincial Government has promised assistance to the municipalities as follows, by wire:

Toronto, April 26th, 1918.
Mr. Harry Bampfoy, Carrying Place, via Trenton.

This Government is prepared to make a grant of forty per cent of cost of bridge as fixed by arbitration agreement, provided cost does not exceed sixty-five thousand dollars.

(Signed) F. G. MacDiarmid.

The owners of the bridge will give the municipalities a reasonable length of time to consider the matter and arrange the proportions as between the municipalities.

It may be of interest to the public to know that the $55,565.00 invested by the owners was as follows:

Mortgage	$ 32048 11
Judgment	12167 72
Total investment	$55565 83

According to the last and fullest data presented to the Private Bill Committee the amended of the present owners leased the same to complete the bridge and under mortgage foreclosure proceedings bought in the bridge to protect their loan, operated same for twenty years, but a net return on their money of $30,562.60, for the use of the loan and acquiring and selling to sell the bridge back to the municipalities for $72,500.00, which will leave the owners their original loan back and 4½% simple interest on their money, taking in consideration the net receipts of the bridge during operation. The question at the present time therefore is, do the municipalities wish to repay the loan and acquire the bridge and make it free to the public? If they do, and the Provincial Government grant their $25,000 the balance of $72,500 will mean the city of Belleville and the county of Prince Edward can repay their loan for the use of $42,500 and $13,000 less than the original loan to the bridge company.

If the municipalities can purchase the bridge at a lower price so much the better.

ENEMY IS MARKING TIME ALLIES ARE IMPROVING DEFENCES

FRENCH ARMY ADVANCES LINE

ENEMY ATTEMPTED RAID EAST OF YPRES BUT RETIRED UNDER ARTILLERY FIRE — HEAVY ARTILLERY FIGHTING ON FRENCH FRONT — FRENCH GAINED GROUND SOUTHEAST OF MONTDIDIER — ALLIED ARTILLERY SWEEPS RANKS OF ENEMY AND HINDERS ORGANIZATION OF OFFENSIVE.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, May 11.—(British Official)—French troops advanced their line slightly yesterday evening east of Locre, on the Flanders front, the war office announces in the following statement:

"French troops advanced their line yesterday evening east of Locre, and captured several prisoners. We carried out successful raids during the night west of Merville and brought back prisoners and machine guns. A raid attempted by the enemy east of Ypres was stopped by our fire.

BIG GUNS THUNDER.

PARIS, May 11.—Heavy artillery fighting on the front below Amiens in the region of Grivesnes and Mailly-Raineval is reported in today's official communication. The French gained ground on the southern side of the Picardy battle front, near Orvillers-Sorel, southeast of Montdidier. The statement follows:

"During the night very spirited artillery fighting continued all along the front in the region of Grivesnes and Mailly-Raineval. North of Grivesnes our troops carried out a raid and took fifteen prisoners. In local operations at Marcuil Wood, southwest of Grivesnes, we made an appreciable gain of ground, while thirty prisoners and several machine guns fell into our hands. A German counter attack was broken up completely by our fire. French detachments made several incursions into the German line, especially southeast of Montdidier and northeast of Thiaucourt, in the sector of Sapignael and in Wocvre, taking prisoners and material. There is nothing to report elsewhere on the front.

German Wolf Seeks To Gobble Up Russian Bear

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, May 11.—Russia has been suddenly faced with events that may again change the political outlook, the Petrograd correspondent of the Daily Express telegraphs. Germany, he says, has apparently found that economic domination of Russian territory is insufficient and is seeking military occupation. An extra session of the Bolshevik Government Council has been held in Petrograd to discuss the situation created by the ultimatum recently delivered by the German ambassador, Count von Mirbach, which embodied demands of a character apparently calculated to turn Russia virtually into a German colony. Premier Lenine's speech at this meeting was extremely pessimistic, says the correspondent, according to the newspaper, Podnia. The subject of transferring the capital to Nijni-Novgorod was broached, as was also the subject of immediate military measures for the defence of Moscow against possible aerial attacks.

Not Influenced By Relationship

Labatt's Appointment Was Prior To Mewburn's Call To Cabinet

OTTAWA, May 11.—Hon. N. W. Rowell, at the meeting of the House Committee on Pensions, emphatically denied that a letter from H. H. Stevens, member for Vancouver Centre, protesting against the pension awards in connection with the Board of Pension Commissioners, had been placed on the record of the committee without first being read to the members. He also denied that he had made a letter public, and stated that the Secretary of the committee in whose charge the letter had been, since it was placed on file, had not given out any of the details contained in it.

Mr. Rowell made these statements in view of the publication in Ottawa papers of Mr. Stevens' letter, accompanied by the charges referred to. He also read a letter written to Mr. Stevens on May 1, stating that the matter had been laid before the Pensions Commission, and would receive attention in the course of its deliberations.

Mr. Stevens, letter also made reference to the relationship of Col. Labatt to Major-General Mewburn and Hon. J. D. Reid, Minister of Railways and Canals, and in reply Mr. Rowell stated that he understood from the letter that he was not consulted at all in any manner whatever to do with the officer's appointment to the Pensions Committee. In regard to Major-General Mewburn, Mr. Rowell pointed out that his appointment as Minister of Militia did not take place for some time after Col. Labatt's appointment.

Members of the committee stated that the letter had been read shortly after its receipt by Mr. Rowell and then placed on record.

Dr. D. D. McGillivray, a member of the Medical Board of Consultants of the C.A.M.C., gave evidence as to the findings of the Medical Boards regarding Col. Labatt's disability pension. He stated that the consultants examined the report of the doctors and concurred in the decision awarding the officer a total disablement pension.

Willing To Break With The Germans

Emperor Charles Offered Restoration of Alsace and Lorraine— And Also Belgium

LONDON, May 11.—Important revelations regarding Austria's peace offers to the Entente have been made before the French Foreign Affairs Committee, showing that Emperor Charles proposed not only the complete restoration of Belgium and of Alsace-Lorraine, but announced that Austria and Bulgaria were prepared to break with Germany and fight on this basis.

These proposals were contained in a second letter written by the Austrian Emperor to the French Government, says the Paris correspondent of the Manchester Guardian, and were rejected by M. Ribot, then French Premier, and President Poincare before they had been communicated to the American and Russian Governments. Their rejection displeased Premier Lloyd George greatly, Emperor Charles is said to have expressed the conviction that he would be successful in inducing Germany to make peace provided the territorial demands of the allies were restricted to Alsace-Lorraine. It was understood that all occupied territory would be evacuated and Belgian independence and sovereignty unconditionally restored. The Emperor added in this second letter, the correspondent continues, that he was assured of Bulgaria's agreement, and asked that the confidential character of his communication be locally respected.

Some men would go barefooted while waiting for a dead man's shoes rather earn sufficient money to buy a new pair.

Holy See Saves Catholic Bank

Advances $1,000,000 And Secures It Against Bankruptcy

ROME, May 11.—The sum of $1000,000 advanced by the Holy See to the Catholic bank, Credito Centrale del Lazio, has that institution, in which thousands of farmers were depositors, from bankruptcy through loans made to Lucia Cortese, newspaper owner and political intriguer, since tried on charges of fraudulent financial operations.

A run was started on the bank with the arrest of Cortese, and it was represented to the Pope that unless funds were forthcoming the poor among the investors, who had dealt with the bank mainly because it was reported to be a Catholic firm, would be ruined. The Pope favored the advances of funds, and after consultation with the set friends who administer financial matters, the Holy See decided to advance the money.

Toronto Exceeded, Half-Million Mark

TORONTO, May 11.—The Red Triangle campaign, which has been conducted in this city and throughout the province for the past three days, was concluded last night and Toronto has once more given a practical demonstration of the patriotism and loyalty to the men at the front by contributing the magnificent sum of $569,000 as the result of the splendid efforts of the large body of workers and the co-operation of the citizens. This amount has been oversubscribed to the extent of $9,631. At the close of the second day contributions had already totalled more than one-half of the objective, or $259,457; but the spirit of determination with which the campaign set forth on the last drive, aided by the splendor of the cause for which they were soliciting accounted for the enthusiasm that was displayed and with yesterday's contribution of $250,000 Toronto once again went over the top.

AIRMEN AGAIN BOMB MOLE AT ZEEBRUGE

LONDON May 11.—An official statement relative to aerial operations issued by the War Office reads:

"The weather was fine on Wednesday, but little work in the air was possible south of Arras, owing to a heavy mist. Nevertheless portions of the front our airplanes were active all day ten tons of bombs being dropped on Mont Bernenchon, Armbul, Hendecourt and the docks and Mole at Zeebrugge.

"Strenuous fighting took place throughout the day. Seventy-two hostile machines being driven down, seven were compelled to alight out of control, and one was shot down by machine-gun fire from the ground. Seven of our machines are missing.

"Under the mist, only a few of our airplanes, were able to go out after dark. A ton of bombs, however, were dropped on railway stations at Donai and Marcoing. All the machines returned."

SUBMARINE LANDED MAN ON IRISH COAST

LONDON, May 11.—A German submarine recently landed a man on the Irish coast, it was announced by Government officials. James Mc-Pherson, Parliamentary Secretary to the War Office, made the announce in the House of Commons that this man was in the Tower of London and would be court-martialled.

The collapsible boat in which the Germans landed the man on the Irish coast, it is also announced by officials. It is made of canvas, with a bottom of 22 wooden slats, each four inches wide, which are slightly curved, being long and two feet wide. The canvas sides are about twenty inches high, have an inner lining of rubber fabric which is blown up from a valve at the rear to give the boat buoyancy. There are loops along the sides, in which short wooden braces or struts keep the boat from collapsing.

The whole craft when rolled up weighs less than 40 pounds, and can be easily carried under a man's arm. When the buoyancy chambers are pumped full of air the boat will easily support three men. The paddle used is thus far reported to have been arrested. In the side of the boat is a hole about three inches in diameter, which was presumably cut by the occupant in an effort to sink her after landing.

Marriages, which should make one out of two, often result in sixes and sevens.

Do Not Realize Need of Money

Premier Borden's Firm Reply to Toronto-Harbor Delegation Asking For Expenditure

OTTAWA, May 11.—The urgent necessity of avoiding all unnecessary expenditure in war time was urged by the Prime Minister in receiving a delegation form the Toronto City Council, the Toronto Board of Trade and the Toronto Harbor Commissioners. The delegation had urged further Federal Government expenditure on the Toronto harbor improvement scheme to preserve the work already done, in pramising full consideration of the delegation's request Sir Robert said:

"It is very difficult indeed for anyone not in close touch with the administration to realize the position before the country in the matter of finances. We find people content to do Government at a time when we possessed an unending source of supply of finances for the purpose of carrying on this war and everything else just as if there were no war effort required.

Little in Comparison.

"We have done little in this country compared with what has been done in some countries. In some countries a man is not allowed to erect a building even with his own money. We have stopped work on the Welland Canal, on the Hudson Bay Railway, in Halifax and St. John."

Here Hon. Mr. Carvell interposed that Dr. Reid, Minister of Railways, and he had within the last two months cut down work in Halifax to the cut and cover a million dollars.

"And this cutting down," Sir Robert added, "will be the occasion that we are to maintain our effort in the war, and it is the intention of the Government to maintain our effort in the war to the end."

What Toronto Asked

The delegation urged the expenditure by the Government of $152,000 this year and an additional $196,000 next year to protect work already done on the scheme. The city of Toronto, it was stated, had already spent $1,210,000, and the Dominion Government $187,000. Further expenditure was necessary if the work accomplished by this expenditure was to be preserved. Under the agreement the Dominion Government should have spent $1,450,000.

Hon. Mr. Carvell, Minister of Public Works, replied that he would be in favor of such expenditure on the harbor scheme as was necessary for purely business purposes. But he did not think that at the present time the expenditure would be justified on sections which were merely part of a beautification scheme.

QUEBEC RESPONDS BECAUSE OF FRANCE

MONTREAL, May 11.—La Tribune of Sherbrooke says, with reference to the changed feeling in Quebec Province:

"For some time past the Government organs seem to have changed their attitude towards the Province of Quebec. Minister, members, scribes and pharisees all unite to-day to put on the pedestal which indeed, has furnished to the country and to the whole world a lesson which should be remembered by those who oppose conscription because we considered it useless and contrary to the best interests of the country, and we have the honor to day as we were then. The law is passed, however. We could have done like the Irish, and gone to the interior of the soil of our country. We did not do this, and the most surprised are, perhaps, our enemies, the whitened sepulchres of patriotism, the ultra-loyalists of Toronto and Winnipeg.

La Tribune adds that it is not for love of the British Empire that the young men of Quebec are responding to the call of conscription, but because of the noble and oppressed in France.

PRINCE OF WALES SHORTLY TO WED DAUGHTER OF A DUCAL FAMILY

LONDON, May 11.—Articles appearing in the newspapers concerning the possible wedding of the Prince of Wales and the daughter of a ducal family, and the continued publication of the story gives the impression that it is something more than rumor. The Daily Express, referring to the current rumor, points out that the Prince is 24 years old and the most eligible young man in the world. Although his field of marriage has become very much restricted, so far as royal families go, the position seems away that old tradition and go outside of royalty to find him a bride.

All the men on the Vindictive were volunteers from the Dover patrol.

Anti-Conscription Fusion To Big Sum From Few Parishes

DUBLIN, May 11.—An anti-conscription conference was held at the Mansion House, John Dillon, Prof. Edward De Valera, and other leaders being present. Arrangements were made for the administration of the anti-conscription fund, which will be in charge of local committees, representing all sections. It was declared that 10 per cent. of the money raised should be sent to Dublin for central purposes, and the whole fund was declared to be under the control of the conference for administration impartially, irrespective of party or religious beliefs.

The Lord Mayor has not yet received his passport to America.

It is reported that the anti-conscription fund has reached £60,000, although only 174 of the 1,115 parishes have as yet sent their first installments.

McGILL LETS DOWN BARS TO WOMEN

MONTREAL, May 11.—McGill University has let down the bars to women so far as to admit them to the study of medicine and dentistry. The Corporation of McGill announced this today. It is stipulated that only women who are to be admitted to these courses must have taken a degree in Arts from a recognized university, or must take the double course of B. A. and M. D., or B. Sc. and M. D., at McGill University, or have taken the first and second years in Arts at McGill, and thus give evidence that they are sufficiently mature and otherwise qualified to take up the study of the professional branches.

Principal Harrison of Macdonald College informed the Corporation of McGill that his list of graduates contained the names of two women students, the first case in Canada of women graduating in the Faculty of Agriculture.

A. L. Handleman, a first-year student in dentistry, who was recently convicted of trying to obtain money under false pretences, by offering for sale examination papers in advance, was expelled from McGill by the Corporation of the University.

Honour Sir Wilfred And Lady Laurier

Golden Anniversary Of Their Wedding To Be Happily Marked

OTTAWA, May 11.—The golden anniversary of the marriage of Wilfrid Laurier to Zeze Lafontaine in Montreal on May 13th, 1868, will be happily celebrated by Sir Wilfrid's partners in the Commons and Senate on Monday next. A presentation of gold plate will be made to the former and his wife as a testimony of affection and esteem. Sir Wilfrid himself and Lady Laurier have intimated that the occasion be marked by no form of festivity, in view of the sorrows and hardships of the war. But Sir Wilfrid's admirers have felt that the occasion was an unique that they could not let it pass without some tangible expression of their felicitations.

Fiendish Device "Made In Germany"

MARSEILLES, May 11.—France and Germany at a recent conference held in Switzerland signed an agreement for the repatriation of the prisoners who have been in captivity since 1914. Some of these captives are civilians, territorials, have just arrived here, where they feel they are in a new world. The first batch to be exchanged comprise artillerymen captured in the fall of Fortress Maubeuge in August, 1914.

The abominable cruelties inflicted on the French prisoners-of-war have been told many times, yet one of these old people gave a description of a new form of torture inflicted on him and his fellow-prisoners. At the Strasburg Barracks of Macdonald College informed the Corporation of McGill that his list of graduates contained the names of two women students, the first case in Canada of women graduating in the Faculty of Agriculture.

A. L. Handleman, a first-year student in dentistry, who was recently convicted of trying to obtain money under false pretences, by offering for sale examination papers in advance, was expelled from McGill by the Corporation of the University.

"THE EAGLE'S EYE"

A STORY OF THE IMPERIAL GERMAN GOVERNMENT'S SPIES and Plots in America, by WILLIAM J. FLYNN, Recently Retired Chief of the U. S. Secret Service—Published in a Serial Photodrama Produced by THE WHARTONS—Scenario by Courtney Ryley Cooper—Second Episode: "THE NAVAL BALL CONSPIRACY"

The Great Plot to destroy Eight Hundred American Naval Officers.

CAST OF CHARACTERS.

Harrison Grant, President of the Criminology Club	King Baggot
Dixie Mason, of the Secret Service	Marguerite Snow
Heinrich von Lertz	William Bailey
Count Johan von Bernstorff	Bertram Marburgh
Captain Franz von Papen	Paul Everton
Captain Karl Boy-Ed	John Wade
Dr. Heinrich Albert	Frederick Jones
Madame Augusta Stephan	Florence Short

The American Nation is passing through the most crucial period of its history. The President and our Government have never needed, more than NOW, the loyal support of every citizen, both in act and spirit. Presentation in pictures of facts exposing the Imperial German Government's spy system in America will bring the people to a fuller realization of the formidable secret power of the enemy installed in our midst and the necessity of standing solidly behind the President and the Government to win the war.

WILLIAM J. FLYNN.

The Lusitania sunk by a submarine! There could be but one answer—the Imperial German Government had declared itself against the world and inhumanity. From editorial offices, from savants and publicists came the demand for retribution — war if necessary!

As it in answer to this popular cry, troop lay anchored in the Hudson River the great Atlantic fleet, typifying the naval power of America. The United States could fight if necessary.

But the purpose of this congregation of the fleet was not officially known. It had come for review by the President, representing the one power on which the country could rely. The army? It was practically but a police force, small and ill equipped. Coast fortifications at strategic points were not all that could be desired, but the fleet—the pride of America—could serve as a buffer between America and the Hun.

New York became host to officers and men, as Harrison Grant worked unceasingly to combat the perjured proofs of Imperial Germany's spies that the Lusitania was an armed ship and hence a legitimate subject of attack.

Every Imperial German consulate in America had become a press agency in propaganda to show that England had dolphled himself behind women and children that she might transport munition of war. Affidavits that the Lusitania was armed were published and everywhere paid alien agents sought to blind the American people to the true facts.

Count von Bernstorff busily conferred with his aids as to the best means to force America to remain at peace for a time, for the Imperial German view had evidently changed. At first it urged not but now the United States that conflict. The sooner the United States became a belligerent, the sooner the naval fete could be celebrated across the sea to grasp its real objective. Now its purpose was secret war by sea and submarine. Hence the public before an open attack was made on it.

Von Bernstorff, Von Papen, Dr. Albert and Boy-Ed sat in consultation. "Of course," asked the Ambassador.

Boy-Ed smiled and replied he was working along to accomplish one of which would culminate at the Naval ball to be held at the Hotel Ansonia.

"Very good," von Bernstorff bowed, "I shall trust you to create something worth while."

"You will not be disappointed," replied the smiling Naval spy. "Von Lertz is looking after the details."

Boy-Ed talked guardedly of his plans while learned arrangements were being made in New York for the "great stroke" which was to make the American Navy useless and throw this country into a frenzy of fear.

On the night of May 14th there would be gathered in the ball room of the Hotel Ansonia more than eight hundred officers of the United States Navy. This was the Fleet Review ball, the biggest social event of the year to the men of the Navy. Here the conspirators planned to strike a great blow at the United States Navy and gloated over the possibilities.

All of von Lertz's plans were laid and waiting, and despite constant association with him, Dixie Mason gained no inkling of them. Every hour brought the second great Imperial German tragic "victory" closer. Women as well as men would be killed, but their destruction counted only as an incident to the great blow.

The time grew nearer—days became hours—and yet no intimation of the plan had reached the Secret Service. Then, suddenly, the whole aspect changed.

"They want you at the detective phone," was the announcement to Harrison Grant at the Criminology Club. His foresight in having a secret detectaphone connection made with the Hohenzollern Club was about to bring results. In a few moments he was in the house next door to the Hohenzollern Club, where an operative sat listening at the instrument.

The operative reported that von Lertz and another German had been in conversation for half an hour about the Hotel Ansonia, and asked if anything important was to take place there that night.

Grant started. "A great deal," he said. The officers of the navy are to have their ball there. Why do you ask?"

The operative's hand trembled as he took up his notes.

"Because the indications are they intend to blow up the hotel and our officers along with it."

"Impossible," replied Grant, with blanched face.

"My notes—wait a moment."

There was a pause as the operative said: "He has just left the Club. Said he was going to dress for the ball. Seems that the German consul expect intends to go there for eight and then leave, in cross and buss, around midnight. Other than that I don't know. They had a discussion about America going to war and the reason Lertz kept asking Boy-Ed why he was so confident America would not fight and he finally replied that the United States would not have a chance."

The operative picked up his notes and read what von Lertz had said: "She can't go to war with no men to command her Atlantic fleet. Need I tell you nothing more than that eight hundred officers will be at the ball and that some people have been warned to leave there at midnight."

Grant listened to the phone. "Give me Broad 1462."

He was promptly answered. "Chief Flynn? Grant talking. There's a plot on at the Ansonia tonight. Just found out about it. A plan to bombs—haven't all the details. Any orders?"

He listened intently. "There was hardly a perceptible wait before Flynn's Comes back to come over the wire. Grant nodded several times and then hung up the receiver.

"Every member of the Criminology Club will be at the Ansonia tonight. Chief Flynn is sending fifty men in the hotel and the Police Department will cooperate. They will take outside guard and 'X-Ray' inside."

As Grant spoke, in a distant part of New York, a quiet-eyed, raw-boned German scientist was making his last inspection of the thing of clockwork and fruitvale of metal, the most powerful explosive known, by which was planned to blow the Hotel Ansonia into atoms.

"We will plant this while the ball is going on," he remarked. "It's safest way. There will be many people moving about—we'll not be noticed.

When the ball opened that night

Was On Verge Of Giving Up Job

Advised by Friend To Take Tanlac. He Now Feels Like A New Man.

"I was just about down and out and ready to give up my job when I started on Tanlac, but it certainly has put me on my feet again," said Edward Catalph, a machinist employed with the Universal Tool & Steel Company and living at 22 School Road, Mt. Dennis, near Toronto the other day.

"I was always a strong and healthy man," he continued, "till I started on this spell about nine months ago. Then I lost my appetite completely, and could hardly force down enough to keep a child alive. Soon after eating anything my food would sour, and bloat me with gas, that pressed around my heart so I could hardly get my breath. I would feel so dull and drowsy it was all I could do to keep my eyes open and attend to my work properly. All the time my stomach felt like it was burning up inside, and I would be so miserable I didn't know what to do. After working all night I would go home, and to bed, but my nerves were so worn out that I would just roll and toss for hours unable to get to sleep. I lost thirty pounds in weight, and was looking so bad that the boys in the shop noticed it and warned me that if I didn't quit work it would surely get me.

"Then one of the fellows said to me, 'Bill, why don't you try Tanlac? I've taken it and it will sure fix you up all right.' Well, I followed his advice and got me a bottle, and positively I hadn't taken more than three doses before I began to feel better. I have taken five bottles so far, and it has surely straightened me out to the Queen's taste. My appetite is first rate, and I can now eat anything I want and haven't had a touch of indigestion or gas since I started on it. That burning sensation has passed off. I never feel dull or drowsy like I did before, my nerves are calm and steady and I sleep like a log. Tanlac certainly made a new man out of me, and I can't say too much in its praise."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store, in Trenton by J. H. Dickey, in Deseronto by W. J. Malley, in Stirling by J. S. Morton, in Frankford by W. H. Lantiff, in Madoc by J. Will Vince, in Marysville by T. J. McAlpine, in Ormsby by Jas. Campbell, and in Thomasburg by J. H. Blakely.

and how to take care of them afterwards

MOST people could add ten per cent to the life of their shoes by buying the proper shape and the right size and then giving the shoes more care afterwards. That really means a saving of ten per cent. An ill-fitting shoe, for example, not only soon loses its shape and appearance but it does not wear well.

So, first of all, be sure to get a shoe that is the proper shape for your foot, take care that it is exactly long enough and wide enough. Take your dealer's advice about this. He sells thousands of pairs of shoes a year, and by experience can tell you the shape and the size of shoe you should have.

Each time you buy a pair of shoes, let your dealer measure your feet. Sometimes the size you think you wear is not the size that will give the correct fit, because sizes are not to be relied upon absolutely. There is bound to be some variation in sizes. The workman may stretch the leather occasionally a little tighter over the last when he is making a certain shoe, thus reducing the space inside the shoe slightly below the normal standard.

It is also wise when you are buying a shoe to consider the conditions under which you will wear it. If you will be tramping through the mud and slush, get a heavy shoe that we make for that kind of wear. If you want a stylish walking shoe for ordinary street or office wear, buy a lighter, more shapely A.H.M. model. If you are a farmer or an "outdoor" man, get a substantial boot made, especially for rough, hard wear.

It is true economy to have two, three or even four pairs of shoes. It pays to have shoes for wet and stormy weather—shoes for fine weather—shoes for winter and for summer. Shoes will wear much better and always look better if put away for a few days occasionally, preferably on a pair of shoe trees.

It is also true economy to keep your shoes well polished. Frequent polishing helps to maintain their smart appearance and keeps the leather soft and in good condition, thus prolonging the life of the shoes.

If your shoes get wet don't put them in a very hot place to dry, and don't at any time put them up against a hot radiator or stove. Such heat takes the life out of the leather. That is what causes shoes to crack and split. Put wet shoes on a pair of shoe trees, lay them on their sides so that the air can get to the soles, and let them dry slowly and naturally.

We are telling you these shoe facts because as Shoemakers to the Nation, we want you to get the utmost wear and value from every pair of shoes you buy.

Ames Holden McCready operate three large factories, where boots and shoes for men, women and children are made. We make all kinds of footwear, from the finest kind of kid and calf shoes for both men and women, to special heavy grades for the workman and the farmer. MUSIC & DRAMA

SLAVERY DAYS
A large audience greeted Kibble's "Uncle Tom's Cabin" Company at Griffin's Theatre last evening, and laughter and tears were admixed as the tale of slavery days in the South was unfolded. The ever-popular play was well presented by a capable company and the characters of Eva, Uncle Tom, Topsy, Miss Ophelia and Marks the Lawyer, were particularly well depicted. The audience was appreciative and generous with applause.

"THE VAGABOND"
Charlie Chaplin has a bunch of laughs in "The Vagabond," the week end feature at the Palace theatre, and this comedy is distinguished with a plot of more than ordinary interest. Anyone feeling the need of a good laugh tonic should see Charlie to-night as "The Vagabond." The balance of the program is also interesting and includes Viola Dana in "The Girl Without a Soul," and the "Mystery Ship" serial.

"THE BELGIAN"
A strong picture concerning Belgium before and after its crucifixion by the Kaiser is "The Belgian," the week-end feature at Griffin's with a strong cast and exceptional photographic effects. Vivian Martin is finely supported by an Irish story, is also a very interesting feature in the well-balanced program.

BOHEMIAN GIRL
No event of the current season will create as much interest as the announcement that the Boston English Opera Company is coming to Griffin's Theatre direct from its four months' run in Chicago, as well as runs in Milwaukee, St. Louis, St. Paul and Minneapolis, where it was the one big sensation of the theatrical season. To add zest to this affiouncement, the management states that the same popular prices will be in vogue here as during the great Chicago run.

Can Pills were recommended and my mother got three boxes. They were the first medicine that really helped me, and a further supply was got and I continued taking them for several months until they completely cured me. Now, thanks to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I am as healthy as any girl in Northern Ontario, and I am giving my experience that other girls may benefit by it.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Pale, Listless Girls

Are in a Condition That May Lead to a Hopeless Decline

Perhaps you have noticed that your daughter in her "teens" has developed a fitful temper, is often restless and excitable without apparent cause. In that case remember that the march of years is leading her onto womanhood, and that at this time a great responsibility rests upon you as a mother. If your daughter is pale, complains of weakness and depression, feels tired out after a little exertion if she tells you of headaches and backaches, or pain in the side do not disregard these warnings. Your daughter needs help that only new, rich blood can give for she is anaemic—is that is bloodless.

Should you notice any of these signs, lose no time, but procure for her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, or her unhealthy blood is bound to lead to unhealthy womanhood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enrich the impoverished blood of girls and women, and by so doing they repair the waste and prevent disease. They give to sickly, pale girls health, brightness and charm, with color in the cheeks, sparkling eyes, a light step and high spirits if your daughter shows any sign of anaemia insist that she begins to-day to cure herself by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Miss Grace E. Hankins, Latchford, Ont., says:—"It would be impossible for me to speak too highly of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. A few years ago my health was such that my parents were seriously alarmed. I was pale, listless and constantly tired. I suffered much from headaches, and my trouble was aggravated by a bad cough. I tried several medicines, but to no avail, and my friends thought I was in a decline. Then Dr. Williams'

BETTER BOYS, BETTER MEN.

Citizens of Belleville are justly proud of the city Y.M.C.A. building, equipment and energetic staff. The directors of this admirable institution purpose starting a financial drive to clear off the indebtedness upon the institution and make needed improvements. Anyone at all familiar with the beneficial advantages of the Y.M.C.A. here will welcome an opportunity to show their appreciation in a practical manner on a cash basis. The good influences which are thrown about the boys of the city in the days when their habits and character are moulded for either good or evil is a feature of Y.M.C.A. work which alone entitles the institution to generous public support as tending to create a better type of citizenship.

The Y.M.C.A. is always open with a bright and cheery welcome for citizen or stranger and is one of the bright spots of city life which can not be dispensed with. Standing for the development of the physical, mental and moral qualities of the young men, this institution deserves generous support.

COMING OF THE "MYSTERY SHIP."

The Belleville branch of the Navy League of Canada is keenly interested in the announcement that His Majesty's Warship "Pinta," which has been on active service on the Atlantic coast, has been transferred to Lake Ontario, where it will be used as a training ship for the British Navy. The local branch of the Navy League, recently formed, has already had several applications from young men wishing to join the navy and one applicant has been sent to Toronto to qualify for the service, with more to follow.

The establishment of a training ship for the navy on Lake Ontario is a matter of peculiar interest to all on account of Canada's ambitious program in building up a merchant marine service for after the war. The "Pinta" is expected to arrive in Toronto in about a week and The News of that city speaks of the new training ship as follows:

The British Navy in Toronto Harbor! That is what the coming of the Pinta, the training ship adopted by the Ontario Division of the Navy League of Canada for the training of the future sailors of the British Navy and the mercantile marine, means. The ubiquity of the British Navy has been marvelled at by the nations of the world. Many Toronto people have heard of it and read with pride and interest records of the training of men who for nearly four years have kept the seas of the world clear, and the Grand German Navy corked in the bottle of its own construction, the Kiel Canal. The training ships of Britain, the historic "Victory," the Navy League of Canada's famous sailor, hero of Trafalgar, and the "Foudroyant," her noted consort, which was destroyed on the west coast of England during a storm some years ago, and lastly, the "Egeria," which for years was stationed at Vancouver, B.C., in charge of Capt. Eddie, all have contributed to the tuition of British youth of naval aspirations, and the building of the splendid navy which ensures commercial intercourse with the outposts of Empire today.

Coming Marks Epoch in the History of Ontario.

The coming of the Pinta marks an epoch in the history of the City of Toronto and the Province of Ontario, since she is the first ship of the British Navy to anchor in inland lake waters. Since the outbreak of the war she has been used as an auxiliary by the Canadian Government on the Banks of Newfoundland. In the vernacular of the navy, she was a "mystery ship," a vessel of manuscript identity, of the Batavan moving hither and thither in the lee shore of the waves. In reality she was a decoy, a standing invitation to Hun submarines to investigate and feel the grip of His Majesty's ships concealed in near adjacent.

At the present time the Pinta is anchored at Halifax, being refitted for her new work. She is an auxiliary schooner of 100 tons ship register, 131 feet in length over all, 28 feet beam and 9 feet drep of hold. She draws 11 feet in ballast and has accommodation for 75 boys. The officers who will probably man her as the vessel sails are: Chief Officer H. Stewart, who has served twenty-one years in the British Navy; T. Harris, physical training instructor; R. Rogers, seamanship instructor; A. E. Harris, gunnery instructor; C. Allan, senior district instructor; J. H. H. Burling, senior seamanship instructor; F. Jackson, second gunnery officer; E. C. Coates, second seamanship instructor; E. E. Searle, seamanship instructor, and J. Haddeau, wireless and signalling instructor. Every officer has had lengthy service in the British Navy, and A. E. Harris and F. Jackson have also seen military service with the C.E.F. during the present war.

Special Significance in Navy League's Policy.

The curriculum which will be taught to the boys is along the lines of that taught on British training ships. The subjects are taken in blocks, the first block consisting of learning the compass, drill, physical drill, swimming and nautical terms. In the second block is contained training in ropes and sails and ship architecture.

The third block flag and Morse signalling, boat, gunnery and pistol drill, the rules of the road at sea and rifle marksmanship. The fourth block is a conglomeration of advanced subjects in technical ship's training.

The purpose of the Navy League of Canada is patent at all times, but at this particular time it has a special significance. The German nation, whether they vanquish or are vanquished, have only one thing in mind after the war—a commercial war. For the successful prosecution of this war ships and crews to man them are necessary. In turn Britain recognizes the menace and has resorted to combat it by following similar tactics and having ships and men in readiness to meet it. To protect this mercantile fleet is the duty of the navy. Of the 400 boys on the books of the Ontario Division of the Navy League of Canada it is difficult to say how many will take up the navy, or how many will adopt the mercantile marine as their future career. The matter is optional.

The fact that Gen. Maurice is described by a correspondent as looking like a Prussian officer of the Moltke type should not excite prejudice against him any more than his habit of wearing a monocle. A discordant and murderous note was sounded in the Canadian Senate when one Senator Beebe from Halifax spoke in favor of unrestricted trade with Germany after the war and opposed a measure which seeks to prevent trading in German goods disguised with British labels. This Senator's popularity since the war began has steadily declined and his remarks about German after-the-war trade places him in a class by himself in the Senate.

Lloyd George has found his way through another government crisis and as usual commanded his critics. General Maurice, although ably supported by Col. Repington and other miscellers, only succeeded in raising a little unnecessary commotion and Lloyd George still retains the confidence of the great mass of Britishers who have faith in his dogged persistence and unquestionable ability as a leader of men. The War Office is well rid of the super-fine Maurice, as is the whole class of commentators on the print ing pastime of British officialdom. He can now take his bored air and monocle to a place "somewhere in France" where he will forget his own importance as an official in his usefulness as a soldier and a man.

General Gouin's published statement as to why there was a cap in the British line where his army should have been is a model of lucidity and of an inexcusable blunder for which he has been relieved of his command. Gen. Carey did not count the odds when he saw the gap, but closed it with a hastily assembled and inefficient force of military police, construction men and odds and ends of fighting units. Well it was for Britain that a Carey was on the job to hold back the Hun for air memorable days and prevent Byng's boys, left unsupported by Gouin's retirement, from being outflanked by the enemy. In view of Gouin's position between the Flanders front, the wonder is why he was permitted to retire on important—or any command.

Some families are blessed with wealth but not with children; others are blessed with children but not with wealth. Wealthy childless families take particular notice of triplets born into the world and the poverty of their childless condition by taking a friendly interest in the little strangers. Children and hospitals are endowed by the wealthy, but then far we have not heard of any endowments for the benefit of triplets, outside of the "King's Bounty," which was always considered hereditary more or less selfishness, and the praiseworthy action of an unknown Toronto gentleman who sent the sum of fifty dollars to the mother of triplets in that city and has been following his gift up with a monthly allowance of ten dollars, on account of the high cost of living and the fearful price of war the State contribution of twenty will establish a maternity fund which would relieve the mind of the stork from many of its terrors. And Belleville citizens should be proud enough of our new triplet citizens to create an endowment fund for their benefit.

more than a hundred guests were there who were furnished tickets at the last moment. More than that every person of German appearance in the hall room was within the sight of "The Eagle's Eye"—the United States Secret Service.

Harry Grant watched von Bertz who brought with him Miss Dixie Mason.

Naturally Grant and the young woman met; naturally he sought an introduction; naturally he asked her to dance with him. As he felt the first swing and the graceful lilt of her it the fascinating music of the dance, it was but natural that he should see more than ever that her apparent friendship for von Lertz would prove innocent after all.

The dance dropped for the encore and von Lertz appeared at her side. "Pardon, you think we had better be going?" he asked.

"Go Now?" Miss Mason stared at him in amazement. Grant noticed this look and the frank surprise it expressed.

"You don't you think it is getting late?"

"Late? Why, of course not. It's only a little after eleven. I'd much prefer to stay."

The music began and Dixie, without waiting for von Lertz's reply, swept away once more in the arms of Grant, wishing that the touch of those arms might mean more to her than the mere embrace of a dancer. She wished she might tell him that she knew him and his patriotic purpose and might reveal her own identity as a worker in the same cause.

But the Chief's orders forbade and von Lertz waited for her and she must devote her time to him. His face began to show traces of anxiety.

Outside at the little triangle which divides Broadway, a taxicab drove up in a spy patrol there on a bench, waiting for its coming.

"I have got it. At which entrance do I get in?"

"None," the spy muttered with a cold smile of anger.

"Can't get in! But it's all ready, I——"

"Look," marked the watcher, pointing to the roof of the Arsenic, where silhouetted by the great electric sign the figure of a man stood. Ten feet away stood another, and ten feet from him, another. On the sidewalk a solid cordon of police in uniform was drawn around the building. No one could enter or leave without being seen."

"And that's not all," growled the spy. "The building is full of Secret Service men and I have signaled von Lertz that the plan is off. So he will get away from her quick. There will be twenty policemen on you in a minute."

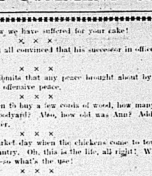

The bomb-planter entered his car and vanished. Twenty blocks away he drew up to another cab standing by the curb. "Don't wait for me," he told the shark. "I'll not need you. The plan is off."

An hour later, as Harrison Grant again danced with Dixie Mason, a man hurried into an old ramshackle building on Staten Island, near Fort Wadsworth.

He scanned the men sleeping there and bending them forward in a great thing of polished steel, nickel and brass that lay there nearly completed.

"Get to work. It's night and they till the fleet sails. The hotel plot has failed. Everything now depends on us."

Grumbling the men arose and started work again on a torpedo powerful enough to sink the largest battleship in the world.

This year is working wonders in reviving interest in religion. Even the theatres and cabarets have joined hands, and Calgary-like are betting on their knowledge of the Bible. The Albertan would not dominate to give the editor of the paper in question five whole dollars for the name of each of the 12 disciples, and have a couple right offhand without any consultation or deep study, provided that he will give the same amount for all that he cannot name 6p to eight, the proceeds of the encounter to go to the Red Cross or some other charity."

HARD POUNDING.

(Kansas City Times).

"Hard pounding, gentlemen," said the Duke of Wellington at Waterloo, "I shall see which army can pound longest." In that sentiment is the keynote of the war for the Allies. The side that can pound longest and hardest will come back strongest is the side that will win the final victory. Can there be the slightest doubt in the nations that are fighting for freedom are the nations that can meet the Duke of Wellington's test?

AN ACCIDENT IN FRANCE

When a French commanding officer had to ask tired British troops to help for a while longer, he never thought the British officer to whom he applied said: "I can give you 200 men, Sir, but they are really resting. I'll let them sleep; but they are sound." It was the first sleep those men had had for some six days, and the French officer understood. "I accept the offer in the spirit in which it is made," he said. "Will you be so kind as to convey my thanks to every man?" The men were roused and heard the situation, and they went cheerfully and willingly, and held the line for 36 hours more. But no words can do justice to the admiration incident of the French and British cooperation.

The Poet's Corner

FAR-AWAY LAND.

By Ann Bernard.

When I was a tiny little lad, and sat at my mother's knee,
I knew many beautiful, wonderful things, that didn't seem strange to me.
I knew the dells where the fairies play, under the stars at night,
I had seen the sheen of their gossamer wings, as they passed me in their flight,
I knew the song of the mother-bird that came from the apple-tree;
I had watched the leaves of a sleepy rose close over the bee.

And I knew that on shining silver sands, fathoms under the sea,
Were castles of shell, and coral-reef, where mermaids' homes must be.
And once, every fifth day, on a bright-sailed, fly-winds, I had traveled day by day
To the Magic Land, where the Rainbow ends, and the gold is stored away.

And O! the nights when the Frost King came, and breathed on a sleeping pane,
And the Sandpaper led by Kris Kringle's hand, raced under the moonbeams Silver chain!
And joy and mystery, joined hands, over the world that night.

Ah, lonely man, you have traveled far from your friends of yesterday,
You don't even hear the fairies' laughter they speak in the land of Where-away.
You are great, and rich and famous now, but have you lost the world at play,
But you'd barter it all to be a boy, in the Land of Dreams again.

A Laugh or Two

One morning he coffee was feeling stronger than usual—full of grit, don't you know. He bawled: Hey, Mess Waiter, is the coffee? Looks more like mud to me!"

"Well," answered the M. S., "it was ground this morning."

"To be happy a man needs a woman who understands his every beautiful attire." "Yes," commented Miss Cayenne of the Washington Star, "and one who can't tell the ostrich and the other wants the feathers."

"And do you like to go to church?" asked the visitor of the minister's little son. "I should say I do," the boy replied. "I like to go there to hear dad talking for an hour and mother never allowed to say a word."

"I understand your automobile has got you into trouble."

"Yes, it certainly has me into trouble one way or another," replied Mr. Chugwine. "When it runs I get arrested for speeding, and when it refuses to run I get arrested for profanity."

Peace Crank—You agree with me that we should not humiliate Germany?

Tommy (from the Somme)—I do, sir! What I say is—shoot 'er crown prince, 'ang the Kaiser, blow 'er blinkin' ships out of the sea, and bombard 'er army, break 'er up into small pieces, and then trade with 'er on any conditions, but—don't humiliate 'er!

An aviated neighbor had just informed Mrs. Warren that her son was at the top of a telegraph pole in the village. The boy had been coaxed back to earth again he mother remonstrated, according to the Christian Herald. "Ted, I've told you how dangerous that it; now, why will you persist in climbing those poles?"

"But, ma," Ted replied, "the boy in an aggrieved tone, "I have to have some fresh air!"

A naval officer, wishing to bathe in a Ceylon river, asked a native to show him a place where there were no alligators.

The native took him to a pool close to the estuary. The officer enjoyed the dip. While drying himself he asked his guide why there were never any alligators in that pool.

"Because, sah," the Cingalese replied, "they plenty 'fraid of shark."

Baby's Own Tablets Always kept on Hand

Mrs. Ernest E. Adkins Brotton, Sask., writes:—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets with great success for four years and always keep a box on hand." Thousands of other mothers say the same thing—once they have used the Tablets for their little ones they will use nothing else. Experience shows them that the Tablets are the ideal medicine. They are a mild laxative, thorough in action and never fail to relieve the minor ailments of little ones. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ABSENTEES APPREHENDED

Two young men, residents of this city, were yesterday apprehended here as absentees. The authorities at Kingston were notified, and an escort came hier and took the absentees to the limestone city.

AUTOMOBILE SHOW HERE

Arrangements are being made for the holding of an automobile show in the Armouries here on the 22nd, 23rd and 24th of May, which promises to be a successful and interesting affair. Permission to use the Armouries has been obtained from the Militai Department. The proceeds of the affair will be devoted to patriotic purposes.

A CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTOR

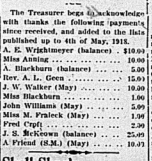

Oliver K. Pinfold, a young man well known in Belleville as a singer and church worker, also as a hockeyist, was apprehended yesterday under the Military Service Act as an absentee, and later was taken by an escort to the military depot at Kingston. Although notified to report for service he neglected to do so, and it is said that his reason for not doing so was that he is what is termed a "conscientious objector." The young man attended Albert College here for some time with the intention of qualifying himself for the ministry. Of late, it is alleged, he identified himself with a religious order which is against war in any form and the shedding of blood.

EARN AND GIVE CAMPAIGN

In conjunction with the two and a quarter million dollar Red Triangle Fund which is being raised across Canada for Y.M.C.A. work for soldiers at home and abroad, a special boys' fund is being promoted whereby 60,000 boys are being asked to give $60,000, ten dollar units, it being understood that they must earn the money themselves or give it out of their allowance or savings. They have to October 1st to make the payments. A regular bond is issued and coupons given as receipts for each payment. Mr. F. S. Deacon, the local director for the campaign, reports that to date 44 boys have signed up for the Belleville district. It is expected that at least 500 will be secured here. Mr. Ellis of the local Y.M.C.A. who has been organizing seven counties in this district reports excellent returns from all centres. The general fund for the Red Triangle for this district has been covered by grants from the Belleville City Council and County Council of Hastings.

Shell Shock Quickly Cured

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 11.—Shell shock no longer bothers medical men on the fighting front it was reported here at the annual convention of the American Neurological Association at the Traymore. It has been thoroughly mastered and effectively cured by the simple method of miraculous-

Lieut.-Col. Colin Russel, Canadian Army Medical Corps, on statistics that showed that the cures were so positive that only four per cent. of the patients, when they were returned to duty, suffered a second shock from some expected explosion or heavy cannonading in his vicinity.

CURES IN FEW MINUTES

He told of bringing about cures in a few minutes—cases where a soldier was certain his leg had been paralyzed was cured by the application of a slight electric shock to the member, which caused the patient to draw away instinctively.

Dr. Russel stated that the rapidity of recovery depended entirely upon the mental ability of the patient. "Some requiring months of suggestive education" before they were able to stand themselves. Most were cured per cent. of the wounded have injuries to their nervous systems.

America has established a precedent for the nations by establishing a division of neurology and psychiatry in the medical corps of the national army, it was declared by Dr. T. H. Weisenburg of Philadelphia, President of the Association in his annual address.

DEMANDS ON PHYSICIAN

"No other war ever made such demands upon the medical profession of all the belligerents," he declared. "While all wars have produced a great many head, skin and peripheral nerve injuries, with the ever-increasing mechanical methods of warfare and the more general use of explosives system has greatly increased. This caused the Surgeon-General's office to create a special division dealing with the eye, ear, nerve and other injuries.

"This is the first time an army has ever erected a special neurological department, and, while there may have been some sensation in the beginning of the work of the neurologists and psychiatrists has been of such exceptional merit that universal recognition has been given it by other branches of the service. New fields are constantly opening up for which a large number of men are needed. Aviation is almost altogether a neurological problem."

Noises in Ears Twitching Nerves

Told of the Exhausted Condition of the Nerves — Indigestion and Weak Heart Action Were Other Symptoms.

Kingston, Ont., May 11.—There are few people in this city who are not acquainted with the exceptional restorative powers of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Reports have come from almost every street of the Limestone City telling of cures effected by this treatment, and the druggists have been surprised at the enormous demand for this great nerve restorative. This is not to be wondered at when cure is effected in such extreme and complicated cases as the one described in this letter.

Mrs. W. A. Couting, 61 Stanley street, Kingston, Ont., writes:—

"For a number of years I suffered from a rundown condition of the system, due to overwork. I could not sleep and was restless and worried. I had pains through my back, buzzing in the ears and twitching of my nerves and muscles. I had indigestion and my appetite became poor. I would get drowsy after eating and frequently suffered from great weakness. My circulation was poor, my hands and feet always cold, and in general I feel like a new woman. I used to be very constipated, so I took Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in connection with the Nerve Food, and am completely cured of that trouble, too."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50c a box, a full treatment of 6 boxes for $2.75, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations only disappoint.

WE INVITE

EVERY MAN AND WOMAN HERE

Every person in this city and vicinity who is run down, worn out, tired all the time, without appetite, or suffering from catarrh, head noises or deafness caused by catarrh, to try the wonderful English formula PARMINT (Double Strength)

What it has done for others it will do for you

This is an invitation no man or woman need to ignore. We will tell you why. We are going to give you a wonderful discovery that every one who is troubled with catarrh, head noises or deafness can use in the privacy of their own home. Parmint is a delightful, harmless, pleasant tasting tablet, made from the juices of herbs; it is entirely different from anything we have ever before offered you; there's nothing like it. It is a wonderful tonic and system purifier.

If you want to get rid of catarrh, stop dulling the mind, clear the dark brown taste, get full benefit of your sense of smell, have perfect digestion and active liver, and extend or lengthen your life, Parmint will help you. It is a scientific combination that does just one thing, does it remarkably well, and does it quickly—how this remedy has put them back on their feet and made them feel like a new person. Parmint is a concentrated formula for economy and convenience. The small 3 ounces bottle is sufficient to make up a full pint of the liquid after ready to take. Any druggist in Canada can supply you or send 50c to The National Laboratories, 71 Antoine Street, Montreal, and you will receive a bottle by return mail, postpaid.

Men who were constantly hawking and spitting, who had a terrible stomach trouble, who were foul breathed, and their sons and daughters being also troubled with the pleasures of living; men who have been cured from these terrible ills never before for years, through the wonderful tonic and purifying effects of Parmint, declare it has restored and built up their entire system and restored health and ambition and pep into young men and women. Parmint did this for them, why will not you. It has established front rank, because it has proved its remarkable merits. Parmint is a compound four times as big in the bottle as the 50c size. Parmint, double strength, is put up in a concentrated form for economy and convenience. The small 3 ounces bottle is sufficient to make up a full pint of the liquid after ready to take. Parmint did this for them, why will not you. It has established front rank, because it has proved its remarkable merits. Parmint is a compound four times as big in the bottle as the 50c size. Parmint, double strength, is put up in a concentrated form for economy and convenience. The small 3 ounces bottle is sufficient to make up a full pint of the liquid after ready to take. SAVING THE CHILDREN

ONTARIO HAS LED THE CONTINENT IN THIS WORK.

It Is a Quarter of a Century Since the Children's Protection Act Was Passed in the Provincial Legislature and the Plans of Welfare Have Been Improved and Ordered in the Interval.

SOCIAL service, and especially that phase of it which relates to child welfare, is more to the front to-day than ever before in the world's history. Face with its terrible destruction of human life, has added immensely to the value of the child. The Legislature of Ontario was the pioneer on this continent in creating a children's branch of the public service. It was in the session of 1892, exactly 25 years ago, that the Children's Protection Act was introduced and placed upon the statute books with the approval of both sides of the House. The main features of this legislation were: The prevention of cruelty and ill-treatment of children; and, second, that homeless children should be placed in family homes instead of being reared in large institutions. The act also provided for the separate trial of juvenile offenders and the juvenile courts that have been established all over the world had to a large extent their practical origin in Ontario. A juvenile court was opened in Toronto in 1894.

The Ontario Act was soon recognized as a desirable measure. It was adopted by the Legislature of Manitoba in 1898, followed closely after by British Columbia, then Nova Scotia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and New Brunswick, and has also been taken up in Prince Edward Island and in part at least by the Province of Quebec. The Act provides for the organization of a Children's Aid Society in each city or county and before beginning this work such society must receive the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council. These societies then become an integral part of the provincial system, and the advantage of this is that, while the societies receive every possible help and encouragement, there is guaranteed to the people that the work will be properly done and that no children will be unfairly or improperly removed from their natural homes and parentage. In fact, it is one of the creditable features of this work that it has been so wisely and reasonably conducted as to have won the approval and co-operation of the judges and other high officials of the province.

There are now sixty-two of these organizations in Ontario and they cover the entire province, so that it is safe to say that there are few cases of ill-treated children that escape public notice for any length of time. There are forty-five agents of these Children's Aid Societies, and wherever a case of a neglected child comes in their territory it is their duty to at once investigate and if possible bring about improvement. Not one in five or six cases are brought to court for the policy has always been to interest parents in their own children, so that any neglect or previous treatment may be stopped without compulsory measures. It is estimated that during the year some forty or fifty thousand children are helped and encouraged and protected through the well-directed efforts of these Children's Aid organizations.

All children who require public guardianship are made wards of the Children's Aid Society by order of the court to whom all the facts and evidence are submitted, and in this way the whole subject is carefully and judiciously reviewed in the presence of the parent or guardian. Taking the past three or four years, the number of children made wards by order of the courts averaged 1,000 per year. The act requires that the judge's order, together with the evidence taken, should be sent to the Government office at Toronto to be preserved for future reference and to see that the child thereafter receives proper treatment. As new cases have a more complete record of the case carried on, and social reports from other provinces and the United States are received upon application as well as inspiration for better work in studying the system followed. There are nearly 16,000 records in all, the documents relating to any particular child can be placed in the hands of the superintendent at a moment's notice.

It is the duty of the Children's Aid Society to find a suitable foster home for each ward as soon as possible, but while awaiting a permanent home, the child is cared for in a boarding shelter and these foster homes are regularly visited each year by inspectors, who, in a friendly manner, see that conditions are satisfactory and that the boys and girls are happy and contented in their surroundings. The results of these efforts have been exceedingly satisfactory, that an experience of 25 years it is possible to speak somewhat definitely and in the case fairly close between six and seven hundred former wards of the Children's Aid Society voluntarily enlisted for overseas service is in itself a splendid tribute. Then there are young people now grown to manhood and womanhood who are to be found in every walk in life—many of them married and having homes of their own, and all adding their share to the industrial development of the country. Hardly one per cent. of the children cared for can be found in any prison, for they have been so helped, encouraged and educated as to direct their minds entirely from all that kind of thing.

The work is one which is constantly growing and developing, and it would be well for all social-minded citizens to take an interest in the society of their district and help in every possible way to throw the shield of protection around the children of the nation.

THE ROAD TO BLIGHTY.

The Impressions of a Wounded Canadian Officer.

There are two faces — one of a nurse and one of a doctor — that Corporal Dawson, lieutenant, Canadian Field Artillery, will always remember. He saw them during the days he spent in a hospital in France.

"I arrived about nine in a summer's evening at the Casualty Clearing Station. In something less than an hour I was undressed and on the operating table. You might suppose that when for three interminable years such a stream of tragedy had flowed through a hospital, it would be easy for surgeons and nurses to treat mutilation and death perfunctorily. They don't. They show no emotion. They are always cheerful; but their strained faces tell the story and their hands have an unceasing compassion.

"Two faces especially loom out. I can always see them by lamplight, when the rest of the ward is blurred and shrouded, stooping over some silent bed. One face is that of the colonel of the hospital, gray, concerned, pitiful, stern. His eyes seem to have photographed all the suffering, which, in three years, they have witnessed. He's a tall man, but he moves softly. Over his uniform he wears a long white operating smock —he never seems to undress. He never seems to sleep, for he comes wandering through his Gethsemane all hours of the night to bend over the more serious cases. He seems haunted by a vision of the mothers, sweethearts, whose happiness is in his hands. I think of him as a Christ in khaki.

"The other face is of a girl — a sister I ought to call her. She's the nearest approach to a Greek or Greek goddess I've seen in a living room. She's very tall, very pale and golden, with wide brows and big gray eyes like Trilby. I wonder what she did before she went to war—for she's gone to war just as truly as any soldier. I'm sure in the peaceful years she must have spent a lot of time in being tended. Perhaps her man was killed out here. Now she's terse, white with over-service and spends all her days in loving. Her eyes have the old frank, fearless look, but they're ringed with being weary. Only her lips hold a touch of color; they have a childish trick of trembling when anyone's wound is hurting too much. She's the first touch of home that the stretcher-case sees when they've said good-bye to the trenches. She never knows when she sees follow her. When she is absent, which is rarely, she always leaves a loneliness. If she meant much in men's days gone by to-day she means more than ever. Over many, dying boys she stoops as the incarnation of the woman whom, had they lived, they would have loved. To all of them the blasphemy of deploring still upon us, she stands for the divinity of womanhood.

"What sights she sees and what words she must hear, yet she just she brings to her work preserves her sweetness. She is on duty all night those who are delicious re-birth of sleep. Sometimes, for half-asleep when in the darkened ward some one jumps and whimpers, 'Hold your bloody hands up.' Its then she's needed as a fine tonic, taking prisoners in a bombed-in dugout. In an instant, like a mother with a frightened child, she's bending over him; soon she has stroked his head back on the pillow. Men do not die in vain when they evoke such women."

Protect the Birds.

Approval has been given by the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House of Representatives to the enabling Act providing for carrying in to effect the treaty between the United States and Great Britain for the protection of migratory birds. Enactment into law of this measure will ensure protection to non-game birds on both sides of the border and will be a promote co-operation between the states in bird conservation. The Migratory Association of Audubon Societies is urging prompt action by the House. It has already passed the Senate last July. Intended as a war measure. If this war is to be won by the food crops of America the birds will prove an important factore they destroy insects, weed seeds and rodent pests, and are in consequence conservators of crops.

War or no war, the bill is one that should be enacted into law. The fact that birds can and do contribute to crop conservation should ensure favorable action by Congress without further delay.—N. Y. Herald.

20 DAYS WITHOUT BREAD!

Press Despatch from Washington:

Food shipments to the civilian populations of the allied countries will be suspended for ten days to move three million bushels of grain to the Belgians, who are declared to be in desperate straits.

The decision to concentrate on the shipment of this grain was made following the receipt of urgent cablegrams from the Belgian Relief Commission's representative in Brussels.

One of the cables said:

"Provided all shipments now en route arrive, the Belgians will still be without bread from exotic grains for 20 days."

Will You Help to Get these Children Out of this Country of Death ?

Children under 13 years of age who have become debilitated through lack of nourishment can now be removed, for the duration of the war, to Holland, Switzerland and France, where they receive medical care and proper treatment. THE KHAKI COLLEGE, Alliance of Institution With London University is Appropriate.

The relationship which has been created between the Canadian Khaki College and the University College of London appears to be peculiarly appropriate, judging from a speech made by Dr. Walter W. Seton, secretary of the latter college, at the inaugural meeting of the Khaki University. The speech showed that the London centre of University College was to offer facilities for higher education at a time when England was still fettered by religious tests and other shibboleths. For this reason, it seems natural that this educational institution founded by Canadians in England without any precedent to go upon, should be welcomed and honored by University College.

"We are, comparatively speaking, a young institution, young as universities go," said Dr. Seton. "We cannot look back to the hoary antiquity of the centuries like Oxford and Cambridge can; we can only go back about 100 years. Yet this college was, in a sense, a pioneer, for it was founded at a time when Oxford and Cambridge were not open at all, but when their membership was limited to those who were prepared to subscribe to certain religious tests. The fundamental principle upon which this college was founded, was that it should be open to all new ideas and to all new movements. Those are the principles for which it has stood during the years that have intervened since its foundation in 1826. At a later date the question arose as to whether women should be admitted to university education, and again in that respect this college actted as a pioneer. Gradually it became about that practically every department and faculty of this college has been thrown open to women students.

"Then again in the movement for receiving students from overseas, we may claim to a large extent to have been pioneers. For many years now the college has thrown open its doors to students from all over the world, in the years before the war we have gladly welcomed both undergraduate and post graduate students from the great overseas dominions, and among those were a very considerable number from Canada. Many of those now have no come, have by their intellectual work and by their contributions to the social lif. of the college adorned and enriched this institution. I should particularly like to point out that we have been undertaking post-graduate work in all departments of the college. We hold as a cardinal principle that every department of the college must be prepared to undertake such work, and a great impulse to that has been given by the institution in recent years by the conferring of higher degrees such as Master of Arts, Master of Science and Doctor of Science, which can be taken by students from foreign and overseas and from dominions' universities after a period of two years of study. We feel there is a great opportunity, which will be yet greater after the war, and possibly during the demobilization — for post-graduate work by many who have left their university studies to respond to urgent duty. We feel that there is perhaps a special opportunity for a university such as this to become in a special way, but not by any means exclusively, a clearing house for imperial intellectual ideas, a place to which all can come from overseas to gain, perhaps, a somewhat different conception of the form that which they have gained in their homeland. It is our hope that this movement which is now being inaugurated may be a step in that direction, and that many of you here may be ultimately yet more closely associated with us.

The meeting at which this address was delivered was attended by Dr. H. M. Tory and Lt.-Col. J. Obed Smith, Dominion Commissioner of Immigration, and several hundred soldiers from London and camp areas.

A Costly Palace.

The people of Ontario are proud of the palatial Government House that they own in Toronto, but they are beginning to find it an expensive luxury. Government House costs the taxpayers of Ontario over $28,000 last year. This amount included, among other things, the wages of an engineer and three firemen, and the cost of 967 tons of coal for the furnaces. It included the cost of bulbs, seeds and shrubs, and the wages of the head gardener and five assistants, and a few odds and ends, such as ink bottles, candlesticks, etc., which cost $84, and a pipe cupboard and cloak rack which cost $285. It did not, of course, include the Lieutenant-Governor's salary of $16,000, which is paid by the Dominion Government nor did it include the cost of food or the wages of domestic servants which are paid out of the Governor's private purse.

The 967 tons of coal required to feed what has been described as "Ontario Government's white elephant," was considered an excessive amount by some persons who could not get any coal at all. The coal cost over $6,000. The sum of $2,000 odd was paid for a porter and cleaner, while each nearly $500 we. expended for gardeners' tools, bulbs, seeds, and insurance.

In addition to the $28,000 for running Government House, the sum of $2,050 was paid to the Lieutenant-Governor "for running his office in the Parliament Buildings," and that an additional $1,400 was paid as salary to his aide, Hon. Col. Alex Fraser, who also receives the salary of $2,500 as "rovincial Archi ist.

BIRD NOTES.

How Their Familiar Songs Are Translated Into English.

Sandy pastures are the favorite home of the quail, bobwhite, as we more properly call them. Bobwhite is as cheery and common a note there as is the prattle, and more musical song of the bluebird. Sometimes the country folk say that the bird is a rain prophet and that he foretells changes by calling, "More wet, more wet." There are times, however, when the bird whistles three times instead of two, and thereon the soothsayers are divided, some saying "No more, more wet," others saying "No more wet." In any case, one of the cries of quail is sure to be right, and the reputation of the bird as a proper prophet is sustained. Even while winters well when the ground is bare, in spite of the cold, finding plenty of food in weed seeds and frozen insects. Winters in which the snow comes deep and crusts, however, destroy these gentle birds by the thousand. Families remain together throughout the winter, scattering if alarmed, but calling one to another and getting together again as soon as possible after the trouble is over. Two or a dozen eggs are laid, and often there are two broods, sometimes three, so that after a good season the family flock is likely to be large. At night the birds bunch together on the ground, building with heads out in a close circle. Thus they may foresee danger from whatever direction it arrives, and thus the snow covers them and keeps them warm and safe under its blanket until at daybreak the birds with one united effort shake off their down coverlets and hurry forth for the day's work. Sometimes, alas! the snow packs beyond their strength or rain crusts it, and they remain where they are. Many a member of the spring broods has found them thus, their soft feathers but the bones alone left to tell the sad sorial place.

It is probable that there are other translations of the song of the quail than "bobwhite" and "more wet," but the Negroes have found them. Nearly all our commonly known wild birds have had their songs of words characterized by translation into words. Sometimes these are very definitely to say one thing or two at the most, like the quail. The whippoorwill and the chickadee both announce their names with fair success, fail to recognize. The robin's songs are varied. Commonly you will hear and the 'tradition that the robin sings his song in derision of the coroner doctor, saying "Kill him: cure him; give him physic." But the Negro soul has also heard it rendered "Jonathan Gillett, scoured the skillet; scrub it bright and clean." The bobolink's song, with its crowding and bubbling notes, like thrilling notes, might well be expected to defy musical notation in terms of ordinary syllables, and no doubt it does. Yet many attempts have been made to put the song into words, perhaps more with the bobolink than with that of any other bird. The bird's name itself is onomatopoetic, a term that itself suggests the crowding tendency of the song. Most of the attempts to put the song into words begin with the same suggestion, naturally a bookish source of the inspiration.

Bobolink, bobolink,
Spink spank, spank spink, etc.

is one of them. The Nomad heard one the other day, however, that did not seem to have any spark of bookish inspiration in it. Instead it was racy of the soil. He imagined its bubbling notes were those of some straw-hatted farmer who paused to wipe the sweat from his brow in the heat of the first hoeing, and then fell to work again. The song was that of the bird that soared and sang in the world by hating field, but it quickly and you'll get the jumbled sequence of notes and the gurgling inconsistency of the song:

Waddle link, waddle link,
We dve beans four corn pumpkin and
Up to old England,
Speculate, speculate.

Interior of Labrador.

Chains of lakes hitherto unmapped and rivers previously unknown were traversed in the interior of Labrador by the natives of the province of Quebec, by the natives of the N-tional Geographic Society and the Pittsburg Gazette-Times, which arrived at St. John's, Nfld., recently.

The journey covered about 750 miles over a country never before travelled by white men and was made more difficult by the fact that the few Indians who were taken along as guides proved to be unfamiliar with the country.

The party included E. R. C. Reed, curator of ethnology of the Victoria Museum; C. J. Murie, orator of mammals in the same institution, and Alfred Marshall, of Chicago.

They left Seven Islands Bay on the north side of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, about the end of May and travelled north by canoe and portage, reaching Fort Chimo, near Ungava Bay, August 22nd. In addition to mapping the country they studied the natural history.

Mr. Todd reports that a large mass of a large district were found to be very inaccurate, and altogether misleading. Some maps are already at work from information supplied by Indians.

A New Telephone.

Successful experiments with a telephone apparatus installed on a railroad car were carried out recently by the engineering and signal department of the Canadian Government railways and the inventor of the device, the former in the car itself and the latter in the engineer's office in the Moncton yard. The transmitting of the sparks of sound communication is made through wheel and axle without the employment of any contributing medium. Reports of the tests declare that the communication was established with very little difficulty in hearing distinctly every word of the messages exchanged.

According to an English authority leather applied to a man's face for shaving has such high antiseptic value as to destroy even the bacillus of typhoid fever.

Relieve Your Rheumatism For 25c.

NR does it by improving digestion, assimilation and elimination—the logical way.

NR Today—Relief or No Pay

There are three vital processes of human existence—digestion of food, the extraction of nourishment, and the elimination of waste.

Just anything interfers with these processes—as these be interrupted or improperly carried on, and sickness of some kind follows.

Poor digestion and assimilation—constipation—will keep you half nourishment from food and that in turn often means impoverished blood, weakness, anemia, etc. Poor elimination—constipation—will poison the system with products that should leave the body; lower vitality, decreases the power of resistance to disease and leads to the development of many serious ills.

Rheumatism—due to acute interference with the process of elimination, constipation—is the most painful disease, second to none for expected in yield to any medicine that fails to correct the condition responsible for it. Only any reasonable person expect to rid himself of rheumatism in a few days.

NR

Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) constipation, sour stomach and rheumatic poison is allowed to remain in the body.

Think of that. It explains the success of NR Tablets. Tested by millions in 30 to 90 many cases where other medicines have failed. Thousands are using NR Tablets every day and are getting relief. Why pay five or ten times as much for a less dependable thing? A box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets), constipation enough to last twenty-five days—must help you, must relieve you of constipation, sour stomach, biliousness, sick headache and rheumatism or cost you nothing.

And Nature's Remedy is not only for the relief of rheumatism. It improves appetite, regulates the liver, stimulates kidney and bowel action, improves the blood and cleanses the entire system. You'll feel like a new person when you've taken NR Tablets for a few days. Unlike the ordinary medicines and doctors, how make the real test. You'll get results this time. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is sold, guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

Mercurius.

In the mythology of ancient peoples Roma Mercurius, or Mercury, is give the English form of the Latin name, was the deity of commerce and gain and was identified by the Romans with the Greek Hermes. A temple was built to Mercurius as early as B. C. 495, near the Circus Maximus, and an altar of the god existed near the Porta Capena by the side of a well. His festival was celebrated on May 25, and chiefly by merchants who visited the well near the Porta Capena to which magic powers were ascribed.

Great Mangrove Swamps.

Mindoro, one of the larger islands of the Philippine group, is a province by itself and contains 3,963 square miles. It is distant from Manila a little more than 100 miles. Along the shores of this island are more than 200,000 acres of mangrove swamps, with large trees in practically virgin growth, conservatively estimated to yield 50,000 tons of bark readily convertible into approximately 17,000 tons of tan cutch. Just why this growth should have remained untouched for so long is not explained.

Monks Carved Church Seats.

Church seats carved by monks are to be seen within the walls of the ancient church at Cloduck on the borders of Monmouthshire. The edifice was built some eight centuries ago and for many years it had interesting relations with Lanthony Abbey while it was the monks of the adjacent monastery that did much of the beautiful carving within its walls. The fine tower is now so dilapidated that it must be speedily restored if it is to be saved from ruin.

Rules Only for the Weak.

It is one of the weaknesses of mankind that it is forever establishing rules, programs, formulas. They serve their purposes for the guidance of ordinary minds. But the pioneers of thought ride rough-shod through the rules. They gain the results they desire by refusing to be directed, by what someone else has thought before them, by what teachers have instated upon as binding.—Exchange.

Best Kind of Play is Work.

One of the best kinds of play is work. Many of the elements of play enter into work if it is performed in the right spirit. The most satisfying forms of play are those in which interest is excited; competition, with desire to succeed and accomplish some definite end, makes the game worth playing. Work is fatiguing and distasteful when it is lacking in these elements.

Take Pains.

Genius has been defined as an infinite capacity for taking pains, and talent, which is a sort of second cousin of genius, has the same characteristics, observes an educator. One who will take pains enough will meet with a measure of success. And no one who belittles the need of patient, plodding work is likely to succeed, no matter what his endowments.

At Sunday School.

"Give an account of Balaam," said the teacher. "Balaam was a prophet who lived a long way off," replied the student. "After a while he went out for a ride on his donkey, and he got very angry with the donkey and hit him, and a voice from heaven said, 'You must not hit the donkey; it is holy ground.'"

Making Bulgarian Milk.

The milk of the Bulgarian, well known all over the world for its superior nutritive quality, is made by exposing it to the sun, the rapid development of the germs under the action of the ultra violet rays being such that when it becomes dry they are in highly concentrated form.

"Moss" Is Valuable.

"Moss" is the popular name for several kinds of small flowerless plants which flourish in damp places. In mountainous and wet districts insects of moss are of great service in refining the water and preventing sudden floods.

Too Particular.

The girl who thinks more of her prongrite crepe waist than she does of her beau and refuses to permit it to get mussed will never march to the well-known tune of Mr. Mendelssohn.

Some Towers.

The height of the Eiffel tower, Paris, is 986 feet; of the Blackpool tower, 520 feet; of New Brighton tower, 570 feet, and of the Woolworth building, New York, 750 feet.

Queer Place for Meteorites.

One of the remarkable features of the ocean's floor is the fact that in some places it is covered with the dust of meteorites.

Husking Indian Corn.

The husking of Indian corn is a mass-power proposition. Husking and cribbing of this great staple cereal must be done by hand. Machinery has never satisfactorily grappled with the task. Formerly a farmer, single-handed, could husk a bushel of corn in a day, but greater still has raised the possible output per person to between 90 and 100 bushels. That men and boys, women and girls, may be employed in the work, husking schools have now been established throughout the country. These schools are for business, and must not be confounded with husking bees, which are merely for fun.—Christian Science Monitor.

Poetry Comes High.

It is the height of luxury for a Japanese to be able to say that he is reading the words of a philosopher in the original manuscript; and he is willing to pay enormously for that satisfaction. Ancient scripts have risen remarkably in price during the last two years. It is nothing unusual these days for a wealthy collector to pay $30,000 for a little scrap of classic poetry.

The Bald Eagle.

Our national bird, the bald eagle, wild in its native haunts, is so large, so majestic, and has such an air of decided dignity that it is difficult to associate with it the thought that here is the king of birds. On one occasion while eating my lunch in the shade of a little bush on a southern prairie, I saw one carry off a lamb, writes T. Gilbert Pearson of the Audubon society.

Children's Resistance.

Children's resistive powers, generally speaking, are superior to those of older persons. Many a mother would often ward off serious illness, but this requires care and insight on the part of the mother, as the children themselves are not apt to call attention to their condition until they become seriously ill.

Gardening Indoors.

A small funnel inserted in a fern ball facilitates a continuous supply of water and does away with the necessity of taking the ball down for submersion. It is easy to find out how much water will be absorbed without dripping, and there is never a fear of the necessary water-do make the ball come to a fine mature growth.

Lying Down to Smoke.

The Patagonians lie down while smoking, swallowing and retaining some of the smoke, while the Eskimos mix wood with the tobacco to make it last longer. A reason for this is that they must depend upon whalers for their supply of tobacco. In Abyssinia smoking is considered a heinous crime, entailing cruel penalties.

Boxwood Is Expensive.

The most expensive wood in the world is said to be boxwood, imported from Turkey for the use of engravers. The cost ranges from 4 cents a square inch for the best grade to a quarter inch for the best grade. An ordinary trapezoid of boxwood would cost many thousands of dollars.

Miss Clara N. Berger of Cleveland is training pigeons to carry messages for American fighters.

Amethyst's Colors.

A man recently brought back to a jewelry store three rings set with amethysts which had faded to a pale yellow within a few months after he had bought them. He then discovered that instead of amethysts the gems were topazes. The latter vary in color from pale yellow to deep violet and purple. Under high temperatures amethysts change color, becoming first yellow, then green, and finally colorless gems. Under ordinary temperatures, however, genuine amethysts do not change color.

Greatest Thing in the World.

Love has been called the greatest thing in the world, but the greatest thing in the world is not a thing at all; the greatest thing is a person. Personality is the greatest thing in the world. The greatest thing in personality is not strength of body nor strength of mind. It is strength of heart. "Clever people are as common as blackberries, the rare things is to find a good one." It is not Daniel Webster's brain, but Lincoln's heart, that wins a nation's love.

Optimism.

To face the changing fortunes of life with equanimity, to brace ourselves against the shocks of fortune, to meet life's ills smile at perturbations, to cultivate poise in the face of losses, to let in no anxiety in the sanctuary of heart, to touch our inner repose, to adjust our sense of value so that we need not fret what we do not need—these may be the fortunate by-products of our first lessons in the art of doing without.

The Sandwich Man.

The name "sandwich man," as applied to the men who parade the streets between two boards on which are advertisements, was first given to them by Dickens. Although it would appear that the custom originated in the nineteenth century, the profession was without a name until Dickens conceived the humorous title, which he first employed in his "Sketches by Boz."

The Leap of the Black Bass.

The leap of the black bass is always directly upward when hooked, and he generally falls tail first into the water. At times, however, this fish, like the trout, will rise vigorously in the air and, missing it, will make a graceful curve in the air ere he goes quietly head down back to his element. But as a rule the bass rises fiercely to the fly with an accurate aim, and goes instantly to his lair.

That's About All.

Pandora was an extraordinary creature. Every young woman is. She will still, however, a young woman is that is to say, a mixture of timidity and boldness, of prudery and shamelessness, of coldness and cold cold cruelty of youthfulness, and especially of profound knowledge and abysmal ignorance.—

It usually takes 30 years to reap what it took Shakties to sow. But in the end our crop, and a hundred men often take part in the reaping of what one little fellow sowed. No man nowseth or moweth wild oats to himself.

Hedge in Halifax roofed with Brantford Asphalt Slates

A handsome roof that defies the weather

An added touch of beauty to any house is a roof of Brantford Asphalt Slates, which are in soft, harmonious shades of reddish brown and dark green. The colors are permanent and unfadeable, being the natural shades of the slate just as it is taken out of the quarries.

It will also prove a very economical roof, because Brantford Asphalt Slates do not split, get loose, absorb water or rot. They are strongly fire-resistant and are classified as non-combustible by the fire insurance companies, and allowed to be used in cities where the most rigid fire-prevention By-laws are in force.

Brantford Asphalt Slates are very moderate in cost. The regular size of the slates and their pliability make them easily and quickly laid, thus saving time and cost of labor. Being made of high grade felt saturated and coated with asphalt, and with a surface of crushed slate, they make a roof that defies the elements and is a permanent part of the building, just like the walls and the foundations.

Brantford Asphalt Slates

are being used more extensively every year for city, country and summer homes, churches, golf clubs, stores, garages, and wherever an artistic effect is desired on a pitch roof.

If you are going to do any building this year or have an old roof that needs replacing, it will be to your advantage to investigate Brantford Asphalt Slates.

HIRSUTE ADORNMENT FOR ALL.
Transformation Proves Decidedly Helpful to Woman Who Have No Maid.

The baldest woman becomes beautiful, or, if her features don't permit it, at least attractive, under the magic influence of a well-made transformation, notes a fashion writer in the New York Herald. The transformations of a decade ago and today are vastly different, modern confidences have so perfected this hirsute adornment that only an expert is able to detect that it is not the real thing. In other days when a woman took to a transformation to cover up a scarcity of locks she deceived no one but herself, for her artificial aid to nature was wholly apparent to curious eyes. The transformations were not well made, and no one ever mistook them for anything except just what they were.

Today all this is changed. The modern transformation is a thing of beauty and a joy forever, a comfort and a convenience without which many a woman could not make an attractive toilette. Some folk prefer a side parting, others one in the center; others, again, object to a parting at all. The modern transformation is made to suit all tastes.

The very fact that the transformation can be taken off and "dressed" before wearing completely does away with so many of the difficulties against which the "maidless" woman has to contend.

WITH A NOSEGAY ON COLLAR
Embroidered Flowers in Natural Coloring Affords Pleasing Sprightly Touch to the New Girlish Suits.

Two advance models for misses have a novel embroidered touch which lends them a distinct springtime atmosphere. Silk floss flowers in natural coloring embellish the right side of youthful narrow shawl collars, looking as though fresh nosegays had been tucked in.

A small pink carnation with foliage in very dark green on linen of navy trifoline, which may also be worn as a dress. Black satin folds are used to define the tailored shapeliness of collar and cuffs whose curves match, as well as a buttoned belt-like panel which offsets the double-breasted closing. Two flying panels, one piece above shoulder blades, give an unusual back to the Eton, for the ends of each are finished with cord fringe.

There is a one-sided tunic on the narrow skirt which completes this model. The other, a nobby suit of navy Poiret twill, has a blunt embroidered scarf in lengths of silver thread simply marking the shadows cast by the blending shades of flora.

Oblong inset panels on the narrow belt and others of larger dimensions arranged half way between skirt section and bodice at center back and one at either side front on the skirt section help to serve as pockets, are other features that are "different."

POPULARITY OF FOULARD

Foulard is a popular material, but it is going to be more popular during the coming spring and summer months. This frock is made most modishly in the with war styles, but it has appeal and attraction for the buds. The apron or panel effect in front is unique. The dress is in red and white, while the front panel of white georgette has bead embroidery.

Sleeveless Sweater.

The sleeveless sweater is a great success. Everybody who has knitted this type of sweater for the Red Cross, according to specifications, knows that in one point it must fill a real want. And then there are the purely frivolous sleeveless sweaters of silk and wool, in gay colors, sometimes bordered around the neck and armholes and lower edge with a narrow band of organdie. The sleeveless sweater is usually of the slip-over style, that is pulled on and off over the head.

A large part of the guarding of the peace in Sarnia, Canada, will soon be done by policewomen.

POLKA DOTS AND WIDE BRIM

The novel use of polka dots combined with a large inverted brim makes this hat delightfully entrancing. It is used for the sweetest wee maiden adoring joy to herself and all beholders, and is fabricated in blue and white satin, with the polka dots as the sole trimming.

SOME SPRING FASHION TIPS
Linen Blouses With High Collar Are Popular—Pumpkin Color Is Worn With New Short Jacket Suits.

A sweater linen blouse of white recently seen had a high collar, plaited frills and long bands of rose-colored linen which were stitched all the way down the upper part of the sleeve. The effect was decidedly new and interesting, observes a fashion writer in the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Very smart and attractive are three-piece or middy suits evolved in silk and cloth combinations, and these have very becoming lines for youthful figures.

Decidedly unique is this idea: Pumpkin yellow handkerchief linen is developed into a mannish, tucked front sleeveless blouse to wear with a navy suit whose jacket is short and boxlike and has flaring lines.

Effective cuteitching in heavy silk is seen for spring.

A lovely shade of amethyst suede draped and clasped with a silver buckle forms the belt on a white velours waistcoat made to go with a short jacket of navy trieotine suit. The result is most pleasing.

Many different colored pipings are used for collars and cuffs or lingerie blouses for spring, and this same material forms many of the smart vests and waistcoats made from spring suits.

A delicate gray handkerchief linen is used for some of the most attractive handmade blouses that have arrived from Paris.

FASHIONS AND FADS

Suits have straight skirts.

Tapestries are made of taffeta.

The silhouette remains unchanged.

The finest suits are the simplest ones.

Foulards are becoming very plentiful.

Afternoon dresses are made of etamine.

Straight one-piece dresses are made of linen.

There is some evidence of a return of laces to favor.

Black-and-white checked materials are favored.

Pretty turbans are made of green leaves and rosebuds.

There is a return to voiles, both printed and plain.

There are some very pretty evening gowns all of chiffon.

Slipover blouses are thought very well of in some quarters.

Button-back blouses also find their place in many spring lines.

Hats are of the simplest shape, depending entirely on line.

Venice lace is slowly pushing itself into favor among laces.

All velvet gowns are made very simply and without trimming.

The length of the skirt should be cut with an eye to becomingness.

Of materials there are a great many silks, ponges and rajahs used.

Color News and Notes.

If you would be considered modish, subdue your favorite reds and greens, adbrise a fashion authority. Not to the point of fadedness, however; far from it! Simply soften them into bewilderingly beautiful shades. Soft gray-blue lavenders, ashes of roses, that old-time favorite, wistaria, and silvery grays and lichen grays; of these are the color cards of fashion. If you desire a spice, add a dash of rosy orange or peacock blue, but the smartest costumes are usually of one color, the exception perhaps of the lining, which may be as gorgeous as you please. Wool embroideries and stitchings are used with effect either in the same shade as the costume or in contrasting colors. The Chinese, Japanese and East Indian influence is plainly felt in the newest designs and colorings. Sometimes they are fairly riots of colors, almost breath-taking in their beauty.

Colors for Lingerie Blouses.

The colors most promising to be popular in lingerie blouses for spring and summer are coral, Polish rose and tan. The last named shade is especially popular both in linen and in sheer fabrics, one of the daintiest blouses recently seen being in tan swiss dotted in white and finished with white linen collar and cuffs.

MICHELIN
Twelve Tire Tests No. 1

This series of twelve tests is designed to take the uncertainty out of tire-buying.

WEIGHT

ONE of the best ways to judge a tire is to weigh it. Of course, weight might be due to many factors that do not improve quality. But once assured that only quality-giving materials are used, weight is an excellent guide to durability.

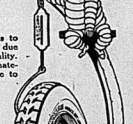

In selecting tires, therefore, have us weigh the different makes you are considering.

When you make this test you will find an astonishing difference in tires. For instance, five popular non-skids (34 x 4 size) weigh as follows:

Michelin	26 lbs.
Second Tire	25 lbs.
Third Tire	22½ lbs.
Fourth Tire	22 lbs.
Fifth Tire	21½ lbs.

Considering all non-skids made, Michelin Universals weigh 12 to 15 per cent more than the average, the percentage varying with size of tire.

This extra weight means that you have a right to expect extra mileage from MICHELINS.

Fishing On Vancouver Island

ALTHOUGH I had always looked upon British Columbia as one of the very best trout fishing countries in the world, it was not until I came to Vancouver Island to live, that I fully realized how superlatively good it is.

Sport which would be considered excellent in the best district of Eastern Canada, may be had at any time in dozens of streams and lakes on this island, and that, too, without it being incumbent on the fisherman to travel more than half a dozen miles from the railroad, which by the way, is now a branch of the Canadian Pacific system, although still retaining its traditional title of the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway. At anyone of a dozen points on this line, the sportsman who is not ambitious to overcome some of the really big fellows, can find excellent hotel accommodation within walking distance of water, which, for the reasonably skilful fisherman may be relied upon to yield daily baskets of from three to six dozen speckled beauties, running all the way from ¾ of a pound to two pounds in weight, and withal full of fight and as game fish as can be found anywhere in the world.

There are many camping inns where the best of accommodation can be secured, and the ardent fisherman who is looking for sport can make no mistake if he start out from Victoria by train and drop off at any station at which he spies an hotel.

Should he desire a somewhat more elaborate outing with an even greater diversity of sport, let him take an automobile and strike out boldly. The simplest of camp equipment will suffice for such a trip during the summer time, and no difficulty will be experienced in obtaining frequent and ample supplies of gasoline. Thus equipped our sportsman may easily penetrate to lakes and streams which are veritably an angler's paradise. He will, however, find that on some, if not most of the lakes, fishing with a fly will be practically barren of results. Here he will need to bring a small spoon or an artificial minnow into play, and he will be rewarded with fish running as high in weight as three or even four pounds, monsters, which, if he be fishing for the sport with light tackle, will tax his skill and resource to the utmost ere he is able to slip the net under them.

From this it is but a step to the fast and crowning stage of trout fishing on the island. This consists in the following up of some few of the mountain streams, rivers which really be a better word to use, which empty on the west coast of the island, and which are comparatively difficult of access, but in which occur the largest of the trout family, lordly fish which have been known to run as high as 14 pounds in weight, and which are none the less as full of fight and sporting qualities as the very gamest of their smaller brethren. Here may the true fisherman taste the sweetest of all earthly joys, that of landing a really big fish after a battle royal of perhaps a couple of hours duration, in the swirling, icy waters of a rapid and difficult stream.

This experience is not, however, for the many, unless one can rest a long line, light as shirtsleeves and with unerring accuracy, never a rise will one secure from the big ones.

Let us suppose that our starting point, Victoria, the capital be still even round, leaving the capital he will soon come to some famous prize winning waters where large baskets are caught almost every day in the proper season.

One of this water known as the Cassidy Arm, which he here shown was taken from the roadway, situated four feet above the water level. It is really a land-locked arm of the sea, and provides splendid sport for hundreds of fishermen from Victoria. Just a little further along, reaches another fine stretch of salmon and cutthroat water known as Tod Inlet, and here also excellent sport is to be had for the asking. Leaving the latter behind and travelling some half a dozen miles further up the line, one comes to the Shawnigan Lake station, from whence it is but a short ride to the lake itself—a lake which is beautifully situated in comfort as to either, one of the two excellent hotels to be found on the Lake shore, the very last of sport with lake trout which sometimes run as large as five and even at pounds in weight, may be had, and that too in the midst of scenery which will appeal in anyone with even the most rudimentary love of the beauties of nature.

Eight miles further up the line Cowichan is reached, and here will be found one of the most famous trout streams on the island. This may be most conveniently fished from the town of Duncan, where the hotel accommodation is of the best. From this centre also a run of an hours duration will take the angler to Cowichan Lake, where he is certain to find ample opportunity of making his skill to the uttermost. Excellent fishing may also be had in numberless small streams in this neighborhood, still nothing Duncan's head quarters. The next town will be one of rather greater importance, to Nanaimo, is but just over thirty miles, though the angler who has begun to make the trip by car will find plenty of small streams occurring in the last seven miles which will well repay his attention.

Having arrived at Nanaimo, the Nanaimo Lakes will first claim notice. They are not exactly easy of access, lying as they do some eight miles from the town, but there is a good road road leading to them, though not as yet in a fit state for motoring.

As will be seen from the accompanying view of a morning's catch on this lake, there is no lack of fish, and that, too, of goodly size. While at Nanaimo Lakes a tramp through the woods of an hours duration will bring one to Echo Lake, a sheet of water which is also well stocked with magnificent fish, which will amply reward the angler for his pains in arriving thereat.

Returning to Nanaimo itself, the Millstream, which runs right through the town, holds many a fine trout, steelhead lavlak frequently been caught here running up to 8 and 9 pounds in weight. The bay surrounding the coal city also provides splendid sport in the shape of trolling for salmon for those who like this branch of the anglers art, and, indeed, he who will indulge in a bit of sea fishing, will find himself well suited here.—"Sport Sphinx."

Search West Farms Br Wheat Held Up

Government Agents Seek Ou Hearders Among Wealthy Russians and German Farmers

TINNIPEG, May 13.—Canadian Government agents have begun yesterday a systematic search of Western farms to secure stocks of wheat held by farmers estimated at twenty million bushels. Now that seeding is over farmers must give up their stocks. There are large quantities held by wealthy Russian and German farmers in middle and western Saskatchewan. The amendment to the Military Service Act cancelling exemptions of farmers' sons has created a despicable shortage of farm labor in Manitoba, J. A. Bowman, Provincial Superintendent of Immigration, declared today. Conditions are pretty serious all the time, according to Bowman, "We are receiving applications for help from farmers, but we cannot get men to fill the positions."

Grey Mass Melts As Allied Fire Sweeps Slopes

With the British Army in France, May 13.—The temporary success of the Germans cost them dearly on Thursday last, for they suffered heavy casualties from the rifle and machine gun fire which was poured into them as they advanced up the slopes. The operation was undertaken at about daybreak, and shortly afterward the enemy attempted to reach the British lines east of Beaucourt, about 2,000 yards to the north. Here also the British were holding defences on the high ground, which the invaders expected because its occupation would give them a better position to work from for big attacks.

The grey coast advanced shouting "Heligo." It was an old trick, in the hope of confusing the British. The defenders responded with such a grilling fire that the Germans acted on type and fell back, leaving many dead and wounded behind.

Bulk Of Germans On Amiens Front

Indicating Probable Renewal of the Attack There in opinion of Military "Experts."

LONDON, May 13.—"The bulk of the German reserves are still on the Amiens front, indicating a probable renewal of the attack there," a representative of General Rodolfo, Lorieter of Military Operations, announced.

In the period between March 21, when the German offensive was begun, and April 25, the losses of the French were only one-fourth to one-fifth those of the British. Since April 25, there has been no reason to believe the losses of the French have been greater than those of the British (the British losses since March 21 were estimated on May 1 by the British Military Mission at Washington at nearly 250,000).

This information was given out in refutation of German propaganda assertions that the French have been bearing the brunt of the battle.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, May 13.—All German prisoners captured in France say that Field Marshal Von Hindenburg is dead, according to The Daily Express. As the name of Gen. Von Mackensen is brought into prominence as that of the great man who is to bring the Germans victory, the Express assumes that the Hindenburg story is circulated to explain the failure of the great offensive.

LONDON, May 13.—Hostile artillery was active during the night in the Somme valley and Albert sectors, also between Locre and the forest of Nieppe on the Flanders front.

PARIS, May 13.—(Official)—Active artillery fighting in Picardy, on both sides of the Avre River, is reported in today's official statement. In Lorraine a French detachment penetrated the German lines north of Nomeny and brought back twenty prisoners. In the region of St. Die, a German raid was broken up by our fire.

Rochester Steet Car Strike Ended

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

ROCHESTER, May 13.—The strike on the Rochester lines of the New York State railroad system, which went into effect Saturday morning to enforce a minimum wage demand of forty cents an hour came to an end this morning and the cars are again in operation. The decision to end the strike was reached shortly before six o'clock after a stormy meeting of the men which began shortly after midnight. It is understood that the terms of the agreement under which the men agreed to return to work provide for an increase of four cents an hour and that every regular run will be guaranteed ten hours a day.

Children Over 13 Slaves Of Huns

Youths Between 14 And 17 From Mons Area Dig In German Trenches

WASHINGTON, May 12.—In part of the practice of commandeering labor, the German military authorities in Belgium have registered all available males between the regions of Mons, and are employing many between fourteen and seventeen in digging defensive ditches close to the front north of Verdun and near St. Mihiel, the American sector, said advices received today by the Belgian Legation.

A protest of Belgian Senators received at the Legation says the Germans are forcing men, women and children into a state of servitude throughout the military zone, which comprises all Flanders and a considerable part of Hainaut and Luxemburg.

"At Enseghem, a village of Flanders," says the Legation's statement, "the bodies of two children who had died near the front were taken back to their parents. In the region of Mons a score has been taken of the youths over thirteen; a good many of them have already been taken to the front under armed guard and under most pitiable conditions."

Amazing Air Fights Along Whole Front

"Richthofen's Circus," With a New Commander, Is Out Again

With the British Armies in France, May 13.—The most amazing air fighting is going on in the entire battle region. For three days the weather has been ideal, and the pale blue skies are literally alive with fighting squadrons of all nations.

The late Baron Richthofen's famous "circus" with a new commander, is busy east of Albert, where 25 to 30 enemy machines are trying to block the allied scouts from the back areas along the Somme.

The number of German machines is increasing and new battle tactics are being employed. The enemy is putting up an exceedingly stiff fight.

There is little ground fighting. The artillery keeps pounding heavily in spots. There was a terrific cannonade between 8.30 and midnight, north of Arras, on a single corps front, while the harassing fire was unusually bitter in the region of Lens, Bethune and Hazebrouck.

Bridge Purchase Price Has Been Fixed by Parliament

Bill Reported From Committee to House Increases Tolls For Bay Bridge By Fifty Per Cent But Municipalities Can Purchase Bridge For $72,500

Special to The Intelligencer,

OTTAWA, May 11.—The Committee on Private and Miscellaneous Bills of the House of Commons reported to the House on Friday in regard to the bill before them to increase the tolls chargable to persons using the bridge as follows:

The Committee's Report.

That, having heard the representations made by all parties interested, and considered the financial statement submitted by the company as prepared by its auditors, we appended a sub-committee of the Private Bills Committee to examine into the statements submitted and to ascertain with the assistance of an independent auditor, Mr. G. P. Clarkson, of Toronto, appointed by the committee, the receipts and expenditures of the company and the amount of its capital expenditure since acquiring the bridge and by what amount the value of the bridge and by what amount of any toll, should be increased to yield a fair return to the company on its capital investment and what would be a fair price the municipalities interested should pay the company to acquire the purchase of the property, appurtenances and franchise; and the sub-committee having carefully examined into the matter and having had Mr. Clarkson and his report before them for examination and having again heard the parties through their counsel, Mr. Kilmer, K.C., of Toronto, for the company, Mr. R. A. Pringle, of Ottawa, for the City of Belleville, and Mr. H. Dempsey, representing the County of Hastings, beg to report to the committee having regard to the committee that taking the capital investment of the company as the basis upon which they become the purchasers of the enterprise at the mortgage sale, namely, $80,000, and adding thereto the net revenue derived from the bridge, including dividends, and without any charge for sinking fund or renewals of the bridge now stood to the company $78,000 for capital invested, and by the same method of calculation, taking the original by way of loans advanced by the company, $56,000, and making deductions on the same basis as above, the capital investment by the company is now $134,000. The sub-committee thinks that the lower amount should be taken as the basis because if the company made the capital investment loaning more money than they should upon the security of the bridge that was a matter of their own concern, but the one that Parliament should relieve them from at the expense of the municipalities interested or of the general public and consequently the company must lose the difference between $40,000 purchase price and the capital expenditure or $16,000. This the company has agreed to do. The sub-committee then in view of all the facts, suggested $75,000 as a fair purchase price for the bridge, and endeavored to get the parties to agree, but to which counsel for Belleville and the representative for Prince Edward county would not agree, although the company would agree. By further conference, and upon the suggestion of the sub-committee as a reasonable compromise, $72,500 was named, which after consideration, the company agreed to accept, but counsel for Belleville declined to find any authority to agree to and opposed it, while the representative for Prince Edward declared the amount to be larger than he expected would have to be paid, although less than the company's actual expenditure, but after knowing all the facts, he thought it was a reasonable compromise, and would agree. He would endeavor to do through because he was not there to see the company unfairly lose the money the municipality pay was more than it should reasonably do, but as far as possible to do what was fair to both, which he was satisfied should be the object of all parties.

Higher Tolls Granted.

The sub-committee considered, upon the advice of Mr. Clarkson, the opinion that the tolls would have to be increased by 50 per cent. to yield a fair return upon the smaller capital investment as above stated and recommended that the Bill be amended accordingly, and so reported to the House by the main committee.

Purchase Clause in Bridge Bill.

The main committee, upon consideration of the report of the sub-committee, agreed to the amendments to the bill in accordance therewith and by further providing that the municipalities might purchase the bridge for $72,500 by giving the company notice thereof at any time within three months after the passing of the bill and completing the purchase within one year, the increase in the tolls to cease three months after the passing of the Bill, and so reported the Bill to the House.

Members of the committee expressed their conviction that although by the purchase the company's property would be losing a large sum on its original investment and a smaller but considerable sum on the purchase price in capital expenditure, that it had shown a disposition to be even more than fair in accepting the compromise figures, which in the opinion of the committee was a good bargain for the municipalities and one which they should lose no time in taking advantage of, and abolish the antiquated and obsolete manner of collecting tolls, which would bring an even greater advantage to them than they had anticipated when the bridge was originally built.

Province Will Increase Grant.

Further, the Bill was reported to the House the Provincial Treasurer has been seen and the whole matter discussed with him and he has given the assurance that the Provincial Government will be quite willing to contribute 40 per cent of the amount of the compromise price of $72,500.

As the bridge is a using bridge, it comes under Federal jurisdiction as a factor in navigation, and there is a feeling at Ottawa that it might be possible on this basis to approach the Dominion Government for financial assistance in the purchase of the bridge.

American Army May be Kept In Reserve For a Time

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press Limited

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Lord Reading, the British Ambassador, in a statement here declared that the announcement coming by way of Ottawa that the American army would not be fully utilized on the western front until developed to its full strength was directly opposite to the information he had received from the British cabinet and that he was in the dark as to its meaning. The ambassador's statement added to the puzzle in which American officers found themselves today on reading the announcement from Ottawa. The confidential information reaching here recently indicated that such a plan as outlined from Ottawa was under discussion.

Hun Submarines Sunk Faster Than Launched

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

PARIS, May 13.—Navies of the allies are sinking more German submarines than Germans turn out, and the Germans are making exaggerated statements to convince their people that the submarine campaign is still a success. This is the statement of Georges Leygues, French minister of Marine, Leygues believes the situation most favorable for the allies.

The Germans recently claimed that six hundred thousand tons of allied shipping was being sunk monthly but it is shown by positive figures that never more than 380,000 tons were sunk and that was in October last. The amount has been receding ever since and in April only 269,000 tons were sunk. On the other hand the number of submarines destroyed has increased progressively since January, owing to the methodical cooperation of the

MUSIC & DRAMA

"THE COLD DECK"

Nothing annoys William S. Hart more than that anyone should have the impression that his feats of reckless horsemanship are tricks of the stage or of the camera. In the latest drama, "The Cold Deck," in which he is presented at Griffin's tonight to Wednesday, there are two remarkable daring "stunts." Hart portrays a gambler who is locked up in a log jail on suspicion of having held up a stagecoach. An accomplice outside furnishes a horse, and Hart escapes from the vigilantes just as the noose is prepared on the tree selected. A brilliant chase ensues. When Hart breaks jail he jumps astride the horse from a height of twenty feet. This is a feat that calls for the display of almost unsurpassed agility and horsemanship, and it is safe to say no other fiction actor would attempt it. The same episode shows horse and rider at the end of the pursuit rolling down a precipitous incline.

Mabel Taliaferro appears on the same program in a splendid five part Metro play entitled "Wife by Proxy." The opening chapter of "The Eagle" series, a story of the Imperial German Governments spies and plots in America, by William J. Flynn, recently retired Chief of the United States Secret Service, and in which the screen favorites, King Baggott and Marguerite Snow portray important roles. A new and amusing comedy will also be presented.

TOM MIX IN "CUPID'S ROUND UP"

The new William Fox play "Cupid's Round Up", is being screened at the Palace tonight to Wednesday, matinee daily. The hero of the play, Tom Mix, is one of the great favorites of the screen, at the head of a fine company and with a brilliant collection of wonderful scenic backgrounds, one cannot imagine anything so likely to give good entertainment. Everyone likes a clean-cut, clever western play, with a thrilling love theme and filled with stirring incidents, should not miss seeing "Cupid's Round Up." Three other selected plays of merit will also be screened.

Accused Of Theft From Mail Bag

PORT HOPE, May 13.—Albert Gingras, 17 years of age, Toronto, was arrested here upon advice from Chief Constable Grasett of Toronto. A few nights ago, it is alleged, Gingras made the round, with one of the Toronto mail carriers, and while the driver was absent from the rig, Gingras, it is charged, ripped open one of the registered mail bags with his knife and removed a package containing $370 in cash. He immediately purchased a new outfit of clothes, had a good time in restaurants and dance halls in Toronto, and then came to Port Hope to visit an aunt. When arrested here he had only 75 cents on his person, and he claims to have "blown in" the balance. An officer from Toronto arrived yesterday morning and returned with the prisoner last night.

Whisky Pedlar Used Camouflage

Peterboro Woman Gave Whisky Bottle Appearance Of Flower Pot But Was Caught

A fine of $300 was imposed in Peterboro police court, Saturday morning, when a married woman pleaded guilty to the charge of having liquor in a place other than her private dwelling.

The woman was arrested as she was about to enter a residence with a quart bottle of whiskey. The wet goods were done up to give the appearance of a flower, the form being strapped in newspaper, and a fancy cushion cover showing from the top. Any other person but Detective Sam Newhall would have passed by in the belief that the woman carried a potted flower. But the detective was suspicious. The woman had been under police surveillance for a year, on the suspicion that she carried on a trade in liquor, and also that she was instrumental in sending young girls along the downward path. The police picked up the trail and followed. Liquor was found at her home.

After Detective Newhall had testified in court, Police Chief Thompson endeavored to make a statement on the case but His Worship held that it wasn't evidence. Chief Thompson's intention was that the case was not one in which the minimum fine should be imposed. He said the police had been trying for a year to catch this woman.

Mr. J. A. O'Brien who conducted the case for the defendant exhausted the patience of the police chief with his continuous interruption of "that's not evidence."

"What in the deuce do you want? Do you want this criminal to go out and destroy other people?" yelled the chief, thoroughly exasperated.

MONTREAL FELL DOWN

MONTREAL, May 12.—For the first time in the history of Montreal's many money-raising campaigns one has fallen short of the goal decided on. The failure is the local Y.M.C.A. campaign. There is accordingly great indignation among the Y.M.C.A. campaign workers, indignation among the executive of the association, indignation among many of the citizens. Some even oppose the one indignation party, and the other side is the overseas chaplains' service, of which Col. Albert Carey Almond, returned recently from the front, is director.

SOLDIERS KILLED IN TRAIN SMASH.

Columbia, S.C., May 13.—A troop train carrying the advance guard of the 32nd Infantry for the Camp Jackson, Columbia, for Camp Sevier at Greenville, was wrecked about 10 o'clock yesterday morning on the Seaboard Air Line railway. Seven soldiers are dead, 10 others are seriously injured, some of whom are expected to die. The cars of the wreck under one coach broke just as the train reached the trestle. This caused the car to drop finally over the trestle. It pulled all the other coaches over, one on the wooden coach and one steel. The trucks of the latter fell on top of the first coach which had fallen over and as it smashed it, the men inside were crushed. There were 63 men in this coach. No one from outside is allowed in the camp.

Briggs was convicted at the regular term of the Supreme Court last fall in Canton.

Winnipeg Travellers Get Chance to Study Hinterland

New Ontario's immense forest resources and best of Provincial Colonization Areas Part of Great Interest

The travelling members waste something more than formal vote appropriations when they visit the Canadian Northern Ontario Country. It affords ample opportunity for thought. The immense stands of merchantable timber, the untold wealth in water powers, the vast and unexplored agricultural possibilities of Northern Ontario should be matters of enormous interest to Canadians. The party travelled from Toronto to Cochrane over the Canadian Northern Ontario Railway, and returned via Temiskaming and Pembroke, connecting at Kippewa for Canadian Pacific main line to Montreal.

TORONTO, May 13.—Three years in Kingston Penitentiary was the sentence passed by Judge Winchester on Norman Turner, after he had admitted stealing letters containing money addressed to his employers. Turner was employed by a local firm and was in the habit of getting their mail from the post office. The result was the arrest of Turner charged with the theft of the letters. Turner pleaded guilty to the charge.

Soldiers Delighted With Gifts From Belleville

The report of the Canadian Red Cross Society, Belleville Cheese Board District Branch, for April, is as follows.

The following letters, with others have been received recently, gratefully acknowledging cases sent by this branch of the C. R. C. S.:

No. 13 Can. General Hospital,
Hastings, England.

"Please accept our grateful thanks for boxes from your Society containing bed socks and pyjamas. They came at a time when we were needing pyjamas badly. I wish I could tell you just how much all these gifts from home mean to us. I would hate to think of trying to "carry on" without them. Please convey my thanks to the members of the Belleville Cheese Board District, Canadian Red Cross Society.

Sincerely yours,
(Sgd.) A. C. Stone, Matron.

No. 3 Can. Gen. Hospital, (Metlife
Boulogne, France.

"Some cases of hospital supplies, which you were good enough to ship to the officer commanding this unit, have been placed in my hands for distribution amongst the patients. On their behalf and on behalf of the unit, I wish to thank your Society very much indeed for the very suitable and beautifully made assortment of articles in these boxes. To have these extras added to the regular issue from Ordnance, just makes the difference in many instances between actual necessities, for the wounded, and their comfort.

The nursing sisters and I always wish the wounded men who are going through to hospital ship from this unit to go as comfortable and well clad as possible, and although we can draw from Ordnance many things, yet there are often lacking little things such as your Society has sent to us.

I am grateful to you for mentioning my name in connection with the boxes and I beg to extend to the members of your Society our very sincere thanks for the gifts which you keep sending from time to time.

With renewed thanks,

Yours very sincerely,
(Sgd.) K. O. MacLatchy,
Matron, P.A.M.C.

Teutons Used Church For Observation

But American Artillery Punished the Huns in an All Night Bombardment.

With the Americans in Picardy, May 13.—Fierce bombardment of German positions by the American artillery has demolished the church at Cantigny and several adjacent buildings, blown up machine gun emplacements and post command positions at Fontaine-Mandelier and Court-Chemache, and started a fire at Mesnil-St. Georges, which the Cantigny church was being used for observation by the enemy.

The bombardment lasted all night. The concussion of the heavy guns rocked the entire front. At the same time gas projectors poured in a hot, harassing fire.

The Germans are making the strongest efforts to capture Americans but without result. Not a single American prisoner has yet been lost on this front.

Forty of the enemy attempted to rush the line of our trenches, thrusting grenades as they advanced. They were repulsed before they penetrated our entanglements, leaving two dead in the wire. Their other casualties are not known.

Later another attempt was made to capture one of our advanced posts, but it too, was repulsed.

An American sentry who shot a German dog found a note in the animal's collar from an enemy officer, asking permission to change his post of comma nd.

FIRED SHIPS BY ORDER of HUN HIGH COMMAND

An Atlantic Port, May 13.—Passengers on a steamship arriving here it from Colombia said that the burning of the interned German steamship Prinz Eitel Friedrich in the harbor of Puerto Kolombia last month was the act of the ship's commander, Capt. Dewall, and that the commander and his crew, after escaping, were arrested Capt. Dewall told the Colombian authorities, according to the passengers, that he set fire to the vessel by order of high German officials.

THOUGHT HE WAS INDISPENSABLE.

General Maurice was the victim of a very common mistake which has tripped up many a head-liner, an exaggerated idea of his own importance. When he made up his mind that he was the whole machine, instead of just a cog in the wheel, he stirred up a lot of trouble for other people, temporarily, and obliterated himself, permanently.

News Despatch—"The army council has decided to place Gen Maurice on the retired list."

Curtain.

THE LLOYD GEORGE TRIUMPH.

Thunders of applause for Mr. Lloyd George, icy silence for Mr. Asquith, hisses for General Maurice, and thumbs down for the vicious Gardiner press!

The British Prime Minister enjoyed a remarkable triumph in the House of Commons. He took his enemies one after another—Mr. Asquith, General Maurice and Mr. Gardiner—and proved that they had all treated him with the basest unfairness.

He threw Gen. Maurice's statistics back in his face, and scored one of the most striking triumphs in his courageous career. It is evident that the Parliament and people of Great Britain still rely upon the gallant little Welshman to lead the nation out into a final and conclusive victory.—Toronto News.

POLITICIANS PREFER HIGHER TOLLS.

It is quite evident that certain politicians of the Daily Ontario type do not want a free bridge. It will suit their purpose better to have the toll bridge continued with higher tolls—as high as possible, and they laugh with ghoulish glee at the high valuation placed upon the bridge by expert accountants. Don't pay it, they shriek, and accuse honorable men with treachery. Of course it is treachery to be a Conservative in the eyes of a double-distilled rabid Gritism which neither wars nor rumors of war can illuminate with the light of truth and reason. True there has been treachery in this bridge matter, the meanest kind of treachery, trying to knife honest men in the back and make a political foothold of a question of vital importance to Belleville. A free bridge would spoil the plans of those who see in a bridge with high tolls a political weapon with which to attack their enemies, when they happen to be the chosen representatives of the people, present or prospective.

With no elections in sight and no Conservative members of parliament very seriously ill, it seems a pity that partizans can not forget their spleen for the time being and act like rational human beings again. Let the aspirants for public office play their own game for a while and give the public a rest.

THE SPIRIT OF THE JEW.

Samuel Lesser, nineteen years old, a private in the coast artillery, now "somewhere in France," and a boy of strictest Hebrew upbringing, in a letter to his father in New York City, writes the following passage:

> Don't worry about me, as I will come home safe and sound with God's will. Brace up and don't lose any business on my account. Face it with a perpetual smile on your lips. The Lord has thrown the United States into this great conflict to assist in wiping out the present regime ruling the bloodthirsty and barbarous German nation. It is, therefore, higher than a duty that calls upon parents to make great sacrifices. It is a privilege for a father to give his son for such a great cause.
> Remember how our Patriarch Abraham was willing to sacrifice his only son, in reply to the Almighty's call. My taking part in this war of nations should also be borne by you and others with pride and honor, as the Lord of Hosts has willed it so. I am going forth to do my duty to the Lord on High and to my country.

Here is no cowardice or faltering, but an iron resolution; no cheap flag-waving, but a sound understanding of the righteous cause; no exaggeration of passion against the enemy, but a simple and complete arraignment of him. Young Lesser puts his trust in God and goes to do his duty. If there are still any left who persist in belittling the Jewish spirit, let them consider this message of a young Jew whose words ring out as simple and as lofty as the Psalmist's.

CRISP COMMENT

Fritz is beginning to wonder what hit him on the Somme. Wait until he begins to get his Bingen on the Rhine. The Byng-Bang Boys, the Haig & Haig's and the Currie-Currie's are wearying for another good crack at the Kaisers pets.

The enthusiastic war efforts of the United States is a needed tonic to the war-weary spirits of the Allies after four years of strenuous conflict. "Half a million "Buddies" already in France and more coming is an earnest that Uncle Sam is going the whole distance.

The Ponies sure do run away with a lot of money, and a Toronto man with a "system" to beat the bookies soon found himself shy some fifty odd thousand dollars of other people's money. Five long years in Kingston penitentiary will probably convince him that the racing game still has every sure-thing system beaten a mile, and then some.

A returned chaplain says that the only thing that worries the boys on the firing line is the fear that the folks "back home" may be deluded into favoring a hasty peace. The boys behind the guns and bayonets have seen so much of Hun savagery that they have a fierce desire to finish the job once for all and make a good job of it, too.

The government is anxious to close up shop and get on with the war, but there are still many members of parliament, bursting with a pent-up flood of burning thoughts which they wish to inflict on the public. Why not accept them as spoken and give them a special Intelligencer Hansard, where their bright ideas in and let the Premier go overseas, where real Empire work awaits him.

It seems that all the good Germans having the courage of their convictions are in gaol in Germany, at least all that the Kaiser dare put there just now. When the Kaiser went to war he put all the conscientious objectors in gaol or on the firing line and thus saved a lot of argument. He also incarcerated all the leaders of thought who did not acknowledge the infallibility of the Kaiser and the invincibility of his army.

The service stripes and honor marks are touching to the sleeve of his uniform showed that the lad has been there, was not talking for effect, and that he is one of the lads who truly represent Canada on the firing line, and with his blood-brothers of the Allies help to form the "steel wall" which the German military experts begin to mention now with great respect in discussing the failure of the long planned German offensive in Picardy and Flanders.

Part of Quebec's Trouble

(Ottawa Journal)

The Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux is a gentleman who stayed at home so far as the war was concerned, and did nothing there to help the cause of Canada and the Empire, and of freedom and decency in the world. But in the recent general election he performed enough energy to insult by public effects for dirty political gain a fellow-Canadian and fellow-townsman of his own years, Col. Ballantyne, who had raised a regiment and taken it to Europe to fight for Canada and freedom and decency.

It was this Mr. Lemieux who rose in the House of Commons Tuesday to denounce the spirit of Ontario and put a halo upon the brow of Quebec.

He is a sample, and his spirit is an illustration of a large part of the trouble in Quebec. A lot of people down there, some of them Pecksniffs like the Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, some of them racial monomaniacs like Mr. Bourassa, keep preaching to each other and their neighbors the slander that the rest of the people of Canada, particularly those of Ontario, are the dregs of humanity, and meanwhile they themselves rear the hearts of most of the rest of the people of Canada by their own coarse, and insult them by their speech and writing.

Horses Were Burned To Death In A Livery Barn Blaze

At a few minutes after 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, smoke was seen issuing from one of the barns in connection with Mr. Adelbert Asselstine and Sons auto and livery premises, situated on the north side of Victoria street, in this city. An alarm of fire was sounded and although the fire brigade responded with alacrity when they arrived upon the scene the building was a mass of flames, which were communicating to other buildings attached. As quickly as it was possible to do so no less than six lines of hose were at various angles poured upon the flames. While this was being accomplished willing hands went to work to extricate the horses, motor vehicles and horse vehicles from the garage and stables. This proved a very easy task as the flames broke out in various parts of the three buildings, which were joined together, but horses were taken out, but two full victims to the fiery element. All the motor vehicles were taken out, and a few hacks, but the latter were in a damaged condition. The fine large auto delivery conveyance belonging to Oliphant & Son, Bridge Street West, was in the garage part, and was taken out, but not before it had been considerably damaged. To the meanings the firemen, under the capable direction of Chief Brown were fighting hard to save the adjoining property, and especially Mr. Asselstine's residence, which was only separated from one of the burning buildings by a rather narrow gangway. Fortunately the house was saved, but the rear part was slightly scorched. In a large sheeted building was stored a considerable quantity of hay, and this proved to be a menace to the firemen, who were compelled to throw it out in order to save the building from destruction. The fire was of such a nature that the brigade was on duty for upwards of four hours before the last spark was extinguished. By this time the buildings not consumed were badly wrecked.

Owing to the number of vehicles etc., in the building Mr. Asselstine was unable this morning to estimate what his loss would amount to, but it will be several thousand dollars. Three motor buses, three cutters, eight sleighs, eight wheel hacks, three sleigh hacks, some cutters, harness, robes, hay and grain were destroyed, in addition to the two valuable horses. A horse and buggy belonging to Mr. Holloway of Trenton was in the stables at the time. The horse was rescued, but the top was burned off the buggy, and the box damaged. Had the fire occurred at night when all the large motor busses are stored the loss would have been a much more serious one to Mr. Asselstine. The busses were out to meet trains when the fire broke out. The cause of the fire is not known, but it is thought by some to have been caused by defective electric wiring. Mr. Walter Asselstine was in the part where the fire broke out a few minutes previous, and he did not detect anything wrong. The loss is to a large extent covered by insurance. All the buildings were the property of Mr. Asselstine.

NEW FUEL DISCOVERED

The Auto announces the discovery of a new combustible which contains neither petrol, coal gas nor alcohol. It is said other day gave many favorable results. A motor car carrying six persons made a tour of Paris, climbing the steepest hills without the least mishap.

The paper explains that this fuel is secured by the distillation of the heavy oils which are obtained from the chemical distillation of coal, the process being carried out in such a way that all the by-products are utilized by the manufacture of this fuel will be available for the preparation of nitro-explosives, but the new fuel, the paper adds, does not foul the cylinders, nor does it leave a residue of carbon and the consumption is less by two-thirds than that of petrol. The odor is similar to that of wood-paving, less disagreeable than that of petrol.

The Mother of the Soldiers

MOTHER'S DAY, 1918

Some of them are middle-aged and some of them are old;
Some of them have faces lined with care,
Some of them know poverty, and some of them have gold;
And most of them have silver in their hair.
Some hearts are healing under pangs by humble labor bought;
Some under silken robes that softly cling.
But high and low the hearts are one during mutually, at the thought,
"We are mothers of the soldiers of the King."

Some of them toil long and late to win their daily food.
Few of them for pride and pleasure have to live;
And none of them withheld their best, their boys so brave and good:
Some of them gave all their hope to give.
Some of them are housed in hovels where wealth and honor dwell,
Some in humbler homes are sorrowing;
But all of them with tear-filled eyes and pride-filled voices tell:
"We are mothers of the soldiers of the King."

Some of them have poor worn hands, grown crooked in life's fight;
Some are jewel bedecked and soft as down,
But all are mothers' hands that smoothed the baby tresses bright,
Of their boys who crowned the honor of the Crown.
So let the blood that's spilt be blue or drawn from humbler vein,
Let walls of hall or hut hide partizan's shame,
A mother has a mother's heart, they feel alike the pain—
Those mothers of the soldiers of the King.

TORONTO BANK CLERKS MEET IN EGYPT.

Cobourg, May 13.—Lt. W. S. Jamieson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Jamieson, Cobourg, and formerly of the Bank of Nova Scotia, Cobourg, and later of Nova Scotia, Toronto, has arrived safely in Egypt, in a letter to his parents he says that recently a new man came to join the Flying Corps there, and proved to be A. M. Smith, who was accountant in Dundas street and Ossington avenue branch, Toronto, when the writer was there. Lt. Jamieson is with a couple of squadrons doing gunnery work, being stationed at a height of hundred officers in gunnery. The camp is about forty miles from Alexandria. He states that the Canadians are there subscribed for, and put up a monument that cost about $100, for Lt. Percy of Whitby, formerly of the Dominion Bank staff, Cobourg, who was killed while flying at Aboukir, Egypt. Lt. Jamieson's letter was written on March 11th, and he stated that at that time the desert was ablaze with flowers.

MONTREAL HOTEL BOILERS EXPLODED

MONTREAL, May 12.—The boilers of the Russell Hotel, on St. James Street, near the Grand Trunk Station, exploded without warning a little after 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The explosion shook the hotel to its foundation, broke all the windows and opened up a crevasse about ten feet square in the floor of the hotel office where, as usual, a number of guests were seated chatting. Four of them received various injuries, but none of them were dangerously hurt.

NON JURY COURT

The non-jury sittings of the Supreme Court of Ontario were opened at 1.30 this afternoon at the Court House before the Hon. Justice Bettien. There are a number of cases on the docket to be disposed of.

WINDOW SMASHED

A plate glass window in the store of Miss Campbell, situated on Front Street, was broken on Friday night. The police investigated the matter and are of the opinion that the glass was broken by boys playing ball on the street.

ORDAINED TO PRIESTHOOD

Rev. L. O'Gorman and Rev. J. O'Sullivan will be ordained to the Holy Priesthood for the Archdiocese of Kingston at St. Augustine's Seminary, Toronto, on Sunday. Rev. Fr. O'Gorman, who is a son of Mr. Thos. Gorman, of Belleville, will celebrate his first High Mass at St. Michael's church on Sunday next.

SERIOUSLY INJURED

Albert Massey, son of Mr. Marcus Massey, of Cramahe, Northumberland County, on Friday last met with a serious accident. He was trying to split a stump with dynamite and when the charge did not explode when expected he went to the stump to investigate. The charge exploded and Albert was seriously injured, his face being badly lacerated. At first it was feared he would loose the sight of both eyes. He was brought to Belleville hospital where his physicians are hoping that both eyes may yet be saved.

AWARDED DOWER RIGHTS.

At Napanee recently Mrs. Mary Amaryllis Jaynes sued her son Daniel to recover from him her dower rights in fifty acres of land in Richmond Township, which her late husband, Henry Jaynes, a farmer, had passed over to Daniel without her consent to release her dower. At Osgoode Hall, Justice Britton gave judgment in favor of the mother for $15 arrears of dower and for $300, her dower interest in the land.

SERVICES APPRECIATED

At a meeting of the quarterly Official Board of Trinity Methodist church at Peterboro, the following resolution of appreciation to Rev. F. W. Wilson, D. D., a former pastor of Bridge Street church in this city, was unanimously adopted: "Moved and seconded, that this quarterly official board wishes to express its high appreciation of Dr. F. P. Wilson's work during the past four years. His excellent pulpit work, his good tact and judgment, and his untiring devotion to the work of Trinity Church were all mentioned and praised."

HEAVY CASUALTY LIST.

The Canadian casualty list today contains the names of one Hastings county boy killed in action and three from this county who have died from wounds. Amongst the wounded four are from the county. The names appear in another column.

AGAIN IN TROUBLE

A few days ago a man who gave the name as Henry Domville with wife residing in Montreal, was arrested here on a charge of stealing a plow. He was allowed to go upon returning the plow and paying costs in the case. On Saturday he was arrested at Port Hope on a charge of vagrancy and was sent to jail for a month. Domville, whilst a fairly well educated man, is possessed of a roving disposition and evidently will not work.

COWS SUFFOCATED

The heavy rain of yesterday and last night was held responsible for the loss of two and possibly three cows, the propert of Col. Ponton. The three animals were missed this morning at a milking time, and a search was instituted, with the result that two were found dead under a stack of hay which collapsed by the weight of the rain. The third cow was alive, but its recovery is doubtful. The two animals were suffocated. They were valuable and especially so at this season of the year.

SOLDIERS OF THE SOIL.

The boys of Belleville have responded nobly to the call for help on the farms. Almost all of the older boys in attendance at the local High School and a number of older boys from the Public Schools have gone out to the farms in this vicinity. At least fifty boys from Belleville are now filling the soil, helping in the movement for greater production. A number of other boys will go out at the end of the school term. Every available man and boy will be needed to help with the crops this year, especially as the need for production is so great that a number of farmers will be passed by the military service. The Ontario Government has asked the Boys' Department of the National Y.M.C.A. to supervise the boys who go on the farms and the secretaries are being enlisted in this work for the summer. Each man is given a number of counties to look after and a Ford car as a means of transportation. It is the duties of these men to see that the boys get proper consideration and also that they give proper service. They will also distribute the National Badge of Honor which is given by the Canada Food Board to every boy and girl from 13 to 19 years who serves three months on the land, or in a cheese or butter factory. The Ontario Educational Department co-operates in this movement by allowing all pupils who passed the preceding test at Easter time their school standing for the term. Mr. P. F. Brockel, secretary of the local Y.M.C.A., has been asked to become the supervisor for this district, covering the counties of Prince Edward, Hastings, Northumberland, Durham, Peterboro, Victoria, Peterboro south and Haliburton. Mr. H. W. Waverly, who was secretary of this district last year, is now overseas, serving with the Canadian army as a Y.M.C.A. officer.

LIEUT E. A. GEEN

The announcement that Lieut. E. A. Geen has been appointed Collector of Customs at Belleville in succession to the late Arthur McGinnis, will be received with pleasure by Lieut. Geen's many friends and the citizens generally, the appointee being particularly well qualified to fill the position and having a genial and courteous disposition which is always a valuable asset in the public service. Lieut Geen went overseas as a private with the Belleville battalion which left here with a gallant service record and served in the trenches in France, winning his promotion to a lieutenancy upon the field of battle. He was later transferred to special duty in England, and later returned to Canada. The appointment of Lieut. Geen to this important position is in accord with the policy of Mr. Pettypiece, member of Parliament for West Hastings, to fill all offices as far as possible, with returned soldiers.

It is said that Mr. Porter had to fight hard against strong opposition to have this appointment conform to his wishes. The strong influences now exerted at Ottawa in favor of all appointments coming through the Civil Service had other plans for the Belleville Customs office than the appointment of a returned soldier, but Mr. Porter won his point eventually, and the appointment of Lieut. Geen was officially announced today.

The new Collector of Customs is the son of Rev. A. L. Geen of Belleville, and although a young man in years is fully qualified to fill the office, having been connected with the Customs Service before the war and also having had considerable experience in the banking business. He was born and brought up in Belleville.

Colds Settled In The Kidneys

Lumbago, Backache and Rheumatism Was the Result—Now Enthusiastic Over Cure Obtained.

CHATTERTON, Ont., May 12.—The kidneys are extremely sensitive to sudden changes of temperature, and much pain and suffering is a frequent result, as all who have had attacks of lumbago and rheumatism know.

The writer of this letter was a great sufferer until she found that by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills she could regulate the action of the kidneys, and thereby remove the cause of lumbago and rheumatism.

Mrs. John Lancaster, farmer's wife, Chatterton, Ont., writes: "We would not want to do without Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in the house, for we have proven their merits in so many cases. I have weak kidneys, and whenever I catch cold it settles in the back and develops into lumbago. I used to suffer terribly from lumbago and rheumatism, but find that by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and applying Dr. Chase's Backache Plaster that I obtain the greatest relief, and am soon all right again. My daughter has also used the pills with splendid results, as has also neighbor woman who suffered great-ly from constipation."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25c a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Be sure to see the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., on the box you buy.

Extensive Preparation For 3rd Of June Demonstration

Great War Veterans Are Planning A Great Event For Their Military Carnival

The greatest demonstration that Belleville has witnessed in many years is assured on June 3rd, if the plans of the Great War Veterans are carried out as they now stand. Home races, a grand military carnival and many other special events that are to be announced in the near future are being arranged in the hope of the ladies being made to obtain some very exclusive features, which if successful, are sure to make the Veterans celebration a banner day in the history of Belleville. Watch the local papers for future announcements. d4w11

Money was found in the clothing, also two $10 bills badly torn, were lying on the grass nearby.

Aged Gate-Keeper Killed By Automobile

PORT HOPE, May 13.—John Pearard, aged 70 years, tollgate-keeper about five miles from here, was instantly killed Sunday morning, when struck by an automobile in which were James Kenney and E. Hollingsworth of Cobourg. The remains of the victim were picked up by the two men and taken to his late home, and they reported to the authorities here. An inquest will be opened in Port Hope this morning by Coroner Dr. Ferris.

It is said that the aged keeper, when he saw the auto coming, started to cross the road to be in a position to collect the toll, and was struck by the machine before he could clear the road. He leaves a widow and two daughters, Mrs. Hutchison and Mrs. Fox, of Port Hope.

Kenney is a commercial traveller representing the Salada Tea Company, and Plunkett the owner of the car, was driving it, driving him to Peterboro when the accident occured.

Flying Cadet Died From Injuries

TORONTO, May 13.—Following injuries received when his airplane crashed late on Saturday afternoon, Cadet Noble John Johnston, son of Mr. R. T. Johnston, of St. Mary's, died at the General Hospital at two o'clock on Sunday morning, and the body will be sent to St. Mary's today for burial. Cadet Johnston was aged 21. According to the story of the accident, Johnston had to make a forced landing about two miles north of the Leaside Camp, which he did successfully, then, as he was able to find the engine running again, he took to the air for the second time. He had risen but a short distance from the ground when the machine crashed. Johnston was hurried to the General Hospital, where it was found that he had suffered concussion of the brain, in addition to minor injuries. An inquest will be held at ten this morning at the A. W. Miles undertaking parlors on College Street.

She is one of the six vessels which are under construction here for the Imperial Board, and indications are that more wooden vessels will shortly be built at Limoilou.

Casualty Lists Of Big Offensive

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

LONDON, May 14.—Total of British casualties reported in the week ending to-day is 41,312, divided as follows: Killed or died of wounds, 7,566, wounded or missing 30,646. The large total in the last week evidently represents the losses suffered when the fighting in Flanders and Picardy was at its height. It is probable that these casualties are the heaviest British losses of any week of the war.

TO THE BUSINESS MEN OF BELLEVILLE

How often have we heard the local Board of Trade knocked, called a dead organization, derided, and advised to wake up?

Have YOU ever stopped to think what a Board of Trade is? YOU, who have never become a member, or having become a member, failed to attend the deliberations of the Board, are just as responsible as anyone if the activities of the Board cease.

You look after the best interests of your own business in a quiet way. That is good as far as it goes. How much better would it be if you, say monthly, met the other retail men, the other bankers, the other bankers, the other business men of your line and discussed business conditions from all standpoints? Would it not be conducive to better business conditions for all of you—better credit systems, more satisfied customers, brighter stores, better shown goods, better conditions in every way?

Think it over. Take a bigger interest in the business of your own home town. You can't help to make it bigger and brighter—big business, YOUR business, I mean—and that means the whole town as well.

Every business man, in whatever line, should be a member of the Board of Trade. The fee is small, only $2.00. He should attend meetings whenever practicable and with suggestions he thinks practicable for his town's benefit.

On Monday next a membership campaign will be held. Some one will call on you asking your membership fee, and if you want YOUR Board of Trade to be a live one, you will be a live one yourself and fall in line.

Take the membership card and put it up in your window or your office and let everyone know you're part of Belleville's Board of Trade, and then attend the meetings.

L. W. MARSH,
President, Belleville Board of Trade.

Duty First To Hold The Line

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Special

OTTAWA, May 14.—The farmers of Ontario and Quebec presented their views to the government to-day. In his reply, the Prime Minister emphasized the necessity of holding the lines on the western front. "I know whereof I am speaking when I tell you," he declared, "that if the channel ports be reached through the breaking of that line it would be, to say the least, extremely problematical whether any of that production of which you speak could be made of service to the allied nations overseas, to our men who are holding that line. I regard it as the supreme duty of this government to see that these men, some of whom have been fighting for three years, are sustained by reinforcements as will enable them to hold the line."

MAY CLOSE CERTAIN INDUSTRIES

OTTAWA, May 14.—Sir Robert Borden told the delegation of 5,000 farmers here today to secure exemptions from M.S.A. for farmers and farm help that the government was seriously considering closing many non-essential industries. The Government is confronted with farmers unwilling to hold out no hope of further exemptions.

A Free Bridge or Higher Tolls

Open The Gates and Let the People in

The Bay Bridge question has advanced to a definite stage and must be considered from the new angle presented. The bridge owners sought permission of Parliament to increase the schedule of tolls; Prince Edward county and the city of Belleville naturally opposed the application as interested parties. The vigorous opposition resulted in the Bill being modified in Committee and the proposed new schedule of tolls being cut approximately in two. The municipalities concerned being desirous of doing away with the tolls entirely by purchase of the bridge structure from the owners agreed, more by force of circumstance than anything else, upon a purchase price of $65,000, and the parliamentary committee in the interests of Belleville and Prince Edward county, employed the services of Belleville and Prince Edward county, employed the expert accountants to place a fair valuation upon the bridge from the standpoint of capital invested. The result was the arriving at a valuation for the purpose of sale of $78,000. This was subsequently reduced to $72,500 as a compromise figure which the company would be willing to accept.

How the $65,000 figure was arrived at by the municipalities is not known, but one must have been more or less the result of guesswork, and the parliamentary committee were guided by the result of the valuation of expert accountants arranged for the purpose in the interest of the municipalities concerned.

If the experts had placed a valuation upon the bridge under the tentative figure set of $65,000 the municipalities concerned would naturally have insisted upon the lower figure being embodied in the Bill and made the purchase price of the bridge by Act of Parliament. That the independent valuators set a higher valuation is unfortunate as affording any possible opponents of a free bridge an opportunity for argument. As a business proposition the municipalities naturally would have a higher figure possible as the sum which should constitute the purchase price of the bridge. To act a higher price would not have been in accordance with business methods. Now that a positive figure has been fixed by Parliament as a fair purchase price and assented to by the bridge owners the question can be considered quite frankly and as a business deal pure and simple. As matters stand now the tolls will be raised and an additional embargo placed upon free intercourse between Prince Edward county and the city of Belleville. In the interests of both municipalities the bridge should be free and traffic encouraged from Belleville to the county and from the county to the city.

TIME LIMIT ON PURCHASE PRIVILEGE.

The Bridge Bill sets a time limit in which the municipalities can acquire the bridge by purchase and no good can be accomplished by not facing the issue fairly and squarely as a business proposition and giving the people an opportunity to decide whether they are content that the toll bridge should be continued with increased charges or whether the Bay Bridge shall be free, as it should be, and the abomination of toll charges on a public highway forever abolished.

SHALL THE BAY BRIDGE BE FREE?

So it would appear as if it was up to the city of Belleville and Prince Edward county whether we will have a free bridge or not. As to the question of having a free bridge or a toll bridge, so far as Belleville is concerned, there cannot be two questions about it; Belleville is vitally interested and everything possible should be done by the citizens to make intercourse between Prince Edward county and the city as easy and inviting as can be. The difficulty between the sum the city fathers are willing to pay, $65,000, and the sum the company is willing to accept and the Private Bills Committee has agreed to fix, $72,500, is $7,500, of which 40 per cent., or $3,000, will be paid by the Provincial Government, thus leaving $4,500 to be paid by Belleville and Prince Edward, or $2,250 each. It distributed on an even basis, or if divided upon a basis of assessment 75% of the two municipalities Belleville's share will be even less. Can the city, therefore, for an expenditure of $2,250 over a period of two years, or say $250 a year or $125 a year if extended over a period of twenty years, afford to lose this opportunity of greatly increasing its prosperity by securing the bridge? It only means the smallest fraction of a mill on the general taxable which might in fact be saved in some other expenditures, thus not necessitating any increase at all in taxes. But even if it appears to us, as we believe it will appear to any enterprising citizen, that the increase in the business prosperity of the city by having a free bridge will many times over compensate any possible additional tax.

The city fathers should not let this opportunity slip by. It is up to them, for the time limit for giving notice will expire before their term of office expires, and the citizens will hold them responsible.

Now then, all get together, boost the project for having a free bridge and do it over and done with in Belleville.

Another point worthy of consideration lies in the fact that a portion of the bridge has to be operated as a swing for purposes of navigation, which is to the general advantage of Canada the same as swing bridges over canals are, for purposes of navigation, and are within the jurisdiction of the Dominion Government; consequently it is not at all reasonable once the bridge is out of the hands of private individuals and operated for the general good and not for possible private profit to induce the Dominion Government to assume the expense of upkeep and operation of that portion of the bridge known as the Swing and thus relieve the municipalities to that extent, which will be considerable.

As the matter now stands the municipalities have agreed that a free bridge is advisable and offered a price of $65,000 for the structure. Parliament has endorsed a higher price and each municipality must ensure a free bridge by an extra expenditure of less than $2,500—the Provincial Government, as the third party interested in the purchase, has already agreed to meet the figure named in the Bridge Bill.

The question must now be passed on to the people for decision and should have the heartiest endorsement of their elected representatives.

After many years of blunders and toll paying the question of a free bridge has now been brought to a point where it is a possibility. Will the opportunity be thrown away and a liability handed down to posterity in the shape of a toll bridge instead of a live asset in a free bridge where all can pass without price?

Wife Sues For Alimony While Husband Makes Counter Claims

Domestic Infelicity of Belleville Couple Before High Court — Interesting Will Cases — Charge Widow With Not Being Legal Wife Of Deceased

At the opening of the non-jury sittings of the Supreme Court of Ontario here yesterday afternoon before the Hon. Justice Sutherland, some cases entered for trial were settled and others referred to Judge Wills and Local Master Ponton. The cases so disposed of are as follows:

Butler vs. Rodbourne

This was a case in which the widow of the late Fred Butler brought an action to set aside the will of the deceased on the grounds of lack of testamentary capacity and undue influence. Under the will everything including the insurance was given to three sisters of the deceased. Just before the case was called the parties got together and settled the case. W. C. Mikel, K.C., for plaintiff; G. G. Thrasher for defendant, Teresa Hoenh; W. Carnew for the other defendants;

Aman vs. Aman

The plaintiff is brother of the late Thomas Aman and brought an action to set aside the will of deceased, under by which he devised his property to Edna Aman, describing her as his wife, and her son, on the alleged ground that defendant was not the wife of deceased as she has a husband living. The defendant claims that she obtained a divorce from her former husband. Owing to the absence of a witness the case was postponed on the defendant's application W. C. Mikel, K.C., for plaintiff; R. D. Ponton for defendant.

Frechette vs. Frechette

The plaintiff who is the wife of the defendant, brought an action for alimony, making a number of charges against defendant. Defendant denies these and counterclaimed for a house which is in plaintiff's name but which defendant claims he paid for. He also claims an account of moneys deposited with his wife. The case was postponed to next non-jury sittings, plaintiff not to dispose of or encumber the real estate and the positions of the parties in other respects in the meantime to remain unchanged. E. Guss Porter, K. C., for plaintiff; W. C. Mikel, K.C., for defendant.

Rush vs. Bedford

This action was referred to His Honor Judge Wills for trial. W. C. Mikel for plaintiff; E. Guss Porter, K.C., for defendant.

James vs. Cotterell

In this action the plaintiff claims $5384.75 for lumber and other materials supplied defendant. The defendant claims the above account was paid and counterclaims against plaintiff, for a large sum for damages for breach of contract. Referred to Local Master for trial. W. Carnew for plaintiff; W. C. Mikel, K.C., for defendant.

Cooper vs. Reid

This was an action to recover possession of land. Defendant claims he is rightly in possession and asks damages for wrongful trespass from plaintiff. W. Carnew for plaintiff; W. C. Mikel K.C., for defendant.

Molsons Bank vs. Cranston.

A case of considerable interest, especially to many residents of the town of Trenton, is at present engaging the attention of the non-jury sittings of the Supreme Court of Ontario being held in Belleville before Hon. Justice Britton. The parties to the action are the Molsons Bank as plaintiff and J. Cranston as defendant. It appears that the names of some seven residents of Trenton appeared on a note for $15,000 which the bank is seeking to recover, but the defendant claims that the note is not a legal one as the name of another party intended does not appear upon it. The note, was given by parties interested in an invention or being associated with the motive power that company which was located in Trenton for some time but became defunct. The case was "commenced yesterday afternoon and when O'Flynn, Ritchie, Ludwig & Ballantyne, H. W. Essery, Goodman & Gallagher, Begun & LeVeroois for defendant.

Charges Repington Inspired Maurice's Attack On Lloyd George

LONDON, May 14.—"The French are following the development of the Maurice-Repington controversy with natural interest and some anxiety," wires the Paris correspondent of the London Times. "Pertinax," the well known writer in the Echo de Paris, says:

"The peaceful spring moving the whole affair is the personal, emphatic, pile, irremediable hatred borne by Colonel Repington to the new Chief of the Imperial General Staff, Gen. Wilson.

"Pertinax says proof that Col. Repington is the real inspirator of Gen. Maurice letter is in the venemous articles published under his name since January. He continues: 'If there is a man who has not the right to attack Gen. Wilson it is Col. Repington. Acquainted personally with him in the past when both were serving together in the same regiment. The military writer is truly ill-advised in subordinating to it his whole public activity. At such an hour his spirit of revenge is inexcusable.'

"Pertinax concludes: 'We have no desire to express an opinion as to the solution of these questions of persons, but we have the right to express about our hope that at the Commons sitting no leader or party will be found to reopen the question of unity of command or of military measures taken since March 21. The splitting up of command is the direct cause of what happened to France at the end of March. On those who willed it, whatever their motive, falls the responsibility for the reverse sustained.'"

Ottawa Ring To Make Appointments

An Ottawa Lady Appointed To Kingston Post Office, But Was Recalled After Protest.

Toronto World's Ottawa Despatch.

W. F. Nickle, Unionist member for Kingston, created a sensation in the House of Commons Friday night, in the course of a debate upon the Government's bill extending the Civil Service Act to the outside service. He declared in effect that the bill, if enacted, would be futile, because the minister of parliament of all influence in his own riding and vest the power of appointment in a centralized ring of deputy ministers at Ottawa. He told of Mrs. Narroway, a stenographer in the public works department being transferred to the postoffice department and assigned to a $1,100 a year job in Kingston postoffice. The transfer had been made by the assistant deputy-postmaster-general, at the request of the deputy minister of public works. The Kingston postmaster seems to have been anxious to oblige his official superiors, but his official superior was not indisposed to grant a request coming from another deputy minister. This, however, seems to have consulted Mr. Nickle.

There was naturally some indignation aroused over the incident, especially among other employes in the Kingston postoffice, and perhaps, among the members

"It Did Me A World of Good" She Says

Mrs. Lawson Says Tanlac Overcame Trouble of Many Months Standing.

"Positively I hadn't finished my first bottle of Tanlac before I was satisfied from the way I was improving that it was just what I needed," said Mrs. Annie Lawson, residing at 329 Walnut Ave., Toronto, the other day.

"For the past nine or ten months, she continued, "I had been suffering from a general rundown condition and was feeling badly all the time. I was losing my appetite and got so I couldn't relish a thing I would eat, and many a time all I could force down was a little tea and toast. I had an awful pain in my right side and I would get so nervous at times that I could hardly sleep

"I was getting in such a bad shape that I realized I must take something to fix me up, and hearing so much praise of Tanlac I decided to try it for a while. I have taken only three bottles so far and it has certainly done me a world of good. My appetite has picked up so that I now relish all my meals, that pain in my side has entirely disappeared and I feel better in every way than I have in a long time."

There is no season of the year when Tanlac can be taken to better advantage, than right now. In the spring-time all mankind, after weathering the storms of winter, are in need of an upbuilding tonic. There is nothing more invigorating to a rundown system than Tanlac. It will prove invaluable to person who are suffering from the after effects of pneumonia lagrippe, catarrh or bronchial troubles. Tanlac is a powerful reconstructive tonic, and always produces most gratifying results.

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store, in Trenton by J. H. Bickey, in Picton by W. J. Malley, in Stirling by J. S. Burton, in Frankford by W. H. Lattimer, in Madoc by J. Will Vines, in Marysville by T. J. McAlpine, in Tweed by Jas. Campbell, and in Thomasburg by J. H. Blakely.

Literary Notes

NEW NOVEL BY WELL KNOWN AUTHOR.

"William The Wise" is the title of the third novel by Archie P. McKishnie. The book will appear this month. The publishers here in Hutchison Mifflin of Boston, and Thomas Allen, of Toronto. Large sale of the novel have been placed in Australia and Great Britain.

Mr. McKishnie is worthy of all the success his book promises, being one of the Canadian writers who has stuck to his own country in spite of alluring offers made him by American publishing houses to enter a bigger and more paying field.

He is the brother of Jean Blewett, and like her displays a wonderful sympathy and understanding of human nature in his work. Coupled with this, his wonderful descriptive power, and graphic style of narration have won for him the praise of best known American critics, who place him side by side with Ralph and Knibbe, whose stories of Western America have made them famous.

Kingston Shows Great Prosperity

I had an opportunity to visit Kingston this week and I found the Limestone City humming. It is said there are about three thousand soldiers there. The streets are full of them. Every train brings a number of fine lads, with their fathers and mothers. The Board of Leave of Absence is decapitated. General Hemming is in supreme control—he visited Major Cook's office in the city hall. Fifty clerks were there, all very busy. Major McManus is the gentleman of charming manners and he, as an assistant to General Hemming, gladly imparts all desired information. The question of taking the young men from the farms is of vast importance. General Hemming is doing his best to meet the stern demands for men and at the same time prevent hardship and great financial loss to the farmer.

Soldiers Bring Prosperity.

The presence of so many soldiers is filling the coffers of merchants and grocers. Everywhere—everywhere! The boys spend their money lavishly on the girls and young recruits are having the time and life of their lives. You see many anxious faces among the fathers and mothers who throng the streets. It is a great pity that our landlord men are not receiving any benefits at present from the war.

Pretty Park.

I was struck with the pretty little park at the C. N. R. depot. In the interior of the depot there are about forty pots of geraniums, stained glass windows, most comfortable relaxing rooms.

The poor old British-American hotel, where one has stood all night, is now never the opened again. Hotel property, since the advent of prohibition, has shrunk enormously in value. It did not see a drunken man, and only two policemen.

The scene around the docks is inspiring. There are many factories at work and everything seems moving rapidly.

Smiling Farm Lands.

The trip on the C. N. R. from Kingston to Belleville is delightful. The recent rains have brought forward the grass so that you seem to be travelling through beautiful parks. The C.N.R. passes through a splendid agricultural country—beautiful farm buildings, fine young orchards, herds of cows, sheep and calves. We recently placed some of them rolled, showing in contrast to the meadows the brown tints of the soil. You pass through prosperous villages like Yarker, Newburgh, Camden East, Harrowsmith, Everywhere I saw evidences of labor in preparation for next winter, so coal is likely to be at a premium

The German Menace.

Looking at the beautiful country everything seemed so prosperous and lovely. I thought—if the Germans took possession, how soon the scene would change. There would be no more laughter, but bitter tears. We would be slaves to the most vicious tyrants and monsters that the world has ever produced. We know that cannot happen while God reigns. The evil hearts cannot subdue our beloved land.

Hun Slave Drive Begins In Italy

BERNE, Switzerland, May 14.—An Austrian-German commission is reported to be engaged in deporting the working population of the occupied portion of Italy, taking persons aged from 15 to 55 on the pretence of inviting them to work voluntarily.

At Para and Laibach 200 working women clamored for bread and broke windows valued at 400,000 crowns in the Casino at Para. Many districts of Bosnia and Herzegovina are deserted owing to the deportations of the inhabitants.

The wheat harvest of last year barely exceeded a quarter of the harvest of 1914. The excess of deaths over births, exclusive of deaths on the battlefields, was 15,332 in 1917 in Para.

The attempt to form at Serajevo an exclusively Croatian Austrophile, anti-Czech, slave party under Bishop Stadler and Dr. Pilar proved unsuccessful. At Para a Magyar deputy named Stefan Sakac is reported to have declared that the people of Hungary can no longer exist on the rations allotted to them. The authorities are continuing not only provisions, but bedding, and the villagers are at the point of insurrection.

The deputy asked why it was that no statesman can be found in Hungary to secure the Magyar peasant from being greeted even in his own house by soldiers with fixed bayonets.

PRIEST MAY DIE.

Chicago, Mass., May 14—Rev. Lawrence Cyman, pastor of St. Stanislaus Polish Catholic Church, suffered injuries that may cause his death when he was attacked in his church by Stanley Smitowski, aged 28, whom he came upon as the young man is alleged to have been breaking into the poor box. The young man, it is alleged, after attacking the priest with a hammer or stone, ran from the church and took refuge in a nearby house, where he offered the family money to conceal him. He was placed under arrest.

ROLL CALL OF LOSSES IN OSTEND RAID.

London, May 13.—A Dover despatch says that the British casualties in the raid on Ostend were two officers and six men killed and two officers and eight men missing, supposed to have been killed. Of these, two officers and eight men were on the vindictive. Five officers and twenty-four men were wounded, of whom one officer and six men were on the Vindictive.

GRAND TRUNK RECEIVES STEEL UNDER PLAN OF DOMINION GOVERNMENT

Montreal, May 14.—New steel rails are now being received by the Grand Trunk Railway System under the plan of the Dominion Government for setting aside part of the production of the rolling mills for apportionment among the railroads of Canada. The Grand Trunk will receive during the season new steel for about two hundred miles of track, and the maintenance of way engineers of the road are busily engaged, assisted by large numbers of men, seeing that the high standard of up-keep is maintained. Every mile of track on the system is thoroughly overhauled and inspected by experts, using a special car equipped with electrically controlled devices for registering the various features of maintenance work.

GRAND TRUNK GETS DELIVERY OF TEN NEW MIKADO LOCOMOTIVES

Montreal, May 14.—The Grand Trunk is receiving this month delivery from the American Locomotive Company of ten Mikado type locomotives for use in freight service. These powerful engines can handle a freight train of six thousand tons. Ten locomotives of similar type have recently been received by the Grand Trunk from the Canadian Locomotive Company of Kingston. There are now more than one hundred of these powerful locomotives in use on Grand Trunk lines. Other motive power is under order for the Grand Trunk, including twenty-five switch engines from the Montreal shops of the company.

ACCUSED OF STEALING 300 BAGS OF FLOUR.

Kingston, May 14.—A serious charge that Samuel Anderson had registered against him in the Police Court was that he "did steal three hundred bags of flour, valued at $3,000, from the Maple Leaf Milling Company," by whom he was employed as a driver. The case was enlarged until Tuesday. Anderson, who is married, lives on King street west and was placed under arrest following an investigation conducted by the Burns Agency. It is alleged that he stole the flour and used it to feed his pigs.

War Garden Bulletin

PRACTICAL GUIDE FOR VACANT LOT AND BACK YARD GARDENERS ENLISTED IN GREATER PRODUCTION CAMPAIGN.

Issued by the Canada Food Board in collaboration with experts on the staff of the Dominion Experimental Farm.

SOIL MUST BE FIRM

Very few amateur gardeners have yet discovered the secret of ensuring the proper germination of seed. When things turn out wrong they are apt to blame the quality of seed, when as a matter of fact it is more likely to be their own lack of experience that accounts for it. .

Before the seed is put in, the soil should be loose and friable. After the seed has been sown in the trenches it is always desirable to make the soil firm. Experienced gardeners walk along the row treading it down inch by inch, if this is not done the seed will dry up quickly and, therefore will not germinate properly. On the other hand if packed down as it should be, the earth is brought in close contact with the seed and the water has a chance to soak up from the lower layers of the soil. This serves to keep the seed continually moist.

After the soil has been thoroughly pressed down it is a good thing to rake a little loose earth lightly over the row. This serves as a shade from the sun and helps to conserve the moisture in the soil.

COVER SOIL WITH STRAW

Here is a tip for the gardener who wants extra early and tender radishes, lettuce, mustard and cress. It is a popular practice in France and Great Britain, but one that is little indulged in on this side of the Atlantic. All the salad crops can be induced to be more sprightly in their growth if the whole patch is covered with straw for three or four days after the seed has been sown. The straw shades the ground, keeps in the moisture and rapidly draws up the young seedlings.

The crop gets a good start if this is done and the tenderest of radishes, lettuce and onions about up and are ready for use at least a week earlier than they would otherwise be.

WHAT GERMAN PEACE MEANS.

Mr. Rudyard Kipling defined bluntly what German victory means, in a speech at Folkstone the other day; and, incidentally gave a blunt definition of a German peace. "We are fighting against 18 hours a day slavery, under the lash or at the point of the bayonet, with a dog's death and a dog's burial at the end of it," declared Mr. Kipling. "We are fighting that men, women and children may not be tortured, burned and mutilated to be continued. Under the Hun dispensation men will become once more the natural prey of his barbarized neighbors, women will be the mere instrument for continuing the race, and the vessel of man's lust and man's cruelty, and labor will become a thing to be knocked on the head if it dare to give trouble and worked to death if it does not," concluded Mr. Kipling.

Germany Reviles Austrian Ruler

ROME, May 13—Increasing hostility to Emperor Charles of Austria and even greater feeling against the Empress and her family is being exhibited by the German press.

George Bernard, the famous writer, characterizes the family of the Austrian press of intrigues harmful to German interests. He admits that the Parma family, which has its connections in Italy and France as well as in Austria, might serve as an instrument toward achieving an understanding between the belligerents, but objects that the family is anti-German, and urges that the peace intermediary should be equally well disposed toward all the warring nations.

Patriotic Bazaar At Point Anne

The Junior Red Cross Club of Point Anne, on Friday evening, held a very successful bazaar and concert in the school house, which was decorated and illuminated by electric light for the occasion. In spite of the disagreeable weather there was a very good attendance, and much interest was taken in the bazaar, which contributed very largely to the proceeds. The splendid concert given by local talent was presided over by Mr. Harry Mikel, of Belleville, who is well known as a humorist. The following took part in the program: Helen Louis, Marguerite Hutchings, Marta Hart, H. Crosby, Miss Ray, Jean Murphy, Mary Bennett, Emily Long, Cora Bell, George Lane, Carol Sutherby, Dorthery Hather, Baratha McConnell, Ruby Teney. H. McKay, accompanist Mrs S. Long.

Following the concert the balance of the bazaar stock was auctioned off by Mr. Harry Crosby in a very creditable manner. The drawing for the tiedown resulted in favor of Mrs Libb Sweetman. The gross receipts, amounting to $137, has been turned over to Mrs. E. G Bennett, President of the Red Cross Society. The Junior Red Cross Club, under Mrs. Emily Long, is indebted to the following merchants of Belleville for donations to the bazaar: Ias. Wallace Co., H. Yanover, C. B Scanlebury, J Bargman, A. Melchoir, H. E. Fairfield, W. D. Hanley, R. Somerville, A. W. Dickens, B. Asselstine, Chas. J. Symons, J. R. McCurdy, J. W. Walker, Belleville Pharmacy, J. J. Griffin, Quick & Robertson, W. H. Letters from Overseas

Mrs. Arthur Naylor, 280 Bleecker Avenue, city, is in receipt of the following letter from overseas:

France, April 15, 1918.

Dear Sister and Brother:—I received your letter of February 15th the other day, while in the line. I was still in but expect to go out for a few days soon. However, you can never tell how things are going to pan out, especially just now. I was glad to hear that you and Art were keeping well this winter and hope this finds you the same. I am feeling fine myself. So you have had a pretty severe winter? You sure were in luck. I hear your coal in before the shortage. I guess from all accounts it was pretty hard for some people to make ends meet in Canada this winter. Well that is one thing about this country, the mild winter is over but it is a sure thing to see snow for more than a day or so at any time. We are having nice weather just now but for a few days last week it was raining, and of course the mud was bad. It does not take much wet weather around these parts to do it. It is most impossible to walk as the soil is mostly all sticky clay and chalk, and when it gets on your feet you imagine the whole of France is on our boots. But one consolation you have is that it is not as bad for the other fellow.

Well, Essie, by the time you receive this I suppose Spring will be there and I guess you will be busy making garden and fixing up the lawn for the summer. You want to have lots of flowers around your home this summer (maybe). Wouldn't you be surprised to see P. H. N. driving up with the old "Ford" again? I don't know if I will be able to drive a car now or not but, believe me, I would make an awful attempt if I knew I was going home. What do you think, Essie? I suppose you and Art will be sporting a car soon now, that is if gasoline is not cut off in Canada.

I sure hope the war will soon be over and we can all get home. I suppose Ted is home by now for I have heard nothing from him since I saw him at Witley. I hope he is for you can never tell what will happen crossing the ocean, but I will sure be glad when I hear he is safe home. I have not heard from John at all, but he must be all right as mother hears from him quite regularly.

Say, Essie, I received a box from the Belleek Lodge at home, and it was just dandy. They send one every month to all the brothers of the Lodge, and you can bet we all appreciate them. I know one who if he has the good fortune to get back safely I am going to attend the Lodge more regularly. Well, Essie, I will have to close as soon as this is all the paper I have, and I am to prepare for some of this. It has been the first time that we could all get paper in the Y. M. C. A.'s when in the line. The boys have just come back from the Y. M. with some canned peaches and milk, so will stop and try some. Good bye, with love.

Applying This Paste Actually Removes Hairs

(Beauty Notes)

Merely applying an inexpensive paste to a hairy surface, say beauty specialists, will dissolve the hairs. This paste is made by mixing some delatone with some powdered delatone; after about 2 minutes it is rubbed off and the skin washed. This simple method not only removes every trace of hair, but leaves the skin free from blemish. To insure success with this treatment be careful to get real delatone.

Cannot Replace Her Lost Airmen

LONDON, May 11—Perry Robinson writing to the Daily News from the battle front in France under date of Friday says:

A few days of fine weather has given the enemy's aerial activities a rest. German aviators taken prisoners lately say they are now having great difficulty in replacing the personnel of their air force. They say they have had some 200 pilots and observers killed in the course of the series of air21. One reconnaissance flight alone lost 130 of its men. They speak with the greatest admiration of the British aviators but mitigate their compliments by declaring that our machines are better than theirs.

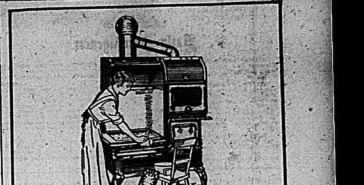

All this is only evidence that their morale is badly shaken. It is reported that Lieut. von Richthofen, brother of the late champion flyer, and who was said to have succeeded to the command of "Flying Circus," has had his skull fractured by a fall and will be unable to fly again.

The concentration of airplanes with artillery and infantry has been magnificent in all kinds of weather, and there has been an enormous amount of bombing of enemy troops, railways, billets, transports, batteries and the like. Furthermore there has been much harassing of troops on raids and in trenches with machine gun fire from low down.

Prisoners continually tell of the great damage done, especially by night flying. Even running out of Bray areas. We hear of batteries knocked about by our guns and gun teams driven from running out by officers with revolvers; of ration parties composed of men rest military age suffering so much through artillery fire that they have refused to come on of fresh water, after being got up to their front line; of gas shells and machine gas shells and made undrinkable. Of some recent batches of prisoners, about 10 per cent. must have belonged to the 1919 class as well as a considerable proportion of the 1918 class.

A widow always pretends that she isn't trying to help a man when he tries to kiss her—but she is, just the same.

Handling the News

In the course of one night more than 100,000 words come into the office of almost every first-class newspaper.

Much of the matter thus received is fragmentary. Some of it is irrelevant, and there is of necessity considerable over-lapping.

It is in the arranging of this panoramic picture of the day's events a newspaper is made or marred.

Each lawful morning the news of the world is presented to Mail and Empire readers in a manner appealing to the eye and to the senses. The detached matter is carefully pieced together—the striking events given their proper prominence—the verbiage cut out—irrelevant items discarded.

It is this careful and experienced editing of a cable and news service without a peer in America—coupled with artistic presentation —ACCURACY—COMPREHENSIVENESS MINUS SENSATIONALISM—that makes The Mail and Empire the acknowledged leading newspaper of Canada.

Patriotic Bazaar At Point Anne

The Junior Red Cross Club of Point Anne, on Friday evening, held a very successful bazaar and concert in the school house, which was decorated and illuminated by electric light for the occasion. In spite of the disagreeable weather there was a very good attendance, and much interest was taken in the bazaar, which contributed very largely to the proceeds. The splendid concert given by local talent was presided over by Mr. Harry McKay of Belleville, who is well known as a humorist. The following took part in the program: Helen Lucia, Marguerite Hutchings, Martin Hart, H. Crosby, Miss Ray, Jean Murphy, Mary Bennett, Emily Long, Cora Bell, George Lane, Carol Sutherb, Dorthery Hather, Baratha McConnell, Ruby Toney, H. McKay, accompanist Mrs S. Long.

Following the concert the balance of the bazaar stock was auctioned off by Mr. Harry Crosby in a very creditable manner. The drawing for the tiedown resulted in favor of Mrs Lilb Sweet.

The gross receipts, amounting to $137, has been turned over to Mrs. E. G. Bennett, President of the Red Cross Society. The Junior Red Cross Club under Mrs. Emily Long, is indebted to the following managers of the Belleville for donations to the bazaar: Jas. Wallace Co., H. Yanover, C. B Scantlebury, J Berman, A. Meichart, H. E. Fairfield, W. D. Hanley, S. Domenico, A. W. Dickens, B. Azzebsine, Chas. J. Symons, J. R. McCurdy, A. W. Walker, Belleville Pharmacy, J. F. Griffin, Quick & Robertson, W. H. WHAT GERMAN PEACE MEANS.

Mr. Rudyard Kipling defined bluntly what German victory means, in a speech at Folkstone the other day, and, incidentally gave a blunt definition of a German peace. "We are fighting against 18 hours a day forced labor, under the lash or at the point of the bayonet, with a dog's death and a dog's burial at the end of it," declared Mr. Kipling. "We are fighting that men, women and children may not be tortured, burned and mutilated," he continued. "Under the Hun dispensation man will become once more the natural prey of his better-armed neighbors, women will be the mere instrument for continuing the breed, the vessel of man's lust and man's cruelty, and labor will become a thing to be knocked on the head if it dares to give trouble and worked to death if it does not," concluded Mr. Kipling.

Germany Reviles Austrian Ruler

ROME, May 13.—Increasing hostility to Emperor Charles of Austria and even greater feeling against the Empress and her family is being exhibited by the German press.

George Bernard, the famous writer, recently accuses the family of the Empress of intrigue harmful to German interests. He admits that the Parma family, which has its connections in Italy and France as well as in Austria, might serve as an instrument toward achieving an understanding between the belligerents, but objects that the family is anti-German, and urges that the peace intermediary should be equally well disposed toward all the warring nations.

Letters from Overseas

Mrs. Arthur Naylor, 230 Bleecker Avenue, city, is in receipt of the following letter from overseas:

France, April 16, 1918.

Dear Sister and Brother:—I received your letter of February 15th the other day, while on the line. I am still in but expect to go out for a few days soon. However, you can never tell how things are going to pan out, especially just now. I was glad to hear that you and Art were keeping well this winter and hope this finds you the same. I am feeling fine myself. So you have had a pretty severe winter? You sure were in luck to have your coal in before the shortage. I guess from all accounts it was pretty hard for some people to make ends meet in Canada this winter. Well that is one thing about this country—the winter is never bad. It is a rare thing to see snow for more than a day or so at any time. We are having nice weather now but for a few days last week it was rainy, and of course the mud was bad. It does not take much wet weather around here before it is almost impossible to walk as the soil is mostly all sticky clay and chalk, and when you lift your foot you imagine the whole of France is on our boots. But one consolation you have is that it is just as bad for the other fellow.

Well, Essie, by the time you receive this I suppose Spring will be there and you and all will be busy making garden and fixing up the lawn for the summer. You want to have lots of flowers when I come home this summer (maybe). Wouldn't you be surprised to see P. H. N. driving up with the old "Ford" again? I don't know if I will be able to drive a car now or not but, believe me, I would make an awful attempt if I have the chance. What do you think, Essie? I suppose you and Art will be sporting a car soon now, that is if gasoline is not cut off in Canada.

I sure hope the war will soon be over and we can all get home. I suppose Ted is home by now for I have heard nothing from him since I saw Jim at Witley. I hope he is for you can never tell what will happen crossing the ocean, but I will sure be glad when I hear he is safe home. I have not heard from John at all, but he must be all right as mother hears from him quite regularly.

Say, Essie, I received a box from the Belleville Lodge at home, and it was sure a dandy. They send one every month to all the brothers of the Belleville Lodge, and you can bet we all appreciate them. I know one who if he has the good fortune to get back safely will attend the Lodge more regularly. Well, Essie, I will have to close soon as this is all the paper I have, and I had to scrounge one sheet of this. It has been the first time that we could not get paper in the Y. M. C. A.'s when in the line. The boys have just come back from the Y. M. C. A. with some candy and peaches and milk, so will stop and try some. Good bye, dear, for now.

Applying This Paste Actually Removes Hairs

(Beauty Notes)

Merely applying the inexpensive paste to a hairy surface, say beauty specialists, will dissolve the hairs. This is made by adding a little water to some powdered delatone; after about 2 minutes it is rubbed off, the skin washed, and behold! not only removes every trace of hair, but leaves the skin free from blemish. To insure success with this treatment be careful to get real delatone.

Cannot Replace Her Lost Airmen

LONDON, May 11—Perry Robinson writing to the Daily News from the front says that in France under date of Friday says:

A few days of fine weather has given the British and German airmen a chance to fly over the enemy's lines and engage in their air force. They say they have have lost some 120 pilots and observers during the offensive of March 21. One reconnaissance flight alone lost 130 of its men. They speak with the greatest admiration of the British aviators but mitigate their compliments by declaring that our machines are better than theirs.

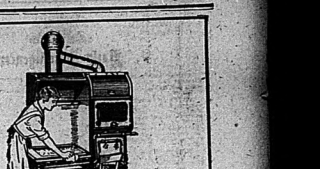

All this is only evidence that their morale is badly shaken. It is reported that Lieut. von Richthofen, brother of the late champion flyer, and who was said to have succeeded to the command of the "Flying Circus," has had his skull fractured by a fall and will be unable to fly again.

The organization of airplanes with artillery and infantry has been magnificent in all kinds of weather, and there has been an enormous amount of bombing of enemy troops, railways, billets, transports, batteries and the like. Furthermore, there has been much harassing of troops on raids and in trenches with machine gun fire from down.

Prisoners continually tell of the great damage done, especially by the low flying machines of Sopwith and Bray scouts. We hear of batteries knocked about by our guns and gun teams only kept from running away by officers with revolvers; of ration parties composed of worn out military age soldiers; of so much trouble and suffering that they have refused to come on, of fresh drafts after being got up to the front line—being spoiled by our gas shells and made undrinkable. Of some recent batches of prisoners, about 40 per cent. must have belonged to the 1919 class as well as a considerable proportion of the 1918 class.

STOCKS STILL BOOMING

The New York Stock Market continues to sizzle and closed up on Saturday with nothing sane about it. Wall street is full of people who know that the contrary the grain markets were in brokers' parlance, heavy and such as might cause an uncomfortable feeling to those who have been doing their best to contribute to the high cost of living. However, the general public will be cheered by the news, as the one portends industrial activity both now and after the war and the other, cheaper and larger supply of food. The great United States Steel trust shares have advanced 20 points in so many days, and oats, practically the only grain with a free market, are down in the option price nearly 25 per cent. in about the same time. Canadian holders of oats are getting bit hard and nobody will console with them. Winnipeg may option fell 2 3-8c a bushel on Saturday and made a new low price of 78c. New York financers are great optimists on the war outlook. They have many influential connections indirectly with Berlin and this information is probably the basis of their optimism. Anyway they think the German has got his neck in a noose on the western front and cannot get it out without meeting a calamity and the longer the tie up continues the worse will be the result. The strong support given Lloyd George in England and the successful exploits of the British navy have also served as tonics to the enthusiasm of our American friends.

HINDENBURG DEAD, OR BURIED ALIVE.

Can it be that the German drive on the Western front has been halted to take time to bury Field Marshal von Hindenburg, who is reported by Hun prisoners to have departed this life and gone to his reward. What that reward will be can be conjectured if the tales of his brutality are only half true. Ordinarily the death of a noted military leader, even though an enemy, would call for some measure of respect, in accordance with his achievements, bravery and humanity. However, whether Hindenburg is dead or living, no biographer as far as known has ever credited him with being anything but a pliant tool of the Butcher of Berlin, a warrior with no regard for the lives of his soldiers and only a flesh and blood image of Kultur absolutely soul-less and devoid of honor.

It will be remembered that a short time ago Hindenburg was reported as being a patient in a German military hospital suffering from wounds inflicted by a bomb thrown by a British aviator. According to information given out from German sources at the time Hindenburg was only slightly wounded. The statement made by German prisoners that the German Field Marshal is dead, although doubted, indicates, if true, that his wounds were more serious than Germany cared to admit, and another bright star shines in the crown of glory won by the allied soldiers of the sky in the war, and particularly during the great offensive.

About the only real importance the death of Hindenburg might be would be in a further weakening of the morale of the German soldiers, which must have been badly shattered by the failure of the German military leaders to accomplish any of their objectives in the widely heralded great offensive, which was to have wrested a decision on the Western front long ere this, but instead of being in Paris by April 1 or on that great drive which started on March 21 has arrived nowhere except in a shambles of the mangled bodies of German soldiers.

Von Hindenburg's death may be only political, but it certainly looks as if he had parted company with his military reputation and uniform for good.

FIENDISH CRUELTY OF THE TEUTONS.

Concluding an arraignment of Germany because of her treatment of prisoners of war, the London Daily Telegraph says: It is not only that the Germans deliberately frustrate every obligation into which they enter, though that is bad enough. But what really appals the conscience of humanity is the innate beastliness, the atrocious and fiendish cruelty of the men with whom we are struggling in this war. The historian of the future will be puzzled to account for this German race, capable of such action, could ever have been considered a part of civilized Europe. We ourselves can hardly understand the phenomenon, we can only note it as one of the paramount reasons why in this combat of ours, and in this solemn crisis of our fate, we are compelled to say that no truce or peace is possible with Teutonic militarism—the monstrous machine which commits these outrages.

The German character as we know it is due partly to an innate brutality of the race which has always been in evidence, though for diplomatic reasons sometimes carefully concealed; and partly due to definite teaching on the part of their philosophers and historians, who have confirmed and fortified the original Teutonic instincts. For what is it that these high priests of Kultur have taught their countrymen? The historians have devoted all their efforts to proving that the German race is superior to all others; the philosophers have lent the weight of their erudition to prove that power means success, and that right is to be interpreted only in terms of might.

German civilization has been wholly based on materialistic foundations, and it is one of the most permanent lessons of history that when a people is solely occupied with the aims of crass materialism, all the graces of the spirit, all the tendencies towards mercy and kindness and goodfellowship, are withered and disappear. The report of Mr. Justice Younger's Committee is only one proof added to countless others that in dealing with our enemy we must not assume that he is guided by motives in any sense similar to our own. As President Wilson has well said, the only way to deal with him is by "force, utmost force," in order that a deadly poison may be eradicated from Europe, and a future prepared more consonant with civilized and humanitarian ends.

CRISP COMMENT

Lloyd George complained that he had been drenched with "cocoa press slops", which goes to show that there is a great variety of ingredients suitable for the merry task of villifying public men.

"Mine is a heavenly citizenship," said a conscientious objector to military service in Toronto. When the court-martial gets through with this heavenly citizen he will probably be willing to come down from the clouds and get into khaki, where he belongs.

We cannot do too much for the soldiers of the King and the efforts of the member for West Hastings, Mr. C. Ross Porter, to have returned soldiers appointed to public office when qualified meets with the hearty commendation of all patriotic citizens.

Parliament has listened more or less patiently to profuse apologies by Quebec members for the attitude of that province toward the war. In the multitude of words there has been less conviction of a change of heart than the simple action of Laval students in abandoning agreement for khaki.

According to the Toronto police the husband of a woman under arrest there charged with bigamy encouraged her second marriage and was on friendly and familiar terms with the bigamist about it that he actually pressed the parson of the man who was anxious to take his wife off his hands so that the group would make a good showing at the altar. Nothing like being agreeable!

Much has been said about the evils of patronage and the need of Civil Service reform and a great army of theorists are busy devising schemes whereby, except to demonstrate that after all the parliamentary representative of a constituency is in the best position to recommend suitable and qualified citizens for public office. The patronage system has its drawbacks, which it may be possible to eliminate, but up to date no suitable substitute has been found.

The Public Service Bulletin of the Province of Ontario reports that during the month of December, 1917, in this province, one fire in every seven originated through children playing with matches. Over 10,000 dollars worth of valuable property was destroyed besides the sacrifice of several lives. Aside from the fires caused by children playing with matches many conflagrations can be traced to careless men and women throwing lighted matches in waste paper baskets or rubbish piles. Too much care can not be exercised in fire prevention.

Rev. Ben H. Spence is reported to have said in Broadway Tabernacle Sunday morning that it was by the men who prevented Mr. W. J. Bryan from speaking in Massey Hall that the Ontario Premier was censored a week later when he refused to make the liquor law less stringent. It took some hardihood to make the statement from the pulpit, and it took some self-control on the part of the congregation to refrain from strong expressions of dissent even in church. Bryan is no doubt a foe of "booze," but that does not entitle him to absolution at the hands of British patriots for his defamation of British rule in India, and it gives nobody any warrant for implying that it was loyalty, not to the Empire, but to drink, that moved men to prevent the delivery of his speech in Massey Hall.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

Must Report Whether Asking Leave or Not

OTTAWA, May 14.—The following announcement is made by the Department of Militia and Defence:

"In view of the fact that there seems to be some doubt as to the procedure adopted by men drafted under the M.S.A., or orders-in-Council in amendment thereof, it should be clearly understood that every man who is ordered by the Registrars to report must do so on the date specified, whether he intends to prosecute his claim for exemption or not. Should he be between the ages of twenty and twenty-two, both inclusive, leave of absence will be granted on one ground only, namely, that he is the sole remaining son of military age in the family, the others being already serving or having suffered death or disablement. Services in this case means service in some field of operations or in a unit in England or Canada providing drafts for service in a field of operations.

"Men desiring to claim leave of absence on the above grounds should so state upon reporting to the depot battalion indicated in the notice of the registrar. They should have prepared a careful statement showing the circumstances of the family, with the age and service of each. This statement should be presented as correct by some responsible person to whom the commanding officer can refer. If such a statement discloses sufficient grounds to bring the case within the policy above referred to, the man concerned will be given provisional leave of absence and the case will be forwarded to Militia Headquarters Ottawa, by the officer commanding the unit, for final approval. Full instructions as to the above procedure have been sent to all district officers for the information of officers commanding depot units.

The foregoing does not affect the commanding officer's power to grant a few days' leave in case of sickness at home or other special circumstances but the two weeks' furlough which farmers may obtain on application to their commanding officer to complete seeding."

A TRAITOR'S DEATH.

Washington, May 13.—The murder of Col. Hadjopoulo, the Greek Commander, who, in 1916, surrendered 4,000 troops to the enemy in eastern Macedonia, was reported to the Greek Legation here today in a despatch from Athens. The colonel was killed by a Greek sergeant. He had been held with other Greeks as a prisoner in Macedonia. The murder was inspired, the despatch said, by hatred of the Colonel for his part in a movement said to have had the sanction of King Constantine, for recruiting Greeks in Turkey to fight against Greece.

$40,000 LEAMINGTON FIRE

LEAMINGTON, Ont., May 13.—Fire was started by an overheated gas stove in the Wigle Block. Three stores and six apartments were completely destroyed and several other stores badly damaged by steam and water. A tenant of rain prevented destruction of the entire block. Buildings and contents were insured. The total loss will be about $40,000.

AERIAL MAIL ROUTE, SCOTLAND TO NORWAY.

London, May 14.—Despatches to the Exchange Telegraph from Christiania say that aerial service between Aberdeen and Stavanger is expected to open soon for carrying mail. It is hoped that economic interests between Great Britain and Norway are now so great that improved postal and passenger service is a necessity.

SPORTING NEWS

LONGBOAT CHASING HUNS

Another champion galloper who defies all rumors as to his death is Tom Longboat, the Onondaga Indian runner from Caledon. Longboat recently admitted that he will be satisfied to go to the Happy Hunting Grounds only after he has won the Military Medal and taken a crack at the impostor who impersonated him in Toronto a few months last year. "Big Chief" who is a brilliant runner in Prairie, has been twice spoiled on his way to the Victoria shells which landed just behind him and plastered him with mud. Longboat says he heard both "five-times" coming, but only got the bad footing, the best he was able to do was to just nose them out of the tape. If he ever hears one when the next is dry ahead of him, he says, he'll be long gone before it lands. The big Indian, despite rumor to the contrary, has not yet been even wounded, though he was through Vimy Ridge, the Somme, around Lens, and Passchendaele Ridge.

FULTON TO CLAIM WILLARD'S TITLE

PORTLAND, Ore., May 13.—Fred Fulton claimant of the heavyweight championship, last night said he had signed articles for a ten-round bout with Jess Willard had been called off. "I shall put it up to my manager, Jack Collins, and if he says I can fight me," he said. "I have a contract with Miller and the calling off of the match gives me a chance to fight Willard. Promoter Miller is Willard's manager. I do not think Willard ever intends to box for the championship title. I have been trying to get a match with Willard for the past two years. I will be in the ring promptly and for $1,000 forfeit money if Willard don't meet me."

Tells Dyspeptics What To Eat

Avoid Indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas On Stomach, Etc.

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble, say medical authorities, are due nine times out of ten to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic acid stomach is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things.

Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them, that irritate the stomach and lead to excess acid secretion—or they can eat as they please in reason and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid and prevent the formation of gas, sourness or pressure by-fermentation by using a little Bisurated Magnesia at their meals.

There is probably no better, safer or more reliable stomach antiacid than Bisurated Magnesia and it is widely used for this purpose. It is not a cathartic nor an alkali to sweeten the stomach and is not a digestent. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of five grain tablets taken in a little water with the food will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present and prevent further formation. It also removes the whole cause of the trouble and the usual digests "naturally and healthfully without need of pepsin pills or artificial digestents.

Get a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia from any reliable druggist. Ask for either powder or tablets. It never comes as a liquid, milk or citrate of magnesia but is a little more bulky to take. Try this plan and eat what you want at your next meal and see if this isn't the best advice you ever had on "what to eat."

If Baby is Teething

he is liable to be fretful, but frequently a good deal of this is due to skin irritation which generally accompanies teething. Keeping baby's skin in perfect condition does a great deal toward helping him through this trying period.

As soon as the slightest rash appears it should be treated with Zam-Buk. Nothing is so suitable for baby's tender skin. The absolute purity of this herbal balm never fails to commend it to mothers of discriminating tastes.

Mrs. C. B. Ritcey of Riverport, N.S., says: "My baby had sores on her face caused by teething, and although I tried numerous salves nothing would heal them. On a friend's recommendation I commenced using Zam-Buk. After the first two applications the sores began to heal and with continued treatment they entirely disappeared."

Zam-Buk should also be used for eczema, ringworm, boils, scalp sores, blood-poisoning, cuts, bruises, burns and scalds. All dealers or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. 50c. box, 3 for $1.25. Send 1c. stamp for postage on free trial box.

This Letter From Newcastle

Is a Message of Good Cheer to People Suffering From Nervous and Kidney Troubles.

Newcastle, Ont., May 14.—Mr. Wilmot had been treated in hospital and at medical springs, but found that cure only came when he used Dr. Chase's medicines.

His kidneys were deranged, circulation was bad, so that he suffered from cramps and the nerves were upset. By the combined use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills he was enabled to entirely restore his system to health and thereby get rid of the many annoying symptoms.

Mr. R. W. Wilmot, Newcastle, Ont., writes:—

"For the last eighteen months I have suffered from nerve and kidney troubles. My hand would cramp up and also my side, and at times my hands were utterly useless. My kidneys pained and my liver was also deranged. I took doctors' medicine, was in a hospital, and even went to medical springs, but I must say nothing has done me so much good in so short a time as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills. Since using this combined treatment my cramps have completely stopped, and I feel a great deal better. I may also say that the word constipation need never be mentioned since the goodness of Dr. Chase's medicines has been found out by the public. You may use my letter and my name if it will aid others to profit by my experience."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50c a box, a full treatment of 6 boxes for $2.75, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations only disappoint.

A CHEQUE CASE

A young man named Fry who was employed at the British Chemical Works at Preston, was yesterday committed by Police Magistrate O'Rourke of that town, to Belleville jail to stand trial on a charge of forgery. Fry was given a cheque for $25, and when he presented same at the bank, it is alleged that the figure three was converted into an eight, and he received in payment the $85 for $25. The discrepancy was soon after detected and Fry was apprehended. It is said that restitution has been made of the excess $50 paid by the bank.

HAY, SKINNEY! COME FOR A SWIM!

A special campaign to teach every boy in Belleville to swim will be put on at the Y.M.C.A. Cards will be issued through the schools for every boy from 9 years up and regular hours assigned for the different groups to attend. A large number of boys learned to swim in a similar campaign about a year ago and it is anticipated that a great many who are still unable to swim will attend at this time and learn so that they will not be in danger of being drowned during the coming summer if they find themselves in deep water. Mr. Ellis, Boys' Work Sec., and Physical Director, will have charge of this campaign.

KILLED IN ACTION

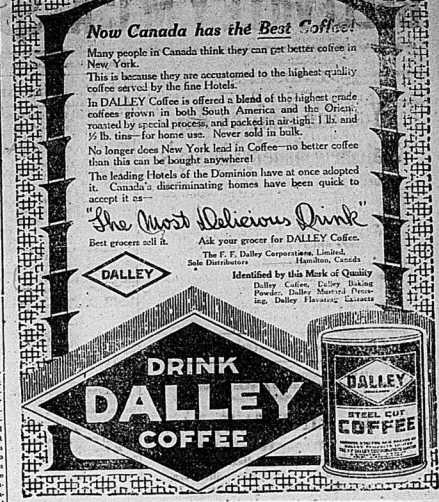

Mrs. Canif Foster of Corbville, has received word that her husband Pte. Canif Ross Foster, of the Canadian Mounted Rifles, has been officially reported killed in action on April 26th. He enlisted in the 235th Battalion at Belleville in November, 1916, and went overseas the following April, where he was transferred to the 154th Battalion (4th) Highlanders. In February 1918, he went to France and joined his twin brothers, who have been serving in the Canadian Mounted Rifles since December, 1916. Pte. Foster was the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Foster of Hillier, and grandson of the late Theodore Foster of Bloomfield. He was married only two days after enlisting to Miss Florence Mae Gilbert, daughter of Mr. Bert Gilbert of Corbyville.

Y.M.C.A. FINANCIAL DRIVE

In spite of war conditions and a severely depleted senior membership the Belleville Y.M.C.A. have carried on their work during the past three years. This has been made possible largely by the generosity of the citizens who have so generously supported the work. The Directors feel that the work should be continued for the sake of the boys of Belleville and the members of the Association, over 175 of whom are now in khaki, and a campaign will look to the Association more than ever upon their return as a result of the enormous amount of work done by the Overseas Y.M.C.A. To wipe out present indebtedness and the balance of the mortgage on the new building and provide for current expenses for the year, it will require $6000, in addition to all other available money. The campaign will be launched at a workers' tea at 6.30 in the Y.M.C.A. tonight, to secure this $6,000 required in a ward canvass Wednesday morning, May 15th. Strong teams have been lined up for each ward and determined efforts will be made to clean up this campaign in a half day.

Of all the net receipts going to them and each of the three, the Women's Red Cross Society, represntative of the Maxwell company, has the honor of securing the first consecutive space in the building. Other local representatives are following his example. This is the first automobile show to be held at Belleville and it promises to be one of the most important yet held in Ontario. All the best known makes and types of cars will be on exhibition, and members of the 24 Belleville staffs of the various companies will be present to explain the points of superiority of these individual cars. This automobile show promises to be one of the most important public events ever put on in Belleville.

Enobolm, C.E., representative of Francis Hebbert of Paris, France, and L. G. Mouchel & Partners, London, Eng. The members of the deputation were so well pleased with this address that arrangements were immediately made to have Mr. Enobolm repeat his address in Belleville. MUSIC & DRAMA

THE BUFFALO BILL OF THE SILENT DRAMA

William S. Hart, who is today the most noteworthy male figure on the screen, and the idol of all true Americans, is appearing at Griffin's tonight and Wednesday night in "The Cold Deck" his latest photoplay. This play will offer the Buffalo Bill of the silent drama an entirely new characterization, a deviation from all past portrayals. He will be seen as a typical Brete Harte gambler in a story of California in the early fifties. Instead of the usual Hart habiliaments, he dresses the part in high beaver hat, old-fashioned stock and frilled shirt-bosom, flowered waistcoat and broadcloth coat with the polished boots of the period. But, to those who can only picture Hart in his past delineations, it can be safely said that he presents as striking an appearance in this costume as he has in other Western outfits.

Mabel Taliaferro appears on the same program in a gripping Metro play entitled "A Wife by Proxy", the opening chapter of "The Eagle Eye" series showing the spies and plots of the Imperial German Government in America will also be screened, along with an amusing comedy entitled "Next."

TOM MIX IN "CUPID'S ROUND-UP"

Tom Mix, the new William Fox star is appearing at the Palace tonight and Wednesday, matinee and night in "Cupid's Round-Up," a brilliant Western story of adventure and love which mingles with life in every inch of the film. The play has a clear and definite story to tell. It deals with a pair who have been betrothed since childhood but who have been separated since early youth. Each journey to a Western town without knowing the other's identity. The man who has the prospect of marrying the girl he has never seen, promptly falls in love with one whom he believes to be a maid; and after rescuing her and nearly killing himself through being mistaken for a cattle rustler, manages to get out of his difficulties.

"The Ham That Was," an amusing 2-part comedy, "The Talons of an Eagle", a gripping drama, and the Ford Canadian Monthly, will also be screened.

Physicians Given New Instructions Regarding Liquor For Patients

TORONTO, May 15.—Doctors of the Province are not generally complying with the provisions of the Ontario Temperance Act, and the amendments which were passed at the last session of the Legislature. Consequently, the Ontario License Board will shortly send to all the doctors a letter instructing them to adhere to the regulations. Otherwise they will be prosecuted.

Section 31 of the act provides that a doctor may give a prescription for intoxicating liquor not exceeding six ounces, except in the case of alcohol for bathing a patient. An amendment to the act at the last session stipulates that when a doctor issues a prescription it shall contain a certificate that the quantity necessary for the patient for whom it is ordered. Reports received by the board indicate that in many instances the doctors have just given a prescription "for liquor for medical purposes," without stating that it is the minimum quantity

Cattle Driver Killed By Train

TORONTO, May 13.—John Draidge aged 50 years of Moffat, Ont., a cattle driver, was run over by a passenger train at the West Toronto station and so fatally injured that he died in the Western Hospital. John Allison of Galt, was driving cattle over the track with Draidge, when the accident happened. He was also struck by the train, but was thrown clear of rails and escaped injury.

Both men were handling ten head of cattle and in their efforts to drive the cattle over the crossing in safety before the arrival of the fast approaching passenger train were themselves struck. The engineer and several cars passed over the body of Draidge.

PLACED THE BETS AS AN OBLIGEMENT

TORONTO, May 15.—Louis Maynard, former bank manager, who is awaiting transportation to Kingston Penitentiary, to commence his sentence of five years for robbing the Dominion Bank of $3,000 was the principal witness in the Police Court against J. F. Hynes, charged with having engaged in the business of betting and wagering. Maynard, who was given protection stated that Hynes by way of an obligement put up possibly a dozen bets for him of amounts between $200 and $500 each. If winners lost he paid Hynes when he met him or if he won Hynes paid over the winnings. This happened, Maynard said within the past six months and so far as he knew the bets were not made directly with Hynes, who only placed them, he believed, with Gaspin.

Detective Nursey said that Hynes had admitted cashing a cheque from Gaspen for $1,200.

Hynes was committed for trial and allowed bail in two sureties of $2,000 each.

OTTAWA, May 15.—In reply to a question by Mr. Cosgrave in the House the Secretary of State said that the Government had forbidden circulation of a book written by Rev. Benjamin Spence, of Toronto, "containing an article wholly or in part written by Arthur Meighen, on temperance."

A lawyer representing Mr. Spence, Mr. Burrell went over to the Minister of Justice and suggested that in view of Mr. Spence's submission to the order, criminal proceedings be dropped and was informed that action in such a matter was a question for the Attorney General's department and the Government had no desire to interfere.

Run Monarchs Make Four New Kings

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

LONDON, May 15.—The Austrian and German emperors at their meeting at the German general headquarters, the German newspapers say, selected monarchs for Lithuania, Courtland, Esthonia and Poland.

Remove The Barriers.
MAKE THE BAY BRIDGE FREE

The Bay Bridge question must be fairly and squarely met as a business proposition and settled one way or the other on that basis.

By Act of Parliament the Bridge Company is authorized to increase the present tolls charged for crossing the bridge by fifty per cent., the increase to come into effect three months after the passing of the Bill by Parliament.

The Act also provides that the municipalities interested may purchase the bridge for $72,500 by giving the company notice thereof at any time within six months from the passing of the Bill, and completing the purchase within one year.

This means that as the result of the negotiations by the municipalities and the investigation of the auditor appointed by the Private Bills Committee of Parliament a valuation has been placed upon the bridge if the municipalities wish to buy. It also means that the tolls in three months time will be increased by fifty per cent.

EMBARGO ON BUSINESS AND PLEASURE.

The present schedule of tolls always constitute a reason in dollars and cents why citizens of Prince Edward county should not come to Belleville and why Belleville citizens should not go to Prince Edward county. In the careless time this handicap to free intercourse between the municipalities will be increased fifty per cent.

Is it to the advantage of the city of Belleville that any reason should exist why the citizens of Prince Edward county should not come here without penalty early and often?

Is it to the advantage of Prince Edward county that the citizens of Belleville should be prevented from visiting that county as frequently as they desire by reason of toll bridge fees?

REMOVE THE BARRICADE.

Is there any reason why the Bay Bridge should not be free?

In all the history of the Bay Bridge there was never a better opportunity than the present to take the structure out of private hands and make it a public utility. The Provincial Government offers to pay forty per cent. of the purchase price and the elected representatives of the municipalities have declared in favor of a free bridge.

ARCHBISHOP MATHIEU MAY NOT GO OVERSEAS

OTTAWA, May 15.—While Archbishop Mathieu of Regina was undoubtedly the first choice of Cardinal Begin to proceed to England and France as the Dominion's representative to visit the troops, as representing the French-speaking Roman Catholic hierarchy, it is hardly likely that he will be able to undertake the mission. He is now in Ottawa and intimated that he was returning to Regina. His health has not been very robust of late and the task of proceeding overseas on a mission for which he is particularly fitted would not, under the circumstances, be advisable for him.

Detroit Detective Killed At His Duty

Man Whom He Was About To Arrest Fires, Then Shoots Himself In The Heart

DETROIT, May 15.—Shot three times by Philip Shuster, whom he attempted to take to police headquarters for investigation, Detective Louis Bomka, 34 years of age, attached to the Central Detective Bureau, died yesterday afternoon in Receiving Hospital.

Shortly after 2 o'clock Bomka was detailed to convey to headquarters Shuster, 39 years old, 277 Sixth street, an automobile worker, to investigate a complaint made by Shuster's 13-year-old daughter. Bomka would not wait for the detective fyer, but went to the Sixth street address at once.

According to eye-witnesses the detective knocked on the door, and a moment later it was opened by Shuster who, without warning, shot Bomka in the abdomen. The officer attempted to draw his revolver, but, enfeebled by the wounds, crumpled to the far side of the street, while Shuster fired twice more at him, both bullets taking effect in the detective's back, just above the right hip. The assassin then ran back into the house.

Detective L. T. Kunkel, notified of the shooting immediately dispatched the auto detective flyer to the scene. As the flyer stopped in front of the house, detectives heard a shot, and rushing into the rear of the dwelling found Shuster lying on the kitchen floor with a bullet wound directly over the heart. Neither his wife nor daughter were home at the time.

Bomka was hurried to the hospital, but expired a few minutes later. Shuster also was taken to Receiving Hospital where death is momentarily expected.

Building Ships From Concrete Interesting New Industry

Belleville Board Of Trade Provides Citizens With Interesting Educational Treat Illustrating New Industry — Construction And Launching Of Concrete Ocean-Going Ship

The possibilities and advantages of building ships with reinforced concrete formed the subject of a very interesting and educational address last evening at the Palace Theatre by Mr. F. G. Engholm, C.E., and enjoyed by a large number of citizens. The address was illustrated by a large number of stereopticon slides and moving pictures showing the process of reinforced concrete construction for all classes of building operations. The citizens of Belleville are indebted for this educational treat to the Board of Trade, which is investigating the possibilities of a concrete ship building industry for Belleville.

Local interest in a possible ship building industry has been stimulated as the result of investigations made by Mr. Lucius E. Allen, C.E., one of the officers of the local Board of Trade, and a visit of a deputation from the Board consisting of Messrs. H. W. Ackerman, Lucius Allen, W. T. McMahon, Fadyen and L. E. Allen to Toronto last week, where they attended an illustrated lecture on the Engineers' Club on the subject of concrete ships given by Mr. Engholm, who is the representative of Messrs. Henebique, of Paris, France, and L. G. Monchel & Partners, London, England, pioneers in the reinforced concrete construction industry.

As the result of the visit of the Board of Trade deputation to Toronto Mr. Engholm was induced to visit Belleville and address the citizens here upon the subject of concrete ship building.

The address was given at the Palace Theatre last evening, the performance was finished last evening, and despite the late hour many citizens were in attendance.

Col. L. W. Marsh, President of the Belleville Board of Trade, acted as chairman and before introducing the speaker of the evening pointed out the advantages of having a practical Engineer Board of Trade and urged the citizens to become actively identified with the organization. A cash collection at the door would shortly be made and it was hoped to increase the membership to several hundred.

The address of Mr. Engholm and illustrations shown demonstrated the advantages of reinforced concrete construction, its durability and low cost of maintenance. Contrasting the form of construction work in Europe and the United States and Canada it was shown that while the best of results were obtained in Europe with a few inches of concrete, in this country it was still thought necessary to have a thickness of several feet.

Building ships of reinforced concrete is a comparatively recent departure and has received a great impetus by the war on account of the destruction of shipping by enemy submarines and the need of conserving wood and steel. Its practicability was strikingly demonstrated by the recent launching at San Francisco of the 7,500 ton concrete ship "Faith" now on its maiden voyage. Pictures of the progress and details of the construction of the "Faith" were shown also moving pictures of the launching. This is the largest reinforced concrete ship yet built and showed the great possibilities contained in this new industry, the principal advantage of concrete construction including speed of construction, immunity from fire, cheapness, durability, only slight damage from accidents, explosions, etc., and no general injury to the structure as in steel or wood construction, besides conserving steel and wood material for other purposes.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Engholm for his very entertaining and instructive address.

Austrian Peace Offer Debated

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press, Limited

LONDON, May 15.—The Manchester Guardian says that the peace offer handed to France last year by Austria, as revealed recently in letters written by Emperor Charles to Prince Sixtus, will form the subject of a debate of the highest importance in the House of Commons tomorrow. Since the publication of the Austrian Emperor's letters the question has been raised whether the Austrian offer should not have received greater attention and especially whether President Wilson should have been consulted.

Two Million Dollar Fire In British Columbia Ship Yards

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

VANCOUVER, B.C., May 15.—Fire in Coughlan & Sons' shipyards at Fire Creek did damage to the extent of from one to two million dollars early this morning. Flames were discovered in the boiler room shortly after 2.30 o'clock and spread rapidly. The fire was practically out at six o'clock. Fireman Cameron was killed by the falling walls of the boiler house and there were several minor injuries among the firemen.

Made In Germany To Die The Death

WASHINGTON, May 15.—As there is no commercial treaty between America and Great Britain, the announced purpose of the British Government to denounce all such conventions where they contain the most favored nation clause will have no direct effect upon the commerce of the United States. Tariff experts here point out that as that Great Britain has always unfairly conceded favored nation treatment to American imports.

It is learned in official quarters that the announcement in the House of Commons by Andrew Bonar Law is a step in the development of the idea that the nations now fighting the central powers on the field of battle, must join hands to maintain their industries intact against Germanic aggression in the after-the-war commercial struggle.

MUSIC & DRAMA

GREAT HORSEMANSHIP

Never has Bill Hart performed more hazardous stunts than in his present screen photoplay "The Cold Deck" which is being shown at Griffin's tonight. Though the story is simple it is interesting from start to finish. Hart plays the part of a square gambler that sacrifices everything to carry his little sister up the mountain side so that she may recover her health. One of the stunts that Hart does is to ride down a break neck incline that must have taken some nerve to perform. This photoplay is a reproduction of the characters that inhabited the so called Golden West of the late fifties, the dress, settings and action are truly Western throughout.

On the same program Mabel Taliaferro is appearing in a good Metro photoplay in the part called "Wife by Proxy." Miss Taliaferro is supported by a well balanced cast of players.

The first episode of the new serial photoplay entitled "The Eagle's Eye," is being shown tonight, and the first half of each week. This serial should be a wonderful story, as the story is founded on facts supplied by William J. Flynn, late chief of the United States Secret Service, and who is without doubt the best informed man in the States as to the doings of the German spies in America. King Baggott and beautiful Margaret Snow play the leading parts, and the chapters to come should be very interesting if they are anything like the opening chapter.

A REAL WILD WEST THRILLER

Tom Mix says that he likes his big horse immensely, but still his horse is the "answer" to real speed that he can get. In his newest photoplay "Cupid's Round-Up", which is being shown at the Palace tonight, Mix does some of the best broncho busting ever seen on the screen of the Palace Theatre. Some boys have toys to play with when they are kiddies, but the only toy that Mix ever had to play with in his youth was a horse, and he shows in his pictures that he learned how to ride and work horses very early in life as the saying is, hence the better Mix likes to ride. For a good exhibition of riding on wild horses see the photoplay "Cupid's Round-Up", which is being shown at the Palace for the last time to-night, along with other good photoplays of merit.

M.P.'S CAN'T READ REV. SPENCE'S BOOK

OTTAWA, May 11—Regarding the question of the order paper concerning the circulation by Rev. Ben Spence Toronto, of a forbidden book, the Minister of Justice stated in the House that the book had been suppressed and the Government knew nothing about it before it was printed. The book was suppressed under the censorship regulations, and the Government didn't think it advisable to produce it for the members of the House to read. The local authorities have taken proceedings against Rev. Mr. Spence and that was considered sufficient.

Godspeed To The Laval Recruits

OTTAWA, May 11 — Archbishop Mathieu of Regina at a mass meeting at St. Jean Baptiste Church wished Godspeed to a number of young students of Laval now in training here with the Laval battalion, which is soon to proceed to another point to complete training. The archbishop said he had planned to see the young soldiers perform their religious duties before leaving for the battlefield, many of them receiving communion. He congratulated them on the cheerfulness with which they were going forward to do their duty to their country.

"I understand those young men thoroughly," said the archbishop, "for I was formerly a rector of Laval, and from what I know of them they will do honor to their country when they get to the front, and be a credit to the name they bear."

One of the chief reasons why the King and British Parliament were so willing to have Laval University founded for the French-Canadians was that they were so confident that it would be the cradle of loyalty, that when the time came when its young men would be rolled upon they would not fail to do their duty to their country, the archbishop said. "Today we have the proof that their confidence was well founded, when we see so many Laval men in khaki and going to the front," he stated.

He counselled them to fight, to die if necessary, for their country, and they must remember that patriotism is rewarded not only here, but hereafter, for the reward of their country's defenders is heaven.

OUR WEEKLY SERMON

By Rev. A. M. Hoby.

DIVINE MERCY AND FALLEN HUMANITY.

This brief verse of scripture gives expression to two things which, perhaps more than all else, constitute a divine revelation—the freeness of God's mercy and man's ruin by sin. Were it not for the Bible our fallen condition could never have been known by the most learned of earth, and the light of divine mercy would never have been sought or comprehended by any of the dwellers in this sin-darkened world.

The prophet Hosea lived in one of the darkest periods in the history of Israel's national life. The obligations of civil law were ignored, and the claims of religion disregarded.

In the dark recesses of groves were practised cruel and sensual rites of idolatry. Domestic brawls and foreign invasion were of daily menace. Misery was marshaled against right. Leaders in both church and state practised cruel dishonesty for greed of gain. Princes and priests were accused of bribery and impiety. The poor were oppressed and the rich robbed. Murder and bloodshed were signs to the throne. Treachery met treason and defiled the land with iniquity as with a flood.

Remonstrance by the prophet was useless. His teachings of the knowledge and commands of God were rejected. The people hated rebuke. The more they were exhorted to prayer and righteousness the more they resisted.

They forsook God's prophet to prophesy, while they supported and encouraged false prophets who hated God. Hosea was contemporary with Lycurgus, the world famed legislator, and Homer, the world famed bard. The prophet confined his ministry to his own people, with intense concern for the nation. He saw at last the threatened invasion of the enemy take place, the number of the tribes, and the carcasses of the heathen.

Invitations and warnings are still replete with tenderness and woe. All is shrouded in darkness and gloom, the black clouds hovering send forth destructive bolts and thunder, but the sun breaks forth at last, and the pitiful colored rainbow expands till, encircled with brilliancy and hope, "God in wrath remembers mercy."

So there is a change in the message of the prophet. The wrath of outraged justice is past, and tender love and light burst from the dark cloud.

Our text is full of invitation and mercy, urgent upon Israel and upon all who have gone astray. God is unchangeable—"the same yesterday, today and forever." True to His government, our Heavenly Father offers mercy and forgiveness to all who will with a mere repentance turn unto Him.

"Then had fallen." This is the dazzling light that first struck the dark horizon of human ignorance. No remedy is sought until we know condition aright. God's word discovers to men their spiritual diseases and dangers and provides the remedy for their healing and safety.

In our text is suggested the idea of the freeness of God's mercy to the nations, also the sad condition to which it had descended, and the manner in which it accordingly expressed, as is the mode by which alone the suffering may be ameliorated.

There are few things more imperfect revealed in the Bible than the depth to which men and nations may fall in misery and woe, and the height to which they may be lifted by the mercy and love of Him "whose throne is in the heavens, and whose kingdom ruleth over all."

Another thing equally as important made known in God's word is, that the blame of sin, whether we view men individually or collectively, is upon the transgressors.

God may invite, yea, with yearning mercy plead for the wayward and estranged to return to safety and peace, but He has nothing to do with their wandering in the desert of sin. We all like sheep have gone astray, we have turned every one to his own way." The younger son, of his own free will and accord, gathered all the goods which was his portion because of his sonship, and went into a far country. He, alone, was responsible for the prodigal wasting of the blessings which he inherited by being the son of a rich father. The love of the father does not vanish with the wasting of his goods, but it can only be of value to the prodigal when he returns to the old home from which he had willingly departed. Until he returns the tattered garment and famishing hunger must be endured, notwithstanding his father's welcoming love and home of plenty awaits him. Perhaps the saddest part of a fallen condition is the reasonableness that we chose the path that led to the pit, purposely ignoring all guide posts and warning marks, as well as the friendly admonition, advice and invitation.

The same infallible word of inspiration also says: "Thou art fallen," expressed not as a fact that the fall was not caused by an inherent inability to stand. Thou mightest stood but those exercised the powers given thee in the very constitution of thy being.

Thou hast not fallen because of the ground being slippery and bestrewn with snares and pitfalls. Your Christian highlight placed you where the footing was firm and the pathway direct. Therefore all the effects of the fall come home to the fallen.

But suppose, like Paul, we may plead ignorance with a clear conscience, and say: "I did it ignorantly in unbelief," we can also obtain mercy as he did. In whatever degree there may be a necessity of sinning, or in degree is there a necessity of perishing; having once heard of Christ as the way of return to God, salvation is within the reach of the most rebellious, prodigate.

"Return unto Me." That which God invites us to do must be possible. To continue to pursue our own way, with the warning and invitation of the gospel ringing in our ears, is to willingly choose the way of perdition and perish by our own iniquity.

What is true of the individual, is true of the nation. You and I are guilty of that aggravate which constitutes the nation to which we belong. We must never forget that we are responsible for the attitude and relation which our nation holds to God and His righteousness. In proportion to our individual ability to the good or evil. For the past three years and more the Christian world has been witnessing its surfeit of tragedies. Great cities have been shorn of their splendors, robbed of industries, and their sanctities blasphemed. Warbearing tragedy has disfigured the landscape, devastated orchard and garden; conquering armies have been sweeping fertile fields and beautiful homes, stately mansions and thriving villages. Country and town crowded by unburied barbarians and ravaged by ensanguined secrets of young and old. The cup of bitterness and human woe has overflowed so that all the world must sicken by its draught.

Beloved, let me remind you that on the world's stage of life's drama, tragedy generally follows comedy. Our Christian empire has revelled in much of the long time. Great has been her prosperity. Riches have been to a very large extent has characterized the passing days, the Lord's holy day excepted. Loud has been the boasting of the British people.

We have been rejoicing in our boasting of national grandeur and material greatness, forgetting the word of the Lord which declares that "all such rejoicing is evil." The stage manager has rung down the curtain on comedy, and is giving us tragedy.

Painfully thrilling are the scenes enacted, and yet there are many thousands, yea, if Belleville is a sample of the whole, there are millions who have not realized that the drama has changed from comedy to tragedy. They have not heard the stern and imperious command of the God of war: "Cleanse your hands, ye sinners, and purify your hearts, ye double-minded. Be afflicted and mourn and weep. Let your laughter be turned to mourning and your joy to heaviness."

There is a great lack of numbers, even of God, hence the boasting of a depraved people that "while the enemy was bombarding the city, killing women and children, shattering homes and breaking hearts, people in the theatre shout "Let the play go on!" or, "Do with the Church!" Shall this be our boast that, while our neighbors are plunged in suffering betweenwrist and sorrow "we continue our fun! sitting down to feast, and rising up to play?" Let us remember Israel's fall did not do away with God's right to command the people. The Almighty's claim on man is not cancelled by either comedy or tragedy. The command stands good still —"Return unto the Lord thy God."

The mode of returning is given in the second verse of Hosea xiv. "Take with you words." When a sinner desires to return into the way of holiness his sins as a barrier rises before him. The wisdom of the prodigal when deciding to return to his father was in his deciding at once his mind of appeal for acceptance: "Father, I have sinned against heaven and before thee and am no more worthy to be called thy son. Make me as one of thy hired servants."

Prayer should be the first act of every awakened soul. The very fact of expressing a need has a tendency to bring about clearer views of what is needed, and to intensify the desire to obtain it.

Are we ignorant of properly phrasing our petition? Then God has condescended to meet our ignorance. He does not say, "Take words, and turn to the Lord, but tells us what kind of words we should take. Say unto Him, "Take away all iniquity, and receive us graciously." These words do not only constitute urgent prayer, but they also express a distinct change in moral attitude. Hopefully speaking, they mark a change in life of aversion from God, and the beginning of true conversion, a departure from evil, turning to good, and giving up of iniquity to embrace holiness. Then follows words of promise. "So will we render the calves of our lips." Which means that spiritual sense of spiritual uncleanness needs to be put away, and spiritual worship substituted.

The time for offering slaughtered animals as sacrifices for sin is past. What then is the offering that we individuals to offer unto God but confession for past sins, with a turning from them, and delivering up to the terms of the gospel, the people of a Christian nation are "an holy priesthood to offer up spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God by Jesus Christ." Hence the apostolic exhortation: "By him therefore let us offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually, that is, the fruit of our lips, giving thanks to His name."

The tragedy of this protracted war seems to threaten shipwreck of Christianity in this country. Let us expect of the Christian's Almighty God, if our nation suffer defeat, especially with the invitation and injunction of our text? Then would the Lord say: "I will turn away from thee, and will not love them freely: For mine anger is turned away from him. I will be as the dew unto Israel: he shall grow as the lily, and cast forth his roots as Lebanon."

An Important Discovery Swollen Veins Relieved

That Edward Jr., would relieve varicose veins was discovered by an old gentleman who had suffered with swollen veins in his legs for years. He had made many unsuccessful efforts to get relief and finally tried Absorbine, Jr., which gave relief in reducing swellings, aches, pains and soreness.

Thousands have since used this antiseptic liniment for this purpose with remarkably good results.

Absorbine, Jr., is a mixture of oils and extracts from pure herbs and when rubbed into the skin is quickly taken up by the pores; the blood circulation in surrounding parts is thereby stimulated and relief comes.

Hun Socialist Asserts Failure Of German Subs.

AMSTERDAM, May 4.—"After fifteen months, submarine warfare has not brought peace any nearer. In the meantime we continue to declare openly that will be needed after the war," Herr Vogtherr, Independent Socialist, declared in the Reichstag, according to Admiral Von Capelle's declaration that unrestricted submarining is winning the war.

ITALIANS AND SERBS VANISH

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Announcement from Paris that in the last three months more aliens entered than been sunk than have been built, bears out recent unofficial statements here on the same subject. Italy has been no secret that officials here have felt more encouraged within the last month or two. Serbia is another unrestricted submarine campaign bugaboo.

Merchant ship construction by the United States and the allies already has passed the real danger point, and ships are being launched faster than they are sunk. Officials pointed to this fact to-day as proof of the wisdom of the American policy of building an enormous merchant fleet.

As the supply of submarines begins to diminish, the success of the shipping problem of the allies begins to vanish. Aside from the general effect of a decrease in the number of submarines, officials look for it to have a decided effect on German morale. A submarine sent to the bottom carries with it a trained crew which it becomes increasingly harder to replace.

FOUNDED FAMOUS BATTALION

OF DEATH.

A Pacific Port, May 14.—Madame Leonina Botchkareva, founder of the famous Russian women's battalion of death, has arrived here from Russia en route to France, where she said she expected to meet death on the battlefield.

Mme. Botchkareva said since she left Moscow she had learned the peasant's garb she had been followed by agents of the Bolsheviki, who sought to carry her overthrow, which she said had been issued by the Bolsheviki, to kill her on sight.

Aching Head, Pains in Back

Heart Action Was Weak and Nerves Greatly Exhausted—Now in Good Health.

Tweed, Ont., May 15—This is a cheering letter from Mrs. Wilson Hunter, describes a condition in which many women find themselves and tells how they found relief.

Once the food cure was resorted to the system was strengthened, the body built up and reconstructed. The old symptoms disappeared, because the reason for their existence had been overcome. In this well worn path in addition to the obvious object to be served by thorough and efficient work it is pointed out that if the war continues it may be necessary to have recourse to the rationing system, in which case the best facts obtained through registration will be of great value.

The second point is that information about the skill now available and made to serve a practical and beneficial purpose. With this in view it is suggested that Provincial and municipal Labor bureaus and all parties desiring labor, should obtain information direct from their local registrars, on the day of registration, as to the available labor supply in a particular locality.

Twelve military planes have been detailed for the New York-Washington air mail service.

The four largest express companies in the States are to merge for the duration of the war.

SKY SOLDIERS WANT Y. M. C. A.

Y. M. C. A. authorities have tried repeatedly, it is said, to obtain permission to extend its military service department to the training camps of the Royal Air Force in Canada but thus far have not succeeded. The Canadian cadets who trained in Texas last winter appreciated the privileges of the Y. M. C. A. at the aviation camps there and wonder why the Canadian aviation camps are not similarly served. There does not seem any good reason why the Red Triangle should not be doing its good work in the Canadian aviation camps, but the permission must come from the Imperial authorities.

HON. DR. BELAND FREE AT LAST.

The news that Hon. Dr. Beland has been permitted to leave Germany after being held a prisoner of war by the enemy since the beginning of hostilities will be received with great satisfaction by Canadians who have felt deep sympathy for the doctor in the indignities heaped upon him by the Germans and the sorrow which war has occasioned him. Repeated efforts were made in vain by the Dominion and Imperial authorities from time to time to secure Dr. Beland's release and his freedom now is the result of a recent agreement between the British and German governments the country in exchange of prisoners. Dr. Beland being exchanged, it is said, for the son of former German Chancellor von Buelow.

Dr. Beland will be heartily welcomed upon his return to Canada, which it is expected will be soon. Prior to the general election in 1911 he was Postmaster-General of Canada, and in the election in December last, although a prisoner in Germany at the time, he was honored with return by acclamation as member of Parliament for Beauce County.

Just before the outbreak of the war Dr. Beland was married to a Belgian lady. He was on his honeymoon trip in Belgium when the German governments the country in August, 1914. He could have got away, but remained to give succor to the Belgian and German wounded. With characteristic indifference to his labors of mercy the Germans made him a prisoner, and he remained a prisoner despite repeated efforts on the part of the Imperial authorities and the Dominion Government to secure his release. His freedom comes now as the result of a recent agreement between the British and German Governments made through neutral agencies for the release of prisoners upwards of 45 years of age.

Dr. Beland's health, never any too robust, failed steadily during his stay in Germany, and some time ago he was given some measure of freedom. About a year ago his wife become ill in Belgium, but he was not permitted by the German authorities to visit her. The illness terminated fatally.

STOP KNOCKING AND BE A BOOSTER.

The reorganized Belleville Board of Trade under President Marsh is showing commendable energy and gives promise of developing into an organization which will be of great benefit to the city. The business men of the city can get together in the Board of Trade, study the ideas and work unitedly for the best interests of the community. Working in conjunction with the City Council the Board of Trade can inaugurate and help to carry out progressive civic policies. At no time in the history of Canada were energetic Boards of Trade more necessary than now. The war has changed the entire industrial life of Canada, and when the war ends another upheaval is bound to occur in manufacturing circles, hence the wisdom of forming strong and energetic associations of business men now to prepare for the reconstruction period and be ready to meet changed conditions with courage and confidence and definite plans. Many new lines of industry will be developed after the war and some industries now flourishing may experience a slump for a time at least. A "let-well-enough-alone" policy is worse than useless now when such a policy on account of changing conditions may result in a dead municipality full of mourners for lost opportunities.

Belleville has many desirable advantages as a manufacturing centre—electric power, shipping facilities by rail and water, central location, good home market and attractive living advantages, besides favorable labor conditions.

The chief business of a live Board of Trade is to seek to bring additional prosperity to the community and to hold fast to what has already been gained.

There is ample opportunity for all business men of Belleville to post their energy in one organization for a Bigger, Better and Brighter Belleville by taking hold of Board of Trade work.

To keep from slipping back we must forge ahead.

Forward march, forget past differences of opinion, stop knocking and Boost, Boost, Boost—as the soldiers say, "Pack up your troubles in your old kit bag and smile, smile, smile."

CRISP COMMENT

With a free bridge the prices of farm produce on the market should be lower.

Toll gates and toll bridges are relics of the dark ages and have no place in modern civilization. The Bay Bridge should be free.

What better investment could be made by the progressive people of Prince Edward county and the city of Belleville than a free bridge?

"Mother's Day" was also "Father's Day," with every pulpit in Toronto handing all the bouquets in sight to mother and all the brickbats to father, says the Toronto Telegram.

Why should the people of Prince Edward county be penalized when they wish to visit Belleville by being obliged to pay bridge tolls? Modern progress and business common sense demand a free bridge.

Master barbers in Montreal have raised the price of haircuts to thirty-five cents, and the journeymen barbers feel so good about it they demand an increase in wages of two dollars per week. The master barbers feel they are getting trimmed too soon after "going over the top."

WOMAN WORKS 15 HOURS A DAY

Marvelous Story of Woman's Change from Weakness to Strength by Taking Druggist's Advice.

Peru, Ind.—"I suffered from a displacement with backache and dragging down pains. I was so badly that at times I could not lie on my feet and it did not seem as though I could stand it. I tried different medicines without benefit and several doctors told me nothing but an operation would do me any good. My druggist said me to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and take it. I took it with the result that I am well and strong. I get up in the morning of fore I dress, do my housework, then go to a factory and work all day, come home and get supper and feel good. I don't know how many of my friends I have told what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—Mrs. Lena Mettinger, 36 West 10th St., Peru, Ind.

Women who suffer from any such ailments should not fail to try this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Silks Have Borders, Vogue Says.

Among the new silks displayed in the shops bordered designs of the most aggressive sort have suddenly made their appearance. They are bordered pongee carrying a broad band of bizarre cubistic flowers, which are amazingly ugly in design but usually good in color.

Foulards with black or blue grounds show bold but really good looking border designs in white. These are in the wedge or festoon shaped motifs which spray far up onto the breath of silk. One interesting pattern shows a striking oval interlaced festoon of white polka dots in muted shades.

Does Not Affect Charity.

The desire of power in excess causes the angels to fall; the desire of knowledge in excess causes men to fall; but in charity there is no excess, neither can angel or man come in danger by it.

Wit and Money.

While money will take you a long way, it won't always bring you back. Wit will not only take you most anywhere, but also bring you back. Or the two it's the better. So get wit and "scission!

Coffee a Nutrient.

Coffee is not a stimulant pure and simple, but a very considerable nutrient. Justus Liebig proved that. Taking equal lots of men, working in the same mines, feeding one lot bread and meat, the other bread and coffee, and comparing results. The coffee drinkers did more work and came out in better shape than the meat eaters.

Strict Regulation.

Freeman was visiting at his grandpa's home, and as he was a mischievous little chap, was constantly being told, "Don't do this," and "Don't do that." Finally, with a look of disgust on his face, he climbed up into a chair and asked, seriously, "What can a fella do in this house, anyway?"

An Enterprising Office Boy.

A foreign book contains an interesting anecdote that Baron de Reuter told to the author. "I had just made a start in London," said the founder of the famous news agency, "and had gone to eat a modest lunch, when my little office boy, who had left me but where to find me, rushed in breathlessly to say that a gentleman had called to see me—a foreign-looking gentleman, he added.

"Why did you let him go?" I exclaimed. "I would have come round at once to see him."

"Please, sir, I didn't," was the reply. "He is still at the office. I've locked him in."

Belgium makes haste to send out a report that the British naval raid on Ostend was a failure. Quite, only Germans war reports can be measured if we are willing to believe the weird fiction which Berlin passes out as real war news. Even if Berlin was occupied by the Allies the truthful Hun would report that the evacuation was a great German victory.

Favorite corners for telling newspapers in Toronto are held much the same as staking a mining claim, by right of discovery and midst of delay to hold the claim from would-be jumpers. Toronto dailies are going to do some claim jumping and evict a number of aliens who are monopolizing the best corners, replacing them with Britishers, giving preference to cripples, blind men, and disabled returned soldiers.

Flight Captain James Norman Hall, one of the best known and most daring of American aviators in the war zone, is among the missing. Capt. Hall is the author of "Kitchener's Mob," one of the outstanding contributions to the war, and his many friends and admirers feel that he will still report "all's well." Capt. Hall was reported as missing after being engaged in a thrilling aerial battle in which three American planes fought with four Germans and sent two of the latter to the ground in a crippled condition. The missing aviator's home is in Colfax, Iowa.

PLANT LICE

Plant lice are the enemies of almost all kinds of vegetables. Some of these such as "Aphis" and "Green Fly." They attack and destroy vegetables at an appropriate date, living solely on the juice which they suck from the plants. They multiply rapidly and should be controlled before they cause the leaves to curl or the stems to wither.

Vegetable plants cannot iproduce crops of value if they are allowed to become weakened as a result of the attack of plant lice. They make their appearance early in the season and As soon as they are noticed the plants should be sprayed either with whale-oil soap (one pound dissolved in six gallons of warm water) or commercial nicotine sulphate (40 per cent) as sold by several manufacturers—according to the cans. Half a pound of laundry soap should be dissolved in every ten gallons of water.

ROOT MAGGOTS

If you are planting cut cabbages and cauliflowers this season they should be protected from root maggot attack by placing around the stems a dite made of tarred paper about 3 inches square. For small gardens, square discs may be cut with a sharp knife. These should be 2½ inches by 2½ inches, and the cut may start from one side to about a quarter of an inch beyond the centre and a straight cut made at right angles forming one-quarter of an inch in either side. The discs should be placed around the plants immediately after planting and set out. In placing the disc one side is raised sufficiently to allow the parts of the star at the end of the cut to be point upwards and thus fit close to the stem.

The whole disc is then pressed down firmly so that it will rest evenly on the ground and prevent the adult flies reaching the stem near the earth to lay their eggs from which the maggots develop.

Refugee States From Police.

The "gratitude" of some people who found shelter in an East London police station was shown in the form of stealing a new broom and some enameled mugs. Another police station they made a clock, two pairs of boots and some provisions, and damaged some furniture. At one of the town halls where the public has been allowed to overflow into the police court precincts the Old Testament was purloined, and in a public library several volumes were stolen from the Globe.

Such a Contrast.

Travelers who enjoy reading on a railway journey will appreciate this story.

A passenger wanted to read, but a fellow traveler would persist in trying to talk. After several brief replies the reader became disgusted.

"The grass is very green, isn't it?" said the pleasant young man.

"Yes," was the curt reply; "such a change from the time sad red grass we've been accustomed to!"

Italians Publish Magazine.

La, the poor Italian has finally entered the realm of literature, and has found a dignified vehicle in the American Italian Magazine, published quarterly at Cooperstown, N.Y., and devoted to race progress. It is managed by the publishing committee of the Society of American Italians. Heretofore the remnant of American Italians has had no literature and no continuous journal which was devoted exclusively to the interests of the unfortunate inhabitants of this country.

Boys for Farms.

Announcement is made by the Canada Food Board that as a result of the enrolment week for the Soldiers of the Soil, over 20,000 boys have been secured in Ontario and the four Western provinces. If Quebec and the Eastern provinces do as well, 25,000 boys would be available as workers on Canadian farms. In eight years in Ontario alone 100 per cent. of the High School and College lads were enrolled. The Province of Ontario returns show that there will be a total of 16,700 boys for that province alone.

Building-up for the Spring Attack is the Proof to a good deal like getting the body in condition for an invasion of the germs of grip, pneumonia or "Spring fever" here at home.

At the time of the year most people suffer from a condition often called "Spring Fever. They feel tired, worn out, before the day is half thru. They have dull, heavy headaches and sometimes "pimply" or pale skin and thin flesh. The reason for this is that during the wintertime, shut up within doors, the system has been fed too little green vegetables, one heaps feel into the stomach which is not burned up and the clinkers remain to poison the system—a clogging up of the circulation—with inactive liver and kidneys. Time to put your house in order!

For an invigorating tonic which will clarify the blood, put new life in the body, sparkle in the eyes, and a wholesome skin, nothing does so well as a glycerol herb extract made from Golden Seal root, Blood and Stone root, Oregon grape root and Wild Cherry bark. This can be had in convenient, ready-to-take form at all drug stores, fifty cents, and has been sold for the past fifty years as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. By reason of the nerves feeding on the blood, which the blood is pure nerves feel the effect, and neuralgia or other nerve pains disappear because the blood is fed to the starved nerves for food. When suffering from backache, frequent or scanty urine, rheumatic pains here or there, or that tired-out, tired feeling, the simple way to overcome these disorders is merely to obtain Dr. Pierce's Anuric from your druggist.

CROPS ARE INCREASED

Quicklime for Heavy Soils, Ground Limestone for Light Soils.

SEPTIC TANK FOR THE FARM

Potatoes Should Be Treated This Year to Control Scab, as the Success of This Crop is of the Utmost Importance in the Greater Production Campaign.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

THE soils in many parts of the province are so depleted of their lime that they are becoming sour or acid. This is an important fact as few, if any, of our farm crops can make their best growth on a soil carrying an insufficient supply of lime. This is especially true of leguminous plants and it is probable that the frequent "killing out" of clover during the first winter is due to lack of sufficient lime.

Lime acts in several ways. It neutralizes the acids formed in the soil through the decay of organic matter; it overcomes the tenacity of clay soils, binds sands together and thus improves the physical condition of both types of soil. Lime is not only an essential constituent of the food of plants, but it also tends to liberate plant food, especially potash, from the insoluble forms in the soil, bringing them into an available state. The micro-organisms that live on the roots of the nitrogen-gathering plants cannot work in an acid soil, nor can some other forms of organisms whose function it is to convert nitrogen.

It requires about two tons of ground limestone rock to be equal to one ton of quick lime, and the price charged for them are in about the same proportion. Furthermore two tons of the former to one ton of the latter are about the right quantities to apply.

The ground limestone rock is safe on any land in almost any quantity, and may be applied at any time of the year. On heavy clay soils quick lime, slaked before applying, may give quicker results; but it should not be applied to light sandy soils. Few materials or fertilizers can be named many good things said about them as lime and none of them cost so little money. Try out a little yourself this year.—Prof. H. Harcourt, Ontario Agricultural College.

To Prevent Potato Scab.

For seed select smooth, sound potatoes, as free as possible from scab, and disinfect by soaking them before cutting for two hours in a solution made by adding half a pint of commercial formalin to 15 gallons of water. A couple of barrels will suffice in the case of a farmer who can be used to advantage in treating his seed. The potatoes can be placed directly in the solution or first put in crates or coarse sacks and then immersed.

After treatment spread the potatoes out on a clean floor or on the grass to dry. Wash all crates, bags, etc., which are used in handling the potatoes with the formalin solution. The same formalin solution can be used to treat successive lots of potatoes. Fifteen gallons is sufficient to treat from 12 to 15 bushels if ordinary precautions are taken not to waste too much of the fluid as each lot of tubers is dipped. If the potatoes are not all treated the same day it is better to add to or top-fresh formalin for each day's work.

Corrosive sublimate (mercuric chloride) can also be used to treat potatoes to prevent scab. One ounce cucut tubers for three hours in a solution of 2 ounces of corrosive sublimate to 25 gallons of water. Corrosive sublimate is a deadly poison, and potatoes treated with it are rendered unfit for food for man or animal.

Formalin is a clear liquid disinfectant, and a solution of pure formaldehyde gas and water. It can be purchased from almost any druggist. It is sold under the names of formalin and formaldehyde. It is a powerful germicide, but whatever name he buys it under, secured a guarantee that it is pure, for formaldehyde.

If possible plant the treated seed potatoes on clean soil, that is soil that has not grown potatoes for several years, heavy applications of barnyard manure favor the growth of scab, the potato crop, but if necessary give an extra dose of fertilizer when you plant potatoes after clover sod if possible. Avoid wood ashes.—Prof. J. E. Howitt, Ontario Agricultural College.

Septic Tank for Sewage Disposal.

This system consists ordinarily of a watertight concrete, brick or stone tank equipped with an inlet, overflow, and a dosing device, usually a siphon for emptying the tank of the liquid sewage that has come in there, and field of tile, called the "absorption bed," consisting of several lines of tile laid 12 to 24 in. land-tile laid with open joints, almost level, and shallow, and branching off from the main line of sewer pipe which connects the house with the tank. A rectangular house tank should be about 6 ft. wide, 10 ft. long, and 6 ft. deep, for 150 to 200 feet of land tile would require about 1,000 gallons daily. The effluent sewer tile is best for the main line of sewer pipe, which will depend upon the distance of the absorption bed from the tank.

If this system be properly installed it is a thoroughly safe and very satisfactory manner and without endangering the water supply. Complete plans in blue-print form for installing it may be obtained by addressing the Department of Physics, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, Ont.—E. H. Graham, B.S.A., Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, Ontario.

The same old COMFORT

Fishing On Vancouver Island

ALTHOUGH I had always looked upon British Columbia as one of the finest fishing countries in the world, it was not until I came to Vancouver Island I knew, that I fully realized how superlatively good it is.

Sport which would be considered excellent in the best district of Eastern Canada, we had at any time in dozens of streams and lakes on this island, and that, too, without it being incumbent on the fisherman to travel more than 40 or 50 miles from the railroad, which, by-the-way, is now a branch of the Canadian Pacific system, although still retaining its baptismal title of the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway. At anyone of a dozen points on this line, the sportsman who is not ambitious to do battle some of the really big fellows, can find excellent boat accommodation within walking distance of water, which, for the reasonably skilful fisherman may be relied upon to yield daily baskets of from three to six dozen speckled beauties, averaging all the way from ¾ of a pound to two pounds in weight, and when it comes to size and as game fish as can be found anywhere in the world.

There are many camping lots where the best of accommodations can be secured, and for the sportsman who is looking for sport can make no mistake if he start out from Victoria by train and drop off at any station at which he sights an inn.

Should he desire a somewhat more elaborate outfit, with an even greater diversity of sport, let him take an automobile and strike out inland. The simplest of camp equipment will suffice for such a trip during the summer time, and no difficulty will be experienced in obtaining freight and ample supplies of camp. The equipped out sportsman may easily penetrate to lakes and streams which are veritable an angler's paradise. His will, however, find that on some, if not most of the lakes, fishing will be all he practically barren of results. Here he will need to bring a canoe or an artificial minnow and he will be amply repaid for his visit of access, but in which cavort fish running from 3 to 10 pounds lordly fish which have known no other lure than the natural bait, and which are none the less as full of fight and sporting qualities as the more frequented and smaller brethren. Here may the true fisherman find the acme of real and difficult sport, that of landing a really big fish after a battle that perhaps covers a few hours duration, in the swirling, icy waters of a rapid and difficult stream.

This experience is not, however, for the many, unless one can cast a long line, light as the gossamer and with unerring accuracy, never a rise to the artificial fly will be had.

Let us suppose that our sportsman makes Victoria his headquarters. Leaving the capital he will soon come to some lovely little lakes where large baskets are caught almost every day in the proper season. The view of this water, known as the Sanich Arm, which is here shown, was taken from the roadway, several miles from the nearest house. Here it is really a land-locked arm of the sea, and provides splendid sport for all fishers who come from Victoria. Just a little further along can reached another fine stretch of water and grilse water known as Tod Inlet, which is an excellent sport to be had for the asking. Leaving the Inlet behind and travelling some half a dozen miles further up the line, one comes to the Shawnigan Lake station, from whence it is but a short ride to the lake itself. Here while domiciled in comfort at either one of the two excellent hotels to be be found on the lake shore, the very best of sport with lake trout which sometimes run as large as five and even ten pounds in weight, may be had, and that too in the midst of scenery which will appeal to anyone with even the most rudimentary love for the beauties of nature.

Eight miles further up the line Cowichan Lake is reached, and here will be found one of the most famous trout streams on the island. This lake is most conveniently situated from the town of Duncan, where the hotel accommodation is of the best. From this centre also a run of an hour's duration will take the angler to Cowichan Lake, where he is beginning to find ample opportunity for testing his skill to the uttermost. Excellent fishing may also be had in numberless small streams in this neighborhood, all making Duncan one's headquarters. The next jump will be one of rather greater magnitude, to Nanaimo, in fact, just over thirty miles, though the angler who has chosen to make the trip by car will find plenty of small streams occurring in the intervening section which will well repay his attention.

Having arrived at Nanaimo, the Nanaimo Lakes will first claim notice. They are not exactly easy of access, lying as they do some eight miles from the town, but there is a good road leading to them, though not as yet, in a fit state for motoring. As will be seen from the accompanying view of a morning's catch on this lake, there is no lack of fish here that, too, of goodly size. While at the two excellent hotels to be found on the lake shore, the very best of sport with lake trout which bring rise to Echo Lake, a sheet of water which is also well stocked with speckled trout, which will amply reward the angler for his pains in arriving thereat.

Returning to Nanaimo itself, the Millstone, which runs through the town, holds many a fine trout, stretches having frequently been caught here ranging up to 2 and 9 pounds in weight. The bay surrounding the coal city also provides splendid sport to the shape of fish to be taken in eadies. Excellent sport is also to be obtained in the lakes and streams of the upper and northern end of the island.—"Rod Spinner."

Swept The Enemy Off Their Feet

French Headquarters, May 14.—In connection with the recapture of the Grivesnes park the French headquarters of the southern end of the park and the Chateau Grivesnes through the battles of April, but the German established themselves at the northern end of the park and held the ridge commanding the two valleys with the roads running along them, which were their main means of access to the park.

The French captured the whole of the ridge with the smallest loss within a quarter of an hour, before the formidable German artillery and machine-gun fire now could come into play.

It is unlikely the Germans will attempt a further push towards Amiens along the Luce valley. They have more to gain by capturing the high ground of the Villers-Bretonneux-Dernancourt plateau, and so avoiding the marshes which form a natural barrier before Amiens on the western side.

DRINKS TO KAISER, GETS THIRTY YEARS

AYER, Mass., May 14.—Ernest Flentje, of Cambridge, a sergeant in the 301st Infantry at Camp Devens, was sentenced to thirty years' imprisonment at Fort Jay, New York, for unpatriotic utterances.

He was arrested at the cantonment on March 26 and tried by court-martial. Witnesses at the trial testified that Flentje had said President Wilson was incapable of standing the responsibility put upon him by the war; that this country had no business entering the war and that Germany could have won if the United States had kept out. Referring to the 69th Division here, witnesses said he declared that "if the German army ever saw 'this bowdy' they would laugh themselves to death."

Other witnesses told of the sergeant having invited persons to drink with him to the health of the German Emperor. Flentje denied the charges.

Personality Counts in the Air

WAR in the air as it is waged to-day recalls the days of chivalry, when knights rode forth to battle and won honor and glory by their deeds of personal heroism.

The life of an aviator is full of romance, action, adventure, opportunities for glorious achievement, everything that could stir the imagination of a valorous young man.

Men with nerve, courage and sound physique, are needed to maintain the supremacy of the air. There are hundreds of Canadians now training for Commissions in the service.

Young men in good health, and of fair education, are invited to enroll as cadets. While training they receive $1.10 per day.

Men who come within the provisions of the M.S.A. are eligible only after having joined their Depot Battalion, when they may, with the consent of their Commanding Officer, be discharged for re-enlistment in the R.F.C.

A Revelation

It Came After a Very Unpleasant Experience

By DONALD CHAMBERLIN

I was brought up with Agnes Atherton as my girl chum, for I believe that boys may have girl chums as well as boy chums. When we arrived at an age at which the sexes mate there was no change between Agnes and me from friendship to love.

This state of affairs continued between us until I became smitten with Lillian Gray, and the first person—the only person, in fact—to whom I confided the matter was Agnes.

When I told her of it I noticed a slight contraction of the muscles of the face.

"You don't approve?" I said.

"I neither approve nor disapprove," she replied.

"Well?"

"A choice made by one in love is a love choice, not the result of judgment. You have, I dare say, chosen through love, and even if I knew Lillian Gray well enough to make a judgment closing for you it would avail nothing, for you would not think of abiding by it. Indeed, I would not expect you to abide by it."

"Nevertheless I perceive that you are not especially pleased with the girl who has charmed me."

"Nor displeased with her. You have not asked me to pick out a wife for you."

"If I had you would not have picked out Lillian."

"There is nothing to her discredit in that. Suppose I should fail to love with a man, then ask you to pick out a husband for me. Do you suppose you would select the man I had chosen?"

"No, I wouldn't," I essayed.

I could not define even now exactly what it was in her question that caused me irritation. I supposed at the time I was entirely because Agnes did not show any enthusiasm over my sweetheart. My words ended the discussion, and we proceeded to other subjects.

The withholding of Agnes' approval or disapproval for that matter—caused me to defer a proposal of marriage for some time to the girl who had enthralled me. I did not relish marrying any girl over whom my chum was not enthusiastic. Indeed, I would have liked Agnes to love her as well as I. In a subsequent conversation with Agnes on the subject after I had become engaged to Lillian I told her this; and her reply was that there was no more reason why she should love my particular girl because I loved her than that I should love any particular man because she loved him.

"That's all bosh," I exclaimed. "Men don't love men."

This was the second time that I was irritated at a remark of Agnes concerning my affair, and a second time it ended a discussion of the subject.

Another matter troubled me. I was not approved by Lillian's parents. But there was an especial reason for this. They wished their daughter to marry a wealthy man. I was doing pretty well and had some prospects, but that did not satisfy Mr. and Mrs. Gray. Their aim for Lillian was an establishment. She had an excellent position in society, which they desired her to keep up after marriage, and they were well aware that this would require a fortune independent of anything they could give her.

I did not blame Lillian for being distressed at their opposition. A very strong love for me on her part was required to induce her to give up a life to which she had always been accustomed, in opposition to her parents' wishes. I saw plainly that a struggle was going on within her, and after deliberation I offered to release her. She declined to be released. I told her that if she felt a reluctance to leave the gay world she would never her own interests as well as mine by accepting a release, for no couple could be happy together when one was pining for the unattainable. She replied that she could get and would not give me up.

But the matter dragged. Her parents would not give their consent to our marriage, and since Lillian did not like to marry me without it there seemed to be no prospect of any outcome. At last I told her that she must do one thing or the other, either marry me or break with me, and after much deliberation, in which I detected as much unwillingness to give up the fashionable world as to act contrary to the wishes of her parents, she decided to marry me. But she stipulated that our wedding must be without the knowledge of her parents. We would go to a clergyman, be married, she would return to her home, confess what she had done and secure forgiveness, after which we would live together as man and wife.

I did not like this plan at all. I urged Lillian to do nothing secretly. She replied that she knew her parents better than I and would better judge what course was best to pursue with them. I told her that anything else destine was foreign to my nature and frankly confessed that I would prefer to give her up than act underhandedly. She burst into tears. Every one knows what woman's tears will do with a man. Smiles will drow him to the edge of a moral precipice; tears will drag him over.

One afternoon I called with my car on Lillian, ostensibly to take her for a drive, really to get her alone so I could ask her to elope and be married. She had recently returned from a month's visit to friends at Bessie Angell, and desired that she be present at the ceremony. She claimed that there should be witnesses, and asked my friend Arnold Brown to be of the party. Then two were to elope to at the ceremony.

Lillian was trembling when she entered the car. On the way she said nothing to me, and when I spoke to her she replied by monosyllables. I realized that she was not in a condition of sufficient equability to take the most important step in a woman's life.

"There is yet time," I said. "To refrain from this step."

"No," she replied faintly. "I am going through with it."

I was half minded to stop the motor where it was, but when we are half minded we are as liable to decide wrong as right. I drove on to the parsonage and pulled up before the door.

"Go in," she said, "and see if they are all there, that none back out."

"Hadn't you better go in with me?" I asked.

"No; I won't be married without Bess."

Always persuaded to what I did not approve of, I went to the front door, rang the bell and was admitted. I found Arnold Brown waiting for me, but no Bessie Angell. Stepping to the telephone, I called up her home and asked for her. She came to the telephone, and I asked her why she was not at the parsonage. She replied that she had not been certain from what Lillian had said to her when they had last met whether the wedding would come off or not. To this I expressed surprise. After a dialogue, very unsatisfactory to me, it was agreed that she should hold the wire while I went out to Lillian, and if I returned with a request from her friend to come to the parsonage she would come at once. Setting down the receiver, I ran out to the car.

It was where I had left it, but no Lillian.

My heart went down like lead. I looked in every direction, though not expecting to see her. Flight was a fitting climax to the vacillation she had shown. I stood on the street, wondering what to do.

When we are in a hole we instantly turn to something or some one to pull us out. I thought of Agnes Atherton. My own judgment had been led so far astray by Lillian that I could not at once get to it without some effort. I didn't know what to do about Arnold Brown. I shrank from telling him. I had been left in the lurch by one I was about to make my life partner. Returning to him, I said:

"Arnold, there is a hitch; wait here till I straighten it out."

He saw that I was flurried and told me to go alone as he would rather not share till the crack of doom. Hurrying out, I drove to Agnes' home, and fortunately I found her there.

I told her the whole story.

"I thought you myself as a sofa, and she sat down beside me, taking my hand in hers soothingly.

"It was all in vain," she said, "that there is nothing for you to do but tell the truth to your friend, Mr. Brown, and that will end the matter."

"I dare say you're right, but I would rather do a six months' term in state prison than confess to him that I have been such a fool."

I stopped short, and for a few moments there was silence between us, at the end of which Agnes asked:

"Has Mr. Brown ever seen—"

"Lillian? No."

"I'll tell you what I'll do for you. You seem all cut up, and I would like to help you out. My law of action is the inland. I will go with you to the parsonage, marry you, and we will have the marriage annulled at our leisure."

Never in so short a space of time was a revelation made to any human being. Here was a woman, worthy of the devotion of the best man living, whom I had turned down for the weakest. It all came upon me with sledgehammer force. Crying Agnes to my arms, I said:

"If you never be annulled with my consent."

Hastening to a phone, I called up the parsonage for Arnold and said:

"The tangle is unraveled. I and the bride will be with you presently."

In less than half an hour Agnes and I were in the parsonage. I introduced her to Brown; then the clergyman was called from his study and performed the wedding ceremony, neither he nor the single witness suspecting that in a twinkling Agnes was to be replaced in the bride.

After the ceremony there were still several hours before the end of the day, and I drove my wife into the country. What passed between us could not be condensed within a few words. I would not, and even if I did it were possible. We settled our mutual affairs to the satisfaction of both. Agnes confessed before our return that when I told her of my engagement I gave her a shock since she had always wished me for herself. And so it turned out that instead of getting a girl who was not worthy of me I got one of whom I was not worthy. We arranged our affairs so that no one would be shocked at the hastiness of our marriage and to due time appeared before the world as man and wife.

Lillian Gray is married to a very wealthy man. Whether or not she regrets me I don't know, but I doubt if she realized the weakness she displayed in her relations with me. Agnes says that Lillian is so wrapped in the world of fashion that she doubtless looks upon her affair with me as a narrow escape from a very foolish move, a move that would have condemned her to a humdrum life.

NUJOL LABORATORIES,
STANDARD OIL COMPANY (New Jersey)
BAYONNE, NEW JERSEY.

Dear Sirs:

I take pleasure in advising you that the relief I have obtained from the use of Nujol is far more than what is ordinarily termed "satisfactory."

For years before sending you my order for a trial bottle of Nujol I habitually used "cathartics" pink pills" due to the fact that through lack of proper exercise I was continually constipated and a sufferer from other ailments known to result only from irregular bowel-action. I have taken those bottles of Nujol, and ever since I finished the first bottle my bowel action has been as regular as the rising sun, and my general physical condition is now as good as can be wished for.

In my opinion Nujol is a scientific cure for constipation and its countless other resultant ailments. I earnestly recommend it.

Springfield, Ill. Yours truly,

Don't dread constipation; but don't neglect it. It's the poisonous root of scores of serious ailments. Do exactly what this man did: bring back regular bowel-habits with Nujol. Nujol gives you the quick relief you want without the least griping or reaction. Thousands know it is the safest remedy, for the body cannot absorb it. Quit using harmful pills and salts. To Relieve Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or head noises you can generally get relief at once by one of Parmint (double strength) and add ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 2 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus also dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Any one who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

Letters from Overseas

"FRITZ'S LAST KICK"

Mrs. W. J. Carter, 8 Isabel Street, received the following letter in answer to a note found in a pair of socks sent by the West Belleville War Workers:

Dear Mrs. Carter:—Just a line thanking you and Miss Carter for the socks. The sergeant's cook happened to get the pair which contained your note and not being a very efficient lecturer asked me if I would write you a few lines to show that we boys appreciate your kindness in making us as comfortable as circumstances permit. Cor. Sgt. Maj. A. E. Brown, D. C. M., M. and Can. Machine Gun Bn., France. You will think it strange of me putting my address in such a place, but a certain army regulation says we are to put it in the body of the text.

It is good to know that the people at home are thinking of us at all times, but I think some people are under the impression that a soldier's life in France is nothing but flapdabps. Of course, we have some hardships in the line, but everybody seems soon to forget these as soon as they are out for a rest and are going to picture shows and concerts that are provided for the troops.

There is not much that a soldier wants for; in fact, things are getting down to such a fine point, that it is getting to be just like going to business, and once a fellow gets over as soon gets used to all the little things that does not appeal to him in civilian life.

Well, I guess everybody is watching the papers pretty close now. Fritz has certainly advanced, as you see by the papers, but his losses have been enormous, and I believe it is his last kick. All our head officers seem to be pleased with the result, and believe me as the saying goes, the spirit of the troops is great.

Well, I must draw to a close. Thanking you again for all the boys.

I remain, Madam,
A. E. BROWN.

MAJOR EDWARDS DEAD.

Mr. E. T. Austin, superintendent of the city waterworks department, received a telegram yesterday apprising him of the death in France of Major H. H. Edwards, of Brockville. Major Edwards was one of the most popular officers of the 155th Leeds and Grenville Battalion, which he accompanied to England on account of his exceptional military attainments. Major Edwards was appointed an instructor at the British military training camp, but was determined to go to the firing line and reverted in rank to that duty, going to France with the rank of Captain, which in itself shows that his military abilities were of a high order, and by the imperial military authorities. A few days ago Major Edwards was taken ill with appendicitis and was taken to a clearing hospital where his death occurred. He leaves a wife in Brockville.

Y. M. C. A. DRIVE

A campaign to raise $6,000 for the Belleville Y.M.C.A. was started in this city this morning, and over forty canvassers were busily engaged taking subscriptions for this worthy object. Last night at the Y.M.C.A. auditorium the canvassers and a few others interested in the work were entertained to a tea, which was presided over by the energetic band of ladies who are members of the Y.M.C.A. auxiliary. The spread provided was all that could have been desired, and it is needless to state was thoroughly enjoyed. In the absence of the President of the Association, Mr. H. Ackerman, Vice-President, presided over the gathering, and briefly outlined the object of the assembly, and also gave some instructions to the canvassers. Mr. H. V. Sinclair delighted all present when he announced that, he had already secured two subscriptions of $500 each, and nine of $100 each towards $2,000 aimed at by large subscriptions. Rev. Dr. Scott, pastor of Bridge Street Methodist being called upon, gave an excellent and inspiring talk upon Y. M. C. A. work. Brief addresses were also given by others who were present. The canvassers were abroad at an early hour this morning and the prospects are bright for securing the amount aimed at.

A Simple Way To Remove Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove "dandruff" at once, and that is to dissolve it. Then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and dizzing of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

Trapper Murdered While Hunting

PEMBROKE, Ont., May 15.—Jacko Commanda, a trapper belonging to the Indian reserve at Golden Lake, was murdered on Thursday last while out hunting in company with his youthful son, about 28 miles from the reserve. Police of the County of Renfrew are at present searching for a clue to the assasin. An inquest was held at the reserve yesterday and a verdict returned that Commanda met his death by a bullet fired from an unknown source. Commanda was 68 years of age.

Three years ago another of his sons was killed three miles from the spot where the father was shot by a policeman's rifle as he was attempting to escape from a posse attempting to arrest him on charge of murdering Turnkey Cuxford, of the Pembroke Jail.

Felix Commanda, aged 17, who was hunting with his father, stated that a bullet fired from an unknown source, about 28 miles from the spot where the father was shot by a policeman's rifle as he was attempting to escape from a posse attempting to arrest him on charge of murdering Turnkey Cuxford, of the Pembroke Jail.

3-Year Prisoners May Be Exchanged

Britain and Germany Likely to Complete Agreement on Equal Basis

LONDON, May 15.—Lord Newton, Parliamentary Under-Secretary to the Foreign Office announced in the House of Lords that in view of the agreement reached between France and Germany for the exchange of men who had been prisoners of war for 18 months, which he believed involved civilian and military prisoners numbering altogether 250,000 on both sides, the British Government had consented to reconsider the question of the exchange of prisoners, both combatant and civilian, who had been in Germany for three years.

If such an agreement could be concluded, he said, it would put an end to the extreme hardships these men have undergone, and would not be a bad bargain, as the numbers exchanged would be approximately equal.

Young Desperado Sent to Kingston

Girl Wife Remained Devoted to im Despite His Record—Plea of Insanity

TORONTO, May 16.—Six years to the Kingston Penitentiary was the sentence passed in the County Criminal Court by Judge Winchester on John Roberts, the "gunman" who shot with intent at Detectives Stewart and Crossin while they were taking him into the City Hall last fall to interrogate him concerning the theft of some furs. Roberts made a daring get-away by jumping on a passing automobile and with a revolver at the driver's head ordered him to drive like Jehu, which the driver did until he persuaded Roberts to alight in Queen's Park. Some time later Roberts was arrested in London, Ont.

T. C. Robinette, the gunman's counsel, advanced the argument that Roberts was insane, and asked that the man be committed to the Asylum for the Insane at Hamilton. He called Dr. Arthur Johnson, who described Roberts as a moron, with intelligence equal only to that of a twelve-year-old boy, and one who could easily be swayed to a rogue. The doctor also recommended control in an asylum, and admitted that Roberts would shoot anyone if told to do it.

Roberts' record of laws transgressed was a lengthy and bad one. Shortly before the time of the shooting he escaped from Burwash.

Judge Winchester thought the penitentiary was the best place for such a character, and if the doctors there also termed him insane Roberts could then be sent to an asylum for the insane.

In the whole of the miserable case there was only one bright spot, and that was revealed by the devotion of the gunman's wife, who was in court. She run away from her father's home to Toronto, where as waitress in a restaurant she first met Roberts, who, she said, was the first man outside her home who had been kind to her. She fell in love with him, and though she knew of his wicked past and the long term of punishment that inevitably lay ahead of him, she married him. This was much against the wishes of her parents, who had selected as her husband the son of a wealthy farmer near her own home.

When Roberts was arrested her people took her home. Hearing that her husband was to be sentenced this week, she stole away from her home, but the police had been warned by her parents to stop her at Toronto and send her back without seeing her husband, but the girl wife declined to go back, and finally was permitted to stay in the city under the care of a relative. Mrs. Roberts was the first in court yesterday, and long after the court had risen she waited patiently at the north entrance to the City Hall in the hope that she might catch one more glimpse of the man she loved as he passed out to begin his six-year sentence.

Inquest At Cobourg Into Auto Fatality

COBOURG, May 16.—The inquest into the fatal toll-gate accident on Sunday morning, five miles from here, in which the gatekeeper, John Packard, lost his life, was continued last night. The report sent to the Toronto press that Port Hope to the effect that the car which struck the old man was occupied by James Rooney, representing the Salada Tea Company, and E. Plunkett, of Cobourg, was not correct. Mr. Rooney, who is now with Messrs. Carlaw and Sons, chartered accountants, Toronto, was miles from the scene of the accident.

The car was occupied by Arnold Plunkett, coal dealer and vessel owner of Cobourg, and his brother, Wilfred Plunkett, student at St. Jerome's College, Kitchener, who was home for the holidays. They left Cobourg at 6 a.m. for Peterborough to be present at the ceremonies of the ordination to the priesthood which were to take place at the cathedral there, and as they passed up at the toll-gates they allege they saw no one, and, thinking all was too early for the gatekeeper, started on, when suddenly the old man appeared from the ditch and was struck by the car before they could halt.

Fresh troops are still holding hill 44 which they recaptured Tuesday although the Germans are making terrific onslaughts seeking to recover the position.

HARD FIGHTING FOR HILL 44
GALLANTLY STORMED BY FRENCH

GERMANS DESPERATE EFFORTS TO RECOVER HILL

ARTILLERY ACTIONS FOR THE MOST PART ON FLANDERS FRONT — HILL 44 ONLY CENTRE OF UNUSUAL INTEREST —POSITION HAS CHANGED HANDS SEVERAL TIMES— GERMANS DRIVEN OUT BY FRENCH IN GALLANT CHARGE MAKE DESPERATE EFFORTS TO REGAIN POSITION— BRITISH IN SUCCESSFUL RAIDS CAPTURE PRISONERS.

Special Despatches to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, May 16.—Artillery was active last night in the valleys of the Somme and Ancre rivers, east of Arras and on the Flanders battlefields, the war office reports. Our troops raided the enemy's trenches last night in the neighborhood of Gavrelle, northeast of Arras, and captured some prisoners. There is nothing further to report.

HUN RAIDERS DRIVEN OFF.

PARIS, May 16.—Artillery actions occurred last night on the French front southeast of Amiens, in the Hailles-Castel sectors, says today's war office statements. West of Montdidier a German raiding detachment was driven off. The French took prisoners in patrol operations north of Ailette.

With the British Army in France, May 16.—Hard fighting continued yesterday in the neighborhood of Hill 44, north of Kemmell, which was stormed and retaken by French troops. This much disputed elevation has changed hands many times recently, but the French were still holding the German off at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Thus, this little rising ground from a valley-looped Flemish plain about it had suddenly come to occupy an important place in the annals of the fighting in this section of the front, although thus far it has never even been dignified with a name other than that contained in the figures indicating its height.

Its value lies in the fact that it dominates considerable territory, and for this reason has been a thorn in the flesh of the ambitious Germans, and it is believed that they want it to facilitate their next attack in this region, which looks fair to come before long.

A renewal of the German offensive on a big scale has so far not materialized. There has been an increase in the hostile artillery fire at numerous points from the northern to the southern end of the battle front, and a break in the present lull may be expected at any time.

Canadians Must Cut Out Luxuries Says Finance Minister

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

TORONTO, May 16.—"As a people we are consuming too much, not only of luxuries, but of many other articles. We are spending too freely for ornaments, musical instruments and other means of amusement and pleasure. All this counts, using up our trade balance with the outside world, and places our dollar at a discount. If the rate of exchange between Canada and the United States is to be kept normal and our Canadian dollar discounted at par internationally, much greater economy on the part of our people is necessary."

This is the warning given to all Canada by her Finance Minister, Sir Thomas White, who arrived here today, fresh from his financial congress in Washington and New York, where he talked in terms of hundreds of millions of dollars with financial heads of the United States Government and others who control the money markets of the country.

Sir Thomas seems to be quite fit after ten weeks in the United States, where he became profoundly impressed with the spirit of enthusiasm and confidence in connection with the prosecution of the war shown by the people of the Republic all the way from New York to California.

Britain To Exchange Prisoners Both Combatant And Civilian

Hun Baltic Fleet Called To Kiel

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press Limited

LONDON, May 16.—The entire German Baltic fleet, except a few light cruisers, was recalled last week to Kiel where important naval forces are being concentrated, says a despatch from Hamburg transmitted by the correspondent of the Daily Express.

Canada Will Get More Big Contracts

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press Limited

TORONTO, May 16.—Sir Thos. says that he had a conference with the British War Mission in U. S. and expected more big contracts for Canada in munitions and other war supplies. Arrangements were also made for the issue of Canadian securities in New York.

No Change Needed In High Command

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press Limited

LONDON, May 16.—Reports that were in circulation to the effect that a change was impending in the high command of the British army in France were denied in the House of Commons today by the Chancellor Bonar Law, spokesman for the War Cabinet. Replying to question Bonar Law said that no change in command had taken place, nor was any in contemplation.

Russians May Resume Fighting

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press Limited

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Copy of the protest made by the Soviet government to the German Minister of Foreign Affairs on April 26 against German aggression, made public today by State Dep't, shows that the Bolsheviki gave notice of their intention to mobilize all necessary forces in order to secure freedom and the independence of Russia republic which is now menaced beyond the limits established by the Brest treaty.

Peace Proposals Must be Honest

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press Limited

LONDON, May 16.—Great Britain is prepared to consider peace proposals from the enemy, provided they are put forward by accredited persons in a straightforward manner, Foreign Secretary Balfour declared today in the House of Commons. "If any representative of any belligerent country desires seriously to lay before us any proposals," he said, "we are ready to listen to them." The British government was desirous of the honorable termination of war, he added, but the peace moves of the central powers heretofore made had not been in the interest of fair and honorable peace.

HUNS STRIP PRISONERS AND LET THEM PERISH.

Washington, May 16—Italian prisoners in Austria are subjected to horrible outrages, a despatch to the Italian Embassy from Rome today says.

"Never in the history of the civilized world have such outrages been registered," it says. "The whole thing seems to be a systematic effort on the part of Austria to destroy the manhood of Italy. Austria is endeavoring in every possible way to surpass in cruelty and ferocity all of her accomplices."

The despatch says Italian prisoners have been stripped and left without food or care if wounded. Most of them die of hunger and of plague.

Tuberculosis is raging and thousands of consumptives fill the concentration camps.

Aerial Mail Routes Now Open In U.S.

Aviators are Carrying Thousands Of Letters Between New York Philadelphia and Washington

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Airplane mail service between Washington and New York went into operation yesterday when the first mail carrier, piloted by Lieut. George L. Boyle, left Potomac Park for Philadelphia at 11.45 o'clock. President and Mrs. Wilson witnessed the initial start.

The airplane that left Washington was forced to descend at Waldorf, Md. The plane landed with a broken propeller, which disabled it for further service.

The plane from Philadelphia, piloted by Lieut. Edgerton, reached Washington at 2.50 o'clock p. m. It brought 7,000 letters.

REACHED PHILADELPHIA

PHILADELPHIA, May 16.—Airplane mail service, under the direction and authority of the U. S. Government, was instituted yesterday over a regular route for the first time in this country, with Philadelphia as the center point of the system.

The pioneer plane of the service arrived from Washington at the landing place here at 1.09 p. m.

In six minutes the 350 pounds of mail brought here was taken out and shifted to another airplane, some mail from Philadelphia had been added, and at 1.06 o'clock, with Lieut. Boyle at the pilot, the start for Washington approximately 110 miles distant, was made. The mail brought from New York for Philadelphia was placed in a high-powered motor truck and hurried to the Philadelphia Post Office.

FALL WHEAT HALF KILLED

OTTAWA, May 16—The Census and Statistics Office issued a report on the area and condition of fall wheat, the condition of hay and clover meadows, and the progress of spring seeding, as compiled from the reports of crop correspondents at the end of April.

The winter killing of fall wheat in Ontario is reported as especially severe. It is estimated to amount to 56 per cent., which reduces the acreage under this crop in Ontario from 620,200 acres, as sown last fall to 277,200 acres, the area to be harvested. This is the largest proportion of fall wheat winter-killed in Ontario, and the lowest acreage left for harvesting since the records were begun in 1900. In Alberta the percentage of winter-killed is estimated at 10 per cent., thus reducing the 55,200 acres the area of fall wheat sown last fall. For the whole of Canada the area sown, viz., 711,600 acres, is reduced by 25 per cent., to 534,670 acres. The condition of fall wheat on April 30 is also the lowest on record, viz., 82 per cent., representing the average condition on April 30 for the nine years 1909 to 1917, the condition of fall wheat in Canada on April 30, 1918, indicates a yield per acre of 71 per cent., or 29 per cent. below the average of the past nine years.

Hay and Clover Very Good.

About 11 per cent of the area under hay and clover is reported as winter-killed, as compared with 9 per cent. last year. The condition on percentage of the standard representing a full crop is 84 for all Canada, as compared with 86 last year. For the Provinces the percentages are as follows: Maritime Provinces, 92.26; Quebec, 90; Ontario, 78; Manitoba, 76; Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, 90.93.

Didn't Know It Was Loaded Bullet Struck Trenton Girl

(From our own correspondent)

TRENTON, May 15.—A shooting accident occurred on West Street, Trenton, about eight o'clock on Tuesday night. It appeared that a number of young fellows gathered around Sam Fenger's store were examining and fooling with a revolver, when one had put in a cartridge and the apparent owner, a young man of about seventeen, by name of Vanrathenhoven, not being aware that it was loaded, later exploded it, the bullet striking Miss Flynn, who was standing nearby, just below the knee. Medical aid was at once summoned and the bullet which had embedded itself in the flesh was removed. Although a very painful injury no serious results are anticipated.

The patriotic dance given by the Daughters of the Empire in Quinte Hall was well attended and a decided success. Belleville, Brighton and other places were well represented by ladies and gentlemen.

Canadian Premier No Trimmer Bold Enough To Be Honest

Met Farmers Delegation In A Frank And Truthful Manner With No Side-Stepping—Many Messages Of Congratulation At Firm Stand—Opposition Seeks To Make Political Capital

OTTAWA, May 16.—That the countless appreciatory approves of the firm stand taken by the Prime Minister in refusing to modify military manpower regulations so as to exempt agricultural labor, is being made strikingly evident by scores of telegrams which are pouring in from all of the provinces, writes the Parliamentary correspondent of the Toronto News. From the west, in particular, Sir Robert's attitude is being strongly approved; the position taken by the United Farmers of Alberta apparently expresses the overwhelming sentiment of the plains. Western members to-day stated that they are receiving no complaints from their farmer constituents, but, on the other hand, are in receipt of many messages advising them to stand behind the Government.

House Is Unanimous

So far as the House of Commons is concerned, the Unionist members with o full knowledge of the military situation, as revealed at the recent secret session of Parliament, are practically unanimous in the opinion that the Prime Minister took the only course possible under the circumstances. There are one or two exceptions, a few Conservative Nationalists from Quebec rural ridings, men who have evidently been stampeded by the formidable array of agriculturists who invaded the capital yesterday.

While, however, the Government is being strongly supported in the stand, their is a feeling even among its supporters that them should be some method devised of meeting cases of extreme hardship, providing this can be done without opening up the question of general exemptions. It is known that the Government has this under advisement.

Opposition Seizes Advantage

So far as the Opposition is concerned, they are making no attempt to conceal their delight over the turn of events. Leading Laurier Liberals endeavored to make the most of the situation, and it was chiefly as a result of domagogic speeches by French Canadian anti-conscriptionists supporters of Laurier that the futile attempt was made by the farmers to invade the House of Commons.

Austrian Naval Base Raided Battle Ship Torpedoed by Italians

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

ROME, May 16.—(Official)—An Austrian battleship was torpedoed by Italian navy forces in Pola harbor early Tuesday morning. It was a Viribus Unitis type, twenty thousand ton vessel. The Italian force worked its way into the Austrian naval base by dodging the patrol boats and searchlights of the defenders. Two Austrian battleplanes were brought down and several others compelled to descend out of control. The Italian forces all returned safely.

TOM SAWYER AND HUCKLEBERRY FINN

Quality program of photoplays at Griffin's and the Palace for the last half of the week.

Remember the old cemetery, and the swimming hole, and the cave that Tom and Rebecca got lost in? Oh, Miss, weren't those the happy days. Suppose you live right all over again. All of the Mark Twain heroes are in this picture, the greatest treat for all the grown-ups and youngsters' kids. It's your best chance to live the old days again. Come, put on your hat and hie to Griffin's to-night, Friday or Saturday. Tom will be with us three days and no one will miss him.

In taking this great picture the company went right to Hannibal, Missouri to get the proper locations, and Jack Pickford licked the boy and stole the jam and he and Huck Finn ran away together and returned only in time to attend their own funeral services, thus avoiding the well deserved thrashings.

On the same program will be seen Gladys Brockwell in a good five part photoplay entitled "The Moral Law," also with the Griffin Screen Telegram showing the world's happenings in films.

A big special matinee on Saturday morning at Griffin's for the children.

AT THE PALACE

Mabel Normand is appearing in a fine photoplay entitled "The Floor Below." Look at this, girls: suppose that you were working in a newspaper office morning a small salary, thing no interest in anything particular, when all of a sudden, through a scrap you find this, maybe, who offers advice and love, you through the Woman's Page of a big daily paper, you are called to get out of the office and go to mission for tramps and trace out a band of crooks that have been giving the police a heap of trouble, should you make good and detect the crooks and win a good position on the paper, or just try your luck and if you did not succeed nay, I should worry? If you want to find out the clever way that beautiful Mabel Normand used her brains to win the position you must see "The Floor Below" at the Palace Thursday to Saturday.

ART CHARLEBOIS.

Showing how the name of noteworthy engineers is being painted on the insignia of C. P. R. locomotives.

No new policy undertaken of recent years by the C. P. R. has received such widespread expression of approval as that of naming engineers' locomotives after the engineers, who by reason of their fine service of deeds of exceptional heroism have earned special distinction at the hands of their Company. If the engineers themselves are pleased, still more so is the general public, which realizes that an admirable system has been discovered for paying due tribute to a splendid race of men who have hitherto had their lights under a bushel. The C. P. R. is displaying these names in no niggardly fashion. They are incorporated on the newly adopted insignia of the railway—a circular band enclosing a beaver, mounted shield on which is painted a Maple Leaf. The name of the engineer is shown in letters of gold upon a blue ground, while the green leaf, the white shield and the brown beaver afford a color combination exceedingly striking and effective. This insignia is placed under the window of the engineer's cab, the most conspicuous, and at the same time most appropriate position that could have been selected.

Jack Hartney, who runs the President's engine when the head of the great system leaves Montreal for the West, has such skill in starting a train that the passengers would not know it is in motion unless they looked out of the window.

Arthur Charlebois has been forty-two years in railway service, and comes of a family of engineers—his father, Pierre Charlebois, having been the oldest conductor in Canada when he died. Two brothers are being kept up for he has a son a fireman on the C. P. R. to-day. Arthur Charlebois was one of the founders of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers in Montreal. Tom Turner is well known and exceedingly popular at North Bay. He has been in railway work since 1882, when he worked with an extra gang on the Brockville, Ottawa and Canada Central Railways. In 1887 he was promoted to locomotive engineer, and in 1896 to run east of North Bay, where he is still running.

The following is the first list of engineers on Eastern Lines who have been selected for the honor of having their names painted on a locomotive: President's engine 2030, Jack Hartney.

What The Farmers Are Faced With

Cancellation Of Exemptions Will Work Hardships— Remedy Suggested By Correspondent

To the Editor of The Intelligencer.

Dear Sir,—I do not know that the general public is aware of the crisis existing in Canada at the present time. Every person must sympathize with the Government and the farmers. Sir Robert Borden (like the true patriot he is) says three things: First, the soldiers gone from Canada to the front must be supported by the addition of Class "A" men, mainly young men of the ages from nineteen to twenty-two; secondly, that the change from the Germans is very great; thirdly, that the production of immense quantities of food must be increased or starvation will follow.

What Will Happen?

During the last few weeks I have been in the position, from knowledge acquired at headquarters, to judge as to what the Minister of Militia now demands. Farmers have told me that if the present state of things continue they will rebel. Their position, in innumerable cases, is such that if Class "A" is called as it is now, and exemptions cancelled, that a most terrible state of things in this country must necessarily happen. There are thousands of widows, with young children, many of them with an only son, whose farms must lie waste and uncultivated if the Government calls those lines to take the ground now holds. Thousands of farmers through age and infirmities cannot work their farms and are absolutely dependent upon their young sons. The herds of cows and animals must be slaughtered because milk cannot be sent to the [illegible] cannot be fed. [illegible] food which are required of this country [illegible] produced. Rhondda [illegible] imminent. [illegible] are being [illegible] sea.

SIR SAM'S TEXAS STEERS.

"I notified the British Government when I was Minister of Militia and Defence protesting against sending our boys up against machine gun positions without any protection in the way of shields, and I said that if they continued to do so it would be my duty to provide them with a bunch of Texas steers because they would make just as good targets for the machine guns as would our men."—Sir Sam Hughes in budget debate.

Just imagine the monocle falling from the eye of "conventional, austere and correct" General Maurice when this delicately worded bit of advice reached him at the War Office! says the Ottawa Journal. Sir Sam gave much advice to the Imperial authorities about how to conduct the war and most of it was ignored. Does the Texas steers example indicate a reason?

THE WAR AFTER THE WAR.

It is generally recognized that when Germany has been finally defeated on the field of battle a serious economic war will be started by that misguided nation in an effort to flood the markets of the world with manufactured products which Germany can produce so cheaply by reason of working conditions possible only in that country. Germany will undoubtedly endeavor to make the allied nations pay the cost of the war by purchasing her manufactured products. Germany's industrial capabilities and ambitions for commercial supremacy, even if her military plans collapse, are being made to do, constitute a real menace to the manufacturers and workers of all countries where wages and conditions are above the low level which exists in Germany. The bill introduced in the Canadian Senate by Senator Lynch-Staunton for the "Identification of Trades in German Goods" is timely and in full accord with similar steps being taken in other allied nations.

The Bill provides that "Every person who knowingly deals in goods, wares or merchandise which are, in whole or in part, the growth, product or manufacture of Germany or Austria-Hungary, shall keep posted in letters easily legible over every outside entrance to his premises the words 'Dealer in German Goods,' and shall print the said words prominently in all his advertisements and stationery."

A penalty of six months imprisonment or fine of five hundred dollars or both fine and imprisonment is provided for infraction of the act.

Brigadier-General the Hon. James Mason, speaking in favor of the Bill in the Senate, pointed out in effect that unrestricted trading with Germany after the war would be simply contributing to the finances of that country for another war later on.

Senator Mason quoted from statistics of the Department of Trade and Commerce showing that Canada's imports from Germany increased from $7,958,264 in 1910 to $14,680,069 in 1914, which shows to what extent the German manufacturer was supported in Canada and as a consequence the German Government and its war policy.

"This question of dealing with the Central Powers is becoming a burning one," continued the Senator, "and is engrossing the attention of all the allied and neutral nations. What they will eventually do nobody knows; but there is a trend of opinion towards placing an embargo on the trade of Germany, or boycotting it. Most of the hoofdrable gentlemen no doubt saw the announcement in the newspapers the other day as to the action of the British Seamen's Union. The newspaper despatch was as follows:

London, May 2.—(Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency).—Havelock Wilson, president of the British Seamen's and Firemen's Union, in a statement as regards the sacrifices of the mercantile marine, says that 15,000 British seamen have been murdered by German pirates during the war. Sea murders are growing, despite the decline in the number of ships attacked, because the life is more determined than ever that sailors in sunken ships should not live to tell the tale.

British sailors were in deadly earnest in their determination to apply a punitive boycott to Germany after the war. Masters, officers and seamen in heavy weather elections who did not espouse the league's policy would have a poor chance.

Branches of the league were being organized in every constituency and it would run candidates against those not satisfying its objects.

"I have also a circular of the American Guardian Society for the protection of Americans and American industries, from which I quote the following:

F. Cunliffe-Owen says:

"Of all perils, the one that the Germans dread most is an economic boycott after the war. Great Britain, France and the other Powers of the Entente have long been committed to the policy of economic boycott of Germany."

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States says:

"Only through industrial intercourse with the United States can the military party of Germany get the sinews with which to create a second great world war.

"By a vote of 1204 to 154 the organization members of the United States Chamber of Commerce have decided to boycott Germany after the war, unless the German Government is made a responsible instrument controlled by the German people."

"Other utterances are of the same tenor. Then we come down to the question, shall we or shall we not in this country enact legislation which will in some way protect us against German aggression in the future? I think the conclusion which must be arrived at, with the information I have given, is that the best way to accomplish that is to cease our trade with Germany or continue it only on such conditions as will ensure or prevent a repetition of this most disastrous war.

"I shall support the Bill with great pleasure."

CRISP COMMENT

Some one shut off Hindy's booze so he just naturally had to quit for want of gas.

If Hindenburg be dead, he shows himself much wiser than his Exalted Royal head, the still-persisting Kaiser. For, when this kaid campaign is over dead deer will not need to join the rhyme "On the Side" in Toronto News. Did you say much wiser or Bullwieser, brother?

That was a cruel practical joke which sent a bunch of thirsty Toronto citizens to the Provincial Parliament Buildings yesterday to participate in an alleged sale of liquor which was reported to be about to take place. All that the would-be boose buyers accomplished at the Parliament buildings was a deep thirst for the gore of the practical jokers who sent them on such a fool's errand.

Well, well, well, see who's here—our old boyhood pals, Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn, who have been captured by the enemy and must henceforth perforce live again those happy days of "piracy" on the high seas, trailing the graveyard robbers, the sublime art of whitewashing fences, hunting blood-suckers at the old swimming hole and all the endless round of pleasure and pain which punctuates a real boy's life.

If all the various seers who profess to have deep-seated religious scruples against the shedding of blood in military service could have been transported to Germany before the war, what a field for missionary enterprise of this nature they would have found; but despite their preaching when war did break out the Kaiser would have packed them all off post haste to the firing line to dig trenches for the fighting men and incidentally spill some of their own blood where a shell came their way.

The call to military duty is stripping the banks of young men and the young ladies are taking their places more or less efficiently behind the wicket. With the disarrangement of office forces caused by the demands of war upon the young men the life of a banker is not all "beer and skittles" these days, but at that he has nothing on the soldier, the manufacturer or the farmer.

Baseball fans are happy with their favorite game again in full swing despite the heavy inroads made by the military draft in the ranks of the players. The strange phenomena is again in evidence of ball "fiends" who seem to have spent the winter months studying rule books and the records of players, major and minor, and are human encyclopedias at home runs, triple plays, bonehead plays and Casey at the bat generally.

Concrete construction in Europe is not on quality and short on quantity. In this country more stress seems to be laid on quantity than quality. In Europe reinforced concrete bridges of considerable length are constructed with a few inches of concrete, while here the practice would insist upon a thickness of several feet of concrete. It looks as if more attention could be paid to the quality of material with better results all round.

The Poet's Corner

SPRING MAGIC.

There is magic abroad in the fields today;
There is witchery in the air!
Only yesterday dripping skies were gray,
And the sleeping trees were bare.

But a wind came out of the south at dawn,
And it scattered the daffodils,
From that wonderful pot of nuggets drawn
At the rainbow's foot in the hills.

There is white of bloom on the orchard trees,
And the meadow has learned to sing;
Snowy clouds are blown on the fresh-ploughed leas
In the shining skies of spring.

Ah, who can be doubting the fairy faith
That troop thro' the dew-drenched night?
For after they play in the pasture beneath
There are rings of wild flowers bright.

There are yellow stars from the Provence's crown—
We found them today in the grass—
And some colored silk from her high-born gown
Is caught on the thorns, alas!

The cynic may scoff and the grumbling cough,
The discontented may sigh—
But we'll be gay in the fields today,
Out under the wind-swept sky.

Hairs Quickly Vanish After this Treatment

(Helps to Beauty)

Science has aided in simplifying the banishing of hair growth from the face, and according to a beauty specialist, the most effective treatment yet devised consists of applying a delicate paste to the hairy surface for 2 or 3 minutes. The paste is made by mixing some water with a little powdered delatone. When this paste is removed and the skin washed every trace of hair has banished. Be sure to get real delatone.

Give Exemption To Sole Remaining Son

Definition Of Sole Remaining Son Exemption May Clear Up Misunderstanding

Ottawa, May 16.—The following bill was introduced by the Minister of Militia and Defence:

"In view of the fact that it appears to be some doubt as to be adopted by the Military Service Council in some cases should be clearly understood that a man who is ordered to report must be prepared, whether he personally to claim leave of absence or take steps to obtain it, between the age of twenty and twenty-two, both inclusive, leave of absence will be granted as a matter of course on any ground only, that he is the sole remaining son of military age in the family, the others being already serving or having suffered death or disablement. Service in this case means service in some field of active service or in a unit in England or Canada providing drafts for service, in a field of operations.

"Any case of exemption from leave of absence on the above grounds should at once reporting to the Depot Battalion indicated in the notice of the Registrar. They should have prepared a careful statement showing the other sons of the same family with their age and service of each. This statement should be certified as correct by some responsible person to whom the Commanding Officer can refer. If such a statement discloses sufficient grounds to bring the case within the policy afore referred to, the man concerned will be given provisional leave of absence and his case will be forwarded to Militia Headquarters, Ottawa, by the officer commanding the unit for final approval.

"The foregoing does not affect the commanding officer's power to grant a few days' leave at any time of sickness at home or other special circumstances for the two weeks' furlough which farmers may obtain on application to their commanding officer to complete seeding.

MILITARY BUILDINGS GOING UP AT KINGSTON

KINGSTON, May 16.—There will be a decided boom in military building this summer. Work on the 1,004-bed hospital to be erected at Ongwanda will be commenced at once, and it is proposed to erect at Barriefield Camp two casualty huts, each capable of accommodating 100 men. The hospital which will likely be converted into a soldiers' home will have accommodation for 700 beds. There will also be a nurses' home, an isolation hospital and a building for the treatment of certain diseases.

Within a short time the R. N. W. M. P. draft will be proceeding overseas. The regiment has been recruited to more than full strength, and nothing now remains to be done by the headquarters of the force in connection with having the draft in readiness to take its place with the Canadian cavalry in France. The date of their departure rests with the military authorities in the East. The draft is ready to leave at any time. Inspected by their own inspectors and with many of their former officers accompanying them in the non-commissioned ranks, the Scarlet Riders are as fine a body of men as ever left any part of the Empire.

Merchants Union Delivery

BY R. AMPHLETT.
In Charge of the Grocery Section, Canada Food Board

In view of the necessity at the present time for economy in both labor and equipment, and the importance of making food available to the public at the lowest possible cost, the time is ripe for a careful study for a frank and practical study of the delivery problem, more especially in its application to the retail grocery trade. It is not my purpose to attempt to put forward a complete and effectual correction for the wastefulness of methods now in vogue, but I do want to state a few of the considerations involved.

The retail selling price of staple daily food is, generally speaking, a yardstick which measures off the financial resources of the rich, the poor and the middle classes. Under present delivery arrangements the poorer people are compelled to spend a larger part of their income on food than is absolutely necessary, and, consequently, inefficient, wasteful methods in the retail handling of food is a greater burden upon them than it is upon the more prosperous elements in the community. Moreover, the poor carry a much more larger proportion of high purchases than do the well-to-do of the middle classes. Yet when the selling price of foodstuffs is placed sufficiently high to cover the grocery delivery costs, the poor is paying part of the cost of delivering the rich man's groceries, while the rich man is not charged the full cost of the service which he received.

The present costly and almost unrestricted delivery service must, of necessity, have the effect of substantially reducing the purchasing power of each dollar spent for foods, and, while it may not be possible or even desirable entirely to abolish the delivery system, it is a matter of real importance to reduce the toll of such delivery cost to the lowest possible point.

Depending upon local conditions, retail delivery costs are known to range up to 5 per cent. On the household spending $30.00 per month on groceries, it may not be a particularly impressive fact that for each $50.00 expended, he receives—on a 5 per cent. cost basis—goods to the extent of only $45.00. But by a simple multiplication of the total number of such average monthly grocery purchases throughout the Dominion, aggregating by $500,000,000, the saving on each one which would result if delivery costs were reduced by one-half (say, from 5 per cent. to 2 per cent.), we would have a monthly saving of $1,500,000, or a yearly saving of $18,000,000. In addition a large number of horses and equipment which would be released for more productive purposes.

The position of the merchant carries its own responsibility. The demand of the customer for an unrestricted delivery service may be attributable to our present ultra civilized conditions of life, to excessive competition, which foolishly determines to get trade at any cost or trouble, or to some other cause. At least, the fact is plain that the cost of delivery underpresent methods is a growing parasite on the body of retail business. The increasing need for economy should give encouragement and determination to put retail delivery on an efficient and economical basis.

Under Efficient Management

Union delivery, efficiently organized and managed, has already liberally justified itself. In one city of 20,000 population, a delivery system now carrying on the delivery which formerly required 70 wagons. This is not difficult to understand. Under present conditions, in most cities it is no uncommon thing to see four patiently loaded grocery wagons in one street, and at one time, when one wagon could have performed an equivalent service. While the most modern and speedy equipment of motor delivery may do something to remedy the evil, it cannot begin to compensate for the wasteful duplication of man-power and mileage covered.

The necessary scrapping of surplus delivery vehicles has been made an objection to general adoption of a union delivery system. But, modern business methods and competition make it unthinkable that a merchant can afford to retain in use an equipment that is costing him $10 per day, when he could obtain the same or a better service for an expenditure of $2.50 per day. The objection also loses weight when it is stated that, in organizing union delivery, it is not found possible to take over from members' stores, part of all their efficient equipment, in lieu of money payments, but always with the permission and approval of a committee appointed by such members.

Unusual conditions in the general lay-out of certain cities or districts, or special circumstances in connection with retail trade between suburb and city may make it seem impossible to apply at the outset a union delivery system to the whole such territory, and it is difficult to withhold some measure of sympathy from the merchant subject to a natural fear that he may incur loss of trade by entrusting his delivery to an organization. Modern efficiency methods, of which union delivery is not the least important nor have overcome the delivery difficulties encountered by merchants who have progressed from the corner store stage to national organizations, and whose operations extend, not from one end of a city to another, but from the Atlantic to the Pacific. In this there is a definite assurance that time, patience and foresight, all essentially local difficulties could and would be overcome.

Proper Time Is Now

Unfortunately, underlying most of the objections to union delivery is the inherent distrust of one competitor for another, that which there is the most dangerous canker in the retail trade. Even this sorry condition may, however, be met by organization and management of the new system, a man who is absolutely fair-minded, broadly commercial and progressive—one who will engender and maintain a spirit of real co-operation and friendliness among the terrorists, and who realizes that nothing will assure the success of the undertaking short of impartiality, justice, courtesy, promptness and efficiency. Such a man is to be found

At present is, without doubt, the psychological time for a remedy for the delivery evil to be applied. Under the influence of national sacrifice, the mind of the public is less selfishly inclined than under normal conditions. Who is bemoaning as that he is ready to do his or her bit? It is a time when the customer and the merchant alike find economic reasons for a plea for economy and efficiency, and a determination to sink extra-conveniences for the common benefit.

Reslin Soldier Was Honored By Friends

A number of the friends and neighbors of Mr. Harry Sayers gathered at the home of his mother on the evening of May 7th to express their appreciation of his many acts of kindness before leaving at the call of duty. The following address was then read: To Mr. Harry Sayers:

Dear Friend,—We, your neighbors with whom you have associated, desire to express by this our feelings of esteem and appreciation, at this time, in which we are living are the most momentous for many centuries—the fate of empires tremble in the balance, civilization may or may not be advanced, our liberty and freedom are threatened by an enemy who knows no mercy, whose methods are so and because of the hammer-like blows of the enemy, the need for men is great, thus the call for men has come with insistence and clearness not heard before, and while much as we deplore the necessity, yet we appreciate that you have not shirked that call for duty and are giving yourself upon the altar of your country's sacrifice.

As you are about to leave us we ask you to accept this purse, not for its intrinsic value, but rather as a token of our regard and esteem. We trust that it will ever remind you of your many friends and associates whom you leave behind. We pray that God may keep you and that in the hour of duty you may be sustained and that when the war drum throbs no longer you will proudly return to Reslin and loved ones conscious that you have done your duty.

Signed on behalf of your friends,
John Johnson,
J. W. Kerr.

After the address was read Rev. R. Johnston made some very appropriate remarks. The gathering broke up by singing the National Anthem.

Since so many suffer disappointment hoping to economize by buying cheap teas, it should be pointed out that inferior tea is actually an extravagance. Prince of Salada yields so much more cups and, besides, has that delicious flavor.

Still Have Hopes Of Reaching Coast

COPENHAGEN, May 16.—The Germans still are of the belief that they will be able to reach the English Channel coast, for navigation of the waters and deserted Southern England, and that there will be easy to begin peace negotiations, according to an interview the Politiken has had with a member of the Reichstag, who requested that his name be not used. He added that the German offensive has proved a failure thus far mainly to heavy losses and that the German high command was willing to obtain peace on a basis of compensation for killed, wounded and made prisoner 2,000,000 men, he added.

PRAISES U. S. SAILORS.

Queenstown, less than May 1.—Admiral Sir Lewis Pauly, commander in chief of the British naval forces on the Irish coast, today issued the following order to the American destroyer flotilla:

"I wish to express my deep gratitude to the United States officers and ratings for the skill, energy and unfailing good nature which they all have consistently shown and which qualities have so materially assisted in the way by enabling ships of the allied powers to cross the ocean in comparative freedom. To command you is an honor, to work with you is a pleasure, to know you is to know the best traits of the Anglo-Saxon race."

"It Was Lucky Day For Me", She Says

Mrs. Hewston Is Glad Her Neighbor Advised Her to Take Tanlac

"It was certainly a lucky day for me when my neighbor, Mrs. Langford told me how Tanlac had relieved her sufferings and said that if I would only try it, she believed it would do as much for me; for I took her advice and it has done all she said it would," declared Mrs. Jessie Hewston of 222 Ryding Avenue, Toronto.

"I had suffered from a general run-down condition and stomach trouble for four or five years," she continued, "and my appetite was so poor that I couldn't relish a thing. Everything tasted alike and after eating I had such a tight, puffed up feeling about my stomach and chest that I could hardly get my breath. My heart acted strangely and hurt so bad at times I could hardly stand it, and often by night I was going to suffocate. My nerves, too, were in a very bad shape. I would rest and toss on by bed the night through and some days when I got up in the mornings I felt so tired and worn-out and miserable that I could almost drop in my tracks.

"After I started on Tanlac I began to feel stronger and better right away, my appetite picked up, my indigestion was relieved and I soon got so I enjoyed everything I ate. That tight, smothering feeling is gone, my heart never worries me like it did, I have gotten completely over my nervousness and sleep like a baby all night. Tanlac has given me so much strength and energy that I can now do all my housework without a bit of trouble."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Corsten's Drug Store, in Stirling by J. H. Dickey, in Deseronto by W. J. Malley, in Stirling by J. S. Morton, in Frankford by W. H. Lattimer, in Madoc by J. Will Vince, in Marysville by T. J. McAlpine, in Cherry by Jas. Campbell, and in Thomasburg by J. H. Blakely.

Flight Cadet Crashes Down On Roof At Fair Grounds

Aviator Injured But Not Seriously, Taken To A Hospital—Had Made A Landing For Minor Repairs And Was Rising When Accident Occurred

Last evening the residents of West Belleville were considerably excited over the fall of an aeroplane on the west side of the Agricultural Park. About eight o'clock two planes circled about the western part of the city, both flying low. One, No. C660, driven by Flight Cadet Williams, alighted just west of the St. Michael's Church grove and owing to the tire of one of the landing wheels being punctured it was some time before repairs were made. It was nearly dusk when Cadet Williams started up again with the intention of making the camp at Deseronto as soon as possible. He circled toward the Agricultural Park, and it was apparent to a number of onlookers that he was having trouble with the engine, which was back-firing. Just as the western side of the fair ground was reached the machine plunged down nose first, and while the wings struck the ground, the great portion of the machine fell upon the row of stalls used for housing horses during exhibition time.

The crash and sound of breaking boards was heard for a considerable distance and in a few minutes many were at the scene of the accident. Williams was able to get out of the machine and it was seen that he was injured as his face was covered with blood. He gave his name and asked that the 72nd Squadron camp at Deseronto be notified of the accident. An automobile was secured and the aviator taken to the hospital, where it was ascertained his injuries consisted chiefly of cuts about the face. At the time of the fall he was in the rear seat. Had anyone been in the forward seat they would have been killed as that part of the machine was smashed to pieces. The plane was badly smashed, no part being intact except the propeller, which was on the roof of the shed. This morning the wrecking crew and motor truck from the camp arrived here and collected the broken up machine. The scene of the accident was visited by hundreds and pieces of the broken plane were taken away as souvenirs.

Wedding Bells

WHITNEY—MOXAM
On Wednesday evening, May 15th, at eight o'clock, a pretty wedding was solemnized at the bride's home, 10 Commercial Street, when Pearl Eva, third eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Moxam, was united in marriage to Mr. Kenneth B. Whitney, formerly of Albert College of this city, and now of Prescott, Ont.

The Rev. E. N. Baker, B.A., D.D., of Albert College, officiated.

The bride entered the drawing room on the arm of her father, while Miss Kathleen Moxam, sister of the bride, played the "Bridal Chorus." The bride looked very charming in a gown of Spanish lace over bridal pink crepe trimmed with pearls. The veil was of embroidered tulle in Juliet style adorned with a crown of orange blossoms which were worn by her mother thirty six years ago, May 15th, 1882. She carried a shower bouquet of sweetheart roses and lily-of-the-valleys. Mrs. Wm. Lafferty, sister of the bride acted as bridesmaid, wearing a pale blue satin gown, prettily trimmed with cluny lace and pearls, and hat to match. She carried a bouquet of carnations and roses. Mr. Wm. Lafferty acted as groomsman. Daisy Evelyn Moxam, youngest sister of the bride, and little Edith Cavelle Lafferty, were flower girls, and looked very charming in white organdie dresses trimmed with Maltese lace.

The groom's gift to the bride was a cheque, to the bridesmaid a pearl pin, to the groomsman a pearl tie pin and to Miss Kathleen Moxam a turquoise ring.

After the signing of the register a dainty repast was partaken of in the dining room, which was tastefully decorated with blossoms, palms and roses. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful gifts and a number of cheques.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitney left to-day by motor to points east, and on their return the young couple will reside in Brockville.

Southern Negroes For R'y Firemen

ST. THOMAS, May 16.—Owing to the drastic shortage of firemen on the railroads at St. Thomas, caused by the amendment to the military Service Act, the Pere Marquette Railroad is making preparations to bring in a large number of southern United States negroes to this city and other divisions, at points and speedily train them for the duties of firemen. No less than fifty firemen on this line from here have been taken on military duty during the past ten days, and it is impossible to run the road without that help. It is understood permission has been made by the United States authorities and our government to carry out this movement. If the scheme works out satisfactorily, the Michigan Central and Wabash, who are suffering just the same shortage of help, will adopt the plan. It is not known how the brotherhood and other unions will receive this new departure.

Government Ownership Of Railways For Canada

Sir Robert Borden Outlines Railway Situation In Canada—Sir Wilfred Laurier Favours Government Policy Re C.N.R. In General—Too Much Abuse

OTTAWA, May 16—Sir Robert Borden yesterday afternoon made his long-expected statement to the House on the railway policy of the government. It was a clear statement, and foreshadowed the ultimate nationalization of all the railways of Canada. Negotiations are already in progress for the acquisition of the Grand Trunk and the Grand Trunk Pacific. An offer has been made by the government, and a counter-offer by the stockholders of the Grand Trunk. The negotiations will be continued when the Premier and his colleagues reach London, and it is altogether likely that all the Grand Trunk lines will be taken over before the next session of parliament under an agreement that the stockholders will be compensated by an annual grant, the amount of which will be fixed by arbitration.

The Canadian Northern will retain for the present its corporate form. As soon as the award of the arbitrators is announced the government will put in a new board of directors chosen by the government. They will be given a free hand in the operation of the road, and if they make good, it is quite likely that the Canadian Northern Company will take over and operate the Intercolonial, the National Transcontinental and the Prince Edward Island railways. With this huge government railway system the Grand Trunk Pacific will later on be amalgamated. There will place in competition the National and the Canadian Pacific Railway system, but the Prime Minister indicated that sooner or later all the railways of Canada would be operated as one system, under the control of the national government.

Sir Robert said all agreed that the government railway system should be kept free from party politics. At the same time, the government of the day could not escape responsibility for the administration of the railways. He was ready to hear suggestions from all quarters as to the best way to achieve the result which he thought everyone had in view. At present he inclined to the belief that a strong board of directors named by the government could and would manage a national railway system in the public interest, and without regard to party politics.

The Premier made out a strong case for the amalgamation of the Canadian Northern by the national government. The assets of the road he placed at $358,000,000, and the liabilities at $433,000,000. He placed the physical valuation at $350,000,000, relying for this estimate upon the engineers' appraisement. He admitted that something should be deducted for depreciation, but pointed out, on the other hand, that the system could not be reproduced today, with the high prices obtaining for labor and material, for less than double the cost of production under pre-war conditions. The Canadian Northern, he said, was capitalized for about $44,000 a mile. This was a comparatively low capitalization as the Intercolonial represented an investment of about $65,000 a mile, and the National Transcontinental of about $70,000 a mile, while the Grand Trunk Pacific had a capitalization of $100,000 a mile.

The Canadian Northern, he pointed out, had the best facilities of any road in the country for gathering traffic in the west. Many of its branch lines would be feeders for the Grand Trunk Pacific. The Grand Trunk Pacific would, of course, have to be taken over by the government, but it would be absurd to have the Canadian Northern and the Grand Trunk Pacific alike without eastern connections. The government, therefore, felt constrained to acquire as soon as possible not only the Grand Trunk Pacific, but also the old Grand Trunk as well. The old Grand Trunk, he said, could be acquired by liquidation, expropriation, or negotiation. The government was in the power of the government, because it could not possibly meet its commitments in respect to the Grand Trunk Pacific. He did not like the idea, however, of taking the company by the throat, but preferred to acquire the Grand Trunk lines by negotiation. The remedy of expropriation was out of the question, because they could not in that way acquire the lines in the United States, and the valuable terminals at Chicago and Portland.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier had a good word to say for the Canadian Northern. He believed it would develop into a paying system, and prove to be an asset of great value to the government. He said he was a little tired of the constant abuse heaped upon Mackenzie & Mann, as it required a great courage to kick men when they were down. These two men had had the courage and vision to project a great transcontinental railway, and they would have succeeded in their enterprise except for the war. He agreed with the Prime Minister that the government railways must be kept out of politics by the appointment of some commission. He recommended the example of the District of Columbia, where a good commission government was secured for the City of Washington by taking a representative form each political party and making an army officer of high rank the third commissioner.

Mr. Mackie of Edmonton feared the Prime Minister was adopting public ownership as the only way out of a bad situat on. He would prefer to see him approach the subject in a different way and adopt public ownership because it was the best thing for the country, no matter how prosperous the railway corporations might be. The crying need of the west was lower passenger and freight rates, and only public ownership could the grievances under which the western people were suffering be relieved. He regretted that the Prime Minister postponed to a somewhat vague and distant future the nationalization of the Canadian Pacific Company.

R. L. Richardson blew hot and cold on the issue of public ownership. He wanted public ownership for the invalid roads, but not for the Canadian Pacific.

He here dolt a banner with his strange device: "Public ownership is a good thing; but hands off the C.P.R."

ROB GIRLS OF FINERY

LONDON, April 24.—(Correspondence of the A.P.)—A band of 200 German girls in a German village is related by the Kleter Zeitung. Brimghausen held a ball, according to the Sunday afternoon dance in the Town Hall, dressed themselves in their best, bringing out from hiding places clothes and finery. They trooped to the Hall and for two hours waited in vain for partners en masse.

Then the Burgomaster arrived, closed the doors and ordered each girl to sign her name to an official paper. She certify informed them that the dance would not take place. The next day summonses visited the girls' homes and confiscated their ribbons and laces.

ORDAINED TO PRIESTHOOD.

O'Brien, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. O'Brien, of Toronto, formerly of Peterborough; Rev. John J. Garvey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Garvey, of Dunsy, Rev. Gerald J. Maher, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. What is a Board of Trade?

Missing Parts Wanted

To the Business Men of Belleville:

What is a Board of Trade? To my mind it is a body formed of men in "TRADE" to study the conditions of trade in all its branches, to promote all kinds of trade, to stimulate business, to better conditions of trade; in fact, there is no end to the good it may do. It is a body—that it, it is a body intended for human body with arms to reach out for more business, with legs to walk for its own, with legs to support it and propel it along, a head for its direct, a heart to give it life, soul to show sympathy with the less fortunate members and give them aid, muscles to develop strength and arteries to keep life in circulation.

If a body is to be complete capable of performing all its functions, it must have all its parts. YOU, Mr. Business Man, form an integral part of this BODY; it is your duty to yourself and the community that you give it aid by your presence. If this BODY is not BODY that is mutilated by your absence. If this BODY is not complete and healthy it is YOUR fault if you do not do your share.

You were never as well off as you are today; you can spare the time to do your part, and the membership fee.

What more can I say? It is up to you now to do your part. DO it, and make this BODY healthy, strong and complete in all its parts.

Monday next is the day of canvass.

President, Board of Trade.

Fix Fish Prices At Fifteen Cents

Government Decided Upon Figure For Whitefish, Trout and Pickerel

TORONTO, May 17.—Ontario Government fish will sell at 15 cents a pound during the summer season, it was announced by Hon. Finley MacDiarmid at the parliament buildings yesterday. This is the price all-round whitefish, trout and pickerel. Pike and the coarser varieties will sell at proportionate prices automatically fixed by the prices quoted.

There will be no change from last season in regard to cats, the charge for extra services being fixed at 2 cents per pound. Thus if only a portion of a large trout is purchased, the price will be 17 cents per pound.

The points of shipment the price will be 14 cents, owing to there not being transportation charges. This will apply to the lake ports where the fish are brought in.

An organization has been established comprising thirty districts, each of which has a correspondent. Dealers in each district will place their orders with this representative, who will then ship directly to them. He will furnish a weekly statement of all such dealings. There will save transportation costs, it was pointed out yesterday as well as extra handling, and will accomplish the result desired, which is to supply each district with its own fish insofar as that is possible.

SUPPLEMENT SUPPLY

In places where more than the 30 per cent. which the government has engaged to get from the fishermen is required, the supply will be supplemented from the nearest shipping point.

Sturgeon, the price of which varies considerably, will be sold at 20 cents per pound, and this price will prevail all over the season. Herring will be treated somewhat differently, and the price will be fixed from time to time according to the run. At present it is, 11cents per pound, and it is not likely to go higher.

These prices are an increase of 2½ cents per pound in Toronto and 1 cent outside Toronto, due largely to the increased price to be paid the fishermen, the increased cost of transportation and equipment. Even to these prices set are from 3 to 5 cents lower than those which will prevail in the next season, the plans arranged by the federal authorities at Ottawa.

INFANT'S BODY FOUND ON TRAIN

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., May 17.—The body of a newly-born male child was discovered in the men's lavatory of a coach on the G.T.R. train, No. 84, after leaving Merritton this morning, by train porter Ross when looking through for boots or anything of value. Before reaching this station, it was done up as a parcel in brown paper and string tied around. The left arm of the child was torn off. Apparently it had been dead at least three or four days. Train 84 picked up the child at Hamilton, which had been consigned by aviators from Toronto, who detrained at Beamsville. Provincial Police Constable Ross is now in charge of the case in the coach between Hamilton and the city. The body was turned over to Coroner Kellam, of this city.

PARIS, May 17.—Violent artillery fighting in the region of Hailles, southeast of Amiens, is reported in today's official statement.

SOLDIERS OF THE SKY INVADE GERMANY.

LONDON, May 17.—In spite of determined opposition by German airplanes, British aviators on Thursday dropped bombs on factories and on the railway station at Saarbrucken, in German Lorraine, starting a fire on the railway station. After bombing the town the Britishers turned on the enemy and in aerial fighting destroyed five of the enemy machines. One of the British airplanes was lost.

GREAT BATTLE IN THE SKY.

In intense aerial fighting on the western front Wednesday thirty-seven German airplanes were accounted for by British aviators, while eleven British machines are reported missing.

SMASHING GERMANY'S AIR FORCES.

With the British Army in France, May 17.—The ideal weather on the British front in Flanders accounted for a number of victories. One British brigade alone up to three o'clock in the afternoon had destroyed fifteen German planes and had brought down six others out of control, according to unofficial figures, while the correspondent learned that at least five other machines were sent careering down. Today is another perfect day and it is certain that there will be many bitter clashes in the air.

Y., the opening games between Toronto and Buffalo which have been postponed until tomorrow, when two games will be played if exit of the players from the United States can be arranged in the meantime. Although all the members of the Toronto team had their passports these were considered insufficient by the United States officials who demanded individual exemption papers signed tribunals at the home towns of the various players most of whom are Americans.

Further Delay For Home Rule Bill

Civil Service And Returned Soldiers

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

OTTAWA, May 17.—Returned soldiers and ladies will not be specially represented on the Civil Service Commission. This was made plain when the third reading of the Civil Service Bill was brought up in the House of Commons this morning.

Col. Currie brought in an amendment along these lines, but it was ruled out of order. Premier Borden says that if further representation on the commission was found necessary it would be arranged for later.

MONTREAL, May 17.—Armand Lacombe was convicted of having defrauded the Bank of Hochelaga out of $48,000, which he obtained from the bank on false statements of quantities of cartridge cases which the firm of Dalmin Lalonde, Limited, was making for the Imperial Munitions Board.

Five U-Boats Sunk In One Week

LONDON, May 17—In a recent week five German submarines are definitely known to have been destroyed, including two of the new large type from which the German admiralty expected great results. The loss of five U-boats in one week is more than twice the rate at which Germany can turn them out. In Admiralty circles there is a strong belief that following the prophecy that by the end of August the submarine menace will be well under control, will be realized. The greatest activity at present is yet devised by the Allies has gone into effect in the official inauguration of vast mine fields, extending from the Norwegian territorial limit towards the coast of Scotland. Its object is to prevent German submarines getting out of the North Sea to the ocean's highway round Scotland, which has always been the principal avenue of the Germans to the Atlantic, where they operated upon the trans-Atlantic routes and the Irish Sea.

General rains throughout the Western Provinces have allayed the anxiety of farmers.

"In the air fighting Tuesday six hostile machines were brought down and one was driven down out of control. Seven craft gunfire and one by infantry fire. Two of our machines are missing.

"Bombing continued actively during the night. Twelve tons were dropped on the railway stations at Lille, Menin, Courtrai and Peronne, on billets at Epsaune and on the docks at Bruges. All our machines returned.

"Yesterday afternoon a successful raid was made on railway station sidings at Thionville. Twenty-four hostile machines were driven down. Report on Farm Conditions

ONTARIO DEP OF AGRICULTURE
May 13, 1918

The following is a summary of reports made by District Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

The sowing of spring grain is practically completed, and most of the fields are showing up excellent stands. As the catch of seed was remarkably good, the thin spots in the Lake Erie counties corn has already been planted, and some early potatoes are above ground. Rainy and cool weather during the week, however, has delayed normal growth. Pastures and other roots are likely to be down earlier than usual this season.

Fall Wheat Fields.

Fall wheat has picked up here and there with the recent rains, but the great bulk of the reports are to the effect that the crop is practically as great a failure as the provinces has yet known. Clover is dying out on the whole, although there are some patches that promise a fair crop.

Cattle in Pasture.

Nearly all cattle are now on pasture, but the grass is not forward enough yet to give as good a bite as is desired, and the animals are not putting on much flesh, although in good demand. Dairy cows are selling at from $110 to $135 a pound. Dairy

Cheese Factories Open.

Most of the cheese factories are now open, although some of them are operating only every other day. The milk flow is hardly up to the mark, but the warm weather about due is likely to improve pastures and increase the yield.

High Prices for Hogs.

Hogs are commanding from $19.50 to $20.00 a hundredweight. Too many of them are being marketed unfinished on account of the shortage of the most suitable feeds.

Fodder Supplies.

Fodder supplies are holding out well. There is still plenty of hay and straw on hand, although little hay or ensilage. Individual farmers have difficulty in procuring mill feeds, but a co-operative association in Dundas County last week distributed three carloads of bran and shorts to its members.

Labor Situation.

Reports on the labor situation continue in the same strain as last week, but it is too soon to estimate the ultimate effect of the new calls under the Military Service Act upon production.

Issued by the Canada Food Board in collaboration with experts on the staff of the Dominion Experimental Farms.

WEEDS

It is a mistake to assume that cultivation stops when once the seeds are in the ground. As a matter of fact, the ground needs continuous attention and after rain it should always be gone over with the Dutch hoe, rake or hand cultivator.

For the amateur gardener weeds are really a blessing in disguise. They make him cultivate continually by hoeing or stirring up the soil and cultivation is more valuable than fertilizer. The beginner is not always quite sure which is the weed and which the plant. Young onions, for instance, look very much like grass and amateurs have been known to pull up the whole crop in their zeal for getting rid of "weeds." The best guide for the amateur, perhaps, is to look across the fence at his neighbor's patch or consult with someone who has been in the gardening campaign before.

Persistent cultivation is one of the best ways to kill weeds and to allow air into the soil. Weeds rob the soil of plant food. They afford a haven of refuge for countless numbers of insect enemies and plant diseases. They cost the country thousands of dollars a year. They are enemies that must be assiduously fought and it does not do for the amateur gardener to give them any leeway. They multiply fast and propagate their kind.

ANGRY CROWD BURNS HEARST NEWS PAPERS

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., May 17—As a protest against the manner in which The New York American handled, President Wilson's Memorial Day proclamation, a party of Grand Army veterans visited the local news-stands and bought up every available copy of to-day's issue of The American. The papers were then carried to the public square at Main and Market streets in front of the courthouse, where, in the presence of nearly a thousand people, they were torn to bits and a match applied to the pieces.

The veterans were headed by Major Lewis C. Dietz, organizer of the local Loyal Service League; Captain Lewis C. Bevier, also of this city, and Judge John C. Harris of New Hamburgh. Major Dietz explained the action by stating that it was done as a demonstration against The American for printing the proclamation in such a manner that reference to peace was left in, but allusions to prayers for victory were deleted.

"It is a dastardly, cowardly act," said Major Dietz, "one that should receive the condemnation of every true American. It is a plain exposure of the man who is attempting to fool the people of this country by publishing articles that are perfectly agreeable to the Kaiser Government and victorious proclamations that are in this country."

Greatest Potato Harvest Ever

Official of the Department of Agriculture estimate that the potato crop of the Province will this year be increased by 10,000 bushels, the result of the standard seed which was made available for the farmers of Ontario. During the last few weeks 37 carloads of northern-grown seed was brought into the Province, most of it from New Brunswick.

It is estimated by Mr. Justin Miller Assistant Commissioner of Agriculture, that this imported seed will yield 20 per cent. more than the old seed which has been planted year after year in Ontario. While this will be one of the immediate advantages, the growing of the new seed will standardize the varieties. The farmers who secured this seed paid $1.75 a bag for it, although the actual cost would average about $2.15 a bag for it, but the difference was borne by the Department of Agriculture.

MORE FOR NEXT YEAR

By this fall several carloads of certified seed grown from these imported potatoes, will be available for distribution among farmers in old Ontario. This year there was a shortage of certified seed, the New Brunswick supply being exhausted by the middle of March.

Last year an investigation was made in Erin township, Wellington county and it was found that every farmer had a different kind of potato seed, and some had two or three varieties. The "Hillsborg Co-operative Potato Growers' Association, assisted by the district agricultural representative, secured 1,000 bags of New Brunswick grown green mountain seed. This year one out of every four farmers planted the standard seed. By next year there will be no difficulty in every farmer securing the certified seed.

Coal Arrivals

The Schooner "Jamieson" arrived in port this morning with a cargo of soft coal for The Schuster Company Limited.

The Schooner "Filer" unloaded a cargo of part nut coal and part Furnace coal for The Schuster Company Limited last week and is now enroute to Belleville with a second cargo of furnace coal. The Schuster Company Limited have also received several cars of nut and stove coal during the last few weeks, this firm having received in all over 2,000 tons recently, all freshly mined prepared sizes, high grade coal.

Furthermore The Schuster Company Limited have arrangements made for these boats to return immediately for several more cargoes, which considering the great scarcity of the black diamonds speaks well for the energy and progressiveness of this firm who are evidently putting forth every effort to secure all the coal possible for the people of Belleville.

The Fuel Controller of Canada urges every one who possibly can do so to get their coal early, as this would appear to be a very wise precaution.

Information As To Western Lands

In these days of increased activity in the industries of the country and the production, particularly of that readily exportable commodity, namely, wheat, it is instructive that all agencies shall render assistance in the furtherance of that nationally important object. Authentic information therefore regarding agricultural lands that are not at present under cultivation, as published in the maps, reports and bulletins, which contain particulars regarding the availability, accessibility to transportation and adaptability to agriculture of the free homestead lands in Western Canada that are issued by the Department of the Interior, should prove useful to the prospective settler.

The rapid exhaustion of Crown lands in close proximity to the railway that are available for homesteading, together with the recent reservation in the interests of returned soldiers' settlement, has resulted in an increased demand for information with regard to closely located quarter-sections that might be available for purchase rather than homesteading. With the object in view of providing a source from which authentic information regarding agricultural lands that are likely to be purchasable might be obtained, the Department through its Natural Resources Intelligence Branch at Ottawa has undertaken the compilation of lists containing the names and addresses of the owners of practically all quarter-sections that are at present unoccupied and non-producing, the presumption being that from either a financial or patriotic point of view, the owners would be interested in the sale or lease of their holdings. Prospective settlers when applying to the Department for information on the subject of either homesteading or purchasing land in Western Canada should state the province or district in which they are interested as the literature embraces a rather wide range of maps and reports.

Austria Longs For Peace

AMSTERDAM May 17.—The Tribuna prints the following significant and much censored letter from its Vienna correspondent:

"The reason why all classes of the population have regretted Count Czernin's departure (from the Foreign Office) is that in him they saw the herald of peace and the people want peace above all. This is not surprising, because the misery is extreme." (This part censored). The people will probably hold out through the next difficult months until the Ukraine grain arrives in sufficient quantities. But it is natural that everybody yearns for peace —(censored). Hundreds of times daily one hears the lament, "How long is this crazy destruction to last?"

"Only the conviction that the Emperor honestly desires peace and has given evidence of his in recent incidents keeps the people going."

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Many Others Have Done the Same.

Troy, N. Y.—"I suffered for more than seven months from a displacement and three doctors told me I would have to have an operation. I had dragging down pains, backache and headaches and could not do my housework. My sister who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound asked me to try it. I have taken several bottles and am now entirely well—so I do all my work—and not a trace of my old trouble. I have told many of my friends what wonderful results they will get from its use."—Mrs. S. J. Sexauer, 1650 5th Ave., Troy, N. Y.

Women who are in Mrs. Sexauer's condition should not give up hope or submit to such an ordeal until they have given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

PATRIOTISM CUTS BOTH WAYS.

There are still large supplies in Canada of vegetables, especially potatoes, carrots and onions, which should be used freely during the next few weeks to relieve the strain on our fast diminishing stock of wheat. No more patriotic service can be done by the housewives of Canada and by the proprietors of public eating places than by using, in every possible way, vegetables and fish in order to save more wheat and meat for export. Both vegetables and fish, except the "luxury" varieties, are moderately priced. In the United States a big "drive" is being made on the surplus potato crop, estimated at at least thirty million bushels, it being pointed out that the eating of potatoes, because of their food value, and of the fact that they are very satisfying to the appetite, makes less likely the eating of bread. Fish and vegetable meals in Canada during the next six weeks are required by the food needs of our Allies.—Canada Food Board Bulletin.

It would help some if there was a healthy give-and-take policy in this patriotic food business. Why not have market bargain days with all kinds of vegetables marked down to prices which will encourage a vegetable diet? At lower prices more vegetables will be sold, fewer vegetables will spoil, exportable food stuffs will be saved, the seller will have healthy money instead of vegetables on the decline, and the buyer will have cheaper food—both should be reasonably happy in the consciousness of profitable patriotic effort.

It is a crime to allow food stuffs to spoil—when starvation faces many of our brave Allies and we have an individual responsibility which should be heeded.

The modern merchant cleans up his stock at cost prices or below rather than allow goods to become shopworn or out of date and makes money by keeping his capital active and not tied up in stagnant goods. Why should this policy not extend to food stuffs?

Who will be the pioneer in food bargain sales, vegetable or animal, or both?

And don't forget to advertise—Let your light so shine that it will be for the benefit of all men.

KAISER NOT EVEN A HUNDRED TO ONE SHOT.

The world's financial centres are most keenly sensitive to the effects of war. If the prospects are menacing the great barometer of the stock market, which foreshadows unerringly prosperity or adversity, almost invariably carries the warning in falling values and feverish selling of securities. When prospects are bright and the world of finance, with secret services of information and deductive powers almost uncanny, sees the silver lining far away through the clouds, the stock market barometer shows values on the up grade and healthy buying activity. It is therefore highly significant that an enormous buying wave is in progress on the New York stock market with rising prices and particular favor being shown to war issues, such as Bethlehem Steel and other large business concerns busily engaged in the manufacture of munitions, shares in which have reached a new high level.

This indicates the confidence of the financial world that the Kaiser is doomed to certain defeat, but it also indicates belief that the war will last some considerable time yet.

One great factor in the confidence displayed on the New York stock market in final and decisive victory for the Allies is the wonderful enthusiasm shown by the people of the United States for unlimited war effort, an enthusiasm which is cementing that nation with one common purpose in a dawning realization of what the German menace really means to the United States in common with every other nation outside of the Central Powers.

CRISP COMMENT

Canada expects every man these days to do his duty.—Sir Robert Borden.

When the people own the bridge the Broad Highway and Open Road will be free to all.

It isn't so much a question of high tolls or low tolls, but no tolls at all—a free bridge is the only objective worth while.

Coal prices went "over the top" and seem inclined to stay there. Can't find the way back down the hill, apparently.

In lieu of a bridge to Victoria Park, temporary or permanent, the City Fathers might furnish an exasperated public with an explanation.

Plumbers in Germany get $1.13 a day of eleven hours. It is only by Organization and German Efficiency that such wages can be procured, says "On-the-Side" in Toronto News.

Why not a temporary bridge to connect Victoria Park with the mainland while the plans are being drawn for that fine new concrete arch bridge which will stand up under the spring freshets?

Many women and children are deprived of happy hours in Victoria Park these beautiful days because they have neither wings nor ability as tight rope walkers. Who's asleep at the switch?

Beavers Have Many Relatives

THE lemmings (we read in Thomson's "Threads in the Web of Life"), on the Siberian tundras, migrate at the end of a season when food has grown scarce, because they have been more than usually abundant and so have exhausted the available food. They march northwards in closely pressed ranks, but it is not an organized march after a leader; they simply pour straight onwards like a living stream, turning aside for no obstacle. If a mountain stands in their way, they go up one side and down the other, never attempting to go round. If a river crosses the path, they plunge in and swim to the other side.

Many are carried away. But those that are left plod steadily onward, resting by day, and marching by night, eating every blade of grass and every growing plant as they go. Just as the migratory young locust do in southern lands. Eventually, in many cases, they reach the shores of the sea, but even that does not stop them. They plunge boldly in, and the waves sweep over them.

The lemmings' march cannot be called intelligent combination, but we can find good examples of this, even among the rodents or gnawing animals, the order to which lemmings belong. The viscacha is very abundant on the pampas of South America. A number of these animals, usually from 20 to 30, make their burrows with the entrances close together, and often opening into a common trench. All the earth is carried out to a little distance and thrown into a heap, which forms a little mound, often about two feet high, in front of the "village." These are generally several such villages, within easy reach of each other. The inhabitants of each village sit on their own mound at dusk, and disappear into their burrows so quickly, at a warning cry from one of them, that dogs scarcely ever succeed in catching them. After sunset, the viscachas go a-visiting. Those of one village go to see their neighbors in another, and sit on their mound, chattering in friendly fashion. Narrow trodden paths, from village to village, show how constant this habit of exchanging visits must be.

One result of the friendly and sociable life of these little animals is that, though they do not stand very high in the scale of intelligence, they have a wonderfully varied "language." Their cries "are varied a thousand ways in strength and intensity, according to the age, sex, or emotions of the individual." "I doubt," writes Mr. Hudson, the naturalist, to whose beautiful books we owe so much of our knowledge of the life of the pampas, "whether there is in the world any four-footed thing so loquacious, or with a dialect so extensive."

So strong is the attachment of the viscachas to their kind that if the burrows of one village be filled up, for this is the method by which the farmer tries to get rid of them, if they are too destructive, those from other villages will come by night and dig them out again. They are probably excited by the cries of the little prisoners and burrow their way down to them.

In the case of beavers (rodents of a higher type), the animals not only live beside each other in peace and friendliness; they unite together to do pieces of work which would be impossible for one, and so benefit the whole colony. Some of these works are so extensive that they may entirely change the features of the landscape. Beavers are still found in considerable numbers on the banks of the streams, in some of the western parts of North America and in Canada. They were quite abundant in Britain at one time, but had disappeared by the fourteenth century. Within the last few years, however, a colony of them has been kept and carefully protected in Sussex, and there they carry on all their usual activities.

Beavers are water-loving animals, and, if the stream on the banks of which they live is shallow or liable to dry up, a colony always constructs a dam so as to secure a broad, deep, quiet pool. To make the dam, they gnaw down trees, often as much as 10 inches in thickness, eat off the bark, and cut the trunk into logs. These logs they convey to the place where they are building. If the ground is smooth and the distance not great, they roll the logs; but, frequently, they cut canals or waterways from their pool to the trees, and there move the logs more easily. They pile the logs together, filling up spaces with brushwood and clayey earth, trampling hard down, so as to make an almost solid wall, which only allows water to trickle gradually through.

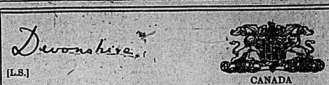

We read of one dam three-quarters of a mile in length, and of this two-thirds had been made entirely by the beavers. The rest was natural bank, which they had raised and strengthened with logs and stones. If the dam be broken, the beavers immediately repair it. One dam was repeatedly cut through, because it made a railway embankment unsafe. The beavers built it up again fifteen times, but then gave in and abandoned the place.

The homes of the beaver are very interesting. Sometimes they are mere burrows in the bank, with the opening under water, but more frequently the burrow has an oven-shaped structure of wood and earth above it. The "lodge," as it is called, is very comfortable, and is strong enough to keep out beasts of prey. As many as 12 beavers may live in a lodge, for three years or more, with their parents, and then the lodge gets uncomfortably crowded; they move off and construct new homes for themselves.

FOREWORD

Those strange original stories of "Tarzan of the Apes" and "The Return of Tarzan" captured the delighted fancy of millions of readers. Although they were full of thrills, "The Son of Tarzan" holds the reader's interest with wonderful exactitude and yields nothing to them in the line of breathless adventure. In this wonderful Tarzan story you will meet Tarzan himself, who is John Clayton, Lord Greystoke; Lady Grey-stoke, his wife; Alexis Paulvitch, friend of the murderer Rokof; Akut, the gray ape, and many others, not the least of whom is Jack Clayton, the son of Tarzan.

CHAPTER I.

Paulvitch and an Ape.

THE Marjorie W.'s long boat was floating down the broad Uganda with ebb tide and current. Her crew were lazily enjoying this respite from the strenuous labor of rowing up-stream. Three miles below them lay the Marjorie W. herself, quite ready to sail so soon as they should have abandoned aboard and swung the left-boat to its davits.

Presently the attention of every man was drawn from his dreaming or his tugging to the northern bank of the river. There, screaming at them in a cracked falsetto, and with shingy arms outstretched, stood a strange apparition of a man.

"What in thunder?" ejaculated one of the crew.

"A white man!" muttered the mate; and then: "Man the oars, boys, and we'll just pull over an' see what he wants."

When they came close to the shore they saw an emaciated creature with great white locks, tangled and matted. The thin, bent body was naked save for a dirty cloth. Tears were rolling down the sunken, pockmarked cheeks. The man jabbered at them in a strange tongue.

"Hoodoo," hazarded the mate. "Savvy English?" he called to the man.

The scarecrow did, and in broken and blubbering and haltingly, as though it had been many years since he had used it, he tempted them to take him with them away from this awful country. Once on board the Marjorie W. the stranger said his rescuers a pitiful tale of privation, hardships and torture, existing over a period of two years.

How he happened to have come to Africa he did not tell them, leaving them to assume that he had forgotten the incidents of his life prior to the frightful ordeals that had wrecked him mentally and physically. His name, he said was Alexis Paulvitch.

A few scraggly, yellow-white locks had supplanted the thick dark hair that had once covered his head. His limbs were bent and twisted; he waited with a shudder, instantly guilt, like both doubled forward. His teeth were gone —knocked out by his savage masters. Even his mentality was but a sorry mockery of what it once had been.

They took him aboard the Marjorie W. and there they fed and nursed him. He showed little by improvement in his appearance never altered for the better—a human derelict, he looked, and a derelict he had found him; a human derelict, battered and wrecked, he would have remained had chance not placed Alexis Paulvitch could easily have passed for eighty.

The Marjorie W. had been chartered by a syndicate of wealthy manufacturers, equipped with a laboratory and a staff of scientists and sent out to search for some natural product which the manufacturers who footed the bills had been importing from South America at an enormous cost. What the product was none on board the Marjorie W. knew except the scientists, nor is it of any moment to us, other than that it led the ship to a certain island off the coast of Africa after Alexis Paulvitch had been taken aboard.

The ship lay at anchor off the coast for several weeks. The members of the shore party here became trying for the crew. They went often ashore, and usually Paulvitch asked to accompany them—he, too, was tiring of the blighting sameness of existence upon the ship.

The island was heavily timbered. Dense jungle ran down almost to the beach. The scientists were far inland, prospecting their search for the valuable commodity that native rumor upon the mainland had led them to believe might be found here in market, able quantity.

The ship's company fished, hunted and explored. Paulvitch shuffled up and down the beach or lay in the shade of one of the great trees that skirted it.

One day, as the men were gathered at a little distance, inspecting the body of a panther that had fallen to the gun of one of them who had been hunting inland, Paulvitch lay sleeping beneath his tree. He was awakened by the touch of a hand upon his shoulder.

With a start he sat up to see a huge anthropoid ape squatting at his side, inspecting him intently.

The Russian was thoroughly frightened. He glanced toward the sailors—they were a couple of hundred yards away.

Again the ape plucked at his shoulders, jabbering plaintively. Paulvitch saw an menace in the loquitur pose or in the attitude of the beast. He got slowly to his feet. The ape rose at his side.

Half doubled, the man shuffled cautiously away toward the sailors. The ape moved with him, taking one of his arms. They had come almost to the little knot of men before they were seen, and by this time Paulvitch had become assured that the beast meant him no harm. The animal evidently was accustomed to the association of human beings.

It occurred to the Russian that the ape represented considerable and certain money value, and before they reached the sailors he had decided that he should be the one to profit by it.

When the men looked up and saw the oddly paired couple shuffling toward them they were filled with amazement and started on a run toward the two. The ape showed no sign of fear. Instead, he grasped each sailor by the shoulder and peered long and earnestly into his face. Having inspected them all, he returned to Paulvitch's side, disappointment written strongly upon his countenance and in his carriage.

The men were delighted with him. They gathered about, asking Paulvitch many questions and examining his companion. The Russian told them that the ape was his. Nothing further would be offer, but kept harping continually upon the same theme: "For sale—mine. The ape is mine."

Offers of Paulvitch, one of the men essayed a pleasantry. Circling about behind the ape, he prodded the animal to cause it to back with a pin.

Like a flash the beast wheeled upon his tormentor, and in the brief instant of turning the placid, friendly animal was metamorphosed in a frenzied bundle of rage.

The broad grin that had set upon the sailor's face as he perpetrated his little joke froze to an expression of terror. He attempted to dodge the blow that reached for him, but, failing, drew a long knife that hung at his belt.

The ape tore the weapon from the man's grasp with a single wrench and flung it to one side; then his yellow fangs were buried in the sailor's shoulder.

With sticks and knives the man's companions fell upon the beast, while Paulvitch danced around the cursing, shouting pack, mumbling and screaming pleas and threats. In the confusion of wealth rapidly dissipating before the weapons of the sailors.

The ape, however, proved no easy victim to the superior numbers that opposed it over-whelmingly. Rising from the author who had precipitated the battle, he shook the giant frame of the man, freeing himself from two of the men that were clinging to his back. Then with mighty blows of his open palms felled one after another of his assailants, leaping hither and thither with the agility of a small monkey.

The fight had been carried by the time Paulvitch's mate, who were just landing from the Marjorie W., and Paulvitch saw these two more reinforcements forward with drawn revolvers, while the two sailors who had been attacked by the beast trailed at their heels. The ape stood looking about him as the battle he had wrought, and whether he was awaiting a renewal of the attack or contemplating which of the foes he should exterminate first, Paulvitch could not guess.

What he could guess, however, was that the moment the two officers came within revolver distance of the beast they would put an end to him in short order unless something were done, and done quickly, to prevent.

The ape had made no move to attack the Russian, but even as the man was none too sure of what might happen were he to interfere with the savage beast, now thoroughly aroused to rage and with the smell of spilled blood fresh in his nostrils. For an instant he hesitated, and then again there rose before him the dreams of affluence which this great anthropoid would doubtless turn to realities once Paulvitch had this time picked themselves from the ground, some of them much the worse for his experience except the fellow who had been the cause of it and who would doubtless nurse a sore shoulder for a week or so.

"Stand back, men it," said one of the men. "He stuck a pin into the monkey's tail, and look at the mess—which served him bloomin' well right —he got what he went at us, too, for I can't blame him, since we all jumped him to once."

The captain looked at Simpson, who sheepishly admitted the truth of the allegation; then he stepped over to the ape as though to discover for himself the sort of temper the beast possessed. He was quick to realize that he kept his revolver cocked and leveled as he did so.

However, he spoke soothingly to the animal who squatted at the fellow's side, looking first at one and then another of the sailors.

Then the captain approached him the ape half rose and waddled forward to meet him. Upon his countenance was a most delight, searching expression of fear that marked his scrutiny of each of the men that he now encountered. He came quite close to the officer and laid a paw upon one of his broad shoulders, studying his face intently for a long moment; then came the evident disappointment, accompanied by what was almost a human sigh, as he turned away to pace in the same curious fashion into the faces of the mate and the sailors who had arrived with the officers.

In each instance he pulled and passed on. Finally, at length to Paulvitch's side, where he squatted down once more, looking first at the Russian and then at each of the other men and apparently forgetful of his mission with them.

When the party returned aboard the Marjorie W., Paulvitch's mate accompanied by the ape, who seemed anxious to follow him, and the captain interposed no obstacles to the arrangement, and so the great anthropoid was formally admitted to membership in the ship's company.

Once aboard he examined each new face minutely, evincing the same disappointment that each countenance that had met his scrutiny of the others.

The officers and scientists aboard of the Marjorie W. were not but they were unable to account satisfactorily for the strange appearance of the beast at each new face. Had he been discovered upon the mainland or any other island on the most unknown island that had been his home they would have expected that he would formerly been a pet of man, but that theory was not tenable in the face of the isolation of the uninhabited island.

MUSIC & DRAMA

JACK PICKFORD AS TOM SAWYER

Last night a large audience was on hand to welcome Jack Pickford in his newest photoplay 'Tom Sawyer' taken from the book of the same name, which is one of Mark Twain's best books. After completing the latest photoplay Mr. Pickford wrote the following letter to a friend:

"I have just got back from Hannibal, Missouri, where we filmed scenes for my newest picture 'Tom Sawyer.' This is the town where Mark Twain lived, and where he got his characters from.

"Mary and I were born in Toronto, and since we appeared in the Toronto Stock Company before we were ten years old and played heavier parts, we naturally have almost without exception played the part of a boy, but the part that I have played in my latest picture 'Tom Sawyer' is the one that I have liked best, and I have laughed quite often at the stunts that I pulled off in this picture. My partner, Huckleberry Finn, I consider is the best character portrayal of a boy that always got into mischief and out of it again that I have ever seen. Taking it all around I can safely say that I think this is the best picture that I have worked in up to now."

On this program Gladys Brockwell is also seen in a good five part photoplay called 'The Moral Law' an excellent cast, settings and photography go to make this photoplay entertaining and pleasing.

AT THE PALACE

Mabel Normand's photoplay appearing in a good photoplay called "The Floor Below," Miss Normand gets a good chance to display her talents as a ferret in tracking down a gang of crooks that have been bothering the police of a big city for a long time. To some this story would seem old, but the ideas that Miss Normand uses in this photoplay are not only unique but they are cleverly worked out by a woman that shows that she is just as clever as a man when it comes to using her brains to detect crime.

On this already good quality program of photoplays is the 'Mystery Ship' and the serial the Mystery Ship, and as there is only one more chapter of this serial excitement is at hand. Those to see who the Mystery Man is. A good comedy is also shown.

The key principle of its construction is this—Tens of thousands of slender sinewy cords in many parallel layers, imbedded and each layer laid parallel one to another and each imbedded in pure rubber so they cannot touch each other, but are held apart by individual strands of rubber—a tremendous sum-total of power and resistance.

This construction makes a tire-structure and tire-wall so yielding and resilient that it absorbs all of many road obstructions. Use Cocoanut Oil For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soap prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much alkali dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful.

Pure Cocoanut Oil Shampoo (which is pure, and entirely greaseless) is far better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can be easily applied to the hair, or with a chorus of carefully selected voices and with elaborate scenic effects, and will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses off easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get unadulted cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last anyone in the family for months.

Slight Stroke Of Paralysis

Down Left Side—Stomach and Heart Affected—Case Baffled Doctors For Three Years.

Trenton Ont., May 17.—A very interesting report has been received from Mrs. Pringle in regard to her recovery from partial paralysis. This was a most extreme case, for doctors had been trying for three years to find something which would restore the depleted nerve force.

One can scarcely imagine stronger evidence of the restorative influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mrs. C. Pringle, Queen street, Trenton, Ont., writes:

"About five years ago I was troubled with my stomach, there was a sort of paralyzed feeling across it and up the left side, and my heart seemed all most to stop beating. I called in the Doctor, and he thought it was symptoms of a stroke. My stomach kept getting worse. At times the pounding would be intense, almost unbearable and I thought I would go wild. Sleep was out of the question. I tried different Doctors, giving each one a fair trial, and doctoring nearly three years. My case seemed to baffle them. It was a nervous breakdown caused by overwork and worry. During all this time I could not do any work, and my friends thought it was a matter of time, how long I would live. Some one advised me to try something to build up my system, and I tried different medicines. First I thought I would try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and see if they would do any good. A famous Doctor sanctioned my using these pills and told me they would be good for me. They seemed to be just what I required, as I soon saw an improvement. I took about fifteen boxes, and the results have been very gratifying. I am now enjoying sober, did health, and able to do all my work, having anything I wish to eat, can go to bed and get a good night's rest. I have recommended Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to many of my friends, who have also secured good results from this treatment."

Dandruff Leads Become Hairless

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, wavy hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't. It's destructive germs simply must be killed or you'll get rid of dandruff to stay. To restore it, then you destroy it entirely. Try this: Get a small bottle of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most if not all of your dandruff will be gone and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and dusting of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

VISITED NEW YORK.

THAT THIRTEEN HODOO
The hoodoo "13" was strongly in evidence on St. Lawrence river on Mon day last, says the Brockville Recorder, when the Lake Champlain, the thirteenth boat of the class being constructed under U. S. Government supervision, was damaged on the thirteenth of May. The boat was being piloted down the river and was to go to Brockville struck a rock which damaged the bow and broke the steering gear. The boat was taken to the Ogdensburg shipyard for repairs.

SUFFERING FROM HUN GAS.
Lieut. Harry H. Ponton of the Canadian Artillery, is home from the front for a few days. He is undergoing special treatment for mustard gas poison and is to return to his battery, with which he participated in the opening days of the last great movement. Lieut. Ponton has been a soldier from boyhood in the 15th Battalion, A.L.I., and has completed 15 years of continuous service. He has been in several battles with the Canadian ordnance and artillery and has been in close touch with other Bay of Quinte boys throughout.

GOVERNMENT FISH DEPOT.
Mr. William Day, of Belleville, who is well known in the city, has been appointed by the Provincial Government as the agent in Belleville to sell here a portion of the surplus stock of fresh fish which will be procured from Lake Ontario and the inland lakes. The City Council has taken action in the matter and Mr. Day has been authorized as the Government agent, on condition that he puts up a sufficient bond to protect the city and Government, which he is prepared to do. At present Mr. Day is unable to state the quantity which will be sent here, but the species at present on sale will be lake trout, pickerel and whitefish. The price will be fixed by the Government. A shop for both the wholesale and retail trade will be established on Front street, Mr. Day is perfectly qualified to carry out and to perform the duties he has undertaken.

A YANKEE BIRTHDAY
Edward Raymond Smith, aged one year and one son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smith, of Erie, Pennsylvania, is a visitor in the city, accompanied by his parents. On Tuesday Edward Raymond reached his first birthday anniversary, and his grandmother, Mrs. Fagan, residing on Dundas Street, thought it only fitting that the little Yankee visitor should have a fitting Canadian celebration of his natal day, consequently a birthday party was given with many youthful guests present to do honor to the little nephew of an allied nation. Many and beautiful were the gifts which Edward Raymond will take back to Erie as souvenirs of his first birthday, celebrated in Canada. His mother was formerly Miss Irene Thrasls, of Belleville, and the father was also a former resident of Belleville.

FRIGHTENING WOMEN.
Last night about ten o'clock two ladies were walking on Front street, when near the Agricultural Park an auto stopped and two men, one of whom, they noticed, had only one arm, jumped out and made towards the women. The latter screamed and their outcry attracted the attention of a gentleman nearby who hurried to their assistance. The men then got into the car and drove away. Fortunately the number on the auto was noted and this has been supplied to the police who will have the affair investigated. The car is owned in a neighboring town.

The increased cost of fine teas has tempted some to try cheap, inferior tea that is their sorrow. It is a real economy to use Salada Tea, since it yields a far greater number of cups to the pound, and, besides, has that unique satisfying flavor.

PERNE, May 17.—(Via British Admiralty, per wireless press)—In a speech before the Wurtemburg Diet Herr Hausmann, one of the leaders of the Progressive party, said that a fifth winter of war was now inevitable. FINEST IN EXISTENCE is what Mrs. C. A. Campbell, of Pawnassa, Ont., says in describing Zam-Buk. She writes:

"I blistered my heel badly by wearing new shoes. Some dye from my stocking got into it and caused a poisoned sore. It was extremely painful and for a week I could not put a shoe on. Then I heard of Zam-Buk and commenced using it. It was just wonderful the way it drew out the poison and inflammation, ended the pain and healed the sore. Zam-Buk is certainly the finest balm in existence—everyone should know of it."

Zam-Buk is also best for eczema, boils, pimples, ringworm, ulcers, old sores, piles, burns, scalds and cuts. All dealers or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. 50c. box, 3 for $1.25.

ALLEGED GERMAN SINN FEIN PLOT IN IRELAND TREMENDOUS SENSATION

PROMINENT SINN FEINERS ARRESTED

IRISH TIMES SAYS THE GOVERNMENT HAS NOT ACTED AT MOMENT TOO SOON AS ALL SIGNS POINTED TO AN IMMINENT ARMED OUTBREAK WITH POSSIBLE LANDING OF GERMAN TROOPS ON IRISH SHORES — PRISONERS INCLUDE PROF. EDWARD DE VALERA, COUNTESS MARKIEVICZ, DR. DILLON, WM. COSGRAVE, M.P. FOR KILKENNY, AND OTHER PROMINENT SINN FEINERS.

Special Despatches to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, May 18.—A number of arrests have been made in Dublin and throughout Ireland, according to a despatch to The Times.

Professor Edward De Valera, president of the Sinn Fein; Arthur Griffith, founder of the Sinn Fein; Countess Markievitz, Dr. Dillon, Wm. Cosgrave, Sinn Fein M.P. for Kilkenny; Dr. Hayes and Darrell Figgis have been arrested, according to an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Dublin.

GERMAN-SINN FEIN PLOT.

DUBLIN, May 18.—(Associated Press)—The Irish Times today says that the Government has not acted a moment too soon, as all signs pointed to another outbreak of armed violence, possibly in connection with the landing of German troops on Irish shores.

LONDON, May 18.—Although there have been many rumors concerning events in Ireland recently, the news received in Dublin early this morning of the arrests made in Ireland, and of Lord French's proclamation that certain of the King's subjects have entered into treasonable communication with the German enemy, created a great sensation. Some days ago Sir Edward Carson, Irish Unionist leader, said in a letter to the Government that he knew that certain persons in Ireland had been in communication with the enemy, but it was generally taken to mean some unimportant individuals connected with the man who was captured after landing from a German submarine recently on the Irish Coast in a collapsible boat. The nature of the arrests, taken in connection with Lord French's proclamation, however, indicates that the persons referred to are heads of the Sinn Fein movement and that the Government possesses evidence against them.

DUBLIN, May 18.—The arrest of the Sinn Fein leaders and the issuance of Lord French's proclamation came as a complete surprise here. The Dublin arrests were made by detectives acting in co-operation with the military, while in the provinces they were carried out by the Royal Irish Constabulary. So far as has been ascertained no formal charge has yet been preferred against the prisoners. They were taken into custody on a warrant issued under the Defence of the Realm Act.

BELFAST, May 18.—Among those arrested there are Joseph McGuinness, Sinn Fein member of Parliament for the southern division of the County of Longford; J. McGrath, Walter Scoles, John M. Cester, Belfast Sinn Feiner who was sentenced to death in connection with the events at Dundalk during the rebellion, but later pardoned and released; and Denis McCullough, another Sinn Feiner.

Italian Victory Over Austrians

ROME, May 17.—Among the rugged peaks of the Asiago plateau, east of the Brenta River, the Italian front has again flamed up into violent action. The aggressive has been taken by the Italians, however, and the Austro-German forces long-expected assault on the Italian lines, have been compelled to fight hard to maintain the positions where they have stood since last November.

The fighting seems to have centred on the comparatively short section of the battle line between Monte Asolone and Monte Pertica. These two heights, about three miles apart, rise to an altitude of about 5,000 feet, while between them there is a sort of "saddle" on which the Teuton forces have taken up strong positions. Both the Vienna and Rome official statements tell of bitter fighting on this particular front the latter stating that the Italian soldiers have entered Austrian trenches on Asolone in two places.

The fact that the Italian armies have taken the initiative in the fighting which began to indicate that they had sought to carry the fight to the enemy in such a way as to break up any preparations for the launching of a strong Teutonic assault. This has many precedents in the present war, a strong offensive at a threatening point being considered the best defence under certain circumstances.

Kaiser A Hoodoo On Battle Field

British Army Headquarters in France, May 18.—A German non-commissioned officer captured lately threw light on the disappointment the German mass sustained in their unsuccessful attack on the Belgian front on April 17. He says the operation was designed to develop into a great flank turning movement. So certain was the command of success that the kaiser came to the Twy to witness "the battle, having in his pocket the "order of the next highest German decoration to the order pour merite, which he designed to bestow upon the general directing the attack. But when the kaiser left the Twy the schemings still existed in his power.

Leave has been opened in the German fourth army to farmers and agricultural laborers, and it is remarkable how popular the cry "back to the soil" has become.

HAS NEW SIGHTING DEVICE

An Atlantic Port, May 18.—Bringing with him a new sighting device for seaplanes, which he says will mean the sinking of the German submarine menace, Capt. Gilbert Moore, of the Royal Air Forces, arrived here today. Capt. Moore will be the aerial attache of the British Embassy and will also be attached to the British Military Mission. He has been assigned to speed up production of Curtiss seaplanes.

ONE SHIP TORPEDOED.

Paris, May 18.—"There was only one case of torpedoing in waters where American warships are operating during February, compared with 34 in October; and in April there were none," declared Admiral Wilson today, in an interview.

According to Chas. F. Towne, of the Massachusetts Board of Education, the state harbors a third of a million illiterate unable either to read or write English.

German Offensive Has Aided Allies

"It Has Brought About The Unity Of Command," Says Smuts

GLASGOW, May 18.—"As a climax of four years of accumulative effort upon us, the Germans at last have delivered the greatest blow of the war," General Smuts, former Boer leader, declared in accepting the freedom of the city.

"The enemy is determined to split the French and British armies and seize the channel ports, realizing that if the British army is beaten the war will be over.

"The enemy has a new incentive in driving toward Calais and Dunkirk, owing to their naval bases at Ostend and Zeebrugge being rendered nullies by the British naval forces.

"The offensive we'll, however, has been an advantage to us, by changing about the unity of command, for the realization of which Great Britain is indebted to Premier Lloyd George. He is a real, live man and rose to the crisis."

Smuts won fame by his successful campaign against the German forces in East Africa during the present war.

Permanent Flying Corps For Canada

OTTAWA, May 88.—Whether or not the Government will establish and maintain a Canadian Flying Corps after the war is one that probably be discussed at the coming Imperial Conference in England, according to a return tabled in the House of Commons this afternoon. The return contains answers to a large number of questions with regard to the Royal Flying Corps placed on the order paper of the House by Mr. J. E. Armstrong, Lambton.

Among other questions, Mr. Armstrong asked how many accidents and deaths had occured in Canada, the United States and overseas among Canadians in the service. While the Militia Department would not furnish the figures in answer to this question, it stated that the percentage of accidents to the number of cadets trained up to March 31st last was as follows: Fatal 3.03; serious 2.59; slight 3.36. Investigation into accidents was conducted by courts of inquiry, the records of which were kept at the headquarters of the Royal Air Force.

The Canadian Government has no control over the operations of the Royal Flying Corps in Canada. In case of permanent corps being formed Canadian pensions were granted by the Imperial Government—Mr. Armstrong was told. Four schools with an eighteen unit each for training cadets for the Royal Flying Corps, have been established in Canada, one from England, 17 of whom had later become non-effective, being replaced by Canadians. There were 47 Canadian officers who had seen service overseas now employed in the Royal Flying Corps in Canada.

Requests had been received from the Imperial Flying Corps by the Canadian Government for aeroplane engines, which were supplied. Capt. Al Borden, Long Branch and Mohawk. The Canadian Aviation Fund had requested and received grants of $1,000 each. The Canadian Aviation Fund had been granted by the Government $393,000 for the purchase of eighteen airplanes for training purposes, and also for eighteen service machines for use in France.

Flying corps have come to Texas under a reciprocal agreement between the Imperial Government and the United States. No flying is carried on in the Royal Flying Corps training camps in Texas as a result of atmospheric conditions.

The following organizations had assisted in the development of the Flying Corps in Canada, in addition to the Militia Department: The National Service Board, the Canadian Aviation Fund, the Red Cross of Canada, and also private individuals.

Aviators Survived 2,000 Feet Drop

KINGSTON, May 17.—That two men should live through a thrilling experience, that of dropping over 2,000 feet in a machine, seems hardly conceivable but nevertheless such has happened, and at the present time two men in question are in Queen's Military Hospital recovering from injuries received in the accident.

It will be remembered that a week ago Cadet McGaw was brought to Queen's Hospital, suffering from the compound fractures, assisted when his machine fell 2,000 feet. In the plane with Cadet McGaw was Second Mechanic Mcnicol, who also met received very severe injuries. Mechanic McCuich was brought to Queen's Military Hospital on Monday, and is suffering with a fracture of the right arm, while his eyes and nose received bad bruises. He is bearing his injuries manfuny, and it is a mystery to the surgeons at the hospital how the two men escaped from the wrecked plane with their lives, after falling 2,000 feet.

Mechanic McCuich is a single man and is only nineteen years of age. He is in his second year as a mechanic, and he formerly lived in Toronto. Both Cadet McGaw and Mechanic McCuich are doing as well as can be expected, although it will be weeks before they will be able to leave the hospital.

Twelve U-Boats Sunk Or Destroyed In April

NEW YORK, May 18.—The New York Times publishes this high naval authority, the following:

Twelve German submarines were sunk or captured by British and allied naval forces during the month of April. This means that twelve U-boats will be added to the number which are officially reported and recorded as sunk and in addition, either a total wearing the name of the submarine, a portion of the craft, or a flag of the German, was produced—eight each was recorded.

In addition to this number, at least two other U-boats were destroyed during the period. One was sunk on April 8 in the North Sea, while making an attack on a convoy to Holland.

Another U-boat, making the total fourteen, was sunk on Friday, April 19, during the forenoon, while attempting to destroy a convoy of transports filled with American troops on the way to France.

On the last two cases depth charges were used and large patches of oil came to the surface.

The commanders of the U-boats are carrying now and are acting on the defensive. Several cases of mutiny and insubordination and the wrecking of submarines along desolate coasts have been reported in England during the last eight weeks.

Battleships With Convoys

The convoys are escorted by cruisers, destroyers, patrol boats, and dirigibles, called "blimps," which are better than the seaplanes, as they can swoop down over the water and hover in one spot for any length of time without difficulty. Battleships, as well as battle-cruisers and destroyers, are used to escort the big convoys across the North Sea to Norway and Denmark. There are from fifty to seventy-five steamships in each convoy, and they all manage to get across safely. The U-boats try very hard to get into the ships in the Dutch convoys as they can reach them from Zeebrugge, and are directed by scout airplanes.

The submarines cannot get there in time the airplanes try to drop bombs on the steamships, even when they are in the shallow waters along the coast of Holland. So far they have only succeeded in sinking one small Dutch vessel.

Jellicoe Opposed It

Admiral Jellicoe was against sending the battleships to sea for the purpose of protecting convoys, as he thought the risk of their being torpedoed was too great. He was overruled at the Admiralty after the capture of a convoy in the North Sea by a battleship and that is understood was the cause of his resignation.

The sinking of vessels in the Mediterranean is considerable on account of the lack of destroyers. The British and American destroyers are all needed on the north coast for protecting the shipping in the Irish Sea and waters around the British Isles, and the Mediterranean is left to the French and Italian destroyers, with a few Japanese destroyers.

Ship Output Grows.

According to the official figures in London, the output of shipyards in Great Britain and America next month will exceed the estimated loss of tonnage by 10,000 and increase monthly hereafter.

The American warships of all sizes have been brigaded with the British navy and since the United States entered the war last spring, and the combined efforts in attacking the submarines menace may now be pronounced successful.

Lawyers Cannot Escape Service

OTTAWA, May 18.—That membership in the legal profession does not constitute a reasonable ground for exemption is the declaration made by Mr. Justice Audette, Judge under the Military Service Act in a judgment just rendered. The application for exemption was made by Lorenzo Charland, who was granted exemption by Mr. Justice Duff, on the ground that from this judgement the military authorities appealed to Hon. Justice Duff, who in his finding expresses the great "that membership in that profession should have been advanced as a ground for escaping from the fulfilment of the duty of service."

To Finish Work On Trent Canal

House Votes $500,000 For Construction—Inspection Of Work Has Been Planned

OTTAWA, May 18.—During consideration of the estimates of the Department of Railways and Canals in the House of Commons an item of $500,000 for construction of the Trent canal caused some discussion. J. H. Burnham emphasized the importance of the work. The canal would be completed in a few years, he said, and it would open up the commerce of Central Ontario to the Great Lakes. It was a fine thing to think that this project, which had been mooted 78 years ago, was about to be completed. The waterway would serve the interests of 2,000,000 people. He said that early next month the Minister of Railways and Canals and other officials of the Government would make a trip from Ottawa down the Rideau canal to Lake Ontario, and up the Trent canal to Georgian Bay, and extended an invitation to the members of the House to join the party.

Soldier Dentist Wants Office Back

The case of Walt vs. Wright at the Supreme Court Sittings, which was brought by plaintiff to recover possession of dental equipment and premises in the village of Stirling, and for damages for with-holding the same, and for an injunction restraining defendant from practicing dentistry in the village of Stirling or within seven miles of it. Before leaving for overseas in the Army Dental Corps, plaintiff made an agreement by which defendant was to have the use of plaintiff's dental outfit in Stirling on paying $25.00 per month. The agreement contained a clause enabling plaintiff to resume practice after leave for $1000, the rental paid to be applied on account of the $1000. The agreement also contained a clause which defendant contends enables him to buy equipment and business at the same price. Plaintiff contends that he has not given defendant no right to buy. Defendant paid $250. special and $250. general. $250. is retained which plaintiff refused. After hearing evidence and argument Hon. Mr. Justice Britton reserved judgment.

SergtM c.Glashon Is Improving

Mrs. McGlashon wife of Sergt. McGlashon, caretaker of the Armouries in this city, is in receipt of the following communication which refers to her son Sergt. A. E. McGlashon, who some months ago was seriously wounded:

NO. 5 Canadian General Hospital,
Kirkdale, Liverpool, April 20th, 1918.

Dear Mrs. McGlashon:—I am writing to let you know that your son, Sgt. A. E. McGlashon, is now in Ward, A, in this above Hospital. I have had the pleasure of calling upon him from time to time during the past few months. His cheerfulness and good spirit were always an inspiration to me. Now he is till more happy that he is among Canadians in a Canadian institution. Before long, I cannot tell you definite, but it is not likely to be more than four weeks at the very latest we expect he will be on his way back to Canada. For this I am sure you will be very grateful. Should you receive a cable with the simple message "Leaving," you will know that he has got started. Our hospital ships travel with practically absolute safety, so that you need have no fears of his coming to any grief on the water.

It is most sad, as you know, was quite severe, but in time he will recover almost, if not altogether, completely.

It is our anxiety for him you have and our thought and prayers, and now that he will soon be restored to you, you have our congratulations.

Yours very sincerely,
James W. Melvin Capt.

Blood Poison Developed

As the Result of Accident—Nerves Break Down After Three Weeks of Suffering—A Glowing Tribute to Treatment Used.

Kingston May 18.—Blood poisoning seems to become more common from year to year, and the dread of it is ever on the increase. In the case reported here the doctor did not seem able to get rid of it, and after three weeks of suffering the patient was almost a nervous wreck.

Mrs. Susie Thompson, Smith street Kingston, Ont., writes:

"Early in the fall of 1916 I had a painful accident. I ran a sliver under my thumb nail, and neglected before it extracted. My thumb festered very badly. In fact my arm was fearfully swollen up to the elbow. It developed into blood poison, and I had the doctor lance it several times, but it failed to get better. With the intense pain and loss of sleep I became a nervous wreck. After following the doctor's orders for three weeks and not getting any better, I wrote my mother about it. By return mail she sent me a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment. The first application eased the pain, and I slept that night quite easily. I kept using the Ointment regularly, and by the fifth day all the swelling was gone, and also the inflammation.

"During this time I had become so weakened and run down that my whole nervous system seemed affected. I was very nervous and restless, again like became poor, and I had frequent headaches. I decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and had the same splendid results from this as from the Ointment. Using the Nerve Food internally built up my system and made me healthy. Boils setting on the Ointment entirely healed my sore thumb. I am now quite well, and owe it to your wonderful remedies—the only ones I ever have to that I did not begin using them earlier, and saved myself months of suffering, to say nothing of Doctor's bills."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, a full treatment of 6 boxes for $2.75, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations only disappoint.

Walked Floor At Night For Hours

Mrs. Langford So Nervous Least Noise Would Startle Her

"Another unsolicited testimonial to be added to the thousands already given, testifying to the benefits derived from Tanlac is that made the other day by Mrs. Annie Langford, of 3454 St. Claire Ave., Toronto, who in telling her experience with Tanlac said:—

"I have been a victim of chronic indigestion for over ten years and was in such an awful condition that I just couldn't stand it any longer.

"Long ago," she continued, "my appetite left me and the little I forced down seemed to settle right in the pit of my stomach and form a hard lump and I would bloat up with gas till I felt as tight as a drum. Do what I would I just couldn't get rid of this gas, and a dull griping pain would start up in my stomach and extend through my side, all around to my back and make me so miserable I could hardly stand it. My nerves were in such a wretched state that I could hardly sleep and many a night I would get up out of bed and walk the floor for hours. The least little noise would startle me so I would tremble like a leaf and I felt up in a regular daze. I used to weigh a hundred and forty pounds, but my troubles bore on me until I got down to only one hundred pounds, and I became so weak and lifeless that it was simply torture for me to try to do any kind of work.

"This was just the fix I was in when one of my neighbors told me about Tanlac and how it had helped her. So I had taken so many kinds of medicines, and even tried specialists without getting relief, that I didn't have much faith left, however, on her advice I got a bottle, and before I finished it I felt so much better that I ordered another one. I have taken over three bottles so far, and have such a fine appetite now that I can eat anything I want and all that indigestion and pain and gas and bloating have completely passed away. My nerves are steady as a clock and I sleep all night like a baby, and when I get up in the morning I feel so well and strong that I can do all my housework without the least bit of trouble. I haven't walked the floor, but I have taken several pounds and have just written to my husband over in France to tell him what a wonderful relief Tanlac has brought me."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store, in Trenton by J. H. Dickey, in Deseronto by W. J. Malley, in Stirling by J. S. Morton, in Frankford by W. H. Latimer, in Madoc by J. Will Vince, in Marysville by T. J. McAlpine, in Grumsby by Jas. Campbell, and in Thomasburg by J. H. Blakely.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

Sudbury, May 16—Fred Whisnel was committed for trial by Magistrate Stoddart this afternoon on a murder charge. Officer McLeod, one of a squad of officers in the north enforcing the Military Service Act, and who has been in the hospital here since the shooting on the morning of April 13th, when three officers visited the Whisnel home to arrest accused as a deserter. His brother, Joe, charged with being his accessory to the crime, was also sent up for trial. Medical testimony showed that when the first bullet from the 30-55 rifle struck McLeod in the left rib and was deflected, the officer escaped certain death. The other bullet passed through the fleshy part of the left leg.

Build up the Blood

You Cannot Have Health if the Blood is Weak and Watery

It is a hopeless task to try to restores your health while your blood is deficient in quantity or quality. The blood circulates through every portion of the body. It takes nourishment from the food and distributes it to the various organs and muscles; it takes also any medication that is administered through the mouth. The blood is the only means by which medicine can reach the nerves. Hence if the blood is poor the body becomes weak and the nerves shaky, and the victim may be subject to headaches and dizziness, poor appetite, indigestion, a constantly tired feeling or perhaps to rheumatism, sciatica or neuralgia. Poor blood is the forerunner of nearly every ailment to which mankind is subject, and you can only enjoy robust health by keeping the blood rich, red and pure. To keep the blood in this condition no medicine yet discovered can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Every dose helps to make new, rich blood which carries new health and strength to every part of the body. When one becomes weak and pale Dr. Williams' Pink Pills restore the blood, bring the glow of health to the cheek, and make weak, ailing people energetic and strong. Mrs. Stephen H. Williams, Kitchener, Ont., says:—"Some years ago my health started to fail. The doctor said my blood was thin and watery, but the medicine I took did not do me any good. My joints and limbs would ache and swell, until it was almost impossible for me to get up and down, and no one knows how much I suffered or how discouraged I was. Reading of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills one day I decided to try them. I got a couple of boxes, and by the time I had used them I felt an improvement. I then got six boxe more and before I had taken them all felt like a new woman in every way. I could no my housework without feeling tired, and in fact I was enjoying better health than I had done for years. You may be sure I will always strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to all other sufferers."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Bade Farewell To Soldier Boy

On Thursday evening, May 9th, about 100 of the friends and neighbors assembled at the home of Mr. Richard Pyear, Stout to bid farewell to his youngest son, Arthur, who expects to leave shortly for overseas service. During the evening the following address was read by Albert Carlisle:

Mr. Arthur Pyear, Stirling.

Dear Friend and Neighbor,—We, some of your neighbors and friends, have met before your departure for overseas and the great war to voice our appreciation of you as one of the boys of our church and community and to wish you Godspeed and a safe return.

You have been endowed with such powers of both body and mind that we reckoned you one who would be of great service to the community and church.

We hoped for you a useful life along the paths of peace. Now you are to serve in the army of our Empire, in the Canadian Division than which none other has won greater glory in this greatest of wars.

Today we recognize that the greatest service a young man can render his generation is to help preserve to his fellowmen the privileges and freedom our fathers won and handed down to us.

Our prayers will ever be for your welfare and that soon this strife will be past, our liberties guaranteed to us and you and all our splendid defenders return to share with us the labors and blessings of peace.

In accepting this wrist watch and fountain pen our hope is that you will be frequently reminded of the love of your friends and that some of us will frequently hear from you and of your welfare.

Signed on behalf of your many friends.

Geo. R. Meggison,
Henry Farrell,
Albert C. Carlisle.

Mr. Richard Pyear and son, Arthur, made suitable replies, thanking their friends and neighbors for the remembrances. Rev. F. H. Howard acted as chairman and addressed the gathering. Speeches were also made by Gilbert Windsor, Geo. Meggison and others.

A piano solo by Miss Vera Hubbell and songs by—Miss Viola Windsor, Miss Edith Abbott and Frank Abbott, formed a very enjoyable part of the program. Lunch was served and in the "wee sma" hours of the morning the gathering broke up after singing the National Anthem.

War Garden Bulletin

PRACTICAL DAILY GUIDE FOR VACANT LOT AND BACK YARD GARDENERS ENLISTED IN GREATER PRODUCTION CAMPAIGN.

Issued by the Canada Food Board, in collaboration with experts on the staff of the Dominion Experimental Farm.

THINING

In some parts of Canada the very early vegetables may now have reached the stage where it is necessary to thin them. This is one of the ticklish problems that confronts the beginner. No gardener is able to get good results unless he does some judicious thinning. Although there are some general rules as to the distances at which plants should be left in the raw, yet definite rules need not bother the amateur so long as he does a reasonable amount of thinning. Every housekeeper does not know that the tenderest and most delicious vegetables she can have for early pickling are the young vegetables thinned out, and often through ignorance—thrown away.

Beets should be thinned until they are from four to six inches apart in the row. It is generally a thin them out gradually. Lettuce should be four inches apart; onions three inches peas three inches, and carrots and parsnips, from four to six inches.

POTATO PREPARATIONS

As much as is expected of the potato to crop this year it is better not to put off any longer getting ready for a bumper yield of potatoes. Tubers seem to thrive best in a moist, cloudy and temperate climate but providing there is sufficient moisture in the soil and the growing season is long enough they are not at all fastidious in this respect. The ideal soil for potatoes is a rich, deep, friable, warm sandy loam with good natural drainage and well supplied with decayed or decaying vegetable matter. The potato requires a great deal of moisture and will not flourish in cold soil where the water is stagnant near the surface, so that thorough drainage is very essential to success.

As a rule seed potato should be kept where they will not sprout too soon, for if they do, the sprouts are liable to be broken off at the time of planting. They may sprout again but that takes time and reduces their vitality. It pays, however to sprout a few in the fall light by spreading them out on the floor of the attic. If these are then planted out with care they will produce potatoes several weeks earlier and will give a larger yield than those planted later.

A GREAT RESERVE

The Algonquin Park of Ontario is easily accessible by the Grand Trunk Railway from all the principal centres. It is about two hundred miles north of Toronto, and may be reached also through Ottawa, being about one hundred and seventy miles west of the Capital City. There are more than fifteen hundred lakes and rivers in the Park, and to the excellence of the fishing and to the excellence of the fishing there is undisputed testimony. Fish caught in the waters of the reserve have won each year many of the numerous competitions open to the anglers of the continent. While the Park takes an especially strong appeal to the fishermen and canoeist, it is a vacation territory where each member of the family may find healthful recreation in the great out-of-doors. Good hotels, illustrated descriptive literature and all particulars may be had on application to any Grand Trunk Agent, or to C. E. Horning, D.P.A., Toronto, Ont.

FIRE BUGS ROUNDED UP

DETROIT, May 17.—Sixteen arrests have been made as the initial step in running to earth what is alleged to be the greatest arson ring that ever operated in the United States.

The arrests follow an investigation lasting more than three months. Seven confessions have been obtained in the past two weeks, all of which have been corroborated by evidence gathered by the prosecution staff, State fire marshal, city fire marshal, deputy State fire marshals, detectives of the Metropolitan police department, Detroit fire commissioner, and the national board of underwriters.

There have been ninety fires in Detroit since January 1. Many of these have been listed as "suspicious" and arrests have been made. Thousands of dollars have been lost to property owners through these incendiary fires, and insurance companies have been bilked for thousands. Investigators have been unable, because of incompleteness of the probe, to fix exact amount. Hundreds of fires in Michigan besides those in Detroit are under investigation, as are also half a hundred persons listed as suspects.

The Making of a "Davis" Cigar

A man who looms large in Canadian Political Life strolled over to the cigar stand in the Chateau Laurier, and asked for Noblemen Cigars. He got them.

A western rancher pulled up his horse in front of the Royal Café in Yellow Grass, and asked for Noblemen Cigars. He got them.

A "Commercial" staying overnight at the Royal George Hotel, in Amherst, asked for Noblemen Cigars. He got them.

A lacrosse "fan" entering the grand stand asked for Noblemen Cigars. He got them.

And every man got the same blend of cigar. Whether you buy it in the East or West—from an environment of mahogany fittings or of general groceries, a Noblemen, mellowed with age, is satisfyingly rich and friendly to the nerves.

AS a rule, a cigar is its own recommendation. You like it, or you don't like it; but Davis Cigars differ from all others. Find the Davis blend that suits you and you can always duplicate the quality. There is no variation. One Noblemen cigar is like every other Noblemen. There is no choice between two unopened boxes of Perfection Cigars. You KNOW what you will get on a repeat order. The secret of this uniformity is in the Davis factory and in the exact methods that are maintained on its many acres of floor space. Let us take a mental tour of the Davis factory.

HERE, then, at the foot of Mount Royal, stands the spotless, sun-lighted, wide-windowed home of Davis Cigars. The pure, fresh air blows straight across the fields, but to make assurance doubly sure, it is forced through pure water and washed before it enters the factory.

DID you ever stop to think that the cleanliness of the factory, the cheerful, conscientious, skilled workmanship of contented employees and the almost unending supervision and inspection of leaf and finished cigar, enter vitally into your enjoyment of the Havana weed? On this vast floor, bales upon bales of selected leaf are arriving from Cuba, Sumatra and other proven cigar soils. The tobacco, moistened so that it can be handled without breaking, is freed of every particle of the bitter centre stem. The leaves are sorted and graded so conscientiously that the top leaf in a bundle is an exact index of the whole bundle.

NOW, then, for the curing—a slow, leisurely process in the Davis factory. Six months, nine months, a year—the rule here is to take all the time required. Thorough curing means "body" brought out in a mild cigar, a satisfying smoke. You can readily see what this long process entails, when it is stated that the Davis investment in leaf being cured is never less than $600,000.00.

Every Davis Cigar is hand-made, made by skilled hands. Twenty foremen and inspectors check up every detail and every process before Davis Cigars are finally packed and sent to the Humidor for the final seasoning in the wood, before the boxes are sealed in wax paper, the last protection that ensures Davis Cigars reaching the tobacconist or the country store in prime condition.

Infinite care is the price of perfection. It is this infinite care that gives force and substance to the most sterling recommendation known to the Canadian cigar trade and the public—"It's a DAVIS CIGAR."

A Few of the Davis Brands:

Noblemen—	Full of quality, rich, satisfying, mellow	15 cents.
Promoter and Perfection—	Both mild enough for an all-day smoke	10 "
Grand Master—	Mild, mellow, of fine aroma	3 for 25 "
La Plaza—	Made to suit the Western taste	15 "
Davis Panatela—	Known from East to West as an after-dinner smoke.	10 "

It's a Davis cigar!

UNCLE SAMMY NO PIKER.

In the language of the Street the United States is no piker and contributes to pour billions of dollars into the melting pot of war without any question as to the ability of sturdy old John Bull to restore financial equilibrium after the war. The United States is pooling all of its resources in men, money and energy to help bury for all time in a dishonored grave the menace of a soul-less German world domination. The war was almost worth while to win the alliance of such worthy blood brothers.

MORAL VICTORY ON PARLIAMENT HILL.

The farmers have at least demonstrated an ability to get together and unitedly present their problems to the Government of the day, and the consequent exchange of views will no doubt be of educative value to both the Government and the farming interests. The farmers now have a better idea of the problems the Government has to face and the Government is in closer touch with the needs of the farmers. The general result should be beneficial.

LOSS OF THE ONLY SON.

If the Government can find some method of relieving unquestioned cases of hardship imposed on the farming population by the cancellation of exemptions from military service without upsetting the whole machinery for sending speedy reinforcements to Canada's soldiers overseas general satisfaction and great benefit will result. That is all the farmers ask. They are as anxious to "carry on" and win the war as any other class in Canada.

NOT A POLITICAL VOTE HUNTER.

Partizans who seek to make political capital out of the Government's effort to protect Canada's fighting sons overseas are playing the Kaiser's game and are unworthy of the confidence of patriotic Canadians. Opposition members of parliament have all the information, secret and otherwise, as to the war situation, and have not the excuse of the ordinary man on the street or the farm who can only judge by the surface showings. Sir Robert Borden has shown himself a statesman and not a political vote hunter and compels the admiration even of those who for the moment disagree with him.

WHERE THE LIES COME FROM.

The Toronto News calls attention to the rumors and lies which circulate in Canada causing so much injustice. Last week we heard that two British boats had been sunk and all the mail lost. It was a lie. The News says that these lies are of Hun origin, and advises people who are told palpable lies to ask for proof.

Part of the German highly organized and well paid spy propaganda is to start falsehoods going in all allied countries with the intention of weakening the morale of the people. With its treachery, soul-less diplomacy and total lack of honor, poison gas, liquid fire and filthy lust the German military caste stands stripped and naked before the world without one redeeming feature on its horrible carcass, bloated with sensuality, envy, greed, supreme selfishness and over-indulgence in food and liquor. A rattlesnake is infinitely more honorable than the militarymad German—both are poisonous, but the snake sounds a warning before he strikes.

CRISP COMMENT

Victoria Park as an island resort might as well be in the South Sea, as far as many women and children are concerned, in the absence of a ferry or foot-bridge.

Making bricks without straw was the old saying. The modern version will be making bricks without cream or with a minimum allowance thereof, remarks the Toronto Star.

If the people are kept out of Victoria Park tomorrow because of the continued absence of a bridge—permanent or temporary—it will be a sure sign of Bonnheddelians in High Places.

The people of Prince Edward County and the city of Belleville are strongly in favor of a few hundred tons more or less of political camouflage will induce them to join the would-be assassinators of the free bridge project.

If the question of a federal union with France, England and Italy were freely and frankly submitted to the American people tomorrow morning there is good ground for believing that it would carry by a tremendous vote, says the Oregon Journal.

Mr. Nickle, member of Parliament for Kingston, is anxious for another debate on Imperial titles for Canadians. Couldn't this be postponed until after the war? If we don't lick the Kaiser our Name and Title will be Mud —well rubbed in at that!

The Little Political Hammer is still knocking a free Bay Bridge, but fails to get enough recruits to complete an Anvil Chorus. The people are in favor of a free bridge and will not believe that their representatives are either crooked or incompetent.

Latest dispatches from the front state that there are now six Germans to one yard, which leads G. H. M. to remark that if they are as thick as that they must be getting thin, says the Toronto Star M. P. (meaty paragraphs). Six Germans to three feet of earth must mean some doubling up and burying on top of one another.

The latest Brain Storm has located a long-range gun in the Intelligencer office, but unlike the poison gas political squirt gun down the street it is not trained on the Bay Bridge; we will be glad to use it; however, against those bold bad Edmonton air raiders, and the author of the Massacre of the Innocents, Orangemen, et al.

My friend the banker suggests that we conserve the dollars in this time of cheap money and deer everything else, and pile it up in savings accounts at three per cent. interest against the day when the purchasing power of a dollar may be nearly twice as much as it is today. Great scheme for making money—but seriously handicapped by the "cash and carry" system. The butcher and grocer must have been put in the "cash" list, but so many good garlich-guilt schemes should have a hole in them.

The inmates of the penitentiary must be well fed, the government last year said one butcher's bill of nearly $10,000, says the Kingston Whig. Why not form a battalion from the penitentiary for service overseas? It would give the men a man's chance to redeem himself in serving his King and country and should be beneficial in many ways. The famous Regiment of "Fighting Devils" recruited from the underworld of Paris is one of the most effective fighting units on the Western front.

War is a killjoy for both the old boys and the young boys. Gone are some of the greatest pleasures and bright spots of childhood in the disappearance of the circus, the organ-grinder and his copper-collecting monkey, the dancing bears and other strange and interesting performers who give Canada the go-by now. Speaking of dancing bears, the small boy with a lively recollection of past joys may well sing "I wonder who's feeding her peanuts now." And there is even talk of abolishing the menagerie at the Toronto Zoo. Perish the thought! Better far abolish the City Council and keep the other animals.

The girls are showing themselves capable of doing hard things, and the spirit of determination and pluck displayed by them is really wonderful," says a despatch from Guelph referring to the "farmerettes" taking the three weeks course at the Ontario Agricultural College. Canadian girls are making a proud record in patriotic work and are helping to win the war in a very substantial manner.

The Poet's Corner

THE BOY IN FRANCE.

When the evenin' lamps are lighted
And we all sit warm and close,
While father reads his paper
And mother mends the hose,
Us children gather round the fire
And watch the flames that dance,
We don't say much, for we're thinkin'
Of the boy that's gone to France.

There's the books he used to study,
And his old cap's hangin' there,
That's the place he used to sit,
And the very self-same chair,
Father sighs and wipes his glasses,
There are tears in mother's glance,
For you see that we're all longin'
For the boy way off in France.

And then, when it is bedtime,
Mother puts her work away
And father folds his paper and says,
"Children, let us pray!"
So we kneel around the table,
Mighty glad to get the chance,
For the boy way off in France.

LITTLE HOMES OF FLANDERS

In Flanders Land the lights are quenched,
The lonely hearts are cold;
The children sing gay songs no more,
Their eyes are strangely old;
For war has walked through Flanders Land
And Death's black wares he sold.

In Flanders Land the bells are hushed,
No more doth gladness ring,
And lovers twine their hands no more
Along the moonwept lane,
Where hahr'y trees weep in pear,
Blood streaks the window-pane.

In Flanders Land the trees are dead,
And all the flowers are gone;
A mere from happy roofs curl up
The chimney smoke at dawn.
Death has ranged his ruthless guns
Across each humble lawn.

For Death held court in Flanders Land,
At morning, noon and night;
And e'en the sun hath wept to see
The broken-hearted sight.
Yea, oft the sorrowing moon hath hid
Her face and fled in fright.

O little homes of Flanders,
That cry and mourn in pain,
God grant that ye shall one day drink
Life's loveliness again!
For all the world knows ye have kept
Your honor free from stain.

RHEIMS IS DEAD.

New York Times

Now Rheims is dead!
Her great rose window withered and her towers
Have gone with it upon the strange, dark way
Of old remembered things. But yesterdays
Her singing bells called down a morning strain
Where neighbors used to pass and lovers meet,
And little children played; and now the wind
Lifts Rheims in clouds of dust! No flowers are there,
Nor any trees, nor bells, running feet.

What's lost with Rheims?
There were the lotus flowers carved in stone,
There was the window where a lovely child
Even amid the battle, stood and smiled;
There were old songs that had been known
How many centuries? The towers sang
And all the people answered. Every day
The towers told the people when to pray.

There was the weft of tapestry, and knots
With quiet, folded hands. Had they not power
To stay the swinging of a frightened lover?
Does beauty die with Rheims? Ah,
no! The word
Is passed along the ages. Dust stirred
And souls awoke and built. Men planned and wrought,
And set fair towers against a flower-
blue sky.
There is no power in the world like thought.
And beauty wrought with prayer can never die.

So long as men shall plan and people
pray,
There will be those who will look back and say:
"Remember Rheims!" A doorway arched and high—
The color of a hundred gardens lent
To lovely windows—spires against the sky!
It has become a part of beauty's lore.
Although we cannot see it any more.

What's lost with Rheims?
The German—a land we used to know—
A pleasant land of songs and fairy tales.
A people the world loved. Where did they go?
When will they come again? What thing avails
To turn a man when once his soul has died?
And who shall give them back their broken pride?

What's lost with Rheims?
The soul of a great people, blind, betrayed,
No roaring guns tore flesh from flesh and made
A desert of their gardens, yet we see
The desert of the soul in Germany.

—Louise Driscoll

NO MEANER NAME.

Boston Globe.

The trade name for "German silver" hereafter will be nickel silver—which is what it really is—for no meaner name than "German" has been thought of for German measles.

NATURAL DOUBT.

Guelph Mercury.

Babies have been discovered in German trenches unharmed. Then they were unharmed in the wonderful part of it. So many babies in Belgium and Poland were used by the Hun soldiers as dummies for bayonet exercises that it's hard to credit the despatches telling of their safety.

NO NONSENSE TOLERATED.

Toronto Star Weekly Empire.

An Ontario recruit who refused to allow himself to be vaccinated was sentenced to two years' imprisonment. An Iowa recruit who committed the same offence was sent down for 15 years. It seems that in Iowa they are seven and a half times as much at war with slackers as we are in Ontario.

CONFIDENCE IN OUR MEN.

London Daily News.

It is in that confidence that the nation awaits events. The magnitude of the issue is realized. We know that every thing that is precious to us is at stake, that the next few days may be the most fate and only but the fate of human liberty in all the world. It is not the first time in our island's story that we have faced such an hour as this. We have survived in the past and we shall survive now if our country is worthy of the leaders who begat us and who gave us that heritage of freedom for which our sons are dying today. All over the land there are hearts anxious for the cause at stake and filled with more intimate fears for the lives of men who are in peril. But those fears are lightened by the grandeur of the issue and by the profound conviction that the great sacrifice is being made for the emancipation of humanity from the dreadful menace of war. It is in that spirit that our soldiers are fighting, and it is in that spirit that we believe that victory will attend them. Our part is to fall in nothing—neither in moral strength nor in material help—but with all our might and at the present hour. Let the nation be worthy of its sons and we need not fear the morrow.

School Union Between City And Thurlow To Be Dissolved

Report of Special Committee Of This Matter Adopted By School Board—And Resignation of Two Teachers To Be Accepted—Regular Meeting Of Board

At a regular meeting of the Board of Education held last night the business transacted was chiefly of a routine nature. A report of the special committee to consider the matter of dissolving the school union existing between the city and a portion of Thurlow Township, recommending the dissolving of the same, was adopted.

Steps will be taken to carry out the dissolution.

The members present were: Messrs. F. B. Deacon, chairman, H. W. Ackerman, B. Mallory, A. McCir, J. Muir, L. C. Pearce, F. Sharpe, L. R. Terwillegar, P. J. Wims, G. T. Woodley, Dr. A. D. Marshall and J. Elliott.

The minutes of the April meeting were read and confirmed.

Communications.

A communication was read from Mr. Mott, Principal of Queen Alexandra School, stating that a rifle had been taken from the store room and suggesting that another lock be procured, as it was apparent that there was another key in use.

Principal MacLaurin asked the Board to have the High School term close on June 13th owing to the examinations taking place in the school building on June 15th.

Applications were read from four persons applying for positions on the teaching staff as vacancies occur. Referred to the School Management Committee.

Col. Ponton wrote the Board protecting that the members of the Board were not properly notified as to when the inspection of the cadet corps took place.

Chairman Deacon said that Col Gillespie did not notify the Board when he would make his inspection. The communication was filed.

Resignations Tendered.

Miss M. A. Northcott tendered her resignation at the close of the present term and also asked for her superannuation.

Miss Isabel Northcott tendered her resignation as a teacher, owing to continued illness.

These were referred to the School Management Committee.

On motion the Board went into committee, Mr. Woodley in the chair.

The Finance Committee's report recommending the payment of a number of accounts was passed without discussion.

School Union.

A report of the Special Committee re. the dissolving of the school union between the city and a portion of the township of Thurlow was taken up. The committee recommended that a school be erected in that portion of the township and in the meantime the scholars will be allowed to attend the city schools at the present rate of payment.

Mr. Deacon said that the understanding was that the township of Thurlow would erect a new school as soon as feasible.

Mr. Diamond, Sec.-Treas. of the Board, stated that by-laws would be passed dissolving the union between the city and the township of Thurlow.

Mr. McCir—The Thurlow representatives at the meeting stated that they would not pay more than $175 per year for pupils attending the city schools.

Mr. Woodley—The arrangement is not fair as it cost much more than $12.75 per year to educate the city children. Owing to the attendance of Thurlow township children at some of the Belleville schools, the classes were overcrowded that city children could not get the number of hours at school to which they were entitled.

Mr. Mallory—How will you remunerate the agreement if Thurlow refuses to pass a bylaw cancelling the agreement?

The report was on motion adopted after Mr. Elliott had spoken in regard to the matter, and stated that it was apparent that the township of Thurlow intended to build a new school.

Missing Rifle.

Principal Mott of Queen Alexandra School was requested to make every effort to recover the rifle that had been taken from the store room.

Mr. McCir—The Principal is not responsible for the loss of the rifle as there was another key.

The matter was referred to the chairman of the school, Mr. Ackerman and Mr. Woodley to assist the Principal in endeavoring to locate the missing rifle.

The request of Principal MacLaurin that the High School close on the first week of June was granted.

Rules Printed.

The proposition of Col. Marsh that rules and regulations be printed, also that the duties of janitors be printed was laid over until next meeting as Col. Marsh was not present.

Railing Wanted.

Mr. Terwillgar suggested that an iron railing be placed on the inside of the cement step and walk leading from the entrance of Queen Mary School to Bridge street. The matter was referred to the Sites, Buildings and Repairs Committee.

Help Wanted.

Mr. McCir said that the caretaker of Queen Victoria School had asked for help owing to illness.

Referred to the committee of the school.

Waste Paper.

Several members of the Board referred to the fact that waste paper had been thrown into the ravine behind the school. The matter was left with the caretakers of the school grounds. The party who placed the paper there will be requested to gather it up.

A motion made by Mr. Elliott and seconded by Mr. Wims, prevailed, that the School Management Committee be requested to meet as early as possible this week and decide the matter of re-appointing teachers for the school term after the holidays.

Board adjourned.

Insomnia Cured Without Drugs

Internal Bathing Relieves the Cause.

If you do not sleep there is always some cause. Don't dose with drugs. Nerves can't consume them. Relieve the cause and a good, normal sleep will be the result.

The system cannot be right if the Colon or large intestine is not kept clean of the poisonous old waste matter. Baths internally if you want perfect health.

Mr. F. C. Voigt, Rapid City, Man., writes: —"For several years I suffered from indigestion. Nervous Debility, Insomnia and Constipation. Pills, appetite, and doctors did not expect I would live throughout the winter. Your book interested me. I got a 'J. B. L. Cascade,' and in a few days obtained remarkable results. I now sleep and enjoy my meals better than for years before. I regard the 'J. B. L. Cascade' as a Godsend to me."

The 'J. B. L. Cascade' is a perfected appliance for Internal Bathing, invented by Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell of New York, and has been the means of restoring thousands to perfect health. It is shown and explained by J. B. McElwain, Druggist, Belleville, who will be pleased to give you an interesting book called "The What, The Why, The Way of Internal Bathing" on request. Ask for it.

MUSIC & DRAMA

"BOHEMIAN GIRL" AT TORONTO.

(Toronto World)

"The Bohemian Girl," Balfe's "string of melodic pearls," was the offering of the Boston English Opera Co., last night at their second performance in the New Princess Theatre. That there was not a larger audience was due, no doubt, to a counter-attraction in Massey Hall.

"The Bohemian Girl," with its fascinating melodies and animated choruses, never fails to please. The enunciation of most of the singers last night was excellent, and this is always a gratifying attribute.

Hazel Eden, the beautiful soprano, possesses a voice of superior quality, rich and even throughout its entire range, and with a quality in the lower tones that is most satisfying and often found wanting in sopranos. Probably her most liked number was the popular favorite, "I Dreamt I Dwelt in Marble Halls," but her singing throughout the evening was excellent.

Elaine de Sellem, contralto, who impersonated the gipsy queen, is an excellent actress, and possesses a mezzo le ability, but her voice is somewhat buried, which mars her work. She was well received towards the end of the second act.

Joseph F. Sheehan, tenor, aroused the audience to enthusiasm in "They You'll Remember Me," and was effective in the quartets and throughout the evening. Arthur Dean's best effort was "The Heart Bowed Down," the beautiful baritone number. He, too, is a good actor.

Francis-J. Nyler, as Devilshoof, created much merriment, and in addition to possessing a rich vibrant voice, is an excellent comedian.

Florentein was effectively impersonated by Paul D. Edwards, while Helen Jane Hall and Curtis Johns also contributed to the success of the performance. The blythe gypsy choruses were rather weak from lack of numbers, but of good quality, especially the sopranos. The "Bohemian Girl" will be presented at Griffin's Theatre, Belleville, May 21, by the Boston English Opera Co.

"THE AVENGER OF THE SPANISH MAIN"

Opening a door long since too tightly closed, Mark Twain's ever youthful story of the joys and sorrows of boyhood, "Tom Sawyer," looks out many intervening years and takes us back to the old swimming hole, the pirates' cave, the little school house and the wild happiness and poignant pangs of Cupid's first attack, that little girl we loved and lost. All these delightful chapters of life's rosiest hours are brought back vividly in the screen presentation of some of the adventures of Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn, Jack Pickfors as Tom, is all boy, when he isn't pirate, and the story is delightfully depicted with its old fashioned atmosphere of the pantalette and knickerbocker days. The funeral service for the boys who came back from the dead and listened to the preacher's eulogy of their virtues is particularly rich. The school children crowded the theatre this morning at a special Tom Sawyer matinee, and were delighted with the pranks of that untamed young scamp. That story will be presented for the last time in Belleville, beginning about a quarter to nine o'clock.

Tracking down a gang of city crooks is the big assignment of a newspaper girl (Mabel Normand) in the fascinating story, "The Floor Below," the week-end feature at the Palace. For thrills and absorbing interest good acting and the finest of photographic effects this production is in a class by itself. The balance of the program is very good.

Scott and Mrs. Scott arrived in Stirling Wednesday on the 4.20 train and were received by the ringing of all the church bells, and the cheers and congratulations of a large number of friends who had assembled at the station. Lieut. Scott left Canada about two years ago, having enlisted with the 39th Battalion, and served as a gallant son of the Empire in the firing line in France, where he was wounded and afterwards invalided home.

ST. AGNES SCHOLARS ENTERTAIN

A dramtic entertainment was held last evening at St. Thomas church Parish Hall, with a large attendance. Two interesting plays entitled "The Fire Assignment" and "The Troubles at Satterlees," were presented by the pupils of St. Agnes School, under the direction of Madeleine Preston A. C. S. E. All taking part acquitted themselves in a most creditable manner, delighting the audience with their cleverness. Those taking part and the characters they represented, were as follows:

Fashion Authorizes The Tailor-made Shoe for Women

DAME Fashion has decreed that the proper shoes this year are to be conservative in both patterns and colors. The fashionable leathers will be kid and calf—and black finished footwear will be worn more extensively than heretofore.

Colors will be confined largely to white, gray and brown. Not only in Canada but in all fashion centres these will be the accepted colors.

It may be said further that Dame Fashion has for once not had undisputed sway in her decrees, because in the United States the Government called upon the manufacturers of shoes in that country to co-operate in the conservation of material, labor and money by the standardization of shoe styles as far as possible.

This does not mean that this year's shoes will be less smart or attractive, because, as a matter of fact, they are not. They are simply without the former extremes in pattern and variety of color combination.

As a matter of fact, the new designs really have advantages in comfort and economy over the more exaggerated styles of former seasons—because, as they are on the whole somewhat plainer and sturdier, they are more substantial and will wear longer wear.

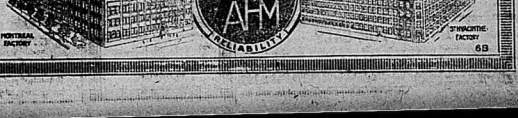

In this capacity as shoemakers to the Canadian Nation, Ames Holden McCready are in a position to determine with some authority the movements affecting style changes. We maintain a most important department devoted to studying, analysing and determining shoe fashions. This fact, combined with the great experience we get in making a tremendous number of shoes in more than eight hundred styles, is your assurance that A.H.M. shoes represent the latest and most attractive fashions.

You will find our trademark, "AHM," stamped on the sole of every shoe we make. If you have been in the habit of buying shoes that they represented as "just as good" as the best, look for the trademark on the soles of your next shoes—look for the trademark on the soles of the splendid value. But in future—on your next shoes—look for the trademark on the soles

FOREWORD.

Those strange original stories—"Tarzan of the Apes" and "The Return of Tarzan" captured the delighted fancy of millions of readers. Although they were full of thrills, "The Son of Tarzan" holds the reader's interest with wonderful tenacity and yields nothing to them in the line of breathless adventure. In this wonderful Tarzan story you will meet Tarzan himself, who is John Clayton, Lord Greystoke; Lady Greystoke, his wife; Alexis Paulvich, friend of the murderer Rokoff; Akut, the gray ape, and many others, not the least of whom is Jack Clayton, the son of Tarzan.

CHAPTER I.

Paulvich and an Ape.

THE Marjorie W.'s long boat was standing down the broad Ugamli with the tide and current. Her crew were lazily enjoying this respite from the endless labor of rowing upstream. Three miles below them lay the Marjorie W. herself, quite ready to sail so soon as they should have clambered aboard and swung the long boat to its davits.

Presently the attention of every man aboard Grant's boat was drawn to the settlement on the northern bank of the river. There, screaming at them in a confused falsetto, and with skinny arms outstretched, stood a strange apparition of a man.

"Wot in thunder?" ejaculated one of the crew.

"A white man!" muttered the mate; and then: "Man the oars, boys, and we'll just pull over an' see what he wants."

When they came close to the shore they saw an emaciated creature with scant white locks, tangled and matted.

The thin, bent body was naked save for a loin cloth. Tears were rolling down the sunken, pockmarked cheeks The man jabbered at them in a strange tongue.

"Boshun," hazarded the mate, "Savvy English?" he called to the man. The newcrew did, and in that tongue, brokenly and haltingly, as though it had been many years since he had used it, he begged them to take him with them away from this awful country. Once on board the Marjorie W. the stranger told his rescuers a pitiful tale of privation, hardships and torture, extending over a period of ten years.

How he happened to have come to Africa he did not tell them, leaving them to assume that he had forgotten the incidents of his life prior to the frightful ordeals that had wrecked his mentality and physically. His name, he said was Alexis Paulvich.

A few scraggly, yellow-white locks had supplanted the thick dark hair that had once covered his head. His limbs were bent and twisted; he walked with a shuffling, unsteady gait, his body doubled forward. His teeth were gone —knocked out by his savage masters. Even his mentality was but a sorry mockery of what it once had been.

They took him aboard the Marjorie W., and there they fed and nursed him. He gained a little in strength, but his appearance never altered for the better. He remained derelict, battered and wrecked, they had found him; a human derelict, battered and wrecked, he would remain until death claimed him. Alexis Paulvich could easily have passed for eighty.

The Marjorie W. had been chartered by a syndicate of wealthy manufacturers, equipped with a laboratory and a staff of scientists and sent out to search for some natural product which the manufacturers who footed the bills had been importing from South America at an enormous cost. What the product was none on board the Marjorie W. knew except the scientists; nor is it of any moment to us, other than that it led the ship to a certain island off the coast of Africa after Alexis Paulvich had been taken aboard.

The ship lay at anchor off the coast for several weeks. The monotony of life aboard her became trying for the crew. They went often ashore, and finally Paulvich asked to accompany them—he, too, was tiring of the lifelong sameness of existence upon the ship.

The island was heavily timbered. Dense jungle ran down almost to the beach. The scientists were far inland, prosecuting their search for the valuable commodity that native rumor said the mainland had led them to believe might be found here in marketable quantity.

The ship's company fished, hunted and explored. Paulvitch shuffled up and down the beach or lay in the shade of the great trees that skirted it.

One day, as the men were gathered at a little distance, inspecting the body of a panther that had fallen to the gun of one of them who had been hunting inland, Paulvitch lay sleeping beneath his tree. He was awakened by the touch of a hand upon his shoulder.

With a start he sat up to see a huge anthropoid ape squatting at his side inspecting him intently.

The Russian was thoroughly frightened. He glanced toward the sailors—they were a couple of hundred yards away.

Again the ape plucked at his shoulders, jabbering plaintively. Paulvitch saw no menace in the hideous face or in the attitude of the beast. He got slowly to his feet. The ape rose at his side.

Half doubled, the man shuffled cautiously away toward the sailors. The ape moved with him, talking one of his arms. They had come almost to the little knot of men before they were seen, and by this time Paulvitch had become assured that the beast meant him no harm. The animal evidently was accustomed to the association of human beings.

It occurred to the Russian that the ape represented considerable and certain money value, and before they reached the sailors he had decided that he should be the one to profit by it.

When the men looked up and saw the oddly paired couple shuffling toward them they were filled with amazement and started on a run toward the ape. The ape showed no sign of fear. Instead, he grasped each sailor by the shoulder and peered long and earnestly into his face. Having inspected them all he returned to Paulvitch's side, disappointment written strongly upon his countenance and in his carriage.

The men were delighted with him. They gathered about, asking Paulvitch many questions and examining the ape's panion. The Russian told them that the ape was his. Nothing further would be offer, but kept harping continually upon the same theme: "The ape is mine. The ape is mine."

Tiring of Paulvitch, one of the men essayed a pleasantry. Circling the ape about, he prodded the anthropoid in the back with a pin.

Like a flash the beast wheeled upon its tormentor, and in the brief instant of turning the placid, friendly animal was metamorphosed to a frenzied demon of rage.

The broad grin that had sat upon the sailor's face as he perpetrated his little jest changed to an expression of terror. He attempted to dodge the long arms that reached for him, but, failing, drew a long knife that hung at his belt.

The ape tore the weapon from the man's grasp with a single wrench and flung it to one side; then his yellow fangs were buried in the sailor's shoulder.

With sticks and knives the man's companions fell upon the beast, while Paulvitch danced around the cursing, snarling pack, mumbling and screaming pleas and threats. He saw his visions of wealth rapidly dissipating before the weapons of the sailors.

The ape, however, proved no easy victim to the superior numbers that seemed fated to overwhelm him. Rising from the sailor who had precipitated the battle, he shook his giant shoulders, freeing himself from two of the men that were clinging to his back and with mighty blows of his open palms felled one after another of his attackers, leaping hither and thither with the agility of a small monkey.

The fight had been witnessed by the captain and mate, who were just landing from the Marjorie W., and Paulvitch saw them two now running forward with drawn revolvers, while the two sailors who had brought them ashore trailed at their heels. The ape stood looking about him at the havoc he had wrought, but whether he was awaiting a renewal of the attack or was deliberating which of his foes he should exterminate first, Paulvitch could not guess.

What he could guess, however, was that the moment the two officers came within firing distance of the beast they would put an end to him in short order unless something were done, and done quickly, to prevent.

The ape had made no move to attack the Russian, but even so, the man was none too sure of what might happen were he to interfere with the savage beast, now thoroughly aroused to rage and with the smell of new spilled blood fresh in its nostrils. For an instant he hesitated, and then again there rose before him the dreams of affluence which this great aithropoid would doubtless turn to realities once Paulvitch had landed him safely in some great menagerie like London.

The captain was shouting to him now to stand aside,as he might have a shot at the beast, but instead Paulvitch shuffled to the ape's side, and, though the man's hair quivered at the contact, mastered his fear and laid hold of the animal's arm.

"Come!" he commanded, and tugged to pull the beast from among the sailors, many of whom were now sitting up in wide eyed fright or crawling away from their conqueror upon hands and knees.

Slowly the ape permitted itself to be led to one side, nor did it show the slightest indication of a desire to harm the Russian. The captain came to a halt a few paces from the odd pair.

"Get aside!" he commanded. "I'll not have you if you won't chew up any more able seamen."

"But he won't, his friend, captain," pleaded Paulvitch. "Please don't shoot him. The men started it—they attacked him first. You see, he's perfectly gentle—and he's mine—he's mine—he's mine! I won't let you kill him!" he concluded, as his half wrecked mentality pictured anew the pleasures that money would buy. In London—money! he could not hope to possess without some such windfall as the ape represented.

The captain lowered his weapon.

"The men started it, did they?" he repeated. "How about that?" and he turned toward the sailors, who had by this time picked themselves from the ground, some of them much the worse for his experience except the fellow who had been the cause of it and who

In London Paulvitch went directly with his prize to a famous animal trainer. This man was much impressed with Alex, with the result that he agreed to train him for a lion's share of the profits of exhibiting him only in addition to provide for the keep of both the ape and his owner.

And so came Alex to London, and there was forged another link in the chain of strange circumstances that were to affect the lives of many people.

CHAPTER II.
To See Alex.

MR. HAROLD MOORE was a tall, lean, countenanced, studious young man. He took himself very seriously, and his life and his work, which latter was the tutoring of the young son of Lord Greystoke, a British nobleman, he felt that his charge was not making the progress his parents had a right to expect, and he was now conscientiously examining this fact to the boy's mother.

"His sole interest seems to be feats of physical prowess and the reading of everything that he can get hold of relating to savage beasts and the lives and customs of uncivilized peoples. Particularly stories of animals appeal to him. He will sit for hours together poring over the work of some African explorer, and upon two occasions I have found him sitting up in bed at night reading Carl Hagenbeck's book on men and beasts."

For several minutes neither spoke. It was the boy's mother who finally broke the silence.

"It is very necessary, Mr. Moore," she said, "that you do everything in your power to discourage this tendency in Jack; he—"

But she got no further. A loud "Whoop!" from the direction of the window brought them back to their feet.

The room was on the second floor of the house, and opposite the window to which their attention had been attract. ed was a large tree, a branch of which spread to within a few feet of the sill.

Upon this branch they both discovered the subject of their conversation, a tall, well built boy, balancing with one hand the bending limb and literally loud shouts of glee as he noted the terrified expressions upon the faces of his audience.

The mother and tutor both rushed toward the window, but before they had crossed half the room the boy had leaped plumbly to the sill and entered the apartment with them.

"Oh, mother," he cried, "there's a wonderful educated ape being shown at one of the music halls. Willie Grimsby saw it last night. He says it can do everything but talk. It rides a bicycle, eats with knife and fork, counts up to ten and ever so many other wonderful things. And you've got to see it too! Oh, please, mother—please let me!"

Patting the boy's cheek affectionately the mother shook her head heretive. ly. "No, Jack," she said; "you know I do not approve of any exhibitions of

With Many Kinds of His Own Palms He Fanned Himself.

"I don't see why not, mother," replied the boy. "All the other fellows and girls go to the zoo, too, and you'll never let me do even that. Anybody 'd think I was a girl or—or a mollycoddle. Oh, father," he exclaimed as the door opened to admit a tall, gray eyed man—"oh, father, can't I go?"

"Go where, my son?" asked the newcomer.

"He wants to go to a music hall to see a trained ape," said the mother, looking warningly at her husband.

"Who—Alex?" questioned the man.

The boy nodded.

"Well, I don't know that I blame you, my son," said the father. "I would like to myself. I wonder if they'd let me in the side door, though; he is very wonderful and that for an animal would be a unusually large. Let's all go, Jane. What do you say?" He turned to his wife.

But that lady only shook her head in a most positive manner and, turning to the boy, asked him if it was not time that he and Jack were in the study for their usual afternoon session. When the two had left she turned toward her husband.

"I wish," the lady's husband that the boy had inherited his longing for the wild, lonely life that we have had been set on the shore of the west coast of Africa by ourselves. Since their death their infant son was stolen and mothered by an ape, and he in turn became the king of a tribe of great apes. He was known as Tarzan. After many adventures he was rescued and finally settled down in London.

"John," Lady Greystoke said, "something must be done to discourage Jack's tendency toward anything that may awaken the craving for the savage life, which, I fear, he has inherited from you. You know from your own experience how strong is the call of the wild at times. You know that often it has necessitated a stern struggle on your part to resist the utmost insane desire which occasionally overwhelms you to plunge once again into the jungle life that claimed you for so many years, and at the same time you know better than any other how frightful a fate it would be for Jack were the trail to the savage jungle made either alluring or easy to him."

"I doubt if there is any danger of his inheriting a taste for jungle life from me," replied the man, "for I cannot conceive that such a thing may be transmitted from father to son. And sometimes, Jane, I think that in your solicitude for his future you go a bit too far in your restrictive measures. His love for animals—his desire, for example, to see this trained ape—is only natural in a healthy, normal boy of his age."

And John Clayton, Lord Greystoke, put an arm about his wife, laughing good naturedly down into her upturned face before he bent his head and kissed her. Then, more seriously, he continued:

"You have never told Jack anything concerning my early life, nor have you permitted me to, and in this I think that you have made a mistake. Had I been able to tell him of the experiences of Tarzan of the Apes I could doubtless have taken much of the glamour and romance from jungle life that naturally surrounds it in the minds of those who have had no experience of it. He might then have profited by my experience; but now, should the jungle lust ever claim him, he will have nothing to guide him but his own impulses, and I know how powerful these may be in the wrong direction at times."

But Lady Greystoke only shook her head as she had a hundred times before when the subject had claimed their attention in the past.

"No, John," she insisted, "I shall never give my consent to the indulging in Jack's mind of any exhibition of the savage life from which we both strive to preserve him."

Mr. Moore's mum was next to that of his youthful charge, and it was the latter's custom to have a look into the boy's each evening as the former was about to retire. This evening he was particularly careful not to neglect this duty, for he had just come from a conference with the boy's father and mother, in which it had been impressed upon him that he must exercise the greatest care to prevent Jack visiting the music hall where Alex was being shown.

So when he opened the boy's door at about half past 9 he was greatly excited, though not entirely surprised, to find that the future Lord Greystoke had crossed to the street and about to crawl from his open bedroom window.

Mr. Moore made a flying leap across the apartment, but the wash of energy was unnecessary, for when the boy heard him within the chamber and realized that he had been discovered he turned back, as though to relinquish his planned adventure.

"Where were you going?" panted the excited Mr. Moore.

"I was going to see Alex," replied the boy quietly.

"I am astonished!" cried Mr. Moore. A moment later he was infinitely more astonished, for the boy, approaching close to him, suddenly seized him about the waist, lifted him from his feet and threw him, back downward, upon the bed, shoving his face deep into a soft pillow.

"Be quiet," admonished the victor, "or I'll choke you."

Mr. Moore struggled, but his efforts were in vain. Whatever else Tarzan of the Apes may or may not have handed down to his son, he had at least bequeathed him almost as marvelous a physique as he himself had possessed at the same age.

Kneeling upon him, Jack tore strips from a sheet and bound the man's hands behind his back. Then he rolled him over and stuffed a rag of the same material between his teeth, securing it with a stiff wound about the back of his victim's head. Next he tied Mr. Moore's feet together.

Then the son of Tarzan slipped across the room, crawled through the open window and disappeared lightly by way of the spout from upstairs rough.

Mr. Moore writhed and struggled about the bed, but he was sure that it should suffocate unless aid came quickly. In the frenzy of terror he managed to roll off the bed.

The pain and shock of the fall jolted him back somewhat like some deliberation of his plight. Where before he had been unable to think intelligently because of the hysterical fear that had claimed him, he now lay quietly searching for some means of escape from his dilemma.

The idea that he could do was to attempt to attract attention from below; and so, after many failures, he managed to work himself into a position to which he could tap the toe of his boot against the floor. This he proceeded to do at short intervals until, after what seemed a very long time, he was rewarded by hearing footsteps ascending the stairs, and presently a knock upon the door.

Mr. Moore tapped vigorously with his toe—he could not reply in any other way. The knock was repeated after a moment's silence. Again Mr. Moore tapped. Would they never open the door? Laboriously he rolled to the direction of entrance. He could get his back against the door he could then open from the inside, when surely he must be heard.

The knocking was repeated a little louder, and finally a voice called, "Mr. Jack?"

It was one of the house men. Mr. Moore recognized the fellow's voice. He came near to uttering a loud cry to let in outdoor to scream "Come in!" through the stifling gag. After a moment the man knocked again, quite loudly; and called the boy's name. Receiving no reply, he turned the knob, and at the same instant a sudden revelation filled the tutor anew with terror—he had himself locked the door behind him when he had entered the room!

He heard the servant try the door several times, and then depart. Upon which Mr. Moore swooned.

In the meantime Jack was enjoying to the full the stolen pleasures of the music hall. He had reached that temple of mirth just as Alex's act was commencing, and having purchased a box seat was now leaning breathlessly over the rail, watching every move of the great ape, his eyes wide in wonder.

The trainer was not slow to note the boy's handsome, eager face, and as one of Alex's biggest bits consisted in an entry to one or more boxes during his performance, ostensibly in search of a long lost relative, as the trainer explained, the man realized the effectiveness of sending him into the box with the handsome boy, who doubtless would be terror stricken by proximity to the shaggy, powerful beast.

When the time came therefore for the ape to return from the wings in reply to an encore, the trainer directed his attention to the boy, who chanced to be the sole occupant of the box in which he sat.

With a spring the huge anthropoid leaped from the stage to the boy's side,

The Paint That Costs The Least

is the Paint that covers the greatest surface—that takes the shortest time to apply—that wears the longest. Martin-Senour "100% Pure" Paint does all three. Here's the proof. "100% Pure" Paint covers 900 square feet of surface per gallon.

Hand-mixed-lead-and-oil, and cheap prepared paints, cover only about 500 square feet.

The greatest cost of painting is for labor. It takes less time to apply Martin-Senour "100% Pure" Paint because its fine, even texture spreads much easier.

The Son of Tarzan

But if the trainer had looked for a laughable scene of fright he was mistaken. A broad smile lighted the boy's features as he laid his hand upon the shaggy arm of his visitor. The ape, pressing she boy by other shoulder, peered long and earnestly into his face, while the latter stroked his head and talked to him in a low voice.

Never had Alax devoted so long a time to an examination of another as he did in this instance. He seemed fascinated and not a little excited, jabbering and mumbling to the boy and now caressing him as the trainer had never seen him caress a human being before. Presently he clambered over into the box with him and snuggled down close to the boy's side.

The audience was delighted, but they were still more delighted when the trainer, the period of his act having elapsed, attempted to persuade Alax to leave the box. The ape would not budge.

The manager, becoming excited at the delay, urged the trainer to greater efforts, but when the latter entered the box to drag away the reluctant Alax he was met by bared fangs and menacing growls.

The audience was delirious with joy. They cheered the ape. They cheered the boy, and they booted and jeered at the trainer and the manager, which luckless individual had inadvertently allowed himself and attempted to seize the trainer.

Finally, reduced to desperation and seeing that this show of mutiny upon the part of his valuable possession might render the animal worthless for exhibition purposes in the future if not immediately subdued, the trainer hastened to his dressing room and procured a heavy whip.

With this he now returned to the box, but when he had threatened Alax with it he found himself facing not two infuriated enemies instead of one, for the boy leaped to his feet and, seizing a chair, stood ready at the ape's side to defend his new found friend. There was no longer a smile upon his hardened face, in his gray eyes was an expression which gave the trainer pause, and beside him stood the giant anthropoid growling and ready.

What might have happened but for a timely interruption may only be surmised, but that the trainer would have received a severe mauling if nothing more was clearly indicated by the attitudes of the two who faced him.

* * * * *

It was a pale faced house man who rushed into the Greystoke library to announce that he had found Jack's door locked and had been able to obtain no response to his repeated knocking other than a strange tapping and the sound of what might have been a body moving about upon the floor.

Four steps at a time John Clayton took the stairs that led to the floor above. His wife and the servant hurried after him.

Once he called his son's name in a loud voice but, receiving no reply, he launched his great weight, backed by all the undiminished power of his gigant muscles, against the heavy door. With a snapping of iron hinges and a splintering of wood the obstacle burst inward.

At its foot lay the body of the unconscious Mr. Moore, across whom it fellwith a resounding thud. Through the opening leaped Tarzan, and a moment later the room was flooded with light from a half dozen electric bulbs.

It was several minutes before the tutor was discovered, so completely had the door covered him, but finally he was dragged forth, his gag and bonds cut away and a liberal application of cold water hastened his recovery.

"Where is Jack?" was John Clayton's first question, and then, "Who did this?"

Slowly Mr. Moore staggered to his feet. His gaze wandered about the room. Gradually he collected his scattered wits. The details of his recent harrowing experience returned to him.

"I tender my resignation, sir, to take effect at once," were his first words. "You do not need a tutor for your son —what he needs is a wild animal trainer."

"But where is he?" cried Lady Greystoke.

"He has gone to see Alax."

It was with difficulty that Tarzan restrained a smile, and after satisfying himself that the tutor was more scared than injured, he ordered his closed car around and departed in the direction of a certain well known music hall.

CHAPTER III.

Esh Pastvitch.

As the trainer, with raised lash, hesitated an instant at the entrance to the box where the boy and the ape confronted him, a tall, broad shouldered man pushed past him and entered. As his eyes fell upon the scene before a slight flush mounted the boy's cheeks.

"Father!" he exclaimed.

The ape gave one look at the English lord and then leaped toward him, sailing out in excited jabbering. The man, his eyes going wide with astonishment, stopped as though turned to stone.

"Alax!" he cried.

The boy looked, bewildered, from the ape to his father, and from his father to the ape. The trainer's jaw dropped as he listened to what followed, for from the lips of the Englishman flowed the gutturals of an ape that were answered in kind by the lugs anthropoid that now clung to him.

And from the wings a hideously bent and disfigured old man watched the tableau in the box; his pockmarked features working spasmodically in varying expressions that might have marked every sensation in the gamut from pleasure to terror.

"Long have I looked for you, Tarzan," said Akut. "Now that I have found you I shall wreak to your heart's content my vengeance upon you and Professor Archimedes Q. Porter."

The man stroked the beast's head. Through his mind was passing rapidly a train of recollections that carried him far into the depths of the primeval African forest, where the big ape, manlike in form, and fought shoulder to shoulder with human years before. He saw the black Mugambi wielding the deadly knob stick and beside them, with bared fangs and bristling whiskers, Sheeta the panther and pressing close behind, savage as the savage panther, the hideous Akut.

The man sighed. Strong within him surged the fierce jungle lust that he had thought dead. Ah, if he could go back even for a brief month of it; to feel again the brush of leafy branches against his naked body; to smell the musty rot of dead vegetation—frankincense and myrrh to the Jungle born—to sense the noiseless padding of the great carnivore upon his trail; to hunt and to be hunted; to kill!

The picture was alluring. And then came another picture—a sweet faced woman, still young and beautiful; friends; a home; a son. He shrugged his giant shoulders.

"I cannot be, Akut," he said. "But if you would return I shall see that it is done. You could be happy here; I may not be happy there."

The trainer stepped forward. The ape bared his fangs, growling.

"Go with him, Akut," said Tarzan of the Apes. "I will come and see you tomorrow."

The beast moved sullenly to the trainer's side. The latter, at John Clayton's request, told where they might be found. Tarzan turned toward his son.

"We" he said, and the two left the theater. Neither spoke for several minutes after they had entered the limousine. It was the boy who broke the silence.

"The ape knew you," he said. "and you spoke together in the ape's tongue. How did the ape know you, and how did you learn his language?"

And then, slowly and for the first time, Tarzan of the Apes told his son of his early life—of his birth in the jungle, of the death of his parents and of how Kala, the great she ape, had nursed and suckled him from infancy almost to manhood.

He told him, too, of the dangers and the horrors of the jungle—of the great beasts that stalked one by day and by night;of the perils of drought and of the cataclysmic rains; of hunger, of cold, of intense heat, of sickness and of almost suffering.

He told him of all those things that seem most horrible to the creature of civilization in the hope that the knowledge of them might segregate from the boy's mind any inherent desire for the life of the jungle. Yet they were the very things that made the memory of the jungle what it was to Tarzan—that made up the composite jungle he loved.

And in the telling he forgot one thing—the principal thing—that the boy to whom he was listening so eagerly was the son of Tarzan of the Apes.

When the boy had been tucked away in bed John Clayton told his wife of the events of the evening and that he had at last acquainted the boy with the facts of his jungle life. The mother, who had long foreseen that her son must some time know of those frightful years, listened with bated breath and roamed the jungle, a naked, savage beast of prey, about her head hugging against hope that the boy she knew was still strong in the fathers breast had not been transmitted to his son.

Tarzan visited Akut the following day, but though Jack begged to be allowed to accompany him, he was refused. This time Tarzan saw the pockmarked face of Esh Pastvitch, the Russian, and the latter's evil eyes gloated upon the scene.

Pandora Range Reservoir is and does

One thing a hot water reservoir should do—heat water. And one thing it should be—easy to clean.

The Pandora fine system does the one—heats the water by carrying a continuous steady volume of heat to and along the length and depth of the reservoir.

The Pandora reservoir is easy to clean because it is seamless porcelain—enamelled white, with round ends. It can be lifted out with ease and washed as readily as a vegetable dish.

Different from the old-time, dark, built-in metal "tank" that had to be emptied with a dipper and cleaned by guess.

But the reservoir of the Pandora Range is modern, convenient, sanitary and good to look at, just like the Pandora is in every other way.

The Ford Saves the Hay and Oats the Horses Eat

IT HAS been estimated that five acres of land are required to maintain one horse for a year, and that the same five acres would produce nearly enough food for two people. If 50,000 Canadian farmers each replaced one horse with a Ford, 250,000 acres would be added to the Nation's reserves of food supply and enough extra food made available to feed 100,000 people.

Just think what a great service this means to the country at the present time and the benefit to the farmers from the sale of food produced on this acreage.

A Ford car also saves the farmer a week or more of valuable time each year, which can be used for further productive work. The Ford travels three times as fast as a horse and requires less to run and keep, and is far easier to take care of. With labor so scarce and high priced, time means money, so do not delay in getting your Ford.

The Son of Tarzan

mal had old custom of the ape, whom he did not recognize as the wily Paulvitch of former days. Tarzan, influenced by Akut's greeting, decided the question of the ape's purpose, but Paulvitch would not name, for fear of saying that he would consider the matter.

When Tarzan returned home Jack was all excitement to hear the details of his visit, and finally suggested that his father buy the ape and bring it home. Lady Greystoke was horrified at the suggestion.

The boy was insistent. Tarzan explained that he had wished to purchase Akut and return him to his jungle home, and to this the mother assented. The old fellow himself replied to his knocking, and when Jack stated that he had come to see Akut, opened the door and admitted him to the little room which he and the great ape occupied.

At sight of the youth the ape leaped to the floor and shuffled forward. The man, not recognizing his visitor and fearing that the ape was attacking him, stepped between them, ordering the ape back to the bed.

"He will not hurt me," cried the boy. "We are friends, and before, he was my father's friend." They knew one another in the jungle. My father is Lord Greystoke. He does not know that I have come here. My mother forbade my coming, but I wished to see Akut, and I will pay you if you will let me come here often to see him."

Paulvitch encouraged the boy to come and see him often, and always he played upon the lad's craving for tales of the savage world, with which Paulvitch was all too familiar. He left him alone with Akut much, and it was not long until he was surprised to learn that the boy could make the great beast understand him—that he had actually learned much of the primitive language of the anthropoids.

During this period Tarzan came several times to visit Paulvitch. He escaped anxious to purchase Akut, and at last he told the man frankly that he was prompted not only by a desire on his part to return the beast to the liberty of his native jungle, but also because his wife feared that in some way her son might learn the whereabouts of the ape and through his attachment for the beast become imbued with the roving instinct which, as Tarzan explained to Paulvitch, had so influenced his own life.

The Russian could scarce repress a smile as he listened to Lord Greystoke's words, for scarce a half hour had passed since the future Lord Greystoke had been sitting upon the disordered bed, jabbering away to Akut with all the fluency of a born ape.

It was during this interview that a plan occurred to Paulvitch, and as a result of it he agreed to accept a fabulous sum for the ape and upon receipt of the money to deliver the beast to a vessel that was sailing south from Dover for Africa two days later.

Everything played into Paulvitch's hands. As chance would have it, Tarzan's son overheard his father relating to the boy's mother the steps he was taking to return Akut safely to his jungle home, and, baffling overheard, he begged them to bring the ape home that he might have him for a playfellow. Tarzan would not have been averse to this plan, but Lady Greystoke was horrified at the very thought of it.

Jack pleaded with his mother, but all unavailingly. She was obdurate, and at last the lad appealed to acquiesce in his mother's decision that the ape must be returned to Africa and the boy to school, from which he had been absent upon a vacation.

He did not attempt to visit Paulvitch's room again that day, but instead busied himself in other ways. He had always been well supplied with money, so that when necessity demanded he had no difficulty in collecting several hundred pounds.

Some of this money he invested in various strange purchases, which he managed to smuggle into the house undetected when he returned late in the afternoon.

The next morning, after giving his father time to precede him and conclude his business with Paulvitch, the lad hastened to the Russian's room. Knowing nothing of the man's true character, the boy dared not take him fully into his confidence for fear that the old fellow would not only refuse him aid, but would report the whole affair to his father.

Instead, he simply asked permission to take Akut to Dover. He explained that it would relieve the old man of a tiresome journey, as well as placing a number of pounds in his pocket, for the lad purposed paying for Russian well.

"You see," he went on, "there will be no danger of detention, since I am supposed to be leaving on an afternoon train for school. Instead I will remain here after they've left me on the train. Then I can take Akut to Dover; you see, and arrive at school only a day late. No one will be the wiser, no harm will be done, and I shall have had an extra day with Akut before I lose him forever."

That afternoon Lord and Lady Greystoke bade their son goodby and saw him safely settled in a first class compartment of the railway carriage that would set him down at school in a few hours. No sooner had they left him, however, than he gathered his bags together, descended from the compartment and sought a cab stand outside the station. Here he engaged a cabby to take him to the Russian's address.

It was dusk when he arrived. He found Paulvitch awaiting him. The man was packing the floor nervously.

The ape was tied with a stout cord to the bed rail. It was the first time that Jack had ever seen Akut thus secured.

His loathsome countenance at Paulvitch. The man unblushingly explained that he believed the animal had planned to kill him in the night, and that he feared he would attempt to escape.

Paulvitch carried another piece of cord in his hand. There was a noose in one end of it, which he was continually playing with. He walked back and forth, up and down the room. His pockmarked features were working horribly as he talked silently to himself. The boy had never seen him thus.

It was uncanny.

At last Paulvitch stopped on one of his visits and faced Jack across the ape.

"Come here," he said to the lad. "I am afraid you have to secure the ape should he show signs of rebellion during the trip."

The lad laughed. "It will not be necessary," he replied. "Akut will do whatever I tell him to do."

The old man stamped his foot angrily. "Come here, I tell you," he repeated, "or I will not let you have the ape shall not accompany the ape to Dover. I will take no chances upon his escaping."

Still smiling, the lad crossed the room and stood before the ape.

"Turn around, with your back toward me," directed the latter, "so I can show you how to bind him quickly."

The boy did as he was bid, placing his hands behind him when Paulvitch told him to do so. Instantly the old man slipped the running noose over one of the lad's wrists, took a couple of half hitches about his other wrist and knotted the cord. The moment that the boy was secured the attitude of the man changed. He had known and bitterly hated Tarzan in Africa years before, for Tarzan had broken up his business as a slave dealer. Now, with an ample revenge in his wheedled hands at last, tripped him and hurled him violently to the floor, leaping upon his breast as he fell. From the bed the ape growled and struggled with his bonds. The boy did not cry—not a trait inherited from his savage sire, who during years in the jungle following the death of his foster mother, Kala, the great ape, had learned that there was none to come to the succor of the fallen.

Paulvitch's fingers sought the lad's throat. He grinned down horribly into the face of his victim.

"Your father ruined me," he mumbled. "This will pay him. He will think that the ape did it. I will tell him that the ape did it; that I left him alone for a few minutes and that you sneaked in and the ape killed you. I will throw your body upon the bed after I have killed the ape myself, and when I bring your father he will see the ape standing over you and the twisted bend carried in gloating laughter.

His fingers closed upon the boy's throat.

Behind them the growling of the maddened beast reverberated against the walls of the little room. The boy paled, but no other sign of fear or panic showed upon his countenance. He was the son of Tarzan. The fingers tightened their grip upon his throat. It was with difficulty that he breathed—gaspingly.

The ape lunged against the stout cord that held him. Turning, he wrapped the cord about his hands, as a man might have done, and surged heavily against it, the muscles about and beneath his shaggy hide.

His Hideous Face Went White in Terror—He Was Free!

There was a sudden snap as of splintered wood—the cord held, but a portion of the footboard of the bed came away.

At the sound Paulvitch looked up. His hideous face went white in terror—the ape was free!

With a single bound the creature was upon him. The man shrieked. The brute overturned him upon the body of the boy. Great fingers sank into his throat. Tarzan of the apes crept close to the throat—he struggled futilely—and then they closed, and the soul of Alexis Paulvitch passed into the keeping of the demons who had long been awaiting him.

The boy struggled to his feet, assisted by Akut. Then, obedient to the lad's instructions, the ape worked upon the knots that secured his friend's wrists. Finally they gave up their secret, and the boy was free.

He cut the cord that still dangled from the ape's body. Then he opened one of his bags and drew forth some garments.

His plans had been well made. He did not commit the beast, which did all

CHAPTER IV.

How Sheol's Mystery.

THE killing of the friendless old Russian by his great trained ape was not a matter for newspaper comment for a few days. Lord Greystoke read of it, and, while taking partial precautions not to permit his name to become connected with the affair, himself well posted as to the police search for the assassin.

As was true of the general public, his chief interest in the matter concerned itself with the mysterious disappearance of the slayer, or at least this was true until he learned several days subsequent to the tragedy that his son Jack had not reported at the boarding school, en route for which they had seen him safely enamoured in a railway carriage.

Even then the father did not connect the disappearance of his son with the mystery surrounding the whereabouts of the ape, nor was it until a month after that eventful investigation revealed the fact that the boy had left the train before it pulled out of the station at London and the cab driver had been found who had driven him to the address of the old Russian that Tarzan of the Apes realized that Akut had in some way been connected with the disappearance of the boy.

Beyond the moment that the cab driver had deposited his fare beside the curb in front of the house in which the Russian had been quartered there was no clew. No one had seen either the boy or the ape from that instant, at least of those who still lived. The proprietor of the house identified the picture of the lad as that of one who had been a frequent visitor in the room of the old man. Aside from this he knew nothing.

And there at the door of a grimy old cuddling in the slums of London the searchers came to a blank wall—baffled.

The day following the death of Alexis Paulvitch a youth accompanying his betrayal grandmother boarded a steamer at Dover. The old lady was heavily veiled and, weakened by age and sickness that also had to be wheeled aboard the vessel in an invalid chair.

The boy would permit no one but himself to wheel her and with his own hands assisted her from the chair to the interior of their stateroom—and then was the last that was seen of the old lady by the ship's company until the pair disembarked. The boy even insisted upon doing the work of their cabin steward, since, as a waiter aboard the vessel was suffering from a nervous indisposition that made the presence of strangers extremely distasteful to her.

Among the passengers there was an Algerian named Conlon, a blackleg and a crook; who was "wanted" by half a dozen of the larger cities of the United States. He had paid little attention to the boy until on one occasion he had seen him accidentally display a roll of banknotes. From then on Conlon cultivated the youthful fiction.

He learned easily enough, that the boy was traveling alone with his invalid grandmother and that their destination was a small port of call on the coast of Africa, a little below the equator; that their name was Billings and that they had no friends in the little settlement for which they were bound. Upon the point of their purpose during the place, Conlon found the boy reticent, and so he did not push the matter—he had learned all that he cared to know as it was.

At last came the day that the steamer dropped anchor in the lee of a wooded promontory, where a score or more of sheet iron shacks, rusting an unsightly hue upon the fair face of nature, proclaimed the fact that civilization had set its heel. Straggling upon the outskirts were the thatched huts of native villages in their primeval savagery, harmonizing with the landground of tropical jungle and accentuating the squalid hideousness of the white man's pioneer architecture.

The boy, leaning over the rail, was looking far beyond the man made town, peering into the God made jungle. A little shiver of anticipation tingled his spine, and then, quite without volition, he found himself mentally gazing into the lowering eyes of his mother and the strong face of the father which mirrored beneath its masculine strength a love no less than the mother's eyes proclaimed. He felt himself weakened in his resolve.

The task of lowering the boy's grandmother over the side to a waiting canoe was rather difficult. The lad insisted on being always at her side, and when at last she was safely ensconced in the bottom of the craft that was to bear them shoreward her grandson dropped nimbly after her.

So interested was he in seeing her comfortably disposed that he failed to observe the little package that had worked from his pocket as he assisted in lowering the sling that contained the old woman over the steamer's side, nor did he notice it even as it slipped out entirely and dropped into the sea.

Scarcely had the boat containing the boy and the old woman started for the shore than Conlon hailed a canoe on the other side of the ship and after bargaining with its owner finally lowered his baggage and himself aboard. Eyes ashore he kept out of sight of the two stony atrocity that bore the legend "Hotel" to lure unsuspecting wayfarers to its many discomforts.

It was quite dark before he ventured to enter and arrange for accommodations.

In a back room upon the second floor the lad was explaining not without considerable difficulty to his grandmother that he had decided to return to England upon the next steamer. He had not made this decision definitely in the old lady that she might remain in Africa if she wished, but that for his part his conscience dictated that he return to his father and mother, who doubtless were even now suffering untold misery because of his disappearance, from which it may be assumed that his parents had not been acquainted with the plans that he and the old lady had made for their adventures into African wilds.

Having come to a decision, he did not a sense of relief from the worry that had haunted him for many sleepless nights. When he closed his eyes in sleep it was to dream of a happy reunion with those at home, and when he dreamed fair, cool and inviolable, crept stealthily upon him through the dark corridor of the mental battlefield in which he slept—Fate in the form of the American crook Conlon.

Cautiously the man approached the door of the lad's room. There he reached, listening, until assured by the regular breathing of those within that both slept.

Quietly he inserted a slim steel entry in the lock of the door. With deft fingers, long accustomed to the delicate manipulation of the bars and bolts that guarded other men's property, Conlon turned the key and the knob noiselessly. Gentle pressure upon the door swung it slowly inward upon its hinges. The man entered the room, closing the door behind him.

The moon was temporarily overcast by heavy clouds. The interior of the apartment was shrouded in gloom. Conlon groped his way toward the bed.

In the far corner of the room something moved—moved with a silent stealthiness which transcended even the rushed silence of the burglar. Conlon heard nothing. His attention was directed upon the bed, in which he thought to find a young boy and his helpless, invalid grandmother.

The American sought only the booty. If he could possess himself of this without detection, well and good, but were due to meet resistance he was prepared for that too. The lad's clothes lay across a chair beside the bed.

The American's fingers fell calmly through them—the pockets contained no roll of crisp, new notes. Instead there were beneath the pillows of the bed.

He stepped closer toward the sleeper; his hand was already buried beneath the pillow when the thick cloud that had obscured the moon rolled aside and the room was flooded with light. At the same instant the lad opened his eyes and looked straight into those of Conlon. The man was suddenly conscious that the boy was alone in the bed. Then he felt his wrists seized by the boy and realized that beneath the thin bedding white sinews played muscles of steel.

He felt other hands at his throat, rough, hairy hands that reached over his shoulders from behind. He heard a terrified glance backward, and the hairs of his head stiffened at the sight his eyes revealed, for crowding him from the rear was a huge, manlike ape.

The beast's fingers found the throat they sought were close to his throat. The lad pinioned his wrists. Neither uttered a sound.

Where was the grandmother? Conlon's eyes raveled in search for a single, all inclusive glance. His eyes bulged in horror at the realization of the truth which that glance revealed. In the power of what creatures of hideous mystery had he placed himself?

Frantically he fought to beat off the boy so he could turn upon the fiendish thing at his back. Tossing one hand, he struck a savage blow at the lad's face.

His act seemed to unloose a thousand devils in the hairy arms that clung to his throat. Conlon heard a low and savage snarl. It was the last thing that the American ever heard in this life. Then he was dragged backward upon the floor, a heavy body fell upon him, powerful teeth fastened themselves in his jugular, his head whirled in the sudden, fatal, quick wrench of a mighty jerk.

A moment later the ape rose from his prostrate form. This Conlon did not know—he was quite dead.

The lad, horrified, sprang from the bed to look low over the body of the man. He knew Akut had killed him in his defense, as he had killed Paulvitch. But here in Africa, away from all from home and friends, what would they do to him and his faithful ape?

The lad knew that the penalty of murder was death. He even knew that no accomplice might suffer the death penalty with the principal. Who was there here who would plead for them? All would be against them. It was little more than a half civilized community, and the chances were that they would drag Akut and him forth in the morning and hang them both in the nearest tree. He had read of such things being done in America, and Africa was worse even than the great west of his mother's native land.

Yes, they would both be hanged in the morning.

Last evening he had been determined to start for home at the first opportunity to beg the forgiveness of his parents for this mad adventure. Now he knew that he might never return to them. The blood of a fellow man was upon his hands. In his morbid reflections he had long since ceased to attribute the death of Conlon to the ape. The hysteria of panic had fastened the guilt upon himself.

Now he turned toward Akut.

"Come!" he said in the language of the great apes. Forgetful of the fact that he wore only a thin jujuba roll, he led the way to the open window. Thrusting his head out, he listened attentively. A single tree grew a few feet from the window.

PARLIAMENTARY PRIVILEGE

Toronto Globe

As a lawyer he has had experience on the Bench. Mr. H. D. McKenzie, the member for Cape Breton, ought to be specially qualified to watch evidence and to discuss questions in a judicial spirit and manner. His speech in the House of Commons on Thursday, second to question, for implication, the probity of certain transactions by the Imperial Munitions Board and its Chairman. Nothing in the testimony or facts adduced by Mr. McKenzie supported a charge of impropriety, or warranted even the insinuation conveyed in his statements. When parliamentary privilege is abused the newspapers unwittingly inflict injustice by reporting men whom they have a right to assume are speaking with a full sense of the responsibility as members of Parliament.

What with the new federal taxes and food board regulations, Canadians have entered a plain living, but whether this can also induce high thinking remains to be seen.

:: GOOD HEALTH IN WAR TIME ::

St. Andrews-by-the-Sea, on Passamaquoddy Bay! The climate means effort is valuable by you can't be unpleasant time the summer. To how of our Provinces (2 hours to keep ourselves in the best possible physical and mental condition without healthy vigor we are unable to aid to the fullest in the prosecution of the war. Living throughout the year every day, and often at night patriotic people are liable to find themselves under considerable nervous strain, and tabbing the matter over they say: "I am too busy to take A holiday, though I know that it is what I need." They continue to work but with dwindling results. But if, instead of deciding on having no holidays they took a rest for a week, their health would undoubtedly be so improved that they would soon be able to make up for the time they were absent from work. Even engines made of steel cannot be kept going incessantly on coal and water; much less human flesh and blood cannot do. A healthy holiday in war time helps to win the war.

Canada is fortunate above all other countries in possessing hosts of health resorts by the seashore or in the lakes and forests inland, or in the stupendous ranges of the Rockies. The Americans of the United States know this, and come here every summer in ever increasing numbers. Summer resorts, however, like professions, boats, are not always sufficiently recognized in their own country, and there are not a few who wonder why so many Philadelphians and New Yorkers, and Bostonians should be so passionately devoted, for instance, to St. Andrews-by-the-Sea, or Brunswick. Yet there is good reason for this. The blue waters of Passamaquoddy Bay offer, splendid bathing and sea bathing, true sea bathing, for those who like to indulge in to the full in the pleasures of the visitors. The country round St. Andrews-by-the-Sea is rich in charming walks and drives. A delightful bathing beach where the swimmer at Katie's Cove, and there is fishing and boating for, so we have a mind for such.

One of the popular sport attractions is a Bowling Green. Lawn bowlers and interested spectators may be found upon it at all hours of the day or night. Being electrically lighted, the sport need not cease with the waning of the daylight.

Golf, however, is without doubt the game at St. Andrews-by-the-Sea. The links are famous for and with Hither at one time or another have all golf countries, for St. Andrews does not draw clientele from the United States. Every expert in golf knows that the Royal and Ancient Game is to be enjoyed to perfection only on a seaside course, and the course at St. Andrews has this great advantage. It also has the advantage of being a professional, John Pakenham, who can tell out the links that they are in the most sporting of their kind in North America. By following the little white ball over that wondrous course and out on Joe's Point overlooking the sparkling waters that lap those rocky sands and then slip back into the front one is more than ever conscious of the beauty of the scene.

Child Of Eleven Was Bootlegger's Tool

Used As Traveling Link Between Source Of Supply In Montreal And Receipt In Toronto

TORONTO, May 20.—Who would think of finding large consignments of the forbidden liquor in the suit case of a young and charming lady of fashion attractive with long hair, eleven summers? There was a brakeman on the Grand Trunk and he had his suspicions, which he communicated to Miss Sweetman of the Traveler's Aid, a lady who is always on duty in the cause of social uplift at the Union Station. Miss Sweetman took prompt action, which resulted yesterday morning in the arrest of an Austrian whose little daughter was the contraband-ite.

Last week it was noticed that a pretty little girl with fair hair was travelling a lot between Toronto and Montreal, and was sent off at Montreal with two suit cases by a woman and met in the city by a man thought to be her father. In one of the trips the little girl had a baby brother with her, but even this camouflage of infant innocence was not proof to conceal the nature of her baggage.

Yesterday the arrest was made at the Don Station, and the weeping child and her father with the suit cases filled with liquor were all taken charge of by the police, and once more the supplies of the blind pig are cut off.

See No Need For Assembly Now

TORONTO, May 20.—At the annual general meeting of the Local Preachers' Brotherhood of the Toronto Methodist Conference, the meeting being held in Elm street Methodist Church, the following resolution was unanimously carried:

"That in consideration of the present war conditions which call upon every individual and organization to practice the utmost economy, the Local Preachers' Brotherhood of the Toronto Conference believes it would not be inconsistent with this spirit to convene the General Conference of the Methodist Church of Canada this year."

The reason given is as follows:

"Because it would occasion a seemingly unwarranted outlay of over six thousand dollars—when there are no questions that we are aware of for the consideration of the Conference so vital that would not permit of postponement until the termination of the great world struggle for liberty."

"We would suggest and earnestly urge," the resolution concludes, "that in this emergency the present General Conference officers and executive work out some plan whereby they could act for the conference in the carrying of the work and still be acting in harmony with the spirit of our discipline."

Fast Chicago Express Collides Head-On With Freight Train

Meet on a Bridge C.P.R. Fireman and Brakeman Are Killed in Collision at Mud Lake—Hurled Down 80 Feet—Men in Engine Cab and Baggage Car Have Thrilling Escape

SMITH'S FALLS, May 20—On the bridge eighty feet over Mud Lake, twenty-two miles from here on the C. P. R., the express train which left Toronto Saturday night just before midnight for Montreal and a freight train bound from here for Trenton met in a head-on collision at 4.05 Sunday morning, resulting in the death of a fireman and brakeman and injury to other members of the train crews. Both engines reduced to the scrap heap, the baggage car and three or four freight cars went rolling down the embankment. A baggageman was down with his car and had a thrilling escape as did others of the two crews. None of the engineers or firemen, including five, jumped, as they had only the choice of staying with their engines or jumping down into Mud Lake, fully eighty feet.

TWO ARE KILLED

The two men who met their death in the collision were Fireman K. Butland Trenton, of the express, and Brakeman J. H. Martin of the freight, whose home was at St. John, N. B. Both were young men and unmarried. They were asleep in the cab of the freight and two in the cab of the express train.

Like the baggageman, the engineer of the express, William Burnett of Smith's Falls, had a remarkable escape from death, as he was thrown down the embankment, getting off with a few scratches. Fireman Martin's mom, who was also on the freight train received some nasty bruises about the head and body. Engineer Yeo of the freight was seriously burned and injured. There were eighty passengers on the express, but railway officials said last night that none had been hurt. Experts who examined the wreck today said the fact that the Trenton train was of cold steel construction probably accounted for the escape of all the passengers.

Most of the surgeons and doctors who could be spared were sent from the local hospital in charge of Dr. Gray and accompanied the auxiliary, and were early on the scene. The C. P. R. officials made up a special train, taking the passengers on to Montreal.

PLACING THE BLAME

An investigation was begun by the railway officials to place the blame for the collision. An inquest has also been held by Dr. Preston Attorney when the full facts will be brought out. One railwayman said that the freight train should have taken the express pass at Glen Tay. It is alleged that the freight had orders to proceed to Trenton and here to Trenton with right of way to passenger trains.

Why the freight did not stop at Glen Tay or wait for the passenger train, it was said has not yet been explained.

This will be brought out at the inquest and railway inquiry.

WRECKAGE BURNED

The engineer and fireman of the passenger train were slightly injured, but many of the passengers, who were in their berths, were considerably shaken up, but none was injured sufficiently to require medical care. The bodies of the two trainmen who were killed were removed to Christie Lake for the inquest.

The express engine was completely burned, and the burned remains of the fireman were seen in the smouldering coal of the tender this afternoon. It is thought that all passengers escaped from the burned coaches. Fire of the passenger coaches remained on the track, and were taken to Tichborne line via Sharbot Lake and down the old line of the C. P. R. to Smith's Falls. The others, including the burned coaches, left the track just at the edge of the bridge, and were burned at the edge of a seventy-foot embankment.

The auxiliary wreck train was sent from Trenton early Sunday morning, picking up Roadmaster Long, who lives in Belleville, at this station.

KINGSTON, May 20.—Pte. Eric Steele of Ottawa, who was killed near Gananoque in an automobile accident, was a member of the Army Service Corps here. His two companions, Pte. Leo O'Neil and Sergt. Mullen, both of Kingston, escaped with minor injuries. The three young men left here Thursday afternoon in O'Neil's motor car. Instead of taking a curve in the road beside which there is a large rock, the driver allowed the car to go ahead into a pond, in which it upset. Pte. Steele was in the rear seat and it is supposed he was stunned when the car overturned, consequently was smothered in the water. An inquest was opened at Gananoque this evening by Coroner Campbell of Lansdowne.

Belleville Women Knit Weekly In "Rainbow Circles"

Twenty Circles, With Twenty Members in Each, Turn Out 1,000 Socks Monthly—A Model Organization Started Just After The War Broke (Toronto Star Weekly).

In the first month after war was declared, Belleville women organized their Ylfaibee Circles." They have twenty of them with twenty women in each. A few circles are made up of young unmarried women, and the others of married women. Each circle has its own particular color. When a pair of socks is completed it is marked with the Circle color and all are handed to the convener, who in turn passes them on to the Red Cross Society. The mark of the Circle color gives the convener a chance to tally up and see which Circle has done its duty for the week or month. Each woman is supposed to complete at least one pair of socks a week. The combined Circles' work always tally up over 1,000 pairs a month.

Lately they have taken to having some of the "legs" knitted by a machine, and the Circle women hand-knit the feet. So to each meeting the convener comes with a supply of "legs" and a big quantity of wool. The other day I was knitted by a woman who has a machine in her home and is glad to do it for 10 cents a pair. She does her "bit" by her low charge.

Each circle meets once a week at the home of some member. By 7 o. 6.30 o'clock, so they get in a good bit of knitting during that time. There is a two-hour social talking while the knitting is going on. Then of course, the knitting is taken home and worked at by many. Towards the close of this week's knitting party a cup of tea is served with a slice or two of bread and butter or biscuits. The rules make the "eats" are very strict, and no one is allowed to go beyond this simple menu, for the Rainbow Circles are out to do business and comprise intelligent, patriotic women. If any of the members live in apartments or board and cannot thus take their turn at entertaining their circle they are allowed "the privilege" of paying in a dollar or so instead. Some members pay a 10-cent weekly fee, which helps to buy wool. The younger circles, however, pay a 10-cent fee, while the 25-cent fee is paid by those belonging to older circles.)

The "Rainbows" had no difficulty in finding the wherewithal to buy wool. One of their fetes was on a big scale and held in the Armories. At this each of the twenty Circles had decorated in colors of its circle, and sold a different that circle saw fit to sell. Then they had "showers" for the boys' Christmas boxes. And hope when "the boys come home" to give them some kind of a big celebration. "Everything goes on without the slightest friction. We never have any quarreling, and we've got accomplished wonders," said an enthusiastic member. "Then it's not the women members only with each circle band together of their shells' and helped keep them from feeling so blue over the war by their weekly gatherings are so friendly and nice."

No doubt a great deal of the success of these circles is due to Mrs. Rowland, the originator of the Rainbow Circle idea, Mrs. (Dr.) Yeomans—she is the convener. Mrs. Yeomans has thrown herself heart and soul into the work. Her two sons were amongst the first away with their rifles. Belleville boy to enlist for overseas service. One of them is now a prisoner in Germany, the other killed in action. So, to this and the other soldiers' mothers in the Rainbow Circles no doubt the "rainbow" idea comes as a reminder that the rainbow is God's "bow of promise" and ever stands as a signal of hope and beautiful and full of sentiment thought to knit in with their stitches. Even the Kaiser cannot destroy the rainbow and its message.

ADMISSION—25 CENTS.

With the approach of warm weather the reach of war-time purses is so unusual that it is safe to say that the Griffin Theatre will be packed from pit to dome.

"THE AVENGING TRAIL"

At the Palace tonight to Wednesday Harold Lockwood will appear in an excellent photoplay called "The Avenging Trail," the scenes of which are all laid in the lumber camps of the North Country and give ample scope to Mr. Lockwood's talent as a hunter and trapper and also shows his ability as a lumberman and river driver. Owing to the heavy cost of film caused by the new tax put on the film exchanges and theatres, the Griffin Amusement Company are compelled to raise the matinee admission price.

Elsie Ferguson at Griffin's in The Rise of Jennie Cushing, is here again tonight and Wednesday in a new photoplay entitled The Lie. This photoplay will give Miss Ferguson a new scope for her talents than in any photoplay that she has appeared in to date. The scenes of the picture are laid in England; the cast is an excellent one, the players being all specially selected for this photoplay. On the same program as beautiful Virginia Ferguson is appearing in a new photoplay called Thou Shalt Not Steal. In this photoplay she displays the rare Mary Bruce, a girl with fighting blood who has a mind and will of her own especially concerning matrimonial matters.

Judging from the many comments being made on the opening chapter of the new serial, The Eagle's Eye, the number two chapter should just about fill Griffin's to capacity, as each chapter is founded on events that happened in the life of William J. Flynn, only recently retired chief of the United States Secret Service.

Severe Pains In The Back

Told of Kidney Trouble—Was Unable to Work, But Finally Found a Cure By Using This Well-known Medicine.

Gananoque, May 20.—There is plenty of enthusiasm in this town for Dr. Chase's Medicines, and many people ready with good reports of cures effected.

There seems to be no treatment for kidney derangements which proves effective in such a large proportion of cases as does Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. This is because the liver and bowels are usually lowered as well as the kidneys, and this medicine overcomes the disease because it acts directly on these organs at once.

Mrs. W. Higgins, John St., Gananoque, Ont., writes: "My husband has been one of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for the last thirteen years. Previous to that he had several attacks of kidney trouble, accompanied by severe pains in his back. He became so bad that he was unable to work. Finally he started using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and the results were surprising. He quite soon improved and by using an occasional Kidney-Liver Pill he wards off recurrent attacks, and has never had any trouble since. We also use Dr. Chase's Ointment in our home and find it an excellent salve."

Mrs. James Bishop, Stone St., N., Gananoque, Ont., writes: "We have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in our home for some time, and find them an excellent remedy for pains in the back. They seem to help the stomach and kidneys to do their work more effectively. We are pleased to recommend them to others."

"THE BOHEMIAN GIRL"

The famous Boston English Opera Company, direct from the Princess Theatre, Toronto, will present "The Bohemian Girl" at Griffin's Theatre Tuesday, May 21. No event of the current season has created as much interest as the announcement that the Boston English Opera Company is coming to Belleville with a record of four months' success in Toronto, as well as Milwaukee, St. Louis, St. Paul and Minneapolis and San Francisco, where it was one of the sensations of the theatrical season. The same popular scale of prices which are a source of wonder wherever this organization plays, will prevail here.

"It is an unusual thing for city papers to refer to prices of a theatrical attraction, but this remarkable company is the foremost stars on the English singing stage and an excellent chorus which started homes with the principals, is so far ahead of most two dollar attractions that the weekly comment was: "How can they do it for such low prices?

"Every house such a company at any price is a treat, to hear it at prices within the reach of all."

THIS WEAK, NERVOUS MOTHER

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I was very weak, always tired, my back ached, and I felt sickly most of the time. I went to a doctor and he said I had nervous indigestion, which added to my other condition kept me miserable and he said if I could not get well, I should be confined. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound my husband wanted me to try it. I took 12 bottles and I feel like a new woman. I kept it up for three months, and I feel the best I ever did anything in my life. I would recommend it to all women who suffer as I did, for it will do all that is claimed for it."—Mrs. Wm. Worthless, 2048 Taylor St., Philadelphia, Pa.

The majority of mothers nowadays overdo, there are so many demands upon their time and strength, the result is invariably a weakened, run-down, nervous condition with headaches, backaches, irritability and depression—and many times serious ailments develop. It is at such periods in life that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will restore a normal healthy condition, as it did to Mrs. Worthless.

The SON of TARZAN

by EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Copyright by Frank A. Munsey Co.

Nimbly the lad sprang to his bole, clinging catlike for an instant before he clambered quietly to the ground below. Close behind him came the great ape. Two hundred yards away a spur of the jungle ran close to the straggling town. Toward this the lad led the way.

No one saw them, and a moment later the jungle swallowed them, and John Clayton, future Lord Greystoke, passed from the ken of the knowledge of men.

It was into the following morning that a native house man knocked upon the door of the room that had been assigned to Mrs. Billings and her grandson. Receiving no response, he inserted his pass key in the lock, only to discover that another key was already there, but from the inside.

He reported the fact to Herr Skopf, the proprietor, who at once made his way to the second floor, where he, too, pounded vigorously upon the door. Receiving no reply, he bent to the keyhole in an attempt to look through into the room beyond. In so doing, unfortunately, he lost his balance, which necessitated putting a palm to the floor to maintain his equilibrium.

As he did so he felt something soft and thick and wet beneath his fingers.

He raised his open palm before his eyes in the dim light of the corridor, and peered at it. Then he shuddered. There in the semidarkness he saw a dark red stain upon his hand.

Leaping to his feet, he hurled his shoulder against the door. Herr Skopf was a heavy man. The frail door collapsed beneath his weight, and Herr Skopf stumbled precipitately into the room.

Before him lay the greatest mystery of his life. Upon the floor at his feet was the dead body of a strange man. The neck was broken and the jugular severed as by the fangs of a wild beast. The old lady and her grand son were gone. The window was open. They must have disappeared through the window, for the door had been locked from the inside.

Of the grandson, the boy have carried his invalid grandmother from a second story window to the ground?

Again Herr Skopf searched the small room. He noticed that the bed was pulled well away from the wall. Why? He looked beneath it and to the third or fourth time. The two were gone, and yet his judgment told him that the old lady could not have gone without garters to carry her down as they had carried her up the previous day.

Further search but deepened the mystery. All the clothing of the two was still in the room. If they had gone then they must have gone naked or to their street clothes.

No boat had left the harbor in the meantime. There was not a railroad for hundreds of miles. There was no other white settlement that the two could reach without several days of arduous marching, accompanied by a well equipped safari. Had they simply vanished into thin air, for the native he had sent to inspect the ground beneath the open window had just returned to report that there was no sign of a disturbance, or what sort of creatures were they who could have dropped that distance to the soft turf without injuring themselves.

Herr Skopf shuddered. Yes, it was a great mystery. There was something uncanny about the whole thing. He hated to think about it, and he dreaded the coming of night.

It was a great mystery to Herr Skopf and doubtless still is.

CHAPTER V.
The Sheik's Daughter.

TWO Swedes, Carl Jensen and Sven Malbihn, after conducting several mysterious expeditions far to the south of the Sahara, turned their attention to the more profitable business of ivory poaching.

In a great district they were already known for their relentless cruelty and their greed for ivory. The natives feared and hated them. The European governments in whose possession they worked had long sought them; but working their way slowly out of the north, they had learned many things in the no man's land south of the Sahara, which gave them immunity from capture through easy avenues of escape that were unknown to those who pursued them.

Their raids were sudden and swift. They seized ivory and retreated into the trackless wastes of the north before the guardians of the territory they raped could be made aware of their presence. Relentlessly they slaughtered elephants themselves as well as stealing ivory from the natives. Their following consisted of a hundred renegade Arabs and negro slaves, a fierce band of cutthroats.

Remember them, Carl Jensen and Sven Malbihn, yellow bearded Swedish giants, for you shall meet them later.

In the heart of the jungle, hidden away upon the banks of a small unexplored tributary of a large river that empties into the Atlantic not so far from the equator, lay a small heavily palisaded village. Twenty pain thatched, beehive huts sheltered its black population, while half a dozen goat-skin tents in the center of the clearing housed the scores of Arabs who found shelter here, while by trading and raiding they collected the cargoes which their ships of the desert bore northward twice each year to the market at Timbuktu.

Placing before one of the Arab tents was a little girl of ten, a black haired, black eyed little girl, who with her tan brown skin and graceful carriage looked every inch a daughter of the desert. Her little fingers were busily engaged in fashioning a skirt of grasses for a much disheveled doll which a kindly disposed slave had made for her a year or two before.

The head of the doll was rudely chipped from ivory, while the body was a rat skin stuffed with grass. The arms and legs were bits of wood, perforated at one end and sewn to the rat skin torso.

The doll was quite hideous and altogether disreputable and soiled, but Meriem thought it the most beautiful and adorable thing in the whole world which is not so strange in view of the fact that it was the only object within that world upon which she could bestow her confidences and her love.

Every one else with whom Meriem came in contact was almost without exception, either indifferent to her or actively cruel. There was the old black hag who looked after her, for example Mabruu, toothless, filthy and ill tempered.

She lost no opportunity to cuff the little girl or even inflict minor tortures upon her. And there was the sheik, her father. She feared him more than she did Mabuuu. He often scolded her for nothing, quite habitually terrified her by his tirades by cruelty beating her until her little body was black and blue.

Little Meriem could scarce recall any other existence than that of the stern authority of the sheik and Mabuuu. Dimly in the dark of her childish memory there lurked a tattered recollection of a gentle mother. But Meriem was not sure but that even this picture was a picture induced by her own desire for the caresses she never received.

Suddenly there arose sounds of altercation beyond the village gates. Meriem listened. With the curiosity of childhood she would have liked to run down there and learn what it was that caused the men to talk so loudly. Often of the villagers were already engaging in the direction of the noise.

But Meriem did not dare. The sheik would be there, doubtless, and if he saw her it would be but another opportunity for abuse her, so Meriem sat still and listened.

Presently she heard the crowd moving up the street toward the sheik's tent. Cautiously she stuck her head around the side of the tent. She could not resist the temptation, for the sameness of the village life was monotonous and she craved diversion.

What she saw was two strangers—white men. They were alone, but as they approached she learned from the talk of the natives that surrounded them that they possessed a considerable following that was camped outside the village.

They were coming to palaver with the sheik.

The old Arab met them at the entrance to his tent. His eyes narrowed wickedly when they had appraised the newcomers. They stopped before him, exchanging greetings. They had come to trade for ivory, they said.

The sheik grunted. He had no ivory.

Meriem gasped. She knew that in a nearby hut the great tusks were piled almost to the roof. She poked her head farther forward to get a better view of the strangers. How white their skins! How yellow their great beards!

All Must Carry Papers In June To Avoid Arrest

A far reaching amendment to the Military Service Act that covers every man in Toronto and throughout the Dominion, under the order-in-Council passed on April 30, has been received by C. Leslie Wilson, military registrar.

The order states that, beginning June 1, all persons who claim not to be in Class One under the Military Service Act must carry papers at all times with the proper certificates of proof that they do not come within Class One. The identification papers must either be a birth certificate or a marriage license. The act previously covered only the men of Class One and has now been stretched to take in all classes.

ARRESTED ON SIGHT

And if the proper certificates are not carried by a man he is open to arrest and a job in the army. The amendment states that any person who has not such papers on him shall be presumed to be a person at the time liable for military service, classed as a deserter for absence without leave. He is also liable to a fine of $50 and imprisonment for one month or both, and such a person can be taken into custody, detained, and compelled to do service in the Canadian Expeditionary Forces or perform duties as long as he is required.

For carrying any misleading or false certificate a man is liable to a $200 fine or six months' imprisonment.

Another important addition to the Act is that any officer, or N. C. O., may, if he has any reasonable ground to suspect that an absentee or deserter is being harbored or concealed in any premises, make demand for admission to such premises and if admission is refused he has the right to forcibly break into the place and make a search. The right of the habeas corpus for a man who has been arrested under the Military Service Act is also hereafter denied, and in fact the man arrested may be held in custody without bail or inquiry until released by the direction of the Minister of Militia.

MUST NOTIFY ADDRESS

A penalty is also now provided for the person who fails to notify the registrar of a change of address. Such a person is liable to a fine of $100 and three months in jail or both for failing to notify the registrar. In the past those who did not notify the authorities surrendered the right to re-examination or application for exemption.

Girl Is Alleged To Be Cheque Artist

WINDSOR, May 20.—Charged with obtaining an $1,500 automobile and $535 worth of diamonds and other jewelry on the alleged worthless cheques Margaret Kennedy, aged twenty-six, pretty and attractively dressed, is under arrest in Battle Creek, Mich., for Windsor authorities.

The young woman it is stated, called at the Cobland Motor Sales Agency, 1 Chatham street west, last Tuesday and announced she was Mrs. Ben Cowley, of Battle Creek, that her husband was in the United States army, and that she was going to make her home here while he was in khaki.

Looking over several cars, she finally selected a Sedan, wrote out a cheque for $1,800, it is alleged, on the People's State Bank Detroit, and drove off in the new machine. The cheque later turned out to be worthless.

At Watson's jewelry store the girl, it is said, purchased a diamond ring and other articles, all to be "presents for my husband." Here also gave her name as Kennedy, and said her home was 112 Marinette avenue, Windsor. In pay payment of the purchase, it is stated, she tendered a cheque for $175 on the Imperial Bank, Windsor, which was treated as be without value. An officer has gone to Battle Creek for her.

VESPER ORGAN RECITAL.

The vesper recital given at the close of the evening service on Sunday in Bridge Street Church was a delightful musical treat. The organist, Mr. V. P. Hunt, played a programme of beautiful organ compositions by Bach, Corelli, Stevenson, Easthope Martin and Flagler in his usually finished and artistic style, while the choir rendered Sullivan's "Saviour, Thy Children Keep" very impressively, and it was a pun of unaccompanied part singing. The soloists were Miss Anna Poulon and Mr. R. J. F. Staples who contributed two solos which added to the programme, both singing in their usual pleasing manner.

FLEW TO OTTAWA

Capt. F. Sedgwick, Commander of the 83th R. F. C. Squadron of Toronto and Lieut. J. E. Sedgwick of the 20th Squadron, flew to Ottawa on Saturday from Deseronto by airplane to spend the week-end with friends, a journey of 136 miles. The unusual sight of an airplane circling above the Capital, quite unheralded gave rise to all sorts of rumors. Capt. Sedgwick, who is a native of Cowansville, Que., was formerly a clerk in the Ottawa branch of the Bank of Montreal. Lieut. Schingh is a native of Hull, Que. The machine made the journey to Ottawa in an hour and a quarter. It is one of the latest models, with dual control.

HONORED YOUNG SOLDIER

A number of friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs J. R. Pound to spend an evening with their son Harry, who has been called to military duty. The following address was read by Rev. Mr. McMullen, while Mr. S. Heene presented Harry with a wrist watch.

Carlton, May 13th, 1918.

Dear Harry:—We, a few of your many friends, knowing that you were about to leave us in response to the call of your country for the defence of our free institutions and for the preservation of justice and liberty for the whole world, feel that we could not allow you to depart from our midst, from the hearts that love you and the dear old home that is devoted to you without some expression of our love and very high esteem in which you are held by this dear old community in which you were born and reared. We feel sure that you will do honor to all belonging to you, be a credit to your native land and as a soldier of your earthly king forget not your allegiance to the King of Kings and Lord of Lords. May you have the grace to honor all men, love the brotherhood, fear God and honor the king in all your military experience and career.

As a slight token of the esteem in which you are held by us, we ask you to accept this wrist watch with the assurance that you will ever live in our hearts and memories.

Friendship has a charming voice,
Friendship makes the heart rejoice,
Give to friendship friendship's due,
Remember us and we will you.

SHOT THROUGH THE LEG

Master Eugene McCollough of Maymore Village, was on Friday last the victim of a painful accident. He, with other lads, was playing with a 25 rifle when it accidentally discharged, and the bullet passed through the fleshy part of his leg. Fortunately the injuries were not of a fatal nature.

FREE BRIDGE WRECKER SEES A GREAT LIGHT

Any Bridge But That Bridge!
A New Bridge At Any Price!

The narrowness of the vision of the local liberal organ which seems only to be exceeded by its ignorance of facts and of first business principles, is displayed in its leader in Saturday's issue in regard to a free bridge. Light enough seems to have been let in on it in regard to a free bridge, but enough seems to have been left out in order that opposition for political reasons to a free bridge is not favored by our citizens and hence it is forced to shout "We are in favor of a free bridge" after having used in the same article all the imaginary reasons possible to conjure up against a free bridge, based on false assertion of fact as to ownership of the approaches of the bridge and the power of municipalities to discriminate against certain of its citizens by closing highways to punish them, and in its anxiety to give the free bridge project a black eye it calls for close investigation of the value of the present structure and advocates the building of a new bridge without any enquiry as to what a new bridge would cost or the possibility of obtaining a charter for another bridge to interfere so much more with navigation on the Bay.

The local Liberal organ never sees beyond the length of its nose at best, but on the occasion referred to above it seems to have been totally blinded by political prejudice.

WHAT WILL A NEW BRIDGE COST?

The political bridge expert recommends a new bridge "built something after the design of the new structure spanning the Trent river at Trenton."

The Trenton bridge cost $115,000 and is only about one-fifth as long as the steel structure of the Bay Bridge at Belleville, and the piers at the Trenton bridge were constructed in order at the most less feet deep, whereas some of the Bay Bridge piers are sunk in a depth of thirty-five feet of water. The cost of a new bridge based upon the cost of the Trenton bridge would run into five or six hundred thousand dollars, so, according to the reasoning of the literary bridge expert down the street the Bay Bridge would be considerable of a bargain at the price fixed by parliament.

We confess that bridge valuations are out of our line, but we have every confidence that the representatives of the municipalities are fully competent to secure a fairly accurate estimate of the valuation of the Bay Bridge if they have not already done so.

FAIR PLAY IS BONNIE PLAY;

The idea of dealing fairly with the owners of the bridge or trying by reasoning to induce them to accept a lower price for the bridge than that fixed by parliament does not seem to have entered the brain of the newspaper bridge expert down the street, who proceeds by condemnation of the bridge and endeavoring by mere assertion to show it has not been kept in repair, and is not really worth the $65,000 offered by the municipalities which it allows was made "without giving it any particular thought," not giving the municipalities credit of either honesty or ordinary business ability, but treating them as a lot of bloddering fools who had no more sense than to offer $65,000 for something they knew nothing about. It is not unusual for insane persons to imagine themselves possessed of all the wisdom of the world and to imagine that others around them had the same idea. Not content with decrying the bridge itself and slandering the municipalities concerned, the local Liberal organ has endeavored to foment and promote a threatened bridge company with dire calamity by telling them to "keep their bridge," although now professing to be in favor of making the bridge free, by suggesting that the municipalities close up the highways that give access to the bridge.

INJURING CAUSE OF FREE BRIDGE.

Such means as the Liberal organ is using to threaten, cajole and fume the bridge company to come to its terms without consideration of its own rights is the surest way of defeating the prospect of having a free bridge if our citizens would be influenced by it—which they assuredly will not.

GET DOWN TO BUSINESS.

Let the matter be approached and negotiations carried on in a fair and friendly and not a blustered and alternating manner and something worth while will be accomplished. Both parties to the question have rights which should be respected.

RUMORS OF CHANCES

There are rumors upon the street today that at the City Council meeting tonight some changes may be made in the water works and gas departments, with a rearrangement of official duties. The proposed changes were discussed at the civic committee meeting on Thursday evening last, but nothing of a definite nature was decided upon.

BAD FIRE ON SCUGOG

There was considerable excitement on Scugog Island on Thursday morning of last week. Mr. Gray's house, which is situated near the town hall, was burned to the ground, although the contents were nearly all saved. The furniture was removed from the town hall, but some of the windows were damaged. Some flaming embers lit on the church roof and burned a patch of shingles, but fortunately the fire was extinguished before much damage was done.

A SMOKE MYSTERY

Fire Chief Brown is puzzling over a smoke mystery which seems incapable of solution. Responding to an alarm of fire Saturday evening at 8.45, the apartments of the Belleville Club were found full of smoke and more constantly pouring in. No fire could be found, so the source of the smoke without taking the building apart and Chief Brown, after spending the night at the Club, was forced to give the puzzle up as unsolvable without considerable destruction of property. The smoke ceased as suddenly as it began.

FIGHT OR WORK

WASHINGTON, May 20—Speaking in the Senate to-day on his resolution calling on Government departments for information as to the extent of the Nation's industrial man-power, Senator Cummins, of Iowa, declared that all energies of the country must be called into action if the war is to be won. "My proposition," he said, "is that every able-bodied man in the country between the ages of 18 and 45—and I am not sure but that a few years ought to be added to the latter limit—must work in a useful way or fight.

Artists Who Know Prefer Heintzman

In their rooms at their hotel while in the city, the Boston English Opera Company will have no difficulty in securing Heintzman Pianos, as this make is sold exclusively by C. W. Lindsay, Ltd., in Belleville.

Thirty thousand Heintzman Pianos in use in Canada. This fact alone tells its own story. It is the one best seller in the world today. Aside from its musical qualities, it is one of the few highest grade pianos selling within reach of the average pocketbook.

The telegram produced herewith tells its own story. These distinguished artists have used the Heintzman in their studios for years. It has grown to be a familiar friend, hence throughout their travels they ask for the Heintzman, and invariably get it. This instrument possesses those sterling qualities which endear it to professional musicians throughout the world. It has a wonderful tone—a perfect action and a quality which enables it to withstand the hardest and most constant use.

THE SOLAR ECLIPSE

By Pro. Edwin B. Frost Of The Yerkes Observatory, In The Popular Mechanics Magazine

On the afternoon of Saturday, June 8, 1918, the wonderful spectacle of a total solar eclipse will be visible, weather permitting, over a track extending from the Pacific (Washington) to the Atlantic (Florida). This track of the moon's shadow is 70 miles wide at the western coast, narrowing to 40 miles in Florida.

For about an hour the moon will gradually encroach upon the sun's disc, the daylight will fade, then the narrowing crescent of the sun will suddenly disappear, and instead the jet-black ball of the moon, hanging in the northwestern sky among the bright stars, will be seen. The pearly radiance of the mysterious solar corona. The remarkable spectacle may be enjoyed for 122 seconds at the west ern coast and for half that time in Florida. Then the crescent of the sun will appear on the other (eastern) side of the moon, and after another hour the full disk of the sun will shine as usual.

This event happens at any one place, on the average, only three times in a thousand years.

The gaseous envelopes of the sun can be subjected unusually finely to instruments during the brief interval of total eclipse, and it is then only that the corona can be studied. It is estimated that there are only 90 minutes in a century for the investigation of this interesting feature of the sun's surface or envelope of the sun. Its shape is not constant, but varies with the eleven-year cycle of the sun's activity in producing sun-spots. Sun-spots are now about their maximum, and accordingly we may expect a corona with long streamers distributed in all directions around the sun, but 6d as widest and extended east and west as in 1900. The streamers issuing from near the suns poles suggest somewhat certain appearances of the aurora borealis.

The light of the corona is partly reflected sunlight and partly radiation due to the intense heat it receives from the sun. But the most interesting part is due to an unknown gas rallied coronium, which has yet not been found in the earth or in the spectrum of any other sun.

Have your Neolin Soles put on at John Henley's. Just phone 609 and we will do the rest. 20,2t

Herd Of Cattle Burned In Barn

Seventeen Pigs And Implements Wiped Out In Second Blaze

AGINCOURT, May 21.—One of the finest herds of dairy cattle in York township was destroyed, when the barn of Jr. Gooderham, a farmer near Sullivan's Corners, a mile west of here, was burned. Mr. Gooderham was out working at his gasoline engine between 8 and 9 o'clock, when his lantern exploded among some straw. He jumped down and tried to stamp out the blaze, but in so doing his trouser legs caught fire. In beating the fire out he suffered very severe burns. He succeeded in getting his pipe, a team of horses and his auto out. Two horses, 16 cows, and a number of chickens perished. Twenty tons of straw, 6 tons of hay and a quantity of grain were in the barns. The silo, the driving shed and the piggery were also destroyed. The barn was a new one, equipped with all modern conveniences, built four years ago. There is insurance to cover two-fifths of the loss. Mr. Gooderham, who was painfully burned, is recovering. Dr. H. R. Conn, of Agincourt, is attending.

A Second Outbreak.

Mr. John Jarvis, a farmer living three miles north of here, lost 17 pigs and almost all his implements when his barn burned down Saturday night. The fire started at the end of the barn. During the past week there have been two other cases of spontaneous combustion in straw stacks, but on both these occasions the fire was prevented from spreading. Mr. Jarvis, suspicious of his stack, had removed layers of straw on the day previous. The fire broke out about 6 o'clock. The cattle and horses were safely got out with the help of the neighbors, but the barn and all its contents were burned. There is some insurance.

Fifty-Six Dead Explosion's Toll

PITTSBURG, Penn., May 21—Fifty-six men are known to be dead, ninety-four injured and in hospitals, and thirty-one employes of the Aetna Chemical Company are missing as a result of the mine explosions Saturday. It was said the company's explosive manufacturing plant at Oakdale, sixteen miles from this city, Throughout the night and all day today men were extinguishing small fires in the debris and were bringing out remnants of human bodies, legs and arms, hands with finger rings on them, and in one instance ankles and torso were found.

In some cases identification was possible, but in most of them there was nothing to indicate the identity of the victim. While earlier explosions wrecked the plant, the last one, about 6.30, blew the piles of debris clear of the ground and scattered them over an average large area, before, and blackened every piece of metal or timber, as well as anything human, beyond recognition. All day a blue-brown smoke continued to hang over the ruins considerably impeding the work of the searchers.

Federal officers, representing the Department of Justice, ordered the arrest of two men who were photographing the ruins, and who charged by a woman with making seditious remarks.

A special policeman employed by the Aetna Chemical Company arrested two men as they were about to hurry away from the plant on a motorcycle. The names and charges upon which these men are held are withheld by officials pending investigation.

Mix-Up In Civic Gas Dep't. Complaints As To Management

Motion To Dismiss Manager Of Gas Department Failed—Gas Committee Instructed To Investigate Complaints And Report on Management—Mackintosh Rubber Company Ask Civic Assistance

Although the City Council meeting last night extended over three hours, there was little business and much talk. The apparent desire of some of the Aldermen to talk interminably upon matters which are of no great importance.

A lengthy discussion took place over a motion introduced by Alderman Wallan to dispense with the services of Mr. Thos. A. Gardiner, manager of the gas department, and appoint another man in his place. The result was that the matter was referred to the Gas Committee to investigate complaints made, and also to enquire thoroughly into the management of the department.

Rubber Plant

Mr. Wm. Mackintosh of the Mackintosh Rubber Company, made a request for a loan of $50,000 to assist in the construction of the works and installing of machinery. The request will be considered by a joint meeting of the Council and the Executive of the Board of Trade.

Government Fish

R. Oliphant & Son were in addition to Mr. William Ily contractors to handle fish provided by the Government.

The request of the Board of Education to repeal certain Bylaws constituting a school union between the city and the Township of Thurlow, was granted, which means dissolving the union.

Some other matters of minor importance were disposed of during the lengthy discussion.

The members present were Mayor Platt, Aldermen Whelan, Curry, Parks, Donohue, Hanna, Hagerman, Robinson, Treverton and St. Charles.

A letter was received from Bat Bridge street west be, underneath the local improvement Act.—Referred to Public Works Committee.

Registration Booth

A communication was read from Mr. J. J. Kerr relative to the city, allowing the City Hall and the upper floor hall to be used for registration on Tuesday, also for assistance in registering on that day all citizens who are of the age designated by the Act.

Walk Wanted

A petition was presented for the building of a cement walk on the south side of Bransey street, and west side of Chatham street.—Referred to City Engineer and City Clerk to report upon.

Mackintosh Rubber Works

Mr. Wm. Mackintosh addressed the Council relative to civic assistance for the Mackintosh Rubber Company. That the industry went on he estimated that 200 hands would be employed the first year, and 1,000 the second year. Then 1,000 to 1,500 the year following. There was a liability of $21,000 against the property, also an amount of $40,000 in buildings, etc. What he desired from the Council was a loan of $50,000, the balance to be made up of the money he would leave with the Council in answer to an enquiry Mr. Mackintosh said he desired the Council to endorse his note for $25,000.

Mr. John Elliott, being called upon, stated that Mr. Mackintosh had made a similar request before the Executive of the Board of Trade, and the matter was being investigated. A joint meeting of the Council and the executive of the Board of Trade, and the matter was being investigated. A joint meeting of the Council and the executive of the Board of Trade might be held to discuss the proposition.

Mayor Platt stated that the Council could not give a decided answer at once, but he would favor the proposition outlined by Mr. Elliott,' which was agreed upon.

Dissolving School Union

Mr. F. S. Deacon, Chairman of the Board of Education, addressed the Council and presented a petition from the Board asking that Bylaw 393 passed in September 1877, authorizing a school union between Belleville and a certain section of the Township of Thurlow, be repealed. The petition presented asked that the Council repeal the above Bylaw, and until a new school is erected by Thurlow Township the school, children residing in the section referred to, be allowed to attend the city school upon the payment for such education.

A motion prevailed that the prayer of the petition be granted.

The Committee rose and reported. The report was received and adopted.

Enquiries

Ald. Parks—From what account was city motor car purchased paid from? City Clerk—Public Works.

Ald. Donohue—Will a bridge be built to the entrance of Victoria Park so that persons can get upon the park? Ald. Hanna—The City Engineer is preparing plans for a bridge.

Motions

A motion moved by Ald. Donohue, seconded by Ald. Hanna, authorized the City Engineer to prepare plans for a bridge to be built on some streets in the city which had been petitioned for.

Ald. Donohue moved, seconded by Ald. Whelan, that a committee be appointed to get the advice of the City Solicitor relative to the placing of junk yards about the city.

Gas Manager

Ald. Whelan moved, seconded by Ald. Curry, that the services of Mr. Thos. Gardiner as manager of the gas department be dispensed with, and that another man be appointed to the position.

Aldermen Robinson and Parks defended Mr. Gardiner as capable and a good official.

Ald. Curry said he seconded the motion on account of the many complaints made to him by citizens who use gas users of gas. The city is expending too much money in the plant.

Ald. Donohue—The position as manager of the gas department is no doubt a rather difficult position, but if a change of management is made it would be no worse and perhaps it will be better. He had nothing personally against Mr. Gardiner, but had been informed that Mr. Gardiner was not at all times civil to citizens who spoke to him about the quality of gas supplied. He would support the motion.

Ald. St. Charles said he understood if a change was made a saving to the city would be made. The proposition was that the city engineer be made manager of the water works at an increase of $300 to his salary, and Mr. E. T. Austin appointed as manager of the gas department. If we can save $500 or $900 to the city, we should do so.

Mayor Platt stated that there were complaints about the gas supplied, but we should remember we have a poor outfit. Mr. Gardiner is doing the best he can under the circumstances. The price of coal has gone up, which makes the cost of gas dearer. The average last year of units was above the Government minimum test. He (the speaker) did not think the motion was a proper one.

Manager Explains

Mr. S. A. Gardiner being called upon said he was giving the best pressure he could possibly give, under the circumstances. The old system, was small in regard to mains. The leads were not what they should be and this was the reason the pressure at places was not what it should be. The plant is an old one and yet the quantity of gas made is double what it was 10 years ago. Help is hard to get, and he had to often go to the plant and work in person, but has paid up to last year, but the increase in the price of coal caused a change of circumstances. What could the power was down at times he could not help it, as the works here is not large enough. The holder is not as large as it should be. If some bad gas goes into the holder it makes trouble.

Ald. Parks asked Mr. Gardiner what the daily expenses were at the plant.

Mr. Gardiner—About 8 tons of coal are used daily and the increase in the price of coal made an increase in expenses of about $3 per ton. There were four stokers and one foreman employed at the plant. The stokers were paid $3 per day and $2.50 to the foreman.

Ald. Robinson—If we should go under Mr. Austin in the position as manager of the gas department in the place of Mr. Gardiner, who is not the right man, he (the speaker) thought the scheme unfair.

Ald. Robinson—I will vote for the change, never being made Manager of the Water Works if economy is what is aimed at.

Ald. Whelan—When the inspector makes a test and it is a low test how is it stamped on the meter?

Mr. Gardiner—When we make water gas we enrich our gas and this can be done in a few minutes. The inspector is at the plant and the foreman is at times to blame for poorer gas. Coal and climatic change has much to do with the gas made per test.

Ald. Parks—The members of the Council have not found this matter out. The proposition is not for economy, but for some other purpose.

Ald. Robinson—I am told the gas plant is to be handled with kid gloves, and Mr. Gardiner does all he can to keep it going. That's the trouble.

Mr. Gardiner—With a little more care at times perhaps some complaints made might be avoided.

Ald. Whelan—Are there any slot meters from which money has not been collected?

Mr. Gardener—We have found one or two cases where such was the case.

At this juncture of the proceedings the time of the Council was extended for two hours.

Engine Bought

Ald. Curry reported that the Special Committee had bought a stationary engine for use at the Public Works Department, and the price paid was $1,000.

Saw Husband Slain And Children Burnt

Horrible Experience Of an Armenian Woman, Who Is Now In St. Catherines

ST. CATHERINES, May 20.—To have her husband slain with an axe before her eyes by four Turkish soldiers, then herself bound hand and foot for protracted days, while her children or five children burned to death after being saturated with oil; was part of the experience of Mrs. Paulsong Torigian, who has arrived in St. Catherines with blood-curdling first-hand stories of the atrocities committed by the Turks on the Armenians of Turkey in Asia in their effort to exterminate the race. The Torigian family were comfortably situated in their home at Orgar, Province of Erzeroum, when a regiment of Turkish soldiers, 1,500 strong, were informed that they must move, as the Russians were coming, and if they were found they would be massacred. "Our helpless people doubted the story," Mrs. Torigian stated tearfully through an interpreter, "but we had no refuse feeling certain they would be slaughtered where they were, so we left, six hundred of us to another village. Then without warning the men were taken out and killed and the younger men and women and three were carried for a worse fate. I know of no person, man, woman, or child who escaped save the massacre.

After the massacre the woman herself was taken captive and used brutally by four Turkish soldiers. For eight months she lived this life of horror, finally escaping by dropping one night from a third-story window to the ground, absolutely nude. For three months she states, she was able to avoid discovery, remaining in the daytime hidden in hay, hiding in ditches and old barns by day and feeding on grass roots and berries. At the end of three months she made 77 miles and reached a settlement where she found friends who clothed her and fed her and aided her in reaching an Armenian town which had not yet been destroyed by the Turks. Here she was given employment in a hospital where she worked for a time afterwards as payment for her treatment, and also saved sufficient money to carry her to Norway, from there she was brought here by the Armenians of St. Catherines.

Could Not Make Canadians Work

German "Humor" With Sword Failed To Disturb Prisoners' Nerves

LONDON, May 21.—An example of German humor towards Canadian prisoners is revealed to the Associated Press by Pte. Adair, of Winnipeg, who, with several comrades, is en route to Canada after weary months in Germany. The prisoners were taken to munitions camp, but as they refused to make any munitions they only remained there three days. "The Boche has a trick of coming at you with a sword as though to run you through," said Adair, "and just as he is about to strike, will turn the blade, hitting you with the flat side. Russians also refused to work on munitions. A Boche charged a party of them, killing two and wounding several.

Adair was captured soon after the battle of Ypres, when a company commanded by Capt. Arthur, spiked four guns and then proceeded to reinforce the Toronto Highlanders. After twenty-four hours they put up the extreme right of the Durhams. These were captured, the Germans rallied and began to surrender. A Riffi they refused, but as the Germans threatened to shoot them, the sergeant told the men to give in.

Railway Deficit Of Five Million

OTTAWA, May 20.—Notwithstanding an average increase in earnings during the year of $300,000 per month as compared with 1916, the railway year, the result of the operation of the Canadian Government Railways for the year 1917-18 was a deficit of $5,294,283. This was one of the outstanding features of a statement made by Hon. Dr. Reid, Minister of Railways during consideration in Parliament to-night of his estimates. The statement, however, has to be met by Hon. Charles Murphy respecting a vote of $18,000,000 for the Government railways. Dr. Reid let the House that the Government reads at the present time had a mileage of 4,500, including the taking over of the National Transcontinental, the Government had planned to operate the eastern and western lines as one system.

While the Government lines had received a fair share of the business the results had not been as good as the officials had anticipated, on account of a substantial increase in the cost of maintenance and operation. But the results were fairly satisfactory, compared with the results secured by other Canadian lines.

Working expenses for the year had totalled $32,398,000 while earnings amounted to $27,104,000. The average earnings per month were $2,850,388, as against earnings of $1,995,000 per month for the previous year.

The disastrous explosion in Halifax, said Dr. Reid, had caused a loss of $1,000,000 to the Canadian Government Railways. A total of 56 employes and 10 pensioners had been killed in the disaster, 30 of whom died on duty. Out of more than 1,000 employes living in Halifax, investigation showed that only 157 were completely unaffected by the disaster.

On the Halifax Bar Railway, Dr. Reid said, $20,161,000 had been expended. Of this $9,342,000 had been expended on the Port Nelson harbor works, and the remainder on the railway itself.

War Garden Bulletin

PRACTICAL DAILY GUIDE FOR VACANT LOT AND BACK YARD GARDENERS ENLISTED IN GREATER PRODUCTION CAMPAIGN.

Issued by the Canada Food Board in collaboration with experts on the staff of the Dominion Experimental Farm.

THE POTATO DRIVE

This is really the opening of Canada's most popular gardening week. Those who have put off getting to work on their gardens usually bestir themselves by the 24th of May, and the holiday finds an army of diligent workers of hoe and rake. The chief concern of this week for the war gardener should be His Majesty the Spud. In 1917 sixty-three million bushels of potatoes were grown in Canada. In 1917 seventy-nine millions were grown. In 1918 every home cellar should become a "potato elevator" to release the wheat for the fighters and keep down the cost of living.

Supposing your vacant lot is 36 feet wide. You might have 72 rows of potatoes. You have a wide variety to choose from. Perhaps the greatest favorites are Early Rose, Irish Cobbler, Mountain Green, Rochester, and Delaware.

Directions were given last week relative to the condition the soil should be at the time of planting. Great care should be exercised in the initial preparations. The potato trenches should be perfectly straight and evenly spaced at about 27 inches apart. Use a line to get the measurement accurate. For an early potato this is the ideal distance.

A POTATO PLANTER

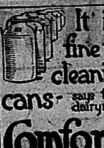

Where gardening is done on a community scale, as in the case of vacant lots, a potato planter would be a profitable investment. It would mean a tremendous saving of time and energy for the tired business man who is giving his evenings to vacant lot gardening. It could do the work for all the members of the organization whose lots are located near each other. A potato planter can be made at home, and full directions how to go to about it will be found in Bulletin No. 90, issued by the Division of Horticulture, the Department of Agriculture. It will probably be found more satisfactory, however, to buy one, or borrow one from a public spirited market gardener.

The potato planter makes the row, opens the furrows, plants or drops the seed, covers them and applies commercial fertilizers at the same time if desired. To do as much in the old way would require a span of horses and a man to open the furrows with a plough, three men or boys to plant, and a span of horses and a man with a double mould board plough to cover the seed. This, of course, applies to community gardening on a more or less extensive scale.

NoticeTo Coal Consumers

Owing to the very unsettled condition of the coal situation on account of the state of uncertainty and suspense which has been created in the minds of coal consumer, we deem it our duty to advise our customers that we are in a position at present to accept and fill orders for coal of the various prepared sizes in accordance with Governmental Regulations and we must respectfully request all concerned to take in their Fuel supply for the coming winter at the earliest possible time, in order to avoid the many hardships endured by the Public the past season.

ELSIE FERGUSON IN "THE LIE"

At Griffin's tomorrow night Elsie Ferguson will appear in a fine picture called "The Lie". Miss Ferguson needs hardly any mentioning as she has a very large following in Belleville who know her to be a finished actress; also another fine photoplay with Virginia Pearson playing the leading part in a good picture called "Thou Shalt Not Steal," and with the second chapter of the new serial, "The Eagle's Eye" completes a good varied program.

Altogether seven machines were brought down when the raiders came to London, Sunday night. The casualties so far as reported, total 192.

Thrift Exhibited In Penny Banks

Juvenile Depositors Strictly Obey Request Not To Withdraw Funds

Penny Bank depositors have the reputation of being most patriotic savers and are in a large measure living up to the injunction issued last year, "Loan your cash unless you have no money more than your security does."

The children of a certain Ontario series in Ontario have been up to the letter of this injunction, and have never drawn a cent of their money for the last twelve months. The bank authorities were so much concerned about the strict observance of their suggestion that they wrote to the school teachers in charge of the Penny Bank on the reserve asking her if there was any misunderstanding. The teacher replied that the children quite realized that their deposits were available at any time, but that they were endeavoring to follow the advice to leave the money in the bank until they needed it more than their country did.

FARM SOLDIERS.

Seving Mr. P. F. Brocket, Secretary of the Belleville Y.M.C.A. running around in a Ford car one might imagine that their was money in the Y. M. C. A. business. However, the car and Mr. Brocket just signify the desire of the Ontario Government that Mr. Brocket be given every facility for the quickly the six counties allotted to him, his territory in connection with the Soldier of the Soil movement in national service. The Soldier of the Soil, organized by the Ontario Government to help the farmers is operated under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. National Council for Boys Work, and nearly one hundred boys have enlisted for farm work from the schools of Belleville and vicinity. The province is divided into districts with a Y.M.C.A. man in charge of each who will co-operate with the farmers needing help, labor and keep in touch with the boys working on the farms. Each Y.M.C.A. supervisor is supplied with a Ford car to enable him to look after his district efficiently. Splendid accommodations were held on April 20 for teen-age boys from the fourth book up who desired to work. Those passing standing were permitted to enlist in the Soldiers of the Soil, reporting for farm duty by May 20, and upon giving three months farm service to be given their standing upon return to school. The boys completing their national service on the farms will be decorated with the National Badge of Honor, which is a neat bronze emblem surmounted by a beaver, sheaf of wheat centre and surrounded by agricultural work inscribed as follows: "Canada Food Board," "Soldiers of the Soil." As a variation to farm life the Y.M.C.A. will provide entertainment of various kinds, picnics, etc., so that all work and no play will not make Jack a dull boy.

The SON of TARZAN

by EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Copyright by Frank A. Munsey Co.

Baddeley one of them turned his eyes in her direction. She tried to dodge back out of sight, for she feared all men, but he saw her. Meriem saw the look of almost shocked surprise that crossed his face. The shells were it too and crossed the cause of it.

"I have no heart," he repeated. "I do not wish to trade. Go away. Go now!"

He stepped from his tent and almost pushed the strangers about in the direction of the gates. They demurred, and then the shells threatened. It would have been suicide to have disobeyed, so the two men turned and left the village, making their way immediately to their own camp.

The shells returned to his tent, but he did not entered. Instead he walked to the side where little Meriem lay close to the goatskin wall, very frightened. The shells stopped and clutched her by the arm. Viciously he jerked her to her feet, dragged her to the entrance of the tent and shoved her within.

Following her, he crawled her additional, beating her ruthlessly.

"Stop, shell!" he growled. "Never let the strangers see your face. Next time you show yourself to strangers I shall kill you."

In the camp of the strangers one was speaking angrily to the other.

"There is no doubt of it, Malbihn," he was saying, "but the slightest, but why the old eccentric hasn't claimed the reward long since is what puzzles me."

"There are some things dearer to an Arab, Jensoen, than money," returned the other speaker. "Revenge is one of them."

"Anyhow, it will not harm to try the power of gold," replied Jensoen.

Malbihn shrugged.

"Not on the shalk," he said. "We might try it on one of his people, but the shalk will not part with his revenge for gold. To offer it to him would only confirm his suspicions that we must have awakened when we were talking to him before his tent. If we got away with our lives then we should be fortunate."

CHAPTER VI.
In the Jungle.

His first night in the jungle was one which the son of Tarzan held longest in his memory. No savage carnivora menaced him. There was never a sign of hideous barbarian, or if there were the fear of the wild beast kept the nonpresence of them.

His conscience was harassed by the thought of his mother's suffering. Self blame plunged him into the depths of misery.

The killing of the American caused him little or no remorse. The fellow had asked for it. Jack's regret at this score was due mainly to the effect which the death of Coulon had had upon his own plans.

Now he could not return directly to the coast, as he had planned. Fear of the primitive borderland law, of which he had read highly colored, the sanitary tales, had thrust him into the jungle—a fugitive. He dared not return to Uganda at this point, not that he was so greatly influenced through fear alone as from a desire to shield his father and mother from further horror and from the shame of their honored name dragged through the sordid degradation of a criminal trial.

With returning day the boy's spirits rose. With the rising sun came new hope within his breast. He would return to civilization by another route. None would guess that he had been connected with the killing of the stranger in the midst of the way stations post upon a remote shore.

Crouched upon the great ape in the crotch of a tree, the boy had slept used through an almost sleepless night. Fear of beasts had not been but little protection from the cold dampness of the jungle, and only that side of him which was pressed against the warm body of his shaggy companion enjoyed any marked comfort. And so he welcomed the rising sun with its promise of warmth as well as light—the blessed sun, dispeller of physical and mental ills.

He shook Akut into wakefulness.

"Come," he said, "I am cold and sun dry. We will go and we fool out there in the sunlight," and he pointed to an open plain, dotted with stunted trees and strewn with jagged rock.

The boy slid to the ground as he spoke, but the ape first looked carefully about, sniffing the morning air. Then, satisfied that no danger lurked near, he descended slowly to the ground beside the boy.

"Numa and Sabor, his mate, were those who deserted first and look afterward, while those who look first and descend afterward live to feast another day." Thus the old ape imparted to the-son of Tarzan the boy's first lesson in jungle lore.

Side by side they set off across the rough plain, the boy wished and the ape followed. The ape showed him the best places to dig for rodents and worms, but the lad only grasped at the thought of devouring the repulsive things. Some eggs they found, and these he sucked raw, as also he ate roots and tubers which Akut unearthed.

That night the son of Tarzan was colder than he ever had been in all his life. The pajama trousers had not been heavy, but they had been much heavier than nothing. And the next day he vowed in the hot sun, for again their way led much across wide and treeless plain.

It was still in the boy's mind to travel to the south and circle back to the east in search of another outpost of civilization. He had said nothing of this plan to Akut, for he knew that the old ape would look with displeasure upon any suggestion that aimed of separation.

For a month the two wandered on, the boy bearing rapidly the laws of the jungle; his muscles adapting themselves to the new mode of life and his face thrust upon them. The thews of the sire had been transmitted to the son—he needed only the hardening of use to develop them.

One day as they were moving slowly along beside a river they came unexpectedly upon a native village. Some children were playing beside the water.

The boy's heart leaped within his breast at sight of them. For more than a month he had seen no human being. What if these were white savages? What if their skins were black? Were they not creatures fashioned in the mold of their Maker as was he? They were his brothers and sisters! He started toward them.

With a low warning Akut laid a hand upon his arm to hold him back. The boy shook himself free and, with a shout of greeting, ran forward toward the slow players.

The sound of his voice brought every head erect. Wide eyes viewed him for an instant, and then, with screams of terror, the children turned and fled toward the village. At their heels ran their mothers, and from the village, in response to the alarm, came a score of warriors, hastily snatched spears and shields ready for their hands.

At sight of the consternation he had wrought the boy halted. The glad smile faded from his face as with wild shouts and menacing gestures the warriors ran toward him. Akut was calling to him from behind to turn and flee; that the blacks would kill him.

With a low snarl, quite similar to that of a baffled beast, he turned and ran into the jungle. There was Akut, awaiting him in a tree. He leaped into him to hasten in flight, for the wise old anthropoid knew that they were naked and unarmed, were no match for the sinewy black warriors who would doubtless make some sort of sacrifice of them through the jungle.

But a new power moved the son of Tarzan. He had come with a boy's glad and open heart to offer his friendship to these people who were his own beings like himself. He had been met with suspicion and spears. Fear and hate even listened to him. Rage and hatred consumed him.

They made a detour about the hostile village and resumed their journey toward the coast.

All the while Jack's training went on under the guidance of Akut. Not though the boy loved the jungle, he had not let his selfish desires outweigh the sense of duty that had brought him to a realization of the moral wrong which lay beneath the ape's tyrannic escapade that had brought him to Africa. His love of father and mother was strong within him, the strong to permit unalloyed happiness which was undoubtedly awaiting them days of sorrow.

And so he held tight to his determination to find a port upon the coast where he might communicate with them and receive funds for his return to London. There he felt sure that he could now persuade his parents to let him spend at least a portion of his time upon those African estates which his father retained as a hunting preserve and home he knew his father possessed.

That would be something to look for! least than a lifetime of the cramped and cloying restrictions of civilization.

And so he was rather contented than otherwise as he made his way in the direction of the coast, for, while he enjoyed the liberty and the savage pleasures of the wild, his conscience was at the same time clear, for he knew that he was doing all that lay in his power to return to his parents. He looked forward, too, to meeting white men again—creatures of his own kind, for there had been many occasions which he had longed for other companionship than that of the old ape.

And at last the much dreamed of moment came. They were descending through a tangled forest when the boy's sharp eyes discovered from the lower branches through which he was traveling an old but well marked spoor—a spoor that set his heart to leaping—the spoor of man, of white men, for among the prints of naked feet were the well defined outlines of European made boots.

Letters To The Editor

AN UNSIGHTLY SCENE

To the Editor of The Intelligencer.

Dear Sirs:—As an occasional visitor to Belleville, and one who has always thought it one of the prettiest of Eastern Ontario towns, I should like to ask if something cannot be done to make it so during the season when the St. Thomas church yard and the High School buildings, less of a blot on the beauties of the town and the neighborhood? The locality is one for all citizens to be proud of. Even the court house and the outer part architecturally is adding to the beauties of the church crowned hill above them.

While understanding that the ground used as a dump must be redeemed for building purposes, the recent advertising of tax papers with the other solid refuse, can hardly count towards that end.

Would it not be possible to enlist the help of the High School children in a body to gather up the flying papers for a quarter over a still larger surface, defacing not only the church and school grounds, but the streets and gardens of the neighborhood?

It would be a small matter for the united energies of the young people, by giving a certain time each day after school hours, and one can count, I am sure, on their willingness and eagerness to make less unsightly this one time picturesque ground lying between the dead on one side and the very busy institution of which they are a part, on the other.

A well-wisher to Belleville.

Canuck Cavalry Perform Noble Deeds Of Valour

OTTAWA, May 20.—The following article by Roland Hill has been received here:

"Fighting every inch of ground, in some cases from dawn till dusk, the attacking Huns, sometimes with French allies, acting often as infantry as well as horsemen, the Canadian cavalry has since the beginning of the great German offensive covered itself with glory and "as still live" forever in British military history. The capture of the big wood north of Moreuil and the charge of a squadron into a battery of German machine guns is, according to their comrades in the cavalry corps, to a class with Balaclava. The whole operation is regarded as the most famous cavalry action of the war. Orders must be prepared to find many of her sons gone, but the price paid was not excessive.

TURN TIDE OF BATTLE

In addition to turning the tide of battle at various points in the front where they practically saved Amiens, General Sir Henry Rawlinson, visiting the Canadian cavalry on April 24, addressed each unit in turn and told them that the two words they had repictured for ever were Moreuil and Moreuil and Riffe Wood were the dominating features, the possession of which might well have been fatal to the defence of Amiens.

No other troops, he stated, were available to re-take these vital positions, and their courage and determination had turned the fortunes of battle.

After the Canadian Cavalry's adventures in the French lines they returned northward. While there they received information that the Germans had captured Mesieres, just south of the Amiens-Roye road and were rapidly advancing.

MEN AND HORSES TIRED

"Although both men and horses were greatly fatigued by their continued fighting with the French, they moved forward with splendid spirit when instructions arrived at 2.30 a.m. on March 30, that they were to cross the Nesse and Arre Rivers quickly and delay the enemy by every means possible. Gaining the northern end of Moreuil Wood they found, by heavy machine gun fire, that the enemy were in force and did not mean to yield this position which gave them good observation. The general determined to retake the wood and, if possible, drive the enemy out. One squadron of the Royal Canadian Dragoons was sent as an advance guard to reconnoitre the north-eastern portion of the wood.

"Another squadron swept round the south-western edge of the position. The third sundron followed the Canadians tracks a few minutes later. Although exposed to two lines of machine guns, the first squadron succeeded in getting to and mobilish themselves in the north-east corner, meeting with heavy resistance from German infantry, who charged them with the bayonet, but they were no match for the Canadian horsemen, who killed scores of them. The second squadron found themselves being badly mauled by machine gun fire from Moreuil direction.

STRATHCONA HORSE IN ACTION

The third squadron sbo ran into the machine guns, and we compelled to swerve to the left, as many of the horses were killed. Lord Strathcona's Horse then entered the action. They sent a squadron at the gallop to reinforce the remnants of the second and the remaining squadrons dismounted and attacked the section of the position which was partly cut off by the first two squadrons.

"Terrific fighting was taking place in the wood, and the Germans fought doggedly every step. Many of the enemy were killed, all refusing to surrender. A large party of about three hundred retired southward.

CUT HUNS TO PIECES

"The German machine gun batteries of about twelve guns at the head of the valley were the only ones left to other sundrons on the eastern section of the wood, again caught the Canadians in the flank. One officer who was in command, saw his opportunity and charged point blank at the guns, cutting the enemy to pieces with their sabres. Reforming, he charged back again and practically obliterated the remaining battery section of the wood. German army on the hill crest. Then with only half his force remaining he joined forces in the wood. Later this gallant officer was severely wounded. Then occurred one of the most sanguine hand-to-hand combats of this section of the wood and the absolute extermination of the garrison.

DOCTOR ADVISED OPERATION

as the only means of curing Mr. Lewis of Silver Lake, Oregon, who was suffering from a chronic sore on his face. The use of Zam-Buk, however, made this unnecessary.

Mr. Lewis' daughter says: "Father had a sore on his face, which became very swollen and painful. We tried remedy after remedy, and he had medical attention from several doctors, but he got no better, and finally the doctor said the only hope of a cure was an operation.

"Father would not, however, submit to an operation until he had first tried Zam-Buk, as he had heard so much about it. He began applying it regularly, and soon felt some relief. He persevered regularly, and soon felt some relief. He persevered and gradually the pain was ended, the inflammation was all drawn out, the swelling disappeared and

In And About The City

DROVE CAR ON WRONG SIDE

An auto, the property of Mr. C. J. Howell of this city, was on Sunday afternoon damaged to some extent owing to another car colliding with it. The chauffeur of Mr. Howell's car was warned, during the time he was upon the right side, when the other car came off another street and upon the wrong side of the street, as a result of the collision the guards and sides of Mr. Howell's car were damaged.

"THE BOHEMIAN GIRL"

Some people seem to be under the mistaken impression that the attraction at Griffin's tonight is grand opera, rather a heavy musical diet for warm weather. It is not.

The Bohemian Girl", a merry musical comic opera, will be presented by the Boston English Opera Company, which played all last week at the New Princess Theatre in Toronto and is enthusiastically recommended by the press and public of that city. The attraction is an exceptionally high class one and appears in Belleville more by accident than anything else in having open dates at the height of the season before closing with Ottawa and Montreal engagements. All who love good music and catchy choruses should see and hear this company in "The Bohemian Girl."

A GREAT STORY

"Tarzan of the Apes," is the big feature attraction in motion pictures at the Regent Theatre, Toronto, this week. This is a companion story to "The Return of Tarzan," now running as a serial in The Intelligencer and beginning Saturday last. In the motion picture presentation there is a cast of three thousand people. The production cost quarter of a million dollars and took nine months to complete.

Had Headaches, Was Always Tired

Sleep or Rest Was Impossible, For Nervous System Was Greatly Exhausted and Irritated.

Jordan, Ont., May 21.—As the result of Mrs. Thwaites happy experience, with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food many people in this district are glad this great food cure to the test and proven its exceptional restorative powers.

This was an extreme case of nervous exhaustion and the cure effected was as thorough and radical that there could be no doubt of the value of this treatment. This is how Mrs. Thwaites describes her cure, and her statement is certified to by her pastor.

Mrs. Stephen G. Thwaites, box 205, Jordan, Ont., writes: "For about a year I was troubled with nervousness and took doctors' medicine, but it did not seem to relieve me, I could not sleep nor content myself to do anything. I had severe headaches, was tired all the time, and afraid to stay alone. I also tried several nerve medicines until almost discouraged. "At last I discovered Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and found relief in this. I only taken one box when I began to feel better, I continued using this treatment until my nerves were restored to perfect health. I think the Nerve Food splendid for nervous trouble of any kind, and cannot recommend it too highly."

Rev. S. F. Coffman, Vineland Ont., states: "This is to certify that I know Mrs. Thwaites, and her statements are correct."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, a full treatment of 6 boxes for $2.75, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be lulled into accepting a substitute. Imitations only disappoint.

JUDGMENT RESERVED

After evidence had been submitted judgment was reserved. Mr. Carsew, for Crown, and Mr. E. J. Bat ter for accused.

KILLED BY DYNAMITE.

Alley Hunt, a resident of Lachlin, on Saturday met death at Bear Lake as a result of a dynamite explosion. The unfortunate man was engaged in mining operations and had placed a charge of dynamite, when it exploded before he got outside the danger zone. He received the full force of the explosion in the stomach, and was badly mangled, living only a short time. Deceased was a married man and leaves a wife and three children.

INVESTIGATE DEATH OF INFANT

When Dr. G. H. Cowan of Napanee, coroner for Lennox County, was called to investigate the death of an infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCabe, South Fredericksburgh, he decided to hold an inquest. The jury was summoned and the inquest adjourned until Wednesday, May 22, at Napanee. It is alleged that the parents left the child in the house on Friday afternoon while they went visiting, and that the child cried all the afternoon and died in the evening.

In response to a still alarm at 1.30 this afternoon the firemen were called to St. Michael's Church, but fortunately their services were not required. From some cause a cesspool hanging on the wall of a frame building adjoining the organ loft was burned, causing considerable smoke which attracted the attention of a passer by. Mr. J. M. Trunbich, who was in close proximity to the church, extinguished the blaze with a pail of water. The woodwork where the garment was hanging was charred. It is thought that boys were responsible for the blaze.

THREE MONTHS IN JAIL.

Before His Honor Judge Wills this morning Stewart Fry a young man 19 years of age pleaded guilty to raising a cheque from $35 to $85, which he obtained for work he did at the British Chemical Works at Trenton. As the money had been refunded, and owing to the culprit's youth and the fact that he has two brothers over seas His Honor dealt leniently with him, giving him a sentence of three months in the county jail. Mr. Carew for Crown; Mr. A. Abbott for company and Mr. W. D. M. Shorey appeared for the accused.

HOLD-UP AT COBOURG

About midnight Friday night, while Miss Oulehan was being driven to the home of Mr. James Massie, east of Cobourg, she passed men suddenly appeared on the road just east of the "rustic" bridge and ordered the occupants of the rig to halt. In the rig he which followed the bandits were beaten off, and the young lady managed to escape to the home of Mr. Abbot, where the police were telephoned for. There were two other men besides the driver in the rig, otherwise the highway men would have gained their purpose. They had as masks, white cotton handkerchiefs tied over their nose and mouth.

AN IDEAL VACATION REGION

The Lake of Bays region of the "Highlands of Ontario" is surpassingly beautiful comprising some of the best lake water stretches in that country of lakes. Those in search of health find the pure bracing air most beneficial. You may bathe in cool waters, enjoy a game of golf, take boating excursions and catch fine bass and trout. The mountain of gentlemen is everywhere interwoven with the whispering of trees. There is excellent hotel and boarding house accommodation. Illustrated descriptive literature and all particulars may be had on application to Grand Trunk Agents, or to C. E. Horning, D.P.A., Toronto, Ont.

Fatigue and Tasks.

The idea that fatigue is due to a specific task, as suggested by Webster early in the century, has been a popular one, but the late investigators of Lee and Aronowitch at Columbia university show that it has no good foundation. There is nothing, therefore, to encourage the hope that an antitoxin may be found, in the experiments made with animal muscles, a test reagent suspected in the juice of a fatigued muscle lost much in contractile power, but the juice of a non-fatigued muscle produced substantially the same effect.

Largest Poisonous Reptile.

The Sawcuen, known as the boshmaster, is the largest poisonous reptile in the new world. It is sometimes found and found only in the depths of the jungle and swamps, where man rarely penetrates. It attains a length of twelve to fifteen feet; the color of its body is rose, of rather yellowish pink, with brown patterns and dots of black. Its bite is almost always fatal. Its fangs are an inch long and as such as ten ounces of venom have been extracted.

Thought and Faith.

Men who are seeking for knowledge in regard to subjects as to which there can, in the nature of things, be none, might well ask themselves whether there is to be no sphere left in human life in which faith can operate. It was said of Arnold of Rugby that his mind could rest as quietly in the presence of doubt as in that of discovered truth. It is a great thing to be able to believe where we cannot prove.

Entire Family Is Grateful For It

Friends Say They Never Saw Such a Change in Anybody As Taniac Made in Mrs. Sprunt

"I tell you what, the way Taniac has built me up and brought me out is the talk of the neighborhood; and my friends all tell me they never saw such a wonderful change in anybody before," said Mrs. Martha Sprunt, of 296 Queensway Road, Toronto, the other day.

"My trouble began over two years ago," she continued, "when I had such a serious breakdown that I had to be taken to the hospital and I was there seven weeks undergoing treatment, but couldn't get back my strength; in fact I was in such an awful fix that they took me home, where my friends said they expected to see the end at any time, and they even prepared my daughter for the worse by telling her I could never pull through. I lay flat on my back for six weeks, and was so weak and lifeless that I could hardly lift my hand, and my nurse had to feed me like I was a helpless baby. After awhile I managed to get up out of bed, but I was still too weak and rundown to do anything but drag myself around enough even to wash a plate. I didn't have a bit of appetite, and for two or three days at a time could force down nothing more than a slice of bread. My nerves were in such a wretched condition that the ringing of the door bell or a spoon dropping on the floor would startle me so much that I wouldn't be able to speak for several minutes, and I was so restless that when I went to bed I would roll and toss from side to side and felt like the night would never end.

"In this miserable condition I was trying everything I could get hoping to find something that would start me up till but nothing did me any good. Finally, after hearing so much about the good Taniac was doing I decided to try it, and positively, before I was finished my first bottle I felt so much improved that it wasn't long before my neighbors were telling me how much better I was looking. My appetite has grown so I can eat and relish most anything I want and my food is giving me the strength and energy I need. My nerves have quieted down and I now sleep all night like a baby and get up in the mornings rested and refreshed. I am getting stronger and better every day and all the members of my family feel so grateful for what Taniac has done for me that we are boosting it all the time."

Taniac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store, in Trenton by J. H. Dickey, in Deseronto by W. J. Malley, in Stirling by J. S. Morton, in Frankford by W. H. Kattlnear, in Picton by J. Will Vince, in Marysville by T. J. McAlpine, in Ormsby by Jas. Campbell, and in Thomasburg by J. H. Blakely.

Acids in Stomach Cause Indigestion

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain. How To Treat

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excessive amount of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and fasten gas from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—be sure liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Now Or Never Faces Foe, Ruin Threatens Kaiser

Germany Must Win Absolute Victory This Summer Or Victory, Will Be Worthless"—British War Review Describes Net In Which Central Powers Are Enmeshed.

OTTAWA, May 21—The following is a summary of the war situation for the past week issued by the British Ministry of Information, and cabled to the Canadian Government for publication as official news:

The growing unrest among the subject nationalities of the Austrian Empire is becoming too strong for the Government at Vienna and the Emperor, impelled by the instinct of self-preservation, has taken a further step on the road to subjection to Germany. Although terms of the new alliance are not made public, a Vienna telegram refers to its "extension" and "deepening." Even if the Austrian Emperor-King does succeed in escape from Italian control, he is powerless to do so, since the interest of the Hapsburgs are bound up with the predominance of the German and Magyar land-owning classes. The emancipation of the subject races can be achieved with help from without. All the allies will work in co-operation to satisfy their just claims.

HUN REACTIONARIES RAMPANT

In Germany itself the reactionary forces are still rampant. The Prussian lower House has rejected the equal franchise, while in a by-election in Saxony the Independent Socialists have lost a seat and twelve members of the minority group have been sentenced to Leipzig for penal servitude. Further aggressions of Germany in Russia have led to friction between Germans at Moscow and the Russian Government and the aggressions of Turkey in the long-coveted Persian Province of Azerbaijan are causing alarm and resentment to the Persian Government, while Germany is now employing pupils of Scherland the plot action recently used against Holland. The British mission which recently arrived at Rio de Janeiro is much gratified by the cordial reception and the warm welcome it has received.

HUNS FAIL, ALLIES WIN

On the west front, the week ending May 16, is the second week to have passed with only minor operations. There are two points specially to notice in these fields, the local objectives in each case of the army initiative and the operations ended in complete and costly failure, even where, as on the Voormeesele-Lachytte front, he employed and sacrificed considerable bodies of fresh troops. But each operation initiated by the allies, namely, at Lyrre, Morlancourt and Grivesnes, has been a complete success. This is a sweeping statement, and the German propagandist spares no words in giving the exact opposite. But the map proves that at no single point did the enemy gain his objective or succeed in holding any local gain for more than a few hours.

Enemy protestations of allied failure characterize every local gain by the French in the Lorre sector as "an attempt to retake Kemmel Hill," the objective, which, as the enemy knows to his cost, would call for an operation on a very considerable scale and which as not possible be aimed at by a local effort. The length to which enemy publicists have gone in their presentation of the truth in powerful evidence of the necessity felt for concealment from the German people anything which may detract from confident in the army, which they are told is invincible, but which they are beginning to suspect is better described as "canned fodder." Though minor operations have only local or tactical value, they have a strategical significance, indicating the points where the enemy is prepared to incur considerable sacrifice in order to gain observation posts. Training Ship To Arrive July First

Six Hundred Boys Want Training As Sailors On "Pinta"

Six hundred boys are already on the rolls of the Navy League of Ontario, all beset with the one ambition, to be a sailor.

The "Pinta," which has been doing coastal duty along the shores of Newfoundland and Halifax, and is the flag ship of the British navy to anchor in inland lake water, is expected to arrive at Toronto about July 1st. The training, which is along the lines of that given to boys in the British navy, consists of everything a sailor ought to know—swimming, life saving, knots, bends, splices, hitches, learning the compass, signalling, navigation and national code. In addition to this the boys will be given a two weeks trip in the Pinta around the lakes when she is installed, which will give them an idea of the life on board ship. The boys will be detailed off for the voyage in batches of fifty.

Boys are admitted to the service at the age of nine, but are not considered to have arrived at "full strength" until twelve years of age. After having reached and successfully passed his third training block a boy is entitled to his full uniform.

Particulars in regard to naval training on Lake Ontario can be obtained from Mr. Alexander Ray, Front street.

ST. JAMES' CHURCH IS NOW FREE OF DEBT

MONTREAL, May 21—As Chester, D. Massey of Toronto leaned forward in St. James' Methodist Church Sunday morning to blow out the last flickering flame from the embers of the mortgage whose burning represented the disappearance of the last vestige of the load of debt which had weighed heavily on the thoughts of every congregation of members of the church, the congregation spontaneously burst into applause, then struck up "Praise God from Whom all Blessing Flow."

Only second to this in interest to the large gathering was the unveiling of a tablet by Sir John Eaton, Toronto, in commemoration of the wiping out of the debt of $100,000. Lady Eaton had contributed $15,000 towards the fund, and Sir John Eaton $10,000, these two being among the most generous givers to the fund.

Tributes were paid to the pastor of St. James', Major the Rev. C. A. Watson, whose work brought to a culmination the long years of effort to wipe out the big debt on the church.

Military Notes

MAKE THE BEST SOLDIERS.

Chief among the reasons given by the military authorities for calling out the nineteen-year-old youths, is that men of that age by far are more responsible. Another reason advanced is that they make better soldiers. As soon as the 19-year-olds register they will be given a "receipt" for registration which will protect them from the activities of the Dominion police. They will not be called to report for duty until July 1st.

MEDICAL STUDENTS.

Medical students who have been called under the Military Service Act will, on the termination of any leave which has been granted, report to a depot battalion and will then be transferred to the Army Medical Corps training depot, where their services will be utilized as required. Medical students of the first year, or those who have part completed the first year, will be dealt with just as any other soldier.

War Garden Bulletin

PRACTICAL DAILY GUIDE FOR VACANT LOT AND BACK YARD GARDENERS ENLISTED IN GREATER PRODUCTION CAMPAIGN.

Issued by the Canada Food Board in collaboration with experts on the staff of the Dominion Experimental Farms.

PLANTING

The condition the potatoes are in at the time of planting is a very important factor in obtaining a maximum crop. If possible, potatoes should be prevented from sprouting. Usually they are cut into four parts, but this depends largely on the seed potato itself. Experiments go to prove that the most economical kind of set to use is one with about four eyes and a good amount of flesh. The seed pieces should be from 14 to 15 inches apart in the rows. There is only one thing in favor of sets with few eyes, and the most satisfactory way is to cut up small potatoes of unmarketable potatoes there will be.

The best practice is to select good, medium sized potatoes and make four sets out of them, cutting lengthwise and then across. There are several potato cutters on the market, but while some of these are better than others, the most satisfactory way is to cut by hand. Actual experiment has proved that seed planted as soon as it is cut yields, on an average, eight bushels per acre more than when left unplanted for four or five days. It is very important to plant fresh cut seed. Leaving the sets uncovered in the trenches lessens the yield. This is worth remembering.

A NEW BRITISH COINAGE.

Lord Southwark's bill for a decimal coinage has been read a first time in the Imperial House of Lords.

The bill, which is supported by the Institute of Bankers, the Chambers of Commerce, and the Decimal Association, introduces a new system of counting by tens. The sovereign and the florin will remain, the latter being one-tenth of the sovereign as it is now. A new coin, twopence, will be made which will be one-tenth of the florin, that is, it will be really almost 2½ pence of the present coins, and a new farthing, which will be one-tenth of the twopence.

This farthing will be worth slightly less than the present one (there will be 1,000 to the £1 instead of the present 960), but five new farthings will make a new penny, which will be worth slightly more than the present, that is, there will be only 200 pennies to the £1 instead of 240. There will, of course, be other coins, old and new, to meet the needs of the country.

Under the decimal system each penny-piece coin is worth exactly one-tenth of the coin of next higher value. Thus there might be such an amount as £1 18 1s 1d, meaning 1 sovereign 1 florin 1 new twopence and 1 new farthing. But it would not be written like that. It would merely be written £1.111, the decimal point showing where the tenths begin. £19.111 would mean 19 sovereigns 1 florin, 1 new twopence and 1 new farthing, or 19 sovereigns and 111 new farthings, or 19.111 new farthings. £19.125 would mean 19 sovereigns, 1 florin 2-ten twopences and 1 new farthing, or 19.121 new farthings.

It is much easier to calculate with this decimal coinage, and will do away complicated system of pounds, shillings and pence. Every other civilized nation has adopted decimal coinage.

A scientific society in Germany offers a gold medal each year for the best device or process for safeguarding life and limb or promoting health in the electric industry.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION

On Tuesday evening May 14th about eighty of the friends and neighbors assembled at the home of Mr. Simon Hall Thanksgiving, to bid farewell to his youngest son, Clifford, who is about to join the khaki for King and country. Mr S. Bird acted as chairman, and after the company had been called to order. The following address was read by Mr. A. Wannamaker:

Holloway, May 14th, 1918.

Dear Clifford:—It is with mingled feelings of pride and sorrow that we, your friends, have gathered here tonight, in order to enjoy a social hour and to show by our presence the respect we have always felt for you. Proud, because we know you will be a loyal soldier fighting to protect your loved ones at home, and when the following generations speak of the noble men who fought in this great war they will speak of you as a soldier who fought for his King and country. For the cause that is just and true, how united we stand, on Empire land, 'neath the flag of the red, white and blue. We are not here to bid you a long farewell, but to show in some tangible form the high esteem in which you are held and asking you to accept these tokens of our regard, which we trust will always remind you of the many friends in this vicinity. We intrust you to Him who promised to keep, support and defend, when trials overtake and danger is near.

Signed on behalf of your friends, old and young.

Wesley Wannamaker,
Clinton Bird.

Clifford made a suitable reply, expressing his appreciation of the honor they had conferred upon him in presenting to him these gifts a wrist watch, an Oddfellow's ring and a fountain pen. After speeches by Mr. L. Robson, E. Bird and others and the singing of, "We'll Never Let the Old Flag Fall," lunch was server, and a social evening spent, after which the company dispersed to their homes.

BORN IN CANADA, BUT NOT A CANADIAN

The action of the Dominion Police in taking a local Chinaman in charge on a defaulter has created some discussion in legal circles in the city and it is very likely that some further action will follow.

It is pointed out that although the Chinaman was born in Canada, he is not a British subject and was not naturalized. There are several Chinamen in the city who were born in Canada, but that fact it is said, does not make them Canadian citizens, and hence they are not liable to the Military Service Act. It is understood that the Chinamen of the city are placing the matter in the hands of a lawyer and some interesting developments in regard to the Naturalization Act will be brought out.

The mere fact that a man is born in Canada does not make him a Canadian citizen, if his parents are foreigners. In the United States a man born there is an American citizen, but different laws govern Canada.

An automatic clamping device prevents a wallet falling from a man's pocket and even will defy pickpockets who do not know how it is operated.

EXEMPTIONS FOR G. T. R. EMPLOYEES

Mr. W. H. Farrell, terminal superintendent of the G.T.R., pleaded hard before Sir William Mullock's tribunal at Osgoode Hall, yesterday, to retain as many of his employes as possible. On the ground of doing work of national importance, the following exemptions were allowed: J. A. Murphy, chief clerk to the general superintendent; G. McPhaerty, chief clerk to the superintendent of transportation; T. H. Graves, checker and F. Germanican, brakeman, all total exemption as long as they remain at their present employment. W. J. Wilson, conductor; F. H. Greenaway, conductor; W. Foerty, advising clerk; J. P. Mumford, timekeeper and H. J. Gooby, rate clerk, each for three months. J. Sergeant, checker, was granted one month.

The Son of Tarzan

sensed even a slight degree of hostility.

The shebs had been away for a long time, conducting a caravan of ivory, ostrich and rubber far into the north. The interim had been one of much peace for Meriem. It is true that Meriem had still been with her, to shock or beat her as the mood seized the villainous old hag, but Halima was only one. When the shebs were away she there were two of them, and the shebs was stronger and more brutal even than Halima.

Little Meriem often wondered why the grim old man hated her so. It is true that he was cruel and unjust to all with whom he came in contact, but to Meriem he reserved his greatest cruelties, his most studied injustices.

As the little girl played she prattled continuously to her companion, propped in a sitting position with a couple of twigs. She was totally absorbed in Gacka—so much so that she did not note the gentle swaying of the branches of the tree above her as they bent to the body of a creature that had entered them stealthily from the jungle.

In happy ignorance the little girl played on, while from above two steady eyes looked down upon her, unblinking, unwavering. There was none other than the little girl in this part of the village, which had been almost deserted since the sheb had left long months before upon his journey toward the north.

And out in the jungle, an hour's march from the village, the sheb was leading his returning caravan homeward.

A year had passed since the white men had fired upon the lad and driven him back into the jungle to take up his search for the only remaining creatures to whom he might look for companionship—the great apes. For months the two had wandered eastward, deeper and deeper into the jungle.

The year had done much for the boy —turning his already mighty muscles to thews of steel, developing his woodcraft to a point where it verged upon the uncanny, perfecting his arboreal instincts and training him in the use of both natural and artificial weapons of offense and defense.

He had become at last a creature of marvelous physical powers and mental cunning. He was still but a boy, yet so great was his strength that the powerful anthropoid with which he often engaged in similar battles was no match for him. Akut had taught him to fight as the bull ape fights, nor ever was there a teacher better fitted to instruct in the savage warfare of primordial man or a pupil better equipped to profit by the lessons of a master.

As the two searched for a band of the almost extinct species of ape to which Akut belonged they lived upon the best the jungle afforded. Antelope and zebra fell to the boy's spear or were dragged down by the two powerful beasts of prey, who leaped upon them from some overhanging limb or from the ambush of the undergrowth beside the trail to the water hole or the ford.

Akut and Jack, now called Korak in the ape language, were moving slowly down the wind, and warily, because the advantage was with the quarry beast might chance to be hunting ahead of them, where their scent upon it was being borne by the light breeze. Suddenly the two halted and stampeded by. Two heads were cocked upon one side. Like creatures hewn from solid rock they stood immovable, listening. Not a muscle quivered.

For several moments they remained thus. Then Korak advanced cautiously a few yards and leaped nimbly into a tree. Akut followed close upon his heels. Neither had made a sound that would have been appreciable to human ears at a dozen paces.

Stopping often to listen, they crept forward through the trees. That both were which rose to his side before. At last he drew a human hand. The spear head flew to the limit of the thong that held it to the shaft, and that would send the iron shod missile completely through the body of the Kilonit warrior. But then the Kilonit pounced. He bounded toward it. With his left hand he caught the shaft, with his right he drew his knife. Instantly he might have fallen victim to the spear of another Kilonit warrior, but the latter, seeing that the first had already engaged the enemy, turned and fled toward the village.

He brushed his spear cautiously that it might hardly be seen by stopping leaves, foliage or branches. Quietly he crept toward it. It remained motionless. It was dead, and there by lay with wide eyes, blinking down in wonder upon the creature he had crept so to kill—looking down upon a little girl, a little not-brown child.

Korak wondered what the girl would do now that she had found the thing she lived for most. Most likely she would scream and run away. Then would come back some of the village with spears and guns and set upon him. They would either kill him or drive him from the world.

A leap from the boy's thong. He caressed the companionship of his own kind, though he hardly realized how greatly. He would have liked to slip down from the little girl and talk with her, though he knew that the words he had ever heard that she spoke a language with which he was unfamiliar.

At last he bit upon a plan. He would attract her attention and reassure her by a smiling greeting from a greater distance. Silently he wormed his way back into the tree. It was no hardship to hail her from beyond the radius of danger.

Korak, sitting her the feeling of security which he imagined the stout barricade would afford.

He had scarcely left his position in the tree when his attention was attracted by a considerable disturbance on the opposite side of the village. Peering a little he could see the gate at the far end of the main street.

A number of men, women and children were running toward it. Among them, revealing the head of a retiring upon the opposite side. It trooped in another organization—black slaves and dark breed Arabs of the borderland—all shouting cursed drivers urging on their vicious charges; overburdened donkeys, varying sadly; impedimenta were while they endured with stoic patience the brutalities of their masters; goats, sheep and horses.

Into the village they all trooped behind a tall, sour old man, who rode, without greetings to those who shrank from his path, directly to a large goatskin tent in the center of the village.

Here he spoke to a swarthy black man.

MRS. CHAPIN SAYS

NUJOL LABORATORIES
Standard Oil Company (New Jersey)
Bayonne, New Jersey.

Oct. 14, 1917

Dear Sirs:—
I don't think there was ever anybody, man, woman or child, who was or is more constipated than my little three year old boy was. Why, sir, he was so bad before we got him the Nujol that we would have to leave his bowels unmoved for three or four days, then use almost a quart of water in a syringe to move them. The poor little fellow would almost go into spasms and his father could never stay in the room where he was; it would take almost an hour's work to get them to move.
He had been constipated for two years. I think these patent medicines did it. I have known the doctor to be here and give him five tablespoons of castor oil, one every half hour, to get his bowels to move. We tried four different doctors, one a well known specialist, but none could help him. Three advised operations, said it was the only cure. I have always had a horror of operations and I guess always will.
We were going to try a well known woman doctor who claims she cures without an operation, when I coaxed my husband to let me try Nujol. I had read so much about it, I told him even if it didn't help him, it would not hurt. We tried it, started giving him three tablespoonfuls a day, one after each meal, then as his bowels moved better we decreased the dose as per directions. We used two bottles and half and we cured him. How thankful we were; tears come to my eyes, even now, when I think of how that poor little fellow suffered. Just think, a little tot, hardly able to talk plainly! He has not taken a drop of it since last June, hardly able to talk plainly! He has not taken a drop of it since last June.
I have wanted to write before, but kept neglecting it till I thought perhaps my letter would relieve lots of lots of other people. Again I say, God Bless Nujol, and I will never be without it or cease to recommend it. From a mother whose heart will always be thankful for your great remedy for constipation.

OUR WEEKLY SERMON

By Rev. A. M. Hubly.

LOVERS OF LITTLE CHILDREN.

—Matt. 18:5.

"Then were there brought unto him little children that he should put his hands on them and pray."—Matt. 19:13.

Parents generally love their children. In fact, little children are beloved by most people. But there is one greater fact than all others in this connection, a truth we are dull at learning; a fact we are slow to recognize. That eternal fact, that infinite truth stands out boldly on the pages of history, both sacred and profane, and is also evidenced by human experiences and is written indelibly in family life and upon the hearts of men, and proves that all love for children is spurious, if not detrimental, that does not have for its aim the saving of the child from sin through, and by the ministry of the one and only Saviour. The person who so loves will generally be beloved by children.

I heard two young men talking at their father's table say to their father: "We thought you were altogether too strict with us when we were younger here, but as we see many of our school mates in their worldly, selfish, unprofitable life today, to whom we have had so much better time than we had, we are thankful for both your wisdom and your love."

Four years ago, down at my old home, a great overgrown nephew of mine said to me when speaking of the requisites of the higher life: "I used to think my father too severe on me when in not allowing me with the other fellows out at night, but I see his wisdom now and it is my one ambition to be a man like my father."

Many fathers forget that the God which loves them and their children and whose promises are for both parents and children, has commanded them th bring up the children in the admonition of the Lord.

I remember our dear old pastor, 52 years rector of St. George's Church of England, in Halifax, when all the children loved even when over eighty years of age. He used to say "I want to preach till the Lord calls me, even if I must be carried to the pulpit." I remember his last sermon on one beautiful Sunday morning, and the next Saturday we buried his beloved remains in the village churchyard three miles from the city church. The grave is marked by a marble stone inscribed, as he had chosen: "Here lies one who loved little children."

That his love was of the gold purified seven times in the fire, was manifested by his great effort to bring children on to fifth with Christ as to find the touch of His hand better than all the learning and sport of the world. How sacredly blessed were the church and Sunday School, as he would start a meeting! he had a look in height, and plead with the boys and girls to keep away from prayerless, Sabbathless amusements! As he came on the city he would say in Sunday School: "Now boys, there is in the evening the afternoon this week. It would be an awful disgrace for St. George's Sunday School, its ministers and teachers to be seen in the common mingling with the people on that day." Did his pleading keep all away? No! But those who did love and respect the old man for his consistent, prayerful interest stayed away. And no doubt the older they grew and the more they saw the difference between those who love God more than the things of the world, and those who did otherwise, the more they thanked God for the man who so loved them in childhood and youth.

Those children, brought to Jesus, I suppose by their parents, must have been glad in after days, to remember that Jesus had laid His hands upon them and blessed them. They would also remember with grateful hearts that some one was kind enough to bring them to their Lord. Some have felt all through life the beneficition of the touch of a friendly hand laid upon their head in Christian love when a child.

A Christian man said late in life that "he could feel the touch of his dying mother's hand on his head as she bade him farewell, and asked him to follow Christ every day." A boy, when a child, was led to his father's bedside and was kissed and blessed, and prayed to God for his father as he passed to be with Christ himself. When the boy became a youth the thought of having been thus dedicated with by his dying father kept him safe from the ways of sin. He will tell you today that whatever tempted in young life to do wrong the thought would come: "No, I must not, I am the boy who was kissed, blessed and given to God." When, later in life, burdens pressed and he was about to yield to despair, he would remember his father's acts and words, and the remembrance would support him. Now, in the quiet evening of the day of life, still with pleasant memory of the touch of that long ago vanished hand and hushed voice—

He sits beside the silent sea,
The hand was the stuffed one.

Assured no harm shall come to him on ocean or on shore.

—Whittier paraphrased.

If all, who have in childhood felt the touch of a hand and have heard a word consecrating them to Christ, would hold in remembrance that holy touch and word, how pure and true it would make their lives!

Fifty years ago the late Ira Sankey was standing in a carriage singing the gospel in the midst of a gipsy camp in England, and a little gipsy boy climbed upon the wheel of the carriage. Mr. Sankey laid his hand upon the the black curly hair of the boy's head and said, "You dear boy, I hope that you will become a preacher of Christ's gospel some day." Forty years later Mr. Sankey by very ill in New York, totally blind, weak and pale, he lay waiting the call: "Come up higher," when a tall manly form knelt by his bedside and took the thin white hand of the dying man and placed it on his head still covered with curly black hair, and told Mr. Sankey of that hand having been laid forty years before, and quoted the words of that far-off incident: "My dear boy, I hope that you shall become a preacher of the gospel some day."

Then he said: "I have come to thank you for that holy touch and word and to tell you that I have been doing my best at preaching the gospel for thirty years." The speaker—need I tell you?—was the much honored and beloved evangelist, known throughout the civilized world as Gipsy Smith.

What a blessing is the world! What a blessing to the child! What a blessing to the worn, weary servant of God waiting his departure, was the touch of a hand consecrated by love for souls, compiled with love for the Christ who died to save us and our children.

Those people who brought little children to Jesus in the days of His flesh were believers in prayer. Their request was that He might "put His hands upon them and pray." Our Lord complied with their request, showing for all time that little children were proper subjects for both blessing and prayer, and that these acts were not meaningless, even for infants. Our scripture makes it very plain that bringing children to the Saviour is not only a privilege but a meritorious one, while keeping them from Him is to displease Him and to merit His disfavor.

"Suffer them to come." He, said, "and forbid them not." So we ought to be thankful for that divine word of caution, and be very careful that we do not in any way, either by act or example hinder their approach to religious privileges and ministrations of grace. This can be done and is done in a thousand different ways by older Christians. Undevout Christian parents, quite unintentionally, keep their children from Christ by the influence of their own life. We can do it by neglect of prayer with them and for them in the home, and by our indifference as to family relations to public worship, and to the extension of Christ's kingdom at home and abroad. We can keep the children from the touch and prayers of Jesus by doing nothing, allowing them to grow up uninfluenced toward right doing. We may do it by showing that their untutored minds to become preoccupied with other things to the exclusion of Christ and His service.

Christ's teaching and His whole attitude toward children appeals to His disciples today, as it did of old. He found it necessary to rebuke His chosen followers for attempting to hinder the approach of little ones to Him. Let us not only clear away the many barriers and every hindrance, but do our part to bring our young people to Christ that He might by His holy hand and life-giving word awaken in their hearts feelings of His love and purge out appetites and desires for the unholy and soul-poisoning things of the world that beset them on every hand.

Does anyone think it a light thing to hinder a child's salvation in the way of religion either by our indifference regarding their religious training or by encouraging their love for irreligious pleasure?

What excuse can such an one offer for rejecting the construction that I have put upon such an attitude? He said:

"Whosoever shall offend, or make stumble, one of these little ones which believe on me, it were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck and that he were drowned in the depths of the sea."

Christ says let the children come. Let us not hinder them. No matter how little they know of the way of understand of the doctrine, we must put up no gates, we must keep them from no standards of experiences, but only be sure that we hinder them not. He will teach them.

Pains Followed The Nerves

From the Feet to the Top of the Head

Could Not Attend to Business — For Five Months—Gaining Strength Every Day.

Bowmanville, Ont., May 22.—A great number of people in this district have been trying out Dr. Chase's Nerve Food with splendid results, and are more enthusiastic than Mr. Allen.

His nervous system had become so completely run down that he had to give up his usual occupation and he suffered keenly from neuralgic pains which would dart along the nerves, from head to feet.

But he found a cure and does not hesitate to recommend it to others. Here is his letter:

Mr. Samuel Allen, Coleman street, Bowmanville, Ont., writes:

"Last summer I suffered from a severe attack of nervousness. I had laid up, unable to attend to my business, for five months. I would be taken with pains which commenced in my feet, and dart right up to the top of my head. I had frequent dizzy spells, sometimes so bad that I would fall over from dizziness. At last I commenced a treatment of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and after a short time I found benefit to me that before long I was my former self again. I am still using the Nerve Food and gaining strength every day. I can heartily recommend them to anyone suffering from nervous trouble of any kind."

PRAISED GOD WHILE BOMBS FELL.

Hun bombs seem to have a particular fancy for hospitals and children's shelters. During the recent air raid bombs fell in a semi-circle around a London hospital which was seemingly protected from harm by Providence. All the windows were shattered and nurses could be seen comforting the patients while others were singing "Praise God from Whom all Blessings Flow." Takes some courage to sing a hymn of praise amid the din of bursting shells. Faith is mighty and will prevail, and the allied nations, strengthened by a faith which never wavers, know that the Lord of Hosts is His own good time will help them to forever destroy the demon of Hun Kultur and unscrupulous militarism.

NOW IS THE ACCEPTED TIME.

The biggest local question before the people of Prince Edward County and Belleville today is the question of a bay bridge free of tolls. With Government assistance and everything favorable, now is the accepted time to remove the tolls forever. It would be a crime to let this opportunity pass through carelessness or incapacity. One blunder of that kind was enough—when the $45,000 of the money of the municipalities interested in the bridge was permitted to slip into private hands and that sum of money was lost to the public forever.

It may suit the plots of politicians to perpetuate a toll bridge, but this is one question in which the people refuse to be fooled by noise and bluster. Everyone who has to put a hand down into the pocket and pay money for the privilege of crossing the Bay Bridge can feel help but matter a curse at the low political mentality which would seek to fasten permanently such a galling incumberance upon the people.

All highways and bridges in Canada should be free.

London's Air Raid Most Ambitious Yet Carried Out

LONDON, May 22.—The latest aerial attack of the Germans on London and its environs probably was the most ambitious ever undertaken. Never before was there such a continued volley of firing from the British anti-aircraft batteries.

Thousands of people had their first experience in a raid. They were bedsoms from many points of England, Scotland and Wales, who took advantage of the Whitsuntide holidays, which run from Saturday until Tuesday to visit the metropolis. On the other hand, thousands of Londoners had gone to the countryside and seashore resorts for brief vacations. They cut short these visits and hurried back to London to learn the fate of their homes and relatives.

A Terrific Aerial Barrage.

Except for a few brief pauses, the gunners blazed away with a terrific concentration of fire. The raiding Gothas flew at a great height, the majority of them keeping well up to 12,000 feet in a very clear sky.

Several of the German machines flew as low as 4,000 feet. Although they kept at a great height the sound of their motors could plainly be heard from the streets. At one point a correspondent of the Associated Press viewed the spectacle where the engines were audible. The unusually heavy barrage evidently prevented the Gothas from reaching their objectives.

Most Exciting Experience.

The raid was one of the most exciting which Londoners have yet experienced. As the enemy machines approached the sky was filled with bursting shrapnel. Perhaps the most dramatic moment came when the distinctive hum of the German machines suddenly became a splutter and then ceased. The plane was seen to burst into flames as it fell.

After the continuous barrage died away the searchlights were turned outwards and a lone shell was sent after the retreating raiders.

The moon was shining brightly when the raiders crossed the southeastern point and headed for the metropolis. The usual warnings were given promptly and the people had time to reach shelters before the guns in the neighborhood of London were heard.

The number of enemy aircraft is not known, but they seem to have been more numerous than usual.

Canada has done wonderfully well thus far with its war finance, and there is every reason to expect that she will do her part pace to the end. Canada is enormously rich in undeveloped resources and her promises to pay are among the best securities in the world. After the war there is bound to be a rapid development of Canada's resources with great increase in the visible wealth.

Don't Spoil Your Hair By Washing It

When you wash your hair, be careful what you use. Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains an excess alkali, for this is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified cocoanut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, then wash it out and that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

Seven Hun Raiders Brought Down

LONDON, May 21.—Beside the four raiders already announced as having been destroyed in the air over London, a fifth was brought down and fell flaming into the sea. Two others were reported to have fallen in a crash, but definite confirmation of this is lacking, according to a supplementary statement issued by the War Office tonight.

More deaths and injuries to innocent inmates of London's homes were caused in the raid than any raid this year except that of January 28th, when 56 persons were killed and 87 were injured.

A number of bombs fell in open places in London, some of them near a hospital, which was seemingly protected by Providence as the helpless inmates gave vent to their feelings and singing. The windows had been blown out and the people nearly could distinctly hear the chorus singing "Praise God from Whom all Blessings Flow."

COURAGE.

What if the morn no joy to you shall bring,
No gleam of sunbeams shine across your way;
What if no bird she joyous note shall sing
Into your listening ear through all the day!

What if no word of comfort you shall hear
As through the hours long you toil and strive;
What if to you no vision bright appear
To keep your hungry heart and soul alive!

What if the best companionship men crave
Come not to you through all the day long length,
But, bound and fettered even as a slave,
Within yourself you have to find your strength!

And if, when you have toiled and wrought alone,
The sweet reward you sought you do not gain,
And find the hoped-for bread is but a stone,
In that sad hour for grief, should you complain?

Ah, no! It matters not if shade or sun,
If good or ill, your efforts shall attend;
In doing, you have but your duty done
As best you knew—and should do to the end.

because we've made the Comfort Soap bar bigger for the same money. Of course the new bar's wrapper is not good for premiums—during the war at least—but that makes war-time economy possible in the shape of the bigger bar.

The Son of Tarzan

By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Copyright by Frank A. Munsey Co.

The trail, which marked the passage of a good sized company, pointed north at right angles to the course the boy and the ape were taking toward the coast.

Doubtless those white men knew the nearest coast settlement. They might even be headed for it now. At any rate, it would be worth while overtaking them, even if only for the pleasure of meeting again creatures of his own kind.

The boy was in the lead, excitement and anticipation carrying him ahead of his companion. And it was the boy who first saw the rear guard of the caravan and the white men he had been so anxious to overtake.

Stumbling along the tangled trail of blood ahead a dozen heavily laden blacks who, from fatigue or sickness, had dropped behind were being prodded by the black soldiers of the rear guard, kicked when they fell and then roughly jerked to their feet and hustled onward. On either side walked a giant white man, whose heavy blond beards almost obliterated their countenances.

The boy's pipe formed a glad cry of salutation as his eyes first discovered the whites—a cry that was never uttered, for almost immediately he witnessed that which turned his happiness to anger as he saw that both the white men were wielding heavy whips brutally upon the naked backs of the poor devils staggering along beneath loads that would have overtaxed the strength and endurance of strong men at the beginning of a new day.

Every now and then the rear guard and the white men cast apprehensive glances rearward, as though momentarily expecting the materialization of some long expected danger from that quarter. The boy had passed after his first sight of the caravan and now was following slowly in the wake of the sordid, brutal spectacle.

Presently Akut came up with him. To the beast there was less of horror in the sight than to the lad, yet even the great ape growled beneath his breath at useless torture being inflicted upon the helpless slaves.

He looked at the boy. "Now that he had caught up with the creatures of his own kind, why was it that he did not rush forward and greet them? He put the question to his companion.

"They are fiends," muttered the boy. "I would not travel with them as they, for if I did I should set upon them and kill them the first time they beat their people as they are beating them now. But," he added after a moment's thought, "I can ask them the whereabouts of the nearest port, and then, Akut, we can leave them."

The ape made no reply, and the boy swung to the ground and started at a brisk walk toward the safari. He was a hundred yards away, perhaps, when one of the whites caught sight of him.

The man gave a shout of alarm, instantly leveling his rifle upon the boy and firing. The bullet struck just in front of its mark, scattering turf and fallen leaves against the lad's legs. A second later the other whites and the black soldiers of the rear guard were firing hysterically at him.

Jack leaped behind a tree, unhit. Days of panic ridden flight through the jungle had filled Carl Jensen and Sven Mathilus with jangling nerves and their native boys with unreasonable terror. Every new note from behind quickened to their frightened ears the coming of the shelt and his bloodthirsty followers.

When, after conquering their nervousness, the rear guard advanced upon the enemy's position to investigate they found nothing, for Akut had the boy had retreated out of range of the unfriendly guns.

Jack was disheartened and sad. He had not entirely recovered from the depressing effect of the unfriendly reception he had received at the hands of the blacks, and now he had found an even more hostile one accorded him by men of his own color.

"The lesser beasts flee from me in terror," he murmured half to himself; "the greater beasts are ready to tear me to pieces at sight. Black men would kill me with their spears or arrows. And now white men, my own kind, have fired upon and driven me away.

"Are all the creatures of the world my enemies? Has the son of Tarzan no friend other than Akut?"

The old ape drew closer to the b...

"There are the great apes," he said. "They only will be the friends of Tarzan's friend. Only the great apes will welcome the son of Tarzan. You have seen that men want nothing of you. Let us go now and continue our search for the great apes—our people."

LANDSCAPE PAINTER WANTED

"I want to live in the country next summer," said the Stranger.

"That's a laudable ambition," replied Farmer Contosel.

"You see, I'm a painter. Can I get board with you?"

"It depends, friend, on what you paint. If it's pictures I don't see much chance of making room for you. But if it's fences and roofs, we'll board you an' pay wages besides."

INDULGING IN REMINISCENCES.

"I should like a porterhouse steak, with mushrooms," said the stranger, "some delicately browned toast, with plenty of butter——"

"Excuse me, suh," interrupted the waiter, "is you trying to give an order or is you jes' reminiscin' 'bout old times?"

A rollicking tune, sung by Arthur Fields, with this irresistible chorus: "The Russians were rushin' the Prussians, The Prussians were crushin' the Russians, The Balkans were balkin' and Turkey was squawkin', Rasputin disputin' and Italy scootin', The Boches all bulled Bolsheviks, The British were skittish at sea, But the good Lord I'm thankin', The Yanks started yankin' and yanked Kaiser Bill up a tree!"

Quiet Prevails Through Ireland Dublin Is Normal

LONDON, May 21.—With the number of Sinn Feiners under arrest in various parts of Ireland estimated at from one hundred to five hundred yesterday, and the situation apparently well in hand, it came to light that the German Government has intrigued for an Irish rebellion ever since the war began. Even after failure of the plot instigated by Sir Roger Casement Chesterton Hill, a renegade Irish officer financed by Germany, published in Prussia a magazine designed to aid propaganda for an Irish republic.

St. John Gaffney, discharged United States consul to Germany, is alleged to have been among the chief propagandists for Germany. He is said to have gone to Stockholm last summer to get Dutch and Scandinavian Socialists to support an Irish republic. He carried, it is said, quantities of violent anti-British and pro-German literature.

All the chief plotters are now believed to be in custody.

U.S. Secret Service Exposed Sinn Fein Plot

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Much of the information upon which the British authorities executed their coup in rounding up Sinn Fein leaders was furnished by the American secret service, it was learned. Officials refused to reveal the whereabouts of St. John Gaffney, discharged American consul in Germany mentioned in connection with German-Sinn Fein plotting.

Beyond the admission, neither the State or Justice Departments would go into details of their work on the case.

Ottawa, May 22.—The bill to amend the Income Tax Act was read a third time in the House. Mr. Macleod replied that he had noticed such a publication was now being prepared.

sound even a slight degree of breathing.

The sheik had been away for a long time, conducting a caravan of ivory, skins and rubber far into the north. The interim had been one of great peace for Meriem. It is true that Mahomed still beat with her, to pinch or bent her as the mood seized the villainous old hag, but Kalmah was not one. When the sheik was there alone there were two of them, and the latter was stronger and more brutal even than his master.

Little Meriem often wondered why the grim old man hated her so. It is true that he was cruel and neglectful all with whom he came in contact, but to Meriem he reserved his greatest cruelties, his most studied injustices.

As the little girl played she prattled continuously to her companion, perpped in a sitting position with a couple of twigs. She was totally absorbed by Geeks—so much so that she did not note the gentle swaying of the branches of the tree above her as they bent to the body of a creature that had entered them stealthily from the jungle.

In happy ignorance the little girl played on, while from above two steady eyes looked down upon her, unblinking, unwavering. There was none other than the little girl in this part of the village, which had been almost deserted since the sheik had left long months before upon his journey toward the north.

And out in the jungle, an hour's march from the village, the sheik was leading his returning caravan homeward.

A year had passed since the white men had fired upon the lad and driven him back into the jungle to take up his search for the only remaining creatures to whom he might look for companionship—the great apes. For months the two had wandered eastward, deeper and deeper into the jungle.

The year had done much for the boy —turning his already mighty muscles to bars of steel, developing his woodcraft to a point where it verged upon the uncanny, perfecting his arboreal instincts and training him in the use of both natural and artificial weapons of offense and defense.

He had become at last a creature of marvelous physical power and mental cunning. He was still but a boy, yet so great was his strength that the powerful anthropoid with which he often engaged in mimic battles was no match for him. Akut had taught him to fight as the bull ape fights, nor ever was there a teacher better fitted to instruct in the savage warfare of primordial man of a pupil better equipped to profit by the lessons of a master.

As the two marched for a band of the almost extinct species of ape to which Akut belonged they lived upon the best the jungle afforded. Antelope and zebra fell to the boy's spear or were dragged down by the two powerful beasts of prey, who learned upon them from some overhanging limb or from the ambush of the undergrowth beside the trail to the water hole or the ford.

Akut and Jack, now called Korak in the ape language, were moving slowly down the wind, and warily, because the advantage was with whatever beast might chance to be hunting ahead of them, where their scent spoor was being borne by the light breeze. Suddenly the two halted simultaneously. Two heads were cocked upon one side. Like creatures hewn from solid rock they stood immovable, listening. Not a muscle quivered.

For several seconds they remained thus. Then Korak advanced cautiously a few yards and leaped into a tree. Akut followed close upon his heels. Neither had made a sound that would have been appreciable to human ears at a dozen paces.

Stopping often to listen, they crept forward through the trees. That both were greatly puzzled was apparent from the questioning looks they cast at one another from time to time.

Finally the lad caught a glimpse of a palisade a hundred yards ahead and beyond it the tops of some grass skin tents and a number of thatched huts.

His lip upcurled in a savage snarl. Blacks! How he hated them! He signed to Akut to remain where he was while he advanced to reconnoiter.

He heard a voice beyond the palisade, and toward that he made his way. A great tree overhung the inclosure at the very point from which the voice came. Into this Korak crept. His spear was ready in his hand. His ears told him of the proximity of a human being. All that his eyes required was a single glance to show him his target; then, lightning-like, the missile would fly to its goal.

With raised spear he crept among the branches of the tree, glaring downward in search of the owner of the voice which rose to him from below.

At last he saw a human back. The spear hand rose to the limit of the throwing radius, but before the fourth finger had closed upon the shaft a thought flashed through the body of the unconscious victim. And then the Killer leaped. He bounded forward a little to get a better view of the target.

He lowered his spear cautiously that it might hold no semblance of warning against foliage or branches. Quietly and stealthily in a crouching position he crept along a great limb, and there he lay with body partly hidden down in the shadow of the creature he had crept upon to kill—looking down upon a little girl, a little naked brown maiden.

Korak wondered what the girl would be doing so far from civilization from the tree in her midst. Most likely she would scream—and run away. Then would come she men of the village with spears and guns and set upon him. They would either kill him or drive him away.

A funny look in the boy's thought. He entered the consciousness of his own mind, though he hardly realized how greatly. He would have liked to slip down beside the little girl and talk with her, though he knew from the words he had overheard that she spoke a language with which he was unfamiliar.

At last he hit upon a plan. He would attract her attention and reassure her by a smiling greeting from a greater distance, silently he wormed his way back into the tree. It was a big limb—to hail her from beyond the outside, sitting her the feeling of security which he imagined the silent barricade would afford.

He had scarcely left his position in the tree when his attention was attracted by a considerable noise upon the opposite side of the village. By moving a little he could see the gate at the far end of the main street.

A number of men, women and children were coming toward it. It swung open, revealing the head of a curvan with the opposite side. It stopped in a motley conglomeration—black slaves and their black masters. Loads of merchandise were while they endured with stoic patience the brutalities of their masters' goads, sheep and horses.

Into the village they all trooped behind a tall, sour old man, who rode, without greetings to those who shrunk from his path, directly to a large goatskin tent in the center of the village.

Here he spoke to a wrinkled black man.

MRS. CHAPIN SAYS

NUJOL LABORATORIES
Standard Oil Company (New Jersey)
Bayonne, New Jersey.

Oct. 14, 1917

Dear Sirs:—
I don't think there was ever anybody, man, woman or child, who was or is more constipated than my little three year old boy was. Why, sir, he was so bad before we got him the Nujol that we would have to leave his bowels unmoved for three or four days, then use almost a quart of wafer in a syringe to move them. The poor little fellow would almost go into spasms and his father could never stay in the room where he was; it would take almost an hour's work to get them to move.

He had been constipated for two years. I think these patent medicines did it. I have known the doctor to be here and give him five tablespoons of castor oil, one every half hour, to get his bowels to move. We tried four different doctors, one a well known specialist, but none could help him. Three advised operations, said it was the only cure. I have always had a horror of operations and I guess always will.

We were going to try a well known woman doctor who claims she cures without an operation, when I coaxed my husband to let me try Nujol. I had read so much about it, I told him even if it didn't help him, it would not hurt. We tried it, started giving him three tablespoonfuls a day, one after each meal, then as his bowels moved better we decreased the dose as per directions. We used two bottles and half and we cured him. How thankful we were, others come to my eyes, even now, when I think of how that poor little fellow suffered. Just think, a little tot, hardly able to talk plainly! He has not taken a drop of it since last June.

I have wanted to write before, but kept neglecting it till I thought perhaps my letter would relieve lots and lots of other people. SHIPMENT OF HOGS AND CALVES

A large number of live hogs and calves were to-day shipped from this city to Montreal, by Mr. D. Scott and Son. The price paid for hogs was $18.50 per hundred weight and calves varied in prices according to size and condition.

COTTAGE BURNED

At Sturgeon Point yesterday, a summer cottage, the property of Mr. Robert Nugent of Lindsay, was destroyed by fire, and other cottages nearby were slightly damaged. Assistance from Lindsay and other places near by was secured, and a bucket brigade was formed, which did excellent work in stopping the progress of the fire fiend.

NURSES GRADUATE

At the graduating exercises of the Brockville General Hospital training school for nurses five young women were awarded diplomas, as follows: Mary Maud McNish, Eola G. McDowell, Bertha A. Killoran, Hazel K. Rowsome and Ruth R. Pepin. A scholarship was won by Miss McDowell, and Miss Pepin, who comes from Grand, Que., stood first in general proficiency.

SUMMER COTTAGE BURNED

The large cottage at Deer's Lake, Rideau waters, owned by the Wright brothers of Brockville, was burned to the ground with its contents yesterday. The building contained, besides furniture, much fishing tackle, tents, canoe, etc. and the loss is estimated at over $2,000, partly covered by insurance. It is thought that the fire was the work of an incendiary.

COMMEMORATED ANNIVERSARY

Five years ago yesterday Quinte Lodge, No. 122, of Rebekahs, was instituted in this city, and last evening the event was commemorated at the Oddfellows' Temple, Front Street. Mrs. Swartzman, Grand President, was present and visiting sisters from Madoc, Thomasburg, Tweed and Toronto were also present. After the business of the lodge had been completed refreshments were served, followed by a brief programme and dancing. The function was thoroughly enjoyable in all of its detail.

SELF DENIAL.

The results of the recent Salvation Army Self Denial will be shown on a lantern sheet as well as a number of views at the Citadel tomorrow night, Thursday, 8 o'clock. This fund is mostly all devoted to the S. A. war work and the citizens of Belleville have done well. The young people with their leader, Sergt.-Major Mrs. R. W. Brown, raised the most of the above and the champions' names will be given out on the sheet with the others. Adjt. Tricky wishes to thank all the friends who have contributed so liberally and extends an invitation to attend tomorrow night to see the total results. There will be special music for the occasion.

Try This If You Have Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too that all itching and tingling of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

MUSIC & DRAMA

"THE BOHEMIAN GIRL"

The effort to supply grand opera at popular prices did not meet with the recognition last night at Griffin's Theatre this night when the Boston English Opera Company presented "The Bohemian Girl," although there was a fairly large audience present.

Those who were wise enough to take the opportunity offered were amply rewarded, Mr. Joseph F. Sheehan the famous tenor, appeared as Thaddeus, the young Polish rebel, whose cause of true land had many undulations, and sang "When Other Lips" for his audiences with exquisite tenderness and beauty. The second verse, "When coldness or deceit shall slight," he took with the "head voice" and at times the extreme tenuity and sweetness of his tenor was pathetic. Into "When the Fair Land of Poland was ploughed by the hoof of the ruthless invader," he put a fine passion that made the song unusually topical and gave one a touch of reality to what at times was difficult to take very seriously in these strenuous days. It was good to hear Mr. Sheehan sing last night, "In a phalanx as dauntless as freedom ever raised, I fought, and I bled by her side."

Mr. Arthur Deane's Count Arnheim was a representation full of fine dignified power. His moment came with "The Heart Bowed Down," and it was difficult to believe that this noble song would have been rendered with more convincing appeal and dramatic strength. His baritone is full and fine and sonorous, and his rendering received the most unequivocal appreciation. Miss Ellen Kaden made a charmer Arline, and her dream song that everybody knew and everybody was waiting to did not suffer by our critical traditions. "I Dreamt That I Dwelt In Marble Halls" was beautifully sung in a pure sweet soprano and was one of the great moments of the evening. The applause was genuine and whole-hearted and the singer had to be repeated. The other beautiful lyrics that fell to her lot were not less artistically and charmingly rendered.

Miss Elaine de Sellem took the part of the gipsy queen, and in the pathetic song, "Oh Would That I Had Died Ere Now," her rich and cultivated contralto was heard to most excellent effect. Her dramatic intelligence and passion were also obvious, and a source of great strength to her presentation. Mr. Francis J. Tyler found scope for his talent in Devilshoof, the gipsy, and was unusually successful. One of the best mor that was a welcome relief to the pompous unreality of some parts of the opera. His bas is of excellent quality and his histrionic gift is of a high order. Mr. Paul E. Edwards, as Florenstein, played the aristocratic imbecile quite cleverly, and supplied some wholesome comic interludes. The choral work was good and the orchestral contribution left the audience much for which to be grateful.

"THE GIRL FROM KOKOMO"

While "The Girl From Kokomo" is being presented by the Argyle Chapter, Daughters of the Empire, at Griffin's Opera House on next Tuesday evening, May 28th for a worthy cause that is, to buy wool for the soldiers' socks, and patriotic ladies attending to doing their little bit to help this most necessary work, the appeal for attendance must be made strictly on the merits of the comedy and the excellence of the presenting cast. For the past three weeks the talented ladies and gentlemen who comprise the cast have been rehearsing every night, without a break, and are now perfect in their parts. The chorus has also been spurring in their efforts to perfect the drills dance and solo numbers that has been given them to do. The musical numbers have been selected from the reigning New York successes. Every number is a hit, and Belleville will be whistling the delightful tunes for many a day.

The story of the play opens upon the dark days of Tom, Dick, and Harry, author, artist and musician respectively played by Wm. L. Doyle, H. Rossler - Williams and Ted Wolfe) starving in a New York garret under the dominion of the Widow Wood (Miss Anna Ponton) drawn the radiant vision of Violet Lake (Mrs. A. E. Allen) the belle of Kokomo, Indiana, and a lively competition for her affection at once ensues, greatly complicated by divers previous attachments to Lolita (Mrs. R. D. Ponton) the widow and other complicating ladies, which finally lands them all in Kokomo. The second act is laid in Kokomo, at a pretty garden party on the lawn of Major Morann (Mr. Harold Barrett) in honor of his ward Violet. The Old Love Maze is responsible for a series of rapid marriages, which winds up with the nuptials of the Widow Wood and Whimper, the only butler in Kokomo, played by Mr. J. L. B. Gorman, to the delight of Widow Wood's comedy pardners. (Miss Marguerite Brown) and John Patrick (Master Chas. Sawyer) the Major and Mrs. Balloo (Miss Ruby Millburn) and Tom and Nell (Miss Helen Ketcheson) decide to complete the picture via the marriage route.

The electrical effects are being carefully looked after, and the scenery and costumes will be charming to the eye. The seats will go on sale at 9 o'clock tomorrow, Thursday morning at Doyle's Drug Store, and as there will be a rush for seats, those who come first will get the best selection. The prices are $1.00, 75, 50 and 25c.

Y. M. C. A. MINSTREL SHOW

Last evening in the City Hall a minstrel and vaudeville performance was put on by the Y. M. C. A. association. The minstrels were for the most part teachers of the Ontario Model for the Deaf.

Although this is the second time this show has been witnessed by a Belleville audience the hall was filled and the event proved very successful.

The proceeds will be used for patriotic purposes.

ELSIE FERGUSON TO-NIGHT

The management of Griffin's take great pleasure in reminding the citizens of Belleville that to-night will be the last chance that they will have to see beautiful Elsie Ferguson in her newest photoplay called "The Lie."

The theme of theplay is one invitating a supreme appeal to every woman to save the reputation of a sorrowing sister and to preserve the honor of the family name.

Virginia Pearson is appearing in a good photoplay called "Thou Shalt Not Steal," and a new chapter of the ever popular serial "The Eagle's Eye" in which the workings of the German spy system is exposed amongst the disclosures made by the recently retired chief of the United States Secret Service, Mr. William J. Flynn. The program is composed of quality photoplays and is a varied program.

AT THE PALACE TO-NIGHT

For the last time to-night Emily Stevens is appearing in an excellent photoplay entitled "A Sleeping Memory" the story is one of heart interest and holds the spectator for the full one hour and a half that it is on the screen, along with this good picture there is a Ham and Bud comedy, with those two assasins of sorrow, Hod Hamilton and Bud in "Bandit Beware" which is a laugh producer all the time it is on the screen. There is also a story by the late O. Henry called "Nix Sister" which is a good photoplay and many that saw it Monday and Tuesday declare that it is one of the best of the O. Henry stories.

Experiments in the Philippines in crossing native and Connecticut tobacco have produced a variety selling for more than twice the price of the native.

Huns Are Pagans Said Bishop Fallows

At General Council Of Reformed Episcopal Church In Philadelphia— Rev. A. N. Hubly A Delegate

The General Council of the Reformed Episcopal Church in the United States and British America, which has been in session in Philadelphia during the past week, received by cable fraternal greetings from the Reformed Episcopal Church in England, and responded by sending like greetings to the presiding bishop, Bishop P. C. Eldridge, London, England. Strong resolutions were passed expressing loyalty of purpose and action of the American and Canadian churches with England and her allies in the war being waged in the interest of democracy and humanity, said resolutions to be sent to the Governor-General of Canada and President of the United States. A war commissioner was elected, and also it was resolved to send a letter of sincere good wishes to every soldier and sailor from Canada and the United States, and a committee appointed to carry out this laudable consideration of the Council.

Friend of Abe Lincoln.

Bishop Samuel Fallows, of Chicago, who is eighty-four years old and was a friend of Abraham Lincoln, told the triennial General Council of the Reformed Episcopal Church at its opening session in Christ Memorial Church that the Germans, by their methods of warfare, have reverted to paganism.

"The atrocities committed by the Germans in Belgium and France and those committed by the Austrians in Serbia have been such that the Christian Church should not send them to perdition," declared the veteran churchman.

The Bishop told the churchmen that if a hell does not exist for the punishment of such heartless monsters there "certainly" should be one.

More than 200 Delegates from all parts of the United States and Canada are attending the General Council. Bishop Fallows presided at the celebration of the holy communion, assisted by Bishop Robert L. Rudolph of Philadelphia, Bishop Willard Brewing of Canada, and Bishop Joseph L. Pengelly, of South Carolina.

The Rev. Dr. William D. Stevens, of New York, who preached the sermon, asserted that the war is giving the Christian Church the greatest opportunity in its history, as the hearts of men are turning as never before toward God.

Resolutions calling upon all churchmen to "enter earnestly into the campaign to nominate and elect representatives and rulers such as shall be pledged to vote for the ratification of the national prohibition amendment" were acted at the afternoon session. To this was added the following:

"Be it further resolved, That we like effort be also made to secure the passage by Congress of an emergency prohibition act for the duration of the war."

Women Delegates.

Two women delegates—Miss Anna Martin, of Lancaster, and Miss Gertrude Rodgers of Havre de Grace—were seated as corresponding delegates, but they could not be seated canonically, steps were taken to change the canons so as to admit women delegates to the General Council with all the privileges enjoyed by the men.

Speaking at a missionary rally in the evening, Dr. Charles R. Cook, medical missionary at Lucknow, India, declared that the British Government has decided that German missionaries never shall be permitted to work in that country.

"The British found the German missionaries were absolutely disloyal, and they will not be allowed to return to India after the war," Doctor Cook said.

Bishop Pengelly spoke of his work among the colored people in South Carolina, and there were addresses by Sr. H. Hinsamon and Charles M. Ballantine.

Bishop Brewing Speaks.

Bishop Willard Brewing, of Toronto, Ontario, said Canada is ready to fight for the next ten years. He asserted that Canada did not think, however, that this would be necessary, believing the question could be settled off the Western front, this side of the Rhine.

"There is no pessimism in the Dominion," he said, "and even in Quebec, where there was some rioting, the French Canadians are rallying to the colors by thousands."

One hundred men have gone from the Bishop's own church, every man a volunteer.

Favorable action was taken on admitting women delegates to the convention. There are two women delegates—Miss Anna Martin, of Lancaster, Pa., and Miss Gertrude Rodgers, of Havre de Grace, Md.

A discussion of social disease in the American Army was ruled out on the statement of Chaplain Percy T. Edron that "our men are the best protected in the world against this form of disease, and that the convention would only waste time in talking of so all-but non-existent condition."

The convention is presided over by Bishop Samuel Fallows, of Chicago.

ASHINGTON, May 23.—Unnaturalized German men and women are warned in a Department of Justice statement not to go boating on any river, canal, lake or waterway this summer, under penalty of violating regulations governing the conduct of aliens enemies, and being interned. These regulations forbid Germans to go within one hundred yards of canals, wharves, piers, water-houses, elevators and terminals, and require citizens to obtain passes before entering the water front barred zones.

War Bonuses To Gov't Employees

OTTAWA, May 23.—Hon. A. K. Maclean, acting Minister of Finance in the Commons tabled supplementary estimates totaling $16,957,317. The total is an unusually large one, but it includes a vote of $37,000,000 to cover the working expenses of the Canadian Government Railways. This large item is almost invariably included in the main estimates brought down earlier in the session, but the amount voted for now, $3,170,313 is chargeable to capital expenditure.

ASSISTANCE FOR EMPLOYEES

Another item of general interest is one providing the sum of $3,000,000 to assist Government employees in the Dominion, except in the case of light-house keepers) for married men and boys and widowers with children for widows and widowers with children and for those who are employed permanently, and are giving their entire time to the public service for an allowance.

Urges Government Not To Be Lenient

LONDON, May 23.—The majority of the loyal Britishers everywhere here has been convinced that enforcement of the law in Ireland was the one thing needful "if we are to retain the Government that having at length determined to end open treason in Ireland, they cast their net wide. We hope there will be no more pitiful surrender to clamor for the release of the conspirators as political prisoners."

Rescued From Niagara River

NIAGARA FALLS, May 23A young woman of about thirty, who says she is May Hall, of New York City, fell or jumped from the Canadian shore below the Falls, was caught in the swift current of the Niagara Falls Power Company's electric plant and was rescued and taken to the General Hospital here, where she now lies in a critical condition, but is not likely to suffer any very serious effects as a result of her remarkable adventure. Mystery surrounds the case.

BRITISH FIELD HOSPITAL BOMBED BY BRUTAL GERMAN AVIATORS

WOUNDED SOLDIERS AND BRAVE NURSES VICTIMS OF HUN KULTUR

DELIBERATE ATTACK IN FORCE UPON BRITISH HOSPITALS BEHIND THE LINE INCREASES THE HIDEOUS ROLL OF ATROCITIES OF WHICH THE GERMAN HIGH COMMAND HAS BEEN GUILTY — BRAVE NURSES REMAINED WITH THEIR PATIENTS THROUGHOUT TERRIFIC BOMBARDMENT AND REFUSED TO CONSIDER THEIR OWN SAFETY

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

With the British Army in France, May 23.—By Associated Press)—German airmen have again bombed heavily British hospitals in the area behind the lines, and this time have killed and wounded some hundreds among the personnel and patients of the many different hospitals in the group.

HEROIC BRITISH NURSES.

Not a woman deserted her ward, but throughout the terrible bombardment kept going her rounds and quieting the unfortunate wounded men, although they might easily have saved themselves.

One sister was killed outright while she was administering to a soldier's wants and another was seriously injured. Still another was dying.

LONDON, May 23.—It is reported today that one hundred Red Cross nurses and attendants as well as patients were killed and wounded when the Germans bombarded a British military hospital in France. The Prussian commander, whose machine was brought down, and is in one of the hospitals which was shelled, claims that he did not see the Red Cross signal.

Premiers Trip To England

OTTAWA, May 23.—There is talk of a fall session but this will not be settled until Sir Robert Borden and his colleagues return from London. The developments at the Imperial war conference or the negotiations with the Grand Trunk directors may call for a further session in the fall.

Sir Robert will not be long absent from Canada, and expects to be back in Ottawa within six weeks after his departure. Unless there is a lost minute change, Sir Robert will be accompanied by Hon. N. W. Rowell, Hon. J. A. Calder and Hon. Arthur Meighen. Mr. Rowell is going as the chairman of the war committee of the Cabinet, Mr. Meighen and Mr. Calder will consider questions for the acquisition by the Government of the Grand Trunk and Grand Trunk Pacific. Mr. Calder will also discuss immigration and colonization plans with the British authorities.

ARE GOING LATER

While they are not going with Sir Robert, General Mewburn and Hon. C. C. Ballantyne will visit England later in the summer. General Mewburn wants to get the military plans in good running order before visiting England and the front. Immediately following the end of the session, he is planning a tour through Quebec to get in touch with the leading political military and ecclesiastical authorities.

Union Government has come through the first session with flying colors. There was much doubt when the House met as to the position which would be taken by many of the Liberal-Unionists and the Opposition fondly believed that many of the former Liberals would line up behind Laurier. They were sadly mistaken, the two elements hung up their hats together and the Liberal-Unionists have given the Government loyal support, much more loyal support indeed, than a certain group of Ontario trouble makers.

CONFIDENCE IN PREMIER

The Government has wound up the session in a strong position. There is no question as to the continuance of the new Unionist party, and both the Unionists within the Cabinet and the House have every confidence in the Prime Minister.

The session has been a business one, and has been marked by the passage of an unusual amount of progressive legislation. The Government has fulfilled already every promise—a record unique in Canadian politics.

Cabinet reconstruction has been postponed until the return of Sir Robert from England. There will be a reconstruction then of the Conservative wing of the Cabinet.

Copp of Westmoreland, N.B., providing for a judicial enquiry into his thirty-two charges of irregularities respecting the taking of the overseas soldiers' votes at the Dominion elections last November. The vote was 61 to 92. This division was taken after the Government had promised a judicial investigation into charge of irregularities in polling the soldiers' votes in the constituency of Chambly-Vercheres. The House adjourned at 2.45 a.m.

LOCOMOTIVE MEN WERE HEAVILY FINED

The little chap promptly replied, "Two halves."

"Oh, Bobbie," exclaimed the young woman, a little disappointedly, "why would you prefer two halves?"

"Because then I could see if it was wormy."

Joins Husband in Praising Tanlac

Mrs. Benson Says Results She Derived Have Been Marvelous

A few weeks ago when James Benson of 653 Runnymede Road, Toronto, a returned veteran now employed by the Harris Abbattoir Company, gave a testimonial, which was printed in this paper, telling how Tanlac had relieved him of a serious stomach trouble, it attracted wide-spread attention. His wife, Mrs. Emma Benson, now not only corroborates his statement, but in the following story of her own experience, which she related a few days ago, she tells of the benefits she has personally derived from the use of Tanlac.

"A friend in need is a friend indeed," said Mrs. Benson, "and that is exactly what I think of this wonderful Tanlac ever since it relieved my neuralgia and those awful headaches I used to suffer from so much.

"I had been in a badly rundown condition for a long time," she continued, "and I had such terrible attacks of neuralgia and my head ached so that I would just take to my bed and lie there in agony for as long as four days at a time. Going through with this awful experience just shattered my nervous system so that I would lay awake at night for hours before I would doze off and then it wouldn't be a sound restful sleep, but I'd get up in the mornings feeling so wretched that I couldn't get a bit of my house-work done till almost noon. Many a time when I would start to get out of bed I'd be so weak and nervous that I'd actually faint dead away. I tell you what I was completely worn out and my life was simply one day of misery after another.

"When I saw how Tanlac had relieved my husband of his stomach trouble I decided to see if it would help me too, and I can truthfully say that the results have been simply marvelous. I have taken only three bottles so far and that terrible neuralgia is completely gone, I haven't had a head ache since I started on Tanlac, my nerves are quieter and I sleep like a baby. That tired wornout feeling has passed away, and I am stronger and better in every way than I have been in a long time. My husband and I both think so much of Tanlac that we have made it our family medicine and have already recommended it to many of our friends."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store, in Trenton by J. H. Dickey, in Deseronto by W. J. Malley, in Stirling by J. S. Morton, in Frankford by W. H. Lattimer, in Madoc by A. Wm. Vere, in Marysville by T. J. McAlpine, in Ormsby by Jas. Campbell, and in Thomasburg by J. H. Blakely.

Motor Machine Guns.

Hamilton Fyfe writes the London Daily Mail describing the splendid gallant and useful part played by Canadian motor machine guns, which gained precious time for saving things which would have otherwise fallen into the enemy's hands. Their duty was to assist wherever the line was particularly pressed. They attacked and dispersed the German cavalry. The Canadians got these guns in the front wire till finding themselves in danger of being outflanked, then withdrew, cutting the wire. They suffered in the withdrawal, only one sergeant, two privates being left unwounded. A captain had his arm blown off. Some men had only twenty hours' sleep in eight days, yet the commander reported every man cheerful and full of fight. "Nothing could be more successful than the first appearance of this vastly useful unit," concluded Fyfe. "They saved many situations from developing seriously, and killed a tremendous lot of Boches. Both our troops and the French speak of them with the highest admiration and gratitude."

Blind Billiard Player.

A blind man played a billiard match recently against a man with sight, and scored 42 points in 1 hour 40 minutes. The blind player was Serg. Shaw, late of the Princess Patricia's Regiment, who lost his eyesight in the second battle of Ypres.

The strangest thing was that, although he advanced his hand to locate the exact place of the balls, he only two or three times actually touched a ball. He said that he could sense the ball, just as anyone in a dark room could tell by the "feel" of his face when he is close to a wall. He described it as feeling a coldness. His highest break was nine.—Tit-Bits.

In the Mud.

The following is a Munchausen tale in Everybody's showing the quality of the mud in Flanders at the present day. A soldier walking along a road noticed a hat, which he attempted to kick out of the mud. What was his surprise to find a head under it, and to hear a voice calling for help. When the man was extricated, he said, "I was on horseback." So together they proceeded to dig out the horse. The horse's mouth was found to be full of hay taken from a waggon which had sunk still farther down.

Noted Cricketer Enlists.

Bert Kortland, an international sportsman, has enlisted voluntarily in the 6th Canadian Field Engineers, in training near Vancouver. Kortland, in the years of 1909 and 1910 was, according to the averages, the leading Australian cricket batsman. He is known in sporting circles throughout Canada and the United States and England, as well as in Australia.

Hamilton, Ont. — "When passing through middle life, as in most cases I did, I began to fail in health. I had severe pains in my head, dizzy spells, my back ached and I had pains in my side. I became very weak and nervous, and took medicine without getting relief until I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and this medicine built me up in health and strength and I came through this critical period in a good healthy condition. Women will find Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription very helpful during this trying time." — Mrs. SARAH CAVES, 106 Robins Ave.

"THE THING WE LOVE"

What do you love most, your wife, your parents, your country, your book or your best girl? That is the question which may be hard to answer for many, but is best answered by seeing Reid in "The Thing We Love," at Griffin's on Thursday to Saturday, Please or War. "The Thing We Love" contains regarding the merits or demerits of the present European controversy and you may be a lover of peace and a pacifist, or you may be rabidly militant, but the fact remains that whatever our personal feelings may be we should support the Government in its course of procedure as authorized by the majority. Many have false cannot see this idea, but Wallace Reid as a Pacifist leader in "The Thing we Love", finally comes to this conclusion. How this is brought about is best explained by visiting Griffin's Thursday, Friday or Saturday, or special matinee on Friday afternoon.

His conscience awakened by "The Whispering Chorus", whose clarion ringing stirred his heart and brain and quickened gnawing remorse, Jorn R. Trimble, thief, fugitive and nameless wanderer, makes the supreme sacrifice to preserve the happiness of the woman he loves. This graphic story is outlined in Cecil De Milles splendid photoplay "The Whispering Chorus," which will also be shown along with the other big picture "The Thing We Love," making a big double photoplay program which is just about the best ever seen in Belleville, also a Griffin Screen Telegram showing the world's happenings on films, and a funny comedy makes a good varied program.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN

The last three days of the week should be big ones, for the last chapter of that well liked serial photoplay "The Mystery Ship" will be shown, and just who the mystery man is will be disclosed. A new Charlie Chaplin comedy, and "The Avenging Trail," a five part photoplay with Harold Lockwood in the leading part will be shown. In this photoplay Mr. Lockwood gets a good opportunity to show how good he is in lumbering and lumbering and trapping, as nearly all the scenes are laid in the great outdoors, the north country woods being the place where the picture was taken. There will be a special matinee at both the Palace and Griffin's on Friday, May 24th, which is Victoria Day, and from the fine photoplay programs being shown at both house, one will have to be early or they will be unable to get in.

This Frees Your Skin From Hair or Fuzz

(Toilet Tips)

The method here suggested for the removal of superfluous hair is quick and certain and unless the growth is extremely stubborn, a single application does the work. Make a stiff paste with some powdered delatone and water; apply this to the hairy surface and after about 3 minutes rub it off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. To avoid disappointment, be sure your druggist sells you delatone.

How Can You Explain A Corn?

A corn is absolutely needless, and millions of people know it.

Fully half the people one meets nowadays never suffer corn aches.

How can you explain a trouble so easily avoided?

A corn means this:

You are treating it by paring, just to get brief relief. Or you coddle it by padding. Or you use some old-time, inefficient method of removal.

The proper way to deal with corns is this:

Apply a Blue-jay plaster, then forget the corn. It will never pain again.

In two days, usually, the whole corn disappears. If it doesn't, just apply another plaster.

No corn pains twice with people who use Blue-jay. And no corn stays.

The method is gentle, scientific, sure. It is easy and quick.

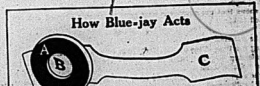

That is how millions keep free from corns. Let it keep you free. See how it acts tonight.

B&B Blue-jay For Corns

Stops Pain Instantly—Ends Corns Completely

Large Package 25c at Druggists
Small Package Discontinued

How Blue-jay Acts

A is a thin, soft pad which relieves the pain by relieving the pressure.

B is the B&B wax, which gently undermines the corn, finally loosening the whole of the corn without pain.

C is rubber adhesive which sticks without wetting. It wraps around the toe and makes the pad stay and stay. It is the B&B way. Blue-jay is applied in a jiffy. Then you forget the corn. The action is gentle. The pain is gone. In two days the corn disappears without discomfort.

THE KAISER AND THE BIBLE.

"These six things doth the Lord hate; yes, seven are an abomination unto him:

"A proud look, a lying tongue, and hands that shed innocent blood.

"An heart that deviseth wicked imaginations, feet that be swift in running to mischief.

"A false witness that speaketh lies, and he that soweth discord among brethren."

This indictment, in the sixth chapter of Proverbs, is complete.

A PLAIN BUSINESS PROPOSITION.

The fact should not be overlooked that the Bay Bridge Company made a definite offer to the municipalities and named a price they would be willing to accept for the bridge with the alternative of arbitration. The Government committee, thinking to save money for the municipalities interested, had an expert valuation made at no expense to the parties concerned. The expense of a long and tedious arbitration would have to be paid by the parties interested and might have found a higher valuation than did the Government valuator, plus expenses of arbitration.

The bridge question is a plain business proposition and should be approached in that spirit. The people want a free bridge on the best terms possible—but they want a free bridge.

A GIGANTIC RAILWAY WRECK.

The railway situation in Canada today is a serious one and is not improved any by conditions consequent to war time. Not enough serious attention is paid by thoughtful Canadians to the different railway problems which the Union Government has to face. One reason for this perhaps, is the thought that party papers are inclined to exaggerate or minimize the situation to suit their respective party responsibilities for the great railway muddle. The Montreal Star, which will at least be credited with more than the usual amount of political independence, briefly reviews the railway situation in Canada as it stands today and warns the Union Government to tread the ties very gingerly lest our last railway stage be worse than our first.

The Star speaks as follows:—

Feeling securely entrenched and in the plenitude of power, the Liberals in 1903 committed one of the most disastrous follies ever perpetrated by any Government—the chartering of the Grand Trunk Pacific and Transcontinental Railways. These gigantic enterprises, according to the promoters, were to cost the country only thirteen million dollars and were to accelerate prosperity. They have cost on nearly one hundred and fifty millions, the annual loss on them represents additional capital of at least two hundred millions, with greater losses to follow, and they have only brought embarrassment at a time of financial stress.

Sir Blair protested in a prophetic speech that has become historic. The independent press of the country without effect warned the Government of the day of impending disaster, and now results of that idiotic railway policy, more gloomy than the most pessimistic predictions ever made, are being fully verified.

Today the railway situation is extremely dangerous, more dangerous than it was in 1903 when the Liberals plunged the country into the great folly. Its solution requires the exercise of wisdom and patience.

As The Star warned the Liberal Government in 1903, so it cautions the Union Government in 1918. It is a time when true statesmanship is needed. The shoals and rocks are so clearly ahead, and so clearly discernible, that any man who takes the trouble to look ahead can see them. The Government should not plunge the country into any further schemes of public ownership involving unknown expenditure and certain deficits without a supreme effort to solve the railway problem in a less dangerous way.

In any case the railway problem is only second in importance to the country's war problems. The railway problems make it clear that an unwise railway policy will constitute a serious crime against the commonwealth. It is surely time to sound the alarm.

DEPTH FOR PLANTING

It is of the utmost importance to know the most economical depth to plant potatoes, as there is no doubt that different depths of planting will give different results. The shallow planting has given the best yields at Ottawa in loose sandy loam soil, the most economical depth being from four to five inches for rich loamy soils. Seed should be planted deeper in soils likely to dry out, that is, others more retentive of moisture. Where early potatoes are wanted the seed should be planted shallow in a warm soil near the surface. Unless the soil is kept loose and free from weeds, the potato crop will not be large.

In planting potatoes, hilling is advisable, as a larger surface of soil is exposed to the warmth of the sun, the soil is kept loose, and rain is absorbed easily. It is rains too hard the surplus is drained off. As much of the available plant food exists in the first few inches of top soil it is natural to assume that if hilled the potatoes will grow more quickly than they otherwise would.

ARE YOU A MAN?

If you are, you either shave yourself or go to a barber. If you visit a barber you may have the unfortunate experience of Mr. A. Butler of Bridgeport, Conn., who developed what is known as "Barber's Rash" on his face through the use of an infected razor. He writes:

"My face was covered with sores, which caused me a great deal of suffering and inconvenience, and I was unable to shave for four weeks. I purchased a cake of Zam-Buk, however, entirely rid me of the trouble."

To avoid the possibility of such an experience, remember you can use a rash or sore appear, treat it with Zam-Buk. CRISP COMMENT

When the coal merchants adopt the cash and carry system we will have to hump ourselves.

The Dallas, Texas, News points out that the Germans shot a priest and a nun in Belgium on the same day that priests in Dublin were procuring signers to a pledge against being conscripted to fight the Germans.

Montreal policemen show their contempt of the government and British institutions by arresting returned soldiers as idlers; but it is not altogether the policemen's fault. No doubt the suggestion came from somewhere up among the Borden staffers.

German bombs have again been dropped on London schools. After a while that will be the only way to get anything German into the American schools, says the Daily News of Newark, New Jersey, a hotbed of hyphenates. This shows that the American is now being thoroughly aroused and are not in mood to stand any further nonsense from pro-Germans.

The grandstand democrats in the House of Commons have again been wasting the time of the country by a rush of words condemning the practice of conferring Imperial titles in Canada. The Government some time ago took a definite stand against hereditary titles being granted in Canada and the whole question is in abeyance until the Imperial conference meets, when it will be discussed.

France will join with Great Britain in celebrating Empire Day tomorrow and all the principal cities of France will be en fete, showing a real Bonne Entente which should surprise Canada and obliterate all discord between Quebec and English-speaking Canada. Blood brothers all, for good or ill, why should the little matter of language cause heart-burnings and separation?

There will be a general endorsement in all newspaper offices of the suggestion made by an Ohio editor that pro-Germans be compelled to kiss a print-shop towel instead of "Old Glory," says the Brockville Recorder. You said something, brother, for when the double-distilled fragrance of that ancient and honorable emblem of cleanliness and purity, long lost down the dim corridors of time with the shades of the tramp printer, assails even a pro-German nose impervious to glue-factory and other malodorous odors, there will be a sudden change of heart. The aroma from a well-seasoned print shop towel which has stood proudly in the corner with the big press spare rollers since Sandy Mydlandt's time can be likened only to a mixture of shanty town rosé and Gallipoli Turk.

To those who place credence in the story of a German spy caught at Mohawk Camp and forced to dig his own grave before being tumbled into it full of bullets, it might be pointed out that this story was first published in a New York paper last summer, which named Campbellsboro as the place of excitement. The story was denied by the R. F. C. at the time. However, you may be sure if the boys do catch anyone tampering with the machines at Camp Mohawk they will not waste time having graves dug but will hoist the court martial on a bank of storm clouds and flip the offender from as great a height that he will strike the earth with such force as to completely bury his miserable carcase.

Let your Phonograph be a Pathephone

It Plays Any Record

The outstanding feature of the Pathephone is its wonderful tone—the fulness, the mellowness, the depth of the music as it pours forth, is rich, natural and indescribably sweet. This is due to a combination of scientific principles in its construction.

FOR instance, you have doubtless heard about the genuine Pathe' Sapphire Ball that is used on the Pathephone, instead of the old-time steel needles, which, besides requiring constant changing, ruin and scratch your favorite records. This Sapphire Ball, in conjunction with the Pathe' Sapphire method of recording, reproduces music in a clearer, more natural tone than you have ever before heard on a phonograph.

ANOTHER Pathe' feature is that the volume of sound from this sound chamber may be regulated at your will or fancy by the Pathe Tone Control. Also, a loud or half-tone, or "soft" sapphire may be used.

FURTHERMORE, not only is the Pathephone supreme in scientific musical construction, but the Pathephone cabinets are the most beautiful of all in design and finish. Exquisite examples of Period Furniture make them not only worthy temples of the wonderful music that pours from them, but they harmonize with the most exclusively furnished homes.

THEN the Pathe' all-wood sound chamber, built on the violin principle, transmits a sweet, rich tone, impossible to obtain from metal or partmetal chambers.

FINALLY, in addition to the superiority of the Pathephone as an instrument, it must be remembered that Pathe' Records are the world's best music, and this is not only because the music played possesses 40% more tone colors, but the number of singers and artists in all lands that play for Pathe' is the most extensive.

IF you are planning to buy a phonograph, you should certainly hear the Pathephone. You will be enthused with its wonderful tone. If you already have a phonograph, it can be easily equipped to play Pathe' Records—or, better still —any Pathe' agent will make you a liberal allowance for it in exchange for one of the new Pathe' Period Designs.

Send for Pathe Catalogue. It contains scientific explanations of Pathe' methods of recording and reproducing sound, together with illustrations of Period Furniture. Will be mailed free on request.

Territory open for live Agents. Progressive Merchants are invited to write us. Only one local agent will receive a contract for a district of a certain size.

The Son of Tarzan

By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Copyright by Frank A. Munsey Co.

Korak from his vantage point could see it all. He saw the old man asking questions of the black woman, and then he saw the latter point in the direction of the tree beneath which the little girl played.

A grim smile curved the thin, cruel lips of the Arab. The child seemed to crawl away, but before she could get out of reach the old man kicked her brutally, sending her sprawling upon the grass. Then he followed her up to seize and strike her as was his custom.

Above them in the tree a beast crouched where a moment before had been a boy—a beast with dilating nostrils and bared fangs—a beast that trembled with rage.

The sheik was stooping to reach for the girl when the Killer dropped to the ground at his side. His spear was still in his left hand, but he had forgotten it. Instead his right fist was clinched, and as the sheik took a backward step, astonished by the sudden materialization of this strange apparition apparently out of the clear sky, the heavy fist landed full upon his mouth, backed by the weight of the young giant and the terrific power of his more than human muscles.

Bleeding and senseless, the sheik sank to earth. Korak turned toward the child. She had regained her feet and stood, wide eyed and frightened, looking first up into his face and then horror struck, at the recumbent figure of the sheik. In an involuntary gesture of protection the Killer threw an arm about the girl's shoulders and stood waiting for the Arab to regain consciousness. For a moment they remained thus, then the girl spoke.

"When he regains his senses he will kill me," she said in Arabic.

Korak could not understand her. He shook his head, speaking to her first in English and then in the language of the apes. But neither of these were intelligible to her.

She leaned forward and touched the hilt of the long knife that the Arab wore. Then she raised her clasped hand above her head and drove an imaginary blade into her breast above her heart.

Korak understood. The old man would kill her.

The girl came to his side again and stood there trembling. She did not fear him. Why should she? His hair saved her from a terrible suffering at the hands of the sheik. Never in her memory had another so befriended her. She looked up into his face. It was a boyish, handsome face, not brown like her own. She admired the spotted leopard skin that circled his lithe body from one shoulder to his knees.

And Korak looked at the girl. He had always held girls in a species of contempt. Boys who associated with them were, in his estimated, mollycoddles. He wondered what he should do.

He stood for several minutes buried in thought. The girl watched his face, wondering what was passing in his mind. She, too, was thinking of the future.

She feared to remain and suffer the vengeance of the sheik. There was but one in all the world to whom she might turn other than this half naked stranger who had dropped miraculously from the clouds to save her from one of the sheik's accursed beatings. Would her new friend leave her now? Timidly she gazed at his latent face. She moved a little closer to him, laying a slim, brown hand upon his arm.

The contact awakened the lad from his absorption. He looked down at her, and then his arm went about her shoulders once more, for he saw tears upon her lashes.

"Dome," he said, "the jungle is kinder than man. You shall live in the jungle, and Korak and Akut will protect you."

She did not understand his words, but the pressure of his arm drawing her away from the prostrate Arab and the tents was quite intelligible. One little arm crept about his waist, and together they walked toward the palisade.

Beneath the great tree that had harbored Korak while he watched the girl at play he lifted her in his arms and, throwing her lightly across his shoulder, leaped nimbly into the lower branches.

And so Meriem entered the jungle with Korak, trusting in her childish innocence, the stranger who had befriended her and perhaps influenced in her belief in him by that strange intuitive power possessed by woman.

The two had gone but a short distance from the village when the girl spied the huge proportions of the great Akut. With a half stifled scream she clung more closely to Korak and pointed fearfully toward the ape.

Akut, thinking that the Killer was returning with a prisoner, came growling toward them. A little girl aroused no more sympathy in the beast's heart than would a full grown bull ape. She was a stranger and therefore to be killed. He bared his yellow fangs as he approached, and to his surprise the Killer bared his likewise, but he bared them at Akut and snarled menacingly.

Is Your Gillette Shave as Clean and Easy as Your Friends

If your friends are enjoying Gillette shaves that are quicker, cleaner or more comfortable than your's, it's just because you haven't caught—as they have—the simple knack of using it. For the Gillette Safety Razor packs a real, good shave for every man that grows a beard!

Hold each new blade under really hot water to remove the oil film which protects its edges from the slightest trace of rust. Then shave with the ANGLE STROKE. Don't use the Gillette hoe fashion—hold it diagonally, so that the blade slides across the hairs at an angle—the way you have to handle an ordinary razor to make it shave at all.

Held in this way, and used with a swift, easy stroke, the Gillette makes light of the stiffest beard that grows. Try your Gillette this way—give it a chance—and enjoy the way it makes good!

Big House For "Girl From Kokomo"

Sale of Seats Opened With a Rush This Morning.--Banner Attraction

The sale of seats for "The Girl from Kokomo" opened at Doyle's Drug store this morning at 9 o'clock, and from the demand made, both in person and by telephone, the theatre will be filled to capacity on next Tuesday night. Seats are being ordered by phone and mail order from distant points, the demand being particularly large from Trenton, Picton and all the surrounding towns where the fame of the production has spread. It is advisable for the citizens of Belleville to secure their seats at once as it is expected that the S. R. O. sign will be hung out on the evening of the performance.

The rehearsals are going along splendidly, and while it is hard to get the participants to promise anything, those who have been fortunate enough to watch the rehearsals say that Belleville has a surprise in store for it, and that all previous amateur efforts will be surpassed by "The Girl from Kokomo." The music is delightful, being selected from the hits of all the latest and greatest New York successes. The play itself is bright and light and screamingly funny. The principals have been carefully coached in their parts and are thoroughly up in them. The chorus is large, forty in all, and are'ully trained both in dancing and singing. Get your seats now and don't miss the season's premier attraction.

"There's a Reason"

In compliance with the recent government requirements dating April 30th, 1918, as to tax applied to Jewellers, also the peculiar situation created by war conditions, taking stock May 1st, we find our Silverware, Cut Glass and sundry departments are very largely overstocked, this stock ranging between $8,000.00 and $10,000.00. This is too much. Therefore we will have a special auction sale (which is the Jeweller's method of stock reduction) commencing Saturday evening, May 23th, 8 o'clock. This sale will apply to all goods in the store, though we particularly want you to furnish your home with Cut Glass and Silver.

Mr. J. L. Palmer, the local auctioneer, has been engaged to conduct this sale, and we are sure with your co-operation, Mr. Palmer's and ourselves, no one will make a purchase, be it 25c. or $25.00, but the value will so appeal to them they will come back for more and bring their friends.

The policy of this sale must be "value and assurance," which has always been the policy of "The Blackburn" business.

On Saturday evening (the opening sale) a Silver Tea Service will be given away.

Sale days will be Tuesday afternoon and evening and thereafter, omitting Monday, until Saturday, Wednesday and Saturday afternoons excepted.

HOURS OF SALE—3.30 p.m. to 5 p.m.; evenings, 8 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Noises in Ears Twitching Nerves

Told of the Exhausted Condition of the Nerves — Indigestion and Weak Heart Action Were Other Symptoms.

Kingston, Ont., May 22.—There are few people in this city who cannot be sympathized with the exceptional restorative power of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Reports come to hand from almost every street of the Limestone City telling of cures effected by this treatment, and the druggists have been surprised at the tremendous demand for this great nerve restorative.

This is not to be wondered at when cure is effected in such extreme and complicated cases as the one described in this letter.

Mrs. M. A. Coulter, 61 Stanley street, Kingston, Ont., writes:—

"For a number of years I suffered from a rundown condition of the system, due to overwork. I could not sleep and was restless and worried. I had pains through my back, buzzing in the ears and twitching of my nerves and muscles. I had indigestion and my appetite became poor. I would get drowsy after eating and frequently suffered from great weakness. My circulation was poor, my hands and feet always cold and my heart action weak. I consulted doctors, but they could do nothing for me. Whilst in this condition I decided upon a trial of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. After taking eight boxes of this medicine I am relieved of all the symptoms from which I suffered before, and in general I feel like a new woman. I used to be very constipated, so I took Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in connection with the Nerve Food, and am completely cured of that trouble, too."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50c a box, a full treatment of 6 boxes for $2.75, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations only disappoint.

The Stock Market.

Union Stock Yards, May 21.—Good to choice butcher cattle met with a fairly active market yesterday morning, and both grades, which were fairly well represented in an offering of over 4,000 head, were cleaned up early at values 10 to 15c stronger than last week's top prices. Common to medium killers were not exactly slow, but the trade for inferior stuff as a whole lacked snap at steady values. Five steers averaging 1,370 pounds, were sold by Dunn and Levack at $16.25, and one straight load of 1,400-pound steers at $16.00, but scattered throughout the pens were numerous cattlelots that cashed in from $15.00 to $16.00. The largest precentage yet of best bulls and fat cows shipped into the yards sold over 12c per pound live weight, though 12c. still remained the top quotation. The trade for common cows and bulls, with the exception of canners and cutters, which were in moderate demand, was on a par with the business done in the poorer grade butchers.

The stocker and feeder business was of little account because of the strong call for killers, few among the cattle passed over by the packers and butchers being good enough to be sent back into the country. What little business was done showed last week's values good and firm.

The offering in calves was not heavy for an opening market, but only where best veals were concerned was the trade any stronger. Sheep and lambs, a limited shipment were active and firm.

While the week-end price of $21.00 for fed and watered was sold for the majority of the hogs on the market, there were several decks reported sold at $20.50, which packers hope will be the general price before the week is over.

Make Men Mechanics "Get Money's Worth"

Royal Air Force Deland Refusal to Discharge Cadets Disqualified For Flying

TORONTO, May 24.—"We are treasurer for the Imperial Government, which is spending the money in Canada and we must have something to show for it, something which we spend here," is the official explanation of the officers of the Royal Air Force for the course of action which they are following in connection with the retention as a mechanic of a youth of seventeen years of age whose patriotism impelled him to make the attempt to become a fighting pilot, but whose constitution was unequal to the service.

The case is one of hardship, because there is no question as to the high character of the youth, according to the officers under whose instruction he was, but after over fifteen hours' flying instruction with a teacher, which the officers declare is far over the average time spent on the stage of instruction—many of the embryo pilots going up alone after an hour or two under the charge of a teacher—he himself agreed with the instructor that his temperament was too nervous to enable him to become an expert flyer. The lieutenant-colonel in charge of the instruction recommended his discharge, but, according to the aims of Ritchie officers, this was outside the power of the officer commanding the instruction unit no matter on the stage of instruction, and the youth, instead of becoming a pilot, is now a mechanic.

"In the course of his instruction as a pilot," said the officer, "the cadet was fully taught the mechanism of the aeroplane, and he is a fully trained mechanic now. I think it would surprise you to know that the cost of the training which pilots receive runs to $10,000 or more."

Winnipeg Feels The Full Force Of Big Strike

WINNIPEG, May 24.—With the telephone system giving only a limited service, operated by women workers of Winnipeg, and no street cars in operation the strike is beginning to press heavily on Winnipeg citizens. Employers rose to the occasion with every conveyance they could press into the service, and workers were taken to work in large numbers in free jitneys. One or two firms issued tickets over night to the employes for passage in the free cars but to a large extent the autos supplied by the business men's committee gathered in all and sundry who were going downtown.

STRIKE MAY EXTEND

The strike committee has announced its intention of extending the strike still further in defence of the right of labor to strike, which is given as the sole issue in the newspapers which the strikers are publishing, devoted to strike news.

The International Typographical Union disapproves of the action of the Winnipeg typos in declaring for a sympathetic strike.

SITUATION "MORE HOPEFUL"

David Campbell, mediator appointed by the Federal Government in the strike, met the strike committee last night after conferring with the City Council. Mr. Campbell would make no statement except that he was working with each side in turn in an effort to get them down to a basis of settlement." The situation is still very hopeful," he said.

FARM IN HEAVEN

TORONTO, May 24.—Singing "We'll Never Say Goodbye in Heaven," five conscientious objectors on reaching Burwash prison made a demonstration at the Union Station.

Only a large number of the followers of their faith were on hand to give them a cheering send-off and as the train for Sudbury pulled out the party walked along singing hymns.

Reception Tendered To Major-General Biggar

Past and Present Officers of His Old Regiment 15th A.L.I. Honor Him—A Notable and Representative Gathering—Reminiscences Indulged in by All Present

Major General J. Lyons Biggar of Ottawa, Quartermaster General of Canada, was for a number of years a most esteemed citizen of Belleville. He always took a deep interest in military matters and while here identified himself with the 15th Battalion, A.L.I., being for some time paymaster. Step by step he has risen until today he occupies a most responsible military position. That he is the right man in the right place cannot be disputed. Past and present officers of the 15th Battalion conceived the idea of tendering a reception and banquet to the popular Major General, and this function took place last night at Hotel Quinte. It proved to be a most enjoyable affair. The menu provided all that could have been desired, and it was faultlessly served.

The affair was chiefly of a military nature, the great majority of those present being in uniform. In addition to the guest of honor the following were in attendance: Lieut.-Colonels Lazier, Poston, Barragar, W. G. Ponton, R. C. Mewburn, Ottawa, Dr. Farley and Allen; Majors W. W. Pope; Ven. Archdeacon Beamish; Rev. T. W. McRae, W. Black, W. S. Maclaren, J. McRae, W. Black, W. S. Morden, E. Donald; Captains Harper, Geen, Hyman, Whitmore and Walmsley, Lieutenants D. Ketcheson, T. W. R. McRae, and Flight-Lieut. L. Wrightmeyer; Co-Masons Ketcheson and Walmsley, Messrs. J. J. B. Flint, R. Bogle, W. C. Mikel, K.C., and R. Bull.

Col. Lazier occupied the chair and Col. Ponton the vice-chair, and both of these gentlemen performed their duties in a most capable and pleasing manner.

After ample justice had been done to the good things provided a toast list was carried out and the various addresses were of a reminiscent nature.

Letters of Regret.

Letters of regret were read from Lieut.-Col. C. McAuley, Minister of Militia, Mr. W. H. Biggar, K.C., E. G. Porter, K.C., M.P., Lieut.-Col. F. H. Hannilly, and Capt. H. McLeod, of Ottawa.

Toast List.

"The King"—National Anthem—by the company.

Miss Anna Ponton sang a solo in a manner that called forth an encore.

"The Parliament of Canada"—This toast was most appropriately responded to by Mr. J. J. B. Flint, who in his opening remarks referred to the fact that he was a member of the 15th Battalion, A.L.I., when it was formed. He referred to the fact that so many of the old Belleville boys around the festive board. Although they were old in years they still were proud of their record, especially that of Major-General Biggar. He has achieved honor in military affairs and was rising step by step and has by no means reached the height of his ever-growing ability. Major-General Biggar had been honored and worthily so. In referring to the toast Mr. Flint stated that the Union Government was of advantage to the country. We had one grand Union Government that we were proud of, and one we feel that we must honor. In closing the speaker spoke of the war and the necessity for the prosecution of it.

Song, "Back to Mandalay," by Mr. Ed. Wallace.

Our Guest.

This toast was proposed by Col. Lazier in a few well chosen remarks and was heartily received.

In responding Major-General Biggar said that words failed to express his feelings at the honor did him. In 1901 he went out in the Army Service Corps. The feeling of the men is no less dark, but is well known that Tommy must be fed if he is to fight. He went to South Africa during the war and the work of the Army Service Corps and he also took a course at Aldershot. At the outbreak of the present war the Army Service Corps did magnificent work. The first soldier to obtain a military medal was a member of the Army Service Corps. It is not a safety-first corps, as it has been designated by some. The Major-General spoke of the army postal service and the great amount of work there was to do in that department. An idea of the work may be gathered from the fact that 45,000 bags of mail has been forwarded within a few days. An Army Council has been created in Canada. This council consists of seven members, five military men and two civilians, one of whom is the Minister of Militia. The latter is proud of the old guard. The Minister of Militia is in the cause because his heart is in the work. The Deputy Minister of Militia is General Fiset, whose service is invaluable. The object of the council and its working was outlined by the speaker. The Quartermaster General is responsible for the clothing, feeding and the transporting of the army. The clothing department is an intricate department. The ordnance stores are great buildings as the supplies are numerous. The speaker was doing all he could to provide clothing, boots and equipment of the best for the boys. The procuring of blankets was a serious problem. The blankets we have would cover at least 3,000 acres of land. In speaking of the transporting of troops the Major-General, compliments the railways and steamship employees who were so careful in seeing that the men were well protected. No less than 475 steamships had been engaged in transporting Canadian troops. We have sent over 300,000 Canadians. No less than 95,000 Chinese coolies and 10,000 Poles have been sent over to France to assist the Canadians. At one time no less than 125,000 soldiers have been in camp in Canada at one time and it was no light task to care of them. The Canadian army is the best fed as the nation is varied. The best meat is used. In one train, would be some hundreds of miles in length. In bread no less than eight million loaves had been used. Everything that can possibly be saved from the rations is saved. We are proud of our army for what it is and is doing. If he had attained any success it was because of the backing and training he had received in Belleville. In conclusion the Quartermaster General thanked all present for the honor conferred on him on this occasion. (Applause).

The Old Brigade.

"The Old Brigade"—This toast was proposed by Lieut.-Col. Barragar, commanding officer of the 15th Battalion. The colonel referred to the members of the old brigade. The 15th Battalion in the past and also in the present had done its duty. Four of the officers had made the supreme sacrifice and one officer had been honored by the King. Some seventy-five of the officers of the 15th Battalion had enlisted for active service.

Major, E. Donald, of Montreal, spoke in a reminiscent manner of the days of the old brigade, especially those who were at some time connected with the 15th Battalion, a unit he had much respect for.

Major W. W. Pope of Toronto stated that when the members of the old brigade of the 15th Battalion get together they all feel at home. It was a pleasure to be present at such a gathering. The speaker in referring to the war spoke enlogistically of the Canadians and the honor they had conferred upon Canada. It was a special credit to the 15th Battalion that Major-General Biggar had been honored, as he deserved to be.

Major W. S. Morden, of Toronto, said he was proud of being a member of the 15th Battalion and he was proud of the services Major-General Biggar was rendering Canada at the present time.

Lieut.-Col. W. Conger of Ottawa stated that 24 years ago he joined the 15th Battalion and it was a pleasure to be present at this gathering of he members of the old brigade.

Major T. W. R. McRae, of Montreal said that it was some years since he had worn a military uniform, but he was proud of the fact that he had at one time been identified with the 15th Battalion.

Major W. Black also responded to the toast and spoke of the Army Service Corps and the good it was accomplishing. He went overseas and was attached to the divisional ammunition park. He was the first Canadian to reach the Somme. His duties were to see that provisions were gotten to the men, and at times this was no easy task. The Canadian artillery did good work and he was proud to them. One of the best soldiers in France is Major Frank Linn, a Belleville boy. A number of Belleville Americans left for France this nation will have 1,000,000 men on the west front," Col. Caldwell is close to the War Department asserted.

"During the first ten days of May the troop movements totalled 90,000," Caldwell quoted official figures showing that the army by June 1 will have 1,269,864 men and 148,928 officers in the service, or a total of 3,098,222.

"Under the intelage of our allies it was thought indefinable this year to raise an army of more than 1,000,000," Caldwell declared. "We have lately taken the lid off so that the President may have as big an army as necessary requires and our manpower permits. Although appropriations for next year are based on 3,000,000 men, I am confident that deficiency requests will be made in a few months."

Get Thousand Foe Airplanes

Amazing Record Made in Two Months—More German Towns Bombed

LONDON, May 24. — An official statement on aerial operations says:

"During Monday night airdrome in the neighborhood of Ghent, Tourcoing and St. Quentin, used by the enemy's night bombing machines, were heavily attacked. Thirteen tons of bombs were dropped on the railway stations at Thionville, Metz and Coblenz.

"At 9 o'clock in the morning of May 21 twenty-two heavy bombs were dropped on the railway stations at Sarrebourg and Chambrey. One of our machines has not returned.

"Since the beginning of the German offensive exactly two months ago one thousand German airplanes have been brought down or driven down out of control, and more than a thousand tons of bombs have been dropped over the the enemy's lines."

Civil Service Bill Passed By Senate

OTTAWA, May 24.—Within less than three hours and with minimum of discussion, the Senate passed the Civil Service Bill, one of the Government's bill, bringing the outside Civil Service, with the exception of the Customs preventive service, under the Civil Service Act. The measure now requires only Royal assent before going into effect on proclamation.

The Senate added only one amendment to the bill. This amendment declares that civil servants shall be entitled to their annual statutory increases, except in cases where the Deputy Minister shall recommend to the contrary.

The bill did not pass without some comment. Senator George W. Fowler, expressed the view that the bill simply transferred patronage from one branch of the service to another, and seemed to slander, and, in passing made reference to Auditor-General Fraser and the number of his relatives in the service.

A number of Senators thought that the amendment giving Deputy Ministers power to withhold statutory increases from clerks of their Departments would be subject to appeal, by the clerks affected, to the Civil Service Commission. They were inclined to the view the amendment placed too much power in the hands of the Deputy Minister. A majority, however, took the ground that the granting of appeals to an appeal would militate against the real object of the bill.

FIFTY MILLION FROM BACK YARD GARDENS

OTTAWA, May 24.—Mr. F. Abraham, honorary chairman of the Vacant Lot and Home Garden section of the Food Controller's office, enlists the production from vacant lot and back yard gardens this summer, judging by the number of applications received under cultivation, will be two or three times in excess of last year. Last year Canada produced between $20,000,000 and $30,000,000 worth of garden truck.

boys at the front have reflected honor upon the city, no matter what branch of the service you are in in France, it is not a safety-first corps, and no slander nor respect for persons in the service.

Vice-Chairman.

At the stage of the proceedings the toast list was turned over to Col. Poston, who spoke of the chivalry of our boys at the front, also of the sisters at the front. Nursing-Sister Hambly was referred to in an eloquent manner by the talented toastmaster.

Capt. E. Geen, Capt. J. H. Harper, Lieut. Wrightmeyer and Lieut. D. Ketcheson responded to the toast.

The toast of "The Fallen" was drank in silence by the company.

"Belleville, the City of the Bay," was then sung by the company.

"The Press"—responded to by representatives present.

The remainder toasts were proposed and spoken to, also a vote of thanks to Col. Lazier, the presiding officer.

Notes.

The toast list was a work of art, reflecting much credit on Col. Ponton, whose gems of thought were to be seen running through it.

Mrs. Col. Campbell played the accompaniments in her usual artistic manner.

Gov't May Curtail Some Industries

OTTAWA, May 24.—The agriculture and Colonization Committee of the Commons drafted a report to Parliament Tuesday making various recommendations in regard to labor supply for the farms, relief of unemployment, the live stock industry, etc.

On the labor problem the committee recommends an embargo for a time on the shortage of farm labor that the Government adopt a system of curtailed industries. It is not proposed to stop entirely the non-essential or less essential industries, but rather to limit the number of employes allowed in these industries to the minimum required to preserve each business undertaking's essential organization. The committee's suggestion for limiting the number of workers in the less essential industries is that a licensing system for the permitted employes be adopted for all curtailed business. There would be a record of Governmental check on the amount of labor such industries would be allowed to absorb in war time.

LABOR DISTRIBUTION

Further recommendations include the scheduling of women who may be transferred to the curtailed businesses and of the men released for other work by the curtailment and transfer suggested with the organization of labor bureaus for the systematic distribution of such labor.

"All Must Register Or Suffer Penalty

No Upward Limit Of Age For Those Registering 16 To 100

The 22nd of June has been definitely named as Registration Day, and by 10 o'clock on the evening of that day everyone in Canada 16 years and over must have filed with a registration certificate or be liable to heavy penalty.

The statement has been made repeatedly that only those between 16 and 60 is expected to register. The truth is there is no upward limit, and the law requires everyone 16 and over to attend at some place of registration, obtain a certificate of registrar, sign a card and receive a certificate, which is bespeaken to be carried on their person. That is all there is to be done. No one need be afraid of being ordered to a farm or munition job. The Government has no power or intention to conscript labor. The purpose of the register is to ask how the resources of the country in man and woman power, so that at some future time if emergency should arise the Government would know just what store of energy the country could rely on.

After reaching a ripe old age some have nothing to do but sit around and nurse their forbidden aspirations.

Sinn Feiners In German Plot

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, (via Boston) May 25.—Germany's untiring efforts to foment a revolution in Ireland with aid of Irish Sinn Feiner laid bare in statement today. After abortive rebellion of Easter week 1916 plans were made for revolution in 1917 but this failed because of America entering the war and Germany's failure to send troops. As Germany in Canada was planned after German offensive in West was successful. One phase of the plan called for establishment of submarine bases in Ireland. Under circumstances the only course open to Germany was to avoid useless bloodshed and its duties to the Allies fulfilled was to intern agitators and abettors of this criminal intrigue.

QUEBEC DID NOBLY
DRAFTEES RESPONDED

OTTAWA, May 24.—The extraordinary change in the sentiment in the Province of Quebec is illustrated by the manner in which the youth of the Province are answering to the call to arms. For instance: In Quebec City, the centre of all the disturbance, there were sixty men called out on Friday. The whole sixty responded before noon and were in khaki before night.

That last speech of yours was a classic, I'm afraid so, replied Senator Sorghum.

You don't seem gratified!

I feel complimented, but apprehensive. As a rule a classic is something people admire, but don't understand.

Ottawa Rumor Says Sir E.D. Kemp Will Come Home

OTTAWA, May 21.—That important and far reaching changes in the Canadian Military Organization overseas are pending is forecasted in unofficial but reliable reports circulated at Ottawa.

For a considerable time; past the advisibility of maintaining a dual Ministry of Militia in Canada and overseas has been a matter of controversy both on the part of Military and civilian authorities and there has been a strong body of opinion in favor of the abolition of the latter.

LACK OF CO-OPERATION

At the present time Sir Edward Kemp is the Overseas Minister and Major-General Mewburn the Minister in Canada. Events have shown that there is a marked lack of co-operation or rather of co-ordination, between the two ministries and considerable dissatisfaction has resulted. It is now stated that a complete reorganization is in contemplation, if not in immediate prospect.

Sir Edward Kemp it is stated, will be recalled, and his position as Overseas Minister abolished. In his stead there will be appointed a civilian Deputy Minister responsible to the Minister of Militia in Canada. There will be a thorough reorganization of Argyle House and a weeding out of the various branches connected therewith on a basis of efficiency and economy.

CURRIE IN COMMAND

It is understood that General Sir Arthur Currie will be placed in command not only of the Canadian forces in France but also of all the forces in England with the title of Commander in Chief of the Canadian forces. Gen. Turner will probably return to France where his heart is. Gen. Currie will control his own reinforcements.—Radical changes in the medical services are also, it is stated, in contemplation, while a shaking up in the forestry and other non-combatant units is anticipated.

FRECKLE-FACE
Sun and Wind Bring Out Ugly Spots.
How to Remove Easily

Here's a chance, Miss Freckle-face, to try a remedy for freckles that has the guarantee of a reliable dealer that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from any druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength Othine as this strength is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

Clear, Keen, sharp vision does not by any means indicate perfect eyes—eyes that perform their functions properly.

Many eyes are wasteful of nervous energy. They give good vision, but rob the other organs in doing so.

It is our work as Optometrist (sight specialist) to prevent this never ending waste of vitality. Our examination is very thorough.

SOLDIERS' FATAL ALCOHOL SPREE

WINNIPEG, May 24.—Sergt. W. A. Knox, Pte. A. Holbrooke and staff Sergt. A. V. Jones, returned soldiers, are dead after drinking wood alcohol as a beverage. Holbrooke was employee of a bath house on Main street and in the course of a friendly drinking bout the three men apparently drank from a bottle of crude alcohol used for external applications.

Knox came from Kelfield, Sask., and lived here after being invalided home from the front. Holbrooke leaves a wife and seven children, including a son on active service. Jones leaves a wife and child.

Overwork Paralysis

Doctors Said His Case Was Hopeless
—Could Not Walk or Write—
Speech Almost Gone—How Cure Was Effected.

St Ann's, Ont., May 25.—Paralysis is far more easily prevented than cured. For this reason it is only safe to be warned by sleeplessness, headache, nervous indigestion and neuralgia to check and begin reconstruction treatment before the nervous system becomes the victim of paralysis.

This letter from Mr. Hyatt is quoted to prove to you that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is effective even after paralysis has set in. It is not advisable, however, to neglect nervous disorders until such conditions are developed.

Mr. Avery Hyatt, Blacksmith, St Ann's, Lisgar County, Ont., writes:

"I am a blacksmith by trade, and ten years ago became afflicted with paralysis. I could not walk or read or write, and could talk with difficulty, so that I was the only one who understand anything I would say. Doctors in the young man's case nearly discouraged. Two doctors told me it was brought on by overwork, and that my case was hopeless.

"Then I read my father read about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and advised me to try it. I bought it in Kingsville and after I had used it saw that I was getting better. By the time the 13 boxes were used I was cured. I am well and strong and working every day, thanks to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

This statement is certified to by Mr. Elmore, J. Hodgins, J.P.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, a full treatment of 6 boxes for $2.75, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations only disappoint.

Early Methodist on Plainfield Circuit And Interesting History

(A short history of Methodism on what is now known as Plainfield circuit, written by the circuit historian, H. K. Denyes.)

The year 1825 and succeeding ten years brought several Methodist families, many of them of U. E. Loyalist stock, to this part of the country, now known as Plainfield circuit. These thrifty pioneers came here to hew out homes, for themselves and their families.

These early settlers, permeated with the spirit of their ancestors, could agreeably set about establishing Christian principles in home and community.

Methodist organizations sprang up in nearly every neighborhood. In connection with the pioneer meetings were class-leaders and exhorters who were a power for good.

In the next few years came along the early missionaries riding on horseback with their saddle bags, bringing the gospel message to nearly every home.

Great Revival in '48.

In 1849 there was a great revival in the old school house now known as Bethel. It was conducted by Rev. Mills, assisted by several local preachers, some of them worthy of special mention was the late Wm. Sills. Since that time the early fifties have been seen some great revivals of religion in the old schoolhouse at Zion Hill, McKim's, a home schoolhouse south of Plainfield on the Clapp farm. In some of these revivals the late Arch Mills, a well know local preacher, rendered helpful services.

In addition to those revivals already mentioned were several Methodisms to which many, in after years, could look back and say "I was born into the Kingdom there."

We will mention three places where these camp-meetings were held. About the year 1862 one was held in the late Thos. McKim's grove; some years later one in Wesley Denyes' grove, and later on one in Farman's grove.

Another revival worthy of mention was in the McKim school house in 1866 conducted by the late Rev. J. C. Osborne, by which many were brought into active service. In 1869 it was found that the schoolhouses were inadequate to accommodate the congregations and the quarterly meetings had to be conducted in barns.

These growing congregations of the two Methodist bodies in the early sixties continued to plan for the erection of churches in the various places where they were required and by hard work and sacrifice churches were built.

Zion Church.

In 1862 Zion Church was erected and dedicated the same year. The dedicatory sermon was preached by the Rev. John Lewis. This pioneer is mentioned in Withrow's Canadian History as one of the ministers who associated with Rev. Egerton Ryerson in informing the Governor of the probable attack on Toronto in the troublesome days of 1837.

Bethel Church.

The following year the Bethel church was erected by the same builders. Bethel Church was dedicated by Bishop Smith and Bishop Richardson. The Rev. Jas. Gardiner, the pastor, preached in the evening.

In 1869 the East Church, Plainfield, was built and dedicated in the following year.

In 1869 the West Church, Plainfield, was erected and dedicated for publication the following year by the late Dr. Morley Puncheon, one of England's greatest preachers, who was the Canadian Conference and was President at the time of the dedication.

Famous Preachers.

Since that time sermons have been delivered from these pulpits by some of Canada's greatest old-time preachers as Bishop Carman, afterwards Gen. Supt. of the United Methodist bodies, Rev. Dr. Jeffers, editor of the Christian Guardian, at one time; Dr. Wm. Briggs of the Methodist Book Room; Dr. Larkin, Taylor, that noted missionary and traveller; Dr. Gardner, Rev. John Black, Michael Fawcett, Dr. Lewis, Kilgour, Howell and many others.

Two of the greatest evangelistic preachers who labored on this ground in the early seventies were the Rev. Hiram Williams and Silas Hunting-ton.

S. T. Wilmott and Asahel Vermilyea, two lay preachers, rendered very acceptable service on this ground in this district for many years also.

Methodist Union.

In 1884 a union of the various Methodist bodies took place which proved to be an epoch in Canadian Methodism. The first General Conference was held in the city of Belleville. The next year these unions were affected as to Foxboro circuit, with Rev. E. E. Howard senior pastor and Rev. H. H. Leitch junior pastor. The following year the Plainfield circuit was formed with Rev. Leitch as pastor. Since that time we have had Presbyters Revs. Thos. Brown, Tobias Mayers, W. D. P. Wilson, F. J. Anderson, Daniel Williams, Henry Thomas, W. H. Buckler, Stillman Kemp, Joseph Ward, B.A., B.D., A. C. Huffman and Frank Stone, M.A.

Missionary to Indians.

In 1915 Geo. F. Denyes, a Plainfield circuit boy, after graduating from Victoria University and being ordained at Oshawa, offered himself as a missionary to West China, but funds being scarce and with the Great War breaking out he was asked to go into Indian work and is now missionary at Norway House and Principal of the Government school of that same place.

In 1917 it was decided to close the West Plainfield Church and add Plainfield Church to Bethel, formerly belonged to Melrose circuit, to the Plainfield circuit. Mount Pleasant Church was also closed in 1963 and deeded for public worship by Bishop Carman.

Some of the senior members of the first quarterly board after the union were Peter Caverley, Wm. Chapman, Wesley Denyes, Samuel Yoaker, Wm. Sills, John Sayers, Wm. Townsend.

Now as we are closing this conference year of 1917-1918 we find that our Empire is yet engaged in the terrible war which has been going on for nearly four years. Many of our noble sons have offered themselves for Empire service from this circuit and some have made the supreme sacrifice.

This ends a short history of Plainfield circuit and Methodism on this territory back—early in century.

This Conference year closes with Rev. Frank White, M.A., pastor, and Harrison Phillips recording steward.

A Nervous Breakdown

Can be Averted by Feeding the Starved Nerves With Rich, Red Blood

Nourish your nerves—that is the only way you can overcome nervousness, misery, nervous exhaustion. The fits of depression and irritation, the prostrating headaches, the weakness and trembling of the legs, the unsteady hand and the imperfect digestion that mark the victim of nerve weakness must end in nervous breakdown if neglected.

Nourish your nerves by the magical process of filling your veins with rich, red, health-giving blood. Your nerves are crying out for pure blood and the mission of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is to make new, rich blood. This explains why these pills cure nervous troubles so many cases of nervous disease that did not yield to ordinary treatment. For example, Mr. Wilfrid Donald, West Flamboro, Ont., says:—

"Before I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I was in a serious condition. I was not only badly run down, but my nerves seemed to be completely shattered. I slept badly at night, and when I got up in the morning was as tired as when I went to bed. I seemed to be on the verge of a nervous breakdown. At this stage I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In the course of three weeks I felt much relief, and continuing the use of the pills they completely restored my health. I can now sleep soundly, eat well, and am enjoying complete freedom from the old nervous troubles."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Comfort Club
Annual Meeting

Annual meeting of Christ Church Comfort Club was held May 16 in the parish hall. The convener, Miss Eva Lavoie, opened the proceedings with a resume of the year's work, encouraging the members to carry on and give continued support to our gallant boys overseas. She then called upon the secretary and treasurer for their reports, both of which showed the year's work good. The number of packets sent during the year were 73; acknowledged, 41; donations of socks, 19 pairs; knitted socks, 73 pairs; number sent away, 70 pairs; socks on hand, 22 pairs; total donated and knitted, 92 pairs; six pounds of wool on hand.

Constipation Cured In His 78th Year Without Drugs

Did you ever know any person who was permanently cured of Constipation by taking drugs? If any kind of drug is used to assist Nature at the time, but as time goes on larger, doses are necessary until the trouble becomes chronic.

Internal Bathing is the only real cure for Constipation. It keeps the Colon or Lower Intestine free from all accumulation. Soon the system performs its regular functions unaided and there is no further trouble.

Mr. A. McLean, of Conger Lumber Co., Parry Sound, writes:—"I have been troubled with Constipatin for the last 35 or 40 years, and could not pass one day without taking medicine. I had used the 'J. B. L. Cascade' since getting it 21 days ago, with wonderful results. I will recommend any person to use it."

Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell of New York invented and perfected the "J. B. L. Cascade" for Internal Bathing, which is today the only efficient means of accomplishing the desired results. Dr. Tyrrell has published an interesting book on Internal Bathing, called "Why Man of To-day is Only 50 Per Cent. Efficient," which can be had free for the asking at J.S. McKeown's Drug Store. They will also be pleased to show and explain the "J. B. L. Cascade" to you.

CANADIAN BANKS HAVE 10,000 MEN IN KHAKI

While every branch of Canadian business has a noble record in supplying men for service overseas, few people realize the response that the men on the staffs of the banks have made to the call of the colors. These figures have just come to hand, and every patriotic Canadian will be proud of the record of our banks, at the same time realizing that this drain on the staffs makes it imperative that the public should co-operate with them all the more kind, in the handling of Canada's growing banking business.

At the beginning of the war, there were 17,674 men and 1,699 women employed in Canadian banks. By January 15th, 1918, the number of men on the bank staffs was only 12,228—a reduction of over 2,000, and the number of women had increased to 5,763. The total enlistments from the staffs of banks up to Jan. 15th, were 7,741—almost half of the number of men on the bank staffs at the beginning of the war. Considering the number of married men and men over age in the banks, this is a record to which they can point with pride. Since that date 200 additional young bankers' men have volunteered, 830 were called under the decision of Mr. Justice Duff in March, and 1,200 men have been called under recent amendments to the Military Service Act. Thus the total contribution of men by the banks has reached the inspiring figure of over 10,000—out far short of ten battalions.

Women clerks have been employed and have done splendidly, say local bank managers, but they have not the experience of the men they replace, and it would be out of the question to expect them to work as rapidly, or with the same knowledge of banking as officers of many years' training.

For these reasons the Canadian Bankers Association is making an appeal to the public to co-operate with the banks as fully as possible in the handling of the banking business under these exceptional conditions. A change of banking hours is announced from 10 to 1.30 in place of the usual 10 o'clock to three, for the purpose of giving the staffs more time to complete the large amount of work which cannot be taken up until the offices are closed to the public. Requests are also made to bank early and avoid drawing unnecessary cheques.

War Garden Bulletin

PRACTICAL DAILY GUIDE FOR VACANT LOT AND BACK YARD GARDENERS ENLISTED IN GREATER PRODUCTION CAMPAIGN.

Issued by the Canada Food Board in collaboration with experts on the staff of the Experimental Farms.

CUTWORMS

The 24th of May. One of the gala days of the year, but to war time a day that means more than ever before and will devote to their gardens. For those who started work early some of the first young plants will soon be appearing, while there are others who have just reached the stage of putting in their seed.

Early though the season is, the unwelcomed guest is already "on the job." Cutworm destruction has resulted in the worth of vegetable crops every year. Gardeners must aid the campaign to save the crop by destroying these pests. Watch for their appearance, as they are already at work. They cut through the stems of the young beans and tomato plants at the ground line during the night and leaves the young plant dying on the ground. Investigation in the loose soil will generally discover the miscreant a few inches away, half an inch or so below the surface when he can be summarily squashed. They can be killed wholesale by scattering along the rows poisoned baits made as follows: Bran, 20 lbs., cheap molasses, 1 quart, Paris Green or white arsenic, half a pound, water from 2 to 2½ gallons. Mix the bran and Paris Green (or white arsenic) thoroughly in a wash tub while dry. Dissolve the molasses in the water and sour, then pour molasses and the same, stirring well so as to dampen the bran thoroughly. A formula for small quantities is: one quart of bran, one teaspoonful of Paris Green and one tablespoonful of molasses, with water enough to moisten the bran. Apply after sundown as soon as cutworm injury is noticed. There is one precaution to in this mixture—it is poisonous to birds.

SWISS CHARD

There is one vegetable not yet mentioned in this series and very little grown in Canada, that should surely take a prominent place in the war time garden, that is to say, Swiss Chard. It is a succulent vegetable, easy to grow, easy to cook, easy to can. No vegetable gives more bountiful returns for a small amount of labor or offers a greater variety of uses. A row twenty feet long planted about this time will give an abundant supply for a family of five for the whole season if only the outer ribs are cut each time and the remainder of the plant is left to grow.

With the price of asparagus out of reach of ordinary mortals, Swiss Chard is really an excellent substitute. It can be served as a hot vegetable with sauce, or as a salad with French dressing or mayonnaise. The young leaves can be cooked in the same way as spinach and the largest ribs, cut in small pieces and cooked like celery. Or again, they can be cut in five-inch pieces, boiled for from twelve to fifteen minutes and chilled before serving.

MUSIC & DRAMA

GREAT SPECIALTIES IN "THE GIRL FROM KOKOMO" Up to Date Vaudeville Features of Tuesday Night's Production

The second act of "The Girl from Kokomo" is a succession of delightful specialities. The ballet numbers are under the direction of Mrs. Albert Johnstone, and are charming. There are sixteen little girls in the ballet and their specialty is one of the features of the performance. The new costumes of the lighting effects will add greatly to the success of these numbers.

A full dress rehearsal of the production was held in Griffin's Opera House yesterday morning, and the principles and chorus showed considerable talent in their work. Very little more is to be done before Tuesday night, when Belleville will have an opportunity of seeing and hearing the best amateur performance that has yet been attempted.

While the seat sale has been large there are still some choice seats left, so anyone who has not secured a seat as yet, should do so at once. Go to Doyle's Drug Store, where the seats are on sale, and secure your seats, thereby assuring yourself of an evening of rare enjoyment, at the same time helping some little bit to help the Boys Over There.

"THE HEART OF WETONA" HERE NEXT FRIDAY

David Belasco's wonderful play, "The Heart of Wetona," is the offering at Griffin's on Friday May 31st. For plays seen on the English speaking stage possess no wide and diversified an appeal to all classes of theatre-goers as does this deftly told tale of certain phases of life in the great north west. From the moment the curtain rises interest in the development of the story is cumulative and intense. Pathos and laughter are in every scene, with tears just around the corner in many places. There will be no lack of the beauty of setting and beauty of action throughout by a carefully selected company of players, whose names are high up in the theatrical firmament.

What is at Griffin's the first half of next week? To this query one was heard to reply La Toca, who is it, or what is it, that is to be seen at this location that was heard on the main street to-day, how La Toca for one thing is the name of a Woman, and a Woman is played by Pauline Frederick and anyone knows that she is the screen's most beautiful Actress and why shouldn't she be, aint she a Brandon Girl and that means she is a Canadian and a Westerner at that, you don't want the whole story here or you would not need to go to the theatre at all, at any rate the version of the story will suffice, in the first place Floria Tosca is a beautiful Girl of poor parents, who has been educated and taught to sing by the priests of Rome. She is in love with Mario Cavardosi the painter she is working at a scene in the Church of St. Andrea where Tosca meets him every afternoon. One day while he is waiting there for her a pol-

"I'm Delighted With It"

Eaton Co. Employee Did Him More Good Than Everything Else

"Well, sir, ever since I started on Tanlac my improvement has been so wonderful that I don't feel like the same person I was before," recently declared Mr. Thomas Bowles, an employee of the T. Eaton Company who has resided at 743 Huron Street, corner of Davenport Road, Toronto, for four years, and is known to everybody in that neighborhood.

"I had been going down hill for the past two or three years," continued Mr. Sigrabdrow, "and I suffered all the time from a severe case of indigestion and stomach trouble. After eating anything my food would sour and rise up in my throat, I suffered from blood boils and would blow up with gas until I could hardly get my breath. Any kind of vegetables or fried food would upset me everytime and I got so I was afraid to eat a good square meal, for I knew it'd have to pay dearly for it. I was taking pills, lightning drops, my chest and a bad cough that worried me at night. I could hardly sleep and I felt terribly tired all the time. I would get up in the mornings.

"Nothing I took seemed to do me any good, and finally I decided to try Tanlac a while. I have taken but two bottles of this medicine so far and it has certainly done me more good than everything I have ever taken. I am not troubled with gas or indigestion now, I am eating three hearty meals and my chest is gone. I don't suffer any more from sour stomach or heart burn and I feel better at night. I am just delighted with the way Tanlac is straightening me out."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store, in Trenton by J. H. Dickey, in Deseronto by W. J. Mallory, in Napanee by R. Meredith, in Frankford by W. H. Lattimer, in Madoc by J. Will Vince, in Marysville by T. J. McAuley, in Consecon by Jas. Ewing, and in Thomasburg by J. H. Blakely.

A POLITICAL RED HERRING.

Another Laurierite red herring has been rejected by the House of Commons in a motion by A. B. Copp, of Westmoreland, N.B., for a judicial investigation into alleged frauds in the taking of the overseas soldiers' vote. This, no doubt, is some of the evil-smelling political ammunition brought over by "Hug-the-Machine" Preston, Laurier's agent in connection with the election overseas. Preston's popularity in the military camps was such that he was imprisoned in the guard house on one occasion because in the opinion of the officer commanding he tried to override military discipline. The Copp motion is just another filibustering attempt to keep the House in session and delay or prevent the departure of Sir Robert Borden and colleagues for England to attend the Imperial conference.

Of course it is nothing more than a coincidence that neither the Huns nor the Laurierites seem to want Canada represented at the Imperial conference.

AFRAID OF CHEAPER VEGETABLES.

It is to be hoped that the sentiment expressed by a prominent resident of Hastings county is not general—that Hastings county would be foolish to contribute any money to making the Bay Bridge free, as a free bridge would enable Prince Edward county farmers to undersell the farmers of Hastings on the Belleville market. As Col. Ponton remarked in his Patriotism-Peptomism speech at Griffin's Theatre Tuesday evening that is the wrong spirit. Whether Hastings county contributes anything to a free bay bridge or not there should be a get-together spirit which a few cents on vegetables can not separate. And there is no doubt that Hastings people would use the bay bridge a good deal more than they do now if it was free, and thus get better acquainted with their neighbors across the water and brought closer in the bonds of friendship and fellowship. Hastings county could very well make a substantial contribution to the bay bridge fund and thus help to extend the radius of trade and pleasure possibilities for the residents of this county who are big enough and fair enough to refuse benefits without participating in the payment thereof.

THERE'S A LONG, LONG TRAIL AWINDING.

With the boys on the firing line songs featuring the home sentiment are the most favored. This natural, for the soldier boys are fighting to protect their homes, their mothers, their sisters and their sweethearts more than anything else; Dad can take care of himself. When the din of battle has died down temporarily, and there boys are playing, writing or resting in billets behind the firing line, songs of cheer and songs of home are sung with all the gridiron enthusiasm, energy and talent with which the Canadian soldier is charged. Then you will hear among others the following:

Pack all your troubles in your old kit bag
And smile, smile, smile.
While you've a lucifer to light your fag,
Smile, boys, that's the style.
What's the use of worrying?
It never was worth while;
So pack all your troubles in your old kit bag
And smile, smile, smile.

TILL THE DAY.

There's a long, long trail awinding
Into the land of my dreams,
Where the nightingales are singing
And a white moon beams;
There's a long, long night of waiting
Until my dreams all come true;
Till the day when I'll be going down
That long, long trail with you.

THE GIRL I LEFT BEHIND.

We don't want a lot of flags flying,
We don't want your big brass band;
We don't want a lot of speechifying,
And we don't want a lot of waving hands;
We don't want a lot of interfering,
When we've safely crossed the foam;
But we do want to find the girls we left behind
When we all come marching home."

OLD-FASHIONED FOLKS.

There's an old-fashioned house in an old-fashioned street
In a quaint little old-fashioned town;
There's a street where the cobble-stones harass the feet
As it straggles up hill and then down.
And though to and fro through the world I may go,
My heart, while it beats in my breast,
Where'er I may wander, to that old-fashioned home,
Will fly like a bird to its nest.

In that old-fashioned house in that old-fashioned street
Dwell a dear little old-fashioned pair;
I can see their two faces, so tender and sweet,
And I love every wrinkle that's there.
I love every mouse in that old-fashioned house
In the street that runs up hill and down;
Each stone and each stick, ev'ry cobble and brick,
In that quaint little old-fashioned town.

CRISP COMMENT

Many people from Prince Edward county would attend church in Belleville Sundays if the Bay Bridge was free.

Spend Sunday afternoon in Victoria Park if the Parks Dept. has enough pep to provide a bridge—temporary at least.

How can we love our neighbors as ourselves if we have to pay good money to cross the bridge to see them?

Don't cross a bridge until you come to it, but have your change ready when you come to the Bay Bridge.

If the Board of Health is not really asleep or dead we beg leave to again call their attention to the disease-breeding bog hole on Thrnbull street. How about having a wake, hiring the band, and seeing if the corpse will come to?

Tongues in trees, books in the brook, sermons in stones—and, by the same token, romance in sugar rolls.

The idea is not so absurd. Stella will corroborate me.

Drop into Buttacher's tonsorial parlors some day.

Go right through into the Little room curtained off at the rear.

Seated at a table, with bowls of warm water, jars of red paste and various delicate instruments set out before her, you will find Stella placidly unpacking cannoli.

As you enter she will look you over imperiously. Sigh, if you are tall and dark and saturnine or exotic and ashy, but kindly, if you—what you are; say something original that she has heard twenty times a day for three years and offer her your fingers to relish.

When she has massaged them for a few minutes and you think that your soft glances have quickened the beating of her heart, ask her about the romance business.

She will gaze steadily at you for a quarter of a minute.

Then a pearly tear will hasten from beneath a quivering eyelid. She will swallow a sob with her caramel.

And if you are not tall and dark and ashy-pale she may tell you the story. It isn't much of a story as stories go. But judge of it for yourself:

His entrance was scoodlem.' Stella was not aware of him until his shadow fell across the pages of her book. She started nervously and looked up to find him seated, spooning, across from her gravely. Her heart thumped violently as she looked into his eyes, then blushed. Her glance fell. She sighed.

Without looking up again she began to operate on the hand which he offered for her inhalation. Her fingers trembled. Twice she almost stuck him with the cuticle scissors.

She never could recall with what remark he broke the awful silence. For the first time in memory she was powerless to inject the element of loquacity into a situation.

She knew before he spoke just what would be the most quality of his voice; knew it would be soft and low and compelling. At the first word her gaze was drawn to his. She peered into his black eyes timidly, fearfully. He—traced.

Maybe it was hours he talked, maybe only minutes.

"In Madrid," he murmured absently, "near the Plaza de Toros, lives a soft eyed maiden whom you remind me of soon."

He flashed as the scissors point presented a tender spot. But she was far away from cuticles and scissors.

"And once in Delhi, as the regiment marched out, I saw you waving me goodby from the gate of the town."

From land to land he skipped. He balanced the south pole on the tip of his tongue, derided the hemispheres, twisted the equator in a knot and dipped the top off Mont Blanc. He mopped up the Pacific ocean with his left hand, and with his right taught backgammon to an Eskimo in Greenland.

Time and distance were exploded myths to him. He was a citizen of the universe, address anywhere.

"You must know pretty nearly every one," Stella whispered admiringly.

He considered a moment while he adjusted the gem pin in his necktie.

"Not quite," was his modest admission.

She sighed and applied the nail buffer with feminine suddenness.

When he had gone she wept softly and tried to think what he had looked like. He was tall, she remembered, and slender and dark.

That night she tried herself to sleep and dreamed she was Madyaline, the heroine of Count Ferrero's Last Wish.

He came again many times.

There was more tales—tales of hair raising adventure in the crannies of the world. The heroes of them all were friends of his, nameless men mentioned casually, though she knew all the time that it was he who really figured in the heroic role.

She put down his delicacy to conceiting modesty that became modesty as characteristic of heroes. There was a man, for instance, who twisted the tail of a lion, blood-crazed in Bengal and flung the brute to starve in the burning sands.

His visits became more frequent, so frequent that his calls could not possibly be spaced even between times.

He led her to talk of herself—of her home, inspired by the sweet simplicity of literature, of the loveless life of a young anæmic lady in a department store of cosmopolitan population.

He learned, too, of the $300 she had saved and of the traditional day dreams of inclement weather.

And a time he left on that occasion but kissed fervently across the table, CONTering which process he spilled a bowl of warm water into his lap.

At a certain hour each day Miss Stella Dastrife combed his nape—Montreal Record Pictorial McGinnis. She smiled happily at the Pet blew her a farewell kiss.

visited her always in the morning. Whether he had an occupation she had not courage to inquire of him. Suffice she was loved, and to love is to trust, says the heroine of some best seller.

She confided in Rose, her "fairy friend," a statuesque blond who circulated constantly in a lunch room. Rose was skeptical, having proved to her grim satisfaction that the stronger roots is the only way in a man's heart.

"Maybe so and, then maybe not," she declared succinctly. "That romance business is all very well for them as can do without sleep. What's his name?"

"Montford," breathed Stella.

"And what for dessert?"

"Reginald Medlikan."

"Too dowdy. Keep your eye on the cashier's desk and don't let him get by without punching his check. This Romeo game wasn't invented for working girls. Good providers is what we need. Remember what happened to me."

She dabbled a fugitive tear. Stella was in arms immediately.

"Monty's different. There's something about him that—er—well, I can't explain it."

"I know; that was Horace's weak point. I couldn't lay my finger on just what it was till he borrowed all my money one day and skipped. Does he take you out much?"

Stella flushed.

"He hasn't yet," she confessed lamely, then flared. "He—he—well, he doesn't need such things to show it's true."

"Oh, maybe not, but it helps some. Don't let me throw on the damper, though. I ain't saying he's not all right. Here, I have an—but"—

Stella burst into tears and bounced to the door.

"You're horrid," she sobbed, "and jealous. I won't listen to another word against him."

On his next visit, however, she met his advances austerely.

"When I was in Algiers," he began reminiscently, after a few well chosen and silently received words about the weather.

"There's a new show at the Lyceum they say is awfully funny." Her tone was dreamily wistful.

He sidestepped warily. "This weather reminds me a lot of Labrador."

"I haven't seen a good show for a long time," she sighed.

"Not that it's so cold in Labrador, you know, but"—

"Have you seen it?"

"What, Labrador?"

"No, the show."

"I—er—Not yet. You see, I'm very busy now nights, my dear. I am entertaining a couple of English bankers this week. Very important, you know. Some time, though," he said vaguely, "we'll"—— His words faded into a murmur that lost itself in the puffing of a black cigar.

She melted. Monty was important.

"Some time soon," he promised as he started to leave. "Ah, by the way"—he fumbled in his change pocket—"I forgot my money this morning. Stupid, wasn't it? Have you a dollar handy, my dear, for car fare till I get a check cashed?"

She gave it gladly, receiving a hand squeeze as the result.

She did not mention the circumstance to Rose that evening as they sat in the little restaurant where three course meals are exchanged for quarter dollars.

"Want to see a picture show?" Rose asked after supper. Stella agreed—regretfully.

They dropped into "the travelogue," where for the sum of a dime you may sit in a stuffy room and partake of all the pleasures of a first class tour of the world without the bother of officious customs inspectors or the emotional unrest of seasickness. They found seats well toward the front and ordered a bag of caramels to fortify themselves against the fatigues of the journey.

The lights went out. An automaton began harassing a wheezy piano. There was a buzz of expectant whispering.

A square of white light flashed on the curtain, then the lights turned. The Alps. A Turkish street scene appeared on the canvas.

Rose once coughed in the wings. The piano's wail died off in a flowery tremolo. The tremolo ceased. A husky voice proceeded from out the shadow at the left of the canvas.

"Ladies and gentlemen, tonight—hic—tonight we shall have the pleasure of the—hic—pleasure—leading you through the the"——

There was a pause. The lecturer whispered hoarsely to some one behind him.

Then he and yellow mosque that was just peeping into the house slopped sweetly in the course and vanished.

There was whispered colloquy in the shadow. Another cough.

"Ladies and gen'lmen," the voice resumed more huskily, "tonight we're going to Jerusalem."

"No, no, you chump!" clear and grating from behind the whisky voice rasped petulant. I told you to study it. You've been drinking again."

"Tish! I—hic—I—" The husky one was evidently aggrieved. "Ladies and gentlemen, I've changed our route. We're going to the orient."

A whistle sounded shrilly. The canvas suddenly went black.

The lights flashed on blindingly to reveal the unwedding figure being blown behind the wings from public stare.

Stella uttered a little shriek before she collapsed.

"It's Monty!" she blubbered.

"No," muttered Rose tensely, "it's Horace!"

In The Eastern Townships

(1) A Group of Girl Campers at Waterfall, Knowlton's Landing.
(2) Scene on Magog River, Sherbrooke.

THERE were troublesome times for loyalists of British stock in America at the close of the eighteenth century; they saw the influence of their beloved mother land dwindling in the new world; they went through the turmoil of war, witnessed the defeat of their cause, saw the triumph of George Washington and their anxiety culminated in despair when, in 1783, was created the American Declaration of Independence, threatened to destroy the last tie to their mother country. Wearying of the rule of those who had risen down the Union Jack and hoisted a newer emblem the loyalists of Pennsylvania and New Hampshire left their accustomed haunts and emigrated to the neighboring country where the British flag was still aloft.

They were a hardy race, those British-Americans who settled in the Eastern Townships of the Province of Quebec. They were mainly of English or Scotch birth or of English or Scotch descent, and they came across the border in groups. Many of them brought comfortable homes and there were few who had brought nothing with them. Indefatigable workers they were, and they were industrious. They had left their all behind them, but scantily explored. They knew little of what it offered, but they were determined as they came through the rugged hills and dense forests. They pitched a camp wherever they found a fertile tract of land. Every responsible United Empire Loyalist, who by his loyalty to Great Britain had suffered was given a sufficient acreage. Forty settlers made what was called a township, and a township covered about ten square miles. Each township elected an agent, or representative, to negotiate with the Canadian Government. A Constitutional Act was passed in 1791, and by the settlement of the district was fully organized.

The United Empire Loyalist pioneers in the Eastern Townships soon became attached to the new country into which they were transplanted, and they lived, still cherishing the ideals which had been handed down to them by their ancestors. Beautiful scenery surrounded them everywhere; there was plenty of big game in the woods, millions of fish dwelt in the lakes and rivers, and virgin soil awaited the reaping of the plough and promised a rich yield whole-some crops. Log built homes were speedily constructed, fires made cosy hearths in the chilly winter days. But the source of life cannot be all smooth in a new and rough country. There were hard riders, members of families had often to travel long distances through wildernesses in search of some necessities of life. Some of the U.E.L. that Henry Lawrence, a surveyor, had travelled forty miles for a supply of salt. A traveller discovering him self lost in the woods was no unusual person in those days.

About the year 1807 the settlement of the Eastern Townships was begun by the French Canadians. They multiplied rapidly, and after they form the greater portion of the population of the locality. Some years ago, when agriculture, for those in Western Canada were being actively advertised, many of the French speaking inhabitants of the Townships sold out their farms and went to Canada to take up larger homesteads in the West.

Some of the towns of the Eastern Townships are centres of paper and manufacturing industries and considerable traffic. The towns and many of the villages offer excellent accommodation for holiday folk during the summer months. The beauty spots of the Eastern Townships are much frequented by residents of Montreal, who, on account of their proximity to them, can conveniently go there for week-end holidays.

A Siren

She Proved a Lure in the Right Direction

By F. A. MITCHEL

The First Congregational church of Helmyrlie experienced great difficulty in retaining a minister.

Naturally the small salary was the cause of the trouble. It was but $800 a year, and no unit could be found to accept it except some recent graduate just beginning his life work. These young men were all bachelors. There was a girl in the congregation, Miss Bekitzi Berrence, daughter of the managing deacon, who as soon as a young man from a theological seminary took up the duties of pastor began to weave about him a spell. He would gradually become devoted, then on one pretext or another would hand in his resignation and leave for another field.

A few of the parishioners who went in the secret advocated securing a man first man for pastor. Acting on this suggestion, they "called" a man with a wife and six children. But the salary was so small that the more prosperous members of the congregation were continually compelled to put their hands in their pockets to help the family out. Fairs and donation parties were a fact of life at last the congregation became weary of the business. The pastor secured a call with a higher salary, and the First church, returned to the old system of having a bachelor to fill the pulpit.

When the Rev. Thomas Bidgely, unmarried, stepped into the pulpit vacated by the pastor with a family, none of the congregation except a committee of three had been sent to hear him preach had seen him. As he stepped forward to begin the service a few of those who understood the cause of the frequent changes of the church's pastor looked at one another unenkingly. He had fiery red hair and enormous whiskers, while his complexion was a freckled brown. If these person had spoken their thoughts they would have said: "At last we have a man whom Tryx Severance will let alone."

However, when he sent his first word rolling over the congregation it was like the lower notes of the organ. There was scarcely a member of the congregation but admitted that Mr. Bidgely possessed a resonant voice. It seemed not to make any difference whether he raised it or lowered it, the effect was the same. When he spoke in those tones that are intended to be impressive, but are usually inaudible, his most subdued accent could be distinctly heard in every part of the house.

But when Mr. Bidgely began his sermon it was evident that his voice was not his principal attraction. There was a depth as well as a fervor in everything he said that went both to the understanding and the heart. For the first time in years the congregation of the First church realized that they were under a powerful influence. They listened, every eye and ear intent upon him, till he had finished; then a murmur of satisfaction broke the stillness.

When the sermon was over and the congregation were passing out of the church the hum of conversation was centered about the new pastor. "Where did the committee pick him up?" "What does it mean that such a man will accept our little salary?" "Hell be called somewhere else within a few months." These were some of the comments made, and all were encouraging to Mr. Bidgely. But there were a few, a select few, who looked at the matter from a different point of view. With them the question was. How will Bessie Severance stand in the matter, or would the clergyman be allowed to sway by her as the other bachelors had been?

What were Miss Severance's thoughts or intentions no one knew, for she kept them to her own sweet self. Every Sunday she attended service, at least once, and sat listening to the clergyman's words without betraying by her expression an interest in him personally. Nevertheless the congregation soon noticed that she was wearing the same spell over him she had thrown about the others.

Then a low murmuring began to be heard against the girl, who, it was to be inferred, would drive out this gifted man. They had failed to find fault with her in the other cases, for the men were not talented and could easily be replaced. But here was a wonder who, when they lost him, could not be replaced. Indeed, there was not a member of the congregation but feared that at any moment he would receive a call elsewhere at a far higher salary than they were paying or could afford to pay him. Should Tryx Severance be allowed to deprive them of their prize?

An informal meeting of those who understood the matter was held at the home of Mrs. Deacon Stoneman, wherein it was discussed, and the result of the conference was that the influence should request her husband to go to Deacon Severance and ask him to warn his daughter to keep hands off the new minister. Deacon Stoneman called on Deacon Severance, and the two were closeted together for the space of half an hour. The visiting brother and Deacon Stoneman called Beatrix into the room, closed the door and informed her of the subject of the recent interview.

"Papa," said Trixie, "what do you think we do?"

"Nothing so far as Mr. Bidgely is concerned."

"What does the congregation wish me to do? Have they mentioned my special act I have committed with reference to Mr. Bidgely that they object to?"

"I don't know that they have.

"Well, you may tell them for me that Mr. Bidgely is best be let alone with reference to his treatment of me and I had best be let alone with reference to my treatment of him."

This ended the conference between father and daughter. What report he made to those who had taken the matter in hand for Beatrix Severance through him was not known, but it was probably not very satisfactory, since the feeling against the siren increased, and it was not long before she began to get the cold shoulder from certain members of the congregation. One thing was noticeable—the relations, so far as they appeared between her and Mr. Bidgely, were by no means changed by the fact of her admonition.

One day Mrs. Harkness met Mrs. Goodly on the street, and the two ladies stopped for a chat.

"Have you heard the news about our pastor?" asked the former.

"No. What is it?"

"He's had a call."

"I knew it! It's all that saucy Trixie Severance's fault. She's driven him out as she has driven out the others."

"He hasn't accepted it yet."

"But he will. Do you know what salary they offer him?"

"They say it is double what we are paying."

"Then he's sure to go."

The news spread that the church's call had received a call, and it was generally convicted that it was preliminary to his leaving the field on account of Beatrix's refusal from Bessie Severance. Then it began to be known that in his new call he would receive double the salary he was paid by the First church. And while the feeling of hostility toward Trixie was growing like a rolling snowball, the feeling of sympathy for the siren for losing their pastor she be brought up before the First church for trial for unlawful conduct. But the absurdity of such a course was apparent when some one asked to what form the charges would be made.

One Sunday, after reading the usual notices, Mr. Bidgely said that since it had become generally known that he had received a call he would say that he had declined it and would remain with the First church.

Great was the astonishment at this announcement. What did it mean? Was the man crazy to refuse a salary of $1200 when he was getting only $800? There was understood Miss Severance's part, or her supposed part, in the matter. Everybody knows that by quitrenty. Her face was as passive, as unintelligible as usual.

The only person in the congregation who could give a satisfactory explanation of the matter was Mrs. Goodlow, who said it was so plain she couldn't understand why everybody couldn't see it. Trixie had so bewitched the pastor that rather than give her he had given up an additional $400 a year. This view commended itself to others, and the impression gained ground that the minister's departure was only deferred. Miss Severance was angling him as a cat would play a mouse. Before long he would depart, call or no call.

Meanwhile the power of the young clergyman for good was becoming known elsewhere, and calls began to pour in thick and fast. Mr. Bidgely did not speak of them himself, but they leaked out through those who gave them. He declined them all.

Then the congregation of the First church began to think that it was his love for them that kept him. After all the First church was composed of an exceptional class of people. Quite like Mr. Bidgely translated the social advantages of such a church. This view was not published to her, but gained ground severally.

Finally an announcement was made by Mrs. Deacon Severance that was like a bomb dropped among the congregation. Her daughter, Beatrix, was engaged to Mr. Bidgely. All were undo happy by the news. That the beloved pastor would not be a fixture in the First church. From being the most popular member of the congregation Trixie became the most popular. All flocked about her with congratulations, saying that they were "so glad;" that doubtless it had been through Trixie's influence a year ago that declined the calls he had received and now they would have been always. Mrs. Goodlow received their congratulations with the same importance as she had received those for her promotion. In due time the wedding was celebrated, and all were settling down with a feeling that they were to retain a minister who had been offered several times more than a year in place of the paltry sum of $800 when the tranquil waters were suddenly disturbed. The minister announced from his pulpit that he had determined to give up all regular pastoral work and preach the gospel to the poor wherever and wherever he found an opportunity. He further stated that he was happy in having gained a wife who sympathized with him in this course and who would assist him in his efforts to ameliorate the spiritual and physical condition of those who most needed him.

This fixed Mr. Bidgely is now a tower of strength in the slums, and his wife is his indefatigable assistant.

UNVEILING OF HONOR ROLL

The unveiling of a large honor roll with 37 names of Salvation Army barracksmen, soldiers and adherents was conducted at the S. A. citadel in this city last night. Several S. A. officers including Capt. and Mrs. Rennof of Trenton, Capt. Kitt and Lieut. York of were present. Adjt. Trickey, who had charge of the proceedings called upon Lieut. Fedderman to give out and open this service with a rousing song. The speakers were Mr. Ruston of the Children's Aid Society, who spoke of the men who were doing their "bit." Adjt. A. Ritchie spoke of the "heroes at Home, the mothers, daughters, wives and sisters." The two small sons of the last named officer sang sweetly "The Call of the Motherland." Mrs. M. Parks gave a suitable recitation and Capt. and Mrs. Rennof sang a duet. A number of military men were to have been present, but were out of the city. Trdh. Trickey referred to the fact that the Salvation Army now had 163 huts at the front, 29 chaplains in active service, and 32 motor ambulances. It will be interesting to the public to know also that there are 48 hostels for soldiers, 200 rest rooms on all fronts, 15 naval and military homes, 40 communal kitchens and 704 war service wkr. It was stated that the secretary appointed locally, to write the men regularly (Miss M. Parks) had written in last year over 200 letters. The Adjutant informed those present that there was a possibility of a leading Toronto S. A. Band of 35 musicians(a number of them retarned men) would stop off to hold a couple large musical festivals in Belleville on Dominion Day. Full particulars would be made later. As Miss M. H. Palmer, well known for her patriotic work, unveiled the roll the audience sang the National Anthem A splendid tribute was paid by Miss Palkiner to the men who had gone and the two men who had paid the supreme sacrifice. After stirring address made a marked impression. The citadel was tastefully decorated with flags and flowers, also several large framed photographs of the "boys." Capt. Harrison closed with the benediction.

Converted Car To His Own Use

Before Police Magistrate Masson this morning Frederick McTaggart a young man who was charged that he did on May 22nd 1918, unlawfully and fraudulently and without color of right convert to his own use one automobile the property of Charles J. Rowell with intention to deprive the said Chas. J. Rowell temporarily or absolutely of such auto.

To the indictment the young chauffer pleaded guilty. As Mr. Rowell did not desire to be vindictive in the matter, but simply to teach drivers of cars that they cannot use them as they desire for their personal pleasure, The Magistrate did not impose a sentence but allowed McTaggart his liberty upon entering into a bond to keep the peace and be of good behavior for twelve months. In the course of the case in this manner, Magistrate Masson pointed out to the accused that he had no right whatever to take the car in the manner that he did and that he was liable to a sentence of two years in the penitentiary but owing to his youth and intervention on his behalf he would allow him to go upon signing a bond of $100 to keep the peace and be of good behaviour. His Worship also advised the young man to govern himself in the future. Mr. Carnew for Crown and Mr. F. E. O'Flynn for the accused.

Ontario Dept. Of Agriculture On Crop Conditions

The following is a summary of reports made by Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture of conditions at May 20, 1918:—

Reports are practically unanimous regarding the excellent condition of spring grains. Sowing conditions were ideal, and the fields never looked better at date.

A large acreage of potatoes, sugar beets and mangels has already been put in. In Essex corn planting is at its height, and preparations are being made for an extra large area. Early tomatoes are also being set out.

Fall wheat will now do well if it averages 30 per cent. of an average yield per acre. While improvement is noted here and there owing to the remarkably favorable weather, other reports state that some farmers will get very little more than their seed back.

Clover, on the other hand, is spoken of generally as a most promising crop, poor fields being the exception. Old meadows are not doing so well as new seedings.

Orchards are showing a profusion of blossom, and should fruits also bear heavy rains keep off during the period of bloom heavy fruit crops may be looked for.

Live stock are improving on pastute, as the grass has come along fast during the last week or two. Choice beef animals are bringing as high as 16c. a lb., although some cattle sales are quoted as low as 12c. Dairy cows are selling at from $100 to $125. Friday was cattle day in Forest, and about 600 cattle were lifted in that vicinity.

Milk production is now well up to the average for the season. The Lambton Creamery Co., Petrolea, is reported to be producing from six to ten tons of butter a week.

Hogs are coming to market generally light at from $19.50 to $20.50 per cwt. Small pigs from four to six weeks old are in great demand at from $12 to $15 a pair.

Sheep are steadily increasing in favor.

Fodder supplies are holding out well generally, although owing to shortage some have had to turn their stock too early upon pasture. There is plenty of hay and straw on hand, but grain is scarce with most farmers. Ensilage has been carefully husbanded and was never more appreciated.

The favorable weather is operating to the best advantage, and it has enabled many of them to overcome in large measure the great scarcity of experienced help.

Flag Raising Ceremony At Childrens Shelter

There were a goodly number of friends and passers by present yesterday afternoon at the Children's Aid Shelter building on Dundas Street when a handsome flag the gift of the I. O. D. E. members of this city to the shelter was raised by Mrs. Thomas Ritchie.

Mrs. Wallbridge presented the flag to Mr. A. E. Bailey the President of the Children's Aid Society on behalf of the I. O. D. E. who in a few well chosen words accepted it on behalf of the society.

Amongst those present representing the different chapters of the I.O.D.E. was Mrs. Dr. McCull, Mrs. D. M. Waters, Mrs. Dr. Dolan, and others. The members of the board of the C. A. S. was Mr. E. R. McBride vice; Pres. Mr. Mott, Mrs. Chadwick, Mrs. H. Cooke, Mrs. A. E. Bailey, Mrs. W. S. Cook and others. The children entertained the company by singing several patriotic songs in a very pleasing manner and as the flag was being raised they saluted, after which the I.O.D.E. entertained the children to ice cream and fruit. Tea was served on the lawn after which games and races were enjoyed and a very pleasant time thoroughly to a close by the bitting off of fireworks. It was indeed very encouraging to the Management Board to hear the very favourable comment on the healthy and happy appearance of the children and the splendid condition of the shelter everything beautiful and clean.

Next to its unique flavor, the great economy of Salada Tea has been the reason for its enormous sale.

AUCTION SALE

In compliance with the recent government requirements dating April 30th, 1918, as to tax applied to Jewellers, also the peculiar situation created by war conditions, taking stock May 1st, we find our Silverware, Cut Glass and sundry departments are very largely overstocked, this stock running between $8,000.00 and $10,000.00. This is too much. Therefore we will have a special auction sale (which is the Jeweller's method of stock reduction) commencing Saturday evening, May 25th, 8 o'clock. This sale will apply to all goods in the store, though we particularly want you to furnish your home with Cut Glass and Silver.

Mr. J. L. Palmer, the local auctioneer, has been engaged to conduct this sale, and we are sure with your co-operation, Mr. Palmer's and ourselves, no one will make a purchase, be it 25c. or $25.00, but the value will so appeal to them they will come back for more and bring their friends.

The policy of this sale must be "value and assurance," which has always been the policy of "The Blackburn" business.

On Saturday evening (the opening sale) a Silver Tea Service will be given away.

Sale days will be Tuesday afternoon and evening and thereafter, omitting Monday, until Saturday, Wednesday and Saturday afternoons excepted.

SWAIZEMA CURES ECZEMA

Electrical treatment and other so called remedies failed to cure this case. Then she tried Swaizema. Read the letter:—

"Being troubled with eczema on my forehead for over eight years, I tried several remedies which did me no good, also tried electrica treatment, I stopped the electrical tritment and began with Swaizema. On mile I I saw very great improvement the first week, the redness almost entirely disappeared. I continued taking Swaizema, which, when I had taken the fourth bottle was entirely cured. I am well pleor ed and will recommend it to others suffering from eczema.

Finally, I decided to try "Fruit-a-tives". Before I had used half a box, I noticed an improvement, and by the time I had taken seven, the swelling started to go down.

I continued taking this fruit medicine, improving all the time, and now I can walk about two miles and do light chores about the place".

Motor Tourists Head For Ontario

"Indications show that there will be a great many American motorists coming to Canada this season," said Mr. W. G. Robertson, the secretary of the Ontario Motor League. "We have received many enquiries from American motor clubs, especially about the Muskoka district.

"Fortunately on account of the dry weather we are in as good condition now as they ordinarily are in July."

Mr. Robertson thinks that when the war is over a high-class road should be built into that district. "It would be a great attraction for every short time," said Mr. Robertson. "People do not realize the fact that scenic spots within a few hours' motor run are as much an asset to the country as a manufacturing centre.

"The motor tourist spends as much as the man who will give conscientious, strictly first class workmanship, constant with rock bottom prices. Thanking my friends and customers for their past favors I earnestly recommend them to the service of Mr. Delaney.

Yours gratefully,

Gone Forever.

In the meantime, what has become of the old fashioned man who gave away all the pennies he received to children?

Thought for Day.

There are in the world few things that are worth having.

Nature is Outwitted.

The man who invented the sewing machine should wake up, if he can after when he stopped trying to imitate the human hand. If he can't he is a fatuity yes will see machines doing things which only human skill could do but in short order. Then the processes are quite different from the manual methods. The inventors have then superior to the formulas that nature would seem to have laid down for them.

Natural Gas.

Natural gas is probably formed in the earth by a process of natural distillation from the animal and vegetable remains of past geological epochs, and is nearly the same product as is distilled from coal in the retorts of gas factories, only instead of the heat of fires the internal heat of the earth, aided perhaps by chemical decomposition, has caused the formation on a magnificent scale.

The Most Artistic Roof

is the one that completely harmonizes with the design and finishing of the house. For this reason there is a steadily increasing demand for Brantford Asphalt Slates for the modern style of homes.

Brantford Asphalt Slates have a surface of crushed slate embedded into our asphalt coating, the base of the roofing being felt saturated with asphalt. They are cut the size of shingles, and their beautiful soft colors of reddish brown and dark green give a roof a most artistic appearance. The colors are the natural shades of the slate as it comes out of the quarries. Brantford Asphalt Slates are, therefore, unfadeable —never require painting.

Brantford Asphalt Slates

are accurate in size and pliable, which makes them very easily handled and quickly laid, saving time and labor, and therefore costing less to lay.

Brantford Asphalt Slates make an artistic, durable and economical roof. Booklet describing them mailed on request.

The Son of Tarzan

By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Copyright by Frank A. Munsey Co.

"Ah," thought Akut, "the Killer has taken a mate." And so, obedient to the tribal laws of his kind, he left them alone, becoming suddenly absorbed in a fussy caterpillar of peculiarly succulent appearance.

The larva disposed of, he glanced from the corner of an eye at Korak. The youth had deposited his burden upon a large limb, where she clung desperately to keep from falling.

"She will accompany us," said Korak to Akut, jerking a thumb in the direction of the girl. "Do not harm her. We will protect her."

Akut shrugged. To be burdened by the young of man was in no way to his liking. He could see from her evident fright at her position on the branch and from the terrified glances she cast in his direction that she was hopelessly unfit.

By all the ethics of Akut's training and inheritance the unfit should be eliminated, but if the Killer wished this she there was nothing to be done about it but to tolerate her.

Meriem spent an evening and a night of unmitigated terror.

CHAPTER VIII.

Korak and Meriem.

FOR many months the strange life of the three went on unmarked by any unusual occurrences—at least without any occurrences that seemed unusual to the youth of the ape—but to the little girl it was a constant nightmare of horrors for days and weeks until she, too, became accustomed to gazing into the eyeless sockets of death and to the feel of the icy wind of his shrouding mantle.

Slowly she learned the rudiments of the only common medium of thought exchange which her companions possessed—the language of the great apes. More quickly she perfected herself in jungle craft, so that the time soon came when she was an important factor in the chase, watching with the others aleph of helping them to trace the spoor of whatever prey they might be stalking.

Akut accepted her on a footing which bordered upon equality when it was necessary for them to come into close contact, but for the most part he avoided her. The youth always was kind to her, and if there were many occasions upon which he felt the burden of her presence he hid it from her.

Finding that the night damp and chill caused her discomfort and even suffering, Korak constructed a tight little shelter high among the swaying branches of a giant tree. Here little Meriem slept in comparative warmth and safety, while the Killer and the ape perched upon nearby branches, the former always before the entrance to the lofty domicile, where he best could guard its tenants from the dangers of arboreal enemies.

After the construction of the shelter the activities of the three became localized. They ranged less widely, for there was always the necessity of returning to their own tree at nightfall.

A river flowed near by. Game and fruit were plentiful, as were fish also. Existence had settled down to the daily humdrum of the wild—the search for food and the sleeping upon full bellies. They looked no further ahead than today.

If the youth thought of his past and of those who longed for him in the distant metropolis it was in a detached and impersonal sort of way, as though that other life belonged to another creature than himself. He had given up hope of returning to civilization, for, since his various rebuffs at the hands of those to whom he had looked for friendship, he had wandered so far inland as to realize that he was completely lost in the mazes of the jungle.

Then, too, since the coming of Meriem he had found in her that one thing which he had most missed before in his savage jungle life—human companionship.

The little girl idolized him, as she might have idolized an indulgent brother had she had one. Love was a thing unknown to either. But as the youth neared manhood it was inevitable that it should come to him, as it did, to every other savage jungle male.

As Meriem became proficient in their common language the pleasures of their companionship grew correspondingly, for now they could converse, and aided by the mental powers of their human heritage, they amplified the restricted vocabulary of the apes until talking was transformed from a task into an enjoyable pastime.

When Korak hunted Meriem usually accompanied him, for she had learned the fine art of silence when silence was desirable. She could pass through the branches of the great trees now with all the agility and stealth of the Killer himself. Great heights no longer appalled her. She swung from limb to limb, or she raced through the mighty branches, sure footed, lithe and fearless. Korak was very proud of her, and even old Akut grunted in approval where before he had growled in contempt.

A distant village of blacks had furnished her with a mantle of her soft feathers, with copper ornaments and weapons, for Korak would not permit her to go unarmed or unclad in the use of the weapons he stood for her. A light spear and a long knife were her weapons of offense or defense.

Her body, resulting into the fullness of an early maturity, followed the lines of a Greek goddess; but there the similarity ceased, for her face was beautiful.

As she grew more accustomed to the jungle and the ways of its wild denizens fear left her. As time wore on she even hunted alone when Korak and Akut were prowling at a great distance, as they were sometimes forced to do when game was scarce in their immediate vicinity. Upon these occasions she usually confined her endeavors to the smaller animals, though sometimes she brought down a deer and once even Horta, the boar, a great tusker that made Korak and even Sheeta think twice before attacking him.

After Korak had left the village of the blacks following his last thieving visit there the women and children had brought the warriors in from the forest and the fields. Great was the excitement and hot was the rage of the men when they learned that the white devil had again entered their homes, frightened their women and stolen armlets and ornaments and food.

Even their superstitious fear of this weird creature who hunted with a huge bull ape was overcome in their desire to wreak vengeance upon him and rid themselves for good and all of the menace of his presence in the jungle.

And so it was that a score of the fleetest and most doughty warriors of the tribe set out in pursuit of Korak and Akut but a few minutes after they had left the scene of the Killer's many depredations.

The little party of warriors was led by Kerchak, the chief, a middle aged savage of exceptional cunning and ferocity. It was he who first came within sight of the quarry which they had followed for hours by the unfailing methods of their almost uncanny powers of observation, intuition and even scent.

The white youth and the white maid stood alone in the jungle when they were discovered by Korak-no's band. Akut had been made king of his ape tribe, and Korak, to Akut's sorrow, had left him to dwell with Meriem in the jungle. One of Kerchak's men leaned close to the ear of his chief.

"Look!" he whispered and pointed to something that dangled at the girl's side. "When my brother and I were slaves in the village of the blacks my brother made that thing for the sheik's little daughter. She played with it as a toy and called it after my brother, whose name is Geeka. Just before we escaped some one came and struck down the sheik, stealing his daughter also. If this is she the sheik will pay you well for her return."

Korak's arm had gone around the shoulders of Meriem. And then from behind him broke a hideous bedlam of savage war cries, and a score of painted, leaping blacks were upon them.

Korak turned to give battle. Meriem would be over upon the spear stood by his side. An avalanche of barbed missiles flew about them. One pierced the girl's shoulder, another his leg, and he went down.

Meriem was unscathed, for the blacks had intentionally spared her. Now they rushed forward to finish Korak and make good the girl's capture. But as they came there came also from the other point in the jungle the great Akut and at his heels the huge bulls of his ape kingdom.

Snarling and roaring, they rushed upon the blacks, warriors who had saw the mischief they had already wrought. Kerchak, realizing the danger of coming to close quarters with these mighty ape men, seized Meriem and called to his warriors to retreat.

For a time the apes followed them, and several of the blacks were killed, mauled and one killed before they succeeded in escaping. Nor would they have got off one easily had Akut not been more concerned with the condition of the wounded Korak than with the fate of the girl upon whom he had always looked as more or less of an intruder and a most unwelcome burden.

Korak lay bleeding and unconscious when Akut reached his side. The great ape took the heavy spears from his dead, licked the wounds and then carried Korak to the lofty shelter in the tree that Korak had constructed for Meriem. Further than this the beast could do nothing. Nature must accomplish the rest unaided or Korak must die.

He did not die, however. For days he lay helpless with fever, while Akut and the apes hunted close by that they might protect him from such beasts as might scent his lofty retreat. Occasionally Akut brought him juicy fruits which helped to allay his thirst and allay his fever, and little by little the powerful constitution overcame the effects of the spear thrusts. The wounds healed and his strength returned.

All during his rational moments as he lay with upon the soft fern which lined Meriem's nest he had suffered more acutely from fears for Meriem than from the pain of his own wounds. For her he must live—for her he must

THERE'S a lot of geography in the wear of tires. Some wear well in one region, and wear out in another. Climate, peculiar roads and road conditions are the abuse of it. Therefore, good service in a single region is not enough proof of tires that must undergo nationwide use. Least of all could it measure tires up to the TESTED standard, Goodrich demands of tires.

With a command to find out what Goodrich Tires do on the roads of every section of our country, and what the roads of every section do to Goodrich Tires, Goodrich sent its famous Six Fleets of over forty cars, light and heavy, the length and breadth of our nation to an aggregate mileage of 1,044,656 linear miles, and 4,178,744 tire miles.

was in his strength that he might set out in search of her. But it was many a day before strength returned to him.

* * * * * * *

Meriem, bound and under heavy guard in Kovudoo's own hut, had no doubt but that Korak would come back and still less that he would easily free her.

So now as she lay waiting for him she dreamed of him and of all that he meant to her. She compared him with the sheik, her father, and at the thought of the stern, cruel old Arab she shuddered. Even the savage blacks had been less harsh to her than he.

Not understanding their tongue, she could not guess what purpose they had in keeping her a prisoner. She knew that man ate man, and she had expected to be eaten, but she had been with them for some time now, and no harm had befallen her.

She did not know that a runner had been dispatched to the distant village of the sheik to barter with him for a ransom. She did not know, nor did Kovudoo, that the runner had never reached his destination; that he had fallen in with the safari of Jeanne and Malbihn and with the talkative boss of a native to other natives had unfolded his whole mission to the black servants of the two Swedes. These had not been long in retailing the matter to their masters, and the result was that when the runner left their camp to continue his journey he had scarce passed from sight before there came the report of a rifle, and he rolled lifeless into the underbrush with a bullet hole in his back.

A few moments later Malbihn strolled back into the encampment, where he went to some pains to let it be known that he had had a shot at a fine buck and missed. The Swedes knew that their men hated them and that an overt act against Kovudoo would quickly be carried to the chief at the first opportunity. Nor were they sufficiently strong in either guns or loyal followers to risk antagonizing the wily old chief.

The next day the Swedes set out for Kovudoo's village, bent on securing possession of the person of the white girl whom Kovudoo's runner had told them lay captive in the chief's village. How they were to accomplish their end they did not know. Force was out of the question, though they would not have hesitated to use it had they possessed it.

In former years they had marched roughshod over enormous areas, taking toll by brute force even when kindliness or diplomacy would have accomplished more. But now they were in bad straits—so bad that they had not shown their true colors scarce twice in a year, and then only when they came upon an isolated weak village.

Kovudoo was not of these, and, though his village was in a way remote from the more populous district to the north, his power was such that he maintained an acknowledged ascendancy over the thin thread of villages which connected him with the savage lords to the north.

To have antagonized him would have spelled ruin for the Swedes. It would have meant that they might never reach civilization by the northern route. To the west the villages of the sheik lay directly in their path, barring them effectually. To the east the trail was unknown to them, and to the south there was no trail.

CHAPTER IX.

When Thieves Fall Out.

SO the two Swedes approached the village of Kovudoo with friendly words upon their tongues and deep craft in their hearts.

Their plans were well made. There was no mention of the white prisoner. They chose to pretend that they were not aware that Kovudoo had a white prisoner. They exchanged gifts with the old chief, bargling with his pleni-potentiaries over the value of what they were to receive for what they gave, as is customary and proper when one has no ulterior motives. Unwarranted generosity would have aroused suspicion.

During the palaver which followed they retailed the gossip of the villages through which they had passed, receiving in exchange such news as Kovudoo possessed. The palaver was long and tiresome, as these native ceremonies always are to Europeans. Kovudoo made no mention of his prisoner, and from his generous offers of guides and presents seemed anxious to assure himself of the speedy departure of his guests.

It was Malbihn who, quite casually, near the close of their talk, mentioned the fact that the sheik was dead. Kovudoo showed interest and surprise.

"You did not know it?" asked Malbihn. "That is strange. It was during the last moon. He fell from his horse when the beast stepped in a hole. The horse fell upon him. When the men came up the sheik was quite dead."

Kovudoo scratched his head. He was much disappointed. No sheik meant no ransom for the white girl.

"I know where there is a white girl," he said unexpectedly. "If you wish to buy her she may be had cheap."

Malbihn shrugged. "We have trouble enough, Kovudoo," he said, "without burdening ourselves with an old, broken down she hyena, and as for paying for one"—Malbihn snapped his fingers—"she is young," said Kovudoo, "and good looking."

The Swede laughed. "There are no good looking white women in the jungle, Kovudoo," said Jeanne. "You should be ashamed to try to make fun of old friends."

Kovudoo sprang to his feet. "Come," he said, "I will show you."

Malbihn and Jeanne rose to follow him, and as they did so their eyes met, and Malbihn slowly dropped one of his lids in a sly wink. Together they followed Kovudoo toward his hut. In the dim interior they discovered the figure of a woman lying bound upon a sleeping mat.

Malbihn took a single glance and turned away. "She must be a thousand years old, Kovudoo," he said as he left the hut.

"She is young!" cried the savage. "It is dark in here. You cannot see. Wait. I will have her brought out in the sunlight." And he commanded the two warriors who watched the girl to

The Quality Goes Clear Through

For Average Roads

The boulevard is the motor car-manufacturer's paradise. But the average road too often is his undoing.

We cannot always ride on boulevards, but we can build to the grim exactions of the average road, and be sure the boulevard will not find us wanting. Gray-Dort has done just that—built this car to the average road.

The Gray-Dort motor is amply powerful for the load it carries. It is quiet, smooth, simple. It does not get out of order. It gives long service. The Gray-Dort chassis is extra strong, extra safe. Every part is co-ordinated to the highest degree. Each does its work quietly; unnoticed, but efficient and reliable. Gray-Dort design and Gray-Dort coach-building have added great comfort to the performance of this car. All this you get in a thrifty car, a car of low upkeep and of low first cost.

And the result of it all is the Gray-Dort as you can buy it today—a better car, built to the average road and able to serve well there; a high car of unusual quality and brimming with value.

The new Gray-Dort embodies all the good features that won instant success for former models. The 3-cylinder motor is a triumph of economic economy of speed and power. The chassis is sturdy and quiet. The springs are long. The upholstery is deep. The equipment is absolutely complete from electric starting and lighting to the tools. New lines of beauty have been given this year.

The five-passenger touring car is $1,125; the three-passenger close-de-lux roadster is $1095; the Gray-Dort special, beautifully finished and with extra details of equipment, is $1265 above the list. All prices are f.o.b. Chatham.

cut the bonds from her ankles and laid her forth for inspection.

Malthin and Jessen evinced no eagerness, though both were fairly bursting with it, not to see the girl, but to obtain possession of her. They feared not if she had the face of a monster or the figure of not bullied Nubian blended. All that they wished to know was that she was the girl who had been stolen from the shiftless years before. They thought that they would recognize her each if she were indeed the same. But even so, the testimony of the runner Kovudo had sent in the shaft was such as to assure them that the girl was the one they had come before attempted to abduct.

As Meriem was brought forth from the darkness of the hut's interior the two men turned, with every appearance of disinterestedness, to glance at her. It was with difficulty that Malthin suppressed an ejaculation of astonishment. The girl's beauty fairly took his breath from him. But the steadily he recovered his poise and turned to Kovudo.

"Well?" he said to the old chief.

"Is she not both young and good looking?" asked Kovudo.

"She is not old," replied Malthin. "But, even so, she will be a burden. We did not come from the north after wives. There are more than enough there for us."

Meriem stood looking straight at the white man. She expected nothing from them—they were to her as such...one mine as the black man. She hated and feared them all. Malthin spoke to her in Arabic.

"We are friends," he said. "Would you like to have us take you away from here?"

Slowly and dimly, as though from a great distance, recollection of the once familiar tongue returned to her.

"I should like to go free," she said, "and go back to Korak."

"You could like to go with us?" persisted Malthin.

"No," said Meriem.

Malthin turned to Kovudo. "She does not wish to go with us," he said.

"Yes, she does," returned the black. "Can you not take her by force?"

"It would only add to our troubles," replied the Swede. "No, Kovudo, we do not wish her, though, if you wish to be rid of her, we will take her away because of our friendship for you."

Now, Kovudo knew that he had made a sale. They wanted her. So he commenced to bargain, and in time and the person of Meriem passed from the possession of the black chieftain into that of the two Swedes in consideration of six yards of Amerikan, three snapp three cartridge shells and a shiny new Jackknife from New Jersey.

And all but Meriem were more than pleased with the bargain.

Kovudo stipulated but a single condition, and that was that the Europeans were to leave his village and take the girl with them as early the next morning as they could get started. After the sale he did not hesitate to explain his reasons for this demand. He told them of the strenuous attempt of the girl's savage mate to rescue her and suggested that the sooner they got her out of the country the safer both they were to retain possession of her.

Meriem was again bound and placed under guard, but this time in the tent of the Swedes. Malthin talked to her, trying to persuade her to accompany them willingly. He told her that they would return her to her own village, but when he discovered that she would rather die than go back to the old shift he assured her that they would not force her to do so, as a matter of fact, had they any intention of so doing.

All that night Meriem lay listening for a signal from Korak. All about the jungle life moved through the darkness. To her sensitive ears came sounds that the others in the camp could not hear, sounds that she interpreted as we might interpret the speech of a friend, but not once could a single note that betokened the presence of Korak. But she knew that he would come. Nothing short of death itself could prevent her Korak from coming for her.

What delayed him, though?

When morning came again and the night had brought no succoring Korak Meriem's faith and loyalty were still unshaken, though misgivings began to assail her as to the safety of her friend. It seemed unbelievable that serious mishap could have overtaken her wonderful Korak, who daily passed unscathed through all the terrors of the jungle. Yet morning came, the morning meal was eaten, the camp broken, and the disreputable safari of the Swedes was again on the move northward with still no sign of the rescue by Korak the girl momentarily expected.

All that day they marched and the next and the next. Nor did Korak's even so much as show himself to the patient little warior moving silent and stately, beside her fiend captors.

It was on the eighth day that Meriem began definitely to give up hope. Something had happened to Korak. She knew it. He would come—then now, and then—but would take her away. Presently they would kill him. He would never see her Korak again.

On this day the Swedes noticed that they had marched rapidly and their men were tired. Malthin and Jessen had grown cross and irritable. The bush lifted and Malthin realized that his portentions are good to the grit.

Out in the jungle Jessen had brought down two bucks. His hunting had not carried him far afield, nor was he prone to permit it to do so. He was suspicious of Malthin. The two knew that his companionship refused to accompany him and elected instead to hunt alone in another direction would not, under ordinary circumstances, have seemed strange, but this latter circumstance, put Jessen knew Malthin well, and, so, having secured meat, he turned immediately back toward camp, while his boys brought in his kill.

He had covered about half the return journey when a scream came to him from the direction of camp. He halted to listen. It was repeated twice. Then silence.

With a muttered curse Jessen broke into a rapid run. What a fool Malthin was, indeed, thus to chance jeopardizing a fortune!

Further away from camp than Jessen and upon the opposite side another heard Meriem's scream—a strange ape who was not even aware of the proximity of white men, either to him himself, a hunter with a handful of black, black warriors.

He, too, listened intently for a moment. That the voice was that of a woman in distress he could not doubt, and so he also hastened at a run in the direction of the affrighted voice, but he was much farther away than Jessen, so that the latter reached the tent first.

What the Swede found there roused no pity within his calloused heart, only anger against his fellow scoundrel. Meriem was fighting off her attacker. Malthin was shortening his grip upon her.

Jessen, streaming foul curses upon his erstwhile friend, burst into the tent. Malthin, interrupted, dropped his victim and turned to meet Jessen's infuriated charge.

He whipped a revolver from his hip. Jessen, anticipating the lightning, "I shoot this time, and I shoot more of the other's," he said, "for almost immediately, and both men fired at once.

Jessen was still moving toward Malthin at the time, but at the flash of the explosion he stopped. His revolver dropped from nerveless fingers. For a moment he staggered drunkenly. Dallying Malthin put two more bullets into his friend's body at close range.

Even in the midst of the excitement and her terror Meriem found herself wondering at the ferocity of life which the bit man displayed. His eyes were closed, his head dropped forward upon his breast, his hands hung limply before him. Yet still he stood there upon his feet, though he reeled horribly.

It was not until the third bullet had found its mark within his body that he lunged forward upon his face. Then Malthin approached him and, with an oath, kicked him viciously. Then he turned once more to Meriem.

At the same instant the flaps of the tent were pushed aside and a tall white man stood in the aperture. Neither Meriem or Malthin saw the newcomer. The latter's back was toward him, while his body hid the stranger from Meriem's sight.

He crossed the tent quickly, stepping over Jessen's body. The first intimation Malthin had was a heavy hand upon his shoulder.

He wheeled to face an utter stranger, a tall, black haired, gray eyed stranger, clad in khaki and pith helmet. Malthin reached for his gun again, but another hand had been quicker than his, and he saw the weapon passed to the ground at the side of the tent—out of reach.

"What is the meaning of this?" The stranger addressed his question to Meriem in a tongue she did not understand. She shook her head and spoke in Arabic. Instantly the man changed his question to that language.

"Whose men are taking me away from Korak," panted the girl. "This one and the one who is dead. The other, whom he has just killed, tried to stop

Twelve Tire Tests No. 3

This series of twelve tests is designed to help the motoring public get more for their tire buying.

Traction-Surface

A non-skid tread, made up of comparatively small projections, cannot resist wear as well as a tire having a broad, flat traction-surface.

In considering the merits of various non-skids, determine how large a surface comes in actual contact with the road.

To do this, lay a piece of wire screen over one unit of the tread, comparing the number of squares that touch the raised portion with the number that cover the portion not raised.

In the Michelin Universal, for example, three-quarters of the entire non-skid tread comes in contact with the road, thus forming a broad, flat traction-surface that means extra service.

Yet Michelin Tires are not high priced.

ATTENTION! Sick Women

To do your duty during these trying times, your health should be your first consideration. These two women tell how they found health.

Holland, Pa.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles and a displacement. I felt all run down and was very weak; had been treated by a physician without results, so decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial, and felt better right away. I am feeling home since last April and doing all my housework, where before I was unable to do any work. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is certainly the best medicine a woman can take when in this condition. I give you permission to publish this letter."—Mrs. R. B. CROMLISH, R. No. 1, Holland, Pa.

Lowell, Mich.—"I suffered from cramps and dragging down pains, was irregular and had female weakness and displacement. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which gave me relief at once and restored my health. I should like to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's remedies to all suffering women who are troubled in a similar way."—Mrs. ELSIE HEIM, R. No. 6, Box 28, Lowell, Mich.

him. They were both very bad men, but this one is the worse. If my Korak were here he would kill him. I suppose you are his friend, then you will not kill him."

The stranger smiled. "He deserves killing," he said. "There is no doubt of that. Once I should have killed him, but not now. I will not kill him. I will be done not bother you any more."

He was holding Malbihn in a grasp the giant Swede could not break, though he struggled to do so, and he was holding him so easily as Malbihn might have held a little child, yet Malbihn was by no means a mightily developed man. The Swede began to rage and curse. He uttered all the oaths, only to be retorted about and held at arms' length. Then he shouted to his boys to come and kill the stranger.

In response a dozen strange blacks entered the tent. They, too, were powerful, clean limbed men, not at all like the mangy crew that followed the Swede.

"We have had enough foolishness," said the stranger to Malbihn. "You do not serve death, but I am not the law. I know now who you are. I have heard of you before. You and your friend bear a most unsavory reputation. We do not want you in our country. I shall let you go this time, but should you ever return I shall take the law into my own hands. Now get out, and next time you see me remember who I am," and he spoke a name in the Swede's ear—a name that more effectually smothered the recorded thus many beatings. Then he gave him a push that carried him bodily through the tent doorway, to sprawl upon the turf beyond.

"Now," he said, turning toward Meriem, "who has the key to this thing about your neck?"

The girl pointed to Jemsen's body. "He carried it always," she said.

The stranger searched the clothing on the corpse until he came upon the key. A moment more Meriem was free.

"Will you let me go back to my Korak?" she asked.

"I will see that you are returned to your people," the stranger replied. "Who are they, and where is their village?"

He had been eyeing her strange, barbaric garmenture wonderingly. From her speech she was evidently an Arab girl, but his keen eyes had seen the gold disc clothed.

"Who are your people? Who is Korak?" he asked again.

"Korak! Why, Korak is an ape," she replied impatiently. "Korak and I live in the jungle alone since A'ht went to be king of the apes," and always thus pronounced Akut's name, for so'ht had sounded to her when first she came with Korak and the ape.

A questioning expression entered the stranger's eyes. He looked at the girl closely.

"So Korak is an ape?" he said. "And what you, are you?"

"I am Meriem. I also am an ape, A'ht," was the strangest only oral comment upon this startling announcement. But what he thought might have been partially interpreted through the pitying light that entered his eyes. He appeared to be thinking, and started to lay his hand upon her forehead. She drew back with a little angry growl, and a smile touched his lips.

"You need not fear me," he said. "I shall not hurt you. I only wish to discover if you have fever—if you are entirely well, for I am a man who will set forth in search of Korak."

CHAPTER X.
Korak's Vengeance.

MERIEM looked straight into the keen gray eyes. She must have found there an unquestionable assurance of the benevolence of their owner, for she permitted him to lay his palm upon her forehead and feel her pulse. Apparently she had no fever.

"How long have you been an ape?" asked the man.

"Since I was a little girl, many, many years ago, and Korak came and took me from my father, who was beating me. Since then I have lived in the trees with Korak and A'ht."

"Where in the jungle lives Korak?" asked the stranger.

Meriem pointed with a sweep of her hand, that took in, generally, half the continent of Africa.

"Could you find your way back to him?"

"I do not know," she replied, "but he will find his way to me."

"Then I have a plan," said the stranger, "I live but a few marches from here. I shall take you home, where my wife will look after you and care for you, and then I will seek out Korak and find him. If we could find you before, he can find you at my village, is it not so?"

Meriem thought that it was so, but she did not like the idea of not starting immediately back to meet Korak. On the other hand the man had no intention of permitting this poor, ignorant child to return to the dangers of the jungle. Whence she had come or what her fate, he could not even guess, but that her Korak and their life among the apes was but a temporary thing he was assured, he could not doubt.

He knew the jungle well, and he knew that men had lived alone and naked among the savage beasts for years, but it is dull and slender gift. No, it was not possible.

Together they went outside. Malbihn's boys were striking camp in preparation for the hasty departure. The stranger's blacks were conversing with them. Malbihn stood at a distance, angry and glowering.

The stranger approached one of his own men.

"Find out where they got this girl," he commanded.

The negro thus addressed questioned one of Malbihn's followers. Presently he returned to his master.

"They bought her from old Kor-ulon," he said. "That is all that this fellow will tell me. He pretends that he knows nothing more, and I think that he does not. Those two white men were very bad men. They did many things that their boys knew not the meanings of. It would be well, Bwana, to kill the other."

"I wish that I might, but a new law has come into the ways of the jungle. It is not as it was in the old days, Mugiri," replied the master.

The stranger remained until Malbihn and his safari had disappeared into the jungle toward the south. Meriem, tearful now, stood at his side. Gosha Tembo, his ape, kept close by.

They talked together, the man wondering at the faltering Arabic of the girl, suffering from disuse, and her defective mentality. Could he have known their years had counted more she had used it until she was taken by the Swedes, he would not have wondered that she had forgotten it.

There was yet another reason why the language of the world had thus readily eluded her, but of that reason she herself could not have guessed the truth any better than did the man.

He tried to persuade her to return with him to his "village," as he called it, or "douar" in Arabic, but she was insistent upon searching immediately for Korak. As a last resort he determined to take her with him by force rather than interfere by life in the case hallucination which haunted her. But, being a strong man, he determined to humor her first and then attempt to lead her as he would have her go.

So when they took up their march it was in the direction of the south, though his own ranch lay almost due east.

By degrees he turned the direction of their way more and more eastward, and greatly was he pleased to note that the girl failed to discover that any change was being made.

Little by little she became more trusting. At first she had had but her intuition to guide her better that the big Tarmangani meant her no harm, but as the days passed and she saw that his kindness and consideration never faltered, she came to compare him with her Korak and to her profound of him, but never did her loyalty to her ape man flag.

On the fifth day they came suddenly upon a great plain, and from the edge of the forest the girl saw in the distance fenced fields and many buildings. At the sight she drew back in astonishment.

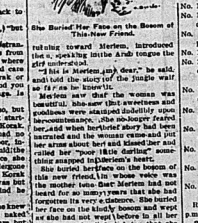

"Where are we?" she asked, pointing. "We could not have traveled before the man, 'and as our way led near my douar I have brought you here to wait and rest with my wife until my men can find your ape or be finds you. It is better this, little one, for you will be safer with us and you will be happier."

"Korak is lonely," she said, "he will search longalow behind which lay the farms and outposts of a well ordered African farm.

Meriem walked on toward the bungalow, where the porch of which a woman, dressed in white, waved a welcome to her returning lord. There was more fear in the girl's eyes now than there had been in the presence of Jemsen's men or savage beasts. She hesitated, turning an appealing glance toward Bwanan.

"That is my wife," he said. "She will be gladto welcome you."

The woman came down the path to meet them. The man shouted her name full into toward Meriem, introduced the girl, speaking little Arab tongue the while.

She Buried Her Face on the Bosom of This New Friend.

"This is Meriem, my dear," he said, "and she has come to live with us and so I'm to be known."

Meriem saw that the woman was beautiful, she saw that sweetness and goodness were stamped indelibly upon her countenance, and she buried her head and when her brief story had been told the woman took Meriem and put her arms about her and kissed her and cried her "poor little darling" something snapped in Meriem's heart.

She buried herface on the bosom of this new friend, the woman was the mother tone that Meriem had not heard for many years that she had forgotten its very existence. She buried her face on the kindly bosom and it was not until she was well before in all her life—tears of relief and joy that she could see Fatima.

And so came Meriem, the savage Bride of Bwanan, out of her wretched jungle into the midst of a house of culture and refinement. Already "Bwana" and "my dear," as each time heard them called and continued to call them, were as father and mother to her.

U. S. Will Send All Men Needed.

NEW YORK, May 21.—President Wilson, who opened the Red Cross drive for a second $100,000,000 war fund at the Metropolitan Opera House Saturday night with a stirring appeal for generous contributions, said incidentally that the United States would not be diverted from its purpose of winning the war by insincere approaches to the rushed for peace.

"I can say with a clear conscience, that I have tested those intentions and have found them insincere, and now recognize them for what they are; an opportunity to have a free hand, and power, if they can get it, to carry out purposes of conquest and exploitation. Every political wish in regard to accommodation in the West involves a dishonorable wish in regard to the East. I intend to stand by Russia as well as 'France.'"

He was cheered when he said that the United States intended to stand by Russia as well as France.

CLUBS FOR THE FARMERS

Outline a Summer Program Now and Have Everything Well Organized—The Club Picnic Is a Very Essential Feature of the Year's Work.

EXTRACTED honey production is the most satisfactory for beginners. Start with three colonies and sufficient equipment and then make the bees pay their way. One colony does not give the beginner an opportunity to right mistakes or make profitable. Three colonies can be managed by devoting one evening weekly to the apiary.

Avoid many troublesome pitfalls by starting with the right hive. The 10 D. Langstroth hive has given the best satisfaction in Ontario. All beekeepers' supply houses carry this hive and its parts in their regular stock. Buy your first hives from a good manufacturer. It is very necessary to have all hive parts interchangeable so that they may be used in any colony in the apiary. Uniformity and accuracy are reasonably alone can ensure this need.

One complete 10 D. Langstroth hive consists of:—

(1) A bottom board.

(2) A hive body with self spacing frames.

(3) A telescoping metal roof cover.

In addition the beginner should provide for each colony one queen excluder, two extra hive-bodies complete with frames, and 1 lb. of medium brood foundation, which runs 6 sheets to the lb., to fill the frames with 4 guide combs of foundation for the future combs.

It is advisable to commence with a 2-lb. package of bees and queen; a swarm or a nucleus. Less danger from disease attends the buying of good packages than the buying of swarms and nuclei. Pound packages may be secured for delivery from May 1st to June 20th. Early packages usually yield a surplus if carefully handled. Enquire of the Provincial Apiarist as to disease in your locality before buying swarms, nuclei or colonies.

The accessory equipment for the beginner should consist of:—

(1) A veil of black bobinet.

(2) A standard bee smoker.

(3) A hive tool.

(4) A spur wheel wire embedder.

(5) An uncapping knife.

(6) An uncapping box.

(7) A complete set of Department literature, Bulletins 212, 232 and 246, and a good reference bee book.

(8) A small honey extractor.

With the exception of Nos. 6, 7 and 8, it is advisable to acquire the materials needed from a supply firm at once. The uncapping box can be made at home, and the beginner could probably co-operate with another beekeeper in securing the use of a extractor. With the increase of colonies to ten, it would then be advisable to provide a storage can to assist in handling the crop.—W. A. Weir, Ontario Agricultural College.

A Successful Farmers' Club.

The history of some farmers' associations in Ontario has been brief and filled with troubles. Others have built upon the rock and have endured. Why the difference?

Perhaps a very short story will explain the former case. A farmers' club, organized by a district representative, got away apparently to a good start, then halted uncertainly and finally died a lingering death from general debility. When asked to explain the reason the representative was non-committal but emphatic.

"The club died because the farmers didn't want it. The members simply hadn't persuaded to join, and but never took any real interest in the meetings or really considered that it was a vital necessity.

"So far I haven't heard any proposal to revive it either, and I don't intend to attempt to inject any artificial stimulation into it. When the farmers in this district are finally "sold" to the idea of the necessity of organization, they will be in a position to do some work."

That explains the first cause of most failures. Artificial stimulation serves to carry an invalid through a dangerous pass, but as a steady diet for a healthy body it is foredoomed to failure. A farmers' association must not be an invalid; when outside stimulation has to be given, it is a safe bet its days are numbered. But, many others have succeeded. Work — doing things — is the secret of their success. They make every member conscious of the value of organization in the community. Their executives are enthusiastic, they have developed progressive policies—and they work to make them successful. And work honestly understood is a wide word. It does not always make a club or association successful if it has the right kind of material to work with.

Take the summer, the club ought not to be allowed to lose its grip. Here about a herd testing association—has your club taken that up yet? Then a district membership drive, a drainage can have surveys made of their fields, purchase lists co-operatively, secure a traction ditcher, and if need be, borrow provincial funds to pay a large part of the cost. Endless ways present themselves to keep every member's association a real force in every month. Above all, don't forget the farmers' picnic—a little fun makes the work more enjoyable.—Justus Miller, Ontario Department of Agriculture.

MARY AND MARTHA.

Canadian Patriots at Home and Abroad.

All Canadians are divided into two camps; those who go to the Front, and those who stay at home. There are no other Canadians. All loyal Canadians are in one or other of these two camps. All patriotic Canadians are doing their duty either in uniform or out of it.

"The man who stays at home, under the present publicity of the revitalised Military Service Act, is doing his war-time duty by his country if he eats potatoes three times a day, cuts out wheat, does essential work though menial, and puts his money into war bonds. By his mouth, by his hands and his pocket, he shall be known.

No brass band parade preceded the trudging of the man-at-home's ill-hone to his work. He has no uniform to cry him up. No esprit de corps binds him to his fellows, except psychically as all are bound by accept psychically as all are bound by the prayer unuttered or expressed to win the war. He must bear, not his duty, and in the light of conscience do it even if it is distasteful. He is lonely and his heart is heavy, for his spirit is in the trenches. Yet he must follow his solitary furrow to the end, and the incentive is not tinctured with glory, but merely with duty.

Prosaic though it may be to talk of potatoes and Johnny Cake, yet these are the humble weapons that must be used to enable the man-who-stays-at-home to walk the chalk line of duty. Every ounce of bread in the place of wheat bread is the wholesome diet. Fish is a perfect substitute for meat and pork products. Buying war bonds, no matter how small a sum, is the best way to finance the food purchases for the allies. Digging in the soil is hard labor, only in producing more food, but also in discipline. It is duty.

These are the tasks the war has set for the man who can't go to the front. How trivial they appear in contrast with the heroic things the man in the trenches has a chance to do! Yet every one of his tasks, if it is not the task but the spirit with which it is done, is vital, counts, when every man has found his place in the scheme of efficiency that will win this war.

Martha was no less helpful than Mary, though her ways were not called to do the same thing.

Mounted Police In Boer War.

The visits to which the R.N.W.M.P. directly contributed during the South African War were made by the Second Battalion, Canadian Mounted Rifles; Lord Strathcona's Horse, which embarked by S.S. Monterey" at Halifax on March 16, 1900; the Canadian contingent of the South African Constabulary, which sailed during the subsequent spring, and the Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Regiments of the Canadian Mounted Rifles (generally known as the Third Contingent), which sailed from Canada in May of 1902.

The R.N.W.M.P. gave directly 10 of H. M.'s forces for the Boer War no fewer than eighteen officers and one hundred and sixteen non-commissioned officers and men, with four officers and thirty-eight rank and file also to the South African Constabulary, or a total contribution to the South African War in man-power of 240 of all ranks.

Sergt. A. H. Richardson (trooper in the scarlet of the force) at Wolvespriat on July 5, 1900, won the Victoria Cross by riding back under exceptionally heavy fire to within three hundred yards of the enemy's position, in order to rescue a twice-wounded comrade, who had already been shot from under him. During that campaign the Companionship of the Order of the Bath also was conferred upon Supt. D. M. Perry, then risen to a lieutenant-colonelcy and commanding Strathcona's Horse, but since become a general of the line); two of the original officers who won northern wilds were decorated as Companions of the Distinguished Service Order in November, 1900, being a Fourth Class member of the Victorian Order, and four graded by their gallantry the Distinguished Conduct Medal:

Brave Aviators Honored.

Lieut. Stanley Rosevear, belonging to Port Arthur, has been awarded a bar to his Distinguished Service Cross for attacking, on March 15th, the enemy aerodrome, destroying two. The official statement reads: "He showed very great skill in dashing fighting pilot." Rosevear was awarded the Cross in November, 1917, having made of his attacking at a height of only a hundred feet. During that period he said he could not tell what an awful hell the machine gun fire was at times hear my own engine or machine gun.

Flight-Lieut. Cecil Darley, formerly a pupil at the Curtiss aviation school, Toronto, from Lachine, Que., also receives a bar to the cross for daring bombing raids of docks and airdromes. He received the cross in August for gallantry in bringing home his machine under difficulties after bombing raids.

Dean Weldon on Titles.

Dean Weldon, of Manchester, formerly minister of Carlaw, referring to the Manchester Guardian: "It is slightly amusing to find the press rising against hereditary titles should come to us in the form of a scarcely less obnoxious Australia and New Zealand are probably still more democratic, but we have not. My general experience is that there is a widespread feeling against the new and hereditary titles and still more hereditary legislature now in course of consideration with democracy. The feeling is intensified by the successive lists which the honors have recently afforded color, that titles may tend to become a scarcely less effective means of corrupt political influence than the bribes openly given in the time of Walpole."

The Canadian Bankers' Association

Invites the Co-Operation of the Public on Behalf of the Banks

Staffs Heavily Reduced by War

MORE than half the men in the banks of Canada are now on military service, and the number which remains is being steadily reduced.

Women clerks have been employed in thousands and have done splendidly, but they have not the experience of the men they replace. It would be out of the question to expect them to work as rapidly or with the same knowledge of banking as officers of many years training in the profession.

The drain upon the number of experienced officers has now reached a point where it is necessary to ask the public to take into consideration this decrease in efficiency, and to lighten, as far as they can, the burden thus thrown upon those left to run the business. Canada was never so busy as now and the volume of banking business is greater than ever before.

How the Public Can Help

Transact your banking business in the morning as far as possible, and as early as possible. Try to avoid a rush at closing time.

Do not draw any more cheques than are absolutely necessary. Instead of paying small accounts by cheque, draw the money in one amount and pay in cash.

Change in Banking Hours June 1st.

On and after June 1st banking hours will be: 9.30 to 2.30; Saturdays 9.30 to 12.00.

This arrangement will give the staff more time to complete the large amount of work which cannot be taken up until after the office is closed to the public.

Special Services Discontinued July 1st.

Certain services must of necessity be discontinued, for a time at least.

On July 1st banks will discontinue receiving payments for tax bills and the bills of gas, electric and other public service corporations.

The banks desire to render all essential services including many special ones arising out of the war. In order to do this they make this appeal for co-operation in the manner suggested above

Announcements

Notices of any character relating to future events for which an admission fee is charged or a silver collection will be inserted in the column of this paper at two cents per word. If a boarding is desired an extra charge will be made, according to size. Minimum charge 50 cents.

The above also applies to "announcements for societies, clubs or other organizations for future events, for which there is no admission fee.

Notices of annual meetings $1.00 for first insertion, not to exceed seven lines.

EVANGELINE'S LAND TO HAVE A SHRINE

A new Mecca is beckoning to devotees of art and religion. Its name is Nova Scotia. Already the artists have made their pilgrimages and returned with charming pictures of Evangeline's Land. A collection of sixty paintings, the work of six New York men, known as the Nova Scotia Group, were exhibited recently in New York and elicited much praise.

The pioneers of Nova Scotia have blazed a trail, over which a brush and palette laden army will follow in seasons to come. They will come to paint the gentle beauty of apple-blossom, when the great Annapolis Valley is covered with a fragrant pink and white veil. They will come in cherry time to paint the rich red fruit and the happy people enjoying the Cherry Festival, a time honored custom. They will come in autumn to transfer to canvas the mad riot of brilliant coloring with which Nature paints the woods and hillsides and when the orchards groan beneath their heavy burdened boughs of ripened apples. They will come at all seasons to picture the quaint fisherfolk and their quainter surroundings.

The Dominion Atlantic Railway, that swings you around a half-circle from Halifax to Yarmouth, takes you through a Land of Romance, the Land of Evangeline. At the little station of Grand Pre you will find a wide meadow which is soon to be transformed into a shrine. Here, previous to 1776, stood the Roman Catholic Church of St. Charles, the church of the Acadians. Today a massive stone cross marks the site of the old burying ground that surrounded the church and nearby is Evangeline's Well, with its long sweep.

The French Acadians have always cherished a reverence for this spot and now through the generosity of the Dominion Atlantic Railway Company they may call it their own. The railway company has purchased this meadow and will make it into an old-fashioned garden surrounded with a rustic fence and has deeded a portion of the ground to the Societe L'Assomption, composed of French Acadians, of whom the Rev. C. V. Landry of Butoche, N.B., is President. The only consideration for this transfer is the promise of the Societe to erect a chapel. This they are eager to do and plans are now under consideration.

With the dedication of the new shrine, large numbers of French Acadians from Quebec, Montreal and Upper Canadian points, will make pilgrimages to Grand Pre similar to those made yearly to Ste. Anne de Beaupre. Their numbers will be swelled by many others who cherish a fondness for the gentle Evangeline and who will be eager to visit the scene of her story and to walk under the ancient willows that still guard this storied spot.

New Ministers For Provincial Cabinet

Archdeacon Cody New Minister of Education; George Henry, Minister Of Agriculture

The appointments of Rev. Dr. H. T. Cody, rector of St. Paul's Anglican church, Toronto, as Minister of Education for the Province of Ontario, succeeding Hon. Dr. Pyne, resigned; and George Henry, M.P.P. for East York, as Minister of Agriculture, were announced at the week-end by the Premier, Sir Wm. Hearst.

Dr. Cody's Career

Dr. Henry John Cody was born in Embro in 1868, and received his early education in Galt. From the Collegiate Institute there he went to the University of Toronto, where he made an enviable record. After leaving the University he went to Bishop's College, St. Catharines, as classical master. After four years he went to Wycliffe College, Toronto, where from 1894 to 1899 he was professor of Old Testament Exegesis and Church History. Later he was lecturer in Latin and assistant in Classics at the University of Toronto. Dr. Cody was offered the presidency of Dalhousie College, Windsor, N.S., in 1907, and the principalship of Wycliffe in 1906, but declined them both. Other honors he has received in the interest in educational matters, and gave valuable service to the cause of higher education as Dominion Commissioner of the Royal Commission that reorganized the University of Toronto.

Dr. Cody has been connected with St. Paul's Church since 1894, when he became curate. He has been rector of the church since 1907. He was made a canon in 1903, and arch-deacon of York in 1909. He was elected Prolocutor of Nova Scotia in 1904, but declined preferment. He took a prominent part in church work generally, and attended various important missionary conferences in the United States and Great Britain.

The new Minister of Education is an eloquent speaker, a man of great personal charm, and a clergyman of the most practical and progressive type. His outstanding ability is everywhere recognized, and he is counted upon to give the educational system of Ontario splendid administration.

A Progressive Farmer

George Henry is a thoroughly practical and progressive farmer. For twenty years he has devoted himself actively to building up a commercially successful farm in East York, particularly to stock raising and its management. At the same time he has devoted himself earnestly to public affairs. For fifteen years he served in the municipal councils and became Warden of the County of York in 1909. For five years he has represented East York in the Legislature. At all time he has taken a keen interest in agricultural matters, and the share of this has been the effort to bring the producer and the consumer of farm produce closer together. To this end Mr. Henry was instrumental in organizing a company by which the farmers themselves deliver their produce to the consumer. He has taken an active interest in the good roads movement, and is an officer of the Ontario Good Roads Association. He is also a member of the York Highways Commission. Since he entered the Legislature Mr. Henry has been an enthusiastic supporter of all projects of value and interest to farmers. He has been leader and a prominent member of the Agriculture Committee, and has been one of the most prominent agriculturists in the House since he entered it. Mr. Henry was educated at Upper Canada College and the University of Toronto, later taking a year's instruction at the Ontario Agricultural College.

GERMAN OFFENSIVE RESUMED ON WIDE SECTION OF WESTERN FRONT

STRONG ATTACKS OPENED THIS MORNING

AFTER LONG REST FOR REORGANIZATION OF SHATTERED FORCES ENEMY LAUNCHES BIG ATTACKS THIS MORNING ON WESTERN FRONT BETWEEN RHEIMS AND SOISSONS, ON THE AISNE FRONT AND ALSO BETWEEN LOCRE AND VOORMEZEELE — NEW DRIVE IS MEETING USUAL STUBBORN RESISTANCE FROM BRITISH AND FRENCH TROOPS — ATTACKS PRECEDED BY HEAVY BOMBARDMENTS — FURIOUS FIGHTING ON FRENCH FRONT — GERMAN ONSLAUGHTS REPELLED BY FRENCH TROOPS.

Special Despatches to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, May 27.—Strong German attacks developed this morning against British and French positions between Rheims and Soissons, the War Office announces. The attacks were preceded by a heavy bombardment.

The official statement says: The fresh German attack is along the sector which usually is referred to as the Aisne front, owing to the fact that for a long time the line of battle followed the Aisne river. The present battle line runs along the Ailette River, north of the Aisne, over a large part of which the fighting has advanced their line.

If the Germans counted on the element of surprise to assist them in the new attack they probably have fallen into a miscalculation.

The German also attacked this morning in Flanders between Locre and Voormezeele on the northern side of the salient.

PARIS, May 27.—On the front between the forest of Pinon and Rheims the Germans launched an attack this morning, the War Office announced. French and British troops are resisting with their habitual bravery and effectiveness.

Tragic Death Of Col. Sam Sharp, D.S.O.

TORONTO, May 27. — Col. Sam Sharp, D. S. O., M. P., died Saturday morning in the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, following his return from the war more occasioned by a nervous breakdown. His death was the result of injuries sustained in a fall from a window of the apartment he was occupying.

Col. Sharpe formerly commanded the 109th Battalion, and was with that unit at Vimy Ridge, and the fighting around Lens. He was invalided to England, and on reaching Montreal was forced to go into hospital. He was believed by his near relatives to be progressing favorably, and the announcement of his death comes as a surprise.

Col. Sam Sharpe, M.P., whose death is reported in Montreal, was a native of Ontario County, he having been born at Zephyr, Township of Scott, in the County of Ontario, and was a member of parliament for the county at the time of his death. He was a graduate of Toronto University and a member of the Ontario bar. He was married in August, 1913, to Joseph Gould, ex-M.P. for North Ontario. For many years he was solicitor for the Town of Uxbridge.

Colonel Sharpe was elected to the house of commons as a Conservative in the general election held in 1911 and 1917. He was one of the junior members of the opposition between 1908 and 1911 when reciprocity assailed the Laurier Government and took an active part in mobilizing the public sentiment of Ontario against the reciprocity agreement. He was prominently mentioned as a likely minister of militia when the Borden Government came into power, and during the last parliament was one of the most active supporters of the government and for several years was chairman of the select standing bills.

Colonel Sharpe is the third member of the present parliament to die since the general election of last December, Dr. J. K. Henne, M.P., for Lanark died a few days after the election and died in the same month as parliament. John McMartin of Stormont and Glengarry signed the roll at Ottawa on March 19, the last day of the session but died a few weeks later.

HUNS PRONOUNCE RAIDS TO BE "SENSELESS SLAUGHTER"

London, May 27.—The Daily Express prints extracts from German newspapers dating from June, 1916, to March, 1917, applauding air raids on Britain, and compares them with the present attitude of the German people in responding to their government to enter into negotiations with the allies to stop raids on German towns.

The Daily Express says that the policy which was so "glorious and splendid" and filled "every German heart with holy joy" when applied and Gothas were bombing England, has suddenly become a "senseless slaughter of women and children," when Germans are imperilled.

Mishap Mars Girl Flier's Record Feat

BINGHAMTON, May 27—Katherine Stinson, the aviator en route from Chicago to New York carrying government mail, met with an accident while making a landing two miles north of this city. The machine turned turtle just as it reached the ground, smashing the propeller and damaging one of the wings. Miss Stinson was uninjured.

Setters the Record.

Having covered the 763 miles from Chicago to this city in ten hours Miss Stinson bettered the distance record made by Ruth Law in her record breaking flight of 1916 by about nine miles. She circled the city in search of a suitable landing place and finally put out a small pleasure on a high hill north of the city. A strong wind added to the difficulties of the landing.

Hundreds of automobiles raced to the landing place and help was soon at hand after the plane came to a stop. Miss Stinson directed the work of righting the machine, apparently none the worse for her mishap.

Dead Hero's Mother Given Victoria Cross won By Her Son

Although Severely Wounded, Pte. Harry Brown, Onmence, Saved Position—Died Few Hours Later—Gen. Hemming Presented Cross To Mrs. Helen McAuliffe

PETERBOROUGH, May 27.—Brig.-Gen. Hemming on Saturday had the distinction of presenting Mrs. Helen McAuliffe, of Ommee, Ont., with the Victoria Cross and a letter signed by King George, personally, which were won by her son, Pte. Harry Brown, of the 10th Canadian Infantry Battalion.

The letter which accompanied the coveted Victoria Cross and which contained the autograph of the King, personally signed, was as follows:

"It is a matter of sincere regret to me that the death of Private Harry Brown, 10th Canadian Infantry Battalion, deprived me of the pride of personally conferring upon him the Victoria Cross, the greatest of all rewards for valour and devotion to duty.

(Signed) GEORGE, R.I."

Particulars of the deed for which the memory of young Pte. Brown has been so signally honored as taken from the London Military Gazette are as follows:

"In the course of a severe enemy barrage and attack the wires connecting the position held by Pte. Brown's battalion and headquarters became cut and he with a companion were ordered to carry a message back asking for aid. Brown's companion was killed and Brown had the left arm shattered but continued until he reached his objective.

"He saved the loss of a position, but died in the dressing station a few hours later."

United States Officers Break Up Big Cocking Main Upon An Island

Belleville sports along with a number of other dead game sports from Kingston, Gananoque, Ottawa, Montreal and Ogdensburg, N.Y. had a most exciting experience on an Island in the St. Lawrence River on Victoria Day. The annual International Cocking Main which has been held at Old Man's Island every twenty fourth of May for twenty years was broken up Friday by an attack of United States officers from Morristown N.Y. in motor boats. Though tipped by surprise the sports manage d to reach their boats and make good their escape although pursued closely by officers who were armed with rifles and fired repeatedly at the fleeing game cock fighters, calling upon them to surrender, which however they refused to do. One boat was overhauled and a fight issued in which the officers got the worst of it one of them suffering a badly damaged nose and two eyes nearly trimmed with blue colors. Some battles had been fought when the officers appeared Eighteen live game roosters were captured and two dead ones. Belleville sports saved their birds. A watch between Belleville and Brockville conters is in progress and a wager of $200 when the officers appeared.

Men Speedily Taken Off The Troopship

In 15 Minutes All The Saumies Were Away In The Life-boats

LONDON, May 27.—Less than a quarter of an hour after the British troopship Moldavia, crowded with American troops on board, had been torpedoed off the southeast coast of England on Thursday morning, virtually every man had gone over the sides of the vessel into the lifeboats. Edsel Cronk, Hyde Boroughs of North Troy, Vermont, leaped from the deck and were rescued. Had it not been for this the lowest, which are given officially as 56 American soldiers, would have been confined to those killed in the explosion of the torpedo.

The Bosley brothers were on guard when the ship was struck. There was a sharp list, and they evidently believed she was turning over.

Search was made for them, but they were not seen after they jumped overboard.

The Moldavia was moving forward steadily in a smooth sea, and was almost within sight of its destination, when a torpedo crashed into the side of her. The convoy responded sharply. Destroyers began rushing alongside and fore and aft in an endeavor to find a trace of the submarine. Although they prevented the Undersea craft's escape, it is not known whether a hit was scored by the depth charges which were dropped in a circle around the point from which the torpedo was sent.

MUSIC & DRAMA

"THE HEART OF WETONA"

The life story of a daughter of an Indian chief, who has had the educational advantages of Eastern colleges is told in "The Heart of Wetona." Into it is woven a romantic heart story of love and rivalry, and the play is one of deeply sustained interest throughout. "The Heart of Wetona," was first produced by David Belasco at the Cort Theatre on the Lyceum Theatre, New York, and enjoyed a run of an entire season. The New York critics were a unit in pronouncing it a smashing good play, a play of joyous excitement for young folks or folks who still retain youthful hearts. Fun, excitement, tears, smiles are pleasing warrants of this play which will be produced at Griffin's Theatre Friday evening by a good company.

"LA TOSCA"

Another big week of special photoplay offerings opens at Griffin's tonight when beautiful Pauline Frederick commences a two night engagement in "La Tosca." Miss Frederick plays the part in a beautiful Italian singer and the settings for this picture were copied exactly from Roman buildings including the Castle of Angelo and the interior of the Church of St. Andrea and the costumes follow those used on the original stage, being ruthlessly well adapted to Miss Frederick. During the taking of this great picture Miss Frederick made it a caution fall of thirty feet from a parapet of the fort into the water, in the death scene, which the scene follows the killing of her lover, Mario, by the firing squad after Tosca has stabbed Scarpia, the chief of police.

On the same program is dainty June Caprice in a fine photoplay called "The Heart of Hearts." You remember her in her last photoplay, the one she worked in with the three legged dog who has the human brains, well the same cast is here again, and will order you the best photoplay that she has appeared in to date.

The third episode of the sensational serial photoplay "The Eagle's Eye," will be shown along with this already fine program, and the sensational disclosures that Chief Flynn makes in the serial is making the people gasp with astonishment at the workings of the German spy system in America.

THE VOICE OF CONSCIENCE"

At the Palace Francis X. Bushman is appearing along with Beverly Bayne in a good picture called "The Voice of Conscience," and three other photoplays of merit are being shown.

Commencing June 10th, 11th and 12th a new serial photoplay will start at the Palace. It is called "The Woman in The Web," and it bids fair to be the best seen yet at the Palace.

Issued by the Canada Food Board in collaboration with experts on the staff of the Dominion Experimental Farm.

SUCCESSIONAL CROPS.

Many amateur gardeners are puzzled to know just how to handle a succession of crops. To get the most out of a small area it is necessary to plant seeds from week to week, and, in some cases, to sow two crops in the same row at one time. For instance, lettuce and radish may be sown in the same row, parsnips and lettuce, corn and pumpkins, carrots and spinach, lettuce and early cabbage, etc.

Some examples of successional planting may serve to explain what is meant by following one crop with another.

Early beets followed with celery.

Early beans followed with turnips.

Lettuce or onion sets followed with tomatoes.

Radishes followed with tomatoes.

Spinach, lettuce or radishes followed with cabbage.

Early crops may be taken off and consumed and immediately afterwards their place may be taken by some other crop. The soil should be dug over and more manure added if possible. This should be followed by a careful raking down before the plants are set out or the seeds planted.

Dizzy Spells Indigestion

Napanee Man Could Scarcely Walk at Times, He Was So Dizzy—Indigestion and Kidney Trouble Overcome By This Treatment.

Napanee, Ont., May 27.—The experience of Mr. Richard Ash of this town will interest all who suffer from indigestion and kidney trouble, disorders of the liver, kidneys and bowels.

Indigestion is such a common trouble that many suffer for years without knowing how readily it can be obtain relief by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which act on the trio of the liver, kidneys and bowels, and thereby remove the cause of much discomfort and suffering.

Mr. John D. Ash, Dundas street west, Napanee, Ont., writes: "For some time I was troubled with indigestion and used to have a scalding, burning sensation in my stomach. This was accompanied by dizzy spells and occasionally it would be so severe that I could scarcely keep walking. I commenced using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and in a very short time my kidneys were in normal condition. I tried Dr. Chase's Nerve Tonic Food for the dizzy spells, and am glad to say that under this treatment they gradually disappeared. At present I am enjoying good health, and am pleased to recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Nerve Food." This statement is endorsed by J. Casey Denison, Mayor of Napanee.

AT WAR WITH SNOBBERY.

Talk of Limiting Titles Dates Back to 1909.

The recent action of the Canadian Government with regard to titles, which will lead to a greater economy in snobbery in our young democracy, recalls the fact that other efforts were made in the past in the same direction. That was before the British-naturalized Canadians as well as they now do. The suggestion that the Canadian Government should advise the crown upon the exercise of the prerogative of bestowing honors and titular distinctions was put forward in 1909, when Sir Wilfrid Laurier was Prime Minister. At that time, however, the late Mr. Thomas Bowie Chandler took the position that in all but exceptional cases the responsibility of recommending persons for honors rested upon the Imperial Government. He suggested that if service of a political or administrative character performed in the sphere of the Canadian Government was to be rewarded that Government might make recommendations. In other cases which it was proposed to confer honors the Dominion Prime Minister would simply be entitled to make such observations as he might desire upon a list submitted to him.

It is interesting to note that at the present time the list of Canadian peers to which it is proposed to add is no additions and which will if the Government's proposal is carried out become extinct, includes the earls, eight baronets, two baronesses and ten knights. Of the eight baronets four barons, one of them holding the title of Baron de Longueuil, granted by Louis XIV. of France, and recognized by Queen Victoria, and four baronets, actually reside in Canada. Lord Shaughnessy and Lord Atholstan in Montreal, Lord Aylmer in the Okanagan Valley, B. C., and Sir Somers in Pictou, Ont. Lord Somers, however, succeeded to an English title before leaving to settle in Canada.

Five baronets live in the Dominion, Sir Joseph Flavelle in Toronto, Sir Edmund Johnson Hunt, Col. Sir Edward Murray and Sir Vincent Meredith, of Montreal, and Sir Charles Tupper, of Winnipeg. Sir Edward Morris and Sir Edward Murray succeeded to titles conferred in 1793 and 1816 respectively.

Should Finance Canada.

While Canada is preparing for her new war credit we have in the United States can do better for that heroic member of the allies and solidify better for ourselves than to play a large part in the financing of our neighbor. We need to do this to obtain one of the stoutest arms raising blows upon the advancing Germans in France. We need to do it to preserve a foreign trade which, peace or war, is worth more to us, with the single exception of the United Kingdom, than that of any other domain on earth.

Consider Canada's population, her quick cash assets, her distance from the fighting zone, and what she has done on the battlefields of Europe. Then consider the war. With a population of only about 7,000,000 in round numbers—lower by about two-thirds than the population of the State of New York—she has maintained at the front a superb army of 300,000 men, behind fighting power, man for man, has been unexcelled by any in the war. She has poured into the struggle upward of a billion and a half of hard-fought treasure. And now she is to begin the raising of another five hundred million dollars or two billions within four years.

Our work for Canada is cut out for us both as a war measure and as a foreign trade measure. Why not finance Canada, heroic fighter and splendid ally, with loans to be spent in this country? Why not finance Canada where every dollar so loaned Great Britain credits to spend in this country, to Italy, to Belgium, to Serbia, to Roumania, to Russia, to Greece. For all these nations $5,-000,000,000 and over a pretty yet for Canada.

Why not, in truth, Canada, trusted as a good debtor, esteemed as a near neighbor, honored as a fighting ally? Certainly we can do no less for Canada than we do for the others. Undoubtedly we must finance them. For her war making as an ally, for her industry fighting as an ally, for her commerce fighting as an ally, for her war making as an ally, for her industry fighting as an ally, for her commerce fighting as an ally, we can lend a cent to any other power.—New York Sun.

Maple Sugar.

Reports reaching the Canada Food Board indicate that the commercial maple season this year will be a very busy one. Trees are tapping in the eastern Ontario during the first week in March and a good run of sap was collected. Since then there come reports of unusual activity. Farmers who have contracted for their sugar from the Canada Food Board have, early in April, begun to put their plans and of their special efforts to the accomplishment of their task. At Oka, on Lake of the Two Mountains, Que., Trappists have tapped 5,000 trees, according to a letter received by the Food Board. Others who have tapped every maple tree that was ripe for the purpose. The product will be a specialty of sugar and syrup of the best quality. The J. H. Rye Co., and the Grimm Manufacturing Co., says that he has been approached by a number of maple trees from farmers for sugar-making equipment.

Anybody who has any cases of waste of food may notify the legal authorities, who have power, under the new order, to take action. Wilful waste of food is now declared to be illegal, and municipalities who secure the conviction receive half the fine, while provincial officers securing the conviction receive half the fine for the province.

Supply Of Fish Is Disappointing

Ontario Sales Branch Is Unable To Fill All Its Orders

TORONTO, May 27.—With orders pouring in from all parts of the province, the Ontario Fisheries is now faced with the difficult problem of finding supplies. Later on in the season, when the fish commence to run more freely, the supply will be adequate to meet all orders, but for the present the fishermen are not getting anything like enough fish to fill the orders of the sales branch. Lake Erie and Lake Ontario fishermen are getting a fair amount of herring, but the daily catch of whitefish, for which there is a big demand, has been unusually small. Early in the year it was intimated t the Georgian Bay and Lake Huron fishermen that as the supply from the northern lakes and Lake Erie and Lake Ontario would probably meet the demand, there would not be a heavy call upon them. With conditions as they are, the Georgian Bay and Lake Huron fishermen are being asked to furnish the full 20 per cent. of the catch, and it is possible that before time, until the supply picks up, more than the 20 per cent. will be taken. This, of course, will be a heavy drain, especially as later in the season in order to keep the total amount taken by the fishermen within the 20 per cent.

Reports from Lake Erie state that already the gill-net fishermen are taking any large nets, the catch being too small to pay for the labor of handling them.

Poor tea that can be sold at a low price is most extraordinary. A little good tea, like Salada, makes many more cups; hence its real economy.

Parliament Ends Work Of Session

OTTAWA, May 27.—The first session of the 13th Parliament of Canada was prorogued Tuesday by his Excellency the Governor-General with the usual ceremonies. It had endured 67 days, had been of special interest in view of the fact that it was the first meeting of Parliament under the stress of war conditions. It had, moreover, been marked by a number of discussions of important issues raised purely because of the state f war, namely, conscription, the state of war, municipal exemptions granted to young men of the ages of 20, 21 and 22 years of age, the question of unemployment, the huge war appropriation of $50,000,000 and the new regulations to govern the granting of pensions to Canada's disabled soldiers and to the dependents of those who have died in the country's service. It had also seen the federal taxation largely increased to meet the cost of war. It had, furthermore, included in its proceedings the granting of the electoral franchise to women, the adoption of a daylight-saving law, the amendment of the Civil Service Act in such manner as to bring the employees of the Government outside the departments at Ottawa within the jurisdiction of the Civil Service Commission and to abolish political patronage in connection with appointments and promotions and the endorsement of a policy laid down by the Government to control the the awarding of titles to residents of Canada.

Extreme Cases Provided For

OTTAWA, May 27.—The Department of Militia and Defence makes an announcement in regard to provision made for leave where men are called up under the Military Service Act, and for relief for farmers is included, however. The following is the text:

"The attention of the Government having been directed particularly to cases of men of twenty, twenty-one and twenty-two called up for military service who have been in support of their parents or of other helpless dependents, an order-in-council has been passed providing for the consideration of extraordinary cases of extreme hardship to the dependants of men called up for duty.

"The urgent need of men overseas is such that leave of absence can only be granted in those cases of extreme hardship to dependents, or in cases in which the man concerned is the only remaining son of his family, or where other members of whose family are in military service or have been killed or disabled.

"All applications for leave of absence pursuant to these provisions must be made by the individual, at the depot battalion, after he reports for duty. Such applications cannot and will not be considered either at the headquarters of the military district or at Militia Headquarters. Correspondence sent to these headquarters will only result in delay and confusion.

"Every man applying for leave of absence must make a statutory declaration in a prescribed form, which may be obtained at the depot battalion; where an officer will be especially detailed to deal with such applications.

"Men whose cases come within the above regulations will be granted leave by the Governor-in-council may be given up to thirty days' leave of absence without pay by the officer commanding the depot battalion and such longer leave as the case may require will be granted, if the recommendation is concurred in by the district officer commanding and at Militia Headquarters, or, in any case of doubt if it is approved by the Central Appeal Judge under the Military Service Act, 1917.

"The original leave may, in the event of delay in a decision being arrived at, be further extended by the district officer commanding by periods of ten days."

DEATH OF ONE OF THE TRIPLETS.

On Tuesday, April 30th, 1918, triplets were born to Mr. and Mrs. William Lynch of this city and they were named Michael James April, Harriett May and Margaret June. On Saturday Harriett May died, after a brief illness. The two remaining children are apparently enjoying good health. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Lynch in this city will extend to them sincere sympathy in their bereavement.

POTATO DAY AT SCHOOL.

The children of the Public Schools took kindly to the idea of a school one day last week, supplied the Children's Shelter with a number of bags of choice tubers.

A PAIR OF SOCKS

At the convention of the Great War Veterans in Hamilton a returned soldier charged the Red Cross Society and Y.M.C.A. but a pair of socks in which he found a note reading: "Will the good Canadian soldier who receives these socks, kindly acknowledge to Mrs. Alexander, 87 Bleecker Street, Belleville." The letter-writer said that the socks were sent as a free gift.

PROVIDED POTATOES FOR PLANTING

The school children of the city responded to a request for the providing of potatoes for planting of ground in connection with the Children's Shelter premises. The result of the appeal was that more potatoes were received than were required, but they will be used as a precautionary quantity is used daily at the institution.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ANNIVERSARY

Sunday School anniversary services were held in Bridge street Methodist church yesterday morning and the children attended in large numbers. Diplomas and Bibles were presented for regular attendance and proficiency. Rev. Dr. W. H. Young, of Montreal, chanted the Children's Day service, "Friendship Village," assisted with musical selections by Prof. Wheatley. The service was directed with extreme very interesting and instructive, Dr. Young holding the close attention of the children from beginning to end.

VACATIONS IN ALGONQUIN PARK

Plan a vacation in Algonquin Park this year. That great reserve of nearly four thousand square miles is on the very ridge of the "Highlands of Ontario," its altitude above sea level averaging 1,700 feet. The lakeland breezes which sweep over the Park are fragrance of the pine woods. The days are unusually long with warm balmy sunshine, and the evenings are a time of enchantment. There are excellent hotels for those who want to be in the wilderness—yet enjoy all the comforts that good service and social companionship can bring, these including the well-known "Highland Inn." Illustrated descriptive literature and all particulars may be had on application to any C.P.R. ticket agent, or to C. E. Horning, D.P.A., Toronto, Ont.

CAPT. W. N. GRAHAM DEAD.

Hon. Geo. P. Graham, editor of the Brockville Recorder-Times, received the sad news on Saturday that his son, Capt. Wm. N. Graham had died from wounds. The message received stated that Capt. Graham was admitted to No. 3 Casualty Clearing Station suffering from gunshot wounds in the legs and arms. Several hours later Hon. Mr. Graham received a message direct from Mrs. Willis Graham, stating that Capt. Graham was admitted to the same Casualty Clearing Station suffering from gunshot wounds in the legs and arms. Several hours later Hon. Mr. Graham received a message direct from Mrs. Willis Graham, received on the death of his son. This was the first intimation of anything serious, and the fear was confirmed by telephone to the Director of Records at Ottawa. Capt. Graham went overseas with the 156th Battalion and crossed to France with a Western unit. His wife is at present living in Ottawa, but their home was in Ottawa.

ESCAPED FROM GAOL.

James George Sheldon, a young man who was recently sentenced to serve six months in the county gaol for several charges of theft, took French leave yesterday morning from the penal institution and has not since been seen. Mr. T. Ketcheson, governor of the jail, took Sheldon out of the institution to do some work but while the former's back was turned Sheldon made his escape. Efforts made to locate him proved fruitless. The fugitive is only 18 years of age and has a record of escapes more than once from the industrial school and other places where he has been placed owing to acts of misconduct. When he ran away yesterday Sheldon had clothes in jail clothing and wore a black leather cap. He is about 5 feet 4 inches in height and weighs about 120 pounds. At the time of his arrest Sheldon was clothed in articles of apparel which he had stolen.

A PATRIOTIC FAMILY.

There are many instances of splendid unselfish service on the part of Canadians all over this country of ours since the war began, but there are few families who have shown a finer spirit of patriotism and loyal devotion to the Empire than that which is exhibited by the three eldest sons of Mr. W. A. Foster of Hillier, Prince Edward County. Of a family of four boys only one remains at home, a young lad of fourteen years, and the next boy, Cannif, who has just been killed in action, enlisted with the 235th in November, 1916, going overseas the next year, where he was transferred to the 49th Highlanders (43th Battalion). Shortly before enlisting Pte. C. Foster was married to Miss Helen Gilbert of Sidney. He was formally reported killed in action on April 26th.

TOOK POSITION IN KINGSTON

Miss Ruby Palmer, who has been a member of the Intelligencer staff for several years, left yesterday for Kingston, where she will join the reporting staff of the Kingston Standard. Previous to her departure Miss Palmer was presented with a fountain pen by the Sunday School class of which she was a member in the Tabernacle Methodist church. Miss Palmer's many friends will regret her departure from the city.

E very day communications keep pouring into headquarters of the Great War Veterans Association of Hastings and Prince Edward Counties from soldiers, their relatives and friends from all over Eastern Ontario saying they will be with the Bay of Quinte fighting boys on June 3rd. The Veterans are preparing no effort to make the occasion one to live in the memories of all who attend. The military events will be participated by the boys who have been over there, doing their bit, and also by "Soldiers of the Air." The latter aspect will be the best ever held in Belleville, already entries are being received from horsemen all over the province, and a number of horses entered have been on the Grand Circuit. Remember June 3rd is the Veterans' Day and hood it wherever and whenever you can.

SOME GERMAN LIES.

Spaniards Are Told Strange Story of Mutiny Near Halifax.

The German papers are full of stories, possibly true, possibly false, about what is happening in the United States, and every effort is made to persuade the Germans people that America's addition to the allied cause is but a half-hearted affair. It is, however, to the neutral countries that the most fantastic stories whose mingling passes the comprehension of mail. For example the good people of Valencia, in Spain, are told by the local pro-German paper, El Diario, that America is on the point of revolution against the war-like clique which dominates the situation in Washington; and that the army and navy themselves are riddled with disaffection. The sublimest piece of imbecility, however, was the sensational discovery by the Germans that the American navy mutinied last October and the gullesss Spaniard is treated with this exquisitely authentic account of what happened. El Diario starts out with a glaring headline which runs: "Sensational News! Important Revolt in the North American Navy!" It then proceeds to treat its readers to this entrancing piece of fabrication:

"Sensational news has reached us of a serious revolt which occurred about the middle of October in the North American fleet. The battleship Kansas which arrived damaged at the port of Halifax after the war, escorted a large number of transports going with American troops to France. The rebellion started on three Yankee battleships which came into Halifax flying the signal 'rebellion on board.'

"One of the ships raised the flag of a vice-admiral as a sign that the commander of the rebels, Commodore Dorwell, was betting the time of the shortest at Halifax to come on board, which they did quite unsuspectingly. The Kansas battleship was left alone with steam up. When the authorities arrived they were unable to prevent the mutineers who then proceeded to threaten the garrison of the forts unless they came over to their side. The forts were powerless for the ships were rebellious ships which were behind a rocky extent of the coast, so a group of officers were sent for a parley, but they too joined the rebels."

It is interesting to note that the center of this ingenuous tale of fiction seems to imagine that Halifax is an American town controlled by American troops. Having proceeded to capture all the representatives of the Navy Department in a place where none exist, the mutineers steam out of Halifax harbor in the ships that remained loyal. El Dia goes briefly on:

"In the meantime the battleships Kansas and Dakota, the cruisers Montana, and the cruisers Albany, Raleigh, Des Moines, Tacoma and Chicago—all of them boats of little importance and slow speed—with the exception of the first battleship mentioned — surrendered with loud cheers. When the battleships left Halifax harbor the Kansas's speed was hit by a 20.5 centimeter shell fired by the Nova Scotia. The flagship of the mutineers, whose commander had already been arrested by the rebel administration and grave neglect of duty in connection with the transatlantic campaign. When the crews of the other ships saw that the Kansas mutinied — as mentioned — they joined the mutineers."

Immediately after this comic-opera battle the sailors became as mad as this story, for, of course, the flag-ship of the mutineers, whose commander had already been arrested and shot, was the destination and grave neglect of duty in connection with the transatlantic campaign. When the crews of the other ships saw that the Kansas mutinied — as mentioned — they joined the mutineers."

Immediately after this comic-opera battle the sailors became as mad as this story, for, of course, the flag-ship of the mutineers, whose commander had already been arrested and shot, was the destination and grave

"The sailors began to commit all kinds of depredations, and this continued for about four hours. They set fire to the steel anchor which was open partially-constructed merchant ship, the Kansas and the Dakota, and sinking them at the entrance to the dikes, while others blew up with several months. Thirty-eight other hulls, all of them of small tonnage, in the process of construction, were sunk in the channel leading to the arsenals.

"The Government, though powerless to resist the mutineers, has controlled the censor, but despite all efforts they could not prevent the news from reaching Europe already, as will be seen, it arrived somewhat late."

Vital Questions

Mrs. Ellen Shell, of Toronto, made a very startling statement at the Social Hygiene Conference in Toronto when she said that "it would be much better for people to study the facts than to study about the blood of a Saviour who died 1,900 years ago.

"I certainly believe in a living Saviour, but I am fighting for motherhood. There is too much formalism, too much worshipping of Christ, when he declared later when her speech was not quite severely criticized, that girls were taught in school about their physical organs and the dangers they are sure to meet on the street, then I would be better prepared to fight the battles of life. I have been said to have been a Quakeress."

Mrs. Shell was born in Toronto, and has done a great deal of speaking on prohibition and women's suffrage questions. She has a son at the front, and has lately given her cottage at Bala, Muskoka, for the use of soldiers.

The Canadian Editor.

A Canadian acknowledgment of exceeding frankness is this in the Canadian Press. We had another awful muddle in our last issue in announcing the arrival in town of Mrs. C. J. Whitby and her sister, Miss Robb, from Ottawa. We supposed that Mrs. Miles and Miss Robb's as Miss Robb's sister, and that they would leave our readers to form their own conclusions as to what was wrong with us.

Soldiers of the Soil.

Farmers of Canada are assured of the help of 32,000 active, willing boys on farms this summer, who have enlisted as Soldiers of the Soil. They will be supervised by the S. O. S. organization of the Canada Food Board.

"I SUFFERED SEVEN YEARS"

Was Eventually Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I suffered for seven long years with all the irregularities and pains. I took a physician after another but they did me no good. Read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and gave it a trial and in a short time I felt benefited and am now feeling fine, and without excessive pain. Many friends have also taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and been helped by it."—Mrs. Margaret Nunn, 1846 E. Hazzard St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Women who suffer from displacements, irregularities, inflammation, ulceration, backache, dizziness, headache or "blues" should not rest until they have given this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial. If convincing evidence is what Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for special suggestions. The result of its long experience is at your service.

Entertain Inmates Of House Of Refuge

The Belleville House of Refuge was the scene of a very happy gathering when some members of the Young People's Society of the Baptist Church, paid their annual visit to the institution. The young people were given a recital reception by the superintendent and Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Howjie in their delightful manner. The old folks seemed to enjoy the programme, which consisted of some favorite hymns and the following numbers:

Scripture Reading—Mrs. Buck.
Prayer—Mr. Pearce.
Duet—Mrs. Blackburn and Miss Lisa Bell.
Reading—Miss Mildred Lloyd.
Address—The Unknown and the Known"—Rev. A. E. Scott.

Rev. Scott made a decided impression on the friends with his fine and interesting oration and Miss Lloyd, though young in years, delighted the audience with four excellent readings.

At the conclusion each inmate was given a little parcel of candy prettily tied with ribbon and a souvenir enclosed and decorated with small bunches of flies. Mrs. Blackburn and Mrs. Scott were the efficient accompanists for the evening, and Mrs. Lazier occupied the chair very acceptably.

Flag Raising At Trenton

(From our own correspondent)

A very important and interesting event took place on Victoria Day at the head office of the British Chemical Company at Trenton in a flag-raising ceremony. At twelve o'clock noon on Friday the ceremony began with the military on duty at the plant, staff and members of the Great War Veterans' Association forming a triangle about the flag. Three volleys were fired with bugle calls interspersed between volleys and the large and beautiful flag was hoisted to the top of the staff, this honor falling to Mrs. C. N. Barclay, wife of the General Manager of the company.

Capt. (Dr.) Kidd, a returned veteran of Trenton, who has seen active service in Flanders, gave a short address, extremely interesting and appropriate, referring to the many returned soldiers employed in the plant of the British Chemical Co.

Some three hundred members of the staff were present and after the ceremony enjoyed a hall holiday.

The head office of the British Chemical Co. in Trenton is beautifully situated, having spacious grounds, a base ball diamond and splendid tennis court.

WOMEN'S APPAREL AND WAR PERIOD

No More Criticism is Leveled at the Short, Narrow Skirt.

CAPES AND CORSLETS NEW

Short Review Includes That Show Brilliant Result And In Conservation of Material, the Watchword in America and Paris.

New York—The conversion of women's apparel to a war basis in France and America." It is a fact that will enable change our conception of appearance.

Silk will rule. The world has a surplus of other materials, it would seem, from statistics, and yet the foundation stone of conservation will extend throughout the fashionable clothes "for the period of the war."

The fundamental idea of saving has so penetrated the consciousness of our people, the propaganda is so widespread and vital, writes Alice Rittenhouse, that the historian of the future will surely look with extraordinary interest upon the psychological change that took place in 200,000,000 people that took place in 200,000,000 people in eight months.

There are changes in a nation that do not create surprise when they are thrust upon it by an invading army in war, but the change in America is one of spirit. There is money a-plenty, men by the millions, industries at full speed, and there is no dearth of raw resources, 100,000,000 people have turned to economy in their attitude toward material possessions.

Slim Little Clothes.

The passion for conservation wiped out of existence the fashion for flowing robes made of generous material. Where once the silhouette has been thrust into the fashions, whenever an extremely short and narrow skirt has been offered to women, critics gave heed to such blandishments and declared them as immodest, indecent and vain to the uttermost degree.

There is much indecency left today, however. The critics of women's clothes must look elsewhere for their opportunity at a woman gowned in a conservation costume and declare that it is approved, as though she carried a flag.

There is no more talk about indecency. The talk hinges upon the practicalness and the abundance of materials and the scarcity of materials won. Therefore, fashion and national economy go hand in hand. Unless we are mockingly indecent and there is no chance of the fact that we are women and call us outrageous.

The excessive decolletage of two years ago would create a storm of protest in any public place. Clinging, pointed women's skirts have been held over their shoulders by slipping bands of rhinestones, would be frowned down by all men. It is not worn in civilian clothes.

And yet women may go on the street with skirts so short and narrow that they closely resemble trousers, and they may wear sweaters or pelisses that reach well above the calf of the leg, and not a glance of censure than the extreme contempt or disapproval.

The new suits for spring, as well as those that are launched in America, show these skirts. Some are so narrow that they might cause discomfort if it were not that their shortness gave freedom of movement.

They are short when they belong to suits. Army capes ripple down the figure when warmth is needed.

The cape will be exceedingly smart this season, and we who have one of these garments tucked in the closet, are fortunate.

Ten army deserters are charged at Alexandria, Va., with the murder of a taxicab driver.

Girl From 'Kokomo' Tomorrow Night

Splendid Amateur Production Promised Citizens—In the Interest of a Good Cause

To-morrow night at Griffin's Opera House, the theatregoers of Belleville will be given an opportunity of seeing and hearing an amateur performance that will give them a rare enjoyment.

The Girl from Kokomo is a light farce giving plenty of scope for the introduction of musical numbers and from the reigning sucesses in New York, every number being a distinct hit. There will be no slow moments in the show from start to finish. The chorus and ballet number 24 in all, and these have been carefully trained both in singing and dancing. The electrical effects are very pretty, and the costuming and scenery will combine to delight the eye. The specialties are excellent, and a distinct surprise is in store for the citizens.

It is to be hoped that there will not be a seat vacant in the theatre when the curtain goes up on the first act. The members of the company have been rehearsing faithfully and hard for the past three weeks. Not a night has been missed by the faithful participants, and it is to be hoped that the citizens will do their bit, and attend in sufficient numbers to make a goodly profit for the Argyle Chapter I.O.D.E. so that they may purchase wool for the soldiers.

Anyone missing to-morrow night's performance will regret it, when the other fellow will be boasting that he had the best evening's entertainment of the season. The seats are now on sale at Doyle's Drug Store and should be purchased before the last minute to secure the best. There are a number of good seats left.

Military News

Officers of the permanent force, who have been on duty in Canada, are to be permitted to accompany drafts overseas, in order that they may be given an opportunity to serve at the front. The position of the permanent officer will not be removed by one. They have been held in Canada, and in spite of the good work they have been able to accomplish in preparing Canada's army for its mission across the Atlantic, have been the subject of considerable criticism since the less galling because it was made in ignorance of the facts. The barrier has been removed by the new order from Ottawa.

The King's birthday is to be celebrated on the actual date this year, namely, the 3rd June. His Majesty desires that in the matter of ceremony and observance the precedent of last year shall be strictly followed in all respects. No sports, reviews, dinners or other celebration are to take place.

District Methodists In Annual Meeting

The Annual District Meeting held in the Tabernacle church, Belleville, Tuesday, May 21st, the ministerial session commencing at 9 a.m., and the general session at 1.30 in the afternoon, the Rev. R. C. Moore, B.D., presiding. After the regular devotional services the Rev. S. A. Kemp of Peterboro was elected journal secretary and was installed when fourteen ministers and probationers responded to their names.

We find that during the past year the Belleville district has had an unusual experience in the removal, by death, of four of its superannuated men, Rev. A. Carman, D.D., Rev. Jeremiah Egan, Rev. Geo. Bodle and Rev. Tobias Meryes.

In examining into the state of the work there were found mank encouraging features. The old stereotyped, so often heard in ecclesiastical circles to-day, certainly does not apply in any of churches in the Belleville District. The class and fellowship meeting has not perished, and a call of the various circuits revealed the fact that twenty five of these live wires were exerting their mighty power and influence upon nine different centres. The question was put upon the books of the district stating that Prof. G. F. Stewart, T. C. Wilkie, A. E. Bailey, H. K. Denyes and R. N. Bird act as a committee with Prof. Stewart as convenor for the purpose of promoting the work of God by local preachers' permanent organization and to supply vacancies in pulpit supply.

At the session in the afternoon the following laymen answered to the roll call, F. E. O'Flynn, H. W. Ackermah, W. G. Kerr, A. E. Bailey, W. H. Nobes, Geo. Clare, E. R. Paget, H. K. Denyes, J. H. Hennigan and R. E. Sparrow.

Rev. L. M. Sharpe and F. E. O'Flynn were appointed to audit the schedules, after which Rev. Mr. Sharpe gave to the district a few facts from figures which showed an increase in membership, a very material decrease in flarriages as compared with the previous year, and an increase on nearly every circuit in missionary givings, amounting in all to four hundred and thirty-one dollars, which represents an increase of nearly seven per cent. on the district.

The report of the Sunday Schools given by the Secretary, Rev. W. W. Jones, was found to be very gratifying as this department of the church work is in a fairly healthy condition.

The report of Albert College was given by Rev. E. N. Baker, D.D., who, in his enthusiastic and forceful manner, gave a general outline of the purpose before the Board of Management and drew the attention of the district to the splendid work that this institution is doing for God and the church.

Dr. Baker believes in his job, and has always advocated a great future for Albert College, and we predict that what he undertakes he will surely accomplish for he faces difficulties with determination, and like Napoleon, when calculating a hasty descent upon Italy and one of his officers said, "General, there are the Alps. You can never get your army across them;" the proud Corsican quickly replied, "But, sir, there should be no Alps."

Doctor Baker is in the right place and the district recognized this fact by a resolution of appreciation and confidence and a promise of our hearty support which was agreed by Dr. Scott of Bridge Street Church.

As the General Conference meets in Hamilton some time during the month of September, several memorials were sent up from this district for the consideration of that august assembly of the church.

By permission of the chairman the laymen retired in order to appoint the delegates to represent this district at the annual Conference which meets in Lindsay on Thursday, June 6th, the result being as follows:

C. M. Reid, Judge Deroche, H. W. Ackerman, F. E. O'Flynn, C. J. Massey, A. E. Bailey, J. S. Calnan, R. E. Sparrow, S. C. Day, S. B. Pinkie, George Clare, Chas. Ketcheson, J. H. Easton, H. K. Denyes, John Maiden, W. A. Esmond, T. G. Bell and W. H. Finkle.

Rev. C. S. Reddick, B.A., was chosen to represent the district on the stationing committee, while Rev. C. T. Scott, D.D., was elected as the reserve.

A few other matters of minor importance were dealt with hurriedly Holloway Street Church being chosen for the next place of meeting, and a profitable session was closed by the benediction pronounced by Rev. F. W. White, B.A., of Plainfield.

Irish Bases For Hun Submarines

LONDON, May 27.—Germany's untiring efforts to foment revolution in Ireland with the aid of the Sinn Fein are laid bare in a statement from the official press bureau, reviewing this phase of the Irish political situation since the beginning of the war.

After the abortive rebellion of Easter week, 1916, plans were made for a revolt in 1917, but this miscarried because of America's entry into the war and Germany's inability to send troops to Ireland. As suprising in Ireland was planned for this year after the German offensive in the west had been successful and at least Britain presumably would be stripped of troops.

Concerning the recent arrests in Ireland the statement says that facts and documents for obvious reasons, cannot be disclosed at this time, nor can the means of communication between Germany and Ireland.

One phase of every plan called for the establishment of submarine bases in Ireland. In the present circumstances it is added, no other course was open to the government "if useless bloodshed was to be avoided and its duties fulfilled, but to intern the authors and abettors of this criminal intrigue."

The statement from the press bureau follows:

"The revolutionary movement in Ireland which culminated in the arrest of a considerable number of persons last week consisted of two closely related series of activities: (a) attempts by the German Government to foment rebellion in Ireland, and (b) preparations made in Ireland to carry into attempts into action. The story of the active connection between the leaders of the Sinn Fein movement and the Germans, as disclosed by documents in possession of the British Government, falls into two parts—the period prior to and the period since the abortive Irish rebellion of Easter, 1916.

"The events of the first period can be told in some detail, but the second period, which concerns recent events permits of no more than a summary, as a full statement on the facts and documents in possession of the government would disclose the names of the agents employed by the government and also the channels of communication thru which the German Government was acting and which it would not be in the public interest to reveal at present.

CASEMENT WAS BUSY

"The story begins as early in the war as November 6, 1914, when Herr Zimmermann, then secretary for foreign affairs, sent a message from Sir Roger Casement (later captured in Ireland and executed) asking that a messenger, a native-born American if possible, be sent to Ireland with word that everything was favorable. He was to carry a letter for fear of arrest. Casement also asked that an Irish priest should be sent to Germany with the assistance of the German Legation in Norway to work a prison camp to corrupt Irish prisoners of war. This priest was a certain Father John T. Nicholson, an American citizen of Irish birth. He reached Germany safely and he died him in January, 1915, transmitting messages to America.

"According to the report of Captain von Papen (German military attache in Washington) dated December 9, 1914, verbal assurances were sent in response to Casement's request that an excellent impression had been produced in Ireland by the beginning of 1916 the plot ripened, and on February 10 of that year Count von Bernstorff sent to cipher message to Rotterdam a despatch signed with the name of Skal, one of his principal American agents.

REBELS WANTED ACTION

"The despatch included an extract from the report of John Devoy, head of the Clan-Na-Gael, to the effect that action, in Ireland could not be postponed much longer, since he feared the arrest of the leaders. It had been decided, he said, to begin action on Easter Saturday and he urged that arms and munitions be in Limerick by that date."

Five thousand ship workers at Dublin are threatening to strike.

Men Secured by the M. S. A.

A REPORT on the operations of the Military Service Act up to the end of March, prepared by the Military Service Council and presented to Parliament, contains this outstanding statement: "Full returns are not yet available in Class 1, except in the Province of Quebec, are at the point of exhaustion, and the full value of the additional reinforcements for the troops overseas is to be maintained there is no alternative but to call out the other classes."

The report covers at considerable length the story of the organization and operation of the machinery of the act since the Council was appointed on September 3rd last. The net result up to March 30th had been that 31,295 men had been actually called to the colors, or 7.36 per cent. of the total registrations in Class 1. Of that 31,295 including 11,059 men in Category A, who reported for service before the date on which they were actually called out, and of these 2,347 afterwards claimed exemption. The net total of the men actually drafted, therefore, is approximately 20,000 up to the end of March. And, notwithstanding this considerable and small number, the Military Service Council declares that the only alternative to stopping the stream of reinforcements is to call out men of other classes, if it may be noted, however, that these figures do not include the further action has been taken by the Government.

Figures given as to the exemptions granted are of significance, in view of the Government's decision to abolish all exemptions for Class 1 men between the ages of 20 and 22 inclusive. Of 272,749 cases disposed of by the Exemption Tribunals, 146,263 were granted temporary exemption, 91,491 were given total exemption later; 93,048 were exempted by the Council, chiefly on account of dairying; 3,926 on the ground of being married or widowers; 6,171 as being railway employes; 1,625 as being civil servants, and 1,134 as being manufacturers. The total number exempted on the ground of employment was 137,411. The total number placed in medical Categories B, C, D, and E was 118,761, of whom 22,943 are ill men. On the ground of religious belief there were 638 exemptions, and 3,493 were exempted under the provisions of the War Committees Act.

The report notes that in every province, except Quebec, the appeals lodged from the decisions of exemption tribunals by applicants for exemption considerably exceeded the number entered by the military representatives. The small number of appeals by the military representatives outside of Quebec, is asserted to be indicative of the fairness with which the act, are on the side of leniency, a view which is emphasized, it is stated, by the fact that in every district the appeals entered by the applicants for exemption were a very large majority of the appeals by military representatives, while everywhere but in Saskatchewan and Alberta the majority of the appeals by the military representatives were rejected after three years of strenuous work with the Act. Speaking of the Province of Quebec, the report says that the Canadian Bishops of the Province, in a pastoral letter read in all the churches, declared that the chaplain service "is a necessity in the organization of the army, and the religious representative must have religious representative must have the confidence of the soldiers under his care." The Rev. Dr. Camelon Arthur, Chaplain General of the Forces, has been in the army and is called upon to join the Royal Flying Corps.

Nature's Error.

Sufferer writes to Dad if nature has made a mistake in the shape of your head and face, she would have given you two noses instead of one. Sparks from Flint Flashes.

One Canadian soldier recently had definite news when a wounded officer sent a message to a relative in Belleville. Private Hawkins, inadvertently dropped a spare into dump but was recommended for a medal and was almost impeccable wriggle, got out of the dump and disappeared as long as no wars around.

Rabbit Hair Supplies Wool.

Rabbit hair is supplying wool in the felt hat making industry of Australia, there are large numbers of rabbits, which are a pest to the agriculturist at present making profitable use of their fur. For this purpose, the skins are sent to the factory in a raw state, and millions of rabbit skins are made into felt hats.

Perhaps the most notable specimen of self-watering plants is the so-called "water barrel" cactus of the desert of the size and shape of an ordinary barrel, in fact the resemblance is so great that a living water tank. Its whole interior is composed of a spongy tissue, and is so arranged that the way which they form contains more than 90 per cent pure water.

OUR BOYS IN EUROPE AND HOME PROTECTION

The undersigned, as you represent the pick of our country's youth. Many were rejected for military service. Many times the kidneys were to blame.

If we wish to prevent old age coming on too soon, or we can't do our work, we must keep a live kidney. Dr. Pierre of the Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., says that you should drink plenty of water daily between meals. Then you are doing three things. Aiding kidney strength. This "An-ur-ic" drives the uric acid out and cures backache and rheumatism.

If we wish to keep our kidneys in the best condition a diet of milk and vegetables, with only little meat once a day is the most suitable. Drink plenty of water, two quarts, into three times a day for a month.

Get Dr. Pierre 10c for trial pkg. Acute—many times more potent than lithia, aluminate or lithia gold as her water soda. A short trial will convince you.

Prudon, Ont.—I am pleased to report my experience with Anuric. I have been troubled with rheumatism in right leg and hand for several years, and lately in left shoulder. The only way I could get relief was to rub. I had great difficulty to sit down and harder to get up. I took only a very severe pain in my back. I have taken Dr. Pierre's Anuric Tablets for several several times with the most satisfactory results, so I concluded to get Anuric Tablets a trial. The pain in limb and shoulder left almost immediately, my right hand it is very slight and getting well all the time. I can now sit or lie in any position I wish without discomfort or pain. I purchased the Anuric Tablets for two parties and they both claim decided improvement. I can recommend them to any one troubled with the kidneys; they are doing nobly work for me." I tried them all."—Ernest Boss, cor. Dube and Waterloo.

POLITICS AND PATRIOTISM.

The Liberal press suggests that the honor and integrity of Canada were compromised in the late general election is the same Laurier who in that election deserted the Canadian soldiers on the firing line, says the Toronto News.

COPP'S 158 VARIETIES.

The last days of Parliament were infinitely worse than the first and remarkable chiefly for a great flood of words, which must have swamped the official Hansard reporters, and also the birth, full-grown, of a new orator and world reformer, one Copp, from down by the sea, who had the 58 varieties of Hinge backed into a corner and shouting for help before a massed battery of 158 varieties of election irregularities perpetrated by the soldiers' vote and in defeating Laurier's no-conscription policy.

BEGINNING OF EDUCATIONAL REFORM.

The recent changes in the Cabinet of the Provincial Government give promise of increased efficiency in public affairs and are another evidence of the progressive spirit of the Premier, Sir Wm. Hearst, who has again proved himself more of a statesman than a politician in refusing to be bound by precedent, and in being able to blaze out new trails even in the interest of the public so demands.

The appointment of Venerable Archdeacon Cody, rector of St. Paul's Anglican Church of Toronto, as Minister of Education for the Province of Ontario, succeeding Hon. Dr. Pyne, came as a complete surprise, and awakens pleasurable anticipation that necessary reforms in the provincial educational system will be inaugurated in a strong, progressive policy initiated.

Hon. Dr. Cody as one of the most brilliant graduates of the University of Toronto is profoundly interested in the educational system of this province, and from the close study he has given to educational questions should be in a position to see the defects in the present system and make changes of a beneficial nature.

Broadly speaking, the children of the province may be divided into two classes, those who are training for college educations, scientific courses or arts, and those whose school education ends with the public or at the most, high schools. The great problem of efficient education affects the latter class whose years of study are necessarily limited, and the change is often made that the primary grades and high schools are merely training centres for the universities to the detriment of those pupils who step out into the world from the public or high schools.

The Minister of Education will doubtless while closely watched with keen interest, and from his broadmindedness wide knowledge along educational lines and general ability it is confidently expected the opening administration will mark the beginning of a new and greater era in the provincial educational system.

CRISP COMMENT

Premier Brant departed from the usual practice and instead of picking a politician for Minister of Education selected a clergyman well qualified in every way for the position.

With potatoes and eggs getting cheaper, did Hi Cotes Living, the rural old pirate, get ahead of some of the profiteers by upsetting dishes of food created from tubers and hen fruit, and even "Physical Culture Steak" can be made from potatoes and other cheap ingredients—meatless meat, as it were.

With the trees looking so beautiful in their new suits of foliage and commanding the admiration of everyone not blind to the beauties of nature, it comes as a shock to learn that people privileged to use intoxicating wines for picnic purposes have wantonly slashed tipes and kindled fires at the foot of others. Such thoughtless vandalism is inexcusable and can be severely punished under the law.

The election irregularities complained of by Mr. Copp were more than discounted by the rejection of 30,000 soldiers' votes by a Government unprotestly cast, says the Toronto News, which asserts that it is doubtful if any previous general election in the history of Canada was so carefully scrutinized or so formerly conducted as that of December, 1917. The people voted on patriotic and conscientious grounds.

Value Of 600,000 Shares C.N.R. Stock Fixed By Arbitration

TORONTO, May 27.—Placing the value of the 600,000 shares of common stock of the Canadian Northern Railway at $10,800,000 and determining that each party shall pay its own share of the costs of the arbitration, the award unanimously reached by Sir William Meredith, Chief Justice of Ontario, Sir Charles Fitzpatrick of Nova Scotia, and Hon. Wallace Nesbitt, K.C., was officially announced today in Ottawa.

Chief Points.

Value of 600,000 shares (par value $60,000,000) placed at $10,800,000.

Assets over liabilities October 1, 1917, not less than $25,000,000.

Each party pays its own costs except that the government pays expenses incurred by the secretaries, stenographers and incidental expenses incurred by the secretaries.

The arbitrators accept Paul Swan's estimate of depreciation.

Surplus of assets over liabilities not conclusive as to the value of the stock.

Limit of award by act of parliament, $10,000,000.

Length of proceedings, 50 days, ending May 15.

Over 200 documents filed.

The Toronto World, always a champion of public ownership, commented editorially on the award, and the eastern portion of the C.N.R., a great system from Winnipeg to Halifax. The Grand Trunk system in the east—and that seems to be coming—will make the national line away ahead of the Canadian Pacific. Canada has now a real transcontinental railway, owned by the nation, greater than the Canadian Pacific. Public ownership that was a dream, a vision, is a fact. And the papers and the organizations, the politicians and individuals who denounced it, said it could not be, have it at their doors and they can't get away from it.

HOW CAMEL WAS PERSUADED

Beast, Resented Carrying Bushman's Tentkettle, and Was Lead to Believe Ridge Did the Work.

"In 1890 camels from India were first brought to Australia 'for general service,' says Norman Duncan in his book, 'Australian Byways.' It was a happy experiment. A herd of more than 600 arrived with their Afghan masters in 1894. It is estimated that there are now 10,000 camels at labor in the dry, back regions of the commonwealth. An Australian loves a horse and respects the sturdy worth of a bullock, but regards a camel, however, with tolerance rather than approbation, and will not impolitely so entertain and persuade a beast except to the great advantage of his needs.

"We used to think," said Jerry, the camel driver employed by the author, 'that we couldn't get along without the Chaua.'

"Funny they know how to take care of camels?' I asked.

"'No fear!' Jerry scoffed. 'They had a lot of superstitions—like curing a camel with a necklace of blue beads—and that's about all. The government breeds better camels now. That's only natural; we're white. I don't mean to say, though, that we've bred the devil out of our camels. Sometimes I lose patience with the brutes.

"A couple of years ago I was traveling to the north of this with a train of camels and camels. One morning when I was packing I found that I had no place to stow away a billy can (bushman's tekettle). When I picked that little billy can up and made for the nearest camel, meaning to hang it on his pack, he began to double and turn as if to run. I'll tell you, I'll tell you, he wasn't going to carry more than his load—and what did I mean anyhow by proposing to overload a poor camel that way? So to make things easy I strolled off to the next camel. And he began to groan. They all groaned, and would have run had not each had a billy can on his back.

"'Well, I was disgusted. Instead of hanging the can on a peg I mounted my riding camel, with the billy can to my shoulder. He was horrified. Goodness, how he bawled! When he got up he was fighting still. Would I have me stop! Add then I leaned forward and shook that billy can in his face. And that satisfied him. Of he went and not a murmur. Why? I reckon he thought I was carrying that billy can.

Ship of Mystery.

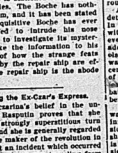

The manufacture of a large part of machinery to replace anything broken on the mechanism of the limited space of the battleship's machine shops. But wondrous feats are performed in the repair ships that accompany fleets on stations remote from dock facilities, states a British naval correspondent.

The repair ship is a huge floating factory and machine shop packed with everything that the wit of man can concentrate into small space for treating wounded battleships. These ships employ some of the best artificers from naval dock yards, and are scattered in every quarter in which the fighting fleet is stationed remote from dock facilities. The Roche has nothing dead on it and it has been stated that no inquisitive Roche has ever been allowed to intrude his nose between decks to investigate its mysteries and take the information to his countrymen of how the strange feats performed by the repair ship are effected. The repair ship is the abode of secrets.

Stopping the Ex-Czar's Express.

The ex-czarina's belief in the unspeakable Rasputin proves that she is still a strongly superstitious turn of mind, and she is generally regarded as the true maker of the decision in Russia, but an incident which occurred whilst the ex-czar was traveling from Tobolsk to Moscow proves that the superstition is not all on her side. Nicholas, says a writer, that the ex-czar wears a ring in which he has had embedded a fragment of the true cross. It was originally one of the treasures of the Vatican and was presented to one of the czar's predecessors for diplomatic reasons. The ex-czar's reliance on this supposititious relic was proved when he accidentally left it behind him when traveling by motor car. He had the train stopped instantly, a special express chartered, and a trusty passenger sent post-haste back to fetch the missing ring, nor would he allow the train to budge an inch till his messenger returned, hours afterward, with the relic!

SCENES IN A REST CAMP

HOW THE BOYS RECUPERATE AFTER BATTLE "OVER THERE."

The Billets Are Well Made and Everywhere Shows Signs of Being Happy and Comfortable—A Correspondent Carries Away a Splendid Impression of the Canadian Army.

In France there are a thousand pretty villages that make jolly rest camps, principally because when the mud never gathers deep, whitewashed cottages that look picturesque in the sun, and the strangest trees that have not been blighted by shell and shrapnel, burns with deep green leaves, a soldier curls in his blanket and sleeps as he never did in his Canadian bed, sometimes always bright and cheerful—and a host of pretty French girls who appreciate the lads who came over to help them fight for them.

Into one such village I went to visit a famous Canadian battalion at rest after a few days in the front trenches. There were the funny straws with the underwear windows, but with the addition of flowers in English, the clay sheds that are everywhere in France, many, many years after you've blotted out the last trace of war, but which that dates from untold centuries ago, the cosy, comfortable, cheerful little stone wall, the barns hugging the ground, the cobbled streets, the thriving business centre, supposible building, the quiet life.

A group of officers stood before an old stone house with a tiled roof sunk up north. The O.C. came striding down the street to welcome me. Behind him in a dozen busy clusters soldiers were working. Some in fatigue dress, some in undies, some in full marching order, all cheerful. On a nearby level ground was a cricket match in full swing, but enough to keep them in shape for the fighting and the strenuous plan for the morrow.

It was a scene of the pleasantest military life I have ever looked on, with no aggressive spirit of discipline, yet so license, no fever of hurrying. Only no loafing. Every man in the battalion trooped in from the field, straight and strong and clean, with a spring in his walk, so that there was a choice. The recipe was not difficult. Take a man with good victuals, clean as when they were made, and put him in a clean house surrounded by busy cooks and orderlies. They brought me a cup of tea, and I was prepared to be one of the mess, and I was prepared. I had had a breakfast at 5 o'clock that morning, but I tasted both. Why don't you go and see the boys at the front, I wondered—and provide an army cook to prepare for you?

I looked in on the boys as they ate. Every company I saw had its meal in a barn—for it's nasty, smelly place, but it's clean, and it's the only decent building, with lots of light, a dry floor and room enough to seat a whole company of a cheery couple of hundred. They were eating their midday dinners. Dinner was too good for attention to detail, and they were busy on their orders. And as they ate they talked, lightly as to the weather, but with a serious note in the room to their friends, making plans for the afternoon's sport.

The officers were billeted in farm houses. They had a comfortable mess in the cure's house, with a blazing grate fire, and I found a number of the officer men's library alongside—a cosy little room with shelves filled with the latest novels and under suitable surroundings.

A round of the camp revealed the spirit of the battalion. Each company had a lean-to the canteen was set up, with its variety of goods. Nearby the inevitable soldier might desire to add to the provision made by the army elsewhere within reason. The stock was sold with a small profit, 5 per cent. of which went to the provision of extra vegetables and other luxuries for the troops. The profits of the battalion institution which the members themselves control.

About the entrance to the stores was an orderly line of men waiting to buy their turns at the counter. Inside were piled all the battalion's shirts, underclothing, boots—all that is given the soldier. Each man in the line in the trenches few require no repairing, and the battalion's kit was kept up to the standard through an unusually extended period of German fighting.

The pride of the battalion was the "Battalion Car." Every boy has that that purpose here rolling fat, as velvet as any millionaire's, and is now the class as a lodge. The attention to the car's upkeep was the only to the advantage of the battalion in the matter of its isolated transport. But it gave new interest to the life of the unit. Every morning at 10 o'clock the officers and the grooms themselves at the continued exercises of the car, and the afternoon's drive shows that are organized at the front by the officers' mess—the "Battalion Section." "That's Bob," explained my aide, as we passed a fellow who was driving that playfully put back its ears and turned to nip. And it is now the aim is to be ignorant of what counts at the front. But it was the all-round champion at the shows, or something like it, and the correspondent left it always with its ears back.

Colored orators are explaining the allied war aims to the southern negroes.

The Borrowing Woman.

Day by day an Ontario housewife saw her household and kitchen fairly stripped of necessities by a neighbor, the Borrowing Woman. One morning, when the Borrowing Woman appeared at the back door and announced: "Ma says she can't bear the wash-boiler to carry these in, she'll bring them herself."

Coal In Ontario.

What may be a coal mine has been discovered by engineers connected with the Hydro Power Commission of Ontario at Power Canal near Niagara Falls. Very deep excavations are being made to construct the canal, and the coal deposit is found at a depth of about 70 feet near the whirlpool. The coal is of rough variety, that is called, not coal, but it is inflammable. Engineers say if there are any quantities of it there it may prove a very serious province. The Hydro engineers in this coal deposit came from a boring made at the entrance of the canal, when much of the land in this section was materially changed. Ontario was materially changed. Ontario was materially changed. Ontario engineers will be carried likely to ascertain just what the coal deposit is and whether it is worth working. The Hydro engineers are now at work on the canal, quickened in building the canal. Many factories along it are being purchased by the Hydro Commission, and it is expected to be done with them is not given out. It is said, however, that there will be a lot of factory sites between Whirlpool and Queenston when the canal is finished.

Beaver Is on Sale.

Although pork and beef products must be conserved to the limit in order that the urgent needs of the Canadian Army may be met, there is no occasion that the Ontario public should neglect the use of fresh foods. Poultry, fish, eggs, milk and butter, together with what is described as "offal" by-products are available in large quantities. Fish is of unusually good quality at present time. Beaver is on sale in Toronto for the first time a few weeks ago. It was tasted it say.

The time rate for female operators between the ages of fifteen and eighteen remains at present, provided the latter being engaged on contract piecework the time rate shall not be less than eight cents per hour. A bonus of 10 per cent has been settled upon.

Win Truth by Strength.

We think that we shall win in the end, after much trial, through knowing that we shall gain just to the degree that we trust.—Phillips Brooks.

Edward's Diplomacy.

Edward had been told repeatedly not to say he did not like food when it was passed to him at the table. He was invited to a neighbor's to dinner and was offered cherry pie, which he did not care for. He politely said: "Well, I'm just crazy for cherry pie but won't you just save it for supper?"

Has Lusitania Medal.

The Lusitania medals issued by the United States have been numerous. Chief of Police Welch, of Niagara Falls, has just received one from his son, Gunner Percy Welch, which was taken from a German prisoner. This might also indicate that some Huns who mistreat are now in the trenches.

A three-mile air mail service from Washington to New York is now practised.

Once her savage fears were allayed she went to the opposite extreme of fearlessness and love. Now she was willing to walk bare unbuffered among Korak or Korak found her. She did not give up that thought. Korak, her Korak, always was first.

And out in the jungle far away, Korak, covered with wounds, stiff with excited blood, burning with pain and sorrow, as soon as exhaustion returned swung back along the trail of the great baboons, but did not find them where he had left them nor in any of their usual haunts, but he sought them along the line marked spoor they had left behind them, and at last he overtook them.

He pounded them to aid him in avenging Meriem and attacking the village of Kovudoo, calling to their new king. And so they came upon the village, led by the ape-man of Korak.

But it was a deserted village. Not a native was within the palisades. The village was empty. Only the dead remained of the great ape-like son of the gray-haired she-ape. Korak, almighty herd leader, stood there beneath the thoughts of paddled feet of fiercest foes for no greater sound in might have been produced by the crossed soothing of stronger brave through the leafy branches of the jungle.

Back was in the bed. Close beside village they halted, till the savage beast had closed up. Not utter silence fell.

Then of the baboons was anxious savage, himself upon Kovudoo, and Korak was quickly surrounded by black, crouching, stealthily, entered three that overthrew the fiercest defiance dashed him. The pack upon his heels. The time to the had arrived. Korak, the almighty dusting the long march that upon small battle the white man's while by a single arrow within the village. All others were their legitimate raising his fare toward the gave voice to a single cry. It was the signal.

Scores 2,000 baby bute leaped, ing and barking into the village of terrified blacks. Warriors pour- their huts. Mothers gathered their young and fled into the forest. Children in their arms and fled to the gates as they saw the horrid horde pouring into the village street. Kovudoo barricaded his fighting men about him and, encouraged by their presence their courage, offered a brief, illing, spear tipped front to the charging horde.

Korak, as he had led the march, led the charge. The blacks were struck by the fury and dismay at the sight of this white skinned leader at the head of a pack of hideous baboons.

For an instant they held their ground, hurled their spears once at the advancing multitude. But before they could fit arrows to their bows the baboons were upon and torped in tenfold rout, into their huts, through their backs, staking strong fangs into the muscles of their necks, sprang the baboons, and first among them, the ferocious, most bloodthirsty, most fearible, was Korak, the Killer.

At the village gates, through which the blacks poured in panic, Korak left the baboons to the tender mercies of his allies and turned himself eagerly toward the hut in which Meriem had been confined.

It was empty. One after another the filthy interiors revealed the same disheartening fact—Meriem was in none of them. That she had been taken by the blacks in their flight from the village Korak knew, for her hut was stretched carefully for a glimpse of her among the fugitives.

At the head of the ape man, knowing as he did the proclivities of the savages, there was but a single explanation—Meriem had been killed and eaten. With the conviction that she was dead, there surged through Korak's brain a wave of blood lust rage against those he believed to be her murderers. In the distance he could hear the shouting of the blacks mixed with the screams of their victims, and toward this he made his way.

In the distance Kovudoo was gathering his scattered forces and following up his victory with the relentless ferocity of his race. Korak, the ape-man, knowing as he did the proclivities of the savages, there was but a single explanation—Meriem had been killed and eaten. With the conviction that she was dead, there surged through Korak's brain a wave of blood lust rage against those he believed to be her murderers. In the distance he could hear the shouting of the blacks mixed with the screams of their victims, and toward this he made his way.

In the distance Kovudoo was gathering his scattered forces and following up his victory with the relentless ferocity of his race. Korak, the ape-man, knowing as he did the proclivities of the people with whom he had come in contact, had left his own people in search of his mate, and now, with his own hand, he was about to begin the battle with the blacks in search of her.

It was a sore and savage Korak who led forward in his baboon allies upon the following morning. They were ready to accept surrender, but the ape man had no heart for society. Jungle life had encouraged fearlessness in him, but never had developed this to a selfish pursuance that could put beside it the savage unreasonableness of the ill natured baboons.

Brooding and despondent, he lost his military way into the deepest jungle. He moved along the ground when he knew that Numa was abroad and hungry. He took to the same trees that harbored Sheeta, the panther. He coursed death in a hundred ways and a hundred forms. His mind was ever occupied with reminiscences of Meriem and the happy years that they had spent together.

He realized now to the full what she had meant to him. The sweet face, the intense, supple little body, the bright smile that always had welcomed him and the true heart, haunted him continually.

Inaction soon threatened him with madness. He must be on the go. He must fill his days with labor and attempt that he might forget—that night might find him so exhausted that he should sleep in blessed unconsciousness of the misery until a new day had dawned.

Had he guessed that by say pools Billy Meriem might still live he would at least have had hope. His days could have been devoted in searching for her, but he believed implicitly that she was dead.

For a long year he led his solitary, roaming life. Occasionally he fell in with Akut and his tribe, hunting with them for a day or two, or he might travel to the hill country, where the baboons had come to accept him as a matter of course. But most of all was he with Tantor, the elephant—the great gray battleship of the jungle—the unapproachable of his savage world.

The peaceful quiet of the monster bulls, the watchful solicitude of the mother cows, the awkward playfulness of the calves, rested, interested and amused Korak. The life of the huge beasts took his mind temporarily from his own grief. He came to love them, as he had not even the great ape, and there was one gigantic tusker in particular of which he was very fond.

He Wound His Trunk About the Ape Man's Body.

And the third he guessed a savage beast that was want to charge a stranger upon the slightest provocation or upon no provocation whatsoever.

And to Korak this mountain of destruction was as docile and affection- ate as a lap dog.

He came when Korak called. He wound his trunk about the ape man's body and lifted him to his broad neck in response to a gentle, coaxing command. Korak the ti full length, sticking his toes affectionately into the thick hide and brushing the flies from about the tender ears of his colossal chum with a leafy branch torn by Tantor's trunk a nearby tree.

And all the while Meriem was scarce a hundred miles away!

CHAPTER XI.

A Lion and a Lamb.

TO Meriem, in her new home, the days passed quickly. At first she was all anxiety to be off into the jungle searching for her Korak. Daily, as she had questioned upon calling her benefactor, dissuaded her from making the attempt at once by this plausible head man with a party of picked men to Kovudoo's village. The sorrowful to learn from the old warrior how he came into possession of the white girl and as much of her antecedents as might be culled from the black chieftain. Etwana journeyed by day charged his head man with the duty of questioning Kovudoo relative to the whereabouts of the white girl called Korak and of searching for the child even if he found the slightest evidence upon which to ground a belief in the existence of such an individual.

The white man's wife, whom Meriem had christened "Mr. Hare" from her darting first head her thus addressed by Etwana, took not only a deep interest in the little female waif of whom she her fortune and friendless state, but grew to love her as well for her sweet disposition and natural charm of temperament. And Meriem, similarly impressed by the attributes in the gentle, cultured woman, reciprocated the other's regard and affection.

And so the days flew by while Meriem waited the return of the party of Korak. They were short days for into them were crowded many hours of instruction of boundless love of the mistressed child by the lonely woman.

She found the English without forcing it upon her as a task. She varied the lessons in reading, writing, in sewing and deportment, nor once did she let Meriem guess that she was aware of the fact that she differed, since the girl was avid to learn.

Then there were pretty dresses to be made to take the place of the scanty garments which she had found the child in, as responsive gold embroidered as any civilized maid in Christendom. Of any civilized maid in Christendom. Of these, and under the head man's direction, a number of the men of the village returned, a number of the men of the village returned, a number of the men of the village returned

WEIRD TEUTONIC PLOT

GERMAN-AMERICANS DID PLAN TO INVADE CANADA

They Drilled Men Near Detroit During Early Months of War and Had Accumulated Large Supplies. Their Idea Was to Embroil Britain and United States, Declared American Secret Service Man.

HEAD also to prevent the hatching of conspiracies on the Canadian border, says C. P. Wilkins, an American secret service man who, under the pen name of C. Pitleas, is writing a series of articles for the New York Tribune on the German intrigues in the United States.

Frequent warnings came from trustworthy sources that the Germans were planning an attack on Canada, their idea being that German-armed battalions striking across the Detroit river and Welland Canal would embroil the United States with Britain. Another part of the plan was to bring United States Germans flocking to the assistance of the invaders and supply them with arms stored on the United States side. These massed Germans were then expected to strike at both John Bull and Uncle Sam.

It was not a mere dream.

During the years 1914 and 1915 the Germans were very active from Detroit to Port Huron before my organization was established — engaging at a terrific rate and getting ready, I mean, agents to investigate several times! I got a report from one set of agents, then sent another over the ground and matched up reports. There was ample verification of the reported German smuggling and military preparations.

Although the Germans had plundered and prepared big things to happen along the Detroit river, such as those plans were abortive, and often Germans were frustrated by the activity of my agents. Undoubtedly they had sensational business, and bloody business.

The topography was excellent for their purposes. The countryside for several miles back from the river was largely occupied by German-American thrifty, prosperous farmers, who were clannish in their allegiance to the Fatherland. They were amazingly suspicious of strangers, before whom they kept very mum; but among themselves they talked freely, with practically no attempt at concealment. Many sturdy Germans were brought into the district during the two years following the outbreak of war, and almost every farm had taken on some hands of the sort.

Prior to the large German population there were, of course, a number of societies, fraternal and social. The principal fraternal society was the "Arbeiters," formed a few months after the war started. It had over three thousand members, and met three all the way from St. Clair to Algonac.

There was an abandoned building in Oakland, a little town adjoining St. Clair, and practically just across the creek from Marine City—as did the Arbeiters. It belonged to a man named Albert Kaltschmidt, "indicted in connection with a plot to blow up the Welland Canal. He was president of the Marine City Sail Co. and lived in Detroit. United States Government officers arrested him last April and took him before the commission at Port Huron on the charge of preparing a military invasion of Canada and the big factory dynamite stored in his house in Detroit. That is not all that is alleged against him, however. To mention his arrest here, although it occurred subsequent to the circumstances I am relating. He was a prominent man in the neighborhood, very pro-German, as his getting into trouble proved, and he spent a lot of money and time and had into it a good state of repair. His idea was to use it as a barracks, drill room and store place from which to send an expedition into Canada and to which recruits from Canada when the time was ripe, he was charged.

This shed was thirty feet wide by forty feet long, very conspicuously so by reason of the many repairs of new wood; it made a veritable beacon or guiding light for the boats travelling up and down the river.

It was in this shed that the Arbeiters were drilled. They were also drilled outdoors. They had neither arms nor uniforms — in fact, when they had a drillmaster. He had been sent to them by von Papen and shortly after the war started. He was the real German article, calculated to appeal to them sentimentally and martially. He was received by Kaltschmidt with every mark of appreciation, given a position as bookkeeper in the sail works and introduced to the pro-German leaders from Detroit to Port Huron.

In height about five feet eleven, taking about 180 pounds, he bore himself very erect and had a most military air. In fact, he was a typical German officer, with the usual martial blood mustache and slight dash of haughty speech and bearing. His English was not good, but he knew enough to serve a young fellow of thirty in such a pro-German community. His wife spoke no English at all.

The drilling of the Germans occasioned no surprise in the neighborhood. Following the outbreak of the war most of the businesses moved elsewhere, practically all except the sail business, in which the Germans were employed, so that there was scarcely an unfriendly eye to watch them. The Irish, of whom there were many in the vicinity, with branches of the Clan-na-Gael and other orders, one of which had about one hundred and fifty members, had the least thought of interfering with them. In fact, he says, the Irish are shown in good accord by the local Church of the Holy Cross, a fine property, with school, rectory and convent for the twenty-two nuns who teach in the school. Here the pastor, the Rev. C. J. Turnes, is a German, he has no Irish assistant.

It is evident that Germans selected the vicinity of the Detroit river as strategic long before the war. In the first place, it offers such easy access to Canada, and in the second, it is an environment of pleasant places, hostels and health resorts where tourists are natural and not conducive to distinct attention. Towns on the American side have small customhouse ports across the stream, with inevitably a ferry connecting the two, and with countless river ingress and egress during the summer. In 1914 and 1915 the river characters made a great deal of money out of the smuggling of the Germans.

In addition to the unattached smugglers, the Germans maintained a smuggling organization of their own, with Marine City for chief headquarters and Algonac, a summer resort near Detroit, and a great Sunday meeting place for Germans, equally important. From Detroit to Port Huron they maintained connections on both sides of the river for contraband goods and contraband individuals. They got arms across practically unhindered by boats and auto trucks. Almost at the outbreak of the war they got an island on the St. Clair river, with a fleet of motor boats and accessories that had formerly been used for rumrunning and boating parties, under a two years' contract.

But the smuggling on a large scale came to a halt with the closing of navigation in 1915. Since then there has been little of it carried on. While the Germans were active, it was both fast and furious, thoroughly organized and systematic. Detroit Port Huron was most active for a time with a small fleet of boats and crews directed by a German.

In a general sense, the exposure of the conspiracies in connection with the British munitions interfered with the German plans and delayed them on both sides of the river. Then they developed something like a panic over the fear that spies were on their trail. Von Hailing, the scout, confided to "some one of that account the invasion of Canada was one of the things that would be ordered not later than July 1, 1916. And also sure the Kaiser would attack the capital, and that the Welland Canal would be recalled to Baltimore.

Naturally few of the big German plans came to a climax without encountering, as they did, a most startling off to a brass band and endless fog with a siren. The Germans, I believe, to our course of nerve trying, overstrain circulation in their secret places and our disclosures that often brought them to ridicule!

A Veteran Printer.

Mr. H. Constable, who is perhaps the oldest working printer in Canada, celebrated his eighty-third birthday the other day in Woodstock. Mr. Constable still runs a printing business on Dundas street, Woodstock, being hale and hearty. He was born in London, England, in 1834, and came to Canada very early in life. It is said that he chopped cordwood at 25 cents a cord in order to earn money enough to supply himself with books to continue his education.

Mr. Constable found himself in Cleveland in 1861 working as a journeyman printer on the Cleveland Leader, alongside of Thomas Ward Constable's cousin. After some months he returned to St. Catharines, Ont., and sent for Ward to Cleveland early in 1864, the last year of the Civil War in the United States. Americus Ward had then commenced his humorous writings in the columns of the Plaindealer of Cleveland, and on Constable's return to Canada he was requested by Ward to fill his place on the paper while he went on a lecture tour to California. Mr. Constable modestly declines all inability to fill his place, but after some months Ward returned to Cleveland.

On returning again to Canada Mr. Constable started the Woodstock Sentinel-Review in 1864. This paper had been run previously by a Mr. Hall, who had left it in debt, which burned nearly all the business section of Ingersoll in 1863. Mr. Constable's printing plant was consumed, and he, too, was obliged to have his paper go to the flames, his obituary having been published in the Woodstock papers which afterwards became the London Free Press.

Mr. Constable left Ingersoll in 1875 for Ridgetown, where he established the Ridgetown Plaindealer, conducting it a number of years. This newspaper he sold and went to Dutton, where he also established the Record. In Alexandria he established the Standard, and published it there in the interests of the Reform party. Mr. Constable went to Perth, where he established the Perth Courier, and published it for a time. On leaving Ayr he went to Woodstock, where he has since lived.

A Clever Actress.

When drawing up lists of Canadian actresses the name of Miss Ward is rarely ever omitted, but she is a player of whom we know little as a rule, and only a few favorable reviews of her own particular line. She is a quiet little type of humor commonly called "dry," coupled with a certain subtlety and restrained power that she is enabled to set the parts of high society women in a most suitable manner. New York critics always regard her favorably, and give a good performance and they are seldom wrong. Miss Ward made her debut in Quebec, her father being an officer in the British Army, and was educated in Ottawa. She went to New York to enter the dramatic school conducted and her talent for society comedy won quick recognition.

Loafing Is Illegal.

Loafing is now illegal. All persons employed in this country are now supposed to work or show cause why they are idle, according to the new order-in-Council. The law applies to all between the ages of 16 and 60, and heavy penalties are imposed against offenders.

Country to be operated as a publicly owned road. This amount was to-day fixed by Sir Meredith, chairman of the Arbitration Board.

All Are Interested

The great battle now raging in France will no doubt touch with sorrow many Canadian homes, and messages of loved ones having been killed or wounded may be expected to reach Belleville homes. The public are interested in the brave heroes who are sacrificing so much to preserve Canada from German domination, and The Intelligencer will publish news of casualties as soon as received if the relatives will give us the information.

VERY HEAVY FIGHTING NOW IN PROGRESS ON FLANDERS FRONT AND SOUTH

GERMANS CROSS AISNE RIVER

EARLY REPORTS TODAY INDICATED NO FURTHER GAINS BY ENEMY IN RESUMED OFFENSIVE — GAINS MADE YESTERDAY BY ARMIES OF CROWN PRINCE COUNTER-BALANCED BY DISASTROUS DEFEATS AT OTHER POINTS PARTICULARLY NEAR YPRES — HEAVY PRESSURE ALL DAY YESTERDAY ON BRITISH LINE, AISNE FRONT. HEAVY FIGHTING IN PROGRESS TODAY.

Special Despatches to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

NEW YORK, May 28.—Early reports today indicate no further gains by the Germans in their big long-expected smash. Apparently most of the gains by the armies of the Crown Prince near the Aisne have been balanced in part by sanguinary repulses of the Germans in the attempt to push forward southwest of Ypres.

ENEMY CROSSED AISNE.

LONDON, May 28.—The Germans yesterday forced a passage of the Aisne River west of the British sector, compelling the left of the British line to fall back, the War Office announces. The enemy maintained pressure all day yesterday against the British on the Aisne front.

Seven fighting squadrons today. The Germans are developing attacks of great strength all along the Aisne front.

In Flanders and along the River Lys heavy fighting was resumed today.

CANADIANS HOLDING BATTLE LINE.

TORONTO, May 28.—Definite information as to where the Canadians in Flanders are at present holding the line and the position of the Dominion troops in relation to the present heavy fighting is given today in a letter received from W. A. Willison, staff correspondent of the Canadian Press, Limited, in France. Willison's letter describes graphically the moving of the Canadian line.

Since the German offensive commenced in March, he says, from north of Hill 70 to Souchez, Canada has moved its forces high some of the corps holds part of the line between Souchez and the River Scarpe. The move was made in less than 24 hours and took place in good order, according to the letter, although the roads were jammed with refugees at the time.

ALLIES LAUNCH BIG COUNTER OFFENSIVE.

With the British Army in France, May 28.—British and French troops launched a big counter attack in Flanders east of Dickebusch Lake. The attack began well and success would make the enemy's assault of yesterday a complete and costly failure.

PARIS, May 28.—The French last night crossed the Aisne River between Berry-au-Bac and Vailly, it is announced officially. The battle continues fiercely between the Vesle and Aisne Rivers.

The associated Press summary last night was as follows:

Germany's great offensive on the western front has been resumed. With brief artillery preparation two blows have been struck by the Teutonic armies, which have been rewarded by disastrous losses here inflicted on them by the French and British during the Picardy and Flanders battles in March and April. One attack was on the line from Voormezele to Locre, southwest of Ypres; the other on a 35-mile front from Pinon, north of Soissons, to Rheims. This is known as the Aisne sector.

In Flanders the Germans have gained virtually nothing but further south the Berlin official statement declares that the German crown prince's troops have carried the whole ridge of the Chemin des Dames and are now fighting on the Aisne River.

The German attack in Flanders is against positions taken by the British on May 30, when they penetrated Bruloose and ore and strengthened their lines on each side of Hill 44, which they had retaken a few days before.

RECALLS FEARFUL BATTLE

On the Aisne front the present battle recalls the fearful fighting of last summer along the Chemin des Dames. For four weeks the German crown prince hurled his men against the French positions only to see them crushed and beaten. Last year 75 divisions were engaged in the German attacks along this line alone.

The attack here is really in the nature of a line-straightening operation. It is being launched from Laon as a centre and is aimed at the elbow in the line formed during the fighting in September and April. Here, however, the Germans must face permanent works which have been occupied by the French for long periods and which can be defended quite easily.

Evidence that the allied supreme command was forewarned of the new German attack may be found in the fact that British troops are fighting there. Up to the present, it had been believed that the British forces did not hold positions much south of the Somme east of Amiens. The German crown prince is in command on the Aisne and this may indicate a serious effort to break the allied line. Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria is the commander in Artois and Picardy and the German crown prince, for dynastic reasons, will scarce to rob whatever success was attained by his colleague further north.

ITALIANS LAUNCH DRIVE

Almost coincident with the new German assault, the Italians launched a drive on the Asiatic lines in the mountain region to the northwest of Lake Garda. According to reports, they have carried Monticello pass, the Villagra of Presena, Monte Zigolon and the mountain spur to the east. Before them lie parallel streams leading down into Lagarina valley, and if they successfully carry out their attacks they will be practically in the rear of them to outflank the entire Austrian position in the north of Italy.

The long range bombardment of Paris has been resumed after an interval which it was believed that the big German guns had been silenced.

Thought He Was Exempt, But Tribunal Tells Him To Close Up Affairs

TORONTO, May 28.—About twice as many claims for exemption were on Monday as appeal tribunals on Saturday as were granted. Sixty claims were heard and thirty-four had their appeals for an extension acceded to.

As Charles Edwards, 29 Clinton street, was the only remaining son in a family of three, solicitor Lennox said that the impression that he would be exempted. However, as he is not supporting his parents his claim was disallowed. He was given till July 1 to close up his affairs. One brother has been in the service for two years and the other is now in a hospital with a shattered arm.

Stay For Barrister

Extension until August 1 was allowed David Goodwin, 71 Brunswick avenue, a barrister who has charge of the office of E. W. J. Owens, M.P.P. Goodwin is the only remaining member of a staff of three, solicitor said, three law students. He was married in September and is also in poor health.

Although Mr. Justice Ferguson granted exemption to George S. Jeffrey, it was stated that he has now completed his fourth year examinations at the University of Toronto, the military authorities will appeal. Exemption was granted until May 31, 1919, in order to complete his course.

Aviator Aces Born, Not Made

Pilot Destined To Fly in Single-Seater Quickly Discovered—Hands Are Important

LONDON, May 28.—How does the British Air Service pick out from its thousands of airmen, the particular men who are destined to become "aces" or "fighters" in the air? This question was put to an official of the Air Ministry here by the Associated Press correspondent in an interview. Here is his answer:

"The pilot who is destined to fly the single-seater machines of the Air Force is "discovered" almost as soon as he has been baptized in the air.

"To begin with, he must have passed certain physical tests with a hundred per cent. result. Many wise medicos and signallers, sit in conclave over these tests. They define certain factors that go to make up a "perfect" airman—perfect sight, say 36 or its equivalent in make-up, a total abstinence, good hands, quick brain, keenness of observation. It is odd how much emphasis is placed on a man's hands by the examiners, and I suppose that there is a much difference between flying a scout and an ordinary machine as there is between riding a thoroughbred and a cart-horse.

Bishop Always a Winner.

"Some men show their destiny from the first moment of training. Men like Hall and Bishop promise well right from the start; they revel in finding new stunts and tricks of their own, long before the more-heavier-headed brethren begin to attempt the things that are safe on all modern machines. Other men, especially army, and find themselves through sheer pluck and hard work. Having gone over the machine with the official artillery observation or photographic machine, they give a good account of themselves. By the first scrap they get mixed up in, and thereafter they look for, and enjoy fight. An observer in his office can usually tell Australia Hall Price Son-and-So is 'always getting to tackle the Huns instead of taking photographs or ranging,' and shrewdly way his commanding officer sends the trouble-hunter off to headquarters for some important duties which leave him in a special post-graduate school or aerial gunnery for training in what the airmen call "fire-eating."

The Post-Graduate Course.

"Here he meets the fsen—aces they call them in France—who have been fighting in single-seaters, and who are resting or have been sent back for use as instructors. The public knows little about these post-graduate schools dotted about the world in which a quick and thorough; the science of air-fighting is taught by stages up to a degree of perfection almost unbelievable.

"To the airman who fights, such things as tactics and deflection, ranges and angles must come by instinct. The good fighting man, it is generally believed, is born, not made. He must have the quick brain that will direct the hands with the judgment of experience, but the good fighting man, though it is not necessary that he should have been a sportsman, or a keen motorist or yachtsman in his pre-war days.

"It is the general opinion among pilots that a scout pilot who has completed a month on the Western front has passed through his probation and will be lucky if he has long time or less bad luck or the laws of chance bring him down."

Young Men Must Report for Duty

The Department of Justice, Military Service Branch, has issued the following notice:

"Every male British subject resident in Canada who was born on or since the 13th day of October, 1897, and who was unmarried or a widower without a child on the 20 day of April, 1918, must report to the Registrar or Deputy Registrar under the Military Service Act, 1917, of the district in which he resides, on or before the 1st day of June, 1918, or not later than 6 days after the man reporting shall have attained his nineteenth birthday, whichever date shall be the later. The report must be in writing, and it must state the name in full, the date of birth, place of residence and usual or postoffice address of the person reporting. It may be sent to the Registrar or Deputy Registrar by registered post, free of postage. The address of the Registrar or Deputy Registrar to whom the report should be sent may be obtained from any postmaster. Failure to comply with these requirements will be visited by severe penalties."

TORONTO REGISTRARS GET NO REMUNERATION

TORONTO, May 28.—"All the Toronto Registrars are acting in an honorary capacity so far as the Government," this statement was made by Mr. J. M. Godfrey, Superintendent of Registration. Registrars, he said, were co-operating with the board and offering facilities for registration of their employees at the places where they work, but as employee could, if he so desired, register at a public booth. The registering at places of business was to prevent disturbance of business.

SANATORIA FOR DISCHARGED MEN

OTTAWA, May 28.—The advisability of establishing a system of after-care for ex-soldiers discharged from Sanatoria after treatment for tuberculosis is one of the important questions which will be raised at a conference of medical officers of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, which takes place on Monday next at the King Edward Hotel, Toronto. There will be a general discussion of many important problems which are purely medical, and, in addition on recreation in the sanatoria, the advisability of having canteens, treatment of incurables, the disposal of incurables and chronic cases, etc.

Rain can carry both positive and negative charges of electricity says a French scientist who has experimented exhaustively.

Young "B" Men Are To Enjoy Exemption

Tribunals Get Orders to Exempt "B" Men From 20 to 22 for Present

TORONTO, May 28.—Last minute orders from the Ontario Registrar were received by the exemption appeal tribunals giving absolute direction to exempt for the present all Class B men of 20, 21 or 22 years of age. The order stated that the military request to re-consider these appeals was therewith withdrawn, and that the exemptions be allowed to stand. To comply with this the exemptions refused had to be carefully revised and several who had been refused exemption were granted freedom from military duties on account of their age alone. It is understood the order also applies to all B men of those ages whose cases have already been dealt with by the tribunals.

500 Canadians Get Commissions

LONDON, May 28.—Nearly three hundred Canadian cadets, after a training corps' course last month, received infantry commissions. The Canadian corps in France is returning to England two hundred men to be instructed for commissions.

Fifty Canadian rankers have qualified for Royal Air Force commissions.

Hun Air Raid on Paris Failed

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press Limited

PARIS, May 28.—German aviators attempted last night to raid Paris. They dropped bombs in the suburbs but were prevented from flying over the city.

Italians Wrest Summit from Foe

ROME, May 28.—Intense fighting was reported by the Italian War Office yesterday as having occurred Saturday and Sunday in the Tonalee region and along the lower Piave valley.

ITALIANS MAKE GAINS

ROME, May 28.—The summit of Monte Zigolon, the town of Presoli, Monticello Pass and the mountain spur to the east have been wrested from the enemy.

The Italian attack is being carried on a difficult part of the country, near the western end of the front. The points mentioned by the Italian War Office are on the west of Trent, near the Austro-Italian frontier.

An extensive movement of troops to Niagara and Pelawa Camps began yesterday and accomodation is provided for 6,000 men at the former centre.

Make Peat Fuel Within Few Months

Government To Demonstrate Possibilities Of New Industry—Now Cutting in North

TORONTO, May 28.—Within the next few months especially-devised machinery for manufacturing raw peat into commercial form will be in operation in Ontario, demonstrating the possibilities of the extensive peat bogs of the province, Howard G. Ferguson, Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines, stated that two machines capable of producing a considerable quantity of marketable peat were nearing completion at the shops at Montreal, where the expert commissioned by the Federal and Provincial Governments had been at work. Meanwhile engineers have also been busy already 17 bogs in Ontario have been inspected and found to contain good peat. The chief of these, and the most valuable, will probably be selected by the Government for demonstration purposes, is what is known as the Holland bog, north of Toronto, though the bog in Perth County, near Stratford, is also considered valuable. The value of the Holland bog, apart from its extent, lies in the fact that it close to the railway, and practically clear of brush.

Net Government Undertaking.

Hon. Mr. Ferguson made it clear that the Government is not, for the present at any rate, contemplating developing the peat bogs on its own account. The Government, when the equipment is ready, will likely experimentalize 100 tons or so, merely to demonstrate that peat can be produced at a price that will make the industry one for private companies. The new machines, it is stated, will cut, turn and harvest the peat, thus eliminating the expense of taking it out by hand, as has been necessary in the past.

In addition to the demonstration of peat manufacture in the Holland bog or any other that may be selected, the Government is experimenting with the peat available near Cochrane. There are two townships south of the T. and N. O. Railway, where the peat deposits go down to a great depth. The peat is said to be the best in the province, and considerable of it are now being cut and piled in order to see if a good fuel may be produced by thorough sun-drying.

100 Guests Driven From Annex of Hotel Cadillac—Damage Is $200 000

DETROIT, May 28.—More than 100 guests at the Hotel Cadillac, one of the best-known downtown hostelries in the country, were driven into the street early yesterday morning by a fire that swept through the 7-storey annex of the hotel. The upper floors of the main building were also damaged.

The origin of the fire, which for a time threatened to destroy the entire structure, has not been determined. A dozen automobiles were overcome by smoke. The loss is estimated at more than $200,000.

Every Man In United States Of Draft Age Must Fight

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 28.—Two important steps have been taken toward perfecting the task of putting the nation on a war basis.

First Provost-Marshal General Crowder had promulgated a drastic amendment to the selective service regulations under which every man of draft age is work or fight. Secretary Baker appeared before the House Military Committee and asked that President Wilson be authorized to call to the colors all men of draft age who can be equipped and trained.

The committee promptly and unanimously voted the authority into the army appropriation bill about to be reported to the House.

Under existing laws power is given to draft one million eight hundred, in addition to special units. The limit soon will be reached with men constantly going into the army to replace those sailing for France as fast as ships can be provided to take them. With the law changed as the President desires the man-power of the country will be drawn upon for whatever force may be necessary for the war.

General Crowder's new regulation is far-reaching in scope and touches not only habitual idlers, but also requires that draft registrants now in occupations held to be non-essential by new jobs or take their chances in the army. Clerks in stores, waiters, barmen, passenger elevator operators, motion picture operators, hotels, clubs and business buildings, as well as gamblers, race-track and speculators must report to the army and do more important service in improving the labor situation in essential industries.

Mr. Baker told the committee in executive session that President's reason for asking that no limit be placed upon the number of draft men to be called. Mr. Monahan said later, it was estimated that an army of 5,000,000 could be raised without changing the draft ages.

Those Who Lagged Were Shot Down

Of 900 British Prisoners Only 170 Arrived At Their Destination

LONDON, May 28.—Another account of German barbarity in prisoners of war by way of Switzerland and is told by a neutral, formerly living in Berlin by the name of Jean Jacques Sadley, now a sergeant in the German army, who seemed humane in the old days, but now has a hard look in the face and his companions had marched a large detachment of British wounded through Germany. On the plain, were encamped and the prisoners on food, trudging twenty-five to thirty miles a day. Those who lagged were shot. "Oh, yes," the sergeant said, "we drew revolvers and shot them down. Out of 900 only 170 arrived at their destination. That is war. Our German principle is to get peace quickly, and we must wage war ruthlessly. Those are our orders."

MUSIC & DRAMA

"LA TOSCA"—A GREAT PLAY

It would be difficult to find in the whole range of drama and opera a piece that has won more signal renown than La Tosca, which is Pasitas Frederick's new picture and which will be shown tomorrow night. All who saw this great picture at Griffin's last night were delighted with it and claim that this picture is the best that Miss Frederick has appeared in to date. The acting and acting by a talented cast of players was fine. A large company of players, directors, camera men and property men were sent to St. Augustine, Florida to produce the picture, and all the exterior scenes were taken there. Exact duplicates of the casts of St. Angelo, the interior of the Church of St. Andrea and other famous Roman edifices were erected, some times only to appear on the screen for a single momentary flash. Frank Losee as the Baron Scarpia stands out sharply from the rest of the cast for his clear cut portrayal of the treacherous relentless old man hunter who stops at nothing to further his personal advancement and gratification. The supper scene where Tosca is pleading for the life of Mario, her lover, is a stirring scene that leaves one gripping the arms of one's chair, and the splendid climax where Tosca finding that she has been betrayed and that her lover has really been killed, forms the soldiers and flings herself over the parapet of the Castle of St. Angelo, is magnificently done.

June Caprice

On the same program is June Caprice in a fine comedy-drama entitled "The Heart of Romance," and is indeed a very romantic picture. Miss Caprice has the educated dog which she had in an usual, gives a good account of himself in the way of doing things that always holds attention.

A very funny comedy and the third episode of the serial "The Eagle Eye," rounds out a good quality varied photoplay program.

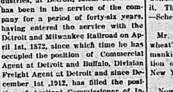

FRANCIS X. BUSHMAN

At the Palace the screen's most popular actor Francis X. Bushman, and Beverly Bayne are appearing in a six part photoplay called "The Voice of Conscience." The story is very cleverly written and gives ample scope to Mr. Bushman's ability as a man that can more than hold his own in a scrape. Three other photoplays included in which is a very good two-part story called "Dick's Christmas," written by that master of short story writers O. Henry. A current event film showing the many preparations that are being made in the United States for war completes a quality photoplay program that must be seen to be appreciated.

"THE HEART OF WETONA"

The famous David Belasco play, "The Heart of Wetona," which for freshness and real and genuine worth commends itself to every admirer of all that is good in play building. There is nothing overdrawn; it is in every way an ideal drama and one that doesn't leave any room for the slightest risk of being offended. "The Heart of Wetona," is said to strike a responsive chord in the hearts and minds of everybody—either of serious or frivolity, or of the sweetest of love. It has been enthusiastically received everywhere. The American and Canadian press is a unit in pronouncing it not only a great play, but one of the best of our time. The company and production will be in every way worthy of the play. It will be presented at Griffin's Theatre Friday night.

Advice To New Minister Of Education To Give Up his Pulpit

The following letter of congratulation to the right Minister of Education was sent by J.W. Johnson, M.P.P. for West Hastings:

Belleville, Ont., May 27, 1918.

The Hon. and Rev. H.J. Cody,
Minister of Education for Ontario,
Parliament Building, Toronto Ont.

Dear Doctor Cody,—

I tender you my heartiest congratulations upon your being chosen for the position of Minister of Education.

A great opportunity, a congenial task, through equipment and an approving Province accompany your appointment.

I noticed that, very naturally, your congregation wrote that you will not sever your relations with them. Pardon an outsider, and yet not altogether that as I am now a bonfere in Parliament, if I offer a world of advice: Don't work seven days in the week; your health will not now be the whole province and every school section will strongly desire to see you and hear you. Keep the flame of life from wasting by taking necessary repose.

I can assure you that you will have in Dr. Colquhoun an able and devoted deputy. I have had intimate official relations with him during the ten years I have been in Parliament; the knowledge patience and capacity he manifests are admirable and gratifying. With kindest regards and well wishes,

I am, yours faithfully,
J. W. JOHNSON, M.P.P.

8,000 Indians Serving In War

Eight thousand Canadian Indians have gone voluntarily to fight the Germans, and if the tribes were only granted the same rights and privileges of citizenship as to other people, they would be willing to share their responsibilities and burdens, and come under the Military Service Act, Chief Delisle, speaking at the annual Indian celebration at Caughnawaga said this was the attitude that the Indians under him had taken, and he had spent a great deal of time in averting the danger of the M.S.A. being applied to the Indians.

Chief Delisle declared that hundreds of Indians were working in munition plants and on other war work, while thousands had gone to fight for the cause of justice and humanity against the Huns. The Indians had been considered savages in old times, but the worst they did in the Johnny days did not compare with what the Germans were doing today.

The Chief gave a review of the history of the Indian settlement, which had been in existence for 257 years, and spoke of the educational work he had carried out in the past fifteen years. He declared they could not be regarded as paupers as they had contributed millions of the country, while they were not British subjects as they had not citizen rights.

They were a separate people and an unconquered race, and the Dominion of Canada had treaties with them as they had with other nations. But they were allies of the British as in 1776 and 1812 they could testify.

The celebration of the festival began early in the morning, but the principal events were in the afternoon, when the various warriors and their squaws were introduced, all attired in their picturesque Indian costumes, and there were war dances, welcoming dances, the pipe dance, the snake dance, and a host of other features, concluding with a representation of the marriage ceremony of 150 years ago, performed by Chief White Cloud and his wife. Musical selections of various kinds were given, and the festival was a great success.

A general pow-wow of all the Indian tribes on the American continent is to be held shortly at Caughnawaga by the Council of the Tribes, of which Chief Thundercraier is the head, for the purpose of forming an organization to protect the rights of the Indians, and if possible securing a federal charter for the same.

Washing Won't Rid Head of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the fingertips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and be a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.

CHAPTER XII.
A Night Ride.

MERIEM and Bwana were sitting on the veranda together the following day when a horseman appeared in the distance riding across the plain toward the bungalow.

Bwana shaded his eyes with his hand and peered out toward the oncoming rider. He was puzzled. Strangers were few in central Africa. Even blacks for a distance of many miles in every direction were well known to him. The man came within a hundred miles that word of his coming did not reach Bwana long before the stranger. His every move was reported to the big Swazo—just what animals he killed and how many of each species, how he killed them, too, for Bwana would not permit the use of prussic acid or strychnine and how he treated his "boys."

But here was evidently one who had slipped into the country unheralded, Bwana could not imagine who the approaching horseman might be.

After the manner of their hospitality the globe round, he met the newcomer at the gate, welcoming him even before he had dismounted. He saw a tall, well built man of thirty or more, blond of hair and smooth shaven. There was a tantalising familiarity about him that convinced Bwana that he should be able to tell the visitor by name, yet he was unable to do so.

Bwana was wondering how a lone white man could have made his way through the savage, unhospitable miles that lay toward the south. As though guessing what must be passing through the other's mind, the stranger vouchsafed an explanation.

"I came down from the north to do a little trading and hunting," he said, "and got way off the beaten track. My head man, who was the only member of the safari who had ever before been in the country, took sick and died. We could find no natives to guide us, and so I simply swung back straight north. We have been living on the fruits of our guns for over a month.

"Didn't have an idea there was a white man within a thousand miles of us when we arrived last night by a water hole at the edge of the plain. This morning I started out to hunt and saw the smoke from your chimney, so I sent my gun bearer back to camp with the good news and rode straight over here myself. Of course I've heard of you—everybody who comes into central? Africa does—and I'd be mighty glad of permission to rest up and hunt around here for a couple of weeks."

"Certainly," replied Bwana. "Make yourself at home."

They had reached the veranda now, and Bwana was introducing the new arrival to Meriem and Jiy Deer, who had just come from the bungalow's interior.

"This is Mr. Clayton," he said, using the name the man had given him. "He is a trader who has lost his way in the jungle to the south."

My Deer and Meriem bowed politely acknowledgment of the introduction. The man seemed rather ill at ease in the presence of girls. His best attributed this to the fact that his guest was unaccustomed to the society of cultured women, and so passed a portion of entertain my guest while I go to the corrals after a couple of weeks."

SCHOOL MARM HAS THE KEY.

Hon. Dr. Cody, the new Minister of Education, says that it will be his policy to make trips throughout the Province and familiarize himself with conditions as they exist in the schools. "I shall endeavor to keep myself in sympathy with the proceedings of the public and the teachers," said Dr. Cody, "because I believe that the teachers are the real key to the educational system of the Province." Dr. Cody is right. If there are any defects in the educational system the teachers who day after day are in close intimate touch with the pupils and familiar with the results achieved or lack of results, can aid materially in suggesting improvements.

"ALL ROADS LEAD TO BELLEVILLE MONDAY."

Monday, the King's Birthday, is a fitting day for the Great War Veterans to celebrate and the occasion is most appropriate for all good citizens to show by their presence and patronage that they appreciate the great sacrifices the soldiers are making in order to protect the homes of Canada from the savagery of the Hun. The Veterans are the hosts next Monday and have prepared excellent entertainment of a military and civic nature for the many visitors from far and near and the home folks as well. The success of Monday's celebration means much to the soldiers' Fund. Let everybody lead a hand and make it the biggest day ever held in Belleville. Let's clean and tidy up our streets and homes and when the day arrives throw all our flags and bunting to the breeze as a token of welcome to the visitors and appreciation of the Great War Veterans. All roads lead to Belleville Monday, so come early and stay late.

THAT PAIR OF SOCKS.

Criticism of the Y. M. C. A. war work might have been expected in these strenuous days when the spirit of unrest fosters irritation and fault-finding. However, the soldiers who appreciate and take full advantage of the privileges of the Y. M. C. A. in the war zone far outnumber those who have ideas of how the Y. M. C. A. should be conducted, which if followed would in all probability wreck this very necessary aid and useful institution. It is a tribute to the valuable service rendered by the Y. M. C. A. workers overseas that such a small matter as the purchase of a pair of socks at a Y. M. C. A. hut should attract more than passing notice. There have no doubt been many cases where some soldiers received more than their individual share of the free gift socks of the faithful women knitters of Canada and traded an extra pair off for a little pocket money or some comforts or necessities more urgently need at the time than socks. It is conceivable, too, that even a Red-Triangle worker, anxious at all times to be of service to the soldiers, may have assisted in such a transaction, but it is safe to say that exceptional Y. M. C. A. value was given in each instance and the soldiers interested received what they most desired at the moment at the best possible personal sacrifice, thanks to the agency of the Y. M. C. A., without which the soldier would often have to do without many appreciated comforts.

In the meantime the Red Triangle, despite occasional criticism, will continue to "carry on" as usual and cater to the needs of the soldier, body, mind and spirit.

It is significant that the attack upon the Y. M. C. A. at the Hamilton Veterans convention was launched in the dying moments of the session when many of the delegates had taken their departure. The Belleville delegates knew nothing of the incident until it was published in the papers. Soldiers who have any complaints should make against Y. M. C. A. methods deserved. Should give facts and figures. Up to date one lone pair of socks seems to constitute all the evidence for the prosecution and the incident of the socks seems rather in favor of Y. M. C. A. efficiency, when considered carefully.

"THE FLANEUR"
A Widely Appreciated Department Appearing Every Saturday in
The Mail and Empire.

Many years ago the late Mr. Winkins thought that a page devoted to whimsical observations on men, manners and customs would be of interest to readers of The Mail and Empire. He wrote under the pen-name of "Flaneur," which means "Man about Town."

This page has continued, and has been much appreciated and many enquirers seek it for information on all sorts of subjects, whether on social, literary, scientific or general, which Flaneur gathers by correspondence, conversation or reading. Flaneur with the friendly aid of thousands of readers from Canada, the Old Country, and the United States—and from even further fields, is a never-failing source of help to many readers, and receives many letters of commendation from all sorts and conditions of men. Many a well-known Canadian Post began his literary career as a contributor to his page.

This, and other special features, combined with its unique position as a national newspaper, give constantly leadership to The Mail and Empire.

CRISP COMMENT.

Now they say that it was old Mother Hubbard who discovered the first meatless day, remarks the Kingston Whig.

The Mayor of Kitchener thinks it was a mistake to change the name of Berlin—there was evidently a mistake in the Mayor.

The cable message telling of a Y. M. C. A. secretary killed by a German shell in France is a better answer to careless criticism than a column of argument.

The Rochester Post Express calls to the attention the fact that the national song of the United States is "Yankee Doodle," and not "Yank the Boodle." Well put.

All young men nineteen years of age must register before June 7, and all young men upon attaining the age of nineteen must register within ten days after their nineteenth birthday.

After the war the name German will only be used as a term of reproach. No one will be willing to acknowledge that any Germanic taint mingles in their blood and German names will be thrown into the discard.

A German scientific publication is advocating polygamy as a means of restoring depleted population. If you know anything lower than the present German mind it must be something in a bed of slime, says the Detroit Free Press.

Hell will have to be enlarged and a new department added for the disciples of German Kultur, for the lost souls of hitherto good men who have gravitated to the bottomless pit since the world began will refuse to associate with the miserable wretches who have made war an excuse for the vilest forms of wickedness and crimes against women and children.

Chemin des Dames ridge has been fought for and over many times, and the Germans evidently set great store by this bump of nature with the fine name for they have sacrificed many men in many fruitless attempts to capture it. The war news today states that the Germans have at last got their wish and are occupying this ridge with a vengeance. They have it in a short shirt and white stockings that is anything else to the uninitiated.

Eleven American officers and four privates have been awarded the British Military Cross for heroic conduct. Most of the U.S. officers thus decorated took part in the heroic defence of the Luce valley in March when the hastily gathered improvised army of Major-General Carey Gough was crossed by the retirement of Gen. Gough's division and held the Germans back for six days, thus adding another glorious chapter to the history of the war.

BOMBING HOSPITALS

Syracuse Post Standard.

The Germans are not about a new business in the bombing of hospitals. In their latest exploit they merely registered an unusual coarseness in the choice of wounded, of physicians and of nurses. It should be worth a medal, a school holiday, and an imperial proclamation—"Onward with God."

It was more than a year ago that the German aviators located a red cross on the roof of a building and bombed it. When the nurses fled from the burning building, carrying their wounded, the aviators flew back, just over their heads, and dropped bombs among them, blowing them all into eternity. The hospital staff had in its convictions that there remained some spark of humanity in the German military staff, assumed that the Red Cross was a safeguard, and that anti-aircraft guns were unnecessary about a hospital.

The bombing of this institution of mercy, this deliberate slaughter of the wounded in battle and of the women who nurse them was of course the work of the Great General Staff. The act is the act of the Imperial German government, not of a few barbarian underlings. The gunners who turn their guns upon churches, the submarine commanders who direct the torpedoes at hospital ships, the aviators who seek out the Red Cross and destroy the wounded and the women are not operating upon their own motion. They are fulfilling the orders of the high command. They are pursuing a deliberately prepared plan of the military control. The Kaiser, Hindenburg, Ludendorff—these are the murderers.

The American, whatever the country of his birth, whatever his kinship with overseas, who still finds in his heart any lingering sympathy with the German cause or who can find there no defense for our participation in the European conflict is entitled to all that he gets, if he is so bold as to speak with that. The aware of yesterday and similar barbarisms are going to make Americans less indolent of condition at home.

WANT TO FIGHT.

Riders of the Plains to Go to the Front.

There are no quarters in the Royal Northwest Mounted Police. Severe casualties sustained by the Canadian cavalry brigade in their heroic fight to retain the German lids in Picardy has resulted in demand for reinforcements. Ever since the outbreak of the war the Mounted Police have been urging that they be permitted to go overseas as a unit. In the early days of the war, with the rarest exception, all in the northwest demanding strict supervision, the Government decided that the force could render more valuable service at home, and no hurried it was even decreased to double strength. Internment of the most dangerous of the aliens, and the entrance of the United States into the war, combined with the establishment of a provincial mounted police, have changed the situation. The Government during the past year has been endeavoring to meet the wishes of the Mounted Police, but the war authorities have always stated that there were sufficient cavalry in France.

The losses of Canadian and British cavalry at Picardy, however, where they were thrown into the breach as infantry, have changed the situation, and, for the final drive since the beginning of war, there is a call for cavalry reinforcements. The Ottawa authorities decided that this was an opportunity for the Mounted Police, and decided to ask for 300 men from that force. The force at present consists of 600 men, and the one was the spirit shown that practically the whole six hundred volunteered their services.

It is impossible for the men to go to the front as a unit, however, as there are three squadrons in the Canadian cavalry brigade and all are in need of men. These squadrons are the Royal Canadian Dragoons, the Fort Garry Horse and the Strathcona Horse, the historic Canadian units.

As might be expected, the people of Western Canada, interested as most of these "Riders of the Plains," are strongly urging that the force be permitted to go over as a unit, but the exigencies of the military situation are such that it would seem to be impossible to meet their request. While nothing official has been given out, and the authorities refuse to discuss the matter, it is believed that the resignation of Commissioner Perry and some of the leading officers in protest against the inability of the Government to permit the force to go to the front as an integral body.

There have been persistent rumors for some time that the Government intended to disband the Mounted Police and that this historic force will cease to be in existence shortly. These rumors, however, are denied by the authorities in Ottawa. They say that the need for the force will remain intact if reduced, to the end of the war, when its future will be definitely decided.

The Poet's Corner

A PRISON POEM.

The literature of the prison-cell includes the "Pilgrim's Progress," Ralegh's "History of the World," and Paul's Epistles—not enough to warrant sentencing authors to jail to improve their output, perhaps, but sufficient to show some relationship between the pen and the penitentiary. The latest proof is a poem by "one of the Walden's guests at Sing Sing, reprinted by the Buffalo News, with the following comment:

Some of the world's greatest poems have been of the humblest parentage.

There are in poverty, in distress, in great penance, and in sorrow qualities that play upon the strings of the imagination. The melody is plaintive, joyous, or melancholy, as the case may be; but, whatever it is, it is complete and well rounded.

There is no half measure in the song born of adversity.

So it happens that in the current Star of Hope, the official paper of Sing Sing prison, "No. 63,968" writes one of the best and most perfect poems of the war.

The laws of society do not even permit the writer to sign his name. Our townsman, Superintendent of Prisons James M. Carter, says he has no knowledge of the individual, yet with a rare force he has thrown the poetic javelin at the moniker of modern warfare.

The poem in toll resembles in meter Oscar Wilde's "Ballad of Reading Gaol," without, however, reflecting any phase of prison life. There is the surprising amount of color in its lines when one considers that it was written in an atmosphere far removed from that of the sea. It runs through ten short stanzas:

The Captain of The Pit.

Down in the deep, the utter deep,
Where the unconverted lurk,
There dropt a wreck's great tangled heap that never more could ride
The ocean's waves; for it was fang'd both fore and aft inside.

The Shark and Strake, a conference called to view this fearsome sight;
They took the Pilot-fish to ring the bells with all his might;
To summons vipers from the Pit—the Pit, below the light.

To o'er the sands of Ocean's floor,
There crawled great slimy things,
That neer human eye hath seen with all its fathomings;
And when the muster-roll was called, the Pilot-fish, he sings:

"Hear ye! Hear ye! All fish that swim and ye that creep and crawl,
The Pit, our brother Shark has asked us to, did this gathering call;
Who came from out the slime below to hail their fiend at mess."

The blind white Serpents snaked around to feel within the rip,
And found the body in adder-size.
The Shark coiled back his lip;
For none of the Serpents knew whose fang had struck the ship.

The Squid dipt in his pot of ink to write a cut denial;
The Crab sat by the spawn of men who died without a smile;
The tiny Minnow was who lay within the chambered pile.

The Shark had just begun to weep,
For some of his kindred knew
And down there came a Submarine to settle 'midst the crew.
A sneaky thing ee fearsome built; its fare was dripping red.

The Cuttlefish, the Adder-snake, the blind Sea-serpents white,
The Squid-squid, the Killer-whale, they all recoiled in fright,
For deep within the Submarine they heard a voice say:

"I am the thing. Ya-Ya—Ya-Ya! the captain of the Pit!
The sleuthful, sneaking Submarine, whose picric fang hasrefit
At two-mile range this fiat mail-boat; no drink to me. Prosit!"

The tiny little Pilot-fish, he made a crown of green,
To place it on the periscope to cap his Majesty.
And king of all the viper tribe they crowned the Submarine.

The News concludes with the pregnant remark: "A President, a cereal national figure, and the very best of our plain citizens have tried to say the same thing, and no one has said it so well."

A Commuter's Amusion.

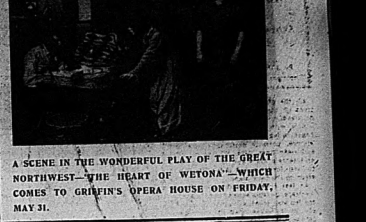

We'd like to be in a financial position when we take a meal out, as we do once every few times from some with all the regularity of clockwork to go to restaurants where "fruits in season" on the menu doesn't mean chiefly bananas.

Chinese Plant Statuettes.

Chinese gardeners sometimes plant statuettes of tiny men firmly in pots, just like real plants, and then train the vegetation to grow up over these statuettes. The vines thus form a kind of living, fantastic mesh, their white faces and hands protruding from the green leaves.

An Arab's Saying.

"It is well that all men are not rich. Riches corrupt the soul, but virtue enlarges the hope." These words were found in the parchment of an Arab's treatise by his sons after his death, and is no doubt the bitter verdict of many that are rich today.

All Around the Mulberry Bush

Story of a Wife's Devotion.

By JOHN KEATON OXFORD

All the afternoon the dead of darkness on the evening of the Sabbath day gradually lifted.

Now, with the coming of dusk, they began in big, in the overheated little kitchen, positively smelling of church and clean linen. Mrs. Whalen, the daughter, intervals more and more frequent to listen for the sound of familiar footsteps on the back stoop.

At last they came—dragging, tired footsteps—and the husband paused on the top step to wipe the mud from the big boots before they should enter that spotless domain.

Mrs. Whalen withheld her last look to the stove and vault to the back door to throw it open.

Whether have ye been all this long, dawdlin' the afternoon away, shy-hailed, heart-furze on the door mat?" Upon beginning to feed it a bit worried about ye."

The pallor of the plumbed face made the eye-sockets abnormally large. His clothes hung loosely and baggily on his shrunken frame.

"Now we'll have supper," she announced, "a bit of tay'll be prepared the best quick that can be made in the slipest notion broth this afternoon Sue."

"I've took frosty the Sweden day," said Whalen at length. "I'm not hungry. I'm spindle cook ye per dole' it, Nora."

"I'm no wor-ick for me at all; I tore it," she declared briskly, but Whalen's face in the lamp-light was getting at her inquiry. A spoonful of the nourishing broth was swallowed at the moment seemed to choke him.

"I've got that cramping," he averred, polishing at her with admiration.

"There's folks money to dole' the fancy stuff," she chided him. "Tis doin' lies a weak we can be countin' on Mike!"

She little clock on the mantel was striking 9 when from the bedroom overhead sleepy, fretful noises mumblings. She put down her iron and tiptoed for the hallway. Whalen was resting restlessly on the bed.

"Sleep ye, kind av work-ick, Mrs. Whalen heard his unsteady mutterings. "Now, I'm sprout enough av wor-ick never! I can't see her. Where she she does to hape me for gettin' back on old for I, Brady. Feind me somethin' to-do. Yep, I'll bile th' dollars a week to start in on, if I have to!"

"So!" she stretched softly to herself. "That's odd how we do tell th' truth, sure! "Tis so sittin' on a park bench that's done it, I'm thinkin'. Th' park job already he is and himself not half over the sickness yet.

She sat for a long time staring, thoughtfully at the distorted reflections in the polished circle of the stove.

At last she arose, smiling and nodding to herself as she kissed another sleeping face, headed beneath the bed and, with a hot iron, began to smooth out the wrinkled trousers.

There were several bundles of laundry to be delivered on the next afternoon. So sooner had Whalen poked shrewd, ostensibly for his brief walk to the park, than Mrs. Whalen started her rusty boat clothes and fared forth herself.

The little suburban town was mellow with the warmth of early summer. Lawns were delivered her bundles and then turned her eager steps up one of the town's more pretentious streets. Here each house had its trim bit of lawn, a few shade trees and not an unfrequent hopeful little garden.

Up to one of the smaller houses Mrs. Whalen made her way and whirled the bell.

"Would I be findin' Mr. Evans at home?" she inquired of the trim maid who answered her summons.

Mr. Evans was home, and Mrs. Whalen was ushered into a dim library, where a pretty, refined man was pouring over a pile of papers.

"Why! It's Mrs. Whalen," said he, taking to get her a chair. "You want the money for the past few washings, I presume?"

Mrs. Whalen shook her head. She began picking at the edge of the black cotton glove.

"I've couldn't be sure' a man alone like Mike, could ye, Mr. Evans," she asked diffidently, "sort of a gardener-man also like av that?"

"A gardener—no?" Evans inquired, with a slow shake of his head. "Why, that little stretch of lawn isn't enough to keep me in trim, Nora. A gardener!"

Mrs. Whalen pulled more securely at the glove fingers.

"I'will cost ye nothin' at all," said she.

Evans looked puzzled.

"It's like this," she hastened to explain. "I know the sickness Mike has had of late has made it hard for you to keep him in. Well, I'm doin' fotse wit' the washin' and keepin' things out here, you know. But Mike do' wanted to don't all the time about the way we have to do it. I've found out he's been tryin' tricky day to get him a job instead av restin' proper in the out-av-door air. He's that set on a berkin', like he tells me he does—like that ain't the ground's av a fly back in him yet. And I'm afraid he'll get a job somewhere, wan that'll lay him out again to the wor-ick he is."

"Why, I'm sorry to hear that," Evans said, his mild mind not at all able to think he was earnin' the money there's keepin' on goin', "would not be had at it, I'm thinkin'. So I thought maybe ye'd take Mike on as a sort of a gardener-boy? Tend the lawn, didn't ye much. And if ye would and pay him the dollars for 3 or 4 days per the week instead av the six he's earnin' there at Stile, Saturday morals', so yer could be payin' it to him Saturday night."

"Why, I'm sure," said he. "I don't think I could afford a gardener under those conditions."

"There's a letter for ye the post man just brought, Mrs. Whalen," said he. Whalen that night as Mike came shuffling in somewhat later than usual from the day's work. "I don't like that husband had torn it open and read the contents before."

"Just a bit of an advertisement that isn't amount to anything at all," said he.

"He's afraid I won't have him take the job," thought Mrs. Whalen, turning it over in her hands.

Whalen was early away from the house next morning—indeed, quite early enough to stop on his way to his new job at Mrs. Cobb's and call for Charlie Cobb before he should leave for town.

"Well, well, Mike," said Cobb as he met Whalen coming up the walk. "Where's the boy? Sent him to work, of course, I suppose?"

"Whaten ought he other than to by the arm in his eagerness.

"Would ye be doin' me a favor, Mr. Cobb?" he said.

"You know anything I can do for you, Mike?"

"Would ye mind, now," Whalen went on, "takin' eye, a few av the clothes over to Nora for her to press and mend? "Twill cost ye nothin', he added, with a little laugh at the odd doubt in Cobb's face. "Twill be a favor to me, mind ye, if ye do. And I want ye to tell her ye'll be payin' her the dollars a week to look after the little boy at the office."

"I see, I've just got the idea, any how," said Cobb, a fear gone and a belike that's to pay me that much! Sure Nora did she know av it. But I'll be glad to do it, and say I won't get well enough to do the washin' she'd say she was sick, and she's that, she's doin', which same, God knows, is cross enough for a wizard at times."

"But she can't know I'm workin', or she'll be unhappy and worried to death. So I'll slip up to her each Saturday, and when Nora brings back the finished clothes ye ye can slip it to her, and 'twill be stay for her and she nose the wiser where it comes from Joe?"

And so, after going into details somewhat more minutely, it was arranged that Cobb should furnish Mrs. Whalen the clothes to take on the washing she had heretofore been doing.

Now, on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock Charlie Cobb came into the Evans yard and waited comfortably on a low stump, and, holding the bundle of clothes in his arms, he whistled and sang over a pile of papers.

"Why! It's Mrs. Whalen," said he, taking to get her a chair. "You want the money for the past few washings, I presume?

Mrs. Whalen shook her head. She began picking at the edge of the black cotton glove.

Wood Alcohol In "Near Beer"

Drinking Bout Ends Fatally to Four Men in Windsor—Died in Few Hours

WINDSOR, May 25.—Four men are dead in Windsor from poisoning caused by using denatured alcohol in near-beer, according to information in possession of the police authorities.

The dead are: Charles McArthur, 41 years old, painter; assistant city clerk in Windsor; Dennis Foley, 35, a reformed soldier who left the border city with the 99th Battalion, William Ryan, 35, night clerk at the Herendeen Hotel, Pitt Street east, Windsor, and Augustus Phillips, 36, porter at the Ezrick Hotel, Sandwich Street east, Windsor.

The body of McArthur was found in a bedroom of the Ezrick Hotel at mid-night Friday by Thomas Malin., the proprietor.

SECOND VICTIM DIES IN AGONY

Shortly after Malin discovered McArthur's body, Dennis Foley was stricken and Dr. Campbell was called. He died at 3.30 o'clock Saturday morning in great agony, without making a statement.

While Dr. Campbell was attending Foley he was summoned to the Herendeen Hotel, where Ryan was suffering from a similar sickness to Foley's. He was ordered to Hotel Dieu, where he died Saturday afternoon.

Phillips, who assisted Ryan to the hospital, was taken at Saturday morning, showing similar symptoms to Foley and Ryan. He was taken to Hotel Dieu, and was not thought to be in danger until 1 o'clock, when he, too, called, dying after making a statement to Patrolman Willis Brydges, that after tossing the name of a man who is thought to have sold the alcohol to the men, after smuggling it into Windsor.

The men had been together Thursday night according to the police. They either drank wood alcohol neat or used it in near-beer. Dr. J.S. Labelle, coroner for Essex County, has ordered an inquest to investigate the deaths.

WOULD HANG KAISER AND HIS WAR LORDS

LONDON, May 25.—"I believe this war will have been fought in vain if, at its conclusion, the Kaiser and his war lords do not find their heads in a noose," said John Hodge, Minister of Pensions, and a Labor leader, in an address. "An unconditional victory would be a greater disaster than the continuance of the war. No matter what the sacrifice, we have got to fight to the finish."

Was On Verge Of Giving Up Job

Health Broken When he Began Taking Tanlac—Now Works Every Day

"My health was so broken down that I was just on the point of giving up my job when I got hold of Tanlac, and I'm mighty glad I stuck up all right after everything else had failed to do me any good," said Malcolm W. Yee, of 129 Locke Street, Hamilton, the other day. Mr. Yee formerly lived at Hamilton where he is well known, but is now employed by the Wm. Davies Company at Toronto.

"About five years ago," he continued, "my stomach got all out of order, and I began to suffer terribly with indigestion. My appetite failed, and I never enjoyed a thing I would eat, while at times I forced down soured my stomach, and filled me up with gas till I could hardly breathe. I suffered from awful griping pains in my stomach, and a sour bitterish water would rise up in my mouth almost every time. Any kind of rich food like pork or pastry would simply tear me all to pieces and I just had to stop eating anything of the kind. My food gave me no nourishment at all and I fell off in weight, my headaches were awful, and finally I got so I could hardly keep up with my work and saw that if I didn't get relief soon I was headed for a break-down.

"All these years I was trying one thing after another in my efforts to find something that would help me, but without success for I kept getting worse in spite of everything. When people began talking so much about Tanlac I decided to try it, and positively, I never have risen starting to do me so much good. I have taken about five bottles now and I can eat anything I want, fresh pork and pastry of all kinds, and nothing gives me a bit of trouble. That awful pain in my stomach is all gone, and I never have sourness or gas trouble any more. My food is agurishing me now, and I am stronger and better in every way than I have been in years. That tired worn out feeling has passed away and I haven't lost a single day from work since I started Tanlac. Anybody who has suffered like I have knows how to appreciate a medicine that does the work like Tanlac and I am glad to give it my endorsement."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Orsons Drug Store, in Trenton by J. H. Dickey, in Deseronto by W. J. Mailey, in Picton by J. S. Morton, in Frankford by W. H. Lattimer, in Madoc by J. Will Vince, in Marysville by T. J. Callaghan, in Tweed by Jas. Donnelly, and in Thomasburg by J. H. Blakely.

Prince Lunches With President Wilson

WASHINGTON, May 27. — Prince Arthur of Connaught, first cousin of King George of England, who is on his way to Japan on a special mission, was entertained at luncheon Saturday by President Wilson. Later, with Secretary Bryan, the British Ambassador, the Prince and members of his party called on Vice-President Thomas R. Marshall at the Capitol. The Senate had concluded the day's business and adjourned before the visitors arrived, but the Prince was introduced to Majority Leaders Martin and Kitchin, and other members of the Senate and House.

Colds Settled In The Kidneys

Lumbago, Backache and Rheumatism Was the Result—Now Enthusiastic Over Cure Obtained.

CHATTERTON, Ont., May 13.—"The kidneys are extremely sensitive to sudden changes of temperature, and much pain and suffering is a frequent result, as all who have had attacks of lumbago and rheumatism know."

The writer of this letter was a great sufferer until she found that by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills she could regulate the action of the kidneys, and thereby remove the cause of lumbago and rheumatism.

Mrs. John Lancaster, farmer's wife, Chatterton, Ont., writes: "We would not want to do without Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in the house, for we have found their merits in so many cases. I have weak kidneys, and whenever I catch cold it settles in the back and develops into lumbago. I used to suffer terribly from lumbago and rheumatism, but since using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and applying Dr. Chase's Backache Plaster that I obtained a greatest relief, and am soon all right again. My daughter has also used the pills with splendid results, as has also my neighbor woman who suffered great pain from constipation."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25c a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Be sure to get the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., on the box you buy.

Who Sold Soldiers' Socks to Y.M.C.A.

At the Great War Veterans' Association convention held at Hamilton which concluded on Saturday, it was stated that a pair of socks knitted by a Mrs. Alexander residing on Hoscher-terrace, Belleville, had been sold to pickers at a Y.M.C.A. hut to a soldier.

A representative of The Intelligencer following up the above statement yesterday afternoon, located Mrs. Thomas Alexander, the lady referred to, at her residence, 262 Hoscher Avenue, and had a brief interview with her in reference to the matter.

The lady stated that since the war she had knitted a hundred or more pair of socks for the soldier boys personally. She was not aware that a pair had been sold, and that she would by exceedingly sorry to learn that such was the case as they were not made for such a purpose. She also stated that she knitted socks for the Daughters of Rebekah the Ladies' Auxiliary in connection with the B. L. of L. and other societies, which sent over socks on various occasions. Mrs. Alexander stated she had placed a note in socks she knitted, and from one she received a letter of appreciation. The soldier writing did not state that he had purchased the socks, but his letter left the impression that they were a gift. She received no reply from the second note.

In reply to an enquiry if she had heard from any returned soldier that socks were sold she said that nothing of the kind had come unless a soldier who had two or three pairs would sell a pair in order to secure a little spending money, but not to make gain out of the transaction.

Sugar the Most Common Boost.

The world has a sweet tooth. It would be absurd to find indigestion and probably impossible to find a people who do not like sweets. And of all sweets the most common and practically all of which is produced from the sugar cane and the beetroot, the beetroot being the source of somewhat more than half the supply. Sugar not only pleases the palate, but it helps to sustain the body, for though it is not sufficient itself, it forms a very useful component of foods, being easily digestible and assimilable.

Injecting Ink into the Eye.

Sometimes even a scar has been left on the cornea of the eye it is most unsightly. Oculists used to tattoo these scars with India ink, but the method was not satisfactory and has almost been abandoned. Dr. F. E. Weeks of Boston describes in the Journal of the American Medical Association the India ink with a hypodermic syringe into the cornea, and says the results are far superior to the old-fashioned tattooing.

Garden Hose Restores Vision.

Garden hose, at full pressure, restored a man's sight at the Cook County Hospital, Chicago, recently. The man, Charles Brown fell 40 feet from the roof of his home. Neighbors turned the garden hose on his head as a first aid measure and after an examination Brown was found to be the better in the left eye and that vision in the injured eye was completely cured. He is wondering whether it was the fall or the garden hose that was responsible.

History of the Louvre.

The Louvre was originally a royal residence. Napoleon turned it into a museum and deposited in it the art collections of palaces, statues and art treasures known in the world. Many treasures were brought from Italy and restored to their rightful possessors. The magnificent building of the west wing was begun by Napoleon I and completed by Napoleon III, were inaugurated in 1857.

Severe Test.

Perhaps no test of one's poise and mental dexterity is more severe than that of sedentary and intellectual pursuits than the effort to pick up one of eight pins scattered on a mantelpiece seeds from the tnlnletbth with his left hand without accommodation and a knowledge of the principle involved.

Careless Shampooing Spoils the Hair

If you want to keep your hair healthy it should be cared for what you wash it with. Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle, and lifeless.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and greaseless, and is better than anything else for steady use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub in the oil, making a perfect lather, then creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft and the hair fine and silky, fluffy, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at any pharmacy. It's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

HUN DESTROYED BY BRITISH AIRPLANE.

CHICAGO, May 27. — Instead of being safely sent away in a service flag when a member enlists for military service the I.W.W. expels its members who join the colors.

This was disclosed at the trial of 113 I.W.W. officials.

Documentary evidence introduced by the government shows that at least nine I.W.W. members have been expelled for enlisting in the United States army or in the service of the allies.

MILK IN THE WARM WEATHER

Proper Care of Dairy Products in the Summer Time—Everything Depends Will Help to Relieve Farm Labor Shortage—Stick to It Is Motto of This Year.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

THIS year is mightier than the sword — especially when it has a pig in it. Then, too, it has a big pig by 40,000. Multiply this again by 200 lbs., and an imposing total of 8,000,000 lbs is reached—a mountain of pork, indeed, than were exported by Canada shortly before the war. Yet Canada could produce this huge quantity by utilizing a valuable food commodity that at present is almost entirely wasted on the farms of our towns and cities.

This is the evidence given by a committee appointed by the Agricultural Section of the Ontario Organization of Food Conservation, to investigate the feeding of garbage to swine. The commission consisted of J. E. Brethour, Burford; Geo. H. Johnson, Walkerville, and Justus Miller, Lansdowne. These gentlemen have lately returned from a tour of American cities where garbage is fed freely and are of the opinion that Ontario ought not to delay longer in the matter.

The salient points of their report which has been prepared regarding their findings are briefly: (1) That garbage has a feeding value equivalent to $8 a ton; (2) that it should be fed to hogs only after cooking; (3) it should not be heated, washed or strained; (4) that residents of towns and cities where garbage is to be fed, should separate their garbage; (5) that cities refuse only in a separate consignment for cars carrying 100,000 of population a minimum of 4,000 cans of garbage is produced each day, which will feed 2,000 hogs; (6) that the daily ration per animal for one month fed for hog cholera must be given to make the pork safe; (7) that the feeding value of our garbage has been fed to hogs already but is not advertising and that the Veterinary Director-General compelled feeders to sterilize garbage by the boiling of steaming process and prohibited the feeding of raw garbage. The deadly treatment against cholera. Since returning to Canada the investigating committee has taken the matter up with Dr. Torrance, here, and has also secured his permission to allow uncooked garbage to be fed and hogs to be given the double treatment, subject to veterinary supervision. Considerable information may be secured by consulting the bulletins of the Department of Agriculture, Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

Supplying Milk for City Trade.

"Safety first" is a good motto in the supplying of milk. To make milk safe it must be drawn from healthy cows—preferably cows which have passed the tuberculin test; the stable, pasture and surroundings must be clean; the utensils which come in contact with the milk must be clean; the persons handling the milk should be in a living advantage of personal cleanliness; the delivery wagon, too, must be clean and the milk cool. In order that assurance of safety may be given to the milk of the patrons to pasteurize the milk,—that is, heat it to 140 degrees for 20 minutes. Heating to this temperature for twenty to thirty minutes, then cooling to 50 degrees or below and held at this temperature until delivered, will kill the germs. Pasteurized milk is the safest kind of milk for family use.

The person buying milk has certain duties in the matter which he should conduct, especially for children. Among these are: Keeping the bottles filled with milk at once on delivery in a refrigerator or cool cellar, protected from dust and odors, and by keeping it in a tightly-closed vessel. Similarly in a tightly-closed vessel. Similarly in the bottle covered with an inverted glass tumbler. Milk bottles should be emptied and milk-can should be wiped to remove dust before taking to the house. The bottles in which milk should be taken from the supply bottle so that it may be kept clean and "cool, sour" milk, should not be put into the supply bottle again. Milk kept in this will likely spoil the whole of the supply. Milk should be fed to a sick-room should not be used for any of the purposes of cooking. Milk should then only for cooking; milk bottles should be kept for milk only, and should be promptly returned to the milkman—in this connection it is well to remember that for any other purpose than the home than for hastier feeding and a hungry baby. Threshing Gangs for Ontario.

Farmers are shorter of labor this year than they have been before, but in many cases there may be but one man on a farm, perhaps, except for a boy. It will be necessary, therefore, to economize labor in every way possible in order that this year's harvest may be gathered. One line of work completed in preparation for the fall is threshing.

While there are objections to the threshing gang system there is a very large scale this year the Ontario Department of Agriculture is making a study of the proposition of it is carried out. The Ontario Labor Bureau has agreed to provide 5,000 men for threshing gangs if there is a demand for these. With suitable arrangements made by the heads of the province and the Provincial Department of Agriculture there should be no difficulty in organizing a large number of gangs this fall.

The Last Measure of Devotion

(Toronto Globe)

Col. Sam Sharpe, M.P., D.S.O., formerly commanding officer of the 116th Battalion, is dead, the victim of a nervous breakdown brought on by his service at the front. When Col. Sharpe insisted on proceeding overseas with the battalion that he had been largely instrumental in raising there were men who disliked and distrusted him, and incidentally, their shoulders instrumental in raising there were men who disliked and distrusted him, and incidentally, their shoulders and revered at him. "Another political Colonel," they cais; "he will be home again soon."

But Col. Sharpe did not choose the path of cheap and easy glory. He took the battalion to France, and while it was being tempered and tried as a fighting weapon worked prodigiously to make his men fit. Before the battle of Vimy Ridge, the first battle of the Hundred and Sixteenth, and when its Canadian Corps met that, the bloodiest battle played at the cross-roads in the little town of Hooge in the French folk were obviously impressed with the appearance of the "Soldats" from Canada.

The battalion went into the front line shortly after Vimy and I make a fine record in the Arleux-en-Gohelle. One of the biggest and most successful trench raids of the season's campaigning was carried out by Col. Sharpe's men under difficult circumstances. So anxious was the Colonel that there should be no failure in this first important raid of the Canadian Hundred and Sixteenth that on the night before the raid he went out himself into No Man's Land in the dark with some officers to mark out the route to meet the practicable breaches in terns and laid strips of white tape to mark the practicable breaches in the enemy's wire. It was by these narrow tape-marked paths, winding among the deep wire barriers, that the men of Sam Sharpe's command reached the enemy positions with comparatively few casualties.

Soldiers who know that their Commanding Officer has risked his life to make their risks heedless not forget. There will be heartfelt regrets in the quarters of the Ontario county lads he commanded when greets in the quarters of the Ontario county lads he commanded when they learn that their first Colonel lasked. He gave up his life as truly "on the field of honor" as if he had fallen in action.

BELIEVE BARN WAS FIRED

Fire destroyed a barn owned by Edward Barber, Perth Road, together with a quantity of furniture which was stored in it. Incendiarism is suspected, as an auto was near the place when the fire broke out and it quickly left for the city. Near the gate a blank handkerchief with a number was found and it may prove a clue.

SEVERE ELECTRIC STORM

This city and vicinity were last night about 10.30 visited by a severe electrical storm but fortunately no damage resulted. The lightning was vivid, the thunder at times deafening, while rain descended in considerable quantities. The latter will have a most beneficial effect on crops, which are very promising.

PROF. HUNT PLAYED

Inadvertently yesterday the name of Prof. Wheatley took the place of Prof. Hunt in the report of the Queen street church Sunday School anniversary services. Rev. Dr. Young's charming recital of a child's love story was delightfully illuminated and illustrated by the sympathetic and expressive selections on the organ played by Prof. Hunt, who so catered into the spirit of the occasion that the organ breathed of leafy wooded aisles, singing birds and purling streams with baby feet pattering over the leaves in search of the great happiness at the end of the rainbow, somewhere in Friendship Village, and the children enjoyed every moment of the service, musical and recitative, and had no difficulty in understanding the lessons which the service illustrated so beautifully.

A PLEASED SOLDIER

It is very gratifying to receive from one of our gallant soldiers who is fighting for us at the front, such a graceful response as the following, received by Mrs. (Dr.) Farley, which speaks for itself:

France May 3, 1912

Dear Mrs. Farley:—I take this opportunity to thank you exceedingly for the gift of tobacco and cigarettes. The feeling it conveys to a soldier in the field to know that he is thought of by some kind though unknown friend, gives him heart to carry on in this great fight for mankind. I am not unacquainted with Canada beyond Canso Borden, where I did my training, having lived in New York for many years. However, I am a Britisher and have been in France nearly a year, and have seen a good deal of the battle fronts.

Thanking you again, I remain,
Yours sincerely,
FRANK KENNEDY.

JUNGLE FOLK AND TARZAN

Those who are reading the new serial story published in The Intelligencer, "The Return of Tarzan," find the tale very thrilling and full of interest. The story has a charm peculiar to these strange jungle stories which are now being placed upon the motion picture screen. At the Regent, Toronto's fashionable silent drama theatre, this week the feature attraction is "Tarzan of the Apes," companion story to "The Return of Tarzan." So strong is this attraction that many people are turned away from every performance. No person should miss reading "The Return of Tarzan." Get the back numbers and begin now and see it illustrated upon the screen later on.

PLENTY OF COAL

FULL COAL SUPPLIES.

Citizens Should Place Orders Now for Normal Supply.

Having consulted with all the Coal Dealers in this City of Belleville with a view to ascertaining the quantities of coal the various dealers have received during the present season so far, and the quantity likely to be received during the balance of the season, I have ratified myself that the dealers have done exceedingly well in regard to the quantity of coal already in and promised for, and it is my opinion that the Fuel Controller's restriction to 70 per cent. deliveries be waived in regulation; leave this matter to the Local Commissioners' discretion. I would advise all parties to purchase the z full normal coal supply from the dealers, as early as possible, and I do hereby waive the clause in the restriction restricting deliveries to 70 per cent. for the present.

I would also draw the attention of those who purchased or received loads to the necessity of purchasing a license from the Fuel Controller at Ottawa which can be obtained for the sum of twenty-five ($25.00) dollars the penalty for non-observance being a fine of one thousand ($1,000) dollars.

June 3rd Event to be Brilliant Success

Live Interest Being Taken For Miles Around In Veterans Big Celebration On King's Birthday

The Great War Veterans' determination to make their first annual event "Belleville's Biggest Day" seems well to meet with complete success, for reports from all the surrounding districts and towns state that the great majority of the populace will sigrat- to Belleville on that day. Last evening the entertainment committee brought in its final programme, and the announcement that such a feature of real genuine fun and sport could be crammed into one day. Something doing every minute, seems to have been the slogan of this committee. Horsemen from all over Ontario are taking the keenest interest in the racing events and the fastest races ever seen on the local track are assured. Spend the big day of your life with Canada's heroes.

Great Activity In Y.M.C.A. Work

Encouraging Reports Presented At Annual Meeting Of Belleville Y.M.C.A. Last Evening

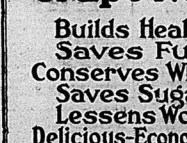

The annual meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association was held Monday evening, May 27th. Reports of the various departments were presented. The membership report shows that the number of members enrolled at present is 215. Owing to the fact that a large number of boys have gone on the farms this spring the membership has dropped considerably during the last two months of the year. The Boys' Division shows a very good season's work under the direction of H. P. Ellis and also the Physical Department, which had a total attendance for gymnasium and baths of 5094.

A number of permanent repairs made on the building were necessary. Mr. D. V. Sinclair, Chairman of the Finance Committee, presented the following financial statement of operations and also a statement of assets and liabilities.

It was moved by Dr. Yeoman, seconded by Mr. E. R. McBride, that the thanks of the Board of Directors be tendered to the staff, Mr. P. F. Brockel, H. P. Ellis and Miss Forman for the way in which they had carried on their work during the past year in spite of the many difficulties that have presented themselves at this time on account of war conditions. Th's was unanimously passed by the Board. It was further moved by Mr. McBride, seconded by Dr. Yeoman, that the thanks of the Board be conveyed to the Ladies' Auxiliary for their excellent help during the past year. They have not only helped in social events, but have raised a considerable amount of money to help carry on the work.

The Nominating Committee reported as follows:

The great battle now raging in France will no doubt touch with sorrow many Canadian homes, and messages of loved ones having been killed or wounded may be expected to reach Belleville home. FINDING A DESIRABLE WIFE

Lonely Young Pioneer Who Did Not Know How, Found It Was Really Quite Easy

In a new settlement in the thick forest, 20 miles or more from a city and 100 miles of railway, there remained a woman and a few scattered homesteaders who worked at the mill. The woman was running the boarding-house for their little clearings at other times, returns a writer in the Chicago Tribune.

One day in the cook's camp she sat at ease with the mill, the men and his wife in charge began telling the woman of the lonely life they must endure and she asked why they neither brought the whole community without a wife and family.

"How can I help it?" said he. "There are no marriageable women that I know."

"Oh, there are lots of them that would be glad of a good home such as you could furnish," said they.

"Well, you just find me one and I'll marry her," said I will make you a present of the best cow on the place."

Not to be bluffed, they accepted his proposition. Then they got busy, ran over their list of eligible women in the city, finally selecting for their matrimonial experiment, a middle-aged lady of their acquaintance, living with her married sister in the city.

The victim selected for the sacrifice had reached that age when unmarried women cease to celebrate birthdays and begin to regard the tapering end of statistical possibility with more or less chagrin. The homesteader was about the same age, and, evidently, just as much concerned as he future on earth. A friendly invitation was forthwith extended to the lady to spend a week with the cook's family at the camp. It was innocently accepted.

The homesteader was conveniently invited in a Sunday dinner with the cook's family, and the tragedy was staged.

A case of love and desperation at first sight. In the afternoon, chaperoned by the cook and his wife, the party casually strolled over to the homesteader's bungalow, where they found everything "spick and span," with just enough incongruity in the arrangement to make the figure of the orderly housekeeper tingle with ambition to put things in their proper corners.

A few months later the records in the county clerk's office gave a list of further developments, which were duly noted at the sister's home in the city. The happy couple at once settled in their new home "and lived happily ever afterward."

In the excitement the poor cow was crowded off the stage and neglected by the matchmakers, but a short time before leaving out one morning the new Mr. Homesteader driving a cow into camp—as good as his word.

South African Shoe Trade.

Cape Province has numerous firms which manufacture boots and shoes. Many of these are engaged in the production of high-class footwear though, as a rule, the better class of footwear that is popular in this country, is obtained from overseas, writes Consul General George H. Murphy, Cape Town, to the foreign merchant. Only highly specialized factories, is able, with the aid of the importing merchant to feed the market here with enormous quantities of boots and shoes, either made for the South African trade, or for filling a part of his surplus output. The result is that the South African purchaser is unable to command a sufficient quantity to warrant the effort of his plant to meet large calls which may be made by the wholesaler. He must, therefore, depend on the smaller, high-grade footwear in small quantities for the retailer.

Large quantities of boots and shoes are being received from the United States, partly as a result of the possibility of obtaining adequate supplies elsewhere.

When the Doctors Despaired.

There have been remarkable cures during the war many being cured by accidental means, such as a sudden attack by an unexpected visitor, or as a startling question, and in one case at least a midnight fall out of bed. In this case the strangest cause belongs to a former U. S. observer a correspondent tells where a soldier lay 15 months under the influence of catalepsy. Finally, in despair, doctors ordered his bed moved pipes to be played near the patient's head. Bed, did the trick.

There is a story told of a skipper who had a medicine-chest containing a bottle labeled one to seven. For dyspepsia he administered a stiff dose of No. 1. For sciatica, No. 2 was the potion, and for rheumatism, No. 3 seemed to work the oracle. Then on a certain voyage the skipper ran out of No. 7, so when next a member of the crew had a pain in his middle he gave him with a mixture of 2 plus 5. Nobody ever quite found out during that voyage, or, at any rate, confessed to having one.

It has been proposed to enable the ships to be sent without delay the admission of associates, and the organization of purchases, insurance, freighting, etc.

Coal For Storage In Great Demand

Ranks Of Coal Miners Are Depleted By Draft And War Industries

NEW YORK, May 29—In its weekly review of the coal situation the Coal Age says that both the bituminous and anthracite mines are approaching maximum production. But even if continued at this rate for the rest of the year the country will still be faced with a fuel shortage unless immediate steps are taken to conserve every single ton. Railroads, power plants and other consumers that formerly burned high grade coals should readjust their equipment and use the coals allotted their respective districts by the Fuel Administration, even if the coals so available are of an inferior quality. Only in this way will the vitally essential boiler metallurgical and by-product demands be met and the domestic requirements be satisfied. Furthermore it is pointed out more and more apparent that plants other than those directly at work on supplies to aid in winning the war will receive little consideration so far as fuel is concerned.

The question of labor is now one of paramount importance. Sadly depleted by the draft and the return of many of its workers to the farms, the coal mining ranks are being still further demoralized by the enticing appeals of war industries. Working on a regular base, munitions plant and shipyards offer almost any wage in order to get enough men. It would be well if by this system in the coal fields, that is now we will be confronted by a shutdown of industries due to lack of coal that will make "Useless Monday" appear a pleasured in comparison.

Market conditions are strong and active in every way, with the demand for coal for storage purposes sufficiently large to take care of all the available fuel. While early in the season it was proposed to ship no domestic sizes of anthracite to manufacturing plants, it has already become necessary to make exceptions to this to the extent of over 2,000,000 tons for war work. The attachment for consumers is also sure to be enormous and probably much larger than at first considered necessary. Briefly it will therefore for domestic consumers who have not already done so to order their coal immediately, if they wish to make certain of getting a supply before cold weather.

Three Months For Seditious Libel

TORONTO, May 29. — Three months' imprisonment was the penalty imposed on Isaac Bainbridge by Mr. Justice Latchford at the Assizes when the prisoner was brought up for sentence on a charge of publishing seditious libel in the Canadian Forward. Bainbridge was convicted by Mr. Latchford in the Spring Assizes a year ago, but was allowed out on suspended sentence. In the interval he was tried again on a similar charge by Mr. Justice Hodgins, convicted, and sentenced to nine months' imprisonment. After having served three months, the conviction was quashed in the Court of Appeal because the indictment had been wrongly amended. "Your conduct has not been as good as it might since," last ye got on suspended sentence," said the Lordship.

Terrible Revolution In Russia Now Believed To Be Certain

ROME, May 29.—The possibility of a new revolution in Russia is causing lively expression in Austria, according to the Cass, a newspaper published in Cracow. The correspondent says of foodstuffs is the impelling cause of the unrest.

The Cass which is generally well informed explains that Russia is without enough grain to feed the population until the next harvest, according to the recent reduced rations. It is feared that this revolution which is directed against the Bolsheviki, will be the most terrible of all Russian events. Unofficial reports that the Soviet Republic of the Bolsheviki followers in Ukrainia is incredible. Not only have all farm supplies been destroyed with their contents, many of them including priceless manuscript libraries, but the insurgents' favorite method of killing is to crucify each victim on two trees with the right arms and legs on three trees and the left arm on the other.

Petrograd reports that the masses are worried of disorders because they see they are no better off.

Y.M.C.A. Gives Away Fags Free At Front

The Emergency Ration Entering Trenches Totalled Last Year $1,500,000

NEW YORK, May 29.—Reports from various war correspondents of the New York Times that American soldiers at the front were considerably dissatisfied with the prices charged for tobacco by the Y.M.C.A. at its huts behind the lines were laid before Dr. Jorn R. Mott, general secretary of the Y.M.C.A. when he was in this country. He was told that the organization gave away an enormous quantity of tobacco he said that which was sold.

It was the general practice, he said, to give cigarets free of charge to soldiers in the front line trenches or just leaving them, or in other emergencies. He estimated that the quantity thus given away last year by the Y.M.C.A. would exceed in value $1,500,000, in addition to the large quantities given for free distribution through the Y.M.C.A. by private individuals.

"This matter was looked into very carefully not long ago," said Dr. Mott, "and it was found to be quite clear that even when tobacco is sold at regular retail prices the Y.M.C.A. does not make any profit. The quartermaster's department sells tobacco which it gets at Government rates, and with the transaction, therefore the price is very low compared with that which the Y.M.C.A. has to charge even at cost.

"But I found that the huts made anywhere on individual sales, it is far more than wiped out by the tobacco and cigarets which are given away.

"At the Y.M.C.A. cugouts immediately behind the front line trenches coffee and chocolate are sold at cost. It is not actually holding the line, or to those who are just being relieved. In the course of a year this amounts to hundreds of thousands of dollars worth. I have just returned from France, and while there I saw this practice being followed as to troops who were at the front or were coming away.

"This is also the custom in large troop movements. I saw one division being transferred from one sector of the line to another. Troop trains kept coming through for forty-eight hours. The Y.M.C.A. was there all the time with coffee, cake, and got hot-coffee or hot chocolate to every man. I was told that as those troops reached the Y.M.C.A. workers at the point of departure gave every man a packet of cigarettes and a cup either of coffee or chocolate. Nothing at all is charged in cases such as this, and the total given away last year in this manner, paid for by private contributors, would, I imagine, be nearer $2,000,000 than $1,500,000.

"A further investigation will be made into the matter, and it seems to me that some formal statement of this side of the association's work should be made in France, at the various recreation huts and other centres, in order to clear up any misapprehension. I have no idea that the men remember the cases when they had to pay the regular price, and probably forget at the time that there have been many occasions when tobacco and coffee were administered free."

6,783 Rivets In 9 Hours

LONDON, May 28—The British riveting record has returned to the Clyde according to a despatch to the Daily Mail from Glasgow. William Smith of Scotstoun on Saturday in the yards of John Brown and Co., at Clydebank, hammered in 6,783 rivets in the tops of his boats all previous records and 1,000 more than 900 better than the mark held by William ores at Barrow earlier last week.

Smith's riveting was done on a frame of a ship. His best hour was the sixth when he put in 888 rivets.

THIS MORNING'S FRENCH OFFICIAL REPORT STATED THAT "NO IMPORTANT LINE OF COMMUNICATION IS YET THREATENED BY ADVANCE OF GERMAN CROWN PRINCE ANOTHER FORTY-EIGHT HOURS WILL SEE GERMAN DRIVE DEFINITELY STOPPED, SAY MILITARY EXPERTS ON THE SCENE — FRENCH RESERVES MOVING UP IN PERFECT ORDER IN RACE WITH GERMANS FOR MOST FAVORABLE BATTLE GROUND — ALLIES FELL BACK SLOWLY YESTERDAY BEFORE GREAT MASSES OF GERMANS TO GIVE TIME FOR ALLIED RESERVES TO COME UP.

Special Despatches to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

PARIS, May 29.—General Foch now has the situation well in hand and French troops are beginning to gain on the German advanced forces in a contest of speed. No important line of communication is yet threatened by the advance of the German Crown Prince. Those on the scene declare that it is not too much to say that another forty-eight hours will see the German drive definitely stopped. High praise is given the French reserves for the perfect order in which they are coming into the fighting line.

HUNS MADE SLIGHT PROGRESS.

With the French Army in France, Tuesday night.—(By Asspciated Press)—The German offensive made only slight progress today. Seeing heavy masses opposed to them, the Allies gave way in the centre and in places the enemy crossed both the Aisne and the Vesle.

The Allied command perceived, when the German offensive began, that resistance on the lines then held would be impracticable and effected a withdrawal towards stronger positions in order to give the reserves time to come up. The enemy found both flanks were holding, however. The Germans pushed forward as quickly as possible with all the troops at their dispossl, and the Allies gave way, fighting hard. Both French and British troops on the flanks fought with extraordinary courage and succeeded in holding on; notwithstanding the great odds against them. The enemy now has the Aisne river at his back and may find himself in an awkward position when the allied reserves come into action.

LONDON, May 29.—German artillery is active north of Albert and in Flanders east of Robecq, the war office announces.

The enemy fire increased east of Arras and south of Lens. We carried out a successful raid last night southest of Arras, capturing prisoners and machine guns. Prisoners were taken by us also during the night north of Merville. A raid attempted by the enemy at Givenchy les La-Bassee was repulsed. An attack on our posts at Ypres was repulsed after hard fighting. The artillery has been active north of Albert in the neighborhood of Ailette, east of Robecq.

U. S. BUDDIES ENGAGED.

PARIS, May 29.—(Official)—American troops to the west of Montdidier repulsed two German counter attacks against the village of Cantigny.

Fighting is going on with varying success on the southern bank of the Vesle River where French troops are bravely and admirably defending their positions.

PARIS, May 29.—French troops have fallen back to the eastern outskirts of Soissons, where the battle continues with bittemess, the French war office announced this afternoon.

French and British troops, the statement adds, have fallen back to southeast of St. Thery, where they are holding positions between the Vesle and Aisne canals.

Brilliant Victories of Italians 12,000 Above The Sea

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

Italian Army Headquarters, Tuesday, by Associated Press.—The most brilliant mountain operations since the beginning of the war were carried out by the Italians in the Tonale region, northwest of Trent, early this week, particulars regarding which are now being received. The basin of Presena Lake was captured by Italian Alpini after forty hours of fierce fighting against a numerically superior enemy at a level of 12,000 feet above the sea.

Sixteen Insane Patients Were Burned to Death In Columbia

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

COLUMBIA, S.C., May 29.—Fire early today destroyed a ward at the State Hospital for the Insane, resulting in the burning to death of at least sixteen patients. Eleven other patients are missing and five were badly burned, one of whom afterward died.

American troops delivered an attack against the Germans near Montdidier and fought their way through all obpetitives, captured 140 prisoners, and advanced one mile.

At least 25 German dirisions took part in the attack on the British and French yesterday and forced the allies back. Tanks, machine guns and poison gas were used by the enemy. The German claim to have taken fifteen thousand prisoners. The battle is still raging.

The Germans succeeded in crossing the Vesle River in the region of Bazoches and Fismis but the advance was stopped on the heights north-east of Soissons.

"The Girl From Kokomo" Made A Big Hit At Griffin's Theatre

Fine Presentation Of Merry Musical Farce Comedy By Belleville Amateurs Under Direction of Mr. W.L. Doyle—Mirth Music And Constant Laughter—Crowded House

Amateur dramatic performances always have a certain attractiveness on account of the novelty of recognizing familiar faces in unfamiliar roles, while dramatic talent is not expected or materialize to any great extent in productions of this kind. However a departure from this general rule was witnessed this evening in the presentation of "The Girl From Kokomo," by local amateurs at Griffin's Theatre, under the auspices of Argyle Chapter, I.O.D.E. The production was admirably staged and presented in a smooth and finished manner, which ranked well with any first-night professional production. The play is unfolded to the accompaniment of a merry musical score in which a large chorus, trained to the minute and fully competent, sang every

WOMEN ARE NEEDED TO HELP IN WAR

Women can be usefully employed in nursing the wounded, in caring for the soldiers' kits, and a thousand other ways. Many women are weak, pale or anemic from women's ills. For young girls just entering womanhood, for women in the critical time; nursing mothers and every woman who is "run-down," and for Nervousness—Dodd's Kidney Pills are unequalled.

Dodd's Pharmacy Prescription is a special, safe and certain help. It can now be had in tablet form, prepared at the good drug store, or send Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., 10 cents for trial package. Branch office, Bridgeburg, Ont.

St. Catharines, Ont.—"I have taken Dodd's Pharmacy Prescription while I felt especially in need of a tonic and it benefited me greatly. I always take pleasure in recommending "Prescription" to young mothers, feeling sure they will never fail to help them."—Mrs. J. H. Farmer.

Strafford, Ont.—"I do think Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription one of the best medicines I have ever known for the ailments of women. I had five children and long time been all run-down, weak and nervous, discouraged, but nothing seemed to give me relief until I began taking 'Favorite Prescription.' The change in me was such wonderful relief that I am glad to recommend it to others."—Mrs. A. Gorrie, 60 Brant St.

A Good Year In Y.M.C.A. Work

The following reports were presented at the meeting of the Belleville Y. M. C. A. held Monday evening:

Secretary's Report.

The past year has been largely one of adjustment to the situation on the part of your secretary. While the association problems are similar always the community and relationships differ, and it is not always easy to work in entirely new surroundings.

The programme of work carried out may not have been spectacular but we have tried to meet the problems that have arisen and carry on a reasonably active policy of work. Our work has been concerned with boys this year, but has been very well worth while. Our records show that the boys have taken good advantage of the facilities offered; 4,699 men and boys have used the gymnasium and shower baths during the year, quite a number have been taught to swim. In addition to this, 306 girls have used our gymnasium and baths.

The physical report will give details along these lines that will be interesting. Our Boys' report will show that the Boys' Department and social activities have been well attended and much appreciated by the boys. Several groups have met for Bible study in the Boys' Department and a number of mass meetings were held during the year as otherwise listed on department reports.

The financial statement will show that the operation for the year amounts to $4,806.39. Of this we received $2,412 from the Efficiency Fund. The balance is made up by current receipts and a loan from the bank of $2,200. This is not as good a showing as we would like, but is quite within reason in regard to other past years, especially when we take into account the great number of members we have lost for overseas service.

Steps will be taken to provide for this bank overdraft during May of the new year and we should have a good year financially for the next twelve months.

Our dormitories have been used fairly well, the returns being $150.00 better than the previous year, and present indications are that the returns will be somewhat better than in the past.

The circus held in April seemed to create an interest of the right kind in the community and provided entertainment and possibly some advertising for our work.

Mr. Harry Ellis has been with us since September and has had charge of the boys' work and the majority of the physical work and we believe his work has been such to make our physical and boys' department popular with the boys. We are satisfied that this year will show returns for the time he has spent on this work this year.

The help that we have had from the Ladies' Auxiliary, both financially and with social events, has been such that we must commend them very highly for their fine interest in spite of many other calls upon their time for community service in connection with war activities.

The Board of Directors and committees men have responded nobly to every call, especially our worthy finance committee, Mr. H. V. Simmons, who has been a tower of strength to your secretary in looking after financial matters. The local pastors have always been very kind in co-operating with us in our work and also the local press who deserve the very best thanks for their courtesy at all times.

While we cannot be entirely satisfied with the past year's work, we have endeavored to render a worthy service and we trust that the year to come will be a better year from every standpoint and that we may have continued good fellowship with the Belleville friends.

Allied Fighting Spirit Perfect

(By Wm. Phillips Simms)

With the British Armies in France, May 29.—I have just returned from an extensive trip among the British, French and American troops in the back areas. The fighting spirit everywhere is perfect. Everybody's head is up, and they are all thoroughly confident that the Germans will have little success in the coming drive.

Spring Valley, Ill.—"For many months I suffered from periodic pains—I became so nervous I could not attend to my household duties. I received no relief—then I explained my trouble to another doctor and he advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Soon after taking it I began to notice a change for the better, and after taking six bottles I am in perfect health, and I cannot thank enough for the relief it has given me."—Miss KATE LAWRENCE, Box 225, Spring Valley, Ill.

School girls and girls who are employed at home or in some occupation should not continue to suffer torturers at such times, but profit by the experience of Miss Lawrence and thousands of others who have tried this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and found relief from such suffering. If complications exist write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of their 40 years experience in advising girls on this subject is at your service.

Clear, Keen, sharp vision does not by any means indicate perfect eyes—eyes that perform their functions properly.

Many eyes are wasteful of nervous energy. They give good vision, but rob the other organs in doing so.

It is our work as Optometrist (sight specialist) to prevent this nerve ending waste of vitality. Our examination is very thorough.

When it was learned that Percy Allison was called to leave his home and join the colors on May 15, his neighbors got a send and bet his farm leave without showing in some way the high esteem in which he is held as one of the best of neighbors, ever ready to lend a helping hand. Rupture Is Curable

Results Not Influenced By Age Or Length Of Time Standing, Reports Expert

Rupture is not a fatal or incurable disease, as commonly supposed, but it is a stretching or dilation of a natural opening, says J. Y. Ezzi of Toronto, the noted rupture appliance specialist who will visit Belleville, Crystal Hotel, Monday afternoon and night, Tuesday all day till 4 p.m. May 14, 15, 16. Says Mr. Ezzi, "Cure in rupture" as now used and understood means not only relief in case of rupture perfectly, affording immediate and complete comfort, but, in addition, a natural cure to close the opening in the shortest time known. This appliance has received highest awards wherever shown, producing results without harmful injections or other aids. Mr. Ezzi has testimonial from our own section for inspection. If interested, call; he will be pleased to show you same without charge or obligation."

FULL COAL SUPPLIES. Citizens Should Place Their Row for Normal Supply.

Having consulted with all the Coal Dealers in the City of Belleville with a view to ascertaining the quantity of coal on hand, the orders received during the present season to date, and the probable demand required during the balance of the season, I have reached the conclusion that the supply is ample, and that the orders received can be completed as well in regard to time as they have already been arranged for, and it is my opinion that the Fuel Controller will not call on 50 per cent. deliveries to be waived in order to supply the Province. Representations have the matter in the local Committee, if the purchasers would refer all parties to purchase their fuel nearest their homes, the distribution would be possible, and I do hereby warn the citizens to be careful to avoid paying exorbitant prices for coal. Coal is now selling at the rate of $11.00 per ton for the present.

I would draw the attention of prospective purchasers of coal to the fact that coal is now coming to Belleville from the Fuel Controller at Ottawa by the car load and for this cause twenty-five (25.00) dollars the penalty for non-delivery of a car load of coal instead of ($11.00) dollars per ton.

Ox, Slowest Animal.

There is no animal possessing less speed than an ox. In the old days, before the advent of railroads, it would take a farmer and his ox-team two weeks to make a round trip with twenty-five or thirty bushels of grain to market, a trip which can now be made by rail in half a day. This would be equivalent to jig along at the rate of two or three feet a second.

Starfish are known to continue nearly five per cent. of nitrogen and a small quantity of phosphoric acid. In Japan they are used as a manure.

OUR KHAKI SETTLERS

SOLDIERS SEE PROSPERITY AHEAD FOR KAPUSKASING.

Although Veterans Are Caused to Bush Life, They Find the Change Agreeable and the Germans Impressed—Interesting Entertainment Camp Prove a Source of Entertainment.

THERE is profit and pleasure, labor and lots ahead of the soldier settlers at Kapuskasing, but they only see peace and prosperity ahead. Gazing at the river from the soldier settlement the finest band in Canada played magnificent melodies Sunday afternoon. This landsmen are interned German musicians, who plan a triumphal tour through the Provinces when, as they hope, the Kaiser shall fall victory, but the soldier settlers only see in the Pathenhausen strains, and pay little heed to the expressed desires of the alien artists.

Seventy returned men are there to-day. Forty-four of them have selected one-hundred acre lots in the township. Five of them are already in their log cabins on the farm sites, and twenty more will be settled this month. They are clearing stumps as rapidly as old-time bush farmers did a generation ago, tamping silver birch and balsam is easily removed, but the sturdy roots of the Rock Elm (called white poplar) are hard to pull out. French-Canadian Roman Catholics in this section of the north land regard the last named tree with almost superstitious awe. They will not use this timber for fuel or for purposes. They believe it was from a tree of that kind that the cross of Calvary was made. The soldier settlers lack superstition. They use the wood as fuel and get result.

One settler, who fought with the Princess Patricias, is the first to break ground for the erection of a log cabin, and two others, ex-lumber-jacks, are busy on hundred rabbits, and will soon have fences and stock. Each has drawn on $200 profit on his plot. Since December 1st last his lots have paid an egg a day. He has designs on the vegetable market. His present plans are successfully carried out he will produce from his virgin soil of his farm this season forty thousand head of cabbage, besides enough other kinds.

They have no complaints, the soldier settlers. Each is delighted with Kapuskasing. Early disappointments in the cold have been forgotten since the ice broke on the river, and they have lands and seed ready for the plough. Those already settled are in touch with the outside world by telephone. Every few days a motor car brings supplies and mail. Their nearest neighbor is a French-Canadian family, a place for their children's children.

Those blessed with foresighted vision seem to see in this section of Ontario's wonderlands will boast of their ancestry as proudly as the descendants of the U. E. Loyalists do, do in older Canada to-day.

Few of the men ever worked a farm before. Now they went to Kapuskasing. Their work is hardly to it as they have taken to it kindly. The twenty-year-old daughter of a pioneer who left Ontario to the city, says she will settle in not a succession, and that her sons are driven back to old Ontario. She works as hard as her father works, and he is the oldest man of all there. For twenty years he has been a lumberman in the Kapuskasing district, and has thought all over the empire, during thirty years of service.

The market for the produce of the soldier settlers is assured. A twelve-hundred-horse power pulp mill will be erected in the near future. It is expected that a branch will to thirty thousand horse-power will be generated at the Big Beaver Falls, where the waters of Kapuskasing leap 46 feet in three magnificent falls. Now is ice-rain. The river takes its rise in Lake of the same name 12 miles above the settlement. It joins the Mattagami 12 miles below, later links up with the Moose river and then finds entrance to Hudson' Bay by Bay of James Bay.

The rugged beauty of New Ontario cannot surpass in any place the picture presented where the Kapuskasing River. The waters to-day are tinged with the stain of the bush. Watching them where they glide above the falls, one is impressed by the deep, rich dark brown flood silhouetting over the rocks and there breaking into cream-crested billows of beauty. There are 650 interned aliens at Kapuskasing. During the first year of the war, Col. Fred Clarke, who has since won the D.S.O. with the railway troops in Flanders, succeeded in getting them to clear seven hundred acres of land and construct thirty-five miles of Government road. At the time of his giving up that command, Germans joined Canadians

By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Copyright by Frank A. Munsey Co.

Bwana saw Hanson in the garden and called him to the veranda.

Hanson, paused, then took seats at first for a time. Presently the trader coughed in an embarrassed manner, as though there was something on his mind he felt in duty bound to say, but hated to.

"I will go with you," she whispered.

"What is it, Hanson?" asked Bwana. "You were about to say something, weren't you?"

"Well, you see it's like this," answered Hanson. "Bein' around these evenings a good deal I've seen them two together a bit, and, bein' good friends, you see, but I don't think Mr. Baynes means the girl any good. I've overheard enough to make me think he's tryin' to get her to run off with him."

Bwana, to sit his own ends, bit nearer the truth than he knew. His wife's friendship for Jane Porter had not alarmed him, and he had his opinion as schools both in the matter of Englishmen and get rid of him at the same time.

"I thought," continued the trader, "that, inasmuch as I'm about due to move, you might like to suggest to Mr. Baynes that he go with me. I'd be willin' to take him north to the outstatus trails as a favor to you, sir."

Bwana stood in deep thought for a moment. Presently he looked up.

"Of course," Hanson, Mr. Baynes is my guest," he said, a grim smile lurking in his eye. "Really I cannot accuse him of planning to run away with Herbert on the evidence that we have, and as he is my guest I should hate to be inhospitable enough to ask him to leave. But—I recall bif words correctly it seems to me that he has spoken of returning home, and I am sure that nothing would delight him more than going with you. You say you start to-morrow? I think Mr. Baynes will accompany you."

"Drop over in the morning, if you can, sometime after daylight, and I'll run you for keeping a watchful eye on Meriem."

Hanson bid a grin as he turned and sought his saddle. Bwana stepped from the veranda into the study, where he found the Hon. Morison pacing back and forth, evidently in the ill at ease.

"Sherry?" said Bwana, coming directly to the point, "Hanson is leaving for the north country at once. He has taken a great fancy to you and just asked me to say to you that he'd be glad to have you accompany him. Good night, Baynes!"

At Bwana's suggestion Meriem kept to her room the following morning so that after the Hon. Morison Baynes had departed. Hanson had come for him according to fact, he had remained that night with the foreman, Jervis, that they might get an early start.

The farewell scene between the Hon. Morison and his host were of the most formal type, and when, at last, the guest rode away Bwana breathed a sigh of relief. He had been in unpleasant duty, and he was glad that it was over, but he did not regret his action.

He did not mention the subject again to Meriem, and in the days that followed he took, for the young girl, while pupiling the debt of gratitude she felt, and would feel, that Bwana was both proud and sensitive, so that Bwana's action in sending Baynes away from the station no opportunity to explain or defend but had mortified her. Also it did much toward making a martyr of Baynes in her eyes and arousing in her breast a keen feeling of sympathy toward him.

CHAPTER XIII.

Sheeta and Meriem.

As Hanson and Baynes rode toward the forward camp the English-man illustrated a moreover situation. The other was attempting to establish an opening that would lead naturally to the proposition he had in mind. He rode a next behind the Englishman, straining as he noted the soften scowl upon the other's face as Baynes turned his eyes upon him at the remark.

"He thinks a lot of the girl," continued Hanson, "and don't want nobody to marry her and take her away. But it looks to me as though he was doin' her more harm than good by sendin' her away. She ought to marry some time, and she couldn't do better than a fine young gentleman like you."

Baynes, who had at first felt inclined to take offense at the mention of his private affairs by this common fellow, was mollified by Hanson's final remark and immediately commenced to see in him a man of discrimination.

"He's a darned bonder," grumbled the Hon. Morison, "but I'll get even with him. He may be the whole thing in central Africa, but I'm as big as he is in London, and he'll find it out when he comes home."

"If I was you," said Hanson, "I wouldn't let any man keep me from gettin' the girl I want. Between you and me, I ain't got no use for him either, and if I can help you any, why, just call on me."

"It's mighty good of you, Hanson," replied Baynes, warming up a bit. "In what can a fellow do here in this God forsaken hole?"

"I know what I'd do," said Hanson. "I'd take the girl along with me. I'll be leavin' for camp in the morning."

"It can't be done," said Baynes. "He knows this whole blooming country for miles around. He'd be sure to catch us."

"No, he wouldn't; not with me running things," said Hanson. "I've been tracking and hunting here for ten years, and I know as much about the country as he does. If you want to take the girl along I'll help you, and I'll guarantees that there won't nobody catch up with us before we reach the coast.

"I'll tell you what—you write her a note, and I'll get it to her by my head-man. Ask her to meet you to say goodby. She won't refuse that. In the meantime we can be movin' camp a little farther north all the time, and you can make arrangements and she'll be all ready on a certain night. Then her I'll meet her then, while you wait for us in camp. That'll be better, for I know the country well and can cover it quicker than you. You can take a couple of the safari and be movin' along slow toward the north, and the girl and I'll catch up to you."

The balance of the long ride to Hanson's northerly camp was made in silence, for both men were occupied with their own thoughts, most of which were far from being either complimentary or loyal to the other.

As they rode, through the wood the sounds of their careless passage came to the ears of another jungle wayfarer, as it was no other than Korak himself, who perched in a tree.

He moved stealthily through the branches until he came within sight of the riders. His fell is behind he, and following them to Hanson's camp. There the Hon. Morison pitched his tent, which Korak's Hanson gave into the keeping of one of his boys, who started off forthwith with it toward the south. Out of curiosity Korak remained in the vicinity of the camp.

He saw the restless, pacing back and forth beneath the trees of the white man, and he seen resting against the forced marches of the coming flight. Hanson lay in his hammock and smoked. They spoke but little. Korak lay stretched upon a branch among the leaves above them.

In the garden beside the bungalow the Meriem wandered thoughtfully in the moonlight. She still smarted from Bwana's rebuke, the unjust treatment of the Hon. Morison Baynes.

Meriem loved them both and was grateful to them for all that they had done for her, but deep in her heart lapped the savage love of liberty that for her years of untrammeled freedom in the jungle had made part and parcel of her being. Now, for the first time since she had come to them, Meriem felt a prisoner in the house of the Bwanas and My Dear.

Like a caged tigress she girt paced the length of the enclosure. Once she paused near the outer fence, her head turned to one side, listening to the pad of naked human feet just beyond the garden. The sound was not repeated, and she resumed her restless walking. Down to the opposite end of the garden she paced, turned and retraced her steps toward the upper end. Upon the reverse course the bushes that hid the fence, full in the glare of the moonlight, lay a white envelope that had not been there when she had turned about upon the very spot a moment before.

Meriem stopped short in her tracks. Intensing again and sniffing—then she ever the tigress—alert, ready. Beyond the bushes a naked black moved noiselessly, peering through the foliage. He saw her take a step closer to the letter. She had seen it. He rose quietly and following the shadows of the bushes that ran down to the corral, was soon lost to sight.

Meriem's trained ears heard his every movement. She made no attempt to seek closer knowledge of his identity. Already she knew it—Mohammed, the messenger from the Hon. Morison. She stooped and picked up the white envelope. Turning she read the contents easily by the moon's brilliant light.

It was, as she had guessed, from Baynes.

"I cannot go without seeing you again. Come to the clearing early tomorrow morning and say goodby to me. Come alone.

There was a little more—words that made her heart beat faster and a happy flush mount her cheek.

It was still dark when the Hon. Morison Baynes set forth for the trysting place. He fastened upon having a guide, and that he was not sure that he could find the way back to the little clearing.

As a matter of fact, the thought of that beauty rode through the darkness before the sun rose had been too much for his courage. And he craved company.

A black, therefore, preceded him on his horse, while the Hon. Morison, a dark rak, whom the noise in the camp had awakened.

It was 9 o'clock before Baynes drew rein in the clearing. Meriem had not reached the place before Baynes became aware of her presence, and then as he looked up he found the girl at to the head and shoulders of her mount, and Meriem stood in full view. Baynes spurred to meet her.

Korak looked searchingly down upon her, seemingly unthreatening she stood betrmned but that hid her features from his eyes. She was aroused the thought man now.

Korak saw the man take both her hands and draw her close to his breast. His saw the man's face concealed for a moment beneath the same head brim that hid the girl's.

When he looked again they had drawn apart and were conversing earnestly. Korak could see the man urging something upon the girl, evidently that the girl was holding back. There was pleading in the gesticulations, and in which she tossed her head up and to the right, signifying a decision that clinched Korak strongly of Meriem. And then the conversation was broken off, and the man took the girl in his arms again to kiss her goodby.

She turned and walked toward the horse while she had come. The man set his horse watching her. At the edge of the jungle she turned to wave him a final farewell.

"Twilight" and Korak, drawing back her head as she called the words to him across the little distance between them. Then she turned back her head and revealing her face for the first time to the eyes of Korak in the tree-above.

Korak started as though pierced through the heart with an arrow. He trembled and shook the a leaf. His eyes blazed. He leaped to his feet across them, and then he opened them again and looked.

The girl was gone. Only the waving foliage of the jungle's rim where she had passed to the other side.

It was impossible! It could not be true! And yet with his own eyes he had seen his Meriem—older a little, with figure more rounded, with face more maturity, changed in other ways; more beautiful than ever, yet still his little Meriem, he had not seen the dead alive again; he had seen his Meriem in the flesh. She lived and she had died!

He had seen her—he had seen his Meriem! Mohammed had told the truth. And that man sat below him now within easy reach.

Korak the Killer fondled his beauty gaze. He played with the grass rope dangling from his waist. He patted and stroked the hunting knife at his hip. He felt the muscles of his right arm in his drowsy guile, bent the rein to his pony's neck and moved off toward the north.

Still sat Korak the Killer alone among the trees. Now his hands hung idly at his sides. His weapons and what he had intended were forgotten for the moment. Korak was thinking.

He had noted that subtle change in Meriem. She had had the look of one who had been his little half naked Mangani sister, but nevertheless Mangani sister, but nevertheless she had not seemed smooth to him then. But now, in the change that had come over her, he found such she had been, yet no more smooth than she had been in her savage state.

In her had taken place the change. In her he had just seen the birth of the woman. He watched it and civilization, and he shuddered as he recalled that the thing that had planned for her—to be the mate of an ape man, his malicious, cruel uncle.

Meriem loved another! For a long time he let that awful truth sink into his brain. Then he began to work out his future plan of action. In his mind was a great determination. A man and slay him, but there rose to his consciousness the thought "she love him."

Could he slay the creature Meriem loved? Korak the Killer knew that he could not.

Then came a partial decision to follow Meriem and speak with her. He half started and then was ashamed. He knew that he had failed, and thus throws away his life, had thus degrad. Then he determined to go to the little Arab maid who had been his jungle companion, and tell her of her love for her?

For years circumstances had prevented his return to his father and mother, and at last pride had stepped in and prevented. Korak the Killer had no desire of any intention to return. In a spirit of lordly adventure he had cast his lot with the jungle ape. The taking of the crock in the coast inn had filled his children filled with terror of the law and driven him deeper into the wilds. The only child that he had left with the bands of men, both black and white, had had their effect upon his mind while it was yet in a formative state and easily influenced.

"BUDDIES" IN FRANCE SHOW UP THE PRIZES

By Lowell Mellett

With the Americans on the British Front May 29.—Secretary Baker's statement that half a million American soldiers are in France, is not hard to believe after a trip through the British war zone. Without violating the restriction that the number would be limited to five millions—or any other figure—can be easily understood.

The British Military Cross has been awarded to eleven American officers and four men. Most of the officers took part in the defence of the Lucy valley during the great German attack in March, being incorporated in the improvised army of Major-General Carpe, which held back the Germans for six days in the region of St. Quentin. The four privates are cited for heroic conduct on the night of February 23.

At great risk they removed a burning car of munitions from an ammunition dump and placed it under a standpipe, flooding the car and extinguishing the flames.

Those cited include Colonel J. N. Hodges, who commanded the American engineers with Major-General Carey. He had previously been decorated with the Distinguished Service Order.

OUT TO GET 25,000 FOR NAVY LEAGUE

MONTREAL, May 23.—The Quebec division of the Navy League of Canada is out to get 25,000 members between June 25 and 28. James Carruthers, president of the division, explains his reasons for wishing to raise the membership to 25,000, points out that to become a great nation Canada must have its own mercantile fleet. "One of the chief objects of the Navy League of Canada," he said, "is to have enough Canadian sailors to man Canadian ships."

"THE WOMAN

IN THE WEB

THE BEST OF MEDIUMS.

You may talk about your posters on your fences,
You may talk about your signs,
But they don't hold a candle to the power
Of the printed line.
You may talk about your magazines, and
Your dailies and your weeklies,
But I calculate they don't seem to advertise much,
And especially in winter, when the snow is on the ground.

I wonder where your posters and your magazines and your dailies are?
But within the cozy homestead when the parlor stove's aglow,
The newspaper is read aloud to everyone we know.

The farmer sees the painted sign upon the barn and grins,
Two dollars yearly for the space he usually wins,
And there his interest in the ad begins, and
There it ends,
And the same is true of nearly all his neighbors and friends;
But they read the local paper every day or every week,
And in its welcome columns all their information seek,
And you may be quite certain that the ads therein displayed
Are also read with interest and are sure to make some trade.

It stands to reason, my son, that what Fellow buys,
He's going to read and get his money's worth, if he is wise.
The father, mother, uncle, aunt, the daughter and the son,
Are going to read the newspaper, and so is every one.
So it also stands to reason that a local merchant's ad
Will there attract attention, be it either good or bad,
And the newspaper as medium leads all other kinds at its ease,
For that is where the multitude the ad Veritisement sees.

"SWING LOW, SWEET CHARIOT."

BY MYRTLE REED.

Down in the negro quarters on a Georgia plantation stood a quaint little log cabin overlooking cotton fields that were white with their snowy fruit. Here in slavery, living in slavery and apparently destined to die in slavery, old Joe Lee was happy; for to him slavery was not incompatible with a pleasant way of being cared for.

His days of active usefulness were over. He had served long and faithfully in three same station. Selfe, then as a house servant, and later as a coachman, but on account of age and the "misery" in his back, he spent his days in mending harness, telling stories to the children and making knickknags out of the odd bits of rubbish they brought him. His wife, Sally, was head cook at the mansion which stood in another part of the plantation, in the midst of trees and flowers. Down a little further was a tiny brook that sang all the livelong day and turned back, regretfully perhaps, to wind by the window of old Joe's cabin.

"The Prince" was a most hospitable house and usually thronged with guests, for its young mistress had an indulgent husband and money sufficient to gratify every possible whim. Mrs. Langley she was now, but to old Joe she would be "Miss Eunice" always. He had carried her when she was a baby, watched over her when she was ill, and once when a pair of maddened horses dashed down the drive, utterly beyond their owner's control, he had snatched the unconscious child from almost under the wild feet, and—saved her life, they said, but the brave fellow had received internal injury as well and had been able to do nearly nothing since.

"Yes," he said one afternoon, to an appreciative audience of pickaninnies and white children who sat cross-legged around his feet in a truly democratic fashion, "dat ar day war a powerful day a ol' Joe. I war jes a-goin' to de house wen I see dem two hosses a-tearin' down de right whar Miss Eunice war a-playin' wid her doll-buggy. Dey wasn't no time to call her, so I jes grab her and run, an my foot hit a rock an' I didn't know Miss Eunice war my haid in some soft grass an dey didn't nuffin' to me. Under but me 'membrance. Pretty soon I riz myself up an' I see de doctor an ol' Miss war a-standin' over me. Doctor say, he come to all right, an ol' Miss, she jes stoop down and kiss ol' Joe! Think oh dat!

"Den Miss Eunice come in, an ol' Missis say 'mons here dear, and 'see Uncle Joe. He done save yo' life. I don' I see my 'membrance again. Um day Mas's walk in an he say, 'Joe, here's yo' papers, yo's free now, jes as free as I is.' I say Mas'r, I don't want to go away from you an Missis an Miss Eunice. I want to stay here on de plantation, along a yo' ol' woman. And den he wipe his eyes an say, 'I'll go 'long papers to, an Sally say 'no Mas'r, no an Joe don't want to be free, he wants to stay here where we's happies' an Mas'r say he keep done yer papers for us till we done want em. How was mighty fine times for ol Joe!" And he beamed at the children around his feet who had been listening with eyes and mouths wide to the old story.

"Now play something, Uncle," the children cried, and Tommy Langley brought the fiddle that always hung in one corner of the cabin. His eyes brightened at the sight of the old violin, though but he gently put the eager child away, saying, "No, honey, not dis time. I got de misery in my back wuss en ever. Too many millions, ol Joe's-a-gwine to bed."

They obediently trooped out of the cabin and the sad music was dropped on his breast. The gaunt gray figure relished with pain, and he did not move until Sally came in to get his supper.

"Well, honey," she said cheerily, "how's yo back to-day?"

"Jes de same ole wuss, Sally," he replied.

"Den I reckon yo jes' gwi'l get well o' tyme by." Coming closer she dropped a handful of material upon the bunk. "Now wat Miss Eunice send yo, an look mighty fine. She cuttin' pieces fo' de looped shoulders, where a pearlie her head. Has a fan' ol' head to lie on cabin.

Sally smiled to smile, then said feebly, "Miss Eunice mighty good to us, Sally."

Sally assented and moving quickly about the cabin, soon had the evening meal on the table.

"Come Joe, move up to de chair, de rest o' de time I can't see yo."

Regular as Clockwork

This Letter From Newcastle

Is a Message of Good Cheer to People Suffering From Nervous and Kidney Troubles.

Newcastle, Ont., May 28.—Mr. Wilmot had been treated in hospital and at medical spas, but found that cure only came when he used Dr. Chase's medicines.

His kidneys were deranged, circulation was bad, so that he suffered from rheumatism and the nerves were upset by the combined use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills he was enabled to entirely restore his system to health and thereby get rid of the many annoying symptoms.

Mr. H. W. Wilmot, Newcastle, Ont., writes:—

"For the last eighteen months I have suffered from nerve and kidney troubles. My hand would cramp up and also my ankle, and at times my hands were utterly useless. My kidneys pained me and my liver was also deranged. I took doctors' medicine, was in a hospital, and even went to medical springs, but I must say nothing has done me so much good in so short a time as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills. Since using this combined treatment my cramps have completely stopped, and I feel a great deal better. I may also say that the word constipation need never be mentioned since the goodness of Dr. Chase's medicines has been found out by the public. You may use my letter and my name if it will aid others to profit by my experience."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50c a box, a full treatment of 6 boxes for $2.75, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Do not be talked into accepting substitutes. Imitations only disappoint.

Moore of Belleville will be elected President he having received notice of his last year. Rev. Dr. J.F. Wilkinson will administer the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper at the Sunday evening service in Cambridge Street church.

ARRESTED FOR CHURCH FIRE

On Tuesday afternoon the 21st inst. an incipient blaze was discovered in a cloak room of the choir loft of St. Michael's Church in this city. A cassock hanging upon the wall was burned and the woodwork where the article was suspended feeli was charred. It was at the time thought to have been the act of some boy and such proved to be the fact. A boy about 10 years of age was last evening apprehended charged with the offence and it is alleged that he confessed to the crime. He was this morning allowed to return home in his parents charge being detained all night at the Children's Shelter. The alleged culprit will be tried in Children's Court on Wednesday next.

ESCAPED PRISONER RECAPTURED

James George Seldon, the young man who on Sunday last took French leave from the County Jail here to which institution he was recently sentenced to serve six months on a general charges of theft, has been recaptured and is again behind prison bars. Not only will he have to answer a charge of escaping from custody, but at least two other charges of a serious nature, which it is understood are committed on his brief respite from incarceration. On Sunday night the C.N.R. station in Thorlow was broken into and a new suit of blue clothes, some change and a few other articles were stolen, also two bicycles from two foundations and are employed at the Point Ann Cement Works. It was surmised that Seldon was at Point Ann, and last evening, Sergt. Harman, of the local police force, and Mr. Somers, a detective employ of the C. N. R. visited the home of the fugitive from justice and located him. Seldon made an effort to escape, but was prevented. When arrested he was wearing the suit of clothes taken from the Thurlow station premises. The prison garb he wore when he ran away from the jail was found in a bush near the Thurlow station. The two bicycles taken were recovered. One was a new Cleveland wheel, the property of Lon Mallorton, who testified his property. Seldon, we are informed, admitted that he broke into the station premises. The young culprit was brought to the city and locked up in the County Jail. This morning the charges preferred against him were endorsed by the County Magistrate who enlarged the case for a few days as under the circumstances an order from the county judge has to be obtained for his release for trial. Mr. Madoven was given possession of his wheel. Seldon has an unenviable record for escaping from institutions as he has succeeded in escaping from the Children's Shelter and the Industrial School twice. In all probability he will get a term in the Kingston penitentiary.

TWO WHEELS TAKEN

Two bicycles were taken from Grills opera house last night while the performance was taking place. This morning the wheels were found outside of the building. Who took them is not known.

STOLE FROM STATION.

On Sunday night the C. N. R. freight shed at Ernestown was broken into and some articles taken, but what quantity or the value has not yet been ascertained. The affair is being investigated by a C. N. R. detective.

Barrie Appreciates Rev. Mr. Wallace

The new pastor of the Victoria Avenue Baptist Church, Rev. W. Harris Wallace, accompanied by Mrs. Wallace, will take up their church work this evening at the prayer meeting. The departure of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace from Barrie was a source of great regret to the members of the church there and to the citizens generally. The Barrie Examiner speaks of them as follow:

"Rev. W. Harris Wallace completed his ministry in the Barrie Baptist Church last Sunday, prior to leaving to become the pastorate of the Victoria Avenue Baptist Church, Belleville. His earnest discourses were heard with deep interest by his people.

"For his concluding sermon to his flock Rev. Wallace had chosen the timely topic "Grow in Grace," suggested by the wonderful growth in nature all about them.

"Mr. Wallace has been pastor of the Barrie Baptist Church for nearly four years, during which he proved himself an able, earnest and fearless preacher of the gospel and a sympathetic, faithful friend and pastor. Among other denominations also he is held in cordial respect. He took a lively interest in public affairs and served with great acceptance as a member of the hospital board.

"Mr. Wallace is a native of Dundee, Scotland, and came to Canada as a youth in 1887. He graduated from the Y. M. C. A. work in Winnipeg. Later he was missionary in Manitoba, and attended college in Toronto. In 1897 he completed a four-year course at McMaster University and was ordained. From the ministry he went to the Temple Building, Toronto, for five years, in Stouffville for three years, in Toronto and Westmount, Montreal, coming from the latter place to Barrie.

"The call to Belleville was received three times before being accepted. As the congregation is considerably larger than the former, it will afford a wider field for the exercise of Mr. Wallace's energy and ability. Barrie people will regret to lose him, but it is the wish of his many friends here that he may have abundant success in his new sphere of labor."

Ministerial Association.

"On Monday morning a special meeting of the Barrie Ministerial Association was held for the purpose of saying good-bye to Mr. Wallace. A resolution was adopted as follows:

"Dear Mr. Wallace,— Your brethren of the Barrie Ministerial Association, assembled, feel you leave us without expressing to you our sincere appreciation of these gifts and qualities which have endeared you to us all. Your removal from our midst is felt to be a great loss and hindrance to our work, but at the same time we are glad for your sake that your way has been opened to what we trust will be a larger field of service.

"We assure you that our interest in you and your work will never cease, and both you and Mrs. Wallace will be followed by our warm desires and earnest prayers that upon you both, and all you undertake, the blessing of the Most High God may ever rest."

The members present spoke in the highest terms of the deep spirituality, manifest integrity and fine fraternal spirit of Mr. Wallace and wished him and Mrs. Wallace God's richest blessing in their work amid their new surroundings.

"Mr. Wallace expressed his appreciation of the kind things said, and assured the association of the pleasure he had experienced in the fine fraternal spirit existing among all the ministers of Barrie."

Our Men Go Forth, To Conquer Huns

WASHINGTON, May 29. — "These are days when duty stands stark and naked," said President Wilson to Congress today in the war message, "and even with closed eyes, we know it is there. Either we have done our duty or we have not."

SOME TAX SHOTS

Some of Mr. Wilson's tax shots were:

"The fall will see America's greatest businesses flouted.

"We shall eventually turn to new profits and incomes and luxuries for the additional taxes.

"Every country must know what and how to save to prepare for its taxes and bonds.

"Full present tax laws are marred by inequalities which ought to be remedied.

"We dare not go to the elections until we have done our duty to the full.

"We are at the peak and crisis of the war.

"The people of this country are ready and willing to bear any burden and undergo any sacrifice, but we cannot read that thought, as I do, to mean this, that the people of this country are not stirred in the resolute purpose to win this war but are ready and willing to bear any burden and undergo any sacrifice that it may be necessary for them to bear in order to win it. We need not be afraid to tax them, if we lay taxes justly. They must see that the war must be paid for, that it is they who must pay, and if the burden justly and equally laid, no sacrifice made a common cause from which none escape, we can bear it, and all will carry it cheerfully and with a zest of solemn pride."

TO RELIEVE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and 4 ounces of granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Any one who has Catarrh or Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

MUSIC & DRAMA

"THE HEART OF WETONA"

It is seldom in the course of a season that a play comes to town that is as full as it is much to close and unique as many people as has this David Belasco's "The Heart of Wetona," which was given its first presentation at Griffin's on Friday next. It is seldom in the course of several seasons that a play is presented somewhere with such genuine warmth and unfeigned, hilarious laughter as this entertaining mixture of comedy and drama. The story of "The Heart of Wetona" is largely devoted to inviting your laughter and there is much in it that is amusing. It has also one or two moments that are intensely and faithfully dramatic, and several moments that are quite heart-warmy in the tenderness of their sentiment. It is full to the brim with good laughter, sparkling comedy, filled with gems of delightful wit and still it strikes a chord in the heart that vibrates and pulsates with woes of the "make-believe people" of the story. In a word, "The Heart of Wetona" has the assertiveness of a diamond, gleaming and sparkling under any condit on.

"LA TOSCA"—A GREAT PLAY

It would be difficult to find in the whole range of drama and opera a piece that has won more signal renown than La Tosca, which is the author Sardeick's new picture and which will be shown to night. All who saw this great drama at Griffin's Monday night, and the exterior scenes were taken there. Exact duplicates of the castle of St. Angelo, the interior of the Church of St. Andrea and other famous Roman edifices were erected, sometimes only to appear on the screen for a single momentary flash.

Jan Caprice

On the same program in June Caprice in a fine comedy drama called "The Heart of Romance," and is indeed a very romantical picture. In the piece has the educated dog with her and he as usual, given a good account of himself in the new week long list of plays that always holds attention.

A very funny comedy and the third episode of the serial "The Eagle Eye," rounds out a good quality varied photoplay program.

FRANCIS X. BUSHMAN

At the Palace the screen's most popular actor Francis X. Bushman, and Beverly Bayne ayy appearing in a six part photoplay called "The Voice of Conscience." The story is very cleverly written and gives ample scope to Mr. Bushman's ability as a man that can more than hold his own in a parlor. Three other photoplays included in the week's good two-part story called "Dick Carleton," written by that master of short story writers, O. Henry. A current event film showing the many preparations that are being made in the United States for war, completes a quality photoplay program that must be seen to be appreciated.

Mrs. F. X. Bushman, wife of the film star is suing her husband for divorce. Scarcity of steel is hindering the holy boggy business across the border.

CATTLE MARKETS

UNION STOCK YARDS.

TORONTO, May 28.—Trading at the Union Stock Yards yesterday was on a mighty limited scale, a determined effort on the part of buyers in the early hours of the forenoon to make a substantial drop in prices causing practically a deadlock, and it was not until late in the day that the buying movement really got under way, and then it was very early in the evening at the best. At the close there were reported to be about 1,000 cattle unsold and held over for to-day's trading.

The market for sheep, lambs and calves was steady at practically unchanged prices.

The market for hogs was steady for country hogs at 24 to 24½, and unusually warm for a portion of yesterday's sales were made on that basis.

Will Fight Sinn Feiners.

DALLIEBOROUGH, Ireland, May 28.—John Redmond, chairman of the Irish Nationalists, speaking here yesterday declared war to the death on the Sinn Fein. The occasion for his remarks was a meeting of delegates from East Cavan to decide whether the Nationalist party ought to withdraw its candidate and permit the Sinn Feiner, Arthur Griffith, to succeed unopposed.

Dr. Dillon's speech bristled with references to America and appeals to Irishmen not to neglect American opportunities.

"Some English newspapers have quoted the interview I gave to the Associated Press of America as evidence that I have broken off my alliance with the Sinn Fein. My utterances break off what has never existed."

WATERING.

There is always the danger of watering vegetable crops over abundantly. Ontario has been fortunate this spring in the amount of natural watering that the gardens have received, but this does not necessarily apply all over Canada. A city garden should never be watered in the heat of the sun. In any event the water should be applied in as fine a spray as possible. Force will wash out the seeds; flatten the soil, expose the roots to the sun's rays and thus cause the wilting of the plant. As the seeds are all breaking through the ground, should be gently watered in the evening when the watering can, or hose is destructive if used too soon after planting. It is necessary to stir the soil after each rain or watering in order to conserve the moisture.

Particular care must be taken in the watering of transplanted vegetables. It is a good plan to put a little water in the holes before the plants are put in them. Or, on the other hand, the watering may be done immediately after planting while the soil is still loose. This will prevent the plants from wilting.

British Have Many Submarine Cruisers

LONDON, May 29.—The sinking of a German submarine by a British submarine off Cape St. Vincent shows that the British have cruising submarines, and this is only one incident where a submarine has sunk a submarine, says Archibald Hurd, in the Daily Telegraph. The Cape St. Vincent incident took place more than 2,000 nautical miles from Britain.

"In neutral countries," the naval critic adds, "it has been asserted that only the Germans could build submarines capable of operating far out in the Atlantic. Conclusive evidence is now supplied that we also possess submarines which can cruise far afield, remaining at sea many days on end without refilling and revictualling.

MAY ARE IN COMMISSION

"It is indeed no secret to the Germans that soon after the outbreak of the war, a great number of large submarines were laid down in this country. It is also no secret that for many months past many of these craft have been used in submarine hunting. British submarines have been employed in this way with great success. They also have proved useful in convoying."

GERMANY ADMITS LOSS

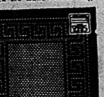

AMSTERDAM, May 29.—In reference to the British announcement on Saturday that a large German submarine had been sunk off Cape St. Vincent, a semi-official statement from Berlin says that no news has been received for a long time from one of the German U-boats operating west of Gibraltar. The loss of submarines in the manner claimed by the British, it is added, must be reckoned with.

Girl Drove Logs All The Spring

But Is Now in Jail or Vagrancy And Posing as a Man

QUEBEC May 29.—"Venus Cote," sturdy bus living at Rimouski, Que., is in the toils because she posed as a man, had her hair cut in military style and went as far as donning man's attire and working in the log driving belt for the Chaleur Bay Pulp Company at Restigouche. "Venus" was in jail at Rimouski, but she escaped last week. After a wide-spread search for her through the bush and open country a posse of Sheriff's Deputies and volunteers located her, half starved, in a cabin at St. Angele de Merici, and, she was brought back to Rimouski, where she will serve her term on a charge of vagrancy and of impersonating a man. She is 23 years old. She says she drove logs all spring in men's clothing, and was not detected till she was given away by a comrade on a spree when the gang struck the civilized world after the log-driving season.

Gigantic Plot Of I.W.W. Exposed

CHICAGO, May 30.—Stories of plots to destroy industries by sabotage were told on the witness stand by Joseph Burdall, former member of the I.W.W., who testified as a Government witness against the 112 I.W.W.'s charged with violating the espionage law. Under cross-examination by counsel for the defense Burdall told of the I.W.W. war in the harvest fields, in the big lumber camps and manufacturing districts. His story of the impassioned anti-American speeches by Germans at the Milwaukee I.W.W. Hall soon after America entered the war remained unshaken under the vigorous questioning of George W. Vanderveer, of defence counsel.

Poisoning From Home Canning

HAMILTON, May 30.—A new disease has appeared in the United States and in England, and may spread into Canada. It is called botulism, and is a form of ptomaine poisoning, 65% of cases coming home canned fruit or vegetables, where the methods used in sterilizing are insufficient.

California in particular is a sufferer from this disease, and Dr. (Capt.) Reynold Dickson of the Army Medical Corps, who has seen its effects there, told the Medical Congress here about it Tuesday.

Capt. Dickson stated that botulism was the recurrence of the "sausage disease" prevalent in southern Germany a hundred years ago. It was then and for many years afterwards thought to be due to spoiled eating, but it has been found that people eating home canned vegetables and fruit contract it.

The food is destroyed by heating. If all home canning is cooked or sterilized, cases of home canned vegetables and fruit should be regarded as suspicious until more is known about the disease, said Capt. Dickson.

Capt. Dickson made it clear that he was not discouraging the use of home canned vegetables and fruit, which a'ts. and conservation, but was warning medical men of certain effects following the increased use consequent in California.

Capt. Dickson was professor of pathology in Leland Stanford University, and recently became attached to the Canadian Army Medical Corps.

We Ought To Resent Slanders

Bishop Bidwell Defends The Canadian Soldiers, Endorses Union Govt.

KINGSTON, May 29—Bishop Bidwell addressing the Anglican Synod of the Diocese of Ontario, defended the Canadian soldiers from the charges of drunkenness and immorality, endorsed the idea of Union Government and urged need of greater unity among the Christian churches.

Regarding the Canadians at the front he said, their heroism and endurance could not be described in words. "We ought," he continued "to resent most strongly the slanders that have been current, regarding their moral conduct and sobriety."

He refeired to the report of the Bishop of Fredericton, whom the House of Bishops sent overseas to investigate conditions there, and declared that his report proved most conclusively the gross exaggeration of some of the statements made "which are declared by those in a position to know to be part of a pro-gan German propaganda to discredit our people."

"We will do all we can to keep our boys from temptation," declared the Bishop, "and at the same time we regret with indignation the disgraceful calumnies which have been circulated by fanatical and irresponsible people who are really guilty of aiding the enemy by such conduct."

IDOL OF PARTY SHATTERED

Touching on the results of politics, he declared, that the idol of party, which seemed to stand on a pedestal form, which it could never be removed has already received a shattering blow under the exigencies of the present situation, to give place to the principle of uniting the best talent available of whatever shade of opinion in the common service. It is to be hoped that this principle will never be lost sight of. We need the very best minds that our country can produce to carry on the government of the nation.

CLOSER CHURCH UNION

Coming to the question of Christian unity, Bishop Bidwell declared, that if the Church was to exercise its proper influence on the world there must be united effort on the part of all who confessed and called themselves Christians. The time had come to consider possibilities of closer union.

Such a union should come, not on the basis of elimination, of even of compromise but of combination of elements of truth and value. The question of closer union should be taken up by the leaders of the Church without delay.

FINANCIAL POSITION

The financial statement presented by R. J. Carson was the most satisfactory in years, and the Church Extension Board's Executive. The receipts on investments showed a gross income of nearly 7 per cent.

Rev. J. W. Joseph was re-elected Clerical Secretary by unanimous vote. After the Bishop's charge which was given at this afternoon session, the Synod heard an address by Rev. R. A. Hilts, General Secretary of Sunday School Work, evening Rev. Arthur Carlisle of Windsor, a returned Chaplain from overseas service, preached in the Synod service in St. George's Cathedral.

GERMAN FLOOD WILL SOON BE DAMMED ALLIED RESERVES HALT HUN ADVANCE

LINE HOLDS FAST, BENT BUT NOT BROKEN

GERMAN PROGRESS YESTERDAY SLOWER — ARRIVAL OF ALLIED RESERVES STOPS ADVANCE OF HUN HORDES — SUPREME CONFIDENCE FELT IN FRANCE OF ABILITY TO TURN NEWEST GERMAN OFFENSIVE INTO DISASTROUS DEFEAT FOR KAISER — FRENCH EVACUATE SOISSONS AFTER DESPERATE STREET FIGHTING IN WHICH GREAT LOSSES ARE INFLICTED UPON THE ENEMY—HUN HIGH COMMAND SHOW SAME RECKLESS DISREGARD OF LIFE WHICH CHARACTERIZED EARLIER STAGES OF OFENSIVE.

HOLDING ENEMY BACK.

PARIS, May 30.—The battle along the fighting front continued all night with the French maintaining the western outlets of Soissons, the war office announced today.

Northwest of Rheims Franco-British forces broke all German assaults and maintained their defensive positions. French reserves are continuing to arrive on the front and the German advance is being resisted with great tenacity.

FRENCH RESISTANCE FOILS HUNS.

The Germans made repeated attempts to break through the defence in Soissons region but were each time held up by the determined French resistance. In the centre of the German advance fighting is taking place in the neighborhood of Vezilly (approximately 18 miles south of Chemin des Dames, where the German attack was launched on Monday.

GERMANS COMPLETELY REPULSED.

LONDON, May 30.—Today's British official statement says: During the night the enemy attacked a strong position known as Route-a-Keep, northwest of Locatbert, and was completely repulsed. We carried out successful minor operations in the neighborhood of Merris and improved our line slightly. We captured prisoners and machine guns in these encounters. A party of our troops raided enemy trenches last night near Locon and brought back prisoners. Hostile artillery has been active east of Vitors-Bretonneux and in Hinges and Robecq sectors.

With the British Army in Flanders, May 30.—Last night produced no big action among the British front in Flanders. By minor operations west of Merris the British advanced a section of their line about two hundred yards.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

PARIS May 30.—The German flood will soon be dammed says a semi-official note issued today summarizing the situation between Rheims and Soissons. The note says: The Germans again progressed yesterday but while on one hand they failed to pierce our line on the other it is comforting to observe that their march was slackened considerably by the arrival of our reserves.

As these coins into place the balance will gradually be restored. The French command retains undiminished confidence, based as it is on the power of our resources and the incomparable valor of our soldiers.

With the American Army in France, May 30.—Our old German lines formed an angle which has now been straightened out. The Americans have obtained good ground commanding a section of plateau-like country. American aerial observers assisted the French in directing the artillery fire

New York, May 30.—The Associated Press yesterday issued the following statement: There has been no letup as yet in the German drive south from the Aisne and both the French and British have been forced to give further ground. Confidence is expressed in Paris, however, that the allied reserves, now rapidly coming up, will shortly turn the scale and stop the enemy advance.

Huns Held in Centre.

Apparently the Germans already are being held in the centre of their advance from the Vesle River, in the vicinity of Fismes, where the point of the German wedge has been thrust. The pressure on both the allied flanks, however, has been such that both have been compelled to fall back.

On the east the Franco-British line has been withdrawn to the easterly outskirts of Soissons, which town is about seven miles south of the nearest point of the battle-line as it existed before the new German drive was begun on Monday. This considerably broadens the west, the front on which the enemy is advancing.

On the east the Franco-British line has been pulled back from above Rheims to Thierry, northwest of Rheims where it rested yesterday, to the heights south and southeast of that town. This also has the effect of widening out the front of the enemy thrust.

Shifting German Blow.

The bringing of Soissons into the battle area may indicate that the weight of the German blow has been shifted in this south-westerly direction, and is being exerted along the valley that leads to Paris from that town. The possibility of the trend of the enemy push being turned in this direction has been foredast by the commentators.

The American town of Montdidier have been proved their worth by resisting another German counter-attack on the new positions won by them yesterday when they drove in to a depth of nearly a mile and captured the village of Cantigny. The Germans were repulsed in their second effort, as in their first, and suffered heavy losses.

Paris, May 30.—American troops have broken two successive German attacks on the newly constituted line of Cantigny, the French War Office announced yesterday.

Penetrated Nearly a Mile.

With the American Army in France, May 29.—The Americans penetrated the German positions to a depth of nearly a mile. Their artillery completely smothered the Germans. The American line now runs 150 to 200 yards east of Cantigny.

British Are Enthusiastic.

By William Philip Simms.

With the British Armies in France, May 30.—Every Britton, from Haig down to the soldiers, is enthusiastic over the way the Americans licked the Germans in the Montdidier region yesterday morning. When I entered a room filled with British officers Tuesday afternoon they spontaneously broke out in a chorus. The meaning of their had just heard that the Americans had taken Cantigny, and it was their way of showing their pleasure.

Promise and Threat.

"It isn't the size of the show that counts in that affair, but the spirit back of it," said one." "It is both a threat and a promise." He meant it was a threat against Germany and a promise to the allies of the bigger thing in the future.

I have known Cantigny well. It is a village which boasts a chateau, situated on a spur about 150 feet above the valley of the Avre, below Montdidier, with Grivesnes and Mesnil-St. Georges it is one of the most important points in this part of the line.

Took 182 Prisoners.

With the Americans in Picardy, May 30.—The final count of German prisoners taken by the Americans in the capture of Cantigny this morning was 182, including five officers.

American losses were light. Artillery activity has increased in all sectors held by American troops.

"Let's Wallop 'Em"

With the Americans in Picardy, May 30.—American troops charged to the capture of Cantigny yelling: "Treat 'em as Germany. Let's wallop heck out of 'em and go on to Berlin."

Back of all headquarters when the guns went over officers waited anxiously for news of the attack. After 45 minutes of fierce fighting a voice came over the field telephone; "Hello; this is Cantigny."

And headquarters knew the American had won their biggest victory of this war to date.

Soissons Evacuated

LONDON May 30.—After desperate resistance and fighting in the streets, lasting several hours, the French evacuated Soissons last night. The civilian population of the town left some days ago. On Monday the enemy fired 1,200 shells into the town. Patients in the hospitals were moved by American light cars, the nurses staying with them to the last.

Tom Mooney Again Sentenced To Death

Sensational California Case Resulting From Preparedness Parade Bomb Outrage

SAN FRANCISCO, May 30.—Thos. J. Mooney, convicted of murder in connection with the Preparedness Day bomb explosion here in 1916, was today sentenced to be hanged on an indeterminate date not less than sixty days nor more than ninety days, from this date, on San Quentin prison.

Sentence was passed by Judge Franklin A. Griffin, who presided at the trial.

Mooney's fate now rests with Governor Stephens, who has a pardon petition before him, and with appeals to President Woodrow Wilson for Executive clemency, based on findings of Federal Judge Dooling that questionable testimony contributing to Mooney's conviction.

Mooney was convicted in February 1917. An earlier death sentence was nullified because an appeal was pending when the date of the first execution arrived. The bomb explosion resulted in the death of ten persons and the injury of thirty-eight others.

Trent Canal To Open Monday

Has Cost Some Six Millions — Completed From L. Ontario to Lake Simcoe

OTTAWA, May 30.—The Trent Canal, begun a generation ago, will be officially opened for navigation from Trenton to Lake Simcoe on Monday next by Hon. Dr. Reid, Minister of Railways and Canals.

The six-foot waterway from the southerly outlet to Lake Ontario at Trenton to Lake Simcoe, via Peterboro has cost something like $6,000,000. The northern half of the waterway, from the Georgian Bay, via the Severn River, will not be completed for some time yet. It will cost another two millions.

Meanwhile the southern portion of the new transportation link of the principally of local benefit in enabling Peterboro and other points along the route to bring in coal and other commodities at lower rates than the railways can give. The canal will accommodate barges of 1,000 tons.

The power developments along the canal is perhaps the country's best return for the millions spent on the undertaking.

Death Sentence for Chinaman

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

PORT SOUND, May 30.—The three-day trial of Juan Sam, Chinese laundryman, who murdered his employer, Wong Jew, here in a very brutal fashion about a year ago, was concluded last night, when the jury returned a verdict of guilty, pronounced by Justice Rose to be hanged on August 3rd. The case was somewhat complicated from the fact that prominent clients of doctors from Toronto differed as to whether defendant was imbecile or was responsible for his actions. Two separate juries decided that he was.

Railway Men Ask Increased Wages

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

MONTREAL, May 30.—A general all round increase in wages of all Canadian railroad employees in all branches, in conformity with the recent award announced by Director-General McAdoo of the United States railroad administration has been asked of all Canadian roads. Representatives of various branches and brotherhoods have waited on W. R. Neal, secretary of the Canadian Railway War Board, with the end in view. No definite action was decided on by the board.

Full Fledged City Post Office For Belleville Citizens

OTTAWA, May 30.— Belleville is to have a really-truly full fledged city post office. Heretofore, for some years the office has been of the "semi-staff" variety. It is something between a village office and a full city establishment. The "semi-staff" office is constitute one of the outstanding anomalies of public service in Canada. In the recent report of the civil service administration at Ottawa, the Dominion Postal Clerks' Association, which is affiliated with the Civil Service Federation of Canada, got in some early and effective work along this line and "semi-staff" seems likely to disappear entirely.

To the public the immediate change will not be great, but to the employees the change of status of the office is a very important matter. It affects their grading and salaries and gives them opportunities that were heretofore denied them from no fault of their own, for simply because that detail of Canada's postal service organization was archaic and unjust.

New American Graves In France Honored By United States Today

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—Memorial Day this year, carrying a deeper meaning because of fuller participation of the United States in the war and more significant because of new American graves in France, was observed today by the American people as a day of public humiliation, prayer and fasting" in accordance with the proclamation of President Wilson issued in response to a resolution of Congress.

Pope's Corpus Christi Day Request Ignored By Hun High Command

PARIS, May 30.—Although the British Government has promised not to carry out any air raids today on account of the feast of Corpus Christi, on any German cities which are not in the vicinity of the front, German long-range guns continued the bombardment of Paris this morning. The firing began at an earlier hour than usual.

No British Raids On Feast Day

Except, Of Course, In Vicinity Of Battlefront—Corpus Christi Concession

LONDON, May 30—The British Government has consented, on religious and human grounds, that, so far as it is concerned there shall be no air raid on cities not in the vicinity of the battle-front during the daytime today, the Feast of Corpus Christi.

This decision followed the receipt through the Vatican of the request recently made by the Archbishop of Cologne, Cardinal Von Hartmann, that in view of the serious damage done lately by British air raids in that city there should be no bombing there during the time of the Corpus Christi procession.

SOMEONE HOAXED LONDON TIMES

LONDON, May 30.—The Times was hoaxed yesterday by someone who sent to it a set of identical verses with Rudyard Kipling's name attached. Thursday the newspaper announces that Kipling's poem is the work of a "humorist" and that it is looking for the forger.

One omission from the manuscript should have warned the editor's suspicions namely the absence of the line "Copyright in the United States."

Kipling's real anonymity inserts, as he never fails to make America pay even for his propaganda poetry.

ADAMS, The Shoeman

Is Now Able To Straighten Up

Had Rheumatism So Bad Was Nearly Helpless—Tanlac Overcomes Trouble

"If you had seen me playing football yesterday with the rest of the boys you'd never have thought I was the same chap just a few weeks ago was so crippled with rheumatism that I couldn't straighten up," said James L. Norman, of 467 Willard Ave., Toronto in telling the other day of his remarkable recovery through the use of Tanlac. Mr. Norman is an expert machinist, holding a responsible position with the John Inglis Co., Ltd., and before coming to Toronto he was for ten years foreman at the Canadian Steel Foundries, Ltd., of Montreal.

"During the past three years," he continued, "I had rheumatism so bad that I was obliged to give up my old position that I had held for ten years. A little over a year ago I had an acute attack that laid me up for three solid months, when I was totally unable to do a thing. The trouble was right in the back, which would feel so stiff and sore when I waked up in the mornings that I could hardly raise myself up, and would have to roll over sideways to get out of bed, and even then it was all I could do to put on my clothes. I was all drawn over like a very old man and if I tried to straighten up or bend way over to tie my shoe I felt just like a sharp knife was sticking in my back. Many a time after going to bed I would suffer such agony that I was unable to get a minutes rest all night long.

"It is utterly impossible for me to describe all the misery I suffered during those three years, and although I tried all kinds of medicines, and was treated by specialists, and had my back massaged time and again, I could get no relief. When I began to read the statements about Tanlac made by so many reliable people I decided to try it, too, though I had little hope that it would benefit me any. Well, sir by the time I had finished my second bottle I could see a decided improvement. I have been taking Tanlac now for some time, and firmly believe that it is the only thing that has kept me on the job. I never have a bit of trouble with my back, the pain and stiffness are completely gone, I never notice any tinges of rheumatism and feel just as supple as I ever was. It is no trouble for me to bend over at my work, and my back is as straight as anybody's. I feel just splendid in every way and can hold up my end of the game when out playing or rassling with the boys. Tanlac has done me more good than all the other medicines I have ever taken put together, and I can't say too much in its praise."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store, in Trenton by J. H. Dickey, in Deseronto by W. J. Malley, in Stirling by J. S. Morton, in Frankford by W. H. Lattimer, in Madoc by J. J. Will Vince, in Marysville by T. J. McAlpine, in Ormsby by Jas. Campbell, and in Thomasburg by J. H. Blakely.

Letters To The Editor

THE LADY OF LYONS

Dear Sir:—The able presentation of "The Girl From Kokomo," is an evidence that the histrionic talents in all their glory are possessed by our own people, and a most commendable feature is that the receipts therefrom are to be devoted to Red Cross interests. There is a worthy play, "The Lady of Lyons," the production of Bulwer Lytton, which from its semi-military rendering and instruction would be well worthy of an early presentation. The two leading characters therein will call for much talent to present perfectly, and several persons whom I well know can perfectly fill the role. In this most popular play I was some forty years ago, an actor and associated with several Chicago celebrities As regards the scenic outfitting there would be required but little effort, and if my suggestion to have this classical play produced meet with a kindly reception I will do my best as regards assisting those in any arrangements connected therewith.

I may state here that recently in Perth, local talent, well organized, presented a play on two different dates, and the receipts therefrom were $900. Why not have "The Lady of Lyons" do this for Belleville? The answer is, "it can." "The Lady of Lyons" can.

Government Will Protect Fish Buyers

People Not To Be Charged Exorbitant Prices For This Food

TORONTO, May 30.—Arrangements have been made by the fish sales branch of the Ontario Government to protect the consumers of Government fish from paying exorbitant prices for this food. Now that the 16-cents-a-pound price has been fixed, with 2 cents allowed the dealer for cutting or dressing the fish, the officials of the Government are determined to see that this price is adhered to. With this object in view an official has been appointed to "fi" from time to time unexpectedly cut" or stores selling Government fish are liable to pay a fine if it finds that the figure being charged is in excess of the fixed price immediate action will be taken.

Canada Trace Reports

"We have not had any definite charges made that the dealers have been paying fair," said Mr. S. L. Squire, Director of Distribution, to a newspaper correspondent yesterday. "We have heard indefinite statements that an exorbitant price has been charged in some instances, but we have not been able to trace these reports. It is in the interests of the trade generally that the dealer who is not playing square should be dealt with by the department. Any dealer who goes to extortionate lengths will immediately be struck off the list of dealers, and he will be unable to secure further shipments of Government fish."

Within the last twenty-four hours 40,000 pounds of Ontario Government fish have been supplied with all the fish they ordered. Dealers throughout the Province who ordered definite quantities have been supplied, and those who ordered weekly shipments have been sent part of their order.

Big Supply From Nepigon

The 40,000 pounds placed on the cars [illegible] week include 25,000 pounds from Lake Nepigon, which arrived in the city yesterday morning. Lake Nipissing fishermen sent 1,500 pounds, and the remainder was made up of direct shipments from Lake Nepigon to Port Arthur and Winnipeg, and from Lake Huron to such places as Tara and Paisley. Some Lake Huron fish are also being sold in Toronto. With few exceptions the Government is now taking the full 20 per cent. permitted under its contract with the fishermen.

Considering that the small consumers are the ones entitled to cheap Government fish, it has been decided not to sell fish direct to the large restaurants. A few such sales have been made, but it is felt that if these restaurants want the fish they can purchase them through regular retail channels. It is pointed out that restaurants do not make any reduction in the price of fish to their consumers, and that the profit derived from the ability to purchase cheaper fish goes into their own pockets.

MUNITION TRAIN BLEW UP—FORTY KILLED

Moscow, May 29—Forty persons were killed or injured and damage amounting to 30,000,000 rubles done through an explosion and fire on a munition train at Kazan station in the Volga region, recently. The train, filled with munitions for the southern front, blew up with a series of detonations after it had caught fire. The flames spread to nearby houses. Seven warehouses and 30 railway cars, many of them loaded with merchandise were burned.

FULL COAL SUPPLIES.
Citizens Should Place Orders Now for Summer Supply.
Having consulted with all the Coal Dealers in the City of Belleville with a view to ascertain the quantity of coal the various dealers have received during the present season so far, and the quantity likely to be received during the balance of the season, I have satisfied myself that the dealers have done exceedingly well in regard to the quantity of coal already in and arranged for, and it is my opinion that the Fuel Controller's restriction to 20 per cent. deliveries be waived in Belleville, and as the Fuel Controller's regulations leave this matter to the Local Commissioner's discretion, I would advise all parties in purchasing for non-deliverance being a fine of our Thousand ($1,000) dollars.

Exemption Cancelled Class B Men

Wrong Impression Was Given By Statement Published Yesterday

TORONTO, May 30.—Instead of Class B men of 20, 21 and 22 years of age being granted a general exemption as stated in reports in the newspapers, the fact is that all exemptions in these ages have been cancelled.

The matter is made clear by a letter which has been sent by Mr. C. Leslie Wilson, Ontario Registrar, to each of the High Court and other judges now sitting as Appeal Judges. That letter is as follows:

"I have just been advised by telegram from the Military Service Branch that reclassings of men 20 to 22 years of age inclusive in Category B are not to be proceeded with further.

"If any such cases appear on your schedules I will be obliged if you will mark them with the words 'Withdrawn at the request of the Registrar,' or with some similar words to the intimate the cessation of refusal of hearing.

"I have issued instructions that no further classifications men 20 to 22 years who are in Category B are to be scheduled to you, but the above notified appears to be the most direct way of dealing with the cases which are already scheduled.

"I understand that the reason for these new instructions is that the order-in-Council of April 20th, P.C. 919 and P.C. 982 are now interpreted as having cancelled the exemptions of men in all categories between the ages of 20 and 22 years inclusive. The previous interpretation was that the direction of the Minister of Militia applied only to men in Category A in these years, and that exemptions of the Category A men were therefore the only ones affected."

The rush for marriage and birth certificates in the Parliament Buildings is assuming major proportions, due to the proximity of June 1.

The Son of Tarzan

By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

There He Lay Until Late Afternoon.

Mertem was not for him—not for the savage ape. No, she was not for him; but he still was for. If he could not have her and happiness, he would at least do all that lay in his power to assure happiness to her. He would follow the young Englishman. In the first place, he would know that he meant Mertem no harm, and after that, though jealousy wrenched his heart, he would watch over the man Mertem loved for Mertem's sake.

And so it came that a few minutes after the Hon. Monroe and many others of the camp to be greeted by Hanson, Korak slipped noiselessly into a near-by tree. There he lay until late afternoon, and still the young Englishman made no move to leave camp. Korak wondered if Mertem were coming there. A little later Hanson and one of his black boys rode out of camp. Korak merely noted the fact. He was not particularly interested in the doings of any other member of the company than the young Englishman.

CHAPTER XIV.

A Trap by Proxy.

HANSON and his boy had ridden directly to the clearing. It was already dark when they arrived. Leaving the boy there, Hanson rode to the edge of the plain, leading the boy's horse. There he waited. It was 9 o'clock before he saw a solitary figure galloping toward him from the direction of the bungalow. A few moments later Meriem drew her mount beside him. She was nervous and flushed.

When she recognized Hanson she drew back, startled.

"Sir, Baynor" here fell on him and sprained his ankle," Hanson bastened to explain. "He couldn't very well come, so he sent me to meet you and bring you to camp."

The girl could not see in the darkness the gloating, triumphant expression on the speaker's face.

"We had better hurry," continued Hanson, "for we'll have to more along pretty fast if we are to ward off the overtaken."

"Is he hurt badly?" asked Meriem.

"Only a little sprain," replied Hanson. "He can ride all right, but we both thought it better he up tonight and rest, for he'll have plenty hard riding to do the next few weeks."

"Yes," agreed the girl.

Hanson swung his pony about, and Meriem followed him. They rode north along the edge of the jungle for a mile and then turned straight into it toward the west. Meriem, following, paid little attention to directions. She did not know exactly where Hanson's camp lay, and so she did not guess that he was taking a circuitous route.

At right they rode straight toward the west. When morning came Hanson permitted a short halt for breakfast, which he had provided in well filled saddlebags before leaving his camp. Then they pushed on again, nor did they halt a second time until, in the best of the day, he stopped and motioned the girl to dismount.

"We will keep here for a time and let the ponies graze," he said.

"I had no idea the camp was so far away," said Meriem.

"I am glad that they were to move on at daybreak," explained the trader, "so that we could get a good start. I knew that you and I could easily overtake a laden safari. It may not be long however, before we'll catch up with them."

But though they traveled parhof the night and all the following day, no sign of the safari appeared ahead of them. Meriem, an adept in jungle craft, knew that none had passed ahead of them for many days. Occasionally she saw indications of an old spoor—a very old spoor—of many men. For a time they followed this well marked trail along elephant paths and through parklike grasses. It was an ideal trail for rapid traveling.

Meriem at last became suspicious. Gradually the attitude of the man at her side had begun to change. Often she caught him devouring her with his eyes.

Steadily the former sensation of previous acquaintanceship urged itself upon her. Somewhere, some time before she had known this man. It was evident that he had not altered for several days. A small stubble had commenced to cover his neck and cheeks and chin, and with it the assurance that he was no stranger continued to grow upon the girl.

It was not until the second day, however, that Meriem rebelled. She drew in her pony at last and voiced her doubts. Hanson assured her that the camp was but a few miles farther on.

MUSIC & DRAMA

"THE HONOR OF HIS HOUSE"

Starting with scenes taken on board a Pacific Ocean liner "The Honor of His House," which is the special photoplay to be presented at Griffin's tonight, Sessue Hayakawa, famous Japanese actor, reaches a climax that is both thrilling and unexpected. Into the situation deals with the love of two men, a Japanese and an American, for a half caste girl with the victory in the latter by reason of the Jap's great sacrifice. Several of the scenes were taken in Hawaii and the story is supposed to develop in one of the smaller and more remote islands of the Pacific.

The Rose of Blood

Another good special photoplay is being shown on the same program in which Theda Bara appears called "The Rose of Blood." It is a Russian story and may be likened to conditions as they exist in Russia today. A Governess in Prince Arbassoff's family and the Prince's little son are brought to a Cossack raid, and but for the timely help of an anarchist both would have been killed. For excellent acting, scenic scenes and wonderful scenes, William Fox is in the front rank of producers, and in this photoplay he does the best yet.

AT THE PALACE

At The Palace the last half of the week, Madge Kennedy, the girl with the fascinating smile, is appearing in a quality pigture called "The Danger Game." In this picture Miss Kennedy gets the best chance she has had yet to show her talents as an actress.

There will be one of these always entertaining short stories by Gilfeary, also also a good comedy. A new serial is starting at the Palace soon. It is called "The Woman in The Web."

"THE HEART OF WETONA"

The great dramatic season had no more brilliant or emphatic success than the famous David Belasco-Charlton Frohman comedy drama, "The Heart of Wetona," which has to its credit a run of 320 performances at the Belasco Theatre, New York. Local theatre goers are to see it on Friday evening at Griffin's Opera House. "The Heart of Wetona" is said to possess elements that appeal to all classes of theatregoers.

Its characters, white true to life, are intensified, but not more than naturally required for dramatic effectiveness.

Aching Head Pains in Back

Heart Action Was Weak and Nerves Greatly Exhausted—Now in Extra Good Health.

Tweed, Ont., May 20—This is a cheering letter from Mrs. Wager, because it describes the condition in which many women find themselves and tells how it was effected.

Once the food cure was resorted to the system was gradually and certainly built up and reconstructed. The old symptoms disappeared, because the reason for their existence had been overcome. It is well worth while to give Dr. Chase's Nerve Food a trial when such results are obtained.

For Mrs. H. E. Wagar, Tweed, Ont., writes: "My system was in a run down condition, I could not sleep well, and was very nervous. I had frequent headaches and pains through my back, and my nerves used to twitch. I took Chase's epolis, was short of breath and my heart action seemed weak. I was in very poor health generally. I went to a doctor and he advised me to take rest, and gave me medicine, but it did not help me. My husband got me some of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food one day, and this treatment gave me such relief that I took many boxes—in fact not tail just how many, but enough to build up my system and rid me of the old symptoms. I gradually began to get stronger, until I could get around and do my own housework. I am not bothered now with sick headaches, and am enjoying extra good health. I would recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to all suffering from nervousness of any kind."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50c. a box. A full treatment of six boxes for $2.75 at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Be sure to be talked into accepting a substitute. Imitations only disappoint.

Everywhere there will be the day of all days for Belleville, and every home and business house should be decorated. Hang out all the flags and bunting you have and put our city in gala attire on Belleville's Biggest Day."

Wedding Bells

A quiet wedding took place in Old Brompton Parish Church, Brompton road London, England, when Rev. Canon Gough united in marriage Major William Manhard, D.S.O., Canadian Engineers, and Jessie Maud Hunter. The bride was attended by her sister Maude, and Major K.C.H. Monks, D.S.O., Headquarters Staff, was best man. After a wedding breakfast and reception at the Hotel Alexandra, Hyde Park Gate, where the happy couple left for Torquay, where the honeymoon was spent at Cliff Point, the country home of Mrs. Fred Hunter, Tweed. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful gifts, among others a handsome silver coffee tray from the groom's fellow-officers. Major Manhard went overseas as a lieutenant with Queen's Engineering Corps from Kingston. He is a graduate of Queen's Science School.

CONTROL FLEA BEETLES

The small dark colored 'flea beetles,' one-twentieth to one-quarter of an inch long, are identified from their habit of leaping or jumping, eat holes into the leaves of turnips, radishes, potatoes, tomatoes and other plants. They are most injurious in spring when the young seed leaves are often visited by large numbers of insects and quickly destroyed. The Potato Flea Beetle feeds upon the foliage of the potato, tomato, turnip, cucumber, bean, tobacco, squash, etc. The Turnip Flea Beetle, also, occurs regularly on the vegetable garden. The Red-headed Flea Beetle is destructive to potatoes and beans. Infested plants should be dusted frequently with an arsenial mixture containing either Paris green or arsenate of lead, or with Bordeaux mixture alone. The latter acts as a deterrent.

COMPLETE VICTORY FIRST.

Devlin, the Irish leader, claims that he doesn't approve of the Sinn Fein, which is safe ground to take, but when he advocates negotiating a peace with the Germans at this stage of the war he lacks intelligent company. A NATION WITHOUT A SOUL.

Vile slanders against British Red Cross nurses is only another phase of pernicious Hun propaganda which treacherously attacks the character of these brave women with the same vile enthusiasm it would employ to destroy their bodies if that were possible. German Kultur, upon which German militarism is based, has no place for honor, as it is absolutely devoid of anything resembling a soul.

FIGHT OR WORK.

Young men of nineteen past should register immediately, and all men who are over thirty-five years and five months of age, but may not look it, should carry with them the documents to prove their age on demand and save themselves possible serious trouble. All men of military age not in uniform will be well advised also to fit all times carry the necessary documents explaining why they are not in uniform, for the war has entered that grim stage where all must be card-indexed and be prepared to fight or work or show good and sufficient reason for inaction.

DISGORGE WAR PROFITS.

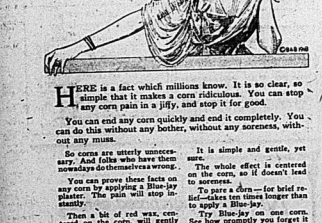

The Minister of Labor says the Canadian millers have been making too much money as the result of war conditions. President Wilson has found a similar state of affairs existing in the United States affecting many lines of manufacture. It isn't a question of percentage of profit any more but one of increased outout, and the man who gets rich on war time profits of the half of one per cent. even hasn't done his full duty to the State, which will now proceed to revise its system of taxation so as to get a reasonable share for the people of inflated profits. It should no longer avail the war profiteer to protest that his percentage of profit is very low when the same low percentage aided by a huge turnover is pouring a golden flood of excess profits into his treasury. The State should lay a heavy hand on all such excessive profits produced by war conditions.

NO CAUSE FOR WORRY.

The renewal of the German offensive on the Western front necessarily revives the anxiety occasioned by the earlier phases of the enemy's supreme effort which began in March, although not to the same extent. The fearful punishment inflicted upon the Germans in their desperate attempt to make good their loud and extravagant boastings and the unparalleled bravery and infinite resource shown by the allied armies when the line of defence was bending from the impact of dense masses of enemy soldiers recklessly thrown into the vortex of death, has instilled a feeling of supreme confidence behind the battle lines that the allied armies and High Command are equal to any emergency which may be thrust upon them by the desperate tactics of the enemy.

The Kaiser, having staked his all upon a big offensive, cannot go back. He must stand or fall by his promises to his people of a decisive campaign and an early peace which is the overwhelming desire of the people of the Central Powers.

No undue anxiety need be felt if considerable ground is gained by the enemy in the resumed offensive. The allied line is long and the concentration of enemy troops at certain points and their advance must necessarily require retirements on the part of the Allies until reserves can be brought up to the threatened points. When the enemy attacks develop they will be met and coped with and the cession of ground does not

HERE is a fact which millions know. It is so clear, so simple that it makes a corn ridiculous. You can stop any corn pain in a jiffy, and stop it for good.

You can end any corn quickly and end it completely. You can do that without any bother, without any soreness, without any muss.

So corns are utterly unnecessary. And folks who have them nowadays do themselves a wrong.

You can prove these facts on any corn by applying a Blue-jay plaster. The pain will stop instantly.

Then a bit of red wax, centered on the corn, will gently undermine it. In two days, usually, the whole corn disappears. An occasional corn needs a second application.

This is a scientific method, invented by a famous chemist.

It is simple and gentle, yet sure.

The whole effect is centered on the corn, so it doesn't lead to soreness.

To pare a corn—for brief relief—takes ten times longer than to apply a Blue-jay.

Try Blue-jay on one corn. See how promptly you forget it—see how soon it ends. Then remember that every corn—right at the start—can be ended in like way. You should never suffer a moment; suffer corns. Prove this tonight.

RUSSIA STILL COUNTS.

Manchester Guardian

Russia still counts, and may even in the final stages of this war count very heavily. Is she to count on the side of the Allies or not? That is the real question for the Allied Governments, and by their answer to it they must shape their diplomacy.

THE JUNE ECLIPSE.

The Pathfinder.

The eclipse of the sun which is soon to occur will perform a paradoxical feat, namely, it will begin June 9 and will end June 8. It will be the year Japan after the day of the 8th has begun there—Japan being west of the international dateline—and when it arrives in the United States it will be the day before.

THE LATCH IS ALWAYS UP.

New York Globe.

Whatever perhaps is the right one it would seem to ordinary curiatone diplomats that the less talk there is of negotiating with Germany the better. Germany does not need to be told the street number of Orlando, or Pichon, or Balfour, or Lansing. She is fully aware that she can have peace on just terms whenever she really wants it, mean defeat, but rather protection of the lives of the allied soldiers where the lines are thinly held.

The halting of the German offensive on the western front has enabled the Allies to perfect a better organization of forces than before and the new drive has less chance of success than the first.

In any event no matter what apparent successes the enemy may obtain we may rest assured that the allied High Command have a definite policy which will be calmly carried out no matter what happens and no strength will be wasted in spectacular efforts or indecisive blows —when Gen. Foch strikes he will strike hard and sure and his blows will tell for decisive victory.

CRISP COMMENT

Replace the schedule of tolls sign on the Bay Bridge by the cheery slogan WELCOME.

"We beat them on the Marne, we beat them on the Aisne, we thumped them well at Neuve Chapelle, and here we are again" is the greeting of Gen. Foch's reserves as they meet the new German drive. We should worry!

The Germans crossed the Aisne in 1914 but met disaster at the Marne and were glad to repress the Aisne after giving up their trip to Paris. History has a habit of repeating itself and the German advance of today may be a German retreat tomorrow.

Talk isn't cheap in the Senate of Ottawa, where it costs thirty-three thousand dollars a year to publish the speeches of the Senators and preserve their burning thoughts on fine paper neatly bound in calfskin for future generations to read and wonder.

As the Germans are notorious for their utter lack of any sense of humor, Charlie Chaplin will feel no compunctions in filling them full of lead from his machine gun as he rides in his aerial bus over the Hun lines. If Charlie cannot make them laugh he will assuredly try to make them cry.

The chief source of financial inspiration of the Sinn Fein formerly came from the United States, but no more sympathy or money need be expected from Irishmen in the United States who now see clearly what kind of a pro-German bunch had been working them instead of working themselves.

Training roosters to kill each other with silver spurs fastened to their legs is not very edifying sport for men, to say the least, and no sympathy will be wasted upon those individuals who had to beat a hasty retreat from an island in the St. Lawrence on Victoria Day and leave their expensive poultry behind them.

Aerial mail service between New York and Washington has proved so successful that the service will be extended by the United States postal authorities taking in Pittsburg, Cleveland and Boston. It is suggested as highly desirable that the aerial postal service should be extended to connect with stations at Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto for the present and other extensions afterward.

If Charlie Chaplin, the famous screen comedian, comes to Camp Mohawk to train for war service as a soldier of the king he has been reported as likely to happen in the near future, he will be at least assured a hearty welcome from the youth of this section who are firm in the belief that Charlie is the funniest fellow who ever came over the pond. Charlie Chaplin is a Britisher, proud of his country and ready and eager to do his part and let his million go hang.

The Poet's Corner

THE LAND WHERE I WAS BORN.

Canadian Gazette, London.

I have walked in crowded cities
With their glamor and their glare,
Where the hearts of men are nobler
And an honest smile is rare;
I have made the roads of pleasure,
Glorious night and dreamy morn,
Yet my heart cries out within me
For the land where I was born.

I have worshipped at the churches
With their peaceful, kindly rest,
I have wandered o'er the hillsides
When Old England's at her best.
Yet I worry for the prairies
Where the steadfast spirit shines,
For the grandeur of the Rockies
And the perfume of the pines.

I have roamed in English valleys
'Mid the charm of many flowers,
I have spent in joy and idleness
Golden days in leafy bowers,
I have loved the artless beauty
In the first sweet flush of morn;
But I missed the little wild flower
Of the land where I was born.

I am sick for creek and muskeg,
I just long for home today,
And the charm of England's glories
Cannot chase the ache away.
Oh! the dear old apple blossoms
And the maples that adorn
Are calling from the homestead
Of the land where I was born.

You can have your dear old "Blighty"
Though it's very nice, I know,
And its men were heroes always
From the days of long ago.
But when this war is over,
I'll go back to wheat and corn,
To the glad rejoicings under the sunshine
Of the land where I was born.

The Air Mail is fast to wait till the end of the war after all. TURNIP SOUP A LA HUN.

Pte. Jack Evans, C.M.R., in the Forum.

"Dump a basket of woody, dirty turnips on the ground outside the cookhouse door, set a prisoner at work peeling them, with no water for washing his hands or the turnips, rather the pail, muck and turnips from the ground, dump them into a kettle of water, boil and mash them, mud and all, add more water and serve! That's what we were fed on until some men actually went crazy at the sight of turnip soup."

9th ANNUAL MEETING

Another year of successful work has just ended for the "Ys" this is a small organization that works quietly and steadily, but the reports showed that the amount of work accomplished was not limited to the size of its membership. The annual meeting was held at the home of Mrs McClatchie, to round up all business for the year. Mrs. Gibson, the county president, being in the chair. Mrs. F. Bennet opened with a Bible reading of the "Year not" verses. After the customary devotional exercises Miss Lazier gave a splendid amazing reading, and Miss Fleming a solo, which all enjoyed. Business proceedings were opened by the chairman, followed by a message and report from the absent President, Mrs. John Williams. Then followed the reports of the executive, that of the recording secretary giving a summary of the year's work was most encouraging. The treasurer's report showed a total receipt of $229.62 and a expenditure of $220.56, leaving a balance of $8.48 on hand. Next followed the reports of the superintends at the four departments taken up the Red Cross, the press, the Public and Red Cross, the sewing school and the soup wrappers. This last department needs special mention. The revenue from the Surprise soup coupons supports the Travellers' Aids at the Toronto stations. This year 2,000 coupons were collected. The Red Cross report showed: 248 pairs of socks knit for the Red Cross; 73 pairs of socks donated by the Ys; 96 gauze shirts; 666 leaflets for socks; 21 campbelloogs, etc.; 30 Christmas parcels for overseas. The work to be undertaken for the coming year is as follows: a study of citizenship and the franchise; Patriotic and Red Cross; sewing school; evangelistic department, and another party to be held in the fall. die of July on Mrs. Williams' lawn. A pleasing diversion was kindly given by Miss Lazier, after which before the rest of the business was transacted. The election of officers was the last item. The remainder of the year was spent informally, and light refreshments were served.

Left Estate To Traveling Nurse

Miss Laura C. Vagel Sues For Probate Of Will of F .W. McGill

TORONTO, May 20.—Mrs. Laura C. Vogel is suing the Non-Jury Assize Court for probate of the will of the late Fred W. McGill who left his entire estate of $29,000 to her. The defendants in the case are Lillie Gourley, George W., Wm. R., and Chas. G. McGill.

According to her evidence Mrs. Vogel and Mr. McGill travelled in different parts of the United States, during several years, including Palm Beach, San Antonio and other American cities and watering places. During the trips she acted as a sort of nurse or attendant to the testator, who was, during the last few years subject to "fits." The defence, claims that the late Mr. McGill was not of sound enough mind to make a will.

"During the time you and Mr. McGill were taking these trips together did you know that he was not living with his wife?" asked counsel for the defendants.

"I did but I tried my best to induce him to return to her," was the reply.

"When he left you for a time did you not telegraph to him to come back to you?"

"I might have done so when I was ill."

"Didn't you write to him and say that you could not live without him?"

"I cannot recall doing so."

"Didn't you know that he was not providing for his wife when he was spending money in taking you on trips?"

"I didn't know anything about that."

In explanation of the fact that the had occupied the same house and apartments, Mrs. Vogel stated that Mr. McGill had required constant attention and that there were pains in his chest, placed there following an attack of pleuro-pneumonal, the tubes requiring to be kneaded from time to time and the wound dressed.

Major Kidd Heads Orange Grand Lodge

PERTH, May 20.—The Grand Lodge Young Britons of British North America convened in Perth with the Grand Master, Major Kidd of Burrit's Rapids presiding. One hundred and twenty-five delegates from many parts of the Dominion were present, representatives coming from the Maritime Provinces and as far west as Winnipeg. The delegates were given a hearty welcome by Mayor Hands, who turned over the keys of the town to the G. M. The formal welcome concluded the routine business of the opening session was suspended until after the G. M. had addressed the delegates, dealing with the order in general. The secretary, Mr. Otter Elliott, of Toronto, gave a summary of the growth of the order during the year which was most satisfactory. Considering the exceptional circumstances as a result of the war, the numerical increase was most encouraging. The order is in a healthy condition. The Grand Secretary stated that the O.Y.B. had sent across the ocean to fight the battles of the allies a larger proportion of its members than any other fraternal society doing business in Canada, under any member brought credit to his country and the Order.

The election of the officers resulted as follows:

G.M., Mayor Kidd, Burrit's Rapids (re-elected); D.Y.G.M., W. Lawson, Toronto, (re-elected); Grand treasurer, F. Gamble; Grand Secy., O. Elliot, Toronto; Chaplin Rev. Montgomery, Billings Bridge.

The executive committee is composed of the officers named in the following and the legislative committee is the G. Master, D.Y.G.M. and G. Secretary. Smith's Falls was chosen as the next place of meeting.

Huns Try To Hit Rear Hospitals

NEW YORK, May 20. — German agents, prior to the entry of the United States into the war, spent time and money throughout the east in buying up black walnut trees such as are needed for airplane manufacture, according to Wm. Mr. Guggenheim said he had found this to be so after personal efforts made on Long Island to induce properly owners to offer their black walnut trees to the Government.

Further Reply By The Y.M.C.A.

Financial Arrangements and Canteen Charges Are Explained

MONTREAL, May 31—A further statement from C. W. Bishop, General Secretary of the Y.M.C.A., relative to allegations made against that organization, has been issued. Regarding the claim that nobody ever saw a Y.M.C.A. financial statement, Mr. Bishop contends regularly audited and approved accounts have been issued. Mr. Bishop says that the three heads of the Y.M.C.A. draw no salaries, but turn over to the funds their military pay. They also pay out of their own pockets all their travelling expenses. Of the remaining overseas secretaries, half draw military pay, but nothing from the association. Ministers serve over as special speakers yet draw pay, and the Y.M.C.A. pays the cost of pulpit supply to their churches.

Dealing with the canteen charges, Mr. Bishop explains that these are fixed by the War Office, which also forbids wholesale profits. That is why, generally, the Y.M.C.A. canteens, as to chaplains and other canteens through the "I" has risked being called to account in order to oblige them.

Mr. Bishop says on the allegation that the Y.M.C.A. is accumulating a nest-egg, that every dollar subscribed goes into army work and that statements show him.

AMERICA ALONE IS REPLACING TONNAGE SUNK BY U-BOATS

BOSTON, May 31.—"As much deadweight ship tonnage has been launched from the shipyards of the United States in the last three weeks as was sunk by German submarines during the entire month of April," said Dr. Charles A. Eaton, chairman of the National Service Section of the United States Shipping Board, addressing the American Society of Mechanical Engineers here last night. Last week alone, Dr. Eaton said, 18 ships, representing 106,000 tons deadweight, went down the ways.

The suggestion will be made to the military authorities that leniency be shown for a short time in enforcing the latest regulations under the Military Service Act on account of the Department at the Parliament Buildings to keep pace with the demand for birth and marriage certificates.

Shipments From Cuba To The Belleville Government Wharf

Millions Of Gallons Of Molasses Will Be Unloaded This Summer At Belleville Government Wharf For The Corby Distillery Company

Millions of gallons of molasses will be brought from Cuba and unloaded at the new government wharf at Belleville this summer. The molasses will be used in making alcohol for "war" munition purposes at the Corby Distillery, which is working on extensive war contracts.

Shipped from Cuba on large ocean steamers the molasses is transhipped at New York into large barges and brought through the New York State ship canal, recently completed and opened for traffic, to Oswego and two of four that put to the

The crookers who for partisan reasons have sufficed to sneer at the Bellyville harbor improvements, may now get some little glimmer of a vision of great shipping activity following the war, and the City of Belleville, by reason of having such splendid harbor facilities, getting the preference over other ports not so favorably placed. Men and women of large vision not dismayed by petty partisanship, can see a greater Canada expanding and prospering after the war, and the City of Belleville keeping right up with the procession.

Lignite Likely To Meet Needs

OTTAWA, May 31—C. W. Peterson, Deputy Minister of Mines, has just returned from an extended visit to the Prairie Provinces on official business. He met in conference with the various Provincial Governments and Fuel Administrators regarding the coal supplies and the "by-product-coal-eaty" public. A city campaign which is now in full swing west of Lake Superior. He attended a conference of coal mine operators at Calgary, of which increased production and better preparation were the chief features. In the absence of serious labor troubles, he says, it seems likely that the lignite mines of Alberta will be able to cope with the added burden of supplying Manitoba and Saskatchewan with domestic fuel this winter.

Seven women started work in the car shops of the Grand Trunk Railway at London, and if they make good more will be taken on.

German Advance Slackens As Allied Reserves Come Into Action

DESPERATE FIGHTING CONTINUES

ALLIES ARE EXACTING FEARFUL TOLL FROM ENEMY FOR EVERY YARD OF GROUND CEDED—GERMAN OFFICERS CONTINUE RECKLESS SACRIFICE OF THE LIVES OF THEIR SOLDIERS—BRAVERY AND FIGHTING QUALITIES OF FRENCH SOLDIERS IS MAGNIFICENT—POPULATION LEAVES CHATEAU-THIERRY BUT PLACE MAY BE SUCCESSFULLY DEFENDED—FRENCH TROOPS RUSH GERMAN POSITIONS ON FLANDERS FRONT AND CAPTURE PRISONERS AND MACHINE GUNS.

Special Despatches to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

PARIS, May 31.—The Germans continued to push forward south of Fere-en-Tardenois, according to the latest advices reaching here, but neither Chateau-Thierry nor Dormans have yet fallen into their hands. There is reason to hope that Chateau-Thierry, the population of which has fled, will be successfully defended.

Chateau-Thierry is ten miles south of Fere-en-Tardenois, while Dormans is six miles south of Vezilly. Both towns are on the River Marne.

EXTREME POINT OF ADVANCE.

PARIS, May 31.—The extreme point of the German advance is Lechamel, about two miles north of the River Marne, according to an outline of the battle-front as marked out by the newspaper correspondent of the Havas agency.

BRITISH RUSHED HUN POSITIONS.

LONDON, May 31.—Activity of German artillery in the Villers-Bretonneux sector, east of Amiens, and in Albert region to the north is reported today by the war office. There has also been lively gun fire from the enemy lines on the Flanders front between Festubert and Clarence river.

The statement says a party of our troops rushed German positions southeast of Arras during the night and captured a few prisoners. Prisoners and machine guns were captured by us also in a patrol encounter northeast of Ypres. The enemy raided one of our posts northeast of Robecq. A few of our men are missing.

PARIS, May 31.—The Allied left flank on the Aisne front has been forced back by violent German attacks in the region of the Ailette river, it is announced officially. Near Soissons and further south German attacks broke down, the French maintaining their positions. In the centre the Germans made a slight advance north of the Marne. Further east and north of Rheims all the German efforts were vain. The French by a counter attack won back the town of Thillois, west of Rheims.

Withdrawing before the German onslaught in the region of the Ailette river, the French fell back on positions north of Bieranteuil, nine miles south-east of Noyon and Epagny, and seven miles northwest of Soissons.

The French are holding their positions along the road between Soissons and Chateau-Thierry as well as in the western outskirts of Soissons.

Not Very Far Apart on Bay Bridge Purchase

The presentation to the city of a bill for $95.78 from the firm of accountants who placed a valuation of $78,000 upon the Bay Bridge as a fair purchase price reveals the fact that the selection of the expert valuator was a matter of agreement between the parties immediately interested, the expenses to be paid one-quarter by the city of Belleville, one-quarter by the township of Ameliasburg and one-half by the Bay Bridge Company.

It looks very much as if the city of Belleville is more or less bound to accept the figures of its own valuator, whittled down through the efforts of the city's legal representative, Mr. Principle, K.C., and the representative for Prince Edward county, Mr. Harry Dempsey, who tried to get the Bay Bridge Company hammered down to a price of $70,000 but could not get them past the $72,500 mark.

Belleville City Council offered $65,000 for the Bay Bridge, the city's valuator recommended a price of $78,000, the city's legal representative was ready to recommend $70,000 as a fair grip, and the Provincial Government is willing to pay forty per cent. of any amount up to $70,000. So there is really only a matter of $5,500 in dispute.

After all it seems as if the municipalities interested and the Bridge Company are not very far apart.

Savage Hun Aviators Again Bomb British Medical Hospitals

Special Dispatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

With the British Army in France, May 31.—Another big British hospital in France was bombarded by German airmen early yesterday and once more many medical workers and patients were killed or wounded.

65,000 CAPTIVE HUNS IN GREAT BRITAIN NOW

LONDON, May 31.—There are 65,000 German prisoners of war in Great Britain, it was announced in the House of Commons by James Ian MacPherson, Parliamentary Secretary to the War Office. Of these, he said, 42,000 were employed in farming and other work of national importance, while 10,000 more had been designated for similar employment.

Forced To Fire At Lindsay Deserters

Percy Jewel Deserted Year and Half Ago—Re-captured Through Parents

Sergt. J. Bethune, of the Kingston Military Police, has returned from Lindsay, where he arrested a deserter of 17½ years from the cyclists and 15th Battalion under the Military Service Act.

In speaking of the thrilling experience in arresting Percy Jewell, the deserter, Sergt. Bethune stated that together with Sergt. Colquhoun, P.C. Parks of Lindsay and two other special constables, he visited the Jewell home in one of Lindsay's wards on Saturday morning. The constables guarded the doors, while Sergt. Bethune entered the house and demanded of a girl who was in charge of the house, if Percy Jewell was in. She replied in the negative, but Sergt. Bethune proceeded to search the house. In the last room to be searched he came across the deserter, hidden in a clothes basket. He immediately placed him under arrest, and was about to handcuff him, when the prisoner begged to be allowed to go without being handcuffed. He promised the sergeant that he would make no attempt to escape, but as soon as they reached the kitchen door, the deserter broke and ran like a deer. He was told three times to halt, and failing to do so, Sergt. Colquhoun fired a shot in the air, and a second one close to his legs, but the deserter escaped. Later Mrs. Jewell met Sergt. Bethune on the street and struck him in the face. She was arrested for assault and the father also arrested for harboring a deserter. The upshot of the affair was that Sergt. Bethune dropped the charges against the parents when they produced the son, and he was brought to Kingston under arrest. Kingston Standard.

Heavy Toll Of Big Offensive

LONDON, May 31.—Casualties in month of May reached a total of 166,802 divided as follows: Killed or died of wounds, 29,954, wounded or missing 144,748.

All counter attacks against the Americans who captured cantigny yesterday have been repulsed.

Lively Time Over Farmers' Stand

J.E. Armstrong, M.P., Demands Original Protests, Which Are Withheld

PETROLEA, May 31.—At a public meeting of the Farmers' Clubs of East Lambton, held at Petrolea last night, J. E. Armstrong, M.P., defined his stand in the House endorsing the order in Council calling out men of 20, 21 and 22 years. He told the farmers present that production was important, but, first now, defence was more important. He demanded from the Executive of the clubs the original petitions, bearing the names of the electors who have requested him to resign his seat. Some alleged variations in the wording and in the classes of the petitions signed and the typewritten copies furnished Mr. Armstrong are reported to have brought numerous protests from those who signed them. By a vote of the meeting, the original petitions were withheld from Mr. Armstrong. In the meantime, considerable interest in this decision was expressed by some representatives of the township clubs. The appointment of James Somerville as organizer at Ottawa to look after the farmers' interests was approved. The appointment of an executive committee to appear with the farmers' sons before tribunals and Commanding Officers that control exemptions was approved also.

A GREAT INCREASE IN CIGARETTE SMOKING

Ottawa, May 31.—Whether it is due to the fact that women have taken to smoking or because of heavy purchases as soldiers' comforts, the fact is that there is a tremendous increase in the consumption of cigarettes in Canada.

According to figures compiled by the Department of Inland Revenue, last year's consumption numbered over 4 billions. The total was 4,066,709,937, compared with 1,907,976,758 in the previous fiscal year. Likewise, the consumption of tobacco increased from 20,735,000 to 21,997,221 pounds and cigars from 90,000,000 to 94,445,945.

DETROIT IS ANXIOUS TO TAKE OVER D. U. R.

Detroit, May 31.—The Mayor and other city officials start for Washington this evening to request to seize the Detroit United Railway System and hand it over to the city, to be operated municipally until after the war as a necessary war measure.

A WALKING ARSENAL.

Quebec, May 31.—The war spirit caught a fifteen-year-old lad named Duquette with a vengeance. When arrested in Montreal he had in his possession. He told Recorder Dery that another boy had given them to him to keep. An armorer in lower town identified the weapons as his property, and said they had been stolen. Recorder Dery condemned the boy to pay a fine of $30 and costs.

101 Were Drowned On A Transport

LONDON, May 31.—The transport ship Leasowe Castle has been sunk by an enemy submarine, the British Admiralty announced, and one hundred and one persons were drowned.

The Leasowe Castle, 12,333 tons gross, was sunk in the Mediterranean on May 26. Among those who lost their lives were 101 military officers and 79 soldiers of other rank.

How Fighting Men Are Fed While Battle Is Raging

LONDON, May 31.—The method of feeding troops during a conflict of many days is now so complete that even in the most critical circumstances the supply train is in constant touch with the fighting line. If communications chance to be cut temporarily, each man can rely upon his emergency ration, carried in his haversack, and which he is forbidden to consume until he receives the order.

Of this emergency ration, consisting usually of bully beef, biscuit, tea and sugar, the sugar is not the least important, as it is not only a nourishing food but an excellent stimulant to men suffering from exhaustion. In the event of a retreat, troops exhaust largely upon what is known as the Macconochie ration, a meat and vegetable stew, packed in cans, and easily prepared. Hot condensation.

The majority of the men are regrettably from the travelling field-kitchens, marvellously ingenious, which cooks food while in motion. It can bake or boil for 250 men, and is in charge of regimental cooks, under the command of the quartermaster, who must keep in close touch with the transport officer of his corps, who in turn has to bring supplies from train headquarters.

BROUGHT BY U-BOAT
Disease Raging in Spain Imported by Crews of German Submarines
MADRID, May 31.—The grippe-like epidemic continues to spread. There are 120,000 victims in Madrid. King Alfonso is still in bed with the malady, but his condition is not dangerous.
The disease is affecting horses, cases among which are reported from the cavalry and public services.
The population are of the belief that the disease was brought to Spain by German submarines, as there are cases among crews of interned under-water boats. Some persons are of the opinion that it had been spread by microbes blown by the winds from the battle fronts.
The authorities have taken precautions to prevent an increase in the price of medicines as a result of the extraordinary demand due to the epidemic.

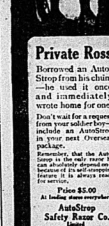

A Fight for Life
It has been fight or die for many of us in the past and the lucky people are those who have suffered, who have seen their danger signal in time to correct their trouble with that wonderful kidney remedy of Dr. Pierre's called "Anuric." You should recognize kidney trouble by backache, dizziness, sick headache, irregularity of the urine or the painful passage of same, scanty secretion or bandage. To delay may make possible the dangerous forms of kidney disease, such as diabetes or stone in bladder. To overcome these distressing conditions take plenty of exercise in the open air, avoid a heavy meat diet, drink freely of water and at each meal take Anuric (double strength). You will see in a short time, find that you are one of the firm believers of Anuric.

Hamilton, Ont.—"For kidney ailments I have never known any medicine to equal Anuric. I started to take it when very miserable with lame back, pains in the small of my neck and shoulders and all over my body. The water was highly colored and offensive. All of these conditions left me after one week's use of Anuric and I consider it to be the greatest of all kidney medicines."—Mrs. Jessie Clare, 32 St. Ste.
Toronto, Ont.—"My husband suffered severely with pains in his back for three or four weeks. He commenced to take Anuric and in three or four days he not only looked better, but remarked that his back felt much better, and now he says that his pain has all gone. It is with pleasure that we recommend Anuric."—Mrs. Mary Ryan, 54 Sexton St.

Letters from Overseas
RETURNED VOLUNTARILY
England, May 11th.
The Editor Daily Intelligencer,
Belleville, Ont.
Dear Sir:—Some of my friends in France have received word from Belleville, that I was brought back from Canada under escort.
I wish to deny this utterly, as I volunteered to come back to England again, strictly of my own accord.
Of course, I do not know who is responsible for starting such a rumor, but I consider it rather a mean and underhanded piece of work, considering that I have been nearly four years in the service, the greater part of which I spent in France. I expect to be going to France again shortly, so if it is not asking too much I wish you would let the people of Belleville know the real facts. I am,
Yours sincerely,

Banking Hours Change June 1st

Handicapped by the great loss of experienced officials Canadian banks have taken the first steps towards increasing their efficiency by changing the banking hours and discontinuing special banking services such as receiving payment for tax, gas and electric light bills.

For the purpose of giving the bank staffs more time to complete the large amount of work that has grown out of the war, and that has made the volume of Canadian banking business greater than ever before, after June 1st, the banking hours will be 9.30 to 12 on five days a week; and 9.30 to 12 on Saturdays.

Believing that the public should help as far as possible in assisting the banks to carry on the business handicapped as they are by their splendid contribution to the forces overseas, a representative of The Intelligencer called on some of the local managers and asked them for some suggestions as to how the customers of the banks might co-operate with the staffs. It was felt that if the necessity were shown the public would be only too glad to help in every way possible.

"Transact all business in the morning as far as possible and as early as possible.

"Try and avoid a rush at closing time."

"Do not draw any more checks than are absolutely necessary."

"Instead of paying small bills with checks, draw the money in one amount and pay the bills in cash."

The gentlemen interviewed by the reporter said that the banks desired to render all essential services, including many special ones arising out of the war, and that they felt sure that an appeal to the public would not be made in vain.

The weaknesses were pointed out and rectified, and a vast improvement will be shown in the work of this talented organization on their appearance Monday night.

The fame of the performance has travelled far and wide, and numerous offers have been received from surrounding towns to have the performance given there. Monday night's performance will be attended by people from all over the district, and it is expected that the house will be filled to capacity, as on Tuesday night. It is therefore advisable to secure seats in advance to receive the choice ones. The seat sale opens at Doyle's Drug Store at 9 o'clock tomorrow (Saturday) morning. The first come first served.

GOOD OMENS

FRENCH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, May 31.—We are entering upon the crucial stage of the battle, but the issue is awaited calmly. Our reserves are hastening up and the morale of our airmen is superb.
The Germans had the choice of the point of attack and were able to concentrate their masses against a thinly-held sector. The choice of the real line of resistance will be ours.
The new battle is spreading over the ground of the old battle of the Marne, where the enemy's triumphant rush was broken in September, 1914.
The omens are good.

The best you can get

It was midafternoon when they suddenly broke out of the jungle upon the banks of a river and placid river. Across the river, upon the opposite shore, Meriem descried a camp surrounded by a high thorn fence.

"Here we are at last," said Hanson. He drew his revolver and fired in the air. Instantly the camp across the river was astir. Black men ran down to the river's bank, Hanson hailed them. But there was no sign of the Hon. Morison Haynes.

In accordance with their master's instructions the blacks manned a canoe and rowed across. Hanson placed Meriem in the little craft and entered it himself, leaving the boys to watch the camp from which the canoe was to return for and swim across to the camp side of the river.

Once in the camp Meriem asked for Barnes. For the moment her fears had been allayed by the sight of the camp, which she had come to look upon as more or less of a birth. Hanson pointed toward the single tent that stood in the center of the inclosure.

"There," he said, and preceded her toward it. At the entrance he held the flap aside and motioned her within. Meriem entered and looked about. The tent was empty.

She turned toward Hanson. There was a broad grin on his face.

"Where is Mr. Baynes?" she demanded.

"His kin's here," replied Hanson. "Leastwise I don't see him, do you? But I'm here, an' I'm a better man than that thing ever was. You don't need him no more—you got me," and he laughed unpleasantly and reached for her.

Meriem was looking full into his face as she fought for freedom when there came over her a sudden recollection of a similar scene in which she had been a participant and with it full recognition of the assailant. He was the Swede Malbihn, who had attacked her once before, who had shot his companion, who would have saved her and from whom she had been rescued by Bwana.

His smooth face had decreed her, but now, with the growing beard and the similarity of conditions, recognition came swift and sure.

But today there would be no Bwana to save her!

* * * *

As Meriem struggled with Malbihn hope died within her. She did not utter a sound, for she knew that there was none to come to her assistance, besides, the gentle training of her earlier life had taught her the futility of appeals for succor in the savage world of her upbringing.

But as she fought to free herself one hand came in contact with the butt of Malbihn's revolver where it rested in the holster at his hip. Slowly her fingers encircled the coveted prize and drew it from its resting place. She raised it high on her breast, but the manner fell futilely upon an empty chamber.

For a moment she eluded Malbihn and reached the entrance to the tent, but at the very doorway his heavy hand fell upon her shoulder and dragged her back. Wheeling upon him with the fury of a wounded lioness, Meriem swung the long revolver by the barrel, swung it high above her head and crashed it down full in Malbihn's face.

With an oath of pain and rage the man staggered backward, releasing his hold upon her, and then sank unconscious to the ground. Without a look Meriem turned and fled into the open.

Several of the blacks saw her and tried to intercept her flight, but the memory of the harmless white girl kept them at a distance.

And so she was beyond the encircling camp and disappeared into the jungle.

Straight to the branches of a tree she went, true to the arboreal instincts of the little Waziri she had been, and before she stripped off her riding skirt, her shoes and her stockings, for she knew that she had before her a journey and a flight which would not brook the burden of these garments.

She had not gone far before she commenced to realize how slight were her chances for survival without means of defense or a weapon to bring down meat. Why had she not thought to strip the cartridge belt from Malbihn's waist before she had left his tent? With cartridges for the revolver she might hope to beg small game and to protect herself from all but the most ferocious of the enemies that would lurk in her way back to the beloved hearthstone of Bwana and My Dear.

With the thought came determination to return and obtain the coveted ammunition. She realized that she was taking great chances of recapture. But without means of defense and of obtaining meat she felt that she could never hope to reach safety. And so she turned her face back toward the camp from which she had but just escaped.

Scores of People Telling of Their Experience With This Well-known Medicine.

Gananoque, Ont., May 2.—More evidence has come to hand to-day to prove the great good being accomplished in this town by Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

E. W. Henderson, Main St. S., Gananoque, Ont., writes: "I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills as a household remedy for about fifteen years, and for kidney and liver troubles I have found them excellent. I have also proved that in a case of toothache or severe cold, if given in time, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills will quickly relieve the patient. I have had experiences of this in my own family and think these pills unsurpassed."

Mrs. T. H. Harper, River St., Gananoque, Ont., writes: "For quite a number of years we have made use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in our home. They are an excellent remedy for kidney and liver troubles, and my husband finds they also relieve him of lumbago, from which he sometimes suffers.

"My husband used Dr. Chase's Ointment for itching piles and in a very short time he was completely cured. We have also used Dr. Chase's Liniment and Turpentine when the children suffered from coughs and colds, and think it excellent. We have received much good results from the use of Dr. Chase's Remedies that it is a pleasure to recommend them."

Farmerettes To Stay Despite All Protests

Farmers Who Doubted Their Ability Are Now Waxing In Views

"I am actually becoming a good milker now that I have milked more than three cows as yet, but I am quick, er than I was."

So writes one of the fashionable farmerettes to Miss Hazel Martin, director of the women's farm department of the Government Employment Bureau. She is working on a mixed farm in Frontenac County, "To be sure I have not mastered the art, but my fingers are not so numb in the morning as they used to be. I have been working on a dic G—has not yet acknowledged to me the efficiency of his feminine farm hand."

Worried fathers invade the offices every now and again to find out what on earth those "weary daughters of theirs" are trying "to do anyway."

The farmers' wives seem to favor the farmerettes from the start, however, even though their better half is opposed. After a grave deal of family controversy on one farm as to whether a farmerette should be employed, the farmer gave his consent. In telephoning to the employment department asking for one, the wife said to Miss Martin, "Now please send ever you do, send me a girl that my husband won't be able to say, 'I told you so, 'about."

And so it goes, but still the farmerettes seem to be here to stay.

all week with three horses and consider that I am getting there."

Miss Martin says that when once the girls get on the farms they get so busy that they have no time for writing letters to tell of their experiences. She has said that in the fall she will supply them when they leave, with stamped envelopes and paper so that they will be constantly reminded.

That the farmers who have not tried out the so-called farmerettes, are still rather dubious, is a known fact, but it is also seen that they are "coming, around."

"That's some girl you sent to my neighbor," said a farmer visitor to the employment offices the other day "she is a good worker and Mr. G— thinks that she sure knows how to do the stunts." "However, be that as it may," said Miss Martin, "farmer

Ottawa Girl Gives 16 Inches of Skin for Grafting.

Ottawa, May 31.—Suffering from the effects of burns received six weeks ago when his clothing caught fire, Robert Lawson, the eleven-year-old son of Mr. John Lawson of 403 Lyon avenue, is still in the Water St. Hospital receiving treatment. A short time ago an operation was performed upon him in which 16 inches of skin was grafted on to those parts of his body which had been most severely burned, but while the grafting has been fairly successful, it was impossible to cover the whole extent of the burns. His chances of complete recovery are very good.

The skin which was grafted on to Robert Lawson's body came from his sister, Miss Janet Lawson. Miss Lawson is 20 years of age.

PREACHER OF THE GOSPEL MINISTER OF THE CROWN.

The Toronto papers seem to be of the unanimous opinion that the new Minister of Education should give up his pulpit. It is not yet apparent whether the Toronto press fears an evil influence upon the church or upon Parliament by Dr. Cody continuing to preach, but the best guess is that such a good opportunity for editorial copy was eagerly welcomed. There is no necessity for any undue anxiety. Dr. Cody will soon find that the position of Minister of Education will take all of his time and like other laymen he will be glad to take a rest on Sunday in the pew instead of working in the pulpit.

BILLY BURNETT AND STEVE O'HARA.

When you see a C.P.R. passenger locomotive with the well-known company crest prominently placed below the cab window bearing a man's name you are face to face with an honor mark for long and meritorious service recognized by the C.P.R. company and much appreciated by the men it is to employ thus singled out for distinction. This is the result of a new policy recently adopted by the company which has met with much favorable comment. On this division are two big C. P. R. passenger moguls bearing the name of the engineer in charge who has served the company long and faithfully. One of these is Billy Burnett's locomotive, recently damaged in a collision near Smiths Falls when the Chicago-Montreal express early one Sunday morning met a freight train in head-on collision upon a bridge and Engineer Burnett was seriously injured. The accident was in no sense Engineer Burnett's fault. Another C. P. R. locomotive bearing the name of Engineer Steve O'Hara passes through Belleville several times a week with Steve at the throttle as alert and capable and good natured as ever. Engineer Arthur Charlebois, who runs out of Montreal, has been forty-two years in the railway service and comes from a family of railway men. His son is also in the service, being a C. P. R. fireman.

Veteran engineers are very proud of having their names placed on their locomotives and the policy thus inaugurated by the C. P. R. could be copied with profit by other railways. Upon the alertness and resourcefulness of the engineer depend the lives of many passengers, and it is fitting that meritorious service should be fittingly recognized.

"FOGHORN" MACDONALD, SOLDIER OF FORTUNE.

Major "Foghorn" Macdonald, of the Canadian Expeditionary Force, is the latest soldier of fortune to gain magazine fame, following in the footsteps of his friend of the mountain trails and mining camps, Lieut. Jack Munro, formerly Private Jack Munro, of the Princess Pats.

"Foghorn", Macdonald, so-called because of a long-range voice with a carrying capacity of several miles, was a familiar figure in all new mining camps before the war, from Alaska to Cobalt, and was never noted for anything resembling a retiring disposition. When "Foghorn" wanted anything, small or great, he asked for it, and it was generally easier to gratify his wishes than to wait until the crowd gathered, for easier to gratify his wishes than to wait until the crowd gathered, for "Foghorn's" voice was loud and insistent and he never had any difficulty in quickly gathering an audience with accompanying embarrassment to the "goat" of the occasion.

When the war broke out "Foghorn" dropped his prospector's pick and pack up in the Porcupine country and although over military age, entered gleefully to the meat-grinder. Overseas he startled London with his high-powered voice and was even said to have negotiated a substantial loan from Sir Sam Hughes one night in the lobby of a fashionable London hotel. In France his voice competed favorably with the French seventy-fives in tone volume and was the wonder and delight of the civic population.

"Foghorn" did more than talk, however, and won his commission on the field of battle. Now he has been corralled by a New York magazine to reminiscence for the public, but where "Foghorn" would really shine would be in a super-typophone where his voice could be preserved for the edification of future generations.

Lieut. Jack Munro, the big miner-prospector who sprang into fame overnight by toiling big Jim Jeffries off his feet on a Butte, Montana, theatre stage, and who also enlisted from the Cobalt country, has signed a ten thousand dollar contract with a New York magazine and will tell his war story to the million or so readers of that publication.

And there are Private Peat and others soldiers of fortune all, who are now entertaining the public with the story of their lives in peace and in war. Men who have lived lives full of movement and thrills and novelty, men with the wanderlust, big-hearted, brave and free, unfettered by convention and environment, always ready to answer the call of the open road, the broad highway of life, which ever leads to stirring scenes of conflict, whether it is fighting nature in the mountains and valleys to release her grasp on the hidden treasures of the earth in gold and silver and precious stones, or battling with ignorant or Kultured savages—always the same—wherever there is excitement and swift currents of life there will be found the Jack Munros, "Foghorn" Macdonalds and Private Peats, and their life is all living.

POETIC JUSTICE

Chicago Tribune

Poetic justice requires that a battery of heavy guns be trained upon the Cologne cathedral and that the pile be reduced to the present state of the cathedral at Rheims. His own is the only kind of medicine a German understands.

VALUE OF CHEESE.

London Daily Express.

Cheese is the only real substitute for meat. Bread and cheese is, indeed a most perfect diet. Men have habitually done many hours hard manual work with bread and cheese as their chief food. Margarine is a fairly satisfactory alternative for butter, but there is no substitute for cheese.

CRISP COMMENT

Decorate Monday in honor of the King and the soldiers of the King.

German gunners call his military hospitals or children's shelters now with their eyes shut. Practice makes perfect.

The German anticipations of Moving Day in Paris were rudely dissipated in 1914 and are less likely to be realized in 1918.

If Germans are to go barefooted, The London Advertiser suggests Wilhelm and his sons start the new order as they are the thickest in the skin.

The Ottawa Journal thinks the fact that two German aviators surrendered to a Canadian cook is additional evidence of the dearth of decent foodstuffs in Germany.

The Kaiser is known now in the United States—a Boston man has been fined $1,000 for drinking a glass of beer to the health of the Hun Herod, says the Toronto Globe.

The line of communication into Victoria Park is to be reestablished very shortly according to a bulletin issued by Alderman Hanna, chairman of the Parks Committee. It will be a free bridge, too!

The longer the municipalities delay taking up the Bay Bridge question the more tolls people will have to pay. The people of this district want a free bridge, and they want it now—not five years hence.

Some of the leading writers on the metropolitan dailies are in danger of prosecution for "giving aid and comfort to the enemy" by featuring the worst part of the war news in the darkest type.

Pessimism breeds pessimism and the disease is surely contagious. This little old world wants a virile brand of optimistic patriotism which will never admit defeat. What are YOU doing to win the war? Are you radiating confidence and good cheer or sending a chill to the heart of every poor timid one who looks to you for inspiration? Play up and play the game! One of these days the Allies are going over the line of the Rhine for a proper touch-down.

Our soldier boys "over there" are not going around with long faces because they know that the news is bad—they happen to know that the news is not bad, that the Hun War Lord is paying a price in man power for every inch of ground gained which he cannot afford to pay, a price which is bringing the end of the war measurably nearer. Only a very small section of the Allies on the western front have been in action in this battle of Picardy, and there is going to be a real scrap when they do get going. The morale on the firing line is the finest and it all behooves the stay-at-homes to show any yellow streaks. The message from the boys in the trenches is to "buck up your troubles in your old kit bag and smile, smile, smile."

OTHER VIEWS

HOHENZOLLERNS

Buffalo Express.

A Berlin newspaper notes that several very ancient families of the Saxon nobility have been completely obliterated during the war. That ancient family of the Prussian nobility, the Hohenzollerns, however, is still intact to a man.

The Poet's Corner

The way to Berlin is the Will-to-Win,
Firmly it stretches out
Over quicksand, fears and blasted years,
Over marshes of woe and doubt.
Links a clear path for God's own wrath
Across the slime of sin,
It finds the gate of the Lord of Hate
In the royal palace, Berlin.

The way to Berlin is the Will-to-Win,
It passes from Avenue Life
Through the thoroughfare of Grin-and-Bear,
Across the Lane of Thrift;
Then winds along through Hopeful Song
Toward the Summit of Never-Give-In,
From which it leads through the Road of Deeds
To the royal palace, Berlin.

The way to Berlin is the Will-to-Win,
And all of us belong
On that Only Way—a great array
Of a hundred million strong!

MUSIC & DRAMA

"THE HEART OF WETONA"

Of the many plays produced in the past season, none has attracted such widespread attention or received such warm praise as the David Belasco Charles Frohman comedy drama, "The Heart of Wetona," which comes to Griffin's on Friday night. In "The Heart of Wetona," there is said to be nothing overdrawn; it is in every way an ideal drama and one that both sexes may enjoy without the slightest risk of being offended. The fact that this sterling play is everywhere receiving high encomiums is creditable alike to the author, to its management, to the excellent company presenting it, and to the discriminating loving public.

Pure acts of heart interest, human nature, rollicking comedy and strong dramatic situations make this play, and from first to last the story is told in a simple, direct, true and natural fashion, and one goes away with a vivid impression of the characters, scenes and story.

HONOR THE SOLDIERS

Belleville owes the Great War Veterans a debt that can never be repaid; it owes them a debt greater than any other debt, moral, financial and physical that can ever be incurred from the cradle to the grave. They have thrown their living bodies into the gates of hell to keep the devilish hordes from turning this fair land into the chamber of horrors, with children, mothers, wives and sisters as the playthings of the monsters of Hun. Those bodies have been torn cruelly, dismembered and many left under the blood soaked fields of France and Flanders. Those who returned are trying to keep together an organization to perpetuate the glory of those fallen and to honor, and obtain justice for those living. This organization needs funds. Many of the members are unable, owing to their great physical sacrifices to supply proper funds. On Monday, the Great War Veterans are making their first appeal to the good citizens of Belleville and district, and any citizen who does not use some effort to help these men on Monday is unworthy of the name of citizen. They have forgotten an obligation as quickly as the Huns can tear up "a scrap of paper." It is therefore, up to the citizens of Belleville to turn out en masse on Monday in the afternoon at the Fair Grounds and at night at Griffin's Opera House, and honor the men who have brought undying glory to Canada, and made every man in every part of the world carry his head high to be called a Canadian. Monday is the day. Your's the duty.

$10 Suits For Soldiers

ment of the conditions under which Canadian soldiers discharged in the British Isles are supplied with civilian clothing has been promulgated. It does not err on the side of generosity.

Soldiers who have completed six months service are now entitled to one issue of civilian clothing based on the following scale: Suit, $10, tie 25 cents, collar 15 cents hat $6 cents, overcoat (in the winter months) $8.75. The men will also be allowed to retain their kit of necessary underwear, one pair of boots, two flannel shirts, and two pairs of socks. Soldiers discharged with less than six months' service will be charged on their pay account with the cost of clothing on the above scale. If a man is discharged on account of injuries received on military duty he gets an issue of civilian clothing free of charge. But what a suit at $10 can be like in these days is a puzzle.

280,000 Seamen Fight With Britain's Tars

Mercantile Marine Has Made Splendid Contribution—Still Keeps Up It's Business

LONDON, May 31.—Admiral Sir Rosslyn Wemyss First Sea Lord of the Admiralty, speaking at the Mansion House on the occasion of the centenary gathering of the British and Foreign Sailors' Society, referred to the close relationship which the present war has reinforced between the men of the merchant service and the navy.

He said that at present there are 200,000 merchant sailors and 80,000 ensign of the navy who were assimilated into the fighting fleet, and notwithstanding the depletions and tremendous difficulties which the mercantile marine had suffered it continued its business as undauntedly as the navy whose morale was better than ever despite isolmarisms.

Hon. Robert Smethwick Minister of Labor referring to demobolization said that 400,000 discharged soldiers had been dealt with already of whom sixty per cent. had returned to their old employment.

MIND-READER TRIED JUDGMENT DEFERRED

CHARLEAU, May 31. — "Parish" Zell Hunt, who was arrested here on May 4th while conducting public exhibitions of hypnotism and mind reading in the Opera House, charged with telling fortunes in violation of the criminal code, and who on the strength of the evidence adduced at the preliminary hearing was sent up for trial was arraigned at the Assize Court in session here before Judge Kehoe of Sudbury.

Crown Attorney Miller conducted the prosecution, and the prisoner was defended by Geo. Buchanan of Sudbury.

A number of witnesses called by the Crown testified that Hunt had made a stated charge of $2 for each mind-reading interview in which he had given advice at to the future and also concerning the health of his interviews.

Under examination the prisoner admitted that, although he called himself "doctor" he had no license to practice medicine in Ontario. When sworn Hunt refused to kiss the Bible or to divulge his religious affiliations He claimed to have studied at Heidelberg University in Germany.

Crown Attorney Miller contended that mind-reading as Hunt practised it here was a "crafty science" and as such an offence against the criminal code. "I submit he was telling fortunes," he said.

Judge Kehoe, in summing up the evidence said, "This is a novel case, and Canadian decisions throw no great light upon it."

Judge Kehoe deferred judgement and remanded the prisoner until June 2nd.

The case has aroused great interest here, many well-known people being involved.

The Canadian Bankers' Association

Invites the Co-Operation of the Public on Behalf of the Banks

Staffs Heavily Reduced by War

MORE than half the men in the banks of Canada are now on military service, and the number which remains is being steadily reduced.

Women clerks have been employed in thousands and have done splendidly, but they have not the experience of the men they replace. It would be out of the question to expect them to work as rapidly or with the same knowledge of banking as officers of many years training in the profession.

The drain upon the number of experienced officers has now reached a point where it is necessary to ask the public to take into consideration this decrease in efficiency, and to lighten, as far as they can, the burden thus thrown upon those left to run the business. Canada was never so busy as now and the volume of banking business is greater than ever before.

How the Public Can Help

Transact your banking business in the morning as far as possible, and as early as possible. Try to avoid a rush at closing time.

Do not draw any more cheques than are absolutely necessary. Instead of paying small accounts by cheque, draw the money in one amount and pay in cash.

Change in Banking Hours June 1st.

On and after June 1st banking hours will be: 9.30 to 2.30; Saturdays 9.30 to 12.00.

This arrangement will give the staff more time to complete the large amount of work which cannot be taken up until after the office is closed to the public.

Special Services Discontinued July 1st.

Certain services must of necessity be discontinued, for a time at least.

On July 1st banks will discontinue receiving payments for tax bills and the bills of gas, electric and other public service corporations.

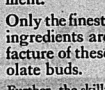

The banks desire to render all essential services including many special ones arising out of the war. In order to do this they make this appeal for co-operation in the manner suggested above

Americans Praise Re-Establishment Plan

Canada's Assumption Of Care Of Returned soldiers Delights Them

OTTAWA, May 31.—The American Red Cross party who have come to Canada to equip themselves as directors for re-establishment of disabled American soldiers, are delighted with the welcome that has been accorded them in Ottawa, and at the conclusion of a three and a half hours series of practical lectures, were unanimous in praise of the system of re-establishment put into operation in this country. "What strikes us most," said Douglas C. McMurtrie organizer and head of the party, "is that Canada is the only country which has assumed a national obligation to the men who have fought and bled for her, and that the work of caring for them and equipping them to earn their living with self-respect is made, not a charity, but a national duty. This is an idea that particularly appeals to Americans."

"But what we feel most of all," continued Mr. McMurtrie, "is that we shall learn the most, not by lectures, but by personal scrutiny of the workings of the system and talks with the men themselves. Lectures were essential as a grounding. What we are going to do now is practical laboratory work so to speak."

The lectures were delivered by members of the Department of Soldiers Re-establishment and the Invalid Soldiers' Commission. The party left for Montreal whence they will go to Toronto. They will also visit Winnipeg Calgary Edmonton and Saskatchewan.

Canada's Allotment Of Coal For 1918-19

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., May 31.—A substantial increase in the supply of anthracite coal to be furnished the New England and North Atlantic states, was promised by Joseph D. Nickson, Chairman of the Anthracite Committee of the United States Fuel Administration, in an address before the convention of the National Coal Association. To provide this increased supply, he said, anthracite will be barred from states in the Trans-Mississippi, central western and southern territories.

"The present coal year started with absolutely no carried-over stocks of anthracite. Consequently the demands, to the utmost extent that they can be supplied, have got to be met out of the current production."

He announced the distribution in 1916-17 and the allotment for the current coal year for the various sections of the country. Canada's allotment for 1918-19 was given as 3,202,000 tons compared with 2,854,021 distributed in 1916-17.

King Is Godfather To Gen. Haig's Son

NEW YORK, May 31.—The Evening Sun says:

Sir Douglas and Lady Haig's infant son was christened privately at Lady Haig's house recently. The King was the chief godfather, Queen Alexandra the chief godmother, and others who acted fere the Empress Eugenie, Sir Pertab Singh and Sir Eric Geddes, Frist Lord of the Admiralty.

The names given to the child were George Alexander Eugene Douglas, after his Royal godparents and his father. A large silver bowl won by Sir Douglas Haig was used as a font, and among the gifts to the infant were gold bowls from the King Queen Alexandra and Sir Pertab Singh.

Deceit And Fraud In Spiritualism

TORONTO, May 31.—"Modern spiritualism, or can we talk with our dead?" was the theme of a somewhat unusual sermon by Rev. D.M. Morden at St. James' Square Presbyterian Church, Toronto. The reverend gentleman ridiculed the pretentions of the cult, and described its leaders as impostors and frauds. He referred in terms of withering sarcasm to the literature published by the Spiritualists as the worst kind of drivel he had ever read. Taking the serious side of things, he said, men in all ages and of all faiths, had a firm faith in a future life and a deep-rooted conviction regarding the immortality of the soul. God in his mercy had not revealed the mystery of the life beyond the grave. But in death and resurrection of Jesus Christ they were given absolute proof of the reality of that life. The truth of the resurrection of Christ was confirmed by St. Paul and the other apostles, and the 500 others who actually saw and spoke with Jesus after He had left the tomb. Some might ask why other and more recent proofs of the future life were not manifested. The answer to that query was "One proof is as good as a thousand." Mathematicians had solved the problems of numbers and no one questioned their accuracy, and there was no more reason for doubting the mathematicians.

What had spiritualists to offer in support of their claims to be able to communicate with those who had passed beyond? Absolutely nothing. Attend their seances and listen to their rapping and tapping, ask questions and what will you get? Proof of immortality? No. They cannot and will not tell you anything more than what you already know.

TIME OF TRIAL

People had been led to take a deeper interest in spiritualism than they otherwise would have done for several reasons. Chiefly because we were living in times of great depression and sorrow, bonds being rent nearly every home. The lives of thousands of young men had been snuffed out by war, and people were interested as never before to know where their loved ones had gone. Spiritualism seemed to give them an opportunity of finding out but it was a delusion and a sham. Another reason it attracted so much attention was the fact that many eminent people had given it the weight of their patronage and support. Men, for example, like Sir Oliver Lodge, the great scientist. But a great scientist was not an authority on the future life any more than a great physician would an authority on farming, or parsons and lay authorities on finance. It was a pity that men like Sir Oliver Lodge should lend their names to a movement that was filled with fraud. Spiritualism was very like the Toronto Midway, only much worse. The leaders at the moment had given nothing to humanity. If they had not openly preached free love they had practised it. They created confusion and preferred darkness to light. They was not a particle of difference between them and the witch of Endor. The darkest, most polluted and degraded spots in the heathen world were those that were fested by the spiritualistic conjurers. The people cannot solve the mystery of the future world. They can give nothing to humanity for its good or its uplift. Their work seems to be that of the devil.

For a number of years deceased had resided at Erie, Pennsylvania, and was a conductor on the Erie and Pennsylvania Railway. His decease occurred on Wednesday evening, and it is thought to have been sudden. A widow, one son and two daughters survive. The son, Frank, resides at Erie, and the daughters are Mrs. Harry Day and Miss Eva Curtis of this city. The body will be interred at Erie.

While appears a saving in price is actually an extravagance when you buy ordinary poor tea. Salada yields twice as many cups to the pound hence its economy.

20 YOUTHS DEFY M.S.LAW

WAKEFIELD, Que., May 31.—High up in the Laurentian Mountains, well provisioned, well clothed and armed to the teeth, twenty young men of Gatineau District are setting at defiance the M'litary Service Law.

The men are mostly shantymen all familiar with the rough mountainous district. So bold have they become, however, owing to the reckless immunity from the law that they have thus far enjoyed, that recently a number of them came out to nearby villages heavily armed and prepared to cope to obtain provisions, and even went with one force which the Government so far as to state that they were right send against them.

W.M.S. Meeting At Gananoque

The fourth annual meeting of the Kingston Presbyterial W. M. S. is being held in St. Andrews Church, Gananoque. The President, Mrs. Hall of Stirling, presiding. Mr. Kidd, the minister of St. Andrew's, gave the Invocation Prayer. Miss McCammon, president of the Gananoque Auxiliary, had charge of the devotional exercises. The following events were given: Vice-President's by Miss Mow, at of Kingston; the Secretary's, Secretary in the absence of the 1st Vice-President; "Messenger" Secretary by Mrs. Carahill of Napanee; "Messenger's" Secretary by Mrs. Jenkins of Madoc; Library and Literature—Secretary, by Mrs. John Wright of Kingston; Supply Secretary, by Mrs. Snelling of Kingston.

Mrs. C.E. Kidd gave a most interesting address of welcome, weaving in some valuable historical reminiscences. Mrs. John Wright of Kingston, replied.

Mrs. Morrice of Belleville, led a conference on "Home Secretary" work. Mrs. Hall, the president, gave a very inspiring address dealing chiefly with the work in India, China, and among the Mohammedans.

MISSIONS

Mr. A.G. McPherson of the Central Indian Mission, was the speaker of the evening. The title of his address was "Recent Events in Asia," and dealt with missions in Japan, Korea, China and India. Ten years ago there was but one Christian church in Korea, now 100; 40,000 Presbyterians in the Punjaub; 30,000 in the Telugu mission; 100,000 baptisms in the Methodist mission. In five years over 300 converts were added in India, equalling all the missions. Church union is one of the problems of the Indian Church, but it shows signs of being solved.

The officers elected are:

President, Mrs. J.T. Hall, Stirling; First Vice-President, Mrs. S.R. Duff, Second Vice-President, Mrs. A.-H. Dickson, Camden East; Third Vice-President, Mrs. W.W. Coonan, Melrose; Fourth Vice-President, Miss K.M. McCammon, Gananoque; Fifth Vice-President, Mrs. H.J. Sharpe, Belleville; Recording Secretary, Miss L.
